

Bull Town Bulletins

By Bill Ellis

OUR FRIEND, John Terry has been at it again. Recently, he sent us this missive, entitled "Politics." The rest of this piece is by John Terry.

I have been fighting a hard battle with a short stick ever since Ann Richards announced her candidacy for governor. My Republican friend refers to her as "that old white-headed woman" and wishes terrible things for her future.

He said he was rejoicing upon seeing the name Richards in the obituaries of his South Plains paper, until his wife made it clear that the first name was not Ann.

I castigated him slightly for rejoicing the demise of anyone, and he came back with, "Why don't you make a poem about that?" On the spur of the minute, I offered the best I could.

My Republican friend is a man about town.

When I state my views, he starts cuttin' me down.

He's slightly opinionated, but definitely right.

If I criticize his politics, he gets uptight.

He grabs the obituary page in both hands and starts looking

For Richards with the first name of Ann.

He's hoping that maybe she has run out of luck,

Just maybe she has met with a Peterbilt truck.

Another morning he brings the news that a report was made that Bush and Quayle are blood relatives from way-back-when, descended from royalty.

"It's no wonder they arrived at the White House at the same time, it was written in the stars, the palms of their hands and one 'checkout tabloid' that they would achieve greatness in their time," he said.

A discussion followed concerning how names were acquired in the early days, how names were changed to escape the vengeance of the Crown, or the Sheriff of Sherwood, how Bush and Quayle may have come by their names. My friend again challenged me to "make a poem about that." My effort to accommodate him, again on short notice, follows:

Have you ever considered how in the early days,

Family names were made;

Not so much from ancestors,

As maybe from a trade?

Like Mr. Miller who ground the corn,

Or Baker that made the bread,

Or Mr. Hunter who searched for game,

So the people could be fed?

The first Mr. Bush may have planted trees,

Thereby the family name,

So Mr. Hunter would have a place to go,

Looking for his game.

The game he sought with fear was fraught,

So shy, so weak and frail,

This shy little bird became well-known,

The name, of course, was Quail.

The Quayle we know is not Gung-Ho,

He needs a little push.

But it still holds true you'll find your Quayle,

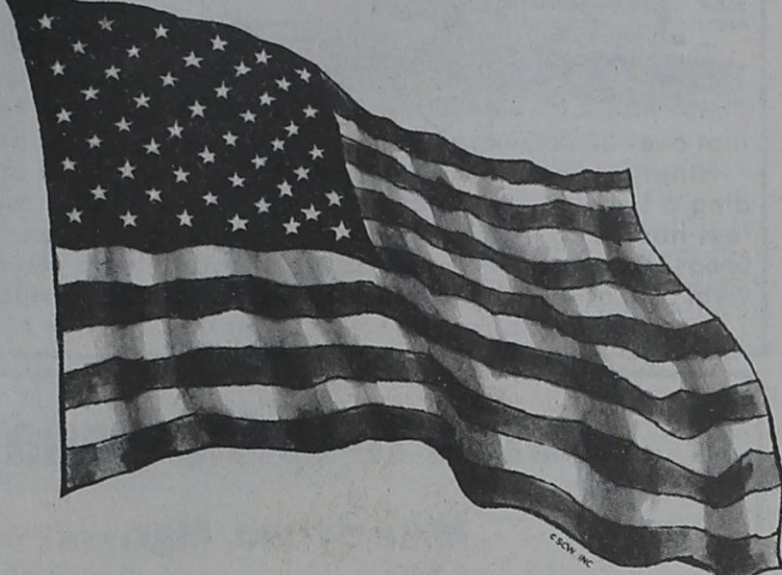

Hiding behind a Bush.

Then, of all unexpected things, Ann Richards made it through the runoff and became the No. 1 candidate of the Democratic party for governor.

My Republican friend had an immediate rise in blood pressure, and I feared for his well-being. He didn't give an inch, though, and came on strong for Clayton Williams, still referring to my favorite as "that old white-headed woman."

Then came Mr. Williams' remark, well-publicized, "Relax and enjoy it." My friend claimed this was of no significance, "Just merely a cowboy joke." "Why don't you make a poem about

Memorial Day--May 28, 1990

We Raised The Flag

By C.L. Vestal

The morning of November 11, 1943, started off as usual; hot and humid! These were the days when we were real short on food and sleep. For breakfast, a piece of bacon maybe two inches long, half a tablespoon of powdered eggs, half of a hard tack (about the size of and looked like a ginger snap) and a third of a canteen cup of coffee. This would be our big meal for the day, plus plenty of coconuts to pick up off the ground to eat.

After breakfast we were just loafing around, these island were now secure and all we had to do was build a Navy base with no tools or supplies!

Mr. Murphy came up to us and said "We just got word that Ol' Bull (Admiral Halsey) is coming to see us today. We have won this island with sweat, blood and human lives. Looks like if any of you boys had any respect for the men we have lost, you would see to it that our flag would be flying when he gets here."

That's all that was said, so Okie and me took my machete and went back in the jungle and found a tree that suited the purpose, cut it down and trimmed it up. Joe Fincher got the flag--we don't remember where or who from, and we don't remember how we attached it to the tree flagpole--but we commented on the fact, "Wish we had a bugle and someone to play colors," or a record player with the Star Spangled Banner to play.

I thought that it was a clear day that morning, but when we looked up at the Ol' Red, White and Blue, flying so free, we had to wipe water out of our eyes. It was so good as we sat down on a log to rest and watch the other fellows as they would come out of the jungle into our little clearing of a camp. They would be stooped, a little hungry, sleepy and tired, but when they spotted Ol' Glory flying, they were able to stand a little straighter, give a sharp salute, then wipe a tear out of their eyes.

That American flag that morning was everything that we were not, but wanted to be. Up above the rot and filth of the hot, steamy jungle floor, with rotten coconuts, land crabs and centipedes. Its Red, White and Blue colors were so fresh and bright and clean and free, flying above with so much energy and life about it. That's where God's children belong! That had to be the first American flag to ever fly over these Treasury Islands, of the Northern Solomons in the Southwest Pacific.

P.S.--There were no flag-burners in this bunch of men.

Mammogram Clinic Is Scheduled

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of every ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime during her lifetime. Every year over 37,000 women die as a result of breast cancer.

According to a spokesman from the Regional Breast Care Center at Women's & Children's Hospital in Odessa, "The death rate from breast cancer could be drastically reduced if women would have mammograms done before a problem exists."

By using modern state of the art x-ray equipment, breast cancers can be found when they are about the size of a grain of rice and well before the cancer can be felt.

A woman who is diagnosed with breast cancer at this early stage has a 90-97 per cent survival rate. However, a woman who is not diagnosed until a lump can be felt has approximately a 50 per cent survival rate in five years.

In an effort to find cancers at the earliest possible stage and prevent unnecessary deaths, a mobile breast cancer detection unit will be made available to local women on Friday, June 8.

The mobile unit will be parked at City Hall, 205 North Street in Bovina. Appointments may be made by calling 238-1116.

For more information you may call the Regional Breast Care Center at Women's & Children's Hospital at (915) 334-8888/561-9999.

Blood Drive Is Slated Here Fri.

The Community Bloodmobile will be in Bovina on Friday, June 1 at the First Bank Community Room. All donors will be appreciated and welcome.

It is impossible to contract AIDS by giving blood. A new needle is used each time that blood is taken, so people do not have to be afraid of contracting AIDS from donating blood.

Blood is available for use by any resident of the Panhandle area by official request from a hospital or a qualified physician.

TEACHER OF WEEK...Suezy Smith was chosen as Employee of the Week, a project sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Assn. Suezy is secretary to the high school principal. She and Billy are parents of three children.

D. Lumbrera Still Held On Charges

Diana Lumbrera is still being held in Garden City, Kansas in lieu of $50,000 bond on a charge of first-degree murder of one of her six children who have died. This is not the only death being investigated.

Another five of the woman's children and one she was baby-sitting have died in Parmer and Castro counties since 1976. There were four deaths in Bovina and two in Dimmitt.

Parmer County law enforcement officers and Castro County investigators have joined the Garden City police in the investigation. The Texas Rangers have also been brought in.

Report was that Ms. Lumbrera took her dead son, Jose Antonio, four years old, to the emergency room at a Garden City Hospital on May 1. Medics tried to revive him but were not successful. An autopsy indicated that the cause of death was by "asphyxia due to smothering."

Diana was arrested on May 5 and formally charged with the little boy's death on May 7. An autopsy ruled that the death was of natural causes. The charge in the death was not changed, however.

Lumbrera's first baby died at the age of three months; the second one at fourteen months old; one died at three years old; another died at two years old; a little boy died at five and one-half months; and a six-week-old baby died that she was baby-sitting.

Police investigators have turned up evidence that there were three life insurance policies but it was not thought there was a connection to the deaths.

Anyone who has any information pertaining to the investigation is urged to contact the sheriff's office in Parmer County or Castro County.

Scooter's Scoops

By Scooter Russell

Jim and I returned home from being away to California this week and while trucking through New Mexico we bought an Albuquerque newspaper and found out about little Matthew Roberts and where they found his little body.

This child has been in everyone's thoughts, prayers and concern for the past three weeks. It was so sad and scary this sort of thing could happen and right in front of the parent's home when he was discovered in a compartment in a station wagon.

Anyway, it is doubtful that the community will ever be the same again. Over 8,000 people searched for him and his little picture could be seen everywhere over the country. The people there did a terrific job in getting the information out fast and over a large area.

We don't know the parents but all of us felt such compassion for them during this time.

Our deepest sympathies to the family of Bobby Hix who has been a resident of Prairie Acres for eleven years. Seventeen years ago, Bobby suffered an aneurism of the brain when he was only 33 years old.

He is survived by four children; three sisters, Margaret Meason of Ted Stallings' condition is still improving and he has had more skin-grafting on the burned portions of his body following a plane crash in Pennsylvania. His secretary, Margaret Meason, said they discovered that both of Stallings' ankles were broken and they had been put in casts. He has a long road ahead of him but so far, so good.

On Friday of last week, Marie Venable celebrated her birthday at her place of business. Friends brought two birthday cakes and a group of twenty-five people had a good time and enjoyed cake and ice cream.

The summer baseball program is underway and Pablo Garza is going to be in charge of the program. There was not any information for last week's paper but news has gotten out and the deadline for signing up was Tuesday of this week. Hopefully, you got your name on the list if you are wanting to play baseball. Pablo will have more information as time goes by.

Todd Bartley, son of Bo and Jeanne Bartley, underwent an appendectomy a week ago. Friends said he had been sick for a couple of weeks and had even been to the doctor and they put him on medication but he drove himself to the doctor one day and they kept him and did the surgery immediately. He is getting along fine and was released from the hospital Sunday.

Todd's sister, Renae, has recently graduated with a nursing degree from the Oklahoma Baptist University in Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Jimmy and I went to California last week on a truck trip and stopped in Alamogordo, New Mexico at the Western Sizzler and had dinner with Don and Danita Sudderth. They own and operate the Western Sizzler and it is probably the best restaurant between here and California. We really had a good visit with them and had fun in California.

Paul Harvey said it was so hot in Yuma, Arizona that the roadrunners were having to use potholders on the worms they pulled from the ground. They were still using potholders there, but California was cooler.

Clyde Blalock and his sister, Opal Wines, have had a good time with family visiting. Their sister and her husband, Pernie and Dick Free, came from Dumas, another sister Dora and Fuzzy Brown, came from Clovis and their brother, Bob and Mildred Blalock, came from Springtown, Texas.

The family spent Saturday and Sunday night in Clovis with Dora and Fuzzy then came to Bovina on Sunday and attended church together. Monday noon, a friend and distant relative, Sid Lloyd, fixed lunch for the family.

SMILE:
A five-year-old boy was asked by a new neighbor how many there were in his family.
"Seven," came the reply.
"My, that many children must cost a lot," the neighbor exclaimed.
"Oh, no," said the child, "We don't buy them, we raise them."

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer. Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00. A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

PROWL CULTI-SPRAY™

PROWL CULTI-SPRAY (postemergence incorporated) is a technique designed to control late-season weeds, and is particularly suited to areas of low rainfall or irrigated corn. It combines cultivation to destroy existing weeds and PROWL, or PROWL plus atrazine, to prevent future weed seed germination.

CULTI-SPRAY applications can be made from the 4-inch stage of corn growth as late as layby cultivation. Cultivate and destroy all emerged weeds prior to application with a sweep-type or rolling cultivator operated at sufficient speed to throw at least one inch of soil over the base of the corn plants. This will prevent direct contact of the zone of brace root formation by PROWL during application.

Apply PROWL, or PROWL plus atrazine tank mixture, with a ground sprayer, covering the soil uniformly. Incorporate PROWL treatments uniformly in the top one inch of soil with a sweep-type or rolling cultivator or by irrigation or rainfall within seven days of application. These treatments effectively control late season weeds for cleaner fields and easier harvesting. The tank-mix treatment is particularly effective against shattercane, velvetleaf, Venice mallow and smartweed.

Frank and Hattie Turner
--70 Years Ago--

Reception To Fete Pair's 70th Anniv.

One spring day, Frank Olan Turner and Hattie Holland drove to Fisher County's Judge Martin's house in Roby, Texas to be married. They were accompanied by Hattie's sister and brother-in-law.

The judge's yard was in full bloom with crepe myrtles, other spring flowers and a flowering tree. Looking around they decided this would be a perfect setting for a wedding. To Frank's and Hattie's surprise, up drove other couples to attend the marriage. The judge and his wife were happy to do the honors. On June 6, 1920, Frank and Hattie were married.

Frank farmed in the Roscoe and Sylvester areas many years. Using relatives and friends to help with the farming and harvesting, Hattie learned early to prepare and cook for large crowds, which she perfected and continues to do so to this day. She often diversified her meals with fresh fish which she had slipped down to the creek to catch. (This was no chore, but a favored hobby.)

Fact was, none of her work seemed like chores because she enjoyed cooking, house cleaning, sewing, gardening, attending church every Sunday, and sometimes in between, to name a few.

Hattie was not alone in this, though Frank "couldn't boil water," he was always ready to fix anything that broke, or wall paper a room during lunch hours. He could repair the family car or farm tractor, and did so many times with "baling wire or rusty nails," if necessary, as parts were not available.

In 1951 they moved to Bovina farm, never considering to use the schooling he had received at Draughn's Business School in Abilene.

They moved to Zapata in the early 1960s. Hattie continued her fishing and Frank fixed everybody's everything that broke, and still did his share of fishing.

They came back to Bovina every summer, and moved back about five years ago. In their mid-eighties, Frank still climbed upon the tractors to help the boys plow, and Hattie was in sheer delight to get to help herself to the gardens, canning and cooking for crowds.

It is no wonder their children, Olan, Frankie, Wannette and Jack, eleven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren enjoy "going home" and being attentive to these exceptional parents.

In appreciation, the children of Frank and Hattie Turner are hosting a reception for their parent's seventieth wedding anniversary at the First Baptist Church of Bovina in the Fellowship Hall on June 9 from 2-4 p.m.

All friends and neighbors are invited. No local invitations are being mailed. The only gift requested is an anniversary card to fill their hearts and fill a "Basket of Cards."

MICHELLE RENEE DOPP and DONEL SHANE COGBURN...Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dopp of Bovina announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Michelle Renee, to Donel Shane Cogburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cogburn of Canyon. The bride-elect is a 1988 graduate of Bovina High School and is presently studying elementary education at West Texas State University. The prospective bridegroom is a 1987 graduate of Happy High School and is currently employed at Trafton Printing in Amarillo. The couple plans to exchange wedding vows July 21 at 11 a.m. in the Bovina Church of Christ. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

DPS Report Shows County Fatality

Sgt. Marshall Henderson of Hereford stated, "In Parmer County, our troopers investigated one fatal accident, two personal injury accidents and two property damage accidents in the month of April. One person was killed and four were injured in these accidents."
