Facts About the GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE

It is the only range in the world made of Malleable and Charcoal Iron. It has, beyond any question of a doubt, the largest and best reservoir. It uses about half the fuel used on other ranges and does better work by far.

The Majestic All Copper Nickeled Reservoir heats the water quicker and hotter than any other. It is the only reservoir with a removable frame.

The Charcoal Iron Body of the Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a steel body.

Being made of non-breakable material, there is practically no expense for repairing the Majestic.

As for baking, it is perfection; not only for a few months, but for all time to come.

A Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a cheap range, but it don't cost three times as much.

PROOF—We don't ask you to take our word for any of the above statements, but if you will call at our store, a man from the factory, where Majestic Ranges are made, will prove to your satisfaction that these are absolute facts, and will show you many more reasons why the Great Majestic Range is absolutely the best that money can buy.

APOPLEXY IS FATAL

E. P. HAYNES, GRAIN BUYER FOR WICHITA MILLS DIES ON TRAIN NEAR EL RENO, OKLA.

DEATH COMES AS SHOCK

Deceased Was Well Known to Grain Men Over the Southwest and Was Highly Esteemed.

Special to the Times. Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 25.—The Rock Island officials here received dispatches today from El Reno, Oklahoma, saying that E. P. Haynes, a grain buyer in the employ of the Wichita Mill and Elevator, died on the train near that place this morning.

The first news of Mr. Haynes' death was given in the foregoing dispatch and when told the news over the telephone Mr. Kell was greatly shocked. Mr. Haynes had been in the employ of the local mill for a number of years and had bought grain throughout the State of Texas and in Oklahoma and Kansas. He was highly esteemed by his company and was regarded as a very valuable man.

Only a few days ago he was in this city and at that time appeared in his usual good health.

At the time of his death he was living in Oklahoma City and was buying grain for the local mill in Oklahoma.

Contractor Cox Injured. From Friday's Daily.

Word was received here at noon today that E. A. Cox, of the firm of Cox & Snyder of this city, had fallen from a building at the new town of Devol, Oklahoma, on the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway and had sustained injuries, the extent of which could not be learned.

Dr. Miller left for Devol on a motor car this afternoon to attend the injured man.

Thornberry Items. Special to the Times.

Thornberry, Tex., Aug. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hopkins returned yesterday from Marshall, Oklahoma, where they had been visiting Mr. Hopkins' father for a few weeks. His sister, Miss Katie, returned for a month's visit with them and her brother, Mr. J. C. Hopkins.

LESS BOLL WORMS AT STAMFORD

Pest Has About Run Course in Jones County.

Stamford, Tex., Aug. 20.—Boll worms have been doing much damage to growing cotton in this section of the State, but they have about run their course and cotton is gaining materially every day. It is putting on new forms and with a rain and the stalk that the cotton has now, there is ample time for the cotton to make a bale to the acre. As it stands today it is conceded by conservative authorities that cotton will average from a fourth to a third of a bale to the acre, but as stated the outlook is growing brighter each day and the most hopeful prospects are maintained.

W. J. Hawthorn has shipped from Cleburne to Jolly a bunch of stock ewes comprising two carloads. At one time sheep-raising was an important industry in this section, but latterly no sheep have been raised or fed here. Mr. Hawthorn will handle this small bunch of sheep as an experiment and if he finds the industry profitable will probably engage in the business on a much larger scale.

The Lieutenant Governor shall receive an annual salary of twenty-five hundred ($2500) dollars per year, and no more. During the time he administers the government as Governor, he shall receive in like manner the same compensation which the Governor would have received had he been employed in the duties of his office, and no more. The President of the Senate, for the time being, shall, during the time he administers the government, receive in like manner the same compensation which the Governor would have received, had he been employed in the duties of his office.

Sec. 2. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue and have published the necessary proclamation for the submission of this resolution to the qualified voters for members of the Legislature of the State of Texas, as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas, to be voted upon on the day of the next general election of the State of Texas, which will be held on the day fixed by law therefor. All persons favoring said amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots as follows: "For the amendment to the Constitution fixing the salary of the Governor at eight thousand ($8000) dollars per annum, and the Lieutenant Governor at twenty-five hundred ($2500) dollars per annum." And the sum of one thousand ($1,000) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State of Texas not otherwise appropriated to pay the expenses of such publication, proclamation and election.

Proposed Amendment to the State Constitution Relating to Commissioners' Precincts.

Joint Resolution to amend Section 18, Article 5, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, so as to provide for a county subsequent redistricting of a county into commissioners' precincts, defining the manner thereof, for submitting to the electors of the State, and making an appropriation therefor.

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Each organized county in the State, now or hereafter existing, shall be divided from time to time, for the convenience of the people, into justice precincts, not less than four, and not more than twelve. The present county courts shall make the first division, and subsequent divisions shall be made by the commissioners' court provided for by this Constitution. In each such predict there shall be elected, at each biennial election, justice of the peace and one constable, each of whom shall hold his office for two years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified; provided, that in any precinct in which there may be a city of eight thousand or more inhabitants, there shall be elected two justices of the peace. Each county shall in like manner and in the first instance, be divided into four commissioners' precincts, in each of which there shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof one county commissioner, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. Subsequent divisions of a county into commissioners' precincts shall be made as is now or hereafter may be provided by law. The county commissioners so chosen, with the county judge as presiding officer, shall compose the county commissioners' court, which shall exercise such powers and jurisdiction over all county business as is conferred by this Constitution and the laws of the State, or as may be hereafter prescribed.

Sec. 2. That the sum of one thousand ($1,000) dollars is hereby appropriated out of the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated for the purpose of defraying the necessary expense of submitting the above proposed amendment to the people of the State at the next general or special election in the manner required by law, by the Governor of the State.

Taxation—Submitting Amendment to Constitution.

Joint Resolution amending Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, increasing the amount of tax that may be voted on school districts and providing for a majority vote of the property tax paying voters of such district to vote such tax.

Section 1. Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas: That Section 3 of Article 7 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be so amended as to hereafter read as follows:

Section 3. One-fourth of the revenue derived from the State occupation taxes and a poll tax of $1 on every male inhabitant of this State between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools, and in addition thereto there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem State tax of such an amount, not to exceed twenty cents on the $100 valuation, as with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public free schools of this State for a period of not less than six months in each year, and the Legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts within all or any of the counties of the State by general or special law, without the special legislation required in other cases of special legislation, and may authorize an additional ad valorem tax to be levied and collected within such school districts for the further maintenance of public free schools, and the erection and equipment of school buildings therein, provided that a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters of the district, voting at an election to be held for that purpose shall vote such tax, for that purpose in any one year 50 cents not to exceed in any one year 50 cents on the $100 valuation of such district, subject to taxation in such district, but the limitation upon the amount of district tax herein authorized shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns constituting separate and independent school districts.

Sec. 2. The Governor of the State of Texas shall and he is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for the submission of this amendment to the qualified voters of the State of Texas at the next general election, or at a special election called by the Governor and the sum of four thousand ($4,000) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any money not otherwise appropriated to defray the expenses of publication of such proclamation. At publication of the qualified electors voting at an election to vote such tax, for that purpose in any one year 50 cents not to exceed in any one year 50 cents on the $100 valuation of such district, shall have written or printed on the ballot as follows: "For amendment to Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State, relating to public free schools," and those opposed to said amendment shall have written or printed on the ballot as follows: "Against the amendment to Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State, relating to public free schools."

The cotton crop situation has greatly improved within the past week or ten days, and the talk of destruction wrought by the boll worms has almost ceased.

So far, there hasn't been any tremendous rush of contributors to the Bryan campaign fund in Wichita Falls. Can it be that the $10,000 limit is too low to make the proposition interesting?

The Wichita Falls and Southern will soon be hauling coal over its line from the Young county coal fields, which will cheapen the price of fuel for manufacturing and domestic purposes very materially in this city.

Get your name on the membership of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce. Through this organization, if properly supported, property values, which have already doubled within the past twelve months, will double again within the next.

The several patches of alfalfa about Wichita Falls this season have proved the worth of that crop and have netted the growers good money. Every progressive farmer in Wichita county should sow a patch of alfalfa and give it intelligent attention.

We anticipate that one of the best short speeches of Mr. Bryan's career will be that delivered by him on March 8, 1912, in response to the welcome home extended him by citizens of Lincoln on the occasion of his retirement from the presidency.—Houston Post.

Irish usages of a size and quality surpassing even the Colorado product are displayed in the offices of local real estate men. They were grown right here at home and are another evidence that the Wichita country is hard to beat in any line.

The Times is glad to note that the Chamber of Commerce is taking up the matter of an exhibit at the Dallas and Oklahoma fairs. Wichita county can get together an exhibit that will open the eyes of everybody and it should be done.

Both San Angelo and Abilene are building street railway lines. In this respect they are a little in advance of Wichita Falls. But before another year passes, however, Wichita Falls will have a street railway system, and one that will be a paying investment from the start.

It always rains here when rain is most needed. Besides settling the dust and cooling the atmosphere down several degrees, the splendid rains of Saturday and yesterday, which was general throughout Northwest Texas, will add thousands of bales of cotton to the crop of Northwest Texas.

If you want to get in on the Times' Bryan and Kern campaign fund, now is the time to do it. On the 24th, it will forward to Governor Haskell all that has been contributed up to that time, so that it may be used when it will do the most good. Up to date the sum contributed is only about $20. It should be much more.

Chairman Storey of the State Democratic Executive Committee, has called a meeting of that body at Austin for next Monday for the purpose of nominating a candidate for commissioner of agriculture to succeed R. T. Milner, who was appointed to the presidency of the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Every man in Wichita county should enlist his energies and influence in an effort to land one of the new experimental farm stations which the State proposes to establish in Wichita county. Science and intelligent effort are supplanting the old haphazard methods on the farm and the establishment of an experiment station here would be of inestimable advantage.

Wichita Falls is growing faster than any town on the Denver road, and all of them are growing at a very rapid rate. At the present rate of increase in population, it will not be a great while until the Northwest Texas and the Panhandle country will be as thickly populated as other portions of Texas, and when this occurs this part of the State will be in a position to demand and receive more recognition in the State political conventions.

It may be that the reason Wichita Falls has no street railway system can be accounted for by the fact that she has so many miles of splendid cement walks and her citizens want to make use of them. At any rate, the property owners are building walks as fast as the city government can raise revenue to connect them up with cement street crossings, and so long as this continues we can afford to defer the building of a street railway system for a time.

The country surrounding Wichita Falls for a radius of one hundred miles or more is being developed and is coming to the front with tremendous strides. Tens of thousands of thrifty farmers are tickling the surface of Mother Earth and are reaping harvests of a hundred fold. Railroads are pushing their way into new territory, quarries and mines are being opened up, thriving new towns are springing up at every hand and the smoke of factories is beginning to paint the sky. Wichita Falls, on account of her geographical location and her railroads is already the pre-eminent commercial center of this magnificent territory. New railroads, new factories, new wholesale houses are needed to bind the ties of trade and traffic in this magnificent corner of God's footstool still more closely to Wichita Falls.

WICHITA FALLS' ADVANTAGES AS A MANUFACTURING CENTER.

The Times is informed that the first car of coal from the Young county coal fields will reach Wichita Falls tomorrow over the Wichita Falls and Southern, which has just been completed to Newcastle, the present terminus of the road, located thirteen miles south of Olney.

The building of this road and the developing of the coal field opens to Wichita Falls the opportunity of demonstrating to capital seeking investment in manufacturing enterprises that this city offers better advantages for such purposes than almost any other place in the Southwest.

We have the railroads—six in all; an abundance of water for both domestic and manufacturing purposes, and surrounded on all sides by as fine farming country as can be found anywhere. All that was necessary to make it an ideal location for a manufacturing center was the proposition of cheap fuel, and now this problem has been solved by the building of the Wichita Falls and Southern and the developing of as rich a coal field as there is in the whole Southwest.

For the past several years coal for domestic purposes has been retailed in Wichita Falls at from $7.50 to $9.00 per ton. The Times is informed, that the best screened lump coal from the Young county coal fields (which is equal, if not superior to the best McAlester or Colorado screened lump coal), will be delivered to dealers in this city at from $3.60 to $3.75 per ton. The dealers usually calculate on a profit of from $1 to $2 per ton.

The price of fuel coal has been lowered fully as much in proportion as coal for domestic uses, and this in reality, is of more importance to Wichita Falls, in that it affords those who are already in the manufacturing business an opportunity to obtain their fuel coal at a much less price than heretofore paid, and the same advantage is offered to prospective manufacturing enterprises.

One of our leading business men and promoters, has already expressed a willingness to subscribe for as much as $10,000 worth of stock in a cotton factory with a capital of at least $100,000. He also said that he felt quite sure he could induce a friend to take as much more.

This is some encouragement, and the Times feels sure that if our business men will take this matter up and push it to a conclusion, Wichita Falls within the next twelve months will have a cotton factory employing at least one hundred men, women and boys.

As an investment there is nothing in the manufacturing line which pays more handsome dividends than cotton mills or cotton factories. There are several in operation in Texas, and all of them have paid good interest on the money invested, besides being of great benefit to the towns in which they are located.

One of the successful cotton factories now in operation in Texas has paid in dividends during the past twenty-four months as much as 90 per cent, and this dividend was realized in a legitimate way—from the profits of its manufactured products. What other towns have done in this line, which are not so favorably located, Wichita Falls can do also, and now is the time to start and push to a successful conclusion a move for a cotton factory.

Wichita Falls business men have subscribed $400 a month the year round to be devoted to advertising the town and country about it. That's the kind of push it takes to transform a town into a city and it is a source of genuine regret that such acts are mostly confined to growing towns in the West.—Record and Chronicle.

The Wichita Falls daily paper carries more advertising the year round and gets better pay for it than any other small daily in Texas. The business men of Wichita Falls are real live ones—they do not hesitate to spend their money freely for everything they know is calculated to build up their town. And it is a policy sure to win in the end.—Weatherford Herald.

The Times appreciates the compliment paid to Wichita Falls and her live, wide-awake, hustling business men, as well as the little bouquet thrown it. People everywhere judge a town largely by its newspapers. If the local paper bears the earmarks of a "starved-out, run-down-at-the-heel" appearance, the people who see it will form a bad opinion of the town in which it is published. The Times has never yet had that appearance. It has always enjoyed a nice patronage, and its course in assisting, in its way, to build up Wichita Falls and Wichita county has received the unqualified endorsement of a great majority of the leading business men of the city, which is the best in Texas, and measured by population, can and does do more towards town-building than most towns of twice its size. When a paper gets to the point where it looks more like a signal of distress rather than a triumphant banner telling of the prosperity and progressiveness of the town which it claims as its home, the best course for the editor of that kind of a paper to pursue is close up shop and wait until such time as the business men of the town wake up to the realization of the fact that no town or city was ever built without the liberal use of the columns of a wide-awake newspaper, which is just as great an essential to town-building as sunshine is toward crop-making. Both Denton and Weatherford have good papers, well edited, but they are not receiving the support from the towns in which they are published to which their merits entitle them. There is no excuse for this, except that the two towns are old, and most of their business men have made all the money they want, and are holding on to it. They will neither use a portion of their earnings to help their towns or step back or sell out to some more progressive fellows who believe in going after business instead of sitting down and waiting for business to back up to them. Wichita Falls has none of this kind. Every man here who is in any line of business is considered a live wire, and they are all on the hunt for more business. The result has been that fewer business failures are recorded in Wichita Falls than any town of the same population in Texas. "It pays to advertise" is their motto, and a glance at the columns of the Times will convince the most skeptical that they are living up to it.

HIGH COST OF TRANSPORTATION.

The average cost of hauling a ton of goods a mile over a country road is said to be twenty-five cents. The average cost of carrying a ton of goods a mile by lake is said to be eight-tenths of a mill and by rail seven and six-tenths mills.

It often happens that the cost of hauling a ton of farm produce to a freight station costs more than the transportation of the same load the remainder of its journey.

Railroads spend millions here and there to reduce operating expenses and a slight increase or decrease in freight rates is immediately noticed by everybody. It appears that too little attention has been given to the cost of hauling over country roads. When the farmers and business men of the small towns realize the disproportionate cost of transportation over rural roads, the improvement of the highways will receive something like the measure of attention it deserves.

There are signs, even here, that the people are awakening to the importance of better highways, and the day will yet come when the cost of hauling a load of wheat, corn or cotton to Wichita Falls will be much less than it is now.

The Annis-Haines murder is now furnishing the newspapers with a fresh scandal in high society life. The slayer of millionaire Annis, apparently, expects to set up as his defense that he is of unsound mind, and to this end is playing the crazy act to the entire satisfaction of his legal advisers. The fact that he is rich may be the means of keeping him confined until his money is exhausted, and then, like Thaw, will have the courts of New York to legally declare him a bankrupt. Until this happens, he may expect to languish in jail or an asylum for the insane.

Secretary Gohlke Will Tell the Growers Why They Should Market Their Crop Here.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The regular weekly meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce this morning acted upon the necessity for a better local cotton market than formerly prevailed here by authorizing the secretary to write to every cotton grower tributary to Wichita Falls, calling attention to the increased number of buyers who have arranged to quarter here during the cotton season and the subsequent result of creating a great deal more competition and better prices for the product. The location of a compress, cotton seed oil mill and three cotton gins adds additional strength to the competitive market. These conditions need only be brought to the attention of cotton growers to counteract the impression of the past that Wichita Falls lacked enough competitive buying to discourage long hauls to market.

Reports from cotton districts by local men are to the effect that contrary to the pessimistic rumors of a short crop, that the outlook for a bumper crop is excellent. This and an increased acreage point to the greatest cotton market Wichita Falls ever experienced.

A communication from the Commercial Club of Walters, Oklahoma, asking the co-operation of Wichita Falls in the building of a railroad to Oklahoma City, running through Randlett, Walter, Duncan and Lindsay, with traffic arrangements over the Wichita Falls and Northwestern, to avoid building a bridge over Red river, was favorably reported on. The Walter Commercial Club will be assured of equitable arrangements with the Wichita Falls and Northwestern being made at such time as they want to make contract and the further co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce to this end.

The attention of the directors was called to the bad condition of the Denver railroad crossing on Seventh street and the secretary was instructed to write Chairman Richoit of the street committee, requesting his aid in the improvement of the crossing.

The secretary reported correspondence with the Katy immigration department, agreeing to distribute literature of Wichita Falls in connection with their immigration work. Literature will also be provided for distribution at the fairs of the middle west by this department.

For the purpose of directing attention of the next legislature and the representatives of this district to the needs of our territory, resolutions will be forwarded requesting the establishment of an experimental station near Wichita Falls.

An exhibit booth constructed of corn and cotton stalks and having an abundance of literature and an attendant in charge will be installed at the Oklahoma and Texas State fairs should not the cost be prohibitive. The secretary will look into the matter and make arrangements to have the fair circuit covered provided the funds will allow such wide latitude.

The secretary was authorized to attend the convention of Commercial Secretaries at Fort Worth September 9th, 10th and 11th and get as much publicity as possible for this section, aside from the value such conventions are to the profession.

The opportunity for the location of a cotton mill will be advertised among the manufacturers and attention directed to Wichita Falls as a desirable point offering local assistance to the right people. This idea will be persistently followed up until results are had.

What Wichita Falls is Doing in the Way of Building.

There are more than twenty-five new residences now going up, and some of them will be really beautiful structures and will cost between $5,000 and $10,000 each. Among the latter is that of Mrs. Addicks on West Tenth street, which is now nearing completion.

Mr. C. E. Reid has also let the contract for a handsome residence to be constructed on the lot between G. D. Anderson and O. T. Bacon on the west side of Burnett avenue, between Ninth and Tenth street. The old house which formerly occupied this lot has been removed and the work of laying the foundation for the new building is under way.

Jones & Orlopp, architects, are preparing plans for a new residence for Mr. Frank Kell, to be erected on the site of the one he and his family now occupy on the west side of Scott avenue between Ninth and Tenth streets. It will cost when completed between $6,000 and $10,000.

Mrs. Page has constructed on the rear end of her lot on the northeast corner of Lamar avenue and Tenth street a neat two-story frame residence.

The Moore & Bateman building on the southwest corner of Eighth street and Indiana avenue, is nearing completion and when completed will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000, aside from the value of the 50x150 foot lot on which it stands. It will be the handsomest, if not the most expensive two story brick structure in the city.

Work on the foundation of the new $35,000 opera house on the northeast corner of Indiana avenue and Tenth street, is again under way after a delay of a few days caused by lack of a sufficient amount of crushed rock.

The work of excavating for the foundation for the new city hall, a building that is to cost over $15,000, is about completed, and material for putting in the concrete foundation is being placed on the ground. It is expected that the cornerstone for this handsome structure, which is to be constructed on a 50x150 foot lot on the northwest corner of Ninth street and Ohio avenue, will be laid by the Masonic order on September 26th. The reason for selecting this date for the cornerstone event is that Wichita Falls was organized on September 27, 1882, but as the 27th falls on Sunday this year it was necessary to either celebrate on the day before or the day after, and it has about been decided to set the 26th for this important event, at which time Wichita Falls is expected to do her best in the way of entertaining the crowds of visitors expected here on that occasion.

A great deal towards getting ready for the making of pressed brick at the Wichita Falls brick and tile plant has already been accomplished and it is now thought that the plant will be in active operation by early fall. This enterprise represents an investment of over $60,000 and will give steady work to more than forty people the year round.

There are now at work a force of more than fifty men on Wichita Falls' sewerage system, in addition to the force which is operating the two large ditching machines, the largest of which digs a ditch to the depth of sixteen feet. This work will cost the city about $35,000 and when completed will cover all the business portion and a greater part of the residence portion of the city.

The new 50x150 foot one-story brick building on the west side of Indiana avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets, will be completed and occupied by the Wichita Valley Mercantile Company by September 15. This building is the property of the Wichita Falls Investment Company.

There are plans being made for many other business houses and residences and the outlook is that there will be no let-up in the building line in Wichita Falls for some time to come.

GRANDFIELD WILL BE NAME OF NEW TOWN.

By a provision of the contract between the people of Eschitt and the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railroad company, for the settlement of the townsite fight between Kell and Eschitt, the new town has been christened Grandfield, in honor of Charles A. Grandfield, first assistant postmaster general of the United States.

This act of dropping both the names of Eschitt and Kell was thought advisable for the reason that it would have a tendency to obliterate any prejudicial feeling that has existed between the people of the two communities.

The M. E. church edifice to be erected at the corner of Lamar avenue and Seventh street is to be an institutional church, with gymnasium and Y. M. C. A. rooms. The cost is to be $25,000. The subscription is said to be nicely under way.

Bryan's Tariff Speech

At Des Moines, Iowa, last night Mr. Bryan delivered a notable speech in which was distinctly contrasted the positions of the republican and democratic parties on the tariff question. The speech, we believe, will be one of the most important in the campaign.

In closing his speech, Mr. Bryan said:

I cannot pass this part of my subject, without calling attention to the fact that Secretary Taft has allowed himself to be drawn into the use of an argument which the beneficiaries of protection have been employing for a generation. Speaking of the gradual substitution of a revenue tariff for the protective system, he says in his notification speech:

"The introduction in power of a party with this avowed purpose cannot, but halt the gradual recovery from our recent financial depression and produce business disaster, compared with which our recent panic and depression will seem small indeed."

Here is a threat of a panic if the republican party is not retained in power. This panic argument was worked overtime in 1896, but I am surprised that a republican refers to it in the present campaign.

We have had three panics since the republican party was born; the panic of 1873, the panic of 1893 and the panic of 1907. The panic of 1873 came after the republican party had been in complete control of the federal government for twelve years, and eleven years before our party succeeded in securing control of the executive branch of the government. The startling "panic and depression" of 1873 occurred in the very midst of republican rule, just after a republican victory and under a high tariff. Is it not strange that Secretary Taft should forget this panic, when he warns us to beware of any departure from the protective system?

The panic of 1907 came after the republicans had been in complete control of the federal government for more than ten years. They had had an opportunity to do everything that they wanted to do and to undo everything that needed to be undone, and we were under such a high tariff that even Secretary Taft admitted the necessity of revision. The panic was so bad that even the banks felt it necessary to do something that they had never done before, namely, arbitrarily limit the amount of money that depositors could draw on their own accounts. Ex-Secretary Shaw says that the stringency of 1907 was "the severest the world has ever witnessed."

With this panic fresh in his mind, is it not strange that he should argue that his election is necessary to prevent a panic? I have referred to two of the three panics, both of these coming under conditions which compel the republican party to accept the responsibility for them. Now let us consider the panic of 1893. If that could be properly charged to the democratic party, it would only be one democratic panic to two republican panics. But can it be fairly charged to the democrats? It came, it is true, but a few months after the inauguration of a democratic president, but it came while the McKinley high tariff was still in effect and before a single republican law had been repealed, and it came from causes that were in operation before the election. In fact, it was the failure of the republican party to do its duty and satisfy the people that brought about a democratic victory and these causes would have brought on a panic, even if the republican party had remained in power. Now, this is the record, and yet, in spite of this record, the republican candidate presumes to threaten a panic in case of democratic success.

The third proposition, which the protectionist must establish, namely, that the tariff asked for is necessary, is still less considered. It is true that we pay higher wages per day than are paid elsewhere, but that does not necessarily mean that the actual labor cost of an article is higher here than abroad. On the contrary, the rule is that high priced labor produces a cheaper article than low-priced labor. Manufacturers of hardware will tell you that they can export hardware which contains a great deal of labor and a small amount of raw material, but they cannot export hardware in which the raw material constitutes a large proportion of the value. We are sending manufactures of steel all over the world. The steam engine, for instance, is made by skilled labor, and yet we can send it abroad and defy competition. Our electrical machinery is made by skilled labor, and yet we have no fear of foreign competition, even in the foreign markets. Our agricultural machinery is made by skilled labor, and yet we export it to all countries. Our sewing machines are manufactured by skilled labor, but the American traveler finds our sewing machines everywhere; and the list could be extended indefinitely.

For twenty-five years the American working man has been told that he receives higher wages than the English workman solely because of protection, but our wage earners now know that this cannot be due to protection, because the English workman receives higher wages than the German workman, although the German tariff is complete control of the federal government, higher than that of Great Britain. Protection does not make good wages. Our better wages are due to the greater intelligence and skill of our workmen, to the greater hope which free institutions give them, to improved machinery, to the better conditions that surround them, and to the organizations which have been formed among the wage earners. A revenue tariff will not bring a panic; it will not inaugurate industrial depression; it will not reduce wages; on the contrary it will stimulate business and give more employment, and a larger demand for labor will be a guaranty against the reduction of wages. A reduction of the tariff will reduce the extortion that is now practiced because of the high schedules; a reduction in price will enable more people to buy, and this larger demand for the goods will put more people to work and increase the number of industries. A lower price will greatly stimulate exportation, and manufacturers who are now crippled by a tariff upon what they use will be better prepared to enter the contest for supremacy in the world's trade.

We cannot hope to invade foreign markets to the extent we should, until we relieve our manufacturers of the handicap that protection places upon them in the purchase of materials they have to use. Neither can we hope to continually increase our exports without increasing our imports. President McKinley recognized this, and in the last speech that he made he pointed out that we must buy from other nations if we expect to sell to other nations.

The democratic plan does not contemplate an immediate change from one system to the other; it expressly declares that the change shall be gradual and a gradual change is only possible where the country is satisfied with the results of each step taken. We elect a congress every two years and a president every four years, and the people can soon stop any policy if the results of that policy are not satisfactory. But we believe that the experience the people have had with "protection for protection's sake" has led them to favor a restoration of the tariff by gradual steps to a revenue basis; and we are convinced that the advantages following each step will be so pronounced and that the benefits will be so universally enjoyed that there will be no cessation in the progress toward a system under which the tariff will be levied for the purpose of revenue and limited to the needs of the government. The low tariff law of 1846 did not produce a panic; on the contrary, it was so satisfactory that even when the republican party wrote its first platform ten years afterward the protective principle was not endorsed.

The democratic party has declared for an income tax as a part of the revenue system, and for a constitutional amendment as a means of securing this tax. Secretary Taft announces in his notification speech that he is in favor of an income tax whenever the revenues are so low as to require it, and expresses his belief that it is possible to secure such a tax without a constitutional amendment. If it is possible to frame a law which will avoid the objections raised to the income tax law of 1894, well and good, but that is uncertain. If an income tax is desirable, surely Secretary Taft can not consistently oppose the adoption of a constitutional amendment. If the principle is right and the tax wise, Congress ought to have authority to levy and collect such a tax, and no supporter of Secretary Taft can oppose our position without dissenting from the republican candidate.

The whole aim of our party is to secure justice in taxation. We believe that each individual should contribute to the support of the government in proportion to the benefits which he receives under the protection of the government. We believe that a revenue tariff, approached gradually, according to the plan laid down in our platform, will equalize the burdens of taxation, and that the addition of an income tax will make taxation still more equitable.

If the republican party is to have the support of those who find a pecuniary profit in the exercise of the taxing power, as a private asset in their business, we ought to have the support of that large majority of the people who produce the nation's wealth in time of peace, protect the nation's flag in time of war, and ask nothing from the government but even-handed justice.

Much interest is being taken by the farmers in the corn exhibit in which two real estate firms of this city are offering cash prizes. Already a large number of entries have been made and more are coming in every day.
