WALKING TELLER GONE

TO THE AMOUNT OF $96,315 IS ALSO MISSING.

REMARKABLE CASE

Walked Out of the Bank With in Suit Case—Everywhere Detectives are Looking for Him.

Associated Press.

New York, July 3.—Detectives all over the United States are searching for Chester E. Runyan, the paying teller of the Windsor Trust Company, the directors allege, is missing $96,315 in cash. George Young, a director of the company, confirms the fact of his defalcation, which detective says is one of the most remarkable reported. Runyan is accused of having placed the currency in a suit case last Saturday and departed after shaking hands with his associates. He did not even go to his apartments to say goodbye to his wife. Runyan is believed to have taken all the cash available from the bank last Saturday. The directors have made up the loss.

MORE STORM DETAILS.

Damage in Knox County Than at First Reported.

Additional details from the storm Monday, reported in yesterday's issue, show that the storm was of unusual severity.

In the residence-district of the town, where the most damage was done, the damage was particularly severe. Two houses belonging to J. M. Sells were destroyed and the occupants of one of the buildings, W. A. Wren and family, suffered quite severely in consequence. Mrs. Wren sustained quite serious injuries, while the children and other members of the family were more or less bruised. However, none of these are seriously hurt. At a house just south of the town, which was totally wrecked, the damage was hurt, but how seriously has not been learned. At least twenty or thirty residences in different parts of the town are blown off the foundations or otherwise injured.

The splendid three-story brick school building, the brick work of which is almost completed, was blown down above the second story, damaging the building $1,500 or $2,000. The elevator of Davidson Grain Elevator Company was blown down and the damage is great. The front of the store was blown out and the building greatly damaged. The skating rink was torn all to pieces and is a total wreck. A number of awnings were torn down and demolished.

The wind came from the southwest and it was terrific in force, lasting probably thirty minutes.

4TH OF JULY FIREWORKS.

Careful That You Don't Shoot in the Fire Limits.

Did you know that it was a misdemeanor to explode any kind of fireworks within the fire limits of Wichita? Few persons know that there is an ordinance against this practice, and Marshal Gwinn is having his men full these days in attempting to make the people comply with the ordinance.

Thoroughly described, the fire limits are bounded by the following lines: Denver Railroad on the west, on north Sixth street to the alley between Scott and Indiana avenues, and along that alley to Ninth street and thence west to the railroad tracks. Violations of the ordinance are punishable by fines of not less than $1 nor more than $20. Marshal Gwinn wishes to announce that all violators will be arrested.

ARE STILL SEARCHING.

Whereabouts of Rockefeller is Unknown and Subpoena Servers Search in Vain.

Special to the Times.

New York, July 3.—The whereabouts of John D. Rockefeller was still unknown today to United States Marshal Henkel and his deputies, who are trying to serve a subpoena upon him to attend court in Chicago on July 5. At the offices of the Standard Oil Company nothing could be learned either as to Mr. Rockefeller's whereabouts or whether he intends to give the United States Marshals who are searching for him in three States an opportunity to serve their summons.

Mrs. Rockefeller Ill From Excitement.

By Associated Press.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 3.—The deputy United States Marshals continued their search for John D. Rockefeller here today for the purpose of serving him with a subpoena to appear in court in Chicago next Saturday. Marshal Chandler is confident that the service will be obtained before many hours. As a result of the excitement incident to the Rockefeller residence being placed under guard, it is said that Mrs. Rockefeller has become seriously ill. She is suffering from nervousness and is attended by a trained nurse.

SUGGESTED VIOLENCE

WITNESS SAYS PINKERTON MAN CONSTANTLY SUGGESTED VIOLENCE.

ONE OF THE JURORS ILL

But is Able to Continue in the Box—Attacks of Defense Directed Upon Orchard's Story.

By Associated Press.

Boise, Idaho, July 3.—When the morning session of the Haywood trial opened it was announced that Juror H. F. Massecar had been quite ill during the night. Judge Wood asked Massecar if he was able to proceed today. Upon receiving an affirmative answer, the court informed the juror that if at any time he felt it necessary the trial would be interrupted until he was in a better physical condition.

The prosecution asked the court to issue an order directing that W. F. Davis, one of the leading witnesses for the defense, remain within the jurisdiction of the court, as he would be wanted again. An order to this effect was issued.

Francis C. Clifford, a life insurance solicitor of Sterling, Colo., was the first witness of the day. Clifford said he rented desk room in George A. Pettibone's store in Denver, holding it from April until November, 1905. The witness met Orchard under the name of Tom Hogan, Pettibone making the introduction. "Orchard told me one day that he was making his money selling hail insurance," declared Clifford. "He then turned to Pettibone and asked him to cash a check. Pettibone said he did not have money enough. He offered to give Orchard as much as he had. Orchard said he would take what Pettibone had and get the balance later, and next time I saw Orchard, he told me he was going to Alaska. This was in June, 1905."

Constantly Suggested Violence.

Joseph C. Barnes, living near Montrose, was the next witness. He said he and George W. Ridell, Pinkerton operative No. 36, were chums and fellow members of the union at Telluride. Barnes declared that Ridell was constantly suggesting violence. He proposed to roll two kegs of powder down the hill into the Liberty Bell mine, and advised the miners to "punch" any deputies or "bad men" who looked cross. He told them to burn the town of Telluride and to beat up any men who started to work and to run them out of town. Barnes was a most loquacious witness and constantly called out waves of laughter by his ready and lengthy replies. After being deported from Telluride, Barnes told of going back to the town in a barrel. The militia discovered him, but he escaped by climbing a tree. He saw Orchard and Ridell together once in Telluride. He was cross examined by Senator Borah and said that he was never engaged in any criminal act with Ridell.

He Never Knew Orchard.

"Did you ever contemplate crime?" "Yes, sir; when I started back to Telluride I made up my mind to kill any man who stopped me."

"Did you?" "No, sir; the militia got me."

Barnes was a member of the strike commission in Telluride during the strike. He said that in 1903 all members of the committee were in favor of calling the strike off except Ridell, who said he wouldn't stand for it.

Pat Moran, a Cheyenne saloon keeper, who Orchard said was sent by him from Cheyenne to Denver to get $4,500 from Pettibone, was the next witness called. Moran said he once worked for Pettibone in Denver, selling clocks, lamps and other goods on the installment plan. Moran not only denied going to Denver on any mission for Orchard, but said he did not know Orchard. "Orchard never was in his saloon. Johnnie Neville, his son, and a man whom they called 'Shorty' were around there several days. Moran said he had tried to identify Orchard since coming here, but he could not positively say he was the man who was in his place. He had identified young Neville, however.

John Dennis, a former Cripple Creek miner, when introduced as a witness, said he knew a Pinkerton operative named Beckman, who, as a member of the union, got up in the meeting one day and declared that he was tired of peace and thought something ought to be done. He was declared out of order by the president.

Tells of the Rout of the Miners.

George Breen, formerly a railroad conductor on the Cripple Creek road, and who was a witness several days ago, was recalled to tell how General Sherman Bell and a company of militiamen at Dunnville, Colo., had rounded up some union men who had taken to the hills.

"Three miners ran up the hill," Breen said, "and the militia fired at them. One of the men was killed. Several others were captured and their camp looted. In the camp the soldiers found two broken down shotguns and one rifle, a sixshooter, a pair of scissors a knife and a can of sardines."

Will Remain in Office.

Denver, Colo., July 3.—Charles H. Moyer and Wm. D. Haywood, will remain president and secretary-treasurer respectively, of the Western Federation of Miners, being continued as such by the Federation today, although they are imprisoned in Idaho on the charge of complicity in the murder of former Governor Steunenberg of Idaho.

As the constitution of the federation forbids the election to these positions of members not in attendance at the convention, the election of president and secretary-treasurer was passed by general consent, no renominations being made for these offices, and under the constitution the incumbents will hold over until their successors are chosen. L. W. Callahan of Index, Wash., was elected alternate member of the executive board for District No. 2, to serve in the absence of Jack Simpkins, who disappeared after the murder of Governor Steunenberg, and who was continued in office in the same manner as were the president and secretary-treasurer.

Prisoners Selected as Delegates.

If released from prison in Idaho before October, President Charles Moyer, and Secretary-Treasurer William Haywood will head the delegation to represent the Federation of Miners at the proposed conference in Chicago in October for the purpose of founding a new international labor organization.

It was announced today that Haywood received 226 and Moyer 219 voted out of a total of 229 votes cast in the miners' convention for delegates to Chicago. The leaders of the miners plan a new organization along the line of the Industrial Workers of the World which has been disrupted by the factional fight.

A DOZEN SERIOUSLY INJURED

In a Collision Between Electric Cars Near Washington, D. C.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., July 3.—A dozen people were seriously injured and as many more were slightly hurt in a collision between the Washington bound trolley car and two carloads of rails on the Washington, Arlington & Falls Church electric railway this morning. The passenger car was loaded with employees in the government department. One rail passed through the abdomen of Motorman Mock and one passenger had both legs severed. Several women were badly injured. The passenger car, it is admitted by the conductor, was running about forty-five miles an hour in an effort to make up lost time.

By Associated Press.

Tangier, Morocco, July 3.—General Sir Harry McLean, commander of the Sultan's body guard has been made a prisoner by Baisull, the bandit chief and will be held as a hostage until the Sultan agrees to pardon Baisull on his own terms. General McLean was negotiating with Baisull regarding the latter's pardon when made prisoner. General McLean is former officer of British army.

ONE KILLED AND THREE INJURED

Autos Collide and Machine Crashes Into Tree With Fatal Results.

Wellesly, Mass., July 3.—In an auto wreck here early today Miss Margaret Swanton, 22 years old was killed and Miss Margaret Turpon, William Walsh and Frank McLaughlin were injured. They were returning from South Framingham to their Waltham homes in a large touring car when in an effort to escape a collision with another car the driver turned his car from the road and crashed into a tree. The machine turned, a complete somersault, hurling its occupants to the ground.

BELIEVES ORCHARD'S STORY.

Noted Psychologist Impressed With Dignity at Trial at Boise.

By Associated Press.

Boston, July 3.—In a newspaper interview, Prof. Hugo Muensterberg of the Harvard Psychologist who has been attending the Haywood trial at Boise, Idaho for the purpose of studying the mind of Harry Orchard, the principal witness, says that he believes Orchard's confession thoroughly true. The Professor asserted that he was very much impressed with the dignity which characterized the trial and expressed the opinion that absolute justice was being accorded the defense.

AN ARMED CONFLICT

THREATENED BETWEEN RIVAL RAILROADS IN ALASKA.

RIGHT OF WAY CROSSING

Of the Guggenheim and Brunner Lines The Scene of Impending Trouble.

By Associated Press.

Seattle, Wash., July 3.—A special to the Post Intelligencer from Valdez, Alaska, tells of the preparation for an armed conflict between the Copper River & Northern railway forces and the Alaska Pacific railway men at Kattilla on the Copper River railroad, which is known throughout Alaska as a Guggenheimer proposition, aiming to tap the Copper River district and which is attempting to cross the right of way of the Alaska Pacific company, known as the Brunner line, which also aims for the Copper River district by way of Lake Charlotte. The Brunner people applied to the government in Alaska for the protection of the United States troops, alleging that the Guggenheim forces contemplated an armed attack upon them. Authorities at Valdez admit that the situation is serious. The Brunner road has erected a "go devil" at the crossing which the Guggenheims are trying to take. A machine operated by means of a donkey engine swings continually across the tracks, making it impossible for the men to come within a radius of fifty feet of the Brunner line. The Guggenheims are paying two dollars an hour to fighting men with a bonus to the first man who crosses the Brunner right of way.

TWO BIG GAMES TOMORROW.

Decatur and Wichita Will Contend for Honors on the Diamond.

The Decatur ball team arrived on the Denver this afternoon and the first game of the series is now on at the ball park.

Collier and Brockman will be the battery for Wichita in the morning game and Bunch and Brockman will officiate in the afternoon session. On Friday afternoon Touchstone and Bell will be in the points for the locals. These two players had been expected to join the team on last Monday, but the manager of the Terrell team would not pay their salaries unless they would play with that team on the Third and Fourth.

Manager Lucid has an aggregation of splendid gentlemanly players and the team is putting up an article of ball which merits a most liberal patronage. Good crowds are expected at the park for both games tomorrow, as all the stores will be closed and excursions will be run into the city by all roads.

Waxahachie is coming for a series of three games on the 15th, 16th and 17th.

General Closing on the Fourth.

The three banks, the barber shops and nearly all the stores will be closed tomorrow on account of the Fourth of July.

To allow the employes of this office an opportunity to see the baseball game tomorrow afternoon the Times will be published at about 2 o'clock. Advertisers and other patrons will please govern themselves accordingly.

Mr. J. L. Moore has sold his residence on Twelfth street between Bluff and Broad to Mr. Moss for a consideration of $1,200, and has purchased another residence on Thirteenth street, near the High school building, which he is now occupying with his family.

Dispute Will Be Settled.

W. E. Frieze and Dr. Reed were both great ball players in their younger days and each claims to surpass the other in the batting art. Mr. Frieze believes that his batting average is up about the .300 mark, while Dr. Reed says Frieze couldn't hit a whole flock of airships. Vice versa, Dr. Reed thinks that if he was in the game nowadays that he would lead the league in batting, while he contends that Mr. Frieze doesn't know the first principles about handling the willow.

To settle this dispute, both of these citizens will appear on the diamond in a batting contest immediately before the game is called tomorrow afternoon and will let the crowd judge which is the best man with the stick.

ABYSSES OF OCEAN.

Extent of the Deep Waters and Their Tremendous Pressure.

More than half the surface of the globe is hidden under water two miles deep. Seven million square miles lie at a depth of 18,000 feet or more. Many places have been found five miles and more in depth. The greatest depth yet sounded is 31,200 feet, near the island of Guam.

If Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, were plucked from its seat and dropped into this spot the waves would still roll 2,000 feet above its crest.

Into this terrific abyss the waters press down with a force more than 10,000 pounds to the square inch. The staunchest ship ever built would be crumbled under this awful pressure like an eggshell under a steam roller.

A pine beam fifteen feet long which held open the mouth of a trawl used in making a cast at a depth of more than 18,000 feet was crushed, as if it had been passed between rollers.

The body of the man who should attempt to venture to such depths would be compressed until the flesh was forced into the interstices of the bone and his trunk was no larger than a rolling pin. Still the body would reach the bottom, for anything that will sink in a tub of water will sink to the uttermost depths of the ocean.—Exchange.

SECRETS OF SAVAGES.

Some Things That Baffle the Ingenuity of Civilized Man.

The head was no bigger than an orange, the black, bearded head, perfectly preserved, of a man of forty or so.

"The Dyaks alone," said the ethnologist, "have the secret of taking an adult human head and reducing it, like this, to less than half its size. Their houses are ornamented profusely with these reduced heads of enemies slain in battle. No one knows how the reduction is accomplished. It is a marvelous secret that the Dyaks refuse to give up.

"Savages, degraded as they are beside us, possess a number of marvelous and unfathomable secrets. One is the making of fire by the rubbing of dry twigs. Only a savage can do that.

"Another is the construction of fish-skin suits. The natives of the Siberian coast make suits of fishskin that are softer, finer and far more waterproof than any fabric known to us. What could be so waterproof as fishskin?

"A third is the secret of arrested life. There are aborigines in India who can die temporarily, can be buried a week or more and on being dug up come to life again.

"The best blankets, the best baskets, the best canoes and the best dyes are all made by savages."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Swans Defeat a Fox.

A correspondent of the Colwyn Bay Herald describes a fierce fight between a fox and a number of swans. The fox, after hiding for awhile among some reeds, boldly swam toward a number of swans. The latter were on the alert, however, and when within a yard the biggest bird attacked him with wing and beak, entirely submerging him for two or three seconds. Nothing daunted, the fox made a final attack, but ignominious defeat awaited him, as all the swans arrayed themselves in single file and made a desperate attack on their assailant, which eventually landed at the south side of the lake, his blood covering the felt of heather at the far end. The swans appeared to have sustained no injury whatever.

Where They Were Not Bad.

A visitor who was going through the penitentiary one day turned to the warden and said: "I suppose you have a good many bad people here?" "Bad! Bad people here!" ejaculated the gray haired warden, with an air of comic surprise. "What put that into your head? There are no bad people here. Why, if they wanted to be bad, we wouldn't let 'em."

The warden smiled grimly, and the visitor awakened to the fact that the "pen" was not the place where people could afford to be bad, even if they wished.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Cosmopolitan Dinners.

"You can pay your money in New York and get any sort of dinner you like and of every possible nationality," declared the man about town. "You can get an Italian dinner with spaghetti, a French dinner with frogs' legs, an Irish dinner with some sort of stew, a Hungarian dinner with goulash, a Russian dinner with caviare, a Spanish dinner with frijoles and a southern dinner with corn pone."—New York Press.

Nicks—I owe you an apology. The fact is, it was raining, and I saw your umbrella, and, supposing you had gone home for good, I took it. "Wicks—Don't mention it. I owe you an apology. "Sir," said the tramp, "I have not tasted food for seven days. Another half an hour of fasting and I must die!"

"Then," exclaimed the philanthropist, "you shall live. Take this ticket. It will admit you in my stead to a sumptuous banquet, course after course, meats, wines and dessert—a feast three hours long, glorious company—Mr. Talkforhours, Mr. Toefew, Mr. Longyars and other eminent men."

"Will there be any after dinner speeches?" asked the starving one.

"Columns of 'em," said the philanthropist.

Then the tramp headed back the ticket and crawled wearily away into a silent timber yard to die.—London Globe.

Must Have Loved Him.

Many stories have been told of a Manchester man who is supposed to be the well-to-do, put it humanely—plainest man in England. But we think the following is the funniest:

"Mamma," a child was heard to say in an awestruck whisper after a prolonged survey of the peculiar features of the guest, "that gentleman's mamma must have loved children very, very much."

"Why so, my dear?" inquired the unsuspecting parent.
"Oh," returned the child in the same audible whisper, "cause she brought them up."—Strand Magazine.

A Better Scheme.

"That house I have taken from you," said the dissatisfied tenant, "is horribly drafty. When I am sitting in the middle of the room my hair blows all over my head. Can't you do something for the windows?"
"Don't you think, sir," replied the house agent suavely, "it would be easier and cheaper for you to get your hair cut?"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Difference.

"Walter," protested a commercial traveler, with indignation, "I'm bothered if I can ever see any difference between your roast mutton and your roast lamb!"

"Oh, sir," the waiter rejoined, "there is a difference! The roast mutton is a shilling and the roast lamb is one and sixpence."—London Mail.

The Great Danger.

"What do you consider the chief danger of wealth?" asked the solemn man.
"That the other fellow will have it," responded a hearer inclined to flippancy.—Philadelphia Ledger.

FIFTEEN CENT COTTON.

Texas is the greatest cotton producing State in the nation. This year, from all reports obtainable, the crop, as compared to that of last year, will be at least 20 per cent short. This condition of the crop is already affecting the market. Tuesday the market jumped thirty-five points, caused, perhaps, by the interview given to the Associated Press by President Calvin, at the head of the Farmers' Union, in which he took occasion to predict that the average price of the 1907 cotton crop would be in the neighborhood of 15 cents per pound. He probably based his prediction on the theory of "supply and demand," which is good when the market is left alone by the manipulators. This year Wichita county has the largest acreage ever planted to cotton. It is true, however, that the stand is not so very good, and that labor is scarce, but this is cotton growing weather, and even if only half a bale to the acre is made, the acreage is amply sufficient to warrant the prediction that at least 12,000 bales will be produced in territory tributary to Wichita Falls. Should this twelve thousand bales sell for an average of fifteen cents would mean at least $900,000 for the farmers who raise this cotton. This would compensate them partially, at least, for the loss of their wheat and oat crop.

Spend a Dollar at Our Store and You Get the Most That A Dollar Will Buy Anywhere

In selecting a Store at which to buy your Dry Goods, Groceries, Shoes Etc., you have in mind the question, "Where I Can Get the Best Goods at the Most Reasonable Prices?" After fifteen years of experience in dealing with housekeepers, we realized when locating here, that the only sure way to get trade and keep it, was by buying the kind of goods you want, and selling them at prices that will save money for you every week, not so much because they will be lower in price than at any other store, but because they will be of such high quality that there will be no waste in the foods, and the Dry good and Shoes will give better satisfaction and longer service

Catsup Cold meats call for catsup and the best is always cheapest. Our MONARCH BRAND is put up in accordance with the Pure Food Law—containing no artificial coloring or other foreign substance and makes a delightful dressing for any kind of meat, be it roast beef, salmon or what-not.

Salad Dressing For a cool refreshing lunch or for an ordinary meal you cannot find a dish that will satisfy any better than a well prepared salad; but in order to have the best possible flavor and piquancy, it requires a good dressing and when we offer you our Yatch Club Salad Dressing. We are satisfied you can get none better at any price. 35c per bottle.

Pickles For the table at home, for picnics or lunches, you always want pickles—some like sweet, some like sour, but pickles and warm weather go together as naturally as potatoes and gravy. We carry a full line of Heinz's Bottle Pickles—you know the quality. They are under rigid inspection from the start and you see the finish. They raise their own seeds and products on their own farms—fifty-seven in number scattered all over the United States and Canada. Heinz's different varieties, all prices. Sweet pickles 20 to 35c per bottle. Chow Chow in Bottles 15 to 35 cents per bottle. Olives, 15 to 65c per bottle. Sour Midget Gerkins in bottles, 35 cents per bottle.

Tea Lots of people who never drink hot tea at all are very fond of iced tea and this is just the reason for iced tea. Our MONARCH BRAND we consider best for serving cold and if prepared according to the following receipts will almost certainly find favor: First—never boil tea—it makes it bitter—put fresh tea leaves into an earthen jar and pour boiling water, one cup per teaspoonful—let steep five or ten minutes covered tight—then strain and set away to cool. The above (Monarch) Brand $1 per lb. Other Kinds 50c to 75c per pound.

In our Dry Goods Department we have kept two things constantly in mind when buying stock
1st. To get the styles and quality we know from experience takes well.
2nd. To buy them in such a way that we could sell the best there was to be had at a minimum price.
That we have succeeded in doing this will be apparent to the most exacting shopper.
So much in a general way about this department. Call and see for yourself.

Fifteen Cent Cotton.

Fifteen-cent cotton for this year was predicted by President Calvin of the Farmers' Union in an address before the sixty students of the cotton grading school yesterday afternoon.

"It is difficult to estimate the price," said Mr. Calvin. "I look to see not less than 15-cent cotton, basing my expectations on the present conditions. While in Vienna I talked with the spinners and without a single exception they told me there exists today the greatest demand for cotton goods they have ever experienced. They have sold their goods for delivery as far down as January, February and even March, 1908, which indicates the strongest demand ever known. Coming home I passed through the Carolinas, through Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, and I find the crop remarkably late. Some places show but two leaves on a plant, and the crop is way behind, not only in Texas, but everywhere in the South. So that I would say, unless we have a remarkable season, it is difficult to tell what the price will be. As I said, I look for 15-cent cotton."

Professor Calvin's remarks to the students were highly appreciated and especially these hopeful comments on the possible price. He discussed his recent visit to the international cotton congress in Vienna, speaking of the impressions that he got there and of the lessons that he had learned.

LIGHTED BY ELECTRICITY.

New Denver Coaches Provided With Apparatus for That Purpose.

The Denver road has purchased twelve new passenger coaches and has put them into service. The new cars are up to date in every respect and among other modern conveniences, are lighted by electricity.

Each car generates its own electricity. A dynamo is mounted under the car and just in front of the trucks. A rubber belt runs from the dynamo to a pulley on the axle of the car and this drives it. It is mounted on springs and in such a way that as the belt stretches and slackens they will tighten it up.

They are provided with a storage battery in which all the surplus is stored. They have a capacity sufficient to keep lights burning for the time that the car would be standing under ordinary circumstances.

A speed of about eighteen or twenty miles an hour is necessary to generate enough electricity to supply the lights. There is an automatic switch inside the car which, when the speed falls under that, throws the storage battery into use and as soon as the car attains the speed required it cuts out the battery and connects the lights directly to the dynamo. When the dynamo is running at a speed sufficient to generate more than is needed at the time the surplus is thrown to the storage battery for use when the speed is low or the car is standing still.

As soon as they can possibly do so, the Denver will put this equipment on all other passenger coaches and the baggage, express and mail cars as well.

Soule's Livery.

I wish to announce to the public generally that I am prepared to furnish livery turnouts as good as can be found anywhere. I have everything from a one-horse road cart to a six-horse coach. Good and quick service. Stables just east of the Union depot. 40-12t

IMPRESSIONS OF METROPOLIS.

Boston Superior in Many Ways to the First City of the Land.

New York, June 18.

Editor Times:—

The Camden made a very pleasant trip to New York. This is a new steamer and is owned by a steamship line of which Charles H. Morse is president. Mr. Morse is one of the owners of the Mallory line, running into Galveston. He tendered the Texas Bankers' Association the free use of the steamer from Boston to New York. The steamer was new and clean, the service excellent, therefore first-class, and everything possible was done by Mr. Taylor, who was in charge, to render the party comfortable. The musicians played many popular airs and did not forget to render Dixie in a very spirited manner. Several of the party became seasick and had to retire to their staterooms, but the trip did not affect most of us.

On arrival at New York, we found automobiles provided by the leading banks of New York to take us on a sight seeing trip. The route was through Wall and Nassau streets, passing by all the great bank buildings, and the great Singer building, now in course of construction. When completed, this will be the tallest office building in the world. It is to be forty-seven stories in height, of which six are below ground and forty-one stories above. After being shown most of the tall office buildings and the great life insurance companies buildings, the automobiles went on Fifth avenue, where the residences of the millionaires abound.

While many of these are very imposing, I do not wonder that these rich people rush off to their country homes. On lower Fifth avenue very few of them have any lawns, the houses being built right on the street. Business houses are crowding on this part of Fifth avenue and it is anything but a quiet spot. Further out, there is more evidence of grounds and lawns, but nothing to compare with those of Boston, although the houses are probably more costly. Many of these Fifth avenue mansions are boarded up to prevent the breaking of the doors and windows and some of them have very high fences around the grounds and the majority of them seemed to be only in the charge of servants. They are probably very attractive in the winter, but seen on a hot, dusty day as we saw them, they suffered by comparison with the shaded yards and grassy lawns of Detroit and Boston.

After going through Central Park, which looked doubly beautiful by comparison with the busy metropolis, our party boarded a steamer and were off for Coney Island. Two of the autos were late and one failed to connect with the steamer, so after waiting for them thirty minutes, we had to go without them.

Coney Island had lots of people, but there were few on the beach, as the air out here was cool and the crowds seemed rather to dread the cool water.

Entering Dreamland Park, we found luncheon provided for us and before the entire party was served the occupants of the missing auto arrived and were greeted with hand-clapping as they entered, which they seemed to appreciate very much, as they thought we had not missed them. All of the party were then provided with free tickets to all of the leading attractions in Dreamland Park. These were a repetition of those seen at the White City in Chicago, Electric City at Detroit and Dominion Park at Montreal, with others added. The afternoon was spent in Dreamland Park, the party breaking up into smaller parties and each individual taking his own course.

At 7:30 p. m., we met in Luna Park and took dinner on the balcony surrounding the lake. Near and in plain sight was a circus ring, where acrobatic feats were performed. We could also observe the operations of "The Tickler." This is a large tub in which ten or twelve persons are seated and which goes down a serpentine inclined plane rapidly. At each curve the tub is dashed violently against the side of the curve, causing the occupants to clutch wildly at each other and occasionally to land in each other's laps. It is great fun for on-lookers and seemed to be still greater fun for those who participated, as the tubs seemed rarely to lack for occupants.

After dinner we were given tickets through the amusements of Luna Park. The electric lights had now come on and all Goney Island was ablaze with light and the city had poured countless thousands of people into the promenades and places of amusement. Among others, we visited "Night and Morning," which was a representation of death and the hereafter. One of the party volunteered to act as a spirit guide. Being placed in a small chamber, he first appeared in good health and robust. Then apparently we saw evidence of decay; the flesh fell from his bones and a grinning skeleton seemed to take his place. We were then led through underground caverns where skeletons, dragons and huge serpents appeared to stare at us from every side. We reached the flowing river represented by Dante, which seemed an endless procession of corpses of every kind and station of life, flowing along in the rivers of fire. The charon who guided one of the boats said he was from Texas and said there were some friends of ours on the other shore and kindly allowed us to listen to their voices from the other world, and when we gathered around to listen up from the caverns of the lower regions we heard the familiar sound, "Long Horn, Short Horn, Cotton, Wheat! Texas! Texas! Products Can't Be Beat! Texas! Texas! Every day! Texas! Texas! T. B. A.!"

About midnight we got back to our headquarters at the Imperial Hotel, 32nd and Broadway, taking a subway express at Brooklyn bridge. After this trip we were prepared to believe any of the stories about ladies being landed in fat men's laps or vice versa. As the cars were crowded, many standing up and they run very fast and stop rather abruptly, a party not in a seat and hanging to a strap is liable to be landed most anywhere. So ended our first day in New York. R. E. H.
