Texas Country Reporter returns to feature historical real estate

By Allison Taylor Managing Editor

Texas Country Reporter field producer, photographer, writer and editor Brian Hawkins visited Fort Clark Springs on Thursday, May 22 to capture the beautiful historic real estate.

Hawkins was attracted to the unique situation where people are able to buy, sell and live in historic homes.

The show will feature properties in the Historic District of the Fort offered by O'Rourke Realty, Las Moras Realty and Ken Barnett Real Estate.

Properties offered in the historic district are:

Las Moras Realty: #2 and #3 McKenzie in Unit 1, owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson and built in the 1870s.

O'Rourke Realty: 27 Colony Row, owned by Elsa and Sally O'Rourke and 267 Fort Clark Road owned by Elsa O'Rourke.

Other homes in the area are the Wainwright home, owned by

Section 529 Plan Can Help Make Graduation Day a Reality

Emily Cooper

It's that time of year when students across the country are graduating from college. It took a lot of effort to earn those degrees, but it took something else, too - money. It's this financial aspect of college that may concern you if you have children. How can you take some of the stress out of paying the high costs of higher education?

To begin with, it pays to be funding. informed about what college actually does cost. Consider these figures from the College Board's 2007-2008 Trends in College Pricing: The average total expense (including tuition, fees, room and board) is $13,589 per year for in-state students attending four-year public colleges and universities; for students attending four-year private colleges and universities, the average total 401(k). But do you really want to potentially lower the resources ment? Alternatively, do you want your children to start their working lives saddled with heavy student loans? (The average student loan debt is $21,000, according to the Project on Student Debt.)

The best way to avoid either of these scenarios is to start saving for your children's college education when they are young -and to use a savings vehicle spe-cifically designed for college

One such vehicle is a Section 529 savings plan. With this plan, you put money in a specific pool of investments. Contribution limits are high - more than $300,000 per beneficiary in many state plans, although special gifting provisions may apply. Plus, Section 529 savings plans provide you with a degree of flexibility, in that you can change your plan's beneficiary to another famcost per year is $32,307. And ily member. This can prove quite over the past several years, col- useful if you have one child who lege costs have been rising faster than the general inflation rate, so you can expect to pay consider-thermore, all withdrawals are free from federal income taxes, as How can you cope with these costs? You could tap into your Roth IRA or take a loan from your school expense of your child or grandchild. However, Section 529 withdrawals for expenses you'll have available for retire- other than qualified education expenditures may be subject to federal, state and penalty taxes. (Also, distributions will appear as income on the child's tax return, which could affect financial aid calculations.)

Not all Section 529 savings plans are alike; some have high fees and limited investment options. Because it's not always easy to compare the benefits of different plans, you may want to get some help from your financial advisor. As a (very) general rule, though, you may want to start by looking at your home state's plan, which might come with a tax deduction or a matching contribution, up to a certain dollar amount. And even if you sign up for your home state's plan, your child doesn't have to stay in state money to virtually any accredited school.

By starting to save early, and by taking advantage of an appropriate college savings vehicle, you can prepare to make that Gradu- ettville. ation Day of the future a happy one for everyone concerned.

Choose health

Dr. Kent Lowery, D.C., FIAMA

Did you ever wonder why 'health" never makes the news? Is it because there is no money For more than 100 years, chiropractic has been getting patients through life without drugs and surgery. Wellness care may not be very exciting on the six o-clock news, but it is a proven way to maintain your health and a natural, active lifestyle.

Synthetic drugs interfere with the innate intelligence the body possesses.

They distort the normal body physiology.

They are promoted as "normal" things to ingest daily. I would advise everyone to become knowledgable about the drugs you are taking and don't be drawn in by the drug companies' TV ads.

Remember- their business is to sell drugs and in some cases, without regard for your health, the most recent examples being Vioxx and Celebrex. If your organs and body parts

Guillermo Eduardo Farias

Guillermo Eduardo Farias, 54, passed into eternity on Saturday, May 24, 2008. Guillermo is survived by his devoted wife, Laura Vasquez Farias, his children, Fabian Cristobal of Los Angeles, CA, Sara Elizabeth a student at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, IN, Olivia Marie and Sophia Concepcion Guillermo was born and raised in Villa de San Agustin historical area at the home of his parents. He is preceded in death by his parents, Hector Farias, Sr. and Concepcion Heredia de Farias and twin brothers, Carlos Luis and Luis Felipe Farias.

Guillermo is also survived by his brothers Dr. Hector (Diana) Farias, Jr. Arturo (Eugie) Farias and his only sister Ana Isabel (Robert) Muller. His in-laws, Jose and Gloria Vasquez; sister inaw. Lucy (Craig) Stribling: brothers in-law, David, Steve, Thomas and Mark Vasquez and aunts, Grizelda F. Casso, Gloria L. Farias and Berta C. Farias all of Laredo, Tx.

Guillermo had a profound influence and was dearly loved by his numerous nieces and nephews with whom he shared so many special times.

Memo, as he was affectionately known, was devoted youth work and in particular with the Boys Club in South Laredo. He was a devout Cursillista, assisting and providing much needed services for the indigent. He earned his B.A. with credits from UT Austin, Harvard and finally TAMIU.

Guillermo always said his greatest accomplishment was his family. He was married for 24 years to Laura V. Farias and raised his four beautiful children.

His decision to become an educator was motivated by his desire to spend more time with his two youngest daughters. His heart was overflowing with gratefulness and joy when his son Fabian was accepted to and graduated from the University of Notre Dame. The admiration and pride he felt for the man Fabian had become was immeasurable. Fabian is engaged to marry Erin Flynn from Chicago.

When his daughter Sara was also accepted he did everything in his power to help his princess accomplish her dreams. She is currently a senior and working towards a degree in Graphic De-Guillermo's daughter Olivia is a gifted artist and his sunshine, always ready to give a kiss and hug. Sophia Concepcion is his baby and always knows that she was loved "beyond the beyond". All of his children are intelligent, loving and kind.

None of these accomplishments would have been possible without his unwavering trust in God's plan and the love for and commitment to his wife Laura.

United as one, Guillermo and Laura were a life giving example of God's love, continually supporting one another's goals and complimenting each others strengths. Their deep love and affection for one another ultimately created a safe haven for their children and themselves. Guillermo and Laura's love carried them through many of life's blessings and hardships. They were soulmates wrapped in God's love and their devotion was apparent to all and especially to their children. Guillermo's love and influence will forever be in our hearts and minds and he will be

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
