Welch edges Cruz by one vote

Recount doesn't change outcome; candidates talk of another election

A recount of the ballots from the May 15 city election changed a few vote totals, but the outcome remained the same — Brackettville citizens elected a new mayor and three new aldermen.

Joe N. Garza Jr. prevailed as Brackettville's first new mayor since the 12-year tenure of Carmen Berlanga. Matt Bland, Francisca "Chica" Garza, Lydia Tipps and Tully Welch won their respective council races, according to unofficial totals.

Two of the races were decided by less than 10 votes. The votes were canvassed during a special City Council meeting Tuesday night and the new officials are expected to be sworn in on Friday.

There has been talk of legal action calling for another election. City Secretary Bonnie Wardlaw said she has asked the secretary of state's office to review claims of voter irregularities alleged to have occurred on election day.

"There has been a lot of controversy, but people just need to leave things alone and get on with improving the city," Garza told the Del Rio News-Herald.

There were 657 ballots recounted on Monday, but the register of official ballots, signed by Bertha Reschman, election judge, says that only 495 ballots were accounted for.

Only registered voters within the city are allowed to vote in the Brackettville election, but according to the signature roster from election day, there were eight Fort Clark Springs residents and another Kinney County resident that voted.

In addition, six voters on the roster were not listed at all on the voter registration rolls and there are over 30 signatures that are unidentifiable.

The signature roster from election day did not include any voter identification numbers for those casting ballots. In addition, many of the voter signatures were not accompanied by printed names.

Records indicate that 315 ballots were cast by early voting or by mail. However, when the early voting results were posted Saturday, there were 372 votes cast in the mayor's race — 145 for Ponce Padron, 123 for Joe N. Garza Jr. and 104 for J.J. Guidry.

After the recount, Garza and Padron still had 246 and 237 votes, respectively. Guidry picked up one, finishing with 169.

Garza said he wants to "bring stability and desperately-needed leadership to City Council."

"I want to put together an advisory committee made up of two representatives to be named by each council member to get input from the people," he said.

In the Place 1 election, original tallies had Welch with 260 votes, incumbent Camilo Cruz Jr. with 257, and Richard Guajardo with 94 votes. After the recount, Welch edged Cruz 257-256 and Guajardo finished with 96.

Francisca Garza, the only incumbent to be re-elected, ran unopposed for the Place 4 seat and received 434 votes.

Bland received 236 votes in the Place 2 race, while incumbent Mary V. Flores had 196, Ramon "Dido" Garcia had 113 and Stephanie "B'Ann" Gomez had 79.

In the Place 5 race, Lydia Tipps topped incumbent John Samaniego 358-246.

Mayor-elect opposes action on an agreement for free fire equipment

City officials approved an interlocal agreement with the county for fire fighting and fire protection equipment despite objections from mayor-elect Joe Garza.

The equipment was obtained by the county through a grant and will be used by the Brackettville Volunteer Fire Department.

"Out of respect for me as mayor-elect, I ask that you defer action on this until I am sworn in," Garza said during the special city council meeting Tuesday night. "I haven't had a chance to review the interlocal agreement."

Steve Burch, Kinney County EMS director, said the equipment was simply a gift from the county and that there was no reason to delay action.

"We need the equipment out of our office and into the field, saving people's lives," Burch said. "Whether you were elected to office or not, it doesn't matter — this is not a political issue. If you don't like the interlocal agreement, you can change it later."

Mayor Pro-Tem Francisca "Chica" Garza agreed that there was no need to delay action. She voted to pass the agreement, along with Aldermen Camilo Cruz and Tomas Gomez, while council member Mary Flores abstained.

"I think the new council has a right to say how they feel," Flores said.

"I'm in favor of it and I hope you pass it," alderwoman-elect Lydia Tipps added.

State seatbelt campaign returns

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Public Safety and hundreds of local law enforcement agencies are currently participating in the statewide crackdown on drivers and passengers failing to buckle up themselves or their children — the national "Click It or Ticket" program.

The campaign began Monday and continues through June 6.

The Texas Department of Transportation reports that safety belt use in Texas in the last year has increased from 81 percent to almost 85 percent, thanks in large part to the campaign's combination of extensive advertising and stepped up enforcement of the state's safety belt and child safety seat laws.

State officials said pickup drivers are a major focus of this year's effort.

"Though pickup trucks are twice as likely to roll as cars, pickup drivers and their passengers are the worst offenders when it comes to not buckling up," said Carlos Lopez, director of traffic operations. "Wearing a safety belt increases your chance of surviving a fatal pickup rollover crash by 70 percent."

Campaign supporters are counting on new television, radio and billboard advertisements to drive home the point that wearing a safety belt can save motorists from death or serious injury in a crash, not to mention a ticket and a fine.

The TV public service announcements feature both humor and drama. In one, state troopers and officers from law enforcement agencies statewide deliver a musical buckle up reminder. The other depicts a graphic pickup rollover crash.

Texas law requires drivers and front seat passengers to use safety belts. Children under 17 have to be buckled up in the front or back seat. Child safety seats are required for children under 4 years old or less than 36 inches tall. Fines for violations range from $25 to $200.

Since the "Click It or Ticket" campaign first began in 2002, Texans have responded by buckling up in record numbers.

With almost nine of every 10 motorists in Texas now using safety belts, the Texas Department of Transportation estimates that in the last two years 205 lives have been saved with nearly 5,000 fewer people injured in traffic crashes.

July 4th parade planned

The Community Fourth of July Parade Committee is working to build upon last year's accomplishments and making every effort to make this year's parade just as special.

The parade down Ann Street will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday, July 3.

The theme for this year's parade is to honor all fellow citizens who are "in harms way everyday." This includes law enforcement, firemen, Border Patrol, EMS, and other personnel who daily place themselves in harms way and risk their lives so all of us can be safe.

A specially struck medal will be presented to each of these very deserving men and women on the day of the parade.

Additionally, prizes will be presented for the best float (large and small), bicycle, golf cart, costumed marcher, marching group and mounted individual.

Tour of the town brings back wonderful memories

By SUZANNA LOWERY
Special to The Brackett News

Regardless of the technological advances in just the last 20 years, some things in life remain the same.

In some cases, such as the price of gasoline continuing to rise and weight appearing in places on your body you had forgotten about, this is not always good. But there is a reassuring continuity in our lives from generation to generation.

This was brought home to me last week as my husband Kent and I were out "touring" Brackettville on one of the few evenings we've had lately that didn't involve rain.

We came upon a Little League game and stopped the truck to watch for a while. From our location at the north end of the field, we had a great view of the game.

It didn't matter that we didn't know any of the kids playing and couldn't even read the team name on the shirts from where we were — it was a cool evening with a glorious sunset in progress, and watching baseball seemed the perfect thing to do.

Below us toddlers chased each other, dug in the dirt, swung imaginary bats, lost in their own world and having a great time. Adults were in some of the cars beside us, quietly talking, some sitting on the hood of their car — all seemingly oblivious to the ball game in progress. Until one of the ball players hit a home run — then the horns started honking like crazy. I laughed as memories flooded in of times when our children were playing T-ball, soccer or Little League.

Since bleachers at most ball fields tend to be uncomfortable, we often sat in the car to watch games, honking when a home run was hit or a goal was scored, letting our kids know we were involved in the game, too.

What a comforting thing to realize that even in the rush for bigger-better-faster... even with all the disassembled and re-arranged families... even with two-job families and little time left in a day for much of anything — that parents, grandparents, or whatever, still took time to relax and support their kids in a positive activity such as Little League.

As I watched the sunset really begin to light up the incoming clouds, I noticed the American flag at Fort Clark gently fluttering in the breeze. What a sight!

How lucky we are that small-town America still thrives, that our flag still flies, and that we have the opportunity to spend a lazy evening watching children do what children have been doing for generations — having fun.

As we drove home, I heard the horns honking again and I smiled, thinking there was a young boy who was going to sleep well tonight, dreaming of hitting "the big one" over the fence.

Hall offers post-election thoughts

Now that the city elections are over, now that congratulations and condolences are over, please allow me to share a few of my feelings.

To all of the candidates: Please pick up your campaign signs. Don't make someone else do it. Don't spend tax dollars by neglecting your responsibility.

To the individuals who received the minority of votes: Lift up your heads. You have nothing to be ashamed of. In fact you have much to be proud of. You gave us a choice. Because of you we had an option on the ballot. Run again some day.

To the individuals receiving the majority of the votes: Don't get cocky. You asked to be a representative of the people, the majority said OK, so now represent us. Serve our needs. Talk to us. All of us.

You have to represent all of

But I Could Be Wrong

Chuck Hall

the citizens in Brackettville, even the ones you're sure didn't vote for you. If you don't represent us, we'll vote you out.

Next time I write a column, you'll be included in the other portion. I'm not trying to be ugly, that's just the way the system works. We have given you our trust, now show us you're worthy of it.

To the voters: Support the elected representatives. No matter whom you voted for, the majority wins.

The top vote getter is the choice of the people. Don't continue to carry on an unfinished, unneeded, unwanted grudge.

Watch the actions of the people we put in office. Make sure they are doing the proper job for all of us. Talk to them. Share your wants, your concerns, not your gripes, not your pet peeves, just your genuine needs.

Tell the politicians when they do a good job. Heaven knows the pay isn't that good. A kind word now and then will do much to make public servants work harder for all of us.

To the non-voters: Shame on you. Shame on you. You sat home and let somebody else pick our leaders for you.

How can we expect a democracy to work when only a small percentage of the registered voters take the time to go to the polls?

Now we can all relax for two more years.

But I could be wrong.

Remember our heroes on Memorial Day

The following essay was written by Silk Waters Mooney after spending time with Nacona Breen, a native of Brackettville and son of Nakai and Bud Breen. Nacona had just returned from his first tour of duty in Iraq after receiving the Navy Commendation Medal for excellence of service. He has just begun his second tour of duty in Iraq. He and thousands like him are serving our country with valor and heroism on a daily basis. They, and all veterans of war, deserve our honor and praise.

The Soldier

By Silk Waters Mooney

His eyes were crisp, trained to examine every movement or the slightest wisp. His nostrils flared as if searching for an unfamiliar smell. His skin was shiny and somehow I knew it was because every nerve was on alert; every neuron focused to sense the slightest possibility of danger.

My heart ached as I strained to imagine the daily horrors of his war. I've called it "his" because he was the one on the ground fighting it daily. He was the one fighting an enemy. He was the one fighting his own fear and the unknown from moment to moment. He was fighting for his own sanity in a place of the world where peace and love were so long forgotten that no one even understood the words.

He slept with his gun, proud of a small pillow he had managed to save from week to week. Every now and then I saw his eyes seek the distance, as if searching for his life as it was before the war.

When I came home from spending this small time with him, I looked around at my safe, comfortable home. I looked at my favorite overstuffed chair, seated by a warm fire with lots of cushions and blankets. My stereo was on, playing soft, serenading tunes perfectly composed to bring the most relaxation.

Then I thought of the soldier. Sleeping with his precious pillow in a canvas tent, laying upon a canvas cot, his gun snuggled beside him. I knew it had been almost a year since he had actually been able to sleep. I also knew that once the war ended, if God did permit him to survive, it would be years until the dreamland would bring him peace.

That was his barter. He had willingly given up his peace in order to purchase ours. With his sweat, along with his fellow men, he had bought my lovely overstuffed chair with the gentle music that lulled me to sleep. It would bring him pleasure to know I had these things. Now I will have nightmares knowing what they cost.

With all of these wars fought through the centuries, do we truly know how to honor these men? Of what matter or design is it possible to repair them, whether they be male or female, for in these wars our soldiers are both.

After the war has been fought, will they relax in the overstuffed chairs? Will they sleep in the softest of beds? Will they ever profit from their years of strife?

Let us now raise our heads and hearts to these warriors. Let us raise our voices in praise. Let us all come together and pray for them. Let us come together and honor them. Let us all hold them in the highest regard, with only respect in our gaze. Let us send them our love, for surely they need it, for surely they deserve it.

Let us call them our heroes. Let us call out their names. Let us ask God for mercy upon them. Let us bring them home to where they are safe.

Let us all pray for peace.

WHY CHIROPRACTIC CARE?

Dr. Kent Lowery, D.C.

In this day and age, people are having more health concerns due to stress, pollution, and increased exposure to disease. One essential area to include in your health plan is care of the spine - one of the most important parts of the human body.

Almost every nerve in the body runs through the spine first before it reaches your organs and muscles, which are essential to maintain life. From childhood through your adult life, your spine gets a lot of abuse from lifting, sports injuries, exercising, falling down, auto accidents and other actions. Through these sudden movements, small bones called vertebrae that compose your spine can get misaligned, causing pressure on the nerves. This pressure prevents proper nerve flow, which may result in neck pain, tension headaches, dizziness, insomnia, lower back pain, some diseases and many other symptoms.

Chiropractic care is a safe, drug-free, natural way of helping the body to heal itself. By adjusting the spine to its correct position, the body is allowed its full potential, thereby leaving the nerves to flow freely and run their natural course again.

Don't wait for an accident or intense pain before caring for your spine. Please call Dr. Kent Lowery, D.C., located in Brackettville, for an appointment at (830) 765-4917.

Hate and hostility is wrong

"Dad, do Muslims hate Christians and Jews?" Brenda asked.

"Sometimes it seems that way doesn't it?" Jeff said.

"What do you think, Brenda?"

"Well, it seems like Muslim Palestinians want to kill as many Jews as they can in Israel," Brenda replied. "And in many parts of the world, there are Muslim terrorist groups dedicated to the killing of Christians. But I guess there are also Jews and Christians who hate Muslims."

"You're right," Jeff said. "All of that hate and hostility is wrong. It's wrong for Jews and it's especially wrong for Christians. We know it's not the will of God."

"In fact," Jeff continued, "the problems really go back to early in the 7th century when the prophet Muhammad began to receive his so called revelations from Allah. The prophet wrongly believed that both Christians and Jews would welcome him as a true prophet and that his new revelations would unite everybody into one faith."

"So what was wrong with that?" Brenda asked. "Isn't that what Christians also want?"

"Not exactly," Jeff answered. "The fact is that Muhammad's revelations were contradictory to much of what both Jews and Christians accepted as historically accurate in the Bible."

Empowering Families

"Leaders among the Jews and Christians would not accept Muhammad's claim that Allah was giving him a corrected version of the ancient scriptures."

"So," Brenda broke in. "Muhammad got mad, right?" Jeff laughed: "That's exactly right. Muhammad called Jews 'sons of pigs and monkeys.' He ordered the assassination of Jewish leaders and launched armies to conquer regions of the world controlled by Christians."

"Will they ever come together, Dad?" Brenda asked.

"Probably not, sweetheart. Muslims believe that the end of the world will not come until every Jew is killed and Christians accept him as the final prophet. On the other hand, Jesus wants Muslims and Jews to come together and to know Him as the one and true God and savior. The end will come when Jesus returns for the judgment."

Editor's note: This is the second in a short series on Islam. Material for this article is from "Inside Islam, A guide for Catholics" by Daniel Ali and Robert Spencer.

God gives us second chances

I wish I could honestly say that I look back upon my high school graduation with fond memories and a feeling of accomplishment. But I can't.

You see, I didn't graduate. I ran away.

At age 17, thoroughly bored with chemistry and English and algebra and a few other topics, I walked away from the high school campus and dusted myself off to start the next part of my life. That began with an intense course in an honest day's work, including washing dishes, waiting tables, working on a loading dock, and cleaning a bakery.

It shifted into high gear when I enlisted in the military and got a second chance at a high school diploma, thanks to a persistent — and tough — first sergeant and the GED program. I got a second chance, because I missed the opportunity the first time out.

Today, I'm quick to tell people I was a drop-out. Not because I'm proud of it — truly, I am deeply ashamed that I walked away from a free education. But I tell people about it because it reminds people there are second chances.

I was able not only to complete a GED, but also move on to college and graduate school. I'm probably the only high school dropout who has studied theology at the University of Cambridge. I took my second chance thanks to lots of assistance from family and friends who encouraged me and prayed for me every step of the way.

Not everyone who could potentially graduate will walk across a stage this week in Texas.

First United Methodist Church

Our graduates from BHS have achieved a worthy and important goal. Today's youth face pressures that even just a generation ago we couldn't imagine, and not every one will receive a diploma.

But there are second chances. As parents and neighbors, we need to know where these second chances are in our community and we need to steer our loved ones towards these opportunities.

Jesus gave us each a second chance — and a third, and a fourth. None of us are holy or righteous enough to stand before God without the forgiveness of Jesus' atoning sacrifice. Our God is a God of second chances. And we need to steer our neighbors and friends who have given up on living a Christian life to the place of second chances — the feet of Jesus Christ.

At First United Methodist Church, we're learning how God's love for us gives us a second chance even when we don't deserve one.

Join us at 9:30 a.m. for Sunday School or 10:45 for worship and listen as we praise the God who gives us a new opportunity for love and service every time we ask. Church drop-outs cheerfully welcomed!

What's with the Ten Commandments?

Both the TV newscasts as well as some newspapers have recently reported to us that one or another judicial court has ordered the removal of a display of the Ten Commandments from some public buildings. Such a display, according to these judges, infringes upon the so-called Constitutional clause of "separation of church and state."

But did you know that, as one

St. Mary Magdalene Church

Fr. Cornelius J. Scanlan

walks up the steps to the Supreme Court Building, one can see near the top of the building a row of certain of the world's law givers. Each of these law-givers is facing someone in the middle. This someone is facing forward in a full frontal view.

One can recognize the intent of the one who created this art that it is Moses, and he is holding the Ten Commandments!

As one enters the Supreme Court courtroom, one can see that the two huge oak doors of the courtroom sport the Ten Commandments engraved on each lower portion of each of the doors.

Those who sit in that same courtroom and happen to look on the wall directly above where the Supreme Court judges sit, see a display of the Ten Commandments!

Somewhat inconsistent, eh what?

God makes us whole through his grace and mercy

In the Far East there are artisans who make the most beautiful pottery urns that measure up to 4 feet in length. They are exquisitely beautiful and quite valuable due to the amount of time and energy expended in the process of creating them.

Once they are fired and ready to be seen by the public, then the most strange thing happens. The creator of the urn takes a mallet and smashes the urn into pieces. Why would they do this?

What then happens is that the potter begins to painstakingly put the pieces back together, gluing the pieces together with a gold based glue.

When the urn is completed the second time, it is more beautiful than it was the first time it was created. The patterns and colors are breathtaking. The finished urn is now even more valuable than the original creation.

I believe that we are like the urns. We have been created in the image of God and, according to scripture, what God creates is good. However, due to the brokenness that exists in our world due to sin, that which is created is marred.

Our Redeemer Lutheran & St. Andrew's

Yet through the grace of God in Christ, the brokenness of creation is put back together. The brokenness we encounter in our family life, our work life, in our community, and even in our churches, is repaired — and we are made whole.

The Divine Potter calls us to community in Christ, and He promises us wholeness through His Grace and Mercy.

Come and submit your brokenness to the presence of Christ each Sunday morning at St. Andrew's and Our Redeemer churches. Our Lord will recreate that which sin has broken through the weekly celebration of the Holy Eucharist.

Thank You
My sincere thanks to all of you who supported me in the city election. Once again, I urge you, the voters, to attend the meetings and become active participants in our city government.

Methodist church hosts youth movies

Starting tonight at 7, the First United Methodist Church is beginning 13 weeks of free movies for local youth. Contemporary movies will be shown, followed by refreshments and a discussion period.

This outreach ministry comes to Kinney County after success in other parts of the country. Using resources from a Christian publishing company, an adult leader will begin the movie session with prayer and talk about specific points the movie raises for Christians. After the movie, the audience will cross the street to Slator Hall for refreshments and review scenes in the movie to discuss the way their faith affects their understanding of the movie's message.

"These aren't second-rate movies, they're Hollywood productions with today's biggest stars," said the Rev. Roger Baker, pastor of the Brackettville church. "The point is both Christian education and fellowship."

Although all of the movies have a PG-13 or milder rating, the church staff will provide a warning about possible inappropriate content before the start of each movie.

The 13-week program begins tonight at 7 with the comedy "Bruce Almighty" starring Jim Carrey.

There is no admission cost, but contributions will be accepted towards snacks in Slator Hall following the movie.

Weekly announcements of the movies can be found by calling the church at 563-2823 or by checking local bulletin boards.

"And Solomon stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands toward heaven."

"And he said, Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee; in heaven above, or on earth beneath, who keeper covenant and mercy with thy servants that walk before thee with all their heart: And it was so, that when Solomon had made an end of praying all this prayer and supplication unto the Lord, he arose from before the Altar of the Lord, from kneeling on his knees with his hands spread up to heaven.

Rosetti, Smith named BHS' top athletes

Tony Rosetti and Ashley Smith were named Brackett High School's Athletes of the Year at the annual Awards Banquet last Thursday at the Civic Center.

Rosetti was an all-district running back in football and all-district outfielder in baseball, leading the team in home runs. He ran on the Tigers' sprint relay that won district and qualified for regionals, and also placed in the 100 and 200 at the district track meet.

"Tony was a great leader in our program these last two years," said David Yeager, BHS' athletic director and head football coach. "He is a tremendous young man who had many outstanding athletic and academic achievements, along with a dynamic and contagious personality in whom you enjoyed being around. We will miss Tony."

Smith was a member of the Tigerettes' cross country team that advanced to state and earned academic all-state honors. She advanced to regionals in track and tennis, earned first team all-district in basketball and honorable mention in volleyball.

"Ashley was a very reliable athlete," Tigerettes volleyball coach Rhonda Marquardt said. "She played consistently throughout the season. She worked hard every single day at practice and played well every game. She was my motivator and talker on the court. If you heard a voice on the court, it was usually Ashley encouraging her teammates."

Eli Woolsey and Ashley Castillo received the Armbruster Fighting Tiger Award, while Beth Ballew and Star Smith were named Scholar-Athletes of the Year.

Glenn Morgan was named the MVP of the football team, as well as the offensive MVP. Dietrich Davis earned defensive MVP honors, Woolsey was the most valuable lineman and Arnold Pinales won the football hustle award.

Davis was the MVP in basketball, while Travis Nowlin was named most improved.

Morgan and Woolsey were the MVPs for the baseball team, Tony Jamail earned most improved honors and Leon Woolsey was named newcomer of the year.

The track MVPs were Mark Kesteloot and Noe Talamantes, while Brand Wylie was named most improved.

Justin Calk was the cross country MVP, and Nowlin and Martin Flores were named most valuable golfers.

Co-MVPs for the tennis team were Jamail and Tillman Davis, and Michael Stephenson earned most improved honors.

Juliann Ashabranner was named the girls' cross country MVP, while Ashley Smith received the Fighting Heart Award.

In track, Ashabranner and Rachel Swinson shared MVP honors, while Courtney Frerich was named most improved.

Smith was named the MVP of both basketball and tennis. Whitney Hobbs was most improved in tennis. In basketball, Amanda Davis was most improved and Emily Valenzuela was newcomer of the year.

Valenzuela and Kara Yeager were co-MVPs in softball, while Nadine Terrazas won the Miss Hustle Award and Dana Bonner won the Fighting Heart Award.

Castillo was the MVP of the Tigerettes' volleyball team, and Frerich was named most improved.

Cassie Mata was named the Tigerettes' most valuable golfer.

The banquet was sponsored by the Tiger Athletic Booster Club. Members of the Kinney County Chamber of Commerce served the meals for the coaches, athletes and their families.

Card Of Thanks

We would like to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the outpouring of support and sympathy from our friends and neighbors after the loss of our loved one. Your gifts of food, flowers, fellowship and testimony gave us great comfort in our grief and showed she was loved by many and will be dearly missed. You truly helped us through this sad time. We are so fortunate to live in a community with such caring friends and neighbors.

HOROSCOPES

by Charles Cooper

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You pick up a financial tip this week quite by accident. It's good advice, too. If you apply this knowledge correctly, you can profit from it.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You're challenged intellectually this week. However, your thinking is sharp, so you deal with this quite well. Later in the week, you'll be champing at the bit for some night life.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You need to be patient this week with someone in authority. While you have some great ideas, the early part of the week isn't good to impart them. Later, this person will be much more receptive.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Real estate transactions, or any other buying and selling ventures, are favored this week. Take full advantage of this. However, remember that honesty is the best policy if you're the seller.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You have a yen to express yourself creatively this week. Tap into this, even though you may feel somewhat self-indulgent. Over the weekend, going out is better than inviting people over.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Your judgment is right on the mark this week. Someone who's cajoling you isn't sincere. You are right to distrust this person.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Love relationships are favored this week. The two of you reach a new, mutually satisfying understanding. Later in the week, you may find yourself scrambling to get work done.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You're liable to be intolerant this week of incompetent people. However, you have the ability to lead by example. Patience will go a long way.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You're thinking twice about a commitment you made financially. Perhaps this person will be much more receptive.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Your initiative and drive spur you to greater heights this week at work. Big-wigs take notice, but this takes place behind the scenes. Over the weekend, social interests are favored.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Plans you make this week bode well for your future. Whether business or personal, things are going your way. Later in the week, you experience some restlessness.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You and a friend see eye to eye this week, which isn't always the case. Enjoy this renewed camaraderie. Sometimes, you have a tendency to be too much of a loner.
