Vol. 1. No. 7

Brackettville, (Fort Clark), Kinney County, Texas

"The message in opposition to the site is overwhelming, with only a handful of Kinney County residents indicating support for locating the site within their county," said the Senator. "My fear is that Kinney

County, which produces none of this waste material, would be perceived,

along with other parts of Senate

District 21, as a ready recipient of other people's waste products,"

The Senator emphasized, "I worked diligently during the last legislative session to prevent the location of a low-level radioactive waste dump site in my district, and I will work just as diligently to oppose any additional sites that have the potential of polluting our water supplies and

Zaffirini Opposes Waste Disposal Site

State Senator Judith Zaffirini (D-Laredo) today announced that she will oppose the locating of a waste disposal site for naturally occurring radioactive materials (NORM) in Kinney County near the town of Spofford.

Senator Zaffirini's decision to oppose the site comes after careful evaluation of the potential dangers of the project and the overwhelming sentiment of the citizens of the county in opposition to the site.

"I have received numerous letters, petitions, phone calls and resolutions urging me to join in opposition to the NORM site, "she said. After months of taking the time to meet with every group or individual who wanted to discuss this project with me, I am convinced that the overwhelming majority of Kinney County residents are opposed to the project being located in their county and near their communities.'

The Senator stressed that her decision was made after carefully weighing the evidence of potential harm that could come to the county against the perceived benefits of economic development and job crea-

Zaffirini also expressed her concern about the safety of such a project with its proposed location literallyabutting the town of Spofford. "With questions that are being raised about the dangers of radioactivity in other counties, we cannot afford to move forward with this project until we have examined fully the consequences of asking the citizens of Kinney County to live with this dump site for generations to come,"

"A study just completed by the Senate Interim Committee on Radioaction Mill Tailings raises more questions about the safety of storing radioactive by-products in Texas than it answers. I do not want my district to become a proving ground for the storage of NORM waste material when there are alternative sites for such disposal located in other states," she pointed out. "At this time there are considerable questions that remain unanswered about the effects of NORM materials and the proper methods of dealing with their storage.'

Senator Zaffirini noted that in addition to letters and petitions from more than 1,400 area residents who expressed strong opposition to the site, she received resolutions of opposition from the commissioner's courts of Kinney, Uvalde, Maverick, Zavala and Val Verde counties. "I also received similar resolutions from the cities of Brackettville, Uvalde, Eagle Pass, Spofford and Del Rio and from the Fort Clark Springs Association and Middle Rio Grande Development Council," she said.

"Unquestionably, the project developers and investors mean well, are committed to safe, state-of-the art technology, and see the site as a vehicle for creating jobs and boosting the local economy. They initially believed that they had strong local support for the NORM site," she

"Opposition to the storage of waste, whether nuclear or NORM, can be more emotional than logical. I truly believe that waste storage sites should be located where they are welcomed by residents who are convinced of their safety standards

BISD Rehiring

The Brackett Independent School District Board of Trustees-approved rehiring of all teachers desiring to return for 1989-90. Three teachers had announced their intention not to return. Mrs. Debbie Ward, Mrs. Kathleen Arp, and Mrs. Christine Tinder will not be returning.

The Board also changed career ladder policy to allow all teachers who had completed the objective criteria and who have the appropriate appraisal scores as required by state law to be placed on Level II of the career ladder. A Career Ladder Committee was appointed to review personnel folders and appraisal scores. Career ladder appointments will be made in June, and the $1,500 stipend will be included in the June 25, 1989, employee payroll.

Stolen Merchandise Recovered

Burglars entered the High School Ag Shop Sunday night, March 19, and took several electric hand tools valued at approximately $600.

The valuable tools, which included electric circular hand saws, sanders and drills were discovered missing late Monday afternoon by Ag teacher David Carroll, who reported the missing items to school Superintendent Bob McCall.

Late Monday night, March 20, Sheriff Norman Hooten received information about the burglary from an informant and by 3:30 p.m. Tuesday afternoon the stolen property had been recovered by Sheriff Hooten and Sheriff Deputy David Luna.

There are two juvenile suspects in the case who have been questioned by

Sheriff Department Investigators and school officials Bob McCall and Lee

Schermerhorn. As of this date, no official changes have been filed. The valuable and much needed school property was returned to school Superintendent Bob McCall late Tuesday afternoon. The case is still under investigation at the time of this Commissioners Court met Monday morning, March 20, in a special meeting. Report is as follows:

Health Services may not be available due to lack of space

Members of the state Department of Health, Dr. Moritz and H.C. Mitta M.D. approached commissioners court offering the following services; Public Health nursing services, Immunizations, community disease surveillance outreach, follow-up for family planning, cronic diseases, tuberculosis control, assistant to school nurse when requested. The office also proposed to extend services to Kinney County including; Adult Health Clinic, diabete; hypertension, cholesterol and cancer screening and education, case management and home visits. Plus a teen outreach program addressing the problems of adolescence.

The only problem, in order to obtain these services, was the need of space. Commissioner Bizzell addressed the need as follows, "Kinney County is growing and we need space to grow with them."

Bizzell also mentioned that - in the discussion process only - was the idea to build a long building across from the jail on county owned property. He also suggested maybe trying to pass a bond issue, which would take 90 days. Bizzell asked Department of Health representatives if they would draw up a floor plan and submit it to the Court. H.C. Mitta said that they would comply with that request.

Dr. Moritz informed the Court that only with allowed space could these services be made available to citizens of Kinney County.

Judge Tommy Seargeant stated, 'We don't want to lose the benefits to the citizens just because we don't have space," he also added, "If I've got an underemployed or handicapped person in Kinney County, these services are just as important to that person as anyone else.'

Also discussed by Health officials was the desire to employ a full-time dentist in Kinney County. This would be the central location for the dentist to work out of.

Commissioner Slubar was concerned that the Dept. of Health may look for numbers before deciding to provide services here as many other agencies do. Dr. Moritz assured her that numbers was not a criteria for eligibility of services.

Space For MRGDC Employee Discussed was the use of the Judge's chamber for the MRGDC employee since she needed privacy with clients.

Selection of New County Agent Further discussion and information was needed on this item.

County Cemetery

Water was shut off at the County Cemetery in order to fix the water lines. Dr. Harber addressed this issue on behalf of the Masonic Cemetery, stating that he and his lodge thought that the responsibility of watering plants should be that of the individual. Therefore, they disconnected their water service.

Holly Graham Makes The News

Beautify America

Holly Graham, granddaughter of local residents A.L. and Kee Bacon, was honored by receiving the title of "Express News Greater San Antonio Player of the Year". In December of 1988, she was also named "Express News Sportswoman of the Year".

The 6'1" basketball player earned these titles due to her outstanding performance on court. In 32 out of 33 of the games she played for Devine, Graham scored 717 points and grabbing 469 rebounds.

Graham was noted as being able to do almost anything in basketball. Graham is a student at Devine and helped her team to the State Semi-Finals twice.

Future plans for Holly do not include basketball. Holly has chosen to enlist her talents elsewhere. Beginning this season, she will be on the UT Volleyball team. After learning how talented she was in Volleyball and receiving a scholarship to UT, she decided maybe she could come on quicker in Volleyball.

The letters that appeared in last week's issue of the Kinney Cavalryman in response to my column in the March 9 issue of The Brackett News, were not surprising and were in fact anticipated. After all, I have taken issue with those that attempted my defeat in the 1988 sheriff's election and they are still licking their wounds over that. In reply to those letters I have only a few things to say which will be my final word on the matter.

In those letters, my character and ability as a peace officer were attacked as were my intentions and reasons for making public the illegal and unconstitutional acts of the commissioners court. In those letters, I was scathingly attacked by a group of people who are all declared political enemies of mine, most of whom have tried unsuccessfully for years to beat me at the polls and get me out of office.

In their letters, they made vague references to false accusations and attempts by me to overthrow the power of the commissioners court. The power of a commissioners court is specifically mandated by state law and the Texas Constitution, it was they who attempted to go beyond that legal authority, and yes, it was I who attempted to stop them from doing so. In their letters, nor by any other means, have they been able to make one direct, factual rebuttal to my statements concerning their actions in the incidents I disclosed to the public. Why? Because they know full well that the TRUE FACTS are recorded in the public records in the courthouse.

I have never asked my readers or the citizens of this county to take my word on anything, I have always invited the public to check the documented facts for themselves, and I do so now. Check it out for yourselves, it's all there in black and white. And consider this, of the five letters printed in the Cavalryman, three were written by direct participants in the illegal, unconstitutional acts discussed. One was written by a bitter, frustrated man who was the campaign manager for my opponent in their unsuccessful efforts during the 1988 sheriff's election, and one was written by a man from Georgia who just might be the son-in-law of the editor/owner of the Cavalryman Slubar.

future, the Kinney County Comscope of their legal authority on at least two ocassions and because of myself and others, those actions had to be corrected and LEGAL action taken, against their wishes even then I might add. I make no apologies now nor will I in the future for disclosures of illegal acts by county else. The people have a right to know.

In their letters, they moan and groan about false accusations and damaged reputations and speak piously of wanting better relations between county officials and seeking higher levels of integrity. I didn't notice any such moans and groans when I was being ripped to pieces with all kinds of false, libelous statements by my opponent and his supporters in ads appearing in the Cavalryman during the 1988 sheriff's election. Where were their concerns then? I readily agree that we need better relations and that we should always subscribe to higher levels of

However, if this means we must join them in illegal acts to justify selfish desires, or at the very least keep quiet and not resist, then I have only one reply. NEVER! I tried to communicate with the commissioners court on several occasions in relation to the incidents and actions being taken by them. I was told at one time that "the people don't always know what's best for them." True, I am not a county attorney nor am I a county commissioner, but I am the chief law enforcement officer of this county under provisions of the Texas Constitution, and I did take the time to study the law and obtain facts related to the actions taken. Primarily because they were directly related to my office and were not in the best interest of the citizens of this county because they were illegal.

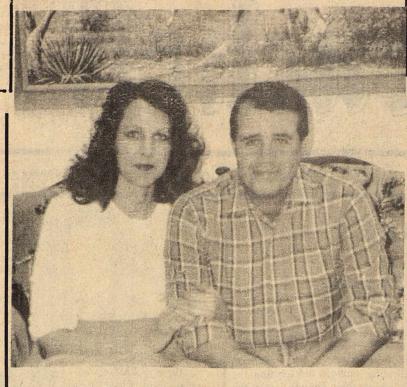

Had the commissioners court not been so determined to continue taking actions beyond the scope of their legal authority and had they been willing to correct those "mistakes" willingly, then perhaps this issue would never have been fought out in the public eye. However, they were not willing to take voluntary action and had to be beat over the head with state law and the Constitution before taking corrective action. If I am to be criticized and blased in the paper for taking a stand against power abuse and illegal acts, then so be it.

I will never stand idly by and allow illegal acts by public officials or anyone else to go unchallenged. If I were to do this, then I should leave office for I would not be fulfilling my sworn duty as the chief law enforcement officer of this county nor my responsibilities as a good citizen.

The FACTS of these matters are public record contained in the minutes of the commissioners court and Pct. 2 Commissioner, Rosemary meetings on file in the County Clerk's office and the provisions of The bottom line is this; the state law and the Texas Constitution commissioners court is not out of related to these matters are available step with me so much as they are out to anyone desiring them. I rest my of step with state law and the case and take my stand on the laws of Constitution. No matter what may be the land and if I accomplish nothing said or written about me in the more I at least know in my heart that I have done the right thing by missioners Court took illegal, un- resisting the abuse of power by public constitutional actions beyond the officials acting in their own selfish interests and NOT in the best interest of Kinney County as a whole. The rest will be up to the voters in elections to come.

I will never yield to the illegal use or abuse of official power by any man, woman, or public official, nor will I stand idly by and let it happen just to commissioners court or anybody avoid offending someone. Remember; "no man in the wrong can stand up to a man in the right who keeps on coming."

John and Neelia Hetu

John and Neelia Hetu are new residents in Kinney County. The couple married four months ago at the training academy where John was stationed. The couple has one son, Jason, age 10, who will join them June 1, after he finishes his school term in El Paso.

Both John and Neelia were born and raised in El Paso. Although they only recently met, they realized that they had only lived half a mile from one another and both attended the same elementary school and high school.

"This is a great town," stated John, 'we really like it here."

John is employed with the U.S. Border Patrol. He received training in Georgia. He also mentioned meeting local resident, Ron Smith, while there.

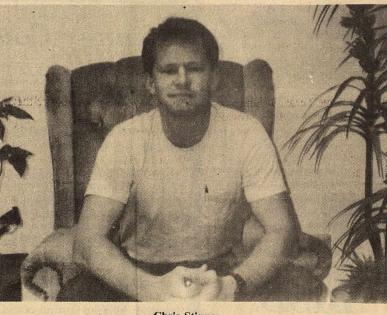

Neelia is a new employee teller of the First State Bank.

The couple enjoy hiking and John makes arrowheads and collects rocks. He also enjoys working on old cars and has a 69 Javelin. Neelia says jokingly, "I enjoy just following him around.'

John received a Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Texas and has a military record of 5 years in the Marine Corp.

Neelia stated, "The move here was a change for the better. It's so peaceful and I feel safe riding my bike or walking around."

Crime Chiefs Meet

The M.R.G.D.C. criminal advisory committee met at the Kinney County Courtroom Tuesday, March 21, at

In attendance was Jose I. Roman from Val Verde, Sheriff Huant from La Salle, Police Chief Chisum from Uvalde, Probation Chief Marcel Reyes from Maverick County, Maverick County City Manager Eddie Rodriguez, Sheriff James Brice from Real County, Executive Director of the Crystal City Health Clinic Ventura Gonzales and County Judge Tommy Seargeant.

The FY 1990 budget was discussed allowing total State budget expected at $84,312 to be applied as allocated with the majority of funding going towards Rookie training.

The main on-going discussion was first brought to the attention of the committee by Sheriff Huant. He expressed his futuristic desire to use leftover State funds from other departments towards Rookie training and use the monies offered in this budget for use in accordance with the demand of each County's needs. Another suggestion on this matter was made by Sheriff Brice. He suggested that in order to cut costs, it may be financially wise to hire the teacher to come to the area, as opposed to sending several Rookies away for training and paying their costs.

Sheriff Norman Hooten and City Chief Johnny Fritter were in attendance of this meeting. Sheriff Norman Hooten agreed to the statement made by both officers.

Trooper's Reunion Set

BRACKETVILLE - Former Cavalry troopers who served at Fort Clark in Brackettville are invited to return to the original frontier military base that is now a resort community for reunion activities the weekend of April 21-23. In addition to the tours, dance, barbecue and story telling, the 4th Annual Cavalry Trooper's Reunion this year will feature a special dedication ceremony for the impressive Commanding Officer's Quarter's, or "Wainwright House" at Fort Clark Springs. Located in the nationally-listed historic district, the commanding Officer's Quarters has been chosen by the Texas Historical Commission for a Texas State Historical Building Marker. The dedication ceremony will begin at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, Aprill 22, with featured speakers who will unveil the bronze plaque in front of the house. A tour of select homes in the historic district will begin after the dedication ceremony. A $3.50 per plate barbecue at Swim Park at Fort Clark Springs will follow the home tour. The public is invited to join the troopers for the dedication ceremony, home tour and barbecue.

The Trooper's Reunion is sponsored by the Ft. Clark Historical Society and the community of Fort Clark Springs to honor the glorious military heritage of the cavalry post where famous WWII Generals George C. Marshall, George S. Patton and Jonathan M. Wainwright once served. More than 12,000 troops and a prisoner-of-war camp occupied Fort Clark during WWII. The post was closed in 1946, and later became the 2,700-acre recreational/residential community of Fort Clark springs.

Journalists Will Visit This Area

Dianne Pehl, the State Tourism Division's FamTour Coordinator, visited Fort clark Springs and Alamo Village last week to prepare for a Southwest Texas/Border Tour of iournalists interested in writing about area attractions. The tour will run as far west as Langtry then back to include Los Maples and Garner State Park from April 6 to the 12, when the journalists return to San Antonio for flights home. Pehl's schedule says the group of at least nine journalists will arrive at Happy Shahan's Alamo Village movie location on Saturday afternoon, on April 8, for an afternoon tour with Shahan and Rich Currilla, Alamo Village film historian.

The group will then take an evening tour before a reception at Fort Clark Springs. "We're thrilled a FamTour of working journalists will be spending the night and half of Sunday with us on the Fort," P.R. Director Penny Nixon said. "They'll find plenty of interesting people and things to write about!"

Familiarization Tours, called "FamTours" in the Tourism industry, are sponsored by the State Tourism Division as a means of producing national and world-wide

'We call them after six months, if we haven't heard anything from them, and ask them to send clips, or tell us what's working," Pehl said. Journalists who don't produce, aren't invited back on another tour, she added.

The overnight visit marks the first time a state FamTour has stayed at the original cavalry post of Fort Clark Springs. "I've been corresponding with Dianne about a FamTour for almost two years," Nixon said. "They don't come around very often, so we're all going

High School Students Place in Scholastic Competition

by Gus Garcia

The Brackett Independent School District participated in the University Interscholastic League (UIL) in Lytle, and Cotulla during the week March 13-18. Several young students entered contests such as Typing, Feature Writing, and Extemporaneous Informative Speaking. The Journalism team of BHS attended the events on Tuesday, March 14. Winners of those events are as follows:

Feature Writing: Gus Garcia - 4th place Lee Floyd Headline Writing: Kelly Hall - 4th place News Writing: Lee Floyd - 2nd place Spelling: Hope Kelley - 4th place Wendy Hooten - 5th place

On Friday, March 17, Cotulla hosted the UIL One-Act Play event at their Little Theater at the High School. Eight Schools were represented including BHS. Of those eight, Brackett High School won the right to advance to the Regional contest with their play "Dear Papa". Mrs. M.B. Mills, teacher at BHS, directed the play. Stars of the show

Sgt. Sofaly Signs For Four More Years

BRACKETTVILLE - Standing before the impressive "Empty Saddle" horse cavalry statue, with flags flying in the background, Staff Sgt. Linda Sofaly of Fort Clark Springs reenlisted into the Air force on Saturday, March 18.

Sgt. Sofaly was sworn in by friend and fellow Fort Clark Springs member, Capt. Dori Johnson of Laughlin Air Force Base in Del Rio. The pair began the ceremonial day by riding in the Brackettville Frontier Days Parade in a classic red and white '57 Chevy driven by J.E. Meil of Fort Clark Springs.

An avid bowler, Sgt. Sofaly's last reenlistment was at the bowling alley at Lackland A.F.B. in San Antonio. Fort Clark Springs was chosen as the site for the reenlistment ceremony this year because of the Fort's important military role in this area. Sgt. Sofaly has been in the Air Force for 12 years. During her enlistment, she has been stationed at Shemya, Alaska and Lackland A.F.B. in San Antonio. Her husband, Larry, is retired from the Air Force, and is currently the manager of the Fort Clark Municipal Utility District. They have two children, Davie Gally, 21, who lives in San Antonio and will soon enlist in the Air Force, and Marie, 17, who graduates from Brackett High School

Sgt. Sofaly has worked in Supply at Laughlin A.F.B. since 1987. Plans call for her to remain stationed at Laughlin, and reenlist again in four

Land of Unicorns

BY Monica Yoho Where make-believe comes true, A life of peace begins to form, In a way I never knew. It's a lifetime full of daydreams, and thoughts we start to feel, It's a place where I can go alone And dream what is not real.

In the land of Unicorns

You never have to worry For your dreams are yours to hold. The Unicorns are warm at heart With laughter that rings out loud And when you visit in their land You'll find them standing proud. When your mind is troubled, And your heart is growing blue. You can turn to the Unicorns They'll help to pull you through.

In 1883-1884 - Chester Arthur was President and Congress had just passed the Pendleton Act improving the Federal Civil Service. Lewis Waterman was experimenting with the fountain, which he perfected the next year. "Buffalo" Bill Cody gave the first performance of his first wild west show. The Brooklyn Bridge opened in New York City, the cornerstone of the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty was laid and standard time was established. The first classes at the University of Texas were held in Austin and the first American Historical Association was organized in New York.

The railroad king, Jay Gould, had barely got his Texas and Pacific tracks laid to Sierra Blanca, where they met the Southern Pacific. Pecos city had a population of from one hundred to one hundred fifty souls. Monahans wells had the only water well between the Pecos River and Big Spring. Big Spring was the place where everybody and everything stopped for water, including the buffalo, coyote, lobo, antelope and wild mustang. The Comanche and Shawnee fought near its sweet water. Midland had a handful of stores and saloons.

A State Legislative Act passed in 1881 had turned loose some of the vast West Texas lands at fifty cents per acre, with half to go to State Public School Funds and the other half into the General Revenue Fund. A partnership of Job Gunter, W.B. Munson, the brothers John W. and F.M. Maddox and C.E. Anderson bought 228,000 acres embracing what is now part of Andrews, Midland, Ector and Martin Counties. In 1883, these lands were transferred to Nelson Morris, a meat packer from Chicago. This ranch eventually contained 320 sections.

Nelson Morris came from the southwest part of Germany when just a boy. He got off the boat and walked most of the way from Buffalo, New York, to Chicago looking for work. He worked here and there in the small stockyards, which preceded the building of the Union stock yards.

John Sherman, founder of the Union Stock Yards, took Morris under his wing and taught him the hog rendering trade, but after a few years Morris left the employ of Sherman and became a cattle trader in a small way.

He learned fast and would bid on anything and buy anything, usually at his own price, staying out of the market until late in the week to catch his competitors napping. Withing a few years he was shipping everywhere, even trans-atlantic shipments. He secured contracts with the French and other European Governments, and also supplied the Commisarant Department of the Union troops during the Civil War. By the year 1873, his company was earning more than eleven million dollars per year.

The Morris Company plant covered some thirty acres and was one of the first packing houses to be opened in Chicago at the Union Stock Yards. Morris owned large cattle ranches in the Dakotas and in Texas and Mexico and was one of the first to empart Polled-Angus and Galloway cattle, feeding approximately 75,000 head annually from his feed lots.

When Nelson Morris acquired his West Texas Ranch, he fenced it, stocked it with block muley cattle, dug wells under the management of H.C. Rogers, (79 in all,) his first foreman, and built a headquarters near what is now the town of Andrews in Andrews County. He is credited with bringing in the first "bob" wire and windmills to the could sleep sixteen men at a time. The cook stove was built to order at about 36 dollars each with an elongated stove pipe that was used in the tent where the men cooked, ate and slept in bad weather or when blue norther came up.

The food was good, even on the range, not just the usual saw-belly and beans. A typical meal might be beef steaks, sour biscuits with gravy, canned corn and vinegar pie.

Nelson Morris raised his own Percheron freight horses and sold some on the market. Four or six of these animals pulled his freight wagons on trips to Midland for supplies. He also bred and sold mules. His angus cattle were raised on his "C" Ranch until they were yearlings, then shipped to his ranches in the Dakotas where they were kept until they were three years old and ready for slaughter. They were then shipped to one of his five packing

Although Nels Morris was a moneyed man throughout his life he kept his simplicity of character. He didn't like his name publicly connected with his many worthwhile charities, but he gave his name to the Nelson Morris Institute of Pathological Research, which he established. Goat Losses Said To Be Severe

Angora goat losses from frigid weather in February and March are said to be severe in several Southwest Texas counties.

Losses are estimated to be in the thousands, but no exact count will be available until producers round up their goats after kidding season.

Adult goats and pregnant nannies died in three cold fronts that hit the area. However, economic losses will probably be felt more severely in kid deaths and abortions.

"The total count isn't in yet, but it's severe," said Jerome Esquell of Rocksprings, Edwards County Extension Agent.

"Due to conflicts with kidding, producers are unsure of their losses,'

Esquell added. Producers are reluctant to "work" pregnant

Unsung Heroes

by Joe Townsend

There's a young man in Brackettville who is signally successful in his bussines. He has a many faceted business which demands a great deal of expertise and management ability. It demands long hours and considerable time out of town. This does not dim the interest of this man in his community.

He strongly supports the Junior

Livestock Show by paying well for the privilege of buying prize livestock. He strongly supports the Fire Department. At times he uses his plane to survey and direct fighting of rough fires. He is a fine family man, a friendly and warm hearted man. His heart, sympathy and support are with any community effort. Truly Vernon Miears is an Unsung Hero.

Health & Genetic Problems Linked To Radiation Exposure

Specific health and genetic problems are associated with exposure to radioactive materials in the environment. Cancer in lungs and other organs are known to result. Increased rate of birth defects are also directly associated with regions where radioactive materials have been concentrated during mining or processing of uranium.

The above information is available in countless reports, articles, analysis and research papers. There is no remaining doubt that radioactivity deforms, sickens and kills. These effects, however, are dramatic and swift only when a massive exposure takes place, as at Hiroshima. In most instances, the process is so slow and long-delayed that only statisticians and other researchers realize a problem has been created. If exposed victims died immediately when the deadly atom was inhaled or swallowed, public outrage would be uncontrollable. If complete and timely records of birth defects could be assembled, for all infants whose parents have been exposed to radiation, the public would insist on protection. Instead, only time (sometimes many years) and careful research can demonstrate the danger. For that reason, it is not difficult 9. Some of the substances in the for a promoter to convince undump will continue to emit radioinformed citizens that no danger exists. Radioactivity cannot be seen, or felt, or tasted, or smelled. Harm does not come equally to all who are exposed. When exposure levels are low, only a few may suffer. Damage does increase, however, as long as exposure contin children and the young are more likely to eventually develop cancer, Don Parks or to have deformed or defective children themselves.

Here are the facts as I see them: 1. Some people will ignore all social responsibility when pursuing profit. 2. Very few individuals and a huge corporation will net millions by dumping radioactive uranium mill tailings, oil field pipe scale, and industrial waste in Kinney County at the edge of Spofford.

3. There is no "safe level" of radioactive exposure.

4. Government controls and regulations have been proven to be unreliable. 5. Perfectly effective and foolproof technologies for handling, transporting and storing radioactive materials do not exist.

6. Kinney County will become known as a convenient dump for whatever hazardous garbage no one else wants.

7. Ranching, tourist and retirement industries will be damaged and possibly destroyed.

8. Among people who live in or visit Kinney County there will eventually be a measurable increase in health and genetic problems due to radioactivity in the environment.

activity for thousands of years, continuing a health threat for countless generations.

10. None of these predicable consequences will afflict us if Kinney County does not become an industial dump for radioactive garbage

Texas Folklore Society Hosts 23rd Meeting

THE RESERVE AND A SECOND CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PRO

The Texas Folklore Society will host its seventy-third meeting March 23-25 at the Holiday Inn of Uvalde. Founded in 1909 by John Avery Lomax and Leonidas Warren Payne, Jr., the Society is the second oldest folklore organization still functioning in the United States. Annual meetings have been held regularly since 1911, except for interruptions in 1918-1921 and 1944-45 caused by the great wars and their after effects. Membership is open to anyone interested in the study and preservation of the folk culture of Texas and the Southwest and has attracted both laymen and scholars to its ranks. The roadrunner or paisano is the emblem chosen to represent the Society and epitomizes the free spirit of the brush country.

The Society meets just before Easter, when members read papers on a variety of folklore subjects. This year's meeting included tours of the Chaparrosa Ranch, the First State Bank, the Garner Museum and the Grand Opera House. Thursday evening (March 23) participants will attend a reception at the Holiday Inn hosted by the Uvalde County Historical Commission, be entertained by a performance of the Schawe Indian Dancers and conclude the evening with a Hootenanny.

Friday, March 24, activities include a welcome by Uvalde County Judge Bill Mitchell, and four sessions: Texas Musical Traditions chaired by James McNutt of San Antonio; Public Folk Arts Programming chaired by Margaret Waring of Comanche; The Sense of Place chaired by Glen Lich of Waco; and Border Folk Medicine chaired by John West of El Paso.

Papers to be presented are "Houston Creoles and Zodico" by John Minton of San Antonio; "Texas Fiddlers: A Documentary" by Michael Schoenecke and Ashton Thornhill of Lubbock; "Conjuncto and the Mexican-American Community" by Ward S. Albro of Kingsville and "Native Music of Texas" by John Wheat of Austin.

Also "Texas-Mexican Folk Catholicism: Personal Devotion and its Public Presentation" by Kay Turner of Austin; "Apprenticeships in the Folk Arts: Lessons on Folk Learning" by Pat Jasper of Austin; and "Other Voices, Other Rooms: Some Comments About Public Folklore Programs From a University Perspective" by Carl Lindahl of the University of Houston.

"Our Town: A Dialogue of Memories" by Joyce Roach of Keller and Robert L. Flynn of San Antonio; "Toward an Understanding of Place for the Southwestern Indian" by Jane Young of Alburquerque; and "Over Where I Growed Up" by Bill Brett of Hull Daisetta.

Other papers to be presented on Friday are "The Breadth of Mexican-American Folk Meadicine" by John O. West of El Paso; "Curanderismo in the Eagle Pass Region" by Sandra Cruz of Eagle Pass; "Knowledge About Folk Medicine Among Students in Alice High School" by Elizabeth Galindo of Alice; "Medicinal Herbs in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and Tamaulipas, Mexico" by Tony Zavaleta of Brownsville; and "Medicinal Herbs: Placebos or Biomedicine?" by Joe S. Graham of Bishop.

Friday evening will feature a reception hosted by the Texas Folklore Resources and a musical presentation by "The Memories". A banquet will be held in the Matthews Student Ballroom on the campus of Southwest Texas Junior College with a welcome by President Dr. Jimmy Goodson and the film: The Newton Brothers of Uvalde being shown.

Activities on Saturday, March 25 include two sessions: Texas Personalities, chaired by Johnnye Sturcken of Commerce and Potpourri chaired by Lee Haile of Hondo.

Papers to be presented during these two sessions include "Cactus Jack Garner as Folk Hero" by Lora B. Garrison of Utopia; "Brush Country, Backeros, and Hamlet's Ghost" by Paul C. Stone of New Haven; "Ben Carlton Mead: Portrait of an Artist" by Jack Duncan of McKinney; "Folklore and History as a Subject of the Writer's Craft" by Max Martinez of San Antonio; "Sniding and Being Snided: Horse Trader Tales" by Dick Haeberlin of San Marcos; "Watch the Fords Go By: The Automobile Hits Old Bell County" by Ken Davis of Lubbock; and "You Can tell A Scout from Texas" by Rebecca Carnes of slaton.

The Society is presently headquartered on the campus of Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches with Francis Edward Abernethy as secretary-editor of the Society's publications. Since 1916 the Society has published 47 volumes which contain many of the papers read at its meetings and other articles both volunteered and solicited. Most contributions are the product of original collection, and together they constitute wealth of material in the various branches of folklore.

"Veterans 'TEN - HUT"

A GI insurance dividend hoax that first appeared more than 25 years ago continues to plague veterans.

The Veterans Administration insurance center in Philadelphia reports it is receiving between 7,000 and 15,000 applications a week for a non-existent dividend.

For many years the principal victims of the rumor were World War II and Korean Conflict veterans; who were told that the VA was sending a check for hundreds of dollars - a so-called insurance dividend - to any veteran who requested. In recent 'years, however, bogus brochures also have been targeting veterans of the Vietnam war.

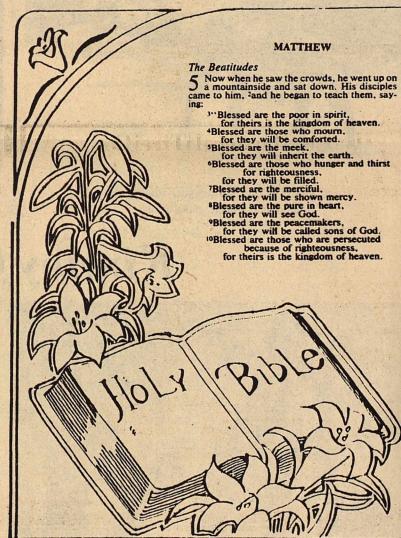

The phony applications claim dividends have been authorized by recent Congressional legislation. In fact, there is no insurance dividend for veterans who do not keep their insurance in force and no dividend legislation has been proposed in Congress.

The hoax causes thousands of veterans and dependents wasted effort, and generates needless labor and mailing expense at the VA's 58 regional offices across the country. The hoax applications usually are unwittingly printed in magazines, newspapers and newsletters, or distributed in handbills. When notified of the error, editors have been cooperative about publishing retractions. Attempts to trace the origin of hoax have been unsuccessful, but it is believed that its life has been perpetuated by the innocent duplication of bogus information.

The VA's legitimate insurance dividends are paid annually to current policyholders. More than 3 million veterans share in an annual dividend distribution, but payments are automatic and no application is

Veterans and dependents with questions about government life insurance policies can phone a VA insurance specialist toll-free from throughout the U.S. Insurance holders and beneficiaries can obtain immediate service on address or policy changes, dividend information and other actions by dialing 1-800-422-8079, from 8 a.m. to 5:30

The rules of golf are quite complex as proven by the book of decisions, which contains rulings and interpretations of rules by experts of the game. The Rules of Golf, as most of us know them, is a pamphlet, but this pamphlet created the need for the larger volume.

We, as amateurs, need at least a working knowledge of the game. A golfer should not be interrupted continually by a fellow competitor for a ruling. Each player should be able to concentrate on their own game, not the problems of fellow golfers. A fellow involved in a game of some consequence should not need to follow an opponent into the rough to make sure their interpretation of the rules are the same.

In the last couple of years the term "within equity" has become popular with rules committees, allowing for interpretations which are fair for all. An example in our case would be allowing us to move our ball away from rocks in the fairway.

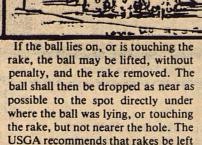

A person should not be penalized for hitting what otherwise would have been a good shot. A ball hit into the rocks or other problems in the rough, as the result of a bad shot should be allowed relief only as an "unplayable lie" and a one stroke penalty.

Many of us are sports fans of football in particular and we never fail to jump on an official concerning a close call or what we felt was unfair, in our infinite knowledge of the rules of a much more complex sport, and not in accordance with those rules.

Golf is less complex, in that normally it does not involve pushing, clipping or interceptions, to name a few problems in football. Seldom does a golf decision involve a moving ball or a snap judgement call. It seems to me to be time well spent learning the rules of a game we are actually involved in. In my April '89 issue of Golf magazine was this useful information.

The Rules do not mention or define a bunker rake. But the USGA says rakes should be treated as "Moveable obstructions". We can then paraphrase Rule 24-1 (a-b) to read: If the ball does not lie on a rake, the rake may be removed; if the ball moves in the process, no penalty is incurred and the ball is replaced.

OUTSIDE bunkers, outside of the line of play. I don't often know how to predetermine my line of play with

Jan Chism has been selected as Golfer of the Month for winning the ladies "Club Champion" trophy for 1989. She has been playing golf for a little less than 5 years. In addition to her latest achievement, Jan has won the coveted Eagle Pin, Birdie Pin and pins for breaking scores of 80, 90 and 100. These are awards made by the Fort Clark Springs Ladies Golf Association, of which she is the 1987-88 president. Her term of office continues until April 4, 1989.

Jan shares credit for her golfing skills with her husband, Karl, who is our club manager and golf instructor. She says, "My husband has seen to it that I have good equipment as well as showing me how to hit low shots into the wind, how to hit a punch shot out from under a tree and how to throw a soft wedge over a tree onto a green."

Karl and Jan have a daughter and son-in-law, Christi and Doug Helvey, who are also golfers and live in Lythe, Texas. Jan says, "Christi is responsible for my taking up golf at the age of 43."

Ralph Viestenz was chosen Golfer of the Month after winning the Fort Clark Springs Golf and Country Club's men's "Club Champion" trophy with a four day gross score of 313. The men's club champion has been golfing, as often as a military career, and subsequent civilian employment would allow. In 1979, he retired and has been able to devote more time to golf for a total golfing career of 55 years.

Ralph has a nice 10 handicap and is a very knowledgeable golfer and a tough competitor on the course. He has had 4 holes in one, 2 at Ft. Clark, at Laughlin AFB and 1 at Eugene. Oregon, his former hometown. His golfing awards include many first flight winner trophies for past tournaments.

Mr. Viestenz and wife, Hilda, have been Ft. Clark Association members since 1982 and have lived here since 1983. Ralph and Hilda enjoy traveling and have had many enjoyable trips throughout the "Sunbelt". After traveling extensively, Ralph says, "This is the most affordable in golf and retirement living we have found yet."

Tim Lundquist aced the Par 3 No. 6 hole with a 2 iron from the blue Tee. It was his first hole-in-one in à ten year golfing career. The remarkable shot was witnessed by his father Gordon, Ralph Viestenz, Lou Slatterrer and me. Tim was visiting from San Antonio, where he is employed by Alfonso's Restaurants of San Antonio.

He is the 5th son of Gordon and Lorraine Lundquist of Ft. Clark Springs. Tim was the former manager of the Las Moras Inn during the period 1978-1980.

Many people have plants that have been inside all winter. Now the time comes to put them outside. Winter is simply an existing time for these plants. Many are semi-dormant and after resting through the past months, these plants are ready to Remember, when you put them out they are tender and should be kept in shade until they are hardened to outside. Too much sun will burn them badly. When plants are taken outside, some will need to be repotted. If they have outgrown the container, they will become root bound and will not do well. The size of the pot will determine the growth of the plant.

When change is made in location of the plant, it's a good time to soften the dirt around the plant and add fertilizer. The same fertilizer you use on your lawn will do well. The plant will demand more water outside. It will be growing and hence demand for water increases. Also evaporation through the plant will demand more water to replace it.

Hanging baskets particularly need water. When the plants fill the basket, there is relatively little root space so there must be added fertilizer and water if the plant does well. It's usually a good feeling to get plants outside after months of tedious care inside, but being outside it is easier to neglect them. Always remember, if you want attractive plants. They don't just happen, they require care.

There should be some way for the American people to be protected from irresponsible news media. It is true the masses will panic at some gloom and doom whisper and pay no head to glaring headlines stating the positive truth.

The recent scare about fruit from Chile is a case in point. In this case, an irresponsible bureacracy cost merchants and a nation millions and millions of dollars becoming tools for communist terrorists.

Now comes nation wide panic about apples. A totally irresponsible individual made unstainable charges with wreckless abandon of the truth. The national news media took up and aired the fallacious statements and gave national coverage of the ridiculous purveyor of doom. After some schools took apples out of their food for children in the schools, they now have egg on their faces wearing dunce know or even listen to the truth.

They have been cultured to live in their phobias to the fullest extent. How much better our world would be and how much happier many people would be if they only took time to find out the truth before donning the crusades cape and going wildly down a fluid trail cut by irresponsible reporting by people who have no real factual message but have an egomaniacal desire to be heard.

I guess if people are gullible enough to be led wildly astray, they'll just
