TRIALS AND TEMPTATIONS OF RUN-AWAY BOYS IN NEW YORK.

A Plain Matter of Fact Talk from New York's Chief Inspector-Boys Get Their Ideas of the City from Lurid Books-A Few Examples from the Records.

Having already referred in a general way to the evil effects that usually fall to the lot of a boy who is so foolish and headstrong as to run away from home and try his fortunes in the great city, I will cite a few cases of the many with which the records of our police department abound. All teach the same lesson.

In January, a year or two ago, a boy eleven years old left his home in Albany and came to this city, as he afterward said, "to see the sights." As day after day passed and he did not return, his parents, greatly worried, made inquiries for him in many directions. The police of this city were asked to join in the search

The boy had been absent about three weeks when one day an officer who was patrolling a post in the neighborhood of the docks came upon a boy who stag-gered as he walked. The officer's first impression was that the boy was intoxicated, but upon making a closer examination and questioning him it turned out that he was not intoxicated, but yeak from lack of food and from exposure in the wintry weather.

The policeman took him to headquarters and gave him a good meal. Afterward it was discovered that he was the boy from Albany whose disappearance had caused so much concern.

His parents were promptly communi-cated with, and he was very glad indeed to go home with his father, who came after him without delay.

A few months after this occurred our police were requested to look for two bys-one fifteen years old, the other thirteen—who had run away from their homes in a New England city. They had good homes and kind parents, but they had tired of going to school.

The idea of wonderful adventures had been put into their heads by the books they had been allowed to read, and they determined to see life for themselves in larger city than the one where they had been brought op They wondered about New York for five days, but found life here a sterner reality than they had supposed. The little money they had was soon spent, and at the end of the five days they were glad to give themselves up to the police, nd tearfully asked to be sent back to their homes.

One day a policeman attached to one of the down town precincts saw a boy, when minister No. 2 encountered minevidently a stranger in the city, sitting ister No. 1.-Washington Cor. Boston on the porch of a house, and soon found that he was exhausted from hunger and partially overcome by the heat. The boy was only eleven years of age.

It cannot yet be sail that the exact status of Koch's remedy is fixed; nor can we even yet say with certainty that this much heralded cure is destined to survive among established methods at all. The most that is claimed for it by its most ardent advocates is that it seems capable of depriving the bacillas of the naterial in which it thrives best-i. c., of disintegrating and destroying tuber-culous tissue. There has been no claim that it has any direct effect upon the ex-istence of the bacillus, nor that it, having deprived the bacillus of its food, tends in any way to remove that parasite from the body, and thus to eliminate the possible source of danger of subsequent or more general infection.

Koch's Consumption Care.

Under its influence in some forms of local tuberculosis-especially of the skin -it has been shown that tissue which was of the very lowly organized variety characteristic of the disease has been at first in part and then wholly replaced by a tissue of higher organization, and one that is likely to be permanent. In regard to tuberculosis of the lungs, there can be no question that improvement in the patient's general condition and also evidence of improvement at the site of the disease have followed the use of this remedy. The general improve-ment manifests itself by a gain in weight, lessening in fever, increased ap petite, better sleep. The local improve ment is surmised from certain changes to be observed by auscultation and per-cussion, together with a diminution in the severity of the cough and in the amount of the expectoration, and also a diminution in the number of the bacilli in the expectoration or their complete disappearance from it.

This has not always been the case. In not a few instances no improvement has resulted, and in other cases direct and most damaging results, including hem-orrhage and even death, have been brought about by it. In the treatment of taberculosis of the bones and joints result seem to have been widely different. It is certain that some cases have been benefited, and equally certain that others have not. - Popular Science Monthly.

Habit Beats the Bishop. During the session of the Methodist conference one of the ministers went into a drug store about dusk on a chilly evening and asked the proprietor for a good, mild cigar. After paying for it he added:

"Is there any place around your store where I can have a quiet smoke? Our bishop has just been preaching pretty sharply against the use of tobacco, so ] don't want to smoke 'round the house where I am staying, nor out in the street, on account of the bad example I might set. But a mild cigar does rest one so!

The druggist quite agreed with him and said: "Step behind my prescription counter.

sir: you will be unseen there.' Two minutes later another good miner came into the store, bought a mild ar and asked if he might be permited to smoke in the store, because: "Our bishop has just been preaching against smoking," he explained, almost in the exact words of his predecessor. He also was sent behind the prescription counter. The screen hid the two ominies from sight, but it did not shat out the peals of laughter which arose

Below we give our last year's wool sales. They appear just as we made the sales. Taking the large amount of wool we bandled, coming from all sections, and in all kinds of conditions, we feel we did well. Our Spring Times When spring comes to seek her own Do they all rise at her words? Is the fittle fieldgeling's tone Sweet as was the parent bird's? When once more the streamlets roam Do the robins all come home?

Here's a nest upon the bough, But there comes no bird to claim; Has she made a new nest now? If from some far land we came We should all the home nest know, Even were it filled with snow.

There are blue eyes that we miss In the flush of violet time; Something lacking in the bliss Of the bird bells' sweetest chime; In the heart are many spots Saered to forget-mo-nots. If perchance youth cometh back Through some freasure on your kase, Still the heart will prove a lack, Lovely though the child may be: For if it so needed you, You still aced your mother too.

Sometime will the far off springs Come back with these later once: There will be no missing wings, There will be no missing tones-All the joys, but dearer grown, Of the spring times we have known. -Mary A. Mason in Frank Leslie's.

It had become a habit with the porters of the two cars to take the shoes to be cleaned from the forward car to the rear one, where they would converse while putting on the necessary polish. On the particular night referred to both the porters fell asleep over the shoes, and when the car was dropped off at Milwankee two porters and all the shoes belonging to people in the forward car were dropped off too.

The spectacle presented at the Mil-wankee depot in Chicago when the train arrived was, to say the least, an unusual one. Twenty-five shoeless passengers kicked vigorously for their lost brogans. and a big crowd had fan with them. The railway management was equal to the occasion. A shoe clerk was promptly on the spot: each man, woman and child was rapidly measured, and in less
