

ORCHARD AGAIN UPON THE WITNESS STAND

SEEK TO IMPEACH

ATTACKS OF RICHARDSON LEAVE WITNESS UNSHAKEN.

STORY STANDS TEST

Much Depends Upon Steve Adams. Whose Corroboration Will Make or Destroy the Fabric.

By Associated Press.

Boise, Idaho, June 18.—The Haywood trial was resumed today. Harry Orchard was recalled and examined for impeachment by Attorney Richardson. It became evident from the questions that the defense proposed to bring witnesses to prove that Orchard had for years nursed a vengeful spite against Stuenenberg and had repeatedly made threats to kill him. Orchard testified that he had said to Max Mallich in June or July of 1905 that he was going to kill Stuenenberg even if he had to swing for it, or that he said to Mallich that Stuenenberg was mean, and had it not been for him he (Orchard) would have become a millionaire from his sixteenth interest in the Hercules mine, which he sold because Stuenenberg drove him out of it. Orchard also denied that he had made similar threats to Lottie in Denver or in the presence of "Kid" Waters and others of Crisp Creek.

Letters and Telegrams Identified.

When the State took Orchard for direct examination, J. H. Hawley brought out the testimony that he had his interest in the Hercules mine in March, 1897, prior to the troubles of the Coeur d'Alene. Orchard identified a copy of a letter received by him at Caldwell soon after his arrest for the murder of Stuenenberg. The copy had been made by Deputy J. T. Nichols, who had previously testified to this effect and that the original was destroyed by Orchard before he had read it. The letter was as follows:

"Dear Tom: I have received yours and have sent that to Jackson. I hope to hear from you as to your movements and that you will be successful."

There was no signature.

Orchard said in his direct examination the letter was from Pettibone. A copy of a telegram from Spokane to Nichols was also identified by Nichols. It said: "Attorney Fred will start for Caldwell in the morning." Nichols had testified that he had not sent the telegram to Pettibone before receiving one. Orchard testified that he had not made arrangements with Miller, but that in October, 1905, Stuenenberg told him that if he got into any trouble the firm of Stuenenberg of which Miller was a partner would be good attorneys.

Conspiracy Against Mrs. Orchard.

The State produced a number of letters written by the witness and one written by Haywood, the purpose of which was to show there was a conspiracy to deceive Mrs. Orchard in the summer of 1905 as to the whereabouts of Orchard. The defense attempted to introduce a letter written by Stuenenberg on re-direct examination, but the court ruled that if improper on re-direct examination, he would permit the State to re-open its examination.

ANOTHER NEW ENTERPRISE.

Wichita Falls to Have an Automobile Line.

The Wills Automobile Company is the style of Wichita Falls' latest and newest enterprise, which was organized today, with the election of the following officers: Ira L. Wills, president; H. M. Hughes, secretary and treasurer; John Tubbs, manager. A charter has been applied for and the company is already in receipt of a full carload of the celebrated Buick machines, said to be the best general purpose machine on the market.

It is the purpose of this company to operate a regular line of autos in the city and to all parts of the country. On Sundays regular trips will be made to Lake Wichita, enabling all those who do not feel able to hire a team for all day to spend the day on the banks of the largest and most beautiful body of water in this part of Texas.

The company will also make a business of caring for machines belonging to other parties and will have in its employ a competent man to do all necessary repair work.

The garage will be located at the rear of the Coleman-Lysaght-Blair wholesale grocery house.

The manager, Mr. Tubbs, is an expert automobile man, and understands thoroughly both the mechanism and operating of autos.

The Times is glad to make mention of this new enterprise, as it is not only a splendid advertisement for Wichita Falls, but affords the general public, including newspaper men, an opportunity of taking an occasional spin in an auto car without having to own the machine.

Was Speed of Train When Coaches are Overturned and Passengers Wonder Why They Are Alive.

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, June 18.—Big Four passenger train No. 19, the fastest passenger train upon the New York Central lines, went through an open switch today in the northern part of the city and is now lying on its side along the track, while the passengers are wondering why they were not killed. The train was rushing along at about fifty miles an hour when it struck the switch and the passengers were thrown in every direction. The engineer stuck to his post and was uninjured. Fireman Mahaffey jumped and is probably fatally hurt. Four passengers were badly injured and many received scratches or slight bruises. The through sleepers were wrecked, but did not catch fire. Officials believe that the switch was either tampered with or carelessly left open.

ARE AGAINST BRYAN

ORGANIZED EFFORT TO DEFEAT HIM FOR PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION NEXT YEAR.

SOUTH LOOKED TO FOR AID

Part of Plan is to Make it Appear He Will Fight for Nomination.

New York, June 18.—The Herald prints the following special dispatch from Washington:

On the political horizon are a few indications that the Democratic party may give the country something to talk about before it nominates a candidate for president next year. The organized effort to wean the south from William J. Bryan is the most pronounced of these indications at this time. As a part of this movement to persuade the Southern Democrats to call for a new man, an attempt is to be made to induce some of the more influential of the Northern states to refrain from recklessly instructing delegates to the National convention. Those Democrats who have enlisted in the anti-Bryan movement seem to have an idea that if they can get the South to hold off from Bryan and can induce States like New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio to remain non-committal until the convention meets, there will be some show of preventing the nomination of Bryan.

It is true that some of these States, caught up by the Bryan wave of popular sentiment that swept over the country while the "peerless leader" was traveling abroad, indorsed him as the party's candidate next year, but it is the judgment of the anti-Bryan people that these resolutions are not binding. The representatives of the party who have started to keep Bryan out of the nomination, if possible, assert that the party now represents a "clean slate;" that is, it is not committed to any candidate. If States are to speak out for any particular man, it is pointed out, the time to speak will be when the conventions are held next spring to choose delegates to the National convention. The fact that a State declared for Bryan last year or two years ago is no reason why it should feel bound to select a Bryan delegation next year, it is argued.

It is fairly well understood here that it is a part of the plan of the anti-Bryan forces to make it appear that Bryan will not fight for the nomination. Some utterances of his own on his return from the trip around the world are pointed to in support of this contention. He indicated on his return from abroad that he would not be the candidate of his party again unless his party unanimously wished him to run. Within the last week or ten days the anti-Bryan people have caused stories to be printed to the effect that the Nebraskan had about made up his mind to keep out of the race. This is a case of the wish being father to the thought. From sources here that are authorized to speak for Bryan it is learned that he has not authorized anyone to say that he may decide to refuse to stand for the nomination. His position, it is asserted, is just what it was when he returned from abroad—if his party desires him to lead it again, he will respond to the call; if it shall decide that some other man will make a better race, well and good, provided the "right" wing of the party names the man.

"Bryan may not be nominated; his name may not go before the convention," said one of his friends here today, "but he will fight to the last to prevent the coterie of Eastern Democrats that got control of the convention three years ago from gaining control of the convention next year. I shall not be surprised to see him draw out of the race in the next six months and, as a Democrat who will not accept office, go out and make a fight against the efforts of his enemies to get control of the convention. Whom would he support under such circumstances? Possibly he would suggest some live Democrat from the Middle West, if such a man can be found. You may rest assured that he does not intend to remain idle when he becomes convinced that there is real danger of the South joining with the East in a movement to nominate a candidate picked by the crowd of Eastern Democrats that picked Parker in the last campaign."

OLD SETTLER.

Did you ever notice how different people act under emergency? Especially when confronted with danger, on the spur of the moment, when there is no time for preparation, the true nature of man comes to the surface, and he is liable to perform some astounding stunts.

That reminds me, in September 1879, a half dozen cowboys and the Old Settler, were camped on the bank of North Prong, four miles Southeast of where the town of Albany now stands.

After locating a cozy place under a grove of elms, the cook announced that the outfit was shy on meat and, if we were hungry, it was necessary to get a hustle on us and kill one of the Boss' yearlings for supper.

Two of the boys rode their ponies out to where a bunch of cattle were grazing and cut out a fat calf, drove it to camp and butchered it in a tree near the fire.

The conversation at supper was devoted to canvassing the probability of thralling down and killing a large Cougar that had been seen in the vicinity for the past month, as evidenced by the remains of a number of suckling calves found up and down the stream.

The air being chilly, the boys made a grand spread, that is, they put their blankets in one large bed and snuggled up to keep warm.

During the midnight hour, "friendliest to sleep and silence," the old hound, curled on the edge of the blankets, gave an ominous snuff followed by an angry bark, as he dashed bravely out toward where the carcass of the calf hung on the tree.

For the briefest part of a moment there was a low whining noise, followed by a piercing squall, mixed with the sharp yelps of the hound as he came bounding back to where the cowboys lay, closely pursued by the Cougar. Say, there was the damndest mixup of cowboys, blankets, Cougar and hound, that you ever heard of. It is hard to tell which was scared the worst. The Cougar gave an agonized screech and disappeared like a yellow streak in the night; two of the boys jumped into a deep hole of water and had to swim out; the remainder took to their heels and skedaddled; the hound had sat on his tail and howled. It was almost daylight before the camp became quiet again.

small schoolroom and a big playroom, with dolls and doll houses, child's toys of every description in abandon, as though their owner were in fact but a few years old. Across the hall were three offices, exact duplicates of mine, Bob's, and Beulah Sands' at Randolph & Randolph's. When I first saw them it was with difficulty that I brought myself to realize that I was not where the gruesome happenings of a year before had taken place. Bob had reproduced to the minutest details our down-town workshop. Standing in the door of Beulah Sands' office I faced the flat desk at which she had sat the afternoon when I first saw that hideous result of the work of the "System." I could almost see the little gray figure holding the afternoon paper. In horror my eyes sought the floor at the side of the chair in search of Bob's agonized face and uplifted hands. As I stood for the first time in the middle of Bob's handiwork, I seemed to hear again those awful groans.

"Jim," Bob said, "I have a haunting idea that some day Beulah will wake and look around and think she has been but a few minutes asleep. If she should, she must have nothing to disabuse her mind until we break the news to her. I have instructed her nurses, one or the other of whom never loses sight of her night or day, to win her to the habit of spending her time at her old desk; I have told them always to be prepared for her awakening, and when it comes they are instantly to shut off the rest of the floor and house until I can get to her. Here comes Beulah now."

Out of the nursery came a laughing,

For half an hour Bob sat and played scholar and teacher by turns with all the patience of a fond father. With difficulty I kept back the tears the sad sight brought to my eyes.

For the first year of Bob's marriage we saw but little of him at the office. The Exchange saw less. He had wandered in upon the floor two or three times, but did no business and seemed to take but little interest.

"The Street" knew Bob had married the daughter of Judge Lee Sands, the victim of Tom Reinhart's cold-blooded Seaboard Air Line deal. Otherwise it knew nothing of the affair. His friends never met his wife. Occasionally they would pass the Brownley carriage on the avenue or in the park and, taking it for granted that the beautiful woman was Mrs. Brownley, they thought Bob a lucky fellow. It seemed quite natural that his wife should choose seclusion after the awful tragedy at her home in Virginia. But they could not understand why, with such cause for mourning, the exquisite figure beside Bob in the victoria should always be garbed in gray. After a while it was whispered that there was something wrong in Bob's household. Then his friends and acquaintances ceased to whisper or to think of his affairs. With all New York's bad points—and they are as plentiful as her church spires and charity bazaars—she has one offsetting virtue. If a dweller in her midst chooses to let New York alone, New York is willing to reciprocate. In her most crowded fashionable districts a person may come and go for a lifetime, and none in the block in which he dwells will know what he does.

"Where Can I Find Liberty?"

happy child-woman. In spite of her finely developed, womanly figure, which had lost nothing of its wonderful beauty, and the exquisite face and golden-brown hair and great blue eyes, which were as fascinating as on the day she first entered the offices of Randolph & Randolph; in spite of the close-fitting gray gown with dainty turned-over lace collar, I could hardly bring myself to believe that she was anything but a young child. With an eager look and a happy laugh she went to Bob and throwing her arms about his neck, covered his face with kisses.

"Good Bob has come back to play with Beulah," she said, "she knew he would. They told Beulah Bob had gone away to the woods to gather pretty flowers. Beulah knew if Bob had gone to the woods he would have taken Beulah with him. Now Bob must play school with Beulah." She sat at her desk and opened her child's schoolbook. With mock severity she said, "Bob said, What does a child's and going coasts. When a New Yorker reads in his newspaper of the man who lives next door to him, "murdered and his body discovered by the gas man" or the tax collector, the butcher or the baker, as the case may be, he never thinks he may have been remiss in his neighborly duties.

There is no such word as "neighbor" in the New York city dictionary. It may have been there once, but, if so, it was long ago used as a stake for the barbed-wire fence of exclusive keep-your-distance-and-we-keep-your-distance-until-we-know-youness. It is told of a minister from the rural districts, an old-fashioned American, who came to New York to take charge of a parish, that he started out to make calls and was seized in the hall of what in civilization would have been his next-door neighbor. He was rushed away to Bellevue for examination as to his sanity. The verdict was: "Insane. Had no letter of introduction and was not in the set."

Law Rigidly Observed and Town May Yet Be Tighter.
The lid in Wichita Falls appears to have been hermetically sealed and double-riveted, padlocked and the keys thrown away.
This was the thought of a traveling salesman who spent last Sunday here. He came in on a late train and did not learn that the reform wave had swept over Wichita Falls until he attempted to purchase a cigar Sunday morning.
There was never a more quiet Sunday in the city. The only thing that could be purchased was ice cream and the fine distinction was made that no flavoring or "dope" could be put on the cream in the dish.
Next Sunday promises to be even more quiet and the lid will settle even closer than on last Sunday, for some of the confectionery and drug store men are saying that they will not open their doors at all next Sunday.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

Real Estate Recommended for Salary Employe Who Wishes a Competence.

At a recent meeting of the Bankers and Bank Clerks' Association of Pittsburg, one of the leading financiers of that city made an address on the various kinds of investments that were open to the young man of limited means who desired to acquire wealth, and after describing the various kinds of bond investment that returned a favorable percentage of interest, spoke as follows on the stability and profit to be obtained from investments in real estate.

"A difficult task is set me, as circumstances under which young men commence life are so widely varied. But I think that more men fail in the investment of what they earn or receive than in any other way to acquire property. The temptations to speculate are so great, and the desire to become suddenly rich so strong that I believe that eight out of ten, if not more, of young men are wrecked at the very beginning.

If a young man is earning something more than the expense of his living, and has no object in view, he is likely either to increase those expenses carelessly or to loan his money to his friends, and in so doing in the majority of cases he will lose both money and friends. So that the best thing that he can do is to have an object gather up his money and to have a call for it. He makes no investment because, he says, 'I have got so little money that it won't come to anything; I will wait till I get more,' and in waiting generally what he has goes.

"When a young man has a very little let him buy some property, preferably a piece, however small, according to his means, of improved real estate that is paying rent, paying in cash what he can, giving his notes for the balance in small sums due at frequent intervals, secured by a mortgage on the property, and then use all of his extra income in paying up these notes. It is always safe to discount your own notes, and if the notes come a little too fast, as soon as he gets anything paid his friends will aid him when he is putting his money where it cannot be lost and where the property is taking care of the interest, and in a very short time he will find that he has got a very considerable investment.

WILL LEAVE STATE

ANNOUNCED THAT COMPANIES WILL LEAVE THE STATE.

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Many Companies Will Discontinue Business in Texas on July 11th.

Special to the Times.
Dallas, Tex., June 18.—Following a conference at New York between the managers of the non-resident life insurance companies doing business in Texas, Maurice E. Locke, attorney for most of the larger companies, yesterday announced definitely that all of the larger companies will withdraw from Texas on July 11, and will not continue to do business in this State. Some of them have already transferred their records to points outside the State, and have removed their office fixtures and sublet their offices.

The cause for this action is the professed inability of the companies to comply with what is known as the Robertson bill, passed at the last session of the Legislature, which will go into effect July 12. This bill requires companies doing business in Texas to deposit 75 per cent of the reserves on Texas business in the State depositories. It also requires a tax of 1 per cent on gross premiums collected.

Many people fear that the effect of this withdrawal will mean a financial contraction, and an enormous loss to Texas. On January 1 there were over thirty foreign companies with permits to do business in Texas. While all of them are not direct investors, their funds are so invested as to foster enterprises which make the State great.

In statements issued by the representatives and agents of the companies yesterday it was declared in most instances that policies now held in Texas will not be impaired. Premiums will be payable in most cases at the home office of the company.

The following companies have issued statements: Washington Life, Mutual Life of New York, Northwestern Mutual, Equitable Life, Penn Mutual, Manhattan Life, Massachusetts Life and Home Life.

Why Do You Like COFFEE?

We take it for granted that you do, but it is very likely that you cannot tell off-hand why you like it, except that it is good.

Just why it is good may puzzle you somewhat, but to assist you in selecting the kind you want the following information may be of interest to you.

The looks of the coffee has very little to do with the quality of it, for it is not the bean itself that satisfies your coffee appetite.

The bean is composed of a large number of little cells, invisible to the naked eye, but which contain the essential oil.

Before the Coffee is roasted these little cells are not worth anything, but they contain the oil, that after being roasted to a certain point produces the flavor which makes coffee a delightful drink. There are therefore, two things which must be watched in buying coffee:

1st. To get a blend of growths which shall contain just the right kind of oil, and second, to have that blend so roasted so as to make the rich mellow flavor which you like so well our Spurr's Concord is especially recommended to suit your taste, packed in 1 pound bags at 25 cents per pound. Or better still, Spurr's Revere Mocha and Java in two pound tins at 75c per can. All we ask is a trial of either, the coffee will do the rest.

INCREASED VALUES

PLACED ON BOTH FARM LANDS AND CITY PROPERTY.

RATE WILL BE LOWERED

And a Great Majority of Property Owners Will Pay the Same Amount of Taxes.

The Commissioners Court finished their work as a board of equalization last Saturday and adjourned to meet Monday, July 1, to hear reasons why property should not be raised.

While some property was not raised any above last year, some but little above last year, and some considerable more than last year, it is estimated that the total increase over last year will be about one half to three quarters of a million. The county tax rate will be reduced so that most people will pay about the same taxes as now.

Town property is assessed at about 60 per cent of what it would bring at forced sale, and farm lands at about 50 per cent of what they would bring at forced sale. The Court carefully examined every assessment and tried to make the burden of taxation equal upon all. About 200 notices of raises will be mailed to tax payers from the clerk's office this week.

Chafe Short, C. W. Hess, Clint M. Hess and S. G. Stalnaker, all of Chico, Texas, arrived in this city this afternoon. They will be joined tonight by J. S. Riddle and T. B. Maxwell, also of Chico. They will leave tomorrow for Burkburnett. Messrs. Riddle and Maxwell attended the auction sale there and bought business lots. They have returned and brought their friends with them and will spend several days looking over the country. All of them intend to locate near there if they can find lands that suit them.

Sheriff Davis was busy this evening gathering a jury for the county court now in session, but he took time to mention to a reporter the fact that the delinquent tax people were "coming across" very nicely. The greater part of them, Mr. Davis says, have paid up all right and only a few are going to have to be forced by attaching their property. The delinquent tax list is growing less, the values are being raised and the county is in fine shape financially.

By Associated Press. New York, June 18.—Charles P. Neill, United States Labor Commissioner, is expected to arrive in New York today to investigate the threatened strike of the telegraphers against the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies. It is said that Neill will hear both sides and report to President Roosevelt. The telegraphers contend that only a few favorites received the ten per cent increase which the company promised to give on March 1, while more than ninety per cent of the men are getting less than before that date.

Big Demand for Mules.

Special to the Times. Fort Worth, Tex., June 18.—Trade in equine stock on the local horse and mule market during the week has continued rather quiet on most grades. Demand has called chiefly for big, heavy mules for railroad and logging purposes, medium grades of farm chinks, and good drivers, outgoing shipments having included little of any other class. In the mule trade, though demand is hardly of an active character, there is outlet for larger supplies than have been available, an order for 14 1/2 to 15 hand mules for Cuban export going over unfilled. Prices are holding to a very firm basis, but buyers in the country report work stock very hard to buy at any figure, farm work having been delayed and piled up on account of recent rainy weather and farmers are disinclined to entertain any thought of selling their farm horses and mules at present. A feature of the week's trade was the purchase by Price & Standifer of Clifton of a carload of extra good large mules, among the best ever going from this market. These mules were destined for work on the coal road now under construction from Wichita Falls to Young county, and were taken by road to Wichita Falls, being too fat for immediate service. A load of good logger mules was shipped to Nacogdoches, a car of good drivers to Abilene, and a few shipments of farm horses and mares were made.

Amarillo, Tex., June 18.—(Special.) The Amarillo White Sox have organized and are ready to play with any club in Texas. They expect to take a road trip early in July, playing some of the strongest teams in Central Texas. Howard and Ivey, utility men.

The team will open up the season here Sunday with the strong P. V. & N. E. club as opponents.

repudiated the whole story of his crimes. He declared that it was obtained on promises of immunity and under threats of death. The friends of the federation now believe that Adams will never again go to the side of the prosecution.

Even the most bitterly partisan of the side of the prosecution admit that the evidence thus far to corroborate the testimony of Orchard is weak, so far as the guilt of Haywood for the Steunenberg murder is concerned. The evidence has all pointed to the guilt of Orchard, but that issue was never in dispute.

The Idaho statutes on the importance of the testimony of a conspirator are explicit. They provide that the outside corroborative evidence must of itself be sufficient to convict, so that under the law the Orchard testimony amounts to little. So far, the entire case of the State rests on the Orchard testimony so completely that the friends of the defendant say today that if the case went to the jury now the verdict would have to be acquittal under the law.

Case Now Revolves Around Adams.

It is because of this situation that it is considered probable the State has yet something important to introduce. Is it the testimony or the confession of Steve Adams? There appears little doubt that the case now revolves around Adams.

It is the belief of the attorneys for the defense that Adams will refuse to be sworn as a witness. Indeed, it is no secret that such is the programme of the defense. If Adams refuses to take oath he cannot be put on the witness stand either to confirm or deny his former confession.

If he went on the stand and repudiated his confession, or refused to testify, it would open up an avenue for the prosecution to get his confession before the jury. If he refuses to take the oath he can be committed to jail for contempt of court, but he is already in jail, with no prospect of regaining his liberty. The friends of the defendant assert that Adams is ready to "go the limit" and that the prospect of another sentence for contempt of court does not worry him. The possibility of the attorneys for the defense also being committed for contempt have been carefully considered.

This phase of the case was put to Senator Borah a few days ago. He smiled and said he knew the program, but the State expected to get the confession before the jury just the same. That was as far as Senator Borah would go, but he wore a confident smile when the name of Adams was mentioned. It is possible that the prosecution has got Adams and that the attorneys for the State are leading the defense, intending to play Adams as the trump card. After Adams made his confession he was more talkative than Orchard. He told his story to at least half a dozen persons. He went to Colorado with Bulky Wells and pointed where he stood when he shot Arthur Collins through a window. He showed where he buried the shotgun and it was dug up. He pointed out where he buried the "Pettibone dope" at Pocatello, where he was sent by Haywood to burn up a train of nonunion miners at that point. He made no secret of his crimes, and he is credited with having killed three more men than did Orchard.

Thought Miners Had Deserted Him.

At the time Adams was giving this information he believed that he had been deserted by the Western Federation of Miners. Many attempts were made to reach him in the penitentiary, and the first word the Federation got to him was through an ex-convict, who had been released after completing his sentence. As soon as Adams learned that the organization was with him he

TEXANS IN CHICAGO

BIG BANKS IMPRESSIVE

R. E. Huff Tells in an Interesting Letter of the Doings of the Texans in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., June 10, 1907.

Editor Times:

Fred Frey of Clifton, asserts so vehemently that the Clifton people went to church last night with the rest of the good people from El Paso, that I am willing to concede that they may have been there, as there were some churches where none of our Wichita people went, but none of us saw the Cliftoner at the "church of their choice" as laid down in the itinerary of the trip.

Monday morning our party scattered for about two hours visiting the various banks and other points of interest; many going through the First National Bank of Chicago, which has more names on its books than any bank in America, works the largest force of employes and has more deposits than any bank in America except two banks in New York City.

These two have more deposits but do not come up with it in a number of depositors, nor in amount of correspondence.

There are so many banks in Chicago that do an immense business that we can not mention all of them without printing the Chicago pages of a bank directory.

From the highest official of these largest banks down to the humblest employe, we were treated with the utmost consideration and received with cordial welcome.

At about 11:30 a. m. the gentlemen of the party accepted the invitation of the Packing houses to visit the stock yards, slaughter pens, cooling house and other departments of their immense establishments. We were shown through the yards, seeing some of the finest specimens of steers being unloaded and weighed, with hogs and sheep without number. Passing rapidly through the hog department, where the protesting hogs were disemboweled almost before the echo of their last squeal had died away, we were shown through the cooling rooms, drying rooms and called on to note the various styles of transition from the live hog to the cured hams, breakfast bacon, lard and other products, ready for the table. Then into the sheep room where the helpless sheep huddling together as they went through the chutes and were caught by the hind legs, elevated on great wheels and throats cut without a murmur, and saw all the same change to the mutton ready for the table. In the cattle department, a Jewish Rabbi was officiating at the time of our visit, and the usual methods of slaughter were not being carried out. A man would bend back a steer's head with a great long implement while the Rabbi with a single stroke severed the jugular veins and windpipe, and the steer with a rope to his hind legs was elevated and passed along a long row of employes, every one of whom did something toward getting him ready for final duty on the table while others took care of the refuse.

We were shown all the various methods of canning meat, making the cans, putting them together. A small army of girls are employed in the canning department and while many things are done by machinery, the meats are placed in the cans mostly by hand. There were a great many of these young women, but in the rougher departments, most of these girls were old enough to have started with the business just after the civil war. The utmost cleanliness seemed to be observed everywhere and while there may be some things to be criticised, yet, they are far above the average country butcher shop in their methods.

At 2 p. m. a special ten course luncheon was served at Swift's for the gentlemen and the waiters were girls employed at the packing houses. Most of the edibles on the menu were packing house products.

In the meantime the Texas ladies' by special invitation from the management went to Marshall Fields' great dry goods store and were shown through it by the employes. Afterward the ladies were guests of the ladies of Chicago at luncheon, served at the Athletic Club, which consisted of ten courses with ferns and sweet peas for table decorations, which were later given them. Mrs. Goddard, (the wife of the President of the Ft. Dearborn National Bank was toast mistress and gave a beautiful address of welcome which was responded to by Mrs. L. L. Jester of Tyler, who also sang two selections. After luncheon both gentlemen and ladies attended the Majestic theatre where a high class vaudeville was in progress. The gentlemen arrived late, part of the program being over, as a heavy rain delayed them enroute.

James Corbett seemed to be one of the attractions. He is a man of very gentlemanly appearance and really has some ability, and the whole entertainment was of a high class order.

After the theatre, we were again the guests of honor at a special banquet at the Mid Day Club on the 18th floor of the First National bank building, at 7:30 p. m. Both hosts and guests attended in full evening suits and a delightful evening was passed.

Mr. August Blum (of First National Bank of Chicago) was toast master, and J. H. Cameron made address of welcome with response from T. L. Blanton of Albany, Texas.

An immense lone star of flowers made part of the decoration, while floral decorations of all kinds contributed to make the banquet hall a beautiful place. While each table had individual flowers, lone stars were the order of the day on everything. The addresses on both sides were of a high order and breathed a patriotic spirit of devotion to one common country. A. C. Blesly of Houston and Capt. B. B. Paddock of Fort Worth were among the Texas speakers.

At 10 p. m. we bade our Chicago host adieu, feeling sure that no one could surpass them in cordiality of welcome, and that for push and enterprize Chicago was a world beater.

As each guest left the banquet hall, a lone star was handed them on which was printed "come again soon."

Conveyance had been provided by our guests direct to the railroad station and as the Grand Trunk train pulled out at 11 p. m. the younger members of the party made the air ring with "Long Horn, Short Horn, Cotton, Wheat, Texas Product Hard to Beat. Texas, Texas Everbody Texas, Texas, T. B. A." and then enquired, "What is the matter with Chicago," and answered their own inquiry with the confident assertion, "She is all right, as our special rolled away for Detroit." R. E. H.
