WHITTLIN'

By DOLPH MOTEN

Prospects for a dam on Running Water Draw continue to dim.

More than three weeks have elapsed since a group of dam-interested Parmer County citizens met with the county commissioners to discuss the situation, both pro and con.

There was interest aplenty at the meeting for the dam location south of Bovina. That interest, though, has evidently died down since that time.

We talked with Eddy Willmon, Soil and Water Conservation Service manager, about the prospects this week. He wasn't encouraging. He said the commissioner's court had received no petition from the citizenry asking that a bond election be called to pay the cost of putting the federal structure here.

Willmon, who is resigning his post this week, said it was his opinion now that only two -- instead of three -- dams would be asked for, and built, in Parmer County. One of these will be on the east side, at Lazbuddie. The other will be on McCracken land on Cattfish Draw, just north of Bovina. There will be no cost to the county for either of these structures.

This was, understand, just Willmon's opinion at the time of our conversation. The situation could change overnight, but we doubt that it will.

The commissioner's court is the logical choice to carry the ball for the locations of the dams. At the same time, though, the elected members of the court want to do what their constituents want and they evidently don't believe that a majority of the people in the county are interested in spending tax money for such a project.

From the conversation with Willmon we got the impression that the South Bovina dam site will die a lack-of-interest death unless backers of the plan come up with some new enthusiasm.

This doesn't come as a great surprise.

The possibilities of a dam on Running Water Draw have been handicapped by first one drawback and then another since planning started months and months ago. Possible location after possible location was eliminated for various reasons as the planning continued. Then when the South Bovina site was settled on, if you could call it that, the cost seemed almost too great to overcome. And it is without a county bond election.

Too, in our opinion, there isn't enough proof-positive information available about the advantages of having a dam and a lake.

The land will be dry, the experts say, one year in 20, for instance. That's based on normal conditions, and people aren't real sure what these are and certainly they don't know what to expect in years to come. This about eliminates the use of water for municipal purposes, some believe.

It would seem that the year the towns in Parmer County would need the water would be the same one in which the lake would be dry.

We didn't say it would be that way; we said it'd seem that way.

Also, no definite value that the people, sceptical as they are, can be convinced of can be placed on the water recharge possibilities of a lake.

The proposal has been clouded with unknown factors since the beginning.

Maybe all these things are too much to overcome?

Things are back to normal out northeast of town.

Keith Garner has changed the name of his farm back to Ponderosa. During the drought which ended about the first of the month, he said he was referring to his place as "the badlands."

Billy Malcom, a Bovinian of years gone by who now lives at Tullia, has sent us some information which might be of interest to expert bicycle riders in this area, if any.

FIRST WHEAT -- Bovina's first load of 1967 wheat was delivered to Sherley Grain Co. Wednesday of last week. Preparing to inspect the load, left to right, are H. H. Kelso of the elevator, Lynn Isham, who produced the wheat, and Ernest Englant, who harvested it.

Isham Has First Load - -

Wheat Harvest Starting Slowly

Wheat harvest, 1967 version, started on a slow, steady note last week.

First loads were delivered earlier than usual, but the harvest is not expected to get into full swing until the first of next week at the earliest.

Lynn Isham delivered the year's first load to Bovina Wednesday afternoon. It was cut from the Frank Hastings place, which is rented by Isham, northeast of Bovina. Delivered to Sherley Grain Co., the load tested 14.25 per cent moisture and the testweight was 58.5 pounds per bushel.

The dryland wheat was Wichita variety. It was harvested from a 250 acre field. Estimated yield of the field is 10 bushels per acre.

It was combined by Ernest Englant, Isham received a $25 premium from the elevator for delivering the season's first wheat.

Last year's first wheat was delivered to Bovina on June 13. The year before, in '65, it was June 16 before the first wheat arrived here.

Bringing the 1967 premium load to Bovina Wheat Growers, Inc. here was Dick Sparks, The load was harvested from land rented by Sparks from M. C. Kelley. It arrived here Saturday at 7 p.m.

Sparks' load tested a dry 13 per cent moisture. It had a testweight of 59.5 pounds per bushel. Sparks earned a first load premium from the elevator.

This year's wheat crop may go into the record books as one of the poorest in history; at least since irrigation.

The crop has been handicapped by a variety of setbacks including dry weather, green bugs and unusually late freeze this spring and, in some areas, hail. As a rule, wheat is a dependable crop in the Parmer County area. This year's crop, however, has suffered more than its share of drawbacks.

Observers of the wheat picture here estimate that this year's crop may be as much as 40 per cent below normal.

For Classroom Construction - -

School Accepts Building Bids

Bids for the construction of Bovina Schools' new elementary classroom building will be opened Thursday, June 29, Superintendent Otis Spears announces.

Sealed proposals for construction of the six-classroom unit may be addressed to the Board of Trustees here.

The bids are slated to be opened at 4 p.m. on that date.

The legal notice informing bidders of the deadline for bidding describes the structure to be built as a one-story, 13,000-foot building of heavy timber construction.

Plans and specifications for the building may be obtained at the office of Arnold Maeker, school architect, in Lubbock.

The building to be constructed will be divided into two portions attached at the corners. The classroom part, containing six rooms, will be hexagon-shaped and will also include a general purpose area which will be used for a dining area, a play area and an auditorium.

The other portion of the building will be four-sided and will contain offices, a library and a kitchen. The latter part of the building will continue to serve as the center of classroom sections if and when more classroom units are needed and constructed.

A bond election was passed for construction of the classroom building February 7 in the amount of $212,000. A total of 222 votes were cast for the construction and 210 votes were against.

Former Resident - -

Burial was in Friona Cemetery under the direction of Claiborn Funeral Home.

Mrs. Robards had lived in Bovina from 1924 until 1949 when she and her husband moved to Clovis.

Survivors include her husband, James Robards; two sons, W. I. and Charles of Clovis, nine daughters, Mrs. Lorene Jefferson and Kathryn Johnston of Bovina; Mrs. Irene Wil-

WIND DAMAGE -- Cecil Sisk stands in what formerly was the picture window in his home. Other damage was also done to the home by high winds last week.

Willmon Resigns SC Post

Eddy Willmon has resigned as work unit conservationist (manager) of Parmer County Soil and Water Conservation Service effective Friday of this week.

Replacing Willmon on a temporary basis will be Ed Blackwell, who is with the SCS in Deaf Smith County and a former member of the Parmer County staff. He was with the service here until some three months ago.

Willmon began work in Parmer County in July of 1965, replacing Jimmy Smith. He has accepted employment with a pharmaceutical firm, he said this week.

Blackwell expects to man the Parmer County position for about six weeks. A permanent manager is expected to be named in that time.

Council Purchases Pickup

Discussion of the forthcoming paving program highlighted a regular monthly meeting of Bovina's city council Thursday night.

John Aldridge, Farwell attorney, who is handling legal duties of the program met with the governing body to discuss the planning.

The council also voted to purchase a new 1967 Ford pickup for the city's use from Friona Motors. Cost of the pickup, which is scheduled to be delivered this week, was $1406.05 including a trade-in of a 1963 model Chevrolet. The new pickup will be equipped with a spotlight.

Councilmen also voted to purchase an air conditioner for city hall.

Appointed to serve on city equalization board, which is scheduled to meet probably sometime in the next 30 days, were Luther Grissom, Travis Dyer, and O. W. Rhinehart with Lloyd Gober as alternate.

Also present at the Thursday night session was H. H. DeLozier of Clovis, who audits the city books. He presented an audit report for the past year.

IT'S RE-ROOFING TIME -- This will be a typical scene in Bovina for several days to come as roofs on houses are repaired. Hail June 4 did extensive damage to 50 or 60 per cent of the houses here, according to Jay Sherrill of Sherrill Lumber Co. Houses damaged were those with composition shingle roofs, Sherrill says. There was little damage to houses with wood roofs. The repair work got underway this week after insurance adjustors made their rounds last week, following the damaging hail. Working on the roof of the home of Mrs. Mel Gunn are Wayne Stone, Lawrence Gray and George Cervantez.

Let's Live It Up!

A Persian rug for your seaside hideaway? A tiger skin before the fireplace?

Well, why not? Not a real one, to be sure, but a simulated one, painted on the floor in bright, durable colors! Such is the latest suggestion for simplifying your summer house-keeping offered by Acme Quality Paints' home decorating department.

Nobody wants to be tied up by dull domestic chores during a summer at the shore. But equally nobody likes a dirty disheveled house.

And nothing takes quite so bad a beating as the floors of a vacation cottage—especially one at the sea or lake shore. Sun, sand, muddy feet and dripping bathing suits are extra rough on summer-cottage floors. Salt air and sea spray simply multiply the havoc.

The solution, say the Acme experts, is to paint those surfaces with one of the new super-wear-resistant coatings like Acme's traffic-tough Porch and Floor Enamel, before the fun season starts. After that, all it takes is a daily whisk with a damp mop to keep them neat and tidy.

What's more, unlike previous floor and porch enamels these new coatings come in a variety of bright colors that lend themselves to all sorts of decorative tricks, including arabesques and flowered borders, and even simulated Oriental carpets and African big-game pelts for homeowners blessed with artistic talent and a creative urge.

For outdoor concrete surfaces, including walks, barbecue area and shuffleboard court, one of the new extra-durable concrete floor and patio paints is recommended. Acme's comes in many colors and, once applied, will provide protection and stay handsome for years.

So, if you're counting on a real shore leave this summer in your castle by the sea, the time to prepare is now. Then, when the mercury starts to climb and your city-sweating friends and relatives descend on you in droves, you can simply loll in the shade and enjoy yourself while they admire your handiwork.

CYGON PROTECTS COTTON AGAINST EARLY SEASON INSECTS

Kills by both contact and systemic action

This year--getting your cotton plants off to a good start is more important than ever! By controlling insects during the critical early stages Cygon* 267 helps in promoting vigorous growth and earlier maturity, better quality in the finished crop.

Cygon's long-lasting qualities and low rates make it a most economical insecticide. Also--it requires no special precautions -- no protective clothing or equipment. And -- when used according to directions, there are no residue problems.

Cygon works two ways to safeguard crops: as a contact insecticide--and as a systemic protector within the plant.

This double-barreled action --provides protection from outside the plant and inside the plant. The insecticide within the plant remains on guard against insects when they attack and is also unaffected by sun or rain.

Know The Truth

By Lavern Stewart

By the Heavenly Father Jesus has been crowned King of kings and Lord of lords, but He must be so honored by you and me, I Peter 3:15, "But sanctify in your hearts Christ as Lord. . ." This is the way the Bible talks to us so that we will make Christ our Master. The promise was made in Isaiah 9:6, 7, that Christ would sit on David's throne. It was repeated to Mary before the birth of Jesus, Luke 1:32, "He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David;" We must understand what is meant by David's throne because actually David never had a throne of his own--it was God's throne even though David did sit upon it. Here is the proof: I Kings 2:12, "And Solomon sat upon the throne of David his father. . ." I Chron. 29:23, "Then Solomon sat on the throne of the Lord as king instead of David his father and prospered and all Israel obeyed him." David's throne in the Old Testament was merely a type of Christ's throne in the New Testament. David was king and ruled over God's people, Christ is king and rules over God's people. Notice another prophecy about Christ on the throne: II Sam. 7:12-14, "And when thy days be fulfilled and thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, I will set up thy seed after thee, which shall proceed out of thy bowels, and I will establish His kingdom. He shall build a house for my name and I will be his father and he shall be my son. . ." No doubt this had a double application: both Solomon and Christ, physically to Solomon and spiritually to Christ. Part of this prophecy is quoted in Heb. 1:5 and applied to Christ. Jesus, according to the flesh, was a son of David. The time that Jesus, the Son of David, was to occupy David's throne was while David was dead--this is proof that Jesus is ruling as king now and not waiting until after the dead are raised. According to I Cor. 15:24, Jesus will rule until the resurrection, at which time He will turn the ruling authority back to the Father.

By Vern Sanford

Caddo Lake was created by an earthquake in 1811. For almost 160 years it lay practically unchanged under a blanket of water hyacinths.

Today the entire area is an unspoiled wilderness. Its 50,000 water acres sprawl across the Texas-Louisiana boundary in a network of bayous, ponds, and twisting sloughs.

Formerly the home of the Caddo Indians, the Caddo area was a great swamp of stagnant pools and heavily wooded islands. It was explored by the early-day Spaniards on their westward push. However, they made little use of their find, and the swamp remained as it was for many years.

Then came the New Madrid earthquake! For days it shook the southern states in a series of violent tremors. Finally the floor of Caddo Swamp sank from sight.

When the roiling water finally settled, the present Caddo Lake was formed. It's a twin sister to Tennessee's Reelfoot Lake, born of the same tremors.

Thanks to modern improvements, travelers now can explore this mysterious swampland with little discomfort.

Caddo Lake is approached and partially surrounded by a number of fine highways. It's only 16 miles from Marshall and 27 miles from Shreveport.

On the lake shore are more than 50 camps and motor courts capable of caring for at least a thousand guests. These places range from modest "rough-it" camps to comfortable motels.

With an average mean temperature of 66 degrees, Caddo Lake compares favorably with any vacation spot.

Spring is the best season to visit Caddo. Then the water hyacinths cover the lake with a pale-violet blanket, and water lilies spread their petals between yard-wide pads.

Cypress trees, Spanish moss, violet-purple water hyacinths, and picturesque boat roads form a beautiful backdrop for the recreation you will find on this unusual lake. Almost from the moment your boat leaves camp the swamp closes in on you. Twisting through the acres of purple blooms, over winding boat roads, you pass under great cypress trees, gray with Spanish moss. As your boat slides through the narrow passages to reach quiet, bass-filled pools a big alligator occasionally may be seen, sunning himself on some remote mud bank, or cruising open water searching for food.

Here the vacationist will enjoy some of the best freshwater fishing in America. Chain pickerel are active from November to March; largemouth and white bass in the spring and early summer; and white crappie, bream, and catfish the year around. So, no matter what season of the year you visit Caddo, you will find good fishing of some sort.

Furthermore, there are no restrictive laws on game fish seasons in either Texas or Louisiana.

One of Caddo's most sought after fishing has been the alligator gar. This battling monster, often reaching 7 feet in length, has aptly been called the "freshwater tarpon." He is a real tackle-buster and will give even the rugged sportsmen a lively scrap.

Although easy to reach, and requiring no great physical exertion to explore, Caddo Lake is no place for a stranger to navigate without a competent guide. This because of its many sloughs and "passes."

For the most part Caddo guides are picturesque. Most of them were born to the traditions of the lake. They know where to find the best fishing and hunting spots. And they will take you there for a reasonable fee.

Fishing predominates but there is lots of hunting, in season, on and around Caddo. Since the lake is situated near the Mississippi, flyway sportsmen from all over the country arrive in the fall to enjoy Caddo duck hunting.

Government statistics show that Caddo Lake has one of the largest sustained duck populations of any body of water its size. Mallard, teal, and black ducks are plentiful, with many flights of the beautiful wood ducks.

Deer roam the swamp and there is an abundance of squirrels and coons. Quail too are found in the cultivated areas.

For anyone craving a quiet vacation, in a place not entirely spoiled by commercialism, yet offering comfortable accommodations, Caddo Lake is hard to beat.

SHOWERING THE BRIDE-TO-BE

Planned for a perfect shower, this buffet table blends imagination and good taste. A turquoise-blue cloth with white appliqued scrolls is a lovely background for a Double Wedding Ring Salad, punch and petits-fours.

Royal Ham Aspic

- 2 packages lime gelatin
- 2 cups boiling water
- 2 cups cold water
- 1 TBS. dry white wine
- 1 TBS. salt
- 2 TBS. prepared horseradish
- Dash Worcestershire
- 1/2 cup sour-sweet pickles
- 2 cups diced ham

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water and seasonings. Cool. When aspic is about ready to set, pour 1/2 into 9" ring mold and arrange ham cubes and pickles decoratively. Chill layer quickly, then add remaining aspic into which ham and pickle relish have been mixed. Chill till firm.

Make your favorite vegetable salad in a 9" ring mold. The two rings, when entwined, will serve 10-12.

Offer two types of punch -- one tart, one sweet -- in twin pitchers. For the sweet one, use your favorite recipe for fruit punch. Here's a tasty tart punch.

Sparkling Bride's Punch

- 2 cans (6 oz. each) frozen lemonade concentrate
- 1 bottle (1 qt.) your favorite whiskey
- 1 orange, sliced thin w/peel
- 1 cup orange juice, strained
- 1 jar (8 oz.) red maraschino cherries
- 2 large bottles (28 oz. each) ginger ale

Stir lemonade concentrate, orange juice and whiskey in a 1-gallon punch bowl. Add cherries and their juice. At serving time, add ice cubes, stir, add ginger ale. Garnish with orange slices. Makes about 26 punch cup servings--repeat as necessary.

DOUBT OR FAITH

Doubt! Such a small, insignificant word, and yet one which probably has greater influence on man's ability to achieve his potential as an individual than any other single word. Peter could not believe that it was the Master who approached him on the waters of the Sea of Galilee. "Lord," he said, "if it is you, bid me come to you on the water." And he set forth to meet his Lord; but, seeing the waves, he was afraid and began to sink. "Why did you doubt?" Jesus asked him. Are we not often like Peter, setting forth to meet our goals, yet faltering along the way for fear of our own inadequacies and of things over which we have no control? Faith is described as the "assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen." Through such faith we can become what Christ would have us be.

DON'T DROP IT

The oldest phonograph record is in the BBC library: a record by Emil Berliner of himself reciting the Lord's Prayer, made in 1844.

SHOE ENOUGH

The largest recorded shoes are a pair measuring 2 feet long and 1 foot wide, made for a Mr. Del Rios by William Johnson of Miami, Florida.

SCIENCE SKETCHES

GIRLS, unlike leopards or tigers, may soon be able to change their spots--or stripes--or even paisleys, all in a matter of minutes. The spots or other designs printed on a fabric can be ironed away and new ones added with a pattern and a sunlamp according to Dr. Isay Balinkin of the University of Cincinnati.

LIGHTWEIGHT ALLOYS will enable tank trucks to carry larger quantities of products such as liquid industrial gases, says Chemetron Corporation, Chicago. Maximum gross weight now permitted on highways of most states is 73,280 pounds. Lighter equipment will increase the weight of the payload.

FISH STORY -- Travis Dyer points to a large goldfish which he found in the slush pit of a new irrigation well on his farm west of Bovina. Dyer believes the fish was "washed out" of the well and into the slush pit by the drilling crew. The fish measured 12 inches in length and five inches in width. If the fish did come from the well, Dyer is encouraged about the area's underground water supply. This would tend to indicate that the water supply is fed from a stream. The fish story caused considerable discussion when it was told.

Rhea, Big Nick Top Ball Teams

After rain and wet grounds caused postponement of a week's worth of games, boys' baseball action got underway again here last week and this with the regularly-scheduled games plus a couple of make-up tilts.

Through Monday night's games, the Rhea Tigers were the only unbeaten team remaining in the four-team Little League. They had a 3-0 record. In second place is Bovina Wheat Growers-Bovina Insurance.

In the peewee division, Big Nick's Little Machines have a perfect 3-0 mark at this point. Play resumed Thursday after the wet ground layoff. Big Nick came from behind to win a close peewee game from Sherrill Lumber-Bonds Oil, 4-3, in the last inning.

In the Little League tilt Bovina Wheat Growers-Bovina Insurance eased by First State Bank-Lawlis Gin, 6-5.

Friday's Little League game saw Rhea blast Bovina Gin-Tuloma, 16-7.

In Pony League action Friday, Bovina's Charles Oil team ran roughshod over the Bankers of Farwell, 25-3, and Rhea defeated the Oilers of Farwell.

In a peewee make-up game Saturday, the Little Machines downed Bovina Blade-Bovina Welding, 9-2.

Blade-Welding suffered its second loss of the season in a Monday night tilt with Sherrill-Bonds, 10-2.

Monday's Little League action saw Rhea continue its winning way with a 19-10 verdict over previously unbeaten BWG-BI. In a make-up game, Bank-Lawlis took the measure of Bovina Gin-Tuloma, 18-1.

Rained-out games will continue to be made up at times agreed on by managers of the opposing teams.

Enrollment Up In Head Start

Enrollment in the Head Start program in Bovina Schools has increased during the past week to about 30, Superintendent Otis Spears announced this week.

A total of 22 youngsters who will be first graders in September were participating in the program when it began last week.

"We still have room for more students," Spears said. "We should have near 40 and expect more to enroll later this week.

The classes began Monday of last week and will continue through July 28. Classes are held from 7:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. five days a week. A bus picks up the students who live out of town each day.

The school district has applied for $7340 in federal funds to finance the program, which is now in its third year here.

The students are fed breakfast and lunch in the cafeteria. The program is designed for those who have a language barrier or other problems that might make entering school for the first time more difficult than normal.

Teachers for the program are Mrs. Earle Hise, Mrs. Otis Spears and Mrs. Gene Douglas. Assisting them as teachers' aides are Josie Alonzo and Maclovía Ramirez.

The students were given dental examinations in Clovis this (Wednesday) morning and all will receive physical examinations sometime during the program, Spears says.

Clothing Project Begins For 4-H

More than 55 people, members of 4-H, leaders and parents, attended the program "Focus on Charm", held Wednesday of last week at Hub Community Center.

The program marked the beginning of 4-H clothing project work for June, according to Cricket E. Taylor, county extension agent.

Mrs. Russell Haberer of Lazbuddie discussed "The Question of Charm." Mrs. Hurshel Harding of Farwell showed slides and discussed "Color for You."

"Line and Design for You", was demonstrated and discussed by Mrs. Taylor. "New Rites" was subject of Mrs. Rita Sue Hucker, assistant extension agent from Deaf Smith County.

A 4-H member, Lynne White of Farwell, gave a talk and exhibited "Slips of Modern Fashion."

Refreshments were served by Lazbuddie 4-H members, Jeanne McGehee, Ann and Nancy Blackstone and Karen Mimms.

No wonder there is often confusion today among those seeking to follow the Christian way of life.

They read in the Gospel of St. John that there shall be "one fold and one shepherd." In St. Paul's epistle to the Ephesians, they are reminded that there shall be "One Lord, one Faith, one Baptism." They recall that Christ, praying for His disciples after the Last Supper, asked "That they all may be one" (John 17-21).

Yet where is such unity today? Christ's believers are divided into hundreds of denominations, some holding conflicting beliefs. Regardless of any justifications that may be offered for such disunity, its existence is a matter of deep concern to sincere Christians of all denominations. This has been made strikingly apparent by the interest of people of all faiths in the deliberations of the Ecumenical Council called by Pope John XXIII.

It is not our intention here to debate the claim of the Catholic Church to be the true Church of Christ, nor to bring up historical proofs of its apostolic origin. Nor shall we challenge or dispute the claims of any other faiths, or question the sincerity of their followers.

But if you are concerned about what has been called "the scandal of a divided Christianity..." if you are confused by the differences among Christians in doctrine and forms of worship... if you want to know how hundreds of Christian denominations came into existence even though the Bible foretells there shall be but "one fold and one shepherd" - you should send for our special pamphlet dealing with that historic event of the 16th century - the Reformation.

It covers in highly-interesting detail the causes and effects... of the events and personalities... of this springboard to Christian disunity. It deals candidly with conditions which Luther, Calvin and others cited as justification for reform and how the proposed reform got out of hand to create the schism that now divides Christ's followers.

In these times, when so many people of all faiths manifest a yearning for better understanding and closer union of all the flocks of Christ, this pamphlet brings the historical facts into a clear-cut focus that anyone can easily comprehend... and every Christian should welcome. It also contains an illustrated "family tree" showing the year in which each Christian denomination branched off from the apostolic Church.

Charolais Cattle Raised By Rancher

by Sally Whitesides

Lloyd Grau, long time cattleman of the Grady area, is busily introducing Charolais cattle to Curry County -- and the people of Curry County to this famous, heavy, big-boned French strain of cattle.

Charolais, pronounced sharo-lay, have a rich background, which begins back during the early days of the Roman Empire, according to historians. Then, they were raised for heavy dray or farm work, but in the ensuing years, for about 200 years in fact, breeders have been pushing them closer and closer to the ideal beef stock.

One of the oldest breeds of beef cattle, the purebred Charolais is a big, long-bodied, heavily muscled animal that has a coat of white or very light straw color. Most Charolais are naturally horned, but some naturally polled animals also are being registered in this country. In conformation, this breed presents a distinctive appearance because of the heavy muscling in the loin and the round, a trait that comes from generations of selection for this quality.

Charolais got their start in the western hemisphere back in the early 1930's, when a Mexican of French, descent brought in a small shipment to his ranch near Mexico City. Two later shipments in 1931 and 1937 brought the total number to 37 animals -- 8 bulls and 29 females. From this handful of seed stock, all Charolais on the North American continent originated -- until just a year ago now. Then, 103 French bulls and females were released from rigid quarantine into Canada and some have been brought into the United States.

The original stock that has been in the United States for the past 30 years springs from two bulls which were brought into this country from Mexico in 1936. Importation of the breed was stopped cold in the mid 1940's because of an outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Mexico and the war years eliminated further imports from Europe. Although it is now possible to import breeding stock from France, as in last year's instance, restrictions are still rigid and most costly, with quarantine periods on both sides of the Atlantic before they can at last make their home in America.

Now, despite the quarantines, the restrictions, etc., there are more than 41,000 purebred Charolais registered in the United States and another 250,000 recorded crossbreeds are being used as foundation animals in breeding up programs. The American - International Charolais Association, headquarters in Houston, Tex., will accept as purebred Charolais any animal which is 31/32 Charolais. In other words, purebred Charolais are produced when a purebred bull is used on five successive generations from a basic beef breed. This is only by using a basic beef breed; those bred to dairy type animals cannot be registered.

Just why is this breed becoming so popular? There are many reasons and not the least of these is the rapid growth rate of the calf crop. Tests made at Grau's ranch last summer showed that calves weighed from 500 to 600 pounds each at the age of five months. Furthermore, these same calves, weighed through the assistance of the Curry County Extension office and the Grady FFA advisor, weighed from 70 to 80 pounds more when weighed just 19 days later. And this was on grass and mother cow alone.

In fact, says Grau, calves grow to 1,100 pounds market weight in one year, compared with 18 months for other breeds. Premium prices can be expected from packers, too, for still another reason. Charolais are favored by consumers, we're told, because the meat is shot through with a thread-like network of fat, finer than the tender marbling in other beef. The texture of the meat is finer and flavor more delicate.

WEIGHING OUT AT 2300, this Charolais bull owned by Lloyd Grau of Grady was, at the time, in "good working condition." If he were in show condition, this bull would be at least 500 pounds heavier. Note the massive frame and heavy thighs -- the steak section. This bull was, though not a pet, most cooperative to handling.

Packers report that a typical carcass shows little waste fat and dresses down to 65 to 68 per cent edible meat -- which is several percentage points more than that of most breeds of beef stock. Also, that section which boasts those high-priced cuts, the hindquarters and loins, are seemingly a specialty with this breed. They boast heavy, muscular growth in these, the steak region of an animal.

Grau got his start from the Charolais ranch near Ada, Okla., about two years ago. He had read of the breed; noted the rapid gain records, the quality of meat, the almost immunity to such diseases as pink eye and cancer eye, and their hardiness in any climate; from tropic to desert to the sub-zero temperatures of the north. He found also that this breed has a very gentle nature, and a big help to any rancher, they are respecters of fences.

After visiting the Oklahoma ranch in February, 1965, Grau bought a number of cows and heifers -- paying as much as $1,000 apiece for them. At present, he is breeding them, crossbreeding with his Hereford stock and, he says, has a ready sale for all of his bulls which he wishes to sell. In fact, he reports, he can't raise them fast enough for the demand.

Grau notes too that, there are other qualities which ranchers are always looking for. Take the rapid growth in heifers and their naturally heavy, large boned frame. This natural build not only provides a bigger meat area, but it has been proved through research at livestock testing stations across the country that the early maturing Charolais female exceeds other breeds in calving ease -- even in the often critical area of calving of two-year-old heifers. Less loss of heifers and their calves and a lower percentage of delivery difficulty for even these younger heifers. This is a two fold advantage. Not only cutting down birth losses, but in many instances, that extra calf during a cow's life span helps to put her farther over into the profit section of the rancher's record books. Earlier calving, more calves per lifetime.

The Grady rancher and his whole family are enthused about their herd of Charolais cattle. Some of his stock were shown at the 1966 Curry County Fair, but since he was the only breeder showing them, there was no competition. He also showed in Amarillo this spring and plans to continue his showing. At a recent bull sale in Quay County, Grau presented substantial proof of his belief in his cattle. He guaranteed success for any breeder buying his bulls, a monetary guarantee that showed his confidence in this breed of cattle.

There are many ranchers throughout the country who are showing interest in these fine white cattle and it is predicted that Grau won't be the only Charolais breeder in Curry County for very long.
