Garments that were constructed in clothing classes and as out of class assignment were modeled for the audience. Twenty-six garments were shown, including sports clothes, casual and dress up dresses, one knitted pullover and one formal gown.

In addition to the style show, a devotional titled "God's Gift the Light of the World" was presented by the group. Pat Tisdale acted as narrator, Nancy Saunders accompanied Kim Steele as she sang "One Little Candle."

Secretarial Course

A new secretarial course will be available at Clarendon College in the 1968 fall semester. The course, entitled the Concentrated College Training for business (CCTB) is being pioneered by Clarendon College, South Plains College, and West Texas State University. It was conceived by Mr. Milton Morris from West Texas State University, who also fathered the Texas Opportunity Loan Plan. The course was designed according to criteria formulated by a combined committee composed of area college and industrial personnel and offers training in those skills which employers seek in a potential employee.

CCTB is a unique course and is the first of its kind to be offered in the state. It not only provides a concentrated series of business training courses, but it also carries college academic credit. It is designed for high school graduates who desire a short but intensified training in secretarial skills without obtaining college degrees. However, should a student decide to continue with her college work, the semester credits earned can be applied toward a degree.

Any student interested in enrolling in the CCTB program should contact the Registrar's Office at Clarendon College or Mr. Milton Morris, Box 215, W. T. Station, West Texas State University.
