

BY A FEDERAL GRANT

HASKELL FLINGS BACK ROOSEVELT'S CHARGE OF IMPROPER CONDUCT.

PRESIDENT'S APPOINTEE

Gave Charter to Prairie Oil Co. and Bill of Rights Prevented Governor From Molesting It.

As was predicted in the special dispatch to the Times from Washington yesterday, President Roosevelt in his reply to Bryan concerning the charges against Governor Haskell, based his indictment of Haskell upon the records in the Prairie Oil company suits.

Governor Haskell last night after reading the charges made by President Roosevelt, said:

"I say that the president knows that my statement is true, and I regret that he tries to brush it aside without doing me candid justice. Were I to adopt the character of language so commonly used by the president I would spell it with fewer letters than 'falsehood.' Mr. President, I hope to speak in Ohio soon. May I hope to divide time with some partisan of yours or Prince William's, who defends your actions in this instance?"

"President Roosevelt comes to Oklahoma and finds a substitute for his Ohio failure in the case of the State against the Prairie-Oil and Gas Company, which he complains I compelled to be dismissed. Yes, we all know that the Prairie company is a Standard offspring, and don't forget that the president claims to have known this also, and I charge that the political allies, Hearst and Roosevelt, both know that I acted properly.

"First, the Prairie Oil and Gas Company got its franchise in our State, not from me, but from Roosevelt's secretary of the interior long before statehood began, and had its main line built and operating, and in our statehood bill was compelled to declare that our new State when organized must respect all such vested rights and existing franchises.

"That was all I did, and the federal courts stood ready to call me down if I violated the Roosevelt-Territorial franchises.

"Now, Mr. President, why did your secretary of the interior grant what you knew to be a Standard Oil pipe line franchise in our then helpless territory and fasten it on our new State by provisions of the statehood bill? Will Mr. Hearst or the president please answer?"

"I will also remind the president that the company tried to enlarge its rights so as to include a gas as well as an oil privilege, which I defeated, and even last April, Mr. President, your secretary of the interior tried to help the Standard Oil gas privilege against my protest by actually granting them a franchise to lay an interstate gas line also. I notified the secretary that since statehood your days of giving valuable franchises in our State had passed and that I would resist laying the line. Only after that you yielded and canceled your unlawful act.

"I again assert that my act in that case was not only required by what federal authority had bound us to do, but that the public interest of our own people based on conditions growing out of your original special favors to the Standard Oil company in granting that franchise required me to pursue that policy in the case that you have seen fit to criticize."

Roosevelt's Reply to W. J. Bryan.

President Roosevelt, in his reply to William J. Bryan, says:

"The White House, Washington, Sept. 23.—Dear Sir: In your telegram you speak of so much of the charges against Governor Haskell as dealt with his relations, while in Ohio, with the Standard Oil company. You omit the charge as to his relations with the Standard Oil interests, as shown by his actions while governor of Oklahoma this very summer, this action being in part taken while he was at Denver, where, as you state, he was by your wish, made chairman of the committee which drafted the platform upon which you are standing.

"In my statement I purposely made no specific allusion to the Ohio matter and shall at this time make none, in spite of its significance and in spite of the further fact that Governor Haskell's close relations with the Standard Oil interests while he was in Ohio was a matter of common notoriety.

Prairie Oil and Gas Case.

"In Oklahoma it is a matter of court record. By this court record it appears that the attorney general of the State, elected by the people obtained an injunction to prevent the Prairie Oil and Gas Company from building a pipe line, and that Gov. Haskell found this out while he was at Denver, as appears by the representations for the dissolution of the injunction made in his name on behalf of the State before a court of superior jurisdiction to that which issued the injunction.

"In this the governor states that the acting governor, in his absence, had asked that the hearing be postponed until he, the governor, might return and have an opportunity to investigate the controversy." The governor set forth in his petition that he is the sole authority to determine such matters, and that the attorney general and the judge of the lower court had no right in the case and that the action of the judge of the lower court represented an encroachment by the judiciary. The attorney general opposed the dissolution of the injunction, stating that the Prairie Oil and Gas Company was a foreign corporation which has not accepted the provisions of the constitution applicable to such corporations and that without authority of law it was employing a great force of men and teams to dig up, across and into various highways of the State for the purpose of laying its lines.

Charges Governor With Being "Alert."

"The governor prevailed, the injunction was suspended and the pipe line was permitted to continue its work, to use the words of the attorney general, 'without any color of law.' And I call your attention to the fact that the question is not whether or not the judge erred, or whether the injunction was proper. The point is that the governor.

DOLLARS ARE NEEDED

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE NEEDS SINEWS FOR LEGITIMATE EXPENSES.

ROOSEVELT IS REFUTED

Chairman Mack Promptly Brands Falsehood About Money Said to Have Been Received.

W. J. Bryan to Theodore Roosevelt.
"The democratic candidate, Mr. J. W. Kern, joined with me in requesting the democratic national committee to fix a maximum of $10,000 for individual contributions, and to publish before the election all contributions above $100 and the committee acted favorably on this request. The republican candidate and the republican national committee proposed no publication before the election, but publication after the election."

"I submit that our committee has given the better evidence of its freedom from connection with or obligation to the predatory interests. Our committee has not knowingly received a dollar from an official of any corporation known as a trust and it will not receive any money from such. If any money is contributed by such persons without the knowledge of the committee it will be returned as soon as the fact is discovered."

Chairman Mack to President Roosevelt.

"If you are correctly quoted, no doubt you have in mind the publication in the New York American recently that I, as chairman of the democratic national committee, could have $200,000 from former Chairman Taggart, which was said to be left over from the 1904 campaign.

"This, at that time, was emphatically denied when brought to my attention. I desire to say to you now that there is not a word of truth in this statement.

'Not a Cent From Taggart.'

"I have not received one cent from Chairman Taggart or anyone else connected with the last campaign; neither has anyone connected with the democratic national committee.

"I am writing you this direct, as I desire to correct what seems to be an erroneous impression in your mind."

80 Per Cent Raised by Newspapers.

Chairman Mack said a day or two ago that the democratic national committee was receiving 80 per cent of its funds to conduct the campaign from newspapers, and that only two newspapers had turned in sums of over $5,000. Mr. Mack said that the Standard Oil Company had never even made an attempt to contribute to the fund.

THEIR ULTIMATUM

IMPROVE SERVICE OR FORFEIT FRANCHISES, COUNCIL'S ORDERS TO TWO COMPANIES.

TIME LIMITS FOR BOTH

October 1st is Limit Given Water Company—Telephone Company is Allowed Thirty Days.

From Monday's Daily. At a called meeting of the city council on Saturday night resolutions were passed instructing the city secretary to notify the officials of the Southwestern Telephone Company that if the service of that company was not improved within thirty days steps would be taken to forfeit that company's franchise.

The Wichita Falls water and light company also came in for a resolution in which that company was notified that unless their light service was improved by October 1st, the city would certainly take steps to secure better lights and would begin proceedings to forfeit that company's franchise.

J. E. Farnsworth, vice president and general manager for the Southwestern Telephone Company, who was in the city Saturday, attended the council meeting Saturday night. He said that his company would expend $25,000 in the installation of a new exchange and that the new equipment would be installed as soon as the material could be gotten here. He also said that every effort would be made to give better service in the intervening time.

The delay in the arrival of a shipment of coils to take the place of those burned out about two weeks ago has been the cause of the lack of lights, Mr. Malone says. The new coils have arrived and will be put in at once, so that better lights can be promised immediately.

The new generator ordered some time ago, has been shipped from the factory at Schenectady, New York, and is expected to arrive within the next ten days. It will be installed as soon as it arrives and will complete the equipment of a first class light plant, sufficient to supply all the current needed in Wichita Falls.

Caulfield's remains were taken in charge by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, of which the deceased was a member and were embalmed and are now at the Northwest Texas Furniture and Coffin Company's undertaking rooms, awaiting word from the relatives of the deceased.

Caulfield was about 55 years of age and had been in the employ of the Katy road for nearly thirty years. He was a quiet, sober and industrious man and had accumulated a neat fortune, variously estimated at from $30,000 to $75,000. He was a native of Ireland, and his mother and sister living in Dublin, have been notified of his death by cable.

Negro Couple Arrested for Theft.
From Monday's Daily. Marshal Gwinn returned last night from Fort Worth, having in custody a negro named Johnnie Love and a negress known as Bessie Pugh, who are wanted here to answer to the theft of about $40 in cash and a quantity of whiskey from John Prang's saloon on Friday night.

The negro had gained entrance to the saloon by breaking in a door and got the money out of the cash drawer. The negress is believed to have assisted him in the theft and later helped him spend the money and drink the whiskey.

They got out of town Saturday morning, but were arrested on the train going into Fort Worth upon a wire to the Fort Worth officers from the local police.

At the Fort Worth police station a search of the negro couple failed to disclose any money, but when Marshal Gwinn reached Fort Worth Saturday night he directed the woman to take down her hair and when she did so $11, all that remained of the amount stolen, was discovered. Subsequently, Love made a complete confession.

The couple are now lodged at the county jail and it is probable that both will be bound over to the grand jury.

Gets Money for Oklahoma City Line.
From Monday's Daily.

A dispatch from Oklahoma City to the Fort Worth Record says: "G. B. Stone, returning today from a month's trip in England, announces positively that he secured sufficient financial backing to build the road of the Oklahoma and Texas from this city to Wichita Falls, Texas. The purpose of his trip was to interest English capital in the project. The road will tap some of the richest country in the Southwest."

No late advices have been received here from Mr. Stone. Some time ago C. W. Bean, president of the Chamber of Commerce, received a postal card from Mr. Stone, written in Venice, saying that he would arrive at New York the latter part of this month and would at once write in detail concerning the result of his conference with the English and Austrian capitalists. The route of the proposed road lays in a splendid country and liberal encouragement will be given the enterprise all along the line. The people of Wichita Falls are trusting that the report that Mr. Stone has secured the necessary capital to build the line is true and that arrangements can be made to start the construction of the road within the next few months.

A Pleasant Outing.

From Tuesday's Daily. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church had a most delightful outing at Lake Wichita yesterday. According to previous arrangement, at 9 o'clock the good ladies began to collect at the church, bringing with them conveyances, bibbles and baskets. Some, growing impatient, went on, leaving instructions for the rest to follow. When the last vehicle, containing by no means the least occupants, arrived at the lake, it was with genuine delight that they viewed the camp fire burning and the steam rising from a savory chicken stew. Some half-dozen ladies vied with each other in watching the kettle, while one, specially noted for her practical way of doing things, rolled the dumplings on an improvised biscuit board near by.

Ichabod Crane's dream of "dainty slapsacks, well buttered and garnished with honey, by the delicate little dimpled hand of Katrina," together with his future prospect of "fat turkey gobblers, neatly dressed and nesting in huge bowls of gizzard-gravy" could have brought no more genuine pleasure than did the savory odor from the steaming stew, together with that of the motherly coffee pot, sending up its clouds of vapor, bring to those two belated members.

While the sedate matrons mentioned above busied themselves here and there in preparation of this feast, some of the more frivolous minded furnished amusement for the crowd by performing wonderful feats of horsemanship—feats really worthy of more elaborate mention than can possibly be given in the columns of a newspaper.

When dinner was announced and the good things began to disappear, we were again forcibly reminded of the sumptuous meal in the Van Tassel mansion, to which Ichabod did such ample justice.

Dinner over, the president, Mrs. Carigan, called the meeting to order and after transacting the usual business an interesting discussion of the Sunday school lessons for the past quarter was heartily entered into by all present. This was followed by pleasant conversation, interspersed with fruit punch and cake, and the afternoon sped rapidly by. At 5:30 o'clock seventeen tired but light-hearted persons turned their faces homeward, declaring this had been one of the most delightful days in the history of the society.

For Disconsolate Democrats.

Houston Post. For the benefit of those faint hearted democrats of the South who, on account of three successive defeats have almost come to the conclusion that victory is impossible for democracy, The Post prints the following from the Philadelphia Record:

"Mr. Bryan is making more impression upon the public consciousness than he ever did with silverism. Instead of being a mere 'calamity howler' he is stirring the public mind more when business is getting back to its normal tone than he did in 1896, when business was prostrated. He has said many wise things, and he has said nearly everything cleverly, and he has not yet said a single foolish, wild or incendiary thing, which the republicans expected him to do before he had been nominated a fortnight. The republicans were praying for months that Mr. Bryan might be nominated. They had formed a habit of beating him, and if he were the candidate they would simply have to say 'ditto' to 1896 and 1900. Now they find he has the entire democratic party unitedly with him, the business elements are friendly to him as they were to Mr. Cleveland or Judge Parker, and his popularity with republicans in the Middle West has given them a fright. The doubtful States are not those which have usually been democratic, but States that have generally been republican."
And from other conservative sources.

come similar encouraging expressions. Everywhere except in the South democracy is thoroughly aroused and in the fight to win, with enthusiasm growing stronger daily. The republican party has been on the defensive ever since the campaign opened, and recent developments have almost created a panic in their ranks.

As Captain Bill McDonald would say, "Mr. Bryan has got 'em a-milling, and a few more well directed shots will stampede them." Therefore, let the faint-hearted, faithful democrats of Texas take courage, and make ready to join in the shouting. Remember the proverb: "If thou faint in the day of adversity, thy strength is small. If thou sayest, 'Behold, we knew it not;' doth not He that pondereth the heart consider it? And He that keepeth thy soul, doth not He know it? And shall He not render to every man according to his works?"

From Tuesday's Daily. The body of Frank Caulfield is still held at the North Texas Furniture company, no word having yet been received from his relatives.

Mr. Hearst may be all that his enemies charge him with, but the fact remains that even if he does resort to questionable methods to obtain that which he goes after, the public is indebted to him for unearthing and exposing the dishonorable means employed by the Standard Oil trust in securing favorable legislation and evading the laws of different States by the liberal use of money in bribing high officials. The Foraker exposure hits the republicans hard, and if he can prove what he charges against Governor Haskell of Oklahoma, who is a democrat, that party will discard him at once. So far, Haskell has denied, most emphatically, that he was ever in any capacity connected with the Standard Oil company or any of its agents, or at any time ever received a cent of money from or through their agents for any service performed by him. It is now up to Mr. Hearst to prove his charge, or, in this one instance, at least, to publicly acknowledge that he has done a great injury to the man whom the people of Oklahoma have so highly honored, and whom the National democratic campaign committee had sufficient confidence in to make him its treasurer. On the other hand, Senator Foraker of Ohio, by calling in his speaking dates for the National republican ticket, publicly acknowledges that the charge that he accepted bribe money from the oil trust is substantially true.

By a vote of two to one, Amarillo refused to vote a tax of 50 cents on the one hundred dollars valuation and to issue $25,000 worth of bonds for school purposes. There are but two ways to explain the result of such an election. The taxpayers either thought the tax sought to be levied and the bonds voted would not be rightfully used, or else the better element of the city felt too confident that the issues would carry and did not take the trouble to vote, and allowed a few "sore-heads" and "knockers" to secretly club together and vote no schools. This is very unfortunate for Amarillo and no doubt is the direct result of the local option election held there when, by a close vote, the saloons were voted out of the town. There are people who believe that unless a town has open saloons, that fact will kill it, and if the town does not die quick enough to suit them they, by their votes, do what is in their power to make good their prediction or threat to kill the town because a majority of its citizens have decided to close the open saloon.

The government is bringing a strong argument to bear in the matter of good roads when it threatens to abolish established rural routes unless the roads are put in shape so that the carriers can get over them in bad weather as well as in fine. This is bringing the proposition right home to the people of the community through which the roads run. The Herald doubts if the people living along any of these routes would want to see their daily mail privileges taken away and the action of the department certainly ought to bring immediate results.—Denison Herald.

nor was alert to take out of the hands of the attorney general what the attorney general felt was his sworn duty to prevent an alleged instance of the breaking of the laws by the particular great corporation.

"As far as I have seen, Governor Haskell has not even attempted anything which can be called a defense of this action of his. It thus appears that his action was as inexcusable as it was wanton, except on the theory that in defiance of the attorney general of the State and at all hazards he intended, for some reasons of his own, to protect the interests of a great corporation against the law. It has been suggested on his behalf that, after all, he did not favor the Standard Oil company, but merely the Prairie Oil and Gas Company. This claim is disposed of by the testimony of the Standard Oil company itself, taken in the latter part of 1907, in the suit now pending before the United States court at St. Louis against the Standard Oil company. In this testimony, the Standard Oil company, upon being required by the government to put in a list of all companies in which it held stock, or in which its subsidiary companies held stock, reported, among the others, the Prairie Oil company, total capital $10,000,000, of which the National Transit company's proportion was $9,999,500, and furthermore it appears that the National Transit Company had a capital stock of $25,455,200, of which the Standard Oil company owned $25,451,650. In other words, this Prairie Oil and Gas company was owned, all except $500, by the National Transit company, and this National Transit company was owned, all except about $3,550, by the Standard Oil company.

Compares Bryan and Taft.
"Now, contrast your action in this case of Governor Haskell with that of Mr. Taft's action as regards Senator Foraker, as set forth in his letter of July 29, 1907. It was a matter of common notoriety about Senator Foraker, as it has long been a matter of common notoriety about Governor Haskell, that he was the defender and supporter of certain great corporate interests and therefore hostile to the policies on which the administration stood. There was no such convincing proof against Senator Foraker at that time, however, as there was against Governor Haskell, when, as you say, he was, with your approval, made treasurer of your campaign committee."

Here's A Pretty Sure Coffee Test

Some morning when you are a little out of sorts, lack appetite and feel off color, notice whether the coffee odor in the kitchen smells good to you.

Then, when you get to the table, see if it tastes good—flavor is the main thing in coffee. If you leave any coffee in your cup you can depend upon it that either your coffee was not made right or that it was not up to standard grade, probably the latter.

Coffee should be and is a great appetite producer. Our REVERE Brand is, because its flavor is first carefully arranged for by a most careful blend, and then it is properly developed by careful roasting.

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS.

WHO SHOULD KEEP THE PUBLIC ROADS UP?

The following communication, addressed to the Times for publication, was received by this paper this morning:

Wichita Falls, Tex., Sept. 17, 1908.
 Editor Times—Is it anybody's business to work the public roads? Everybody who has been on the Burkburdett road in wet weather this year will agree that it is no one's business to work it. Within a mile of the city limits the water stands like a lake for forty yards for several days after a rain. It is now almost axle-deep in mud from the last rain and was in this condition all the wet spell this year. It is impossible for heavy hauling to be done over it in such a condition.

I understand that the commissioner has agreed to work it. Is it not to the interest of the business men of Wichita Falls to take an interest in the matter with the heavy fall trade in view?

TAXPAYER.

In reply to the above the Times will say to Taxpayer that it is the duty of our county commissioners' court to levy and collect a sufficient tax to keep the public roads in reasonable good condition. That this has not been done is very evident and the blame for this neglect should be lodged where it properly belongs. It is false economy to allow our public roads to get in the condition that many of them leading into this city are now reported to be in. Apparently the county authorities seem to have looked to the business men of Wichita Falls to keep these roads in good repair, and Taxpayer evidently shares in that opinion. The fact of the business is that Wichita Falls pays fully one-third of the tax of the county, and her business men pay three-fourths of this tax, and when they do this it occurs to the Times that the business men of Wichita Falls have done their full part towards paying the expense of keeping up the roads, and it would be a rank injustice to expect them to "dig up" every time a road gets in bad condition. The fact of the business is that our business men have had so many calls made upon them for money with which to support institutions for which a regular tax should have been levied and collected on the whole people of the county to support that they are getting just a little bit sore. Wichita county taxpayers are a liberal minded people, and do not expect private citizens to contribute to their individual funds to keep up and maintain the public roads. That is a matter for our commissioners court to handle, and if it has not been handled properly, don't blame the business men of Wichita Falls for the neglect.

Salisbury Springs News—We heard a republican say a few days ago that if Bryan is elected it will be by the force of his character and not because of the principles of democracy. This was quite a concession for a republican to make, yet it is fortunate that democracy has such a character leading her in these days of corrupt men.

Clifton Record—The above paragraph appeared in a little daily a few miles south of Temple a few days ago. We have often heard that minds of great men run in the same channel, and since two editors run the above as original matter, we are inclined to believe it.

These editorial paragraphs that appear in different papers at the same time are the product of one man and one mind. He is an exceedingly clever writer, and often the Times sees proper to reproduce some of his brightest gems, but seeing that they appear in more than one paper at the same time their identity is disclosed and the only credit that can properly be given is "Ex." Many papers object to this method of giving credit for some real meritorious article, but so long as editors of reputable newspapers continue to make use of the matter dashed off by penny-lance editorial writers as original matter the only real safe plan to pursue is to credit every editorial article clipped from such papers to "Ex." and let it go at that. State Press in the Dallas News, saw fit to generally censure a paper for crediting a real good editorial article clipped from one of Texas' best papers to "Ex." but the censure was not justified. The article, doubtless, was the product of the editor of the paper, but he had fallen into the habit of running this "penny-lance" editorial stuff along with his own, and the editor of the other paper, with the lights before him, was perfectly justified in eyeing it with suspicion, and to be on the safe side credited it to an exchange.

Odds on the presidential contest have dropped from 6 to 1 to 2 to 1 in favor of Taft, and before the middle of next week it is freely predicted on Wall street that it will be even money. It is thought this lowering of the betting odds is due largely to the exposure William R. Hearst has made, when he produced letters showing that John D. Archbold, active head of the Standard Oil Company, had paid Senator Foraker the sum of $29,500 for services rendered the company while serving in the United States senate. Foraker is scheduled to speak from the same platform with Taft at Cincinnati and the latest telegraphic information is to the effect that Foraker will be asked to withdraw as one of the speakers.

BODY WAS SEVERED

MANGLED REMAINS OF "PAT" TAYLOR FOUND ON TRACK NEAR DENVER DEPOT.

NO ONE SAW ACCIDENT

Man Believed to Have Been Attempting to Board Freight When He Was Killed.

From Tuesday's Daily.
Last night about 1:20, just after southbound freight No. 20 had pulled out, the body of a man was found lying on Denver track No. 1, just opposite the freight depot. From all appearances, he had attempted to catch the outgoing freight and missed his hold, falling between the cars and was literally ground to pieces. The body was cut in two just above the waist line, both hands were cut off near the wrists and from bits of clothing scattered along the track, it was apparent that he had been dragged twenty or thirty feet.
An inquest was held this morning by Justice Brothers and from cards of various carpenters' unions found on his person, among them Tulsa, San Antonio and Beaumont, it was learned that the unfortunate man's name was Pat Taylor and that he was about 50 years of age. No further evidence of identity was found. The body was placed in Jackson Bros. morgue and will be interred this afternoon.

ABOUT COFFEE

Some palates crave the strongest Rio, while others the oily richness of straight Mocha and Java alone will satisfy, and many others, without doubt the greatest number of people who drink ONE PARTICULAR KIND OF COFFEE, will have no other than VIENNA BLEND COFFEE. 35c per pound, or 3 pounds for $1.00. Put up in air-tight tins only. This is not as sharp as Rio nor as heavily rich as all Mocha and Java. It is between the two. That's the secret of its popularity. Its Golden Brown Color and fragrance bespeaks the superior quality of the Coffees used in blending it. The great quantity sold naturally hints that many have faith in its goodness, doesn't it? You will, too, once you try it.

DEMOCRATS ARE JOYFUL REPUBLICANS ARE NERVOUS

Special to the Times.
New York, Sept. 21.—The Herald has this from Chicago:

Coming to Chicago from the East, where the paramount issue for weeks has been whether Governor Hughes would be renominated, one is struck with the changed conditions in this Western territory that has come about in a month. There are several things that stand out conspicuously. One is the republican chill. Another is the republican nervousness, another is the republican inactivity. Another is the republican incapacity to get together. And another is that it is still the republican plan of campaign, as it was in August, to rest on the coars and assume that the Roosevelt pluralities were so large four years ago that no matter what strength Mr. Bryan may show he cannot top the crest of that wave in getting democrats back into his party.

Democrats are Jubilant.

Looking over the democratic side of the fence, one is impressed with the jubilant air of campaign managers at the Western headquarters. Whether they are "together" or not, the democrats are giving the impression that they are fighting shoulder to shoulder. They seize on everything and magnify it. They are glorying in the fact that each week brings a new State that the republicans admit has suddenly become clouded with doubt, first, as to how the State ticket will fare, and second, as to how the electoral ticket will run.

They are laughing at the lead Mr. Bryan has over Mr. Taft as a campaigner. They are hoping that the republican candidate will meet Mr. Bryan in joint debate. They profess to have nothing but good news to offset the bad news which is concealed by their more frank and candid brethren in the republican headquarters, and they are generally creating the impression that Mr. Bryan has much more than a fighting chance. Some of them are electing Bryan on the face of the outlook on this, the 20th day of September, 1908.

Admittedly, the presidential battle line is flung much further afield today than it was several weeks ago, when the other campaign map issued

The Herald last Sunday was sent to press.

New Doubtful States.

New States have come into the doubtful column, and new States are being added to the list of surprise States, and it became necessary to revise the table of States that Bryan and Taft are reasonably sure to get, and to make a new classification of the number of votes each will have to gain from the doubtful States in order to get the necessary 242 votes in the electoral college.

It should be said, before making this classification, that the data on which it is based come from both republican and democratic sources. That is to say, there is no question in the minds of either democrats or republicans that the classification based on conditions today is correct.

The Herald last Sunday presented the situation as it appeared to un-biased observers at a given time about three weeks before as follows:

Total vote in electoral college, 483.
Necessary to elect a president, 242.
Republican reasonably sure, 206.
Democratic reasonably sure, 161.
Doubtful, 116.
Taft to win must get (doubtful votes) 36.
Bryan to win must get (doubtful votes) 81.

The situation today appears to be as follows:

Total vote in electoral college, 483.
Necessary to elect a president, 242.
Republican reasonably sure, 165.
Democratic reasonably sure, 161.
Doubtful, 157.
Republicans to win must get (doubtful votes) 77.
Democrats to win must get (doubtful votes) 81.

The States which have slipped into the doubtful column since the notification of Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan, while Mr. Bryan has been at concert pitch in the Middle West and has invaded the East, and while Mr. Taft has been playing golf at Hot Springs and fishing at Middle Bass island and making up his mind what to do are given as follows, with the number of votes each has in the electoral college:

Kansas 10, North Dakota 4, Ohio 23, Oregon 4. Total 41.

Only a Salute.
"One of our early lawyers had a murder case to defend," said a Montana official, "and he had a hard case. When it came time to sum up he asked permission to take a recess for ten minutes, and during that ten minutes he went over to the hotel to get an inspiration. When he came back he walked out in front of the jury and said: 'As regards to this case, this is the greatest country on which the sun ever shone. We are the greatest people. We have the greatest destiny. Why, gentlemen, every time one of the ships of our glorious navy sails into the ports of the world with the stars and stripes flying every ship of that power fires a salute from great cannon in her honor, and gentlemen of the jury, if you listen to what the secondarily opposition of this man has to say you are about to incarcerate in prison or hang by the neck my poor, unfortunate client simply because he on one occasion fired one small revolver shot at a man who unfortunately died on that occasion.'—Saturday Evening Post.

The Editor on Carelessness.

"Yes," said the editor as he put his gun brush into the ink bottle and tried to paste on a clipping with his pen, "yes, the great fault of newspaper contributors is carelessness."

"Indeed," he continued as he dropped the copy he had been writing into the wastebasket and marked "Editorial" across the corner of a poem entitled "An Ode to Death," "contributors are terribly careless."

"You would be surprised," said he as he clipped out a column of fashion notes and labeled them "Farm," "to see the slipshod writing that comes into the editorial sanctum."

"Misspelled, unpunctuated, written on both sides of the sheet, illegible, ungrammatical stuff. Contributors are terribly careless. They are—"

Just then the office boy came in with that dictatorial and autocratic manner he has and demanded more copy, and the editor handed him the love letter he had just written to his sweetheart. —London Globe.

Queen Caroline's Pastime.

Queen Caroline, wife of King George IV. of England, with whom she was on the worst possible terms, is described in "The Diary of a Lady in Waiting," written by Lady Charlotte Bury. The queen seems to have tried witchcraft on the king. Lady Charlotte writes on one occasion: "After dinner her royal highness made a wax figure, as usual, and gave it an amiable addition of large horns, then took three pins out of her garments and stuck them through and through and put the figure to roast and melt at the fire. If it was not too melancholy to have to do with this, I could have died of laughing. She indulges in this amusement whenever there are no strangers at the table, and some think her royal highness really has a superstitious belief that destroying this effigy of her husband will bring to pass the destruction of his royal person. What a silly piece of spite! Yet it is impossible not to laugh when one sees it done."

Just Like a Lazy Man.

An elderly gentleman, who would rather sleep late than eat the most attractive breakfast, was leisurely wending his way toward the subway when he was accosted by a breathless woman.

"Oh, mister, a lot of toughs are beating a hurdy gurdy man to death. Can't you help?"

"Where?"

"Right around the corner. Oh, please come with me!"

The late sleeper peered through his gold rimmed glasses at the complainant and asked:

"Is he a very big burdy gurdy man?"

"Oh, no, sir! He's a very small man."

"Then surely, my good woman, they can't need any help from me."—New York Press.

Doomsday Book.

The Doomsday Book is a British institution. It is a book of the general survey of England, commenced in the reign of William I. (the Conqueror) about 1080, some say about 1086. It was intended to be a "register to determine the right in the tenure of estates, to discover the extent of any man's land, to fix his homage, and to settle the question of the military aid he was bound to furnish."

Won Every Time.

"Have you ever loved and lost?" sighed the swain.

"Nope," responded the maiden promptly. "I've won every breach of promise suit I ever brought."—Cleveland Leader.

Amusing.

Hiram Greene—What did your sister say when you told her I was going to make a speech in the town hall tonight? Willie—She didn't say nothin'. She just laughed till she had hysterics!

Every Non-Progressive Merchant Becomes Your Competitor When You Cease to Advertise

WHEN a merchant "slows up" in his advertising, and concludes to "save a little money" in that direction, then the merchant who never had the courage and foresight to advertise adequately BECOMES A REAL COMPETITOR. Even the merchant who never advertises at all reaps a certain amount of profit from the "slowing up" process of the live store. Not many merchants, of course, who have at any time set the pace for progressive advertising, will be content to take a backward plunge into the company of the non-progressives, of the LITTLE MERCHANTS, the easily satisfied ones, the un-awakes! But that is just what the "live one" does when he imagines that his advertising is costing too much, and that its curtailment means saving. If business conditions ever suggest retrenchment in advertising, the wise merchant knows that this should be interpreted as a signal for "full speed ahead," for redoubled efforts to WIN the business that does not come so easily as usual. :: :: :: :: :: :: ::
