Ex city manager pleads nolo Luna does not contest theft of city money

By Allison Taylor
Editor

Former City Secretary David G. Luna pled Nolo Contendere, or no contest, to three felony charges in 63rd District Court in Del Rio on Monday, August 11.

Luna, accused of stealing money from the City of Brackettville from 1998 through the abrupt termination of his employment in 2003, ended Monday's proceedings by pleading no contest to all the charges against him.

Theft charges were originally handed down by a Kinney County Grand Jury indictment in April 2005 and following a three-year long series of motions between the Luna and the court, Luna requested and received a change of venue in September, 2007 to move his case to Val Verde County.

District Attorney Fred Hernandez stated Luna's plea of no contest is equivalent to a guilty plea and said he would be asking the judge for penitentiary time and not probation with repayment. Hernandez stated Luna, as a City official, stole from the tax payers.

According to the investigation report completed by the Texas State Auditor's Office, "Mr. Luna was overpaid approximately $65,188.02 between July 1, 1998 and May 13, 2003, through the City of Brackettville (Brackettville) salary advances. Texas cities are constitutionally prohibited from extending credit to private individuals or organizations. On July 27, 1990, the Texas Attorney General issued opinion no. JM-1194, regarding the authority of a municipality to advance compensation to employees. The opinion states, 'an advance of salary is clearly a loan, and thus, a lending of credit within the constitutional prohibition'."

Horrific Crash on Hwy 90

Courtesy Photo

On August 8 a small pickup traveling west on Hwy 90 near the Dust Bowl Ranch veered into the eastbound lane causing an oncoming 18-wheeler to swerve. The small truck collided into the rear axle on the tractor trailer killing one man and sending the other to the hospital in San Antonio by way of Life Flight. Sources say the driver of the 18-wheeler was not injured. Hwy 90 was closed from 11 p.m. until around 2:30 a.m. Law enforcement officials suspect alcohol may have played a part in the tragedy.

BISD Superintendent resigns

Paula Renken

By Allison Taylor
Editor

Brackett ISD Board of Trustees accepted Superintendent Paula Renken's resignation effective September 5, at the Regular board meeting on Monday, August 11.

Renken was hired as Super in the summer of 2005 after the resignation of then Superintendent Bobby Templeton.

Renken was initially hired as BISD Elementary principal then moved to high school after John P. Schuster resigned.

School Board President J.P. Schuster stated Renken is leaving the District for a better position with the Region 20 Service Center. Schuster commended Renken for achieving her long term goals sooner than expected.

Trustees also accepted Jones Elementary/Intermediate teacher April Rogers resignation with a 4-3 split vote.

Kate Magors was hired by unanimous vote to fill a Jones Elementary/Intermediate position.

The board will meet again on Monday, August 18 at 6:30 p.m. to discuss hiring an interim superintendent.

Sales tax holiday - August 15-17, 2008

Texas shoppers get a break from state and local sales taxes on August 15, 16 and 17 - the state's annual tax holiday. Lay-away plans can be used again this year to take advantage of the sales tax holiday.

The law exempts most clothing and footwear priced under $100 from sales and use taxes, which could save shoppers about $8 on every $100 they spend. Backpacks under $100 and used by elementary and secondary students are also exempt. A backpack is a pack with straps one wears on the back. The exemption during the sales tax holiday includes backpacks with wheels, provided they can also be worn on the back like a traditional backpack, and messenger bags. The exemption does not include items that are reasonably defined as luggage, briefcases, athletic/duffle/gym bags, computer bags, purses or framed backpacks. Ten or fewer backpacks can be purchased tax-free at one time without providing an exemption certificate to the seller.

A word of caution: If you sell items that do not qualify for the exemption, you may not advertise or promise that you will pay your customers' sales tax. Additionally, you are prohibited from advertising that you will not collect sales tax on items that do not qualify. You may advertise that tax is included in the sales price of the taxable items that you sell, however.

For information on how to report tax on these sales, please visit Reporting Sales Tax on Tax-Free Items or call us toll free at (800) 252-5555.

LETTER to the Editor

Dear Editor,
My great grandfather William Mulcahy left Tralee, Co Kerry, Ireland on 18 August 1879. He went to America to try to make money to support his wife and child left behind in Ireland, but never managed to return. A fragment of one letter says he was a baker, and worked in the late 1880s for the Austin and North Western Rail Road. Another is from Brackett (ville) in 1883. It is a poignant story, which I am currently researching with a view to writing a book.

I plan to visit Brackettville next month, and would welcome any information on the railroad, or Brackettville of that time, either from descendants who worked on that railroad, or people with information about the Irish who would have lived in Brackettville or the vicinity at that time.

Any assistance would be much appreciated.

With kind regards,
Fionnuala Mulcahy

NEWS ITEM: AVERAGE EMERGENCY ROOM WAIT NEARS ONE HOUR, C.D.C. SAYS.

Chronic pain affects millions

Dr. Kent Lowery,
D.C., FIAMA

Chronic pain – continuous pain lasting longer than 3 months – afflicts an estimated 50 million Americans, with costs in disability and lost productivity totaling more than $100 billion annually.

Whether that pain results from an injury or disability, or takes the form of low back pain, recurring headaches, or just muscle aches that don't seem to go away, the tendency is to say "Well, I'll just have to live with it."

More and more Americans are turning to alternative care to relieve chronic pain. They have discovered that medication is not solving the problem – only treating the symptoms and that their quality of life has been compromised by the side effects of those medications. Recent studies show that Americans are spending 13 billion dollars a year out of their own pocket on alternative or complimentary therapies. Regular chiropractic adjustments can help the body return to a natural balance and reduce or eliminate chronic pain. Chronic pain is like water damage to a house – if it goes on long enough, the house collapses.

Don't accept that chronic pain has to be a part of your life. Call Dr. Kent Lowery, D.C. in Brackettville for an appointment at 563-6249. Our clinic is located at #1 Mesquite Alley. We now offer acupuncture and accept most major insurances.

How should you respond to market "Dips"

Emily Cooper

You already know that stock prices can take sudden "dips." But do you know what causes them? And, just as importantly, is there any way you can take advantage of these drops?

Let's answer these questions one by one. First, what causes the stock market to fall quickly?

Actually, the "suddenness" of a market decline may often be misleading, because the forces that cause markets to fall (or rise) may be in place for weeks or months before prices move noticeably. Here are some of these key "change agents":

- Investors' actions – Individual and institutional investors can, by their actions, move the price of stocks. For example, if many people think a particular stock is "hot," they will buy it, and this increased demand helps drive up the price. Conversely, if investors decide that a company is in trouble or that it is part of an industry in decline, or even that it's time to take profits, they will sell the stock, creating downward pressure on its price.

- Business fundamentals – A company's earnings, profit margins, management and competitiveness can affect its desirability to investors and, as a result, its stock price.

- Legal changes and regulatory decisions – When Congress passes a law or a government regulatory agency makes an important decision, the result can have a big effect on the fortunes of a company – and, consequently, its stock price. Decisions by the Federal Reserve to change interest rates also can affect the financial markets and individual stock prices.

- Economic indicators – When economic activity – as measured by the gross national product – slows, unemployment increases and inflation rises, investors may get nervous and pull back from the markets, leading to a drop in stock prices.

- International events – Political instability, wars, natural disasters and other events can all disrupt the financial markets and cause stock prices to fall.

It's very hard for most people to follow these events closely enough, and respond to them quickly enough, to take advantage of market drops by buying stocks whose price has fallen.

Furthermore, although it would be great to always "buy low and sell high," it's impossible to predict when a stock has fallen to its lowest point. Consequently, you could end up wasting a lot of time, energy and worry by trying to "buy on the dip."

Moreover, if you were to constantly buy stocks just because their prices had dropped, you may well end up owning a lot of investments that are not really suitable for your individual needs, goals, risk tolerance and time horizon.

You would be better off purchasing an appropriate mix of quality investments, holding them for the long term and making adjustments only when your situation changes or when the investments themselves have altered in a way that's not positive for you.

Ultimately, it's a good idea to stay informed about the various forces that affect stock prices. The more you know, the less surprised you'll be when the market goes up or down. But if you want to truly succeed as an investor, you should avoid short-term decisions based on external forces.

While "dips" may be tempting, they can also lead to "slips."

2007-2008 Jones Teachers and Staff Proved Out TAKS Doubt

Courtesy Photo

Overcoming a low test score blow from the 2006-2007 school year, the beloved Brackett ISD Jones Elementary teachers and staff members celebrate their return to a Recognized status from the Texas Education Agency. This year's TAKS, scores in reading, math and science all significantly improved. The Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills is a state mandated test used to determine student and teacher performance.

GeoFORCE students complete 4th year

AUSTIN, Texas - Four years and 16,000 miles later, the first 80 southwest Texas high school students to take part in GeoFORCE Texas have completed the summer college preparatory program, making an educational odyssey from Washington, D.C. to Washington state, from the Grand Canyon to the Florida Keys, with stops along the way at geological sites in Utah, Oregon, Texas and Virginia.

The high school seniors from 21 different public schools now move on to fulfill the program's mission by preparing for college. Representing Brackettville in the program are: Brittany Hale, ninth grade; Kelsey Bruce, Bryan Calk and Sahera Rodriguez, tenth grade; Brooklyn Gose and Jeff Sitgreaves, 11th grade; and Emily Calk, Samantha Moore and Jacob Schroeder, 12th grade.

Southwest Texas Junior College (SWTJC) and The University of Texas at Austin began GeoFORCE in 2005 as a long-term experiment to increase the number of students pursuing degrees in math and science. Starting with 80 students entering ninth grade, the program has grown to 320 students in grades 9-12 from the SWTJC service area and, by 2009, another 320 from Houston.

In 2005, more than 120 students applied for the 40 spots in the inaugural week-long summer academy - so many that GeoFORCE administrators immediately added a second, two-day component to the program called Young Geoscientists. Student interest has remained rock-solid ever since. Of the original 40 students in the summer academy, only three have left, and none for academic reasons. (Students must maintain high academic standing to remain in the program.)

"It's great to see students so committed to a program that's all about science and academic achievement," said Doug Ratcliff, director of outreach and international programs for The University of Texas at Austin's Jackson School of Geosciences, which oversees GeoFORCE. "It gives you hope, and it speaks highly of the students and the support many receive from their families."

GeoFORCE inspires interest in science by taking students into the field to learn geology in spectacular locations. During the four years of the academy program, members of the inaugural class have studied structural geology while river rafting through Glen Canyon in Arizona, learned about volcanoes while hiking up Mount Saint Helens in Washington and assessed water quality while navigating the Florida Everglades.

Students in the Young Geoscientists program visited Texas quarries, identified sea life from the deck of a research vessel in the Gulf of Mexico, and will participate later this summer in a star-gazing party at the McDonald Observatory.

The ultimate goal of GeoFORCE is to move students into college with a significant number pursuing degrees in math and science.

Ratcliff believes the inaugural class will set a high standard with more than 90% going to college, many of them seeking math, science and engineering degrees.

Twelfth graders from Brackettville and Del Rio recently completed their fourth and final summer academy with a field trip to Florida. Pictured are: (front, l-r) Emily Calk, Jacob Schroeder and Samantha Moore, all of Brackett; (back) Elyana Barrera and Sabrina Cervantez, both of Del Rio.

Attending the 11th grade GeoFORCE summer academy in Washington and Oregon were (l-r) Brooklyn Gose and Jeff Sitgreaves, both of Brackettville; and Dominique Zvorak of Del Rio.

Brackett 10th graders who visited geological sites in Utah and Arizona, including the Grand Canyon, this summer are (l-r) Kelsey Bruce, Bryan Calk and Sahera Rodriguez.

Ninth graders from Brackettville and Del Rio in the GeoFORCE summer academy program include: (l-r) Brittany Hale of Brackett, and Daniela Ocada and Alan Meza of Del Rio. The group visited the Washington, D.C., area earlier this summer.

District attorney seeks state jail time for Luna

Also according to the auditor's report, Luna's weekly gross salary began at $932.40 in 1998 and ended at 1,036.14 in 2003. This does not include annual leave time he could have sold back to the City for an approximate $1,500 per year plus approximately $100 per year in Christmas bonuses. The maximum amount in salary Luna should have received from 1998 through 2003 is $261,752.32. The actual Gross amount received was $336,640.34.

Luna paid back $9,700 for cash advances but was still found to have been overpaid by more than $65,000.

Along with the cash advances, Luna was also found to have abused the City of Brackettville's Sam's Club credit account, which Luna applied for without any knowledge or consent of the council at the time.

According to the audit, "On 12 occasions, Mr. Luna charged gasoline at Sam's on the City of Brackettville's business credit account for trips taken to San Antonio, without the knowledge or consent of the Mayor and City Council. For each of those 12 trips he was also paid a mileage reimbursement for using his own vehicle as described below:

- For eight of the 12 occasions Mr. Luna caused the Mayor and City Council members to sign checks by presenting checks or directing city staff to present checks for signature to authorize payment for mileage reimbursements for trips which he had already charged a gasoline purchase to a city credit account.

- For the other four occasions Mr. Luna used a city credit account to charge a gasoline purchase when he had already received a mileage reimbursement check."

The total in gasoline purchases was $391.91.

The total identified amount Luna stole is $65,579.93.

Luna was found to have criminally violated the following Texas State Statutes; Theft (by a Public Servant), Credit Card or Debit Card Abuse, Misapplication of Fiduciary Property, Securing Execution of Document Deception and Abuse of Official Capacity, according to the state audit.

Luna pled out to three counts of Theft by a Public Servant. Two counts are a second degree felony punishable by confinement in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, Institutional Division for a period of not less than two (2) years or more than twenty (20) years and a fine not to exceed $10,000.00. The third count is a third degree felony punishable by confinement in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, Institutional Division for a period of not less than two (2) years or more than ten (10) years and a fine not to exceed $10,000.00.

According to Judge Thomas Lee's office, Luna will report back to Val Verde sometime in November for his punishment and restitution hearing. Luna has chosen to have the judge himself deliver his sentence and not a jury of his peers.

At press time, Luna's attorney had not returned attempts to reach him by phone.

Kinney County Groundwater Conservation District update

Submitted by KCGCD VP Dr. Kent Lowery

There is no question that groundwater is our most valuable resource and that the use of it must be monitored carefully and judiciously in order to preserve our land and its bounty for generations to come. The current Board of Directors of the Kinney County Groundwater Conservation District has made great strides this past year toward providing competent and responsible local control over how our water budget is administered. There were many tasks facing them a year ago, including the need for additional scientific data on what our water resources were, the settlement of pending lawsuits, the update of the Management Plan and the District Rules as required by the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB), the need for audits of prior years to be performed, and increasing public education and preventing rumors and hearsay from destroying public trust.

Once the major lawsuits had been settled, the first task was the review and update of the Management Plan, which governs all activities of the District and insures that business is conducted according to Chapter 36 of the Texas Water Code. Updating the Management Plan had to be completed before the Rules could be reviewed and updated. This process took several months of intensive committee meetings after which the revised plan was put out for public comment. Any changes recommended during the public comment process were reviewed by the committee and incorporated into the plan if feasible. One major revision to the Plan was the inclusion of the following phrase in the Mission Statement, "The District desires to manage the production and quality of groundwater within the District on a sustainable basis that allows the capture of water flowing through the county without jeopardizing the availability of water to the county during extended periods of low rainfall or unduly increasing the frequency of the natural cycles for springs and intermittent streams going dry."

This illustrates the current Board's commitment to judiciously manage the groundwater resources of Kinney County. The revised Management Plan was completed in March 2008 and submitted to the TWDB in accordance with Texas Water Code procedures. The revised plan was approved by the TWDB on its first review. The District Rules which set forth requirements for water permits and water usage are now in the process of being updated as well and will be submitted for public comment as soon as that process is complete.

An important area of oversight by the KCGCD is the permit and pumping process. It is crucial to know what water supplies are available for permitting, in which area or zone in the county they are located, what the amount of recharge is in any given zone, how pumping and drought conditions affect any given zone, well and basic spring flow, and insuring that all water's first and most important use is beneficial. In an effort to secure much-needed funds to expand the process of obtaining this scientific data, the District has started the process to get funds allocated during the next appropriations period for this purpose. This process includes the submission of a $1.75 million in appropriations request to the Federal Government with oversight by the USGS. Through diligent efforts on behalf of the Board, including meetings with staff from US Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison and US Congressman Ciro Rodriguez's offices, correspondence with US Senator John Cornyn, and preparation and submission of a detailed science plan listing the activities needed and a time frame for those activities, the Board is exploring all avenues for obtaining not only major funding for scientific studies, but also support from State and National entities for our projected water management activities.

The KCGCD Directors are working steadily and effectively toward resolving issues facing the District, some of which were inherited from previous boards. Although the process of working through problems can sometimes seem tedious, legal guidelines must be followed at all times and first and foremost in every Director's mind is the need to be fair to all the residents of Kinney County - not just those with a water permit.

The District wishes to acknowledge and express appreciation for the willingness of Gov. Rick Perry to take a stand for private property rights by writing a letter of support for the District's stand against proclaiming critical habitat for the Devils River Minnow in Kinney County.

The District also wants to acknowledge the constant and invaluable support from Senator Carlos Uresti, who has always been willing to assist the District and to affirm the District's efforts of water management.

Thanks also go to other volunteers such as Dr. Joe Goebel, who prepared a detailed Science Plan and who, along with Jack Boxell, faithfully monitor the wells and stream base flow and the other data-gathering equipment we currently have available.

The TWDB has also given encouragement and support, even to performing an initial "peer review" of the Management Plan to speed the approval process.

The District's Board is proactive in all issues affecting Kinney County's water management responsibilities. There is an ongoing and diligent effort to secure funding for scientific studies protecting our springs and the water rights of all Kinney County citizens. We are also challenging the Federal Government's right to establish critical habitat for the Devils River Minnow in Las Moras Creek and Pinto Creek without first recognizing local control as the Endangered Species Act mandates.

It is the Board's desire to be given the opportunity to work with Kinney County landowners and other entities to address habitat issues prior to being forced to comply with Federal guidelines that would adversely affect the economy, property values and private property rights of Kinney County citizens.
