STRIKE IS ON

OPERATORS IN CHICAGO WALKED OUT AT MIDNIGHT.

REMAINED AT KEYS

Operators Strike Rather Than Receive Messages From Strike Breakers at Los Angeles.

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Ill., Aug. 9.—Since last night, when 200 operators struck rather than work with the strike breakers at Los Angeles, there has been little work in the Chicago office of the Western Union company, at Jackson street and Clark street, or in the offices scattered throughout the city. Only six wire chiefs and four telegraphers were left in the Chicago office, where the union men, in answer to a whistle, rushed to the keys on the ninth and tenth floors and congregated in front of the building. The order was issued by the board of the Chicago local union. The order applies also to operators, thus affecting some 1,000 men employed in the main office during the day hours.

The Strike is Only Local.

By Associated Press.
New York, Aug. 9.—The strike of telegraph operators in Chicago today is regarded by the company as a local matter and not likely to spread here. The walk-out of operators in Chicago has hampered the transmission of business both here and in Chicago, but wire chiefs and operators are doing all they can to keep the business. President Clow, General Superintendent Brooks and General Superintendent Brooks are in conference today to discuss the situation. Brooks said: "There is no doubt about a strike in New York. This trouble in Chicago is local and should not affect the business. Only fifty per cent of the operators in the eastern district belong to the union and in the event of a strike we would be able to do the business without delay. The company is paying the telegraphers a per cent increase as agreed in the settlement recently and there is no reason for a strike."

The local headquarters of the Western Union it was stated today that the operators here believe the trouble in Chicago was a local matter.

Imminent at Salt Lake.

By Associated Press.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 9.—The regular day man who sends telegraph wire today refused the company was promptly discharged. He did not leave his keys, but once for President A. F. Long of the Salt Lake City local and to determine what action shall be taken.

Present Ultimatum.

By Associated Press.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 8.—After negotiating with President Palmer of the company, operators waited upon Long of the local Western Union and told him that unless the discharged man by the company today, the entire force of operators would go out. Long has not replied to the ultimatum.

Present Ultimatum.

By Associated Press.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 8.—After negotiating with President Palmer of the company, operators waited upon Long of the local Western Union and told him that unless the discharged man by the company today, the entire force of operators would go out. Long has not replied to the ultimatum.

at 1:30 P. M.

By Associated Press.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 9.—All

Western Union operators walked out at 1:30 p. m.

Walk Out at Helena.

By Associated Press.
Helena, Mont., Aug. 9.—The entire force of the local Western Union office here went on a strike today with the exception of the chief operator and his assistant. The strike was due to the marking off of the operators who declined to open the Chicago wires. Before the chief operator could ask any one else to man the wire, the entire force, numbering about forty men, joined the discharged operator and left the room. All wires are silent now.

Ready to Quit at Denver.

By Associated Press.
Denver, Colo., Aug. 9.—The Western Union operators here will go out on the instant that they are asked to use the wire to Chicago or Los Angeles. It is said that seventy-five operators will quit the key in case of a strike.

Tickers Out of Business in Chicago.

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Ill., Aug. 9.—No trouble is expected today by the brokers and commission houses in handling their business. None of the operators who have been called out reported at their usual hours.

At daylight this morning about seventy-five operators were at work in the Western Union office and the officials of the company said they expected more during the day.

Wesley Russell, secretary of the local union, said that the company would not be able to man its wires or handle its business.

There were no signs of disorder around the Western Union building today. Fifty policemen saw that no crowds congregated around the building or the Board of Trade building.

An insane man rushed into the central police station today and inquired in an excited manner for President Roosevelt, saying he wanted him to settle the telegraphers strike at once. He was arrested.

The Western Union was almost entirely out of business early in the day and the men of this department said they had no idea when conditions would improve. This causes much apprehension among the brokers.

Walk Out at Kansas City.

By Associated Press.
Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 9.—The entire force of the Western Union operators here, except the chief operators numbering about 150 employes, went out shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. The Western Union men on the Board of Trade also went out.

Strike Breakers Arrive at Los Angeles.

By Associated Press.
Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 9.—Non-union telegraphers from San Francisco and Oakland arrived in Los Angeles today and were taken at once to the local Western Union offices. Eight or ten strikers were on the street in front of the building when the strike breakers arrived, but there was no demonstration and no effort to prevent their going to work. The company had twenty-two men at work, counting the chief operators and officials this morning.

Railroad Official Resigns.

By Associated Press.
St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 9.—S. H. McGuggan, first vice president of the Great Northern railroad, has resigned. His resignation, nominally, will not take effect until September 1st, but McGuggan admits that when he leaves the Great Northern offices tomorrow afternoon his connection with that railroad in an active capacity will have ceased.

LEWIS CONFESSED

SHACKLES ON MRS. TERHUNE TOO MUCH FOR MURDERER.

POLICE RUSE WORKED

Mystery of the Killing of Leland Terhune is Solved.

By Associated Press.
Roswell, N. M., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Moses Lewis today confessed to killing his cousin and partner, Leland Terhune, July 30th, 1907. The act was committed with a spade in the heat of passion, caused by a remark made by deceased about his wife, who it seems was held in high esteem by Lewis.

Lewis confessed to exonerate Mrs. Terhune, who was brought into his presence hand-cuffed. This ruse worked successfully and he broke down and made a full confession. He was taken to the scene of the murder and showed where he had buried the spade.

Feeling ran pretty high when the confession was first made public, but no violence is feared.

Skeleton Not Barney's.

By Associated Press.
Denver, Colo., Aug. 9.—According to a special from Telluride, Dr. S. Lord, the dentist, has failed to identify the teeth in the skeleton found Wednesday by General Bulkely Wells as those of W. J. Barney, the miner who is said to have been murdered in 1901 because of his known hostility to the Western Federation of Miners. Dr. Lord discontinued his records before he filled teeth for Barney, but he remembers work he did for Barney.

STRIKE CAUSES PANIC AT WESTERN UNION OFFICE

A strike at the local offices of the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Wells Fargo Express at noon today caused the wildest excitement for a few moments. No, the operators didn't strike. It was a revolver which had been lying on the safe in the express office. From some cause, which has not been explained, the revolver of its own initiative, apparently, fell and struck the floor, discharging a cartridge. The bullet landed somewhere in the ceiling and did no harm, other than to give those in the room at the time a bad scare.

PETITION GRANTED.

Magills Will Be Given Immediate Trial on Murder Charge.

By Associated Press.
Clinton, Ill., Aug. 9.—Circuit Judge Cochran today allowed the petition of the defense for the immediate trial of Fred Magill and his wife, Fay Graham Magill, who are under indictments charging responsibility for the death of Mrs. Pet Magill, the first wife of Magill. The Magills are at liberty on $5000 bonds, pending the trial.

Britt and Gans Sign Fight Agreement.

By Associated Press.
San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—Representatives of Jimmy Britt and Joe Gans last night signed articles for the appearance of the two lightweights before the Occidental Club at the ball grounds on Sixteenth and Palencia Beach in this city on September 4th. Manager Gleason, who signed in behalf of the club, agrees to give 75 per cent of the receipts, with a guaranty of $25,000 to the winner.

ALL HOPE ABANDONED.

Commissioner Neill Falls to Bring About Compromise.

Washington, Aug. 8.—The National Government has failed as peacemaker in the strike of the switchmen on the Colorado and Southern railroad and Labor Commissioner Charles P. Neill tonight announced that all hope had been abandoned of bringing about a satisfactory adjustment of the differences.

Mr. Neill, with Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission, undertook to act as mediator at the request of Vice President Parker of the Colorado and Southern, who claimed that in calling the strike Grand Master Morrissey was violating the arbitration agreement signed at Chicago last year.

"It has been impossible to find any common ground upon which the contending parties can agree," said Mr. Neill, "and I do not see that there is anything further that the Government can do."

The negotiations, he said, in so far as the government is concerned, are at an end.

The carrying out of Grand Master Morrissey's general strike order, it is said, will mean a general tie-up of the freight traffic and a crippling of the passenger service from Greeley, Colo., to Texline, Tex.

Counter Claims Contradict.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 8.—Vice President A. D. Parker of the Colorado and Southern system says the company put to work twenty-five more men today and that in a few days he will have the road in normal condition.

Grand Master Morrissey of the railway trainmen says that the situation is unchanged. He maintains that the strikers are making heavy inroads in the ranks of the strike breakers.

STRUCK ON HEAD WITH GUN.

George Johnson Starts Argument with Hugh Gwinn and is Beaten With a Revolver.

George Johnson, a drayman, was beaten over the head with a revolver in a scrap with Hugh Gwinn, the bartender at Fooshee's saloon at noon today.

Johnson received a number of cuts about the head, but they are not of a serious nature. Both men were placed under arrest and Gwinn was placed under bond for his appearance at a preliminary trial.

The trouble arose over a house in which Gwinn is living, which is owned by Johnson's sister. Gwinn was notified recently that his rent would be raised and upon his refusal to pay the additional rent or to vacate the house, he was served with legal notice to vacate. This notice was served several days ago. Today Johnson went into the saloon and started an argument over the matter. It is claimed that he had an open knife in his hand when Gwinn seized a six-shooter and ran around the end of the bar and struck Johnson over the head. The blow staggered Johnson and Gwinn pushed him out onto the sidewalk, where he struck him with the butt end of the weapon several times.

George Dobson arrived at about this juncture and placed both men under arrest.

Boilermakers Strike.

Portland, Oregon, Aug. 9.—Boilermakers employed by the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company and the Southern Pacific railroad on its lines in Oregon, struck today, having been ordered out by the district president.

FILLED WITH DEAD

DECOMPOSING BODIES IN CASA BLANCA THREATEN EPIDEMIC.

HORRIBLE SLAUGHTER

Moors Burned, Slaughtered and Pillaged to Avenge Bombardment.

By Associated Press.

Tangier, Aug. 9.—Horrible details of the slaughter of the Jews, the maltreatment of women and the pillage and burning of shops at Casa Blanca are told by passengers who arrived here last night by a steamer from that port. They said that after the bombardment of the place began, Moorish soldiers and Arabs revenged themselves upon the inhabitants by plundering and killing and burning on all sides. They sacked the custom house and burned the largest part. The streets are so filled with decomposed bodies that an epidemic is threatened. Among the Jews killed was one who sought the protection of the British consulate. His sisters were assaulted and carried off by the Moors.

Attacking Party Beaten Off.

By Associated Press.
Paris, France, Aug. 9.—A report here today from Admiral Philibert from Casa Blanca, Morocco, probably forwarded from his flagship by wireless and dated yesterday afternoon, says: General Drude's camp outside of Casa Blanca was attacked today by a mob of five or six thousand horsemen, who were beaten off.

Cape Juby Attacked by the Tribesmen.

By Associated Press.
Tangier, Aug. 9.—The town of Cape Juby, upon the west coast of Africa, has been raided by the Aituyasa and Aitdjema tribes. A number of the garrison were killed. The governor escaped in a boat to the fortress on the Fuerteventura island.

PROMINENT EDUCATOR DEAD.

E. C. White Dies at His Home in Kansas City.

By Associated Press.
Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 9.—Prof. E. C. White, principal of the Central high school in this city, with which institution he has been connected since 1872, died at his home here today, aged 77 years. He was one of the best known educators in the West.

The Notorious Shea Defeated.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 9.—The contest for the presidency of the Team Drivers' and Helpers' International Union was settled today by the election of Daniel J. Tobin, of Boston, and the defeat of Cornelius J. Shea of Chicago, who has been the president for four years, and who conducted the strike in Chicago last year. The vote was Tobin, 104; Shea, 94.

Accused Man is Dying.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—Theodore V. Halsey, the telephone company official now on trial in the superior court for the alleged bribery of the supervisors, is reported to be dying at the San Fran hospital in this city, where he was operated on for appendicitis yesterday.

Government Crop Report.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The crop report of the agricultural department today shows the condition of corn on August 1st as 82.8. The winter wheat production in 1907 was an average of 14.5 bushels per acre. The spring wheat condition is 79.4.

WATER EVERYWHERE

MEAT WE BUY EVERY DAY AT MARKET FULL OF IT.

NO FOOD ENTIRELY DRY

Every Article of Diet Contains a Large Proportion of Aqueous Fluid.

How much a pound do you pay for water?

Not what you draw from the faucet, dear madam, but the water you buy at the market.

You don't buy water at market, say you? Indeed, you are mistaken. You purchase it there every week in considerable quantities and the price you pay for it is well nigh staggering.

For instance you go to market and buy a porterhouse cut that weighs two pounds. That is to say, when the butcher puts it on his scales it looks as though you were getting two pounds of steak. It never occurs to you to reflect that the meat and bone contain, scattered through their tissues, no less than two tumblerfuls of ordinary, plain water.

In other words, slightly more than half the steak is water, which, at 25 cents a pound, is a good deal to pay for such a commodity. But whatever you may choose to purchase, you are up against the same fluid proposition. You buy a six-pound leg of mutton, and the market man charges incidentally at the regular rate for three pints of water which it contains. If you pick out a chicken for roasting that weighs two pounds and a half, it holds one pint of water. A ten-pound turkey contains two quarts.

It is much the same way with fish. A six-pound shad contains just about a quart of water; but the roe, taken by itself, is less than one-third solid matter. A lobster is nearly one-third water, and when you buy a quart of oysters and take them home in a pail, almost nine-tenths of what the can contains is water. The average fish that lies dressed on the stall in the market is about six-tenths water, and even a salt cod, which looks as if it were one of the driest things in the world, holds a pint of water for every two pounds of meat.

Driest Food in the World.

If, in view of these facts, you look for foods that contain least water, you will find that nuts answer the description. Chestnuts, it is true, are nearly one-third water, but black walnuts, English walnuts and butternuts contain only 1 per cent or less of water, while pecans, hickory nuts, Brazil nuts and almonds run from 1 1/2 to 3 per cent. Peanuts are 7 per cent water. However, they are not really nuts, but a kind of pea.

Next to the driest food in the world seems to be oyster crackers. Anybody may prove it to his own satisfaction by trying to chew and swallow a dozen of these little biscuits, without taking anything to drink incidentally, inside of five minutes. The result will be ignominious failure. Indeed, thus consumed they are like so much Dead Sea fruit, become literally nonswallowable.

Let us suppose that you invest your good money in eggs. It is not likely to make you better satisfied if you know that the dozen "strictly fresh" ones, for which you pay 30 cents, contains nearly a pint of plain water. But milk is worse, being 87 per cent water; while even the butter, which is comparatively water free, holds 11 per cent of the fluid. Cream cheese is three-fourths water.

A pound loaf of good wheat bread, delivered by the baker at your door, contains about two-thirds of a tumbler of water.

But when it comes to fresh vegetables, the trouble becomes greatly aggravated, inasmuch as only a small percentage of them is solid substance. Tomatoes, for instance, are 94 per cent water; spinach, 92 per cent; lettuce, 81 per cent; string beans, 83 per cent; cucumbers, 81 per cent; shelled peas, 76 per cent; cabbage, 77 per cent; sweet corn off the cob, 76 per cent, and beets, 70 per cent.

Apple and Orange Compared.

Potatoes and turnips are not so bad; they are only about two-thirds water. When fruits are considered, it appears that apples and oranges have the same percentage of water as potatoes, while pears run up to 76 per cent and strawberries to 85 per cent. It seems surprising that an apple and orange of equal size should hold just the same quantity of water, but it should be remembered that the skins are counted in, and there is a lot of fiber in an orange.

Probably if you were asked to mention the most watery of fruits, you would say the watermelon. But the fact is, that owing to the great thickness of the rind, and to the quantity of fiber composing the pulp, the watermelon, taken as a whole, is relatively dry, there being only a little more than one-third water. Another dry fruit, comparatively speaking, is the banana, which is a trifle less than one-half water. In an ordinary "hand" of thirteen or fourteen bananas, such as you buy from the Italian vender who comes to the door, there is about a quart of the same expensive fluid.

To sum it up, it appears that a very large proportion—certainly a good deal more than half, and probably as much as two-thirds—of the money which you spend for food supplies is devoted, whether you are willing or not, to the purchase of water. That such should be the case seems regrettable in these days when living is so high, but there is consolation to be drawn from the reflection that the water helps materially in rendering the food digestible. If what we eat lacked a large measure of this ingredient it would be likely to disagree with us, and, to set the difficulty right, we should be obliged to incur extravagant doctors' bills.

THE HAYWOOD TRIAL

Now that the trial of William D. Haywood is over, the Commoner can without impropriety comment on the case. In the last issue satisfaction was expressed at the verdict, but as the acquittal was announced just as we were going to press we could do no more than record the result.

The case deserves a place among the celebrated trials of the nation, and it is not too much to say that both sides were presented with consummate care and ability. The arguments made by Senator Borah for the State and by Clarence Darrow for the defense, could scarcely be surpassed in force and eloquence; all was done that earnestness or talent could suggest to impress the evidence upon the jury and the judge's instructions were clear and to the point. That the jury should have so speedily acquitted was a triumph which even the defense could hardly expect. When the feeling existing in Idaho is considered—a feeling causing an unconscious bias for or against the miners in the minds of honest men—it would not have been surprising if the jury had disagreed. That the opinion among the jurors was almost unanimous on the first ballot makes the vindication more noteworthy.

It must be remembered that the state not only chose the place of trial, but kidnapped the defendants in another state and hurried them to Idaho without opportunity to contest the extradition. While the United States supreme court held the kidnapping legal the decision cannot relieve the authorities of the charge of engaging in a conspiracy unworthy of state officials. But Haywood may well rejoice that he was kidnapped for the clandestine deportation adds completeness to his triumph.

But the verdict is more than a personal victory; it is a victory for the labor organization with which Haywood was connected. It would have seriously embarrassed the labor movement if wilful murder could have been traced to labor officials. The American people will not tolerate conspiracies to commit crime and all friends of labor have reason to rejoice that a jury of disinterested men have rejected the evidence presented and declared the defendant not guilty. The trial, too, while removing the suspicion cast on Haywood by Orchard's confession will be a warning to labor leaders to avoid association with those who, like Orchard, discredit the wage earners by suggesting violence as a remedy for their grievances.

The acquittal must also be regarded as a vindication of the jury system. Here were twelve disinterested men who bound themselves by oath to do justice between the state and the accused; for nearly three months they listened to witnesses, to lawyers and to the judge, and then retired to the jury room and, recognizing their responsibility, returned a concrete definition of justice which a nation approves. No such confidence could be reposed in a single judge as is reposed in a jury and a judge may well shrink from the discharge of such a duty as the Haywood jury bravely performed.

A judge would have former or future trials to consider, and public opinion might have weight with him, but these men had only this case to think of, and after administering justice they retire from public view. They could act with a freedom which no judge could feel and it is this very freedom to consider each case on its merits that furnishes one of the strongest arguments in favor of the jury system.

The friends of the defendant, the friends of labor and the friends of trial by jury can find cause for rejoicing in the acquittal of William D. Haywood.—The Commoner.

The "Favorite Son" scheme adopted by the political enemies of Bryan to accomplish his defeat for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1908 has been worked until it is beginning to show signs of wear and tear. Culberson has said most emphatically that he would not permit the use of his name in such a political scheme, and his action in the matter has been followed by every other Southern statesman who has been put forward through the combined efforts of Bryan's political enemies in the North, East and South. All of them are, no doubt, just as competent to fill the presidential chair as either Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Bryan, but they realize fully that the South is not yet strong enough to elect any man to that position who might be nominated. In order to elect a Southern man it would be necessary to secure the electoral votes of a few States north of the Mason and Dixon line. Until the time comes when the South shall be recognized as a part of the United States by the bloody-shirt wavers, it is useless for her to nominate any of her "favorite sons" for the presidency.

DEATH OF ENGINEER STONE.

Popular Railroad Man Succumbs to Attack of Typhoid Fever.

C. W. Stone, a popular engineer on the Fort Worth and Denver, died at his home at the corner of Seventh and Travis streets at 7:50 o'clock last night, after an illness of about two weeks with typhoid fever. The deceased was about thirty-five years of age and leaves a widow and three children.

He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, also of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The funeral services will be held at the family residence at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow, conducted by Rev. Stuckey. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will have charge of the rites at Riverside cemetery, where the interment will take place.

Automobile Accident.

An automobile driven by Arthur Reed collided with a buggy on Seventh street between Ohio and Indiana avenues late this afternoon and wrecked the buggy.

Messrs. D. M. Hardy and Henry McCauley were in the buggy at the time of the accident, but both escaped without injury.

Those who saw the accident say that in their opinion the automobile was being driven at about fifteen miles an hour. The speed limit for cities and towns, as fixed by the State law, is eight miles an hour.

Mr. Reed did his utmost to avoid the crash and before they struck had applied the brakes, the machine coming to a standstill at about the time the smash-up occurred.

The Same the World Over.

I saw a sight at the depot yesterday that interested me and taught me the truth of the quotation about the "old, old story." A man and his wife drew up to the side of the station. The man was scrubbed up and shaved fresh and had on, evidently, his best apparel. They were evidently country citizens—people who worked hard and had acquired a nice little farm tucked away somewhere in one of the valleys of Parker county and no doubt they raise plenty of chickens and butter and eggs and keep a penful of pigs fat on sour buttermilk, and got a nice little nest egg laid away for a rainy day. And I just figured out that they have a big family of boys and girls, some of them married and got little broods of their own, for the sturdy good man was about sixty, stout and hale and ruddy, and his good wife was matronly and portly and good nature and contentment shone from their faces. The good lady sat upon a spring seat and handled the reins over the backs of a pair of stout mules, sleek and fat, and she wore a sunbonnet and old-fashioned mits on her hands and top, she had an air of proprietorship as she leaned toward her "old man" that was good to see, as she pushed back her sunbonnet and put up her mouth to be kissed goodbye. The husband looked kind of shamed as he put his arm around his good wife's neck and gave her a resounding smack on the lips that were still soft and quivering with the delight of being kissed by her old lover. As he alighted from the wagon and drew out his traveling bag, the wife said: "Take care of yourself, Jess." And as he turned with a quaint and quizzical smile, he answered, "And don't you run off with another feller, mother." The laugh that tinkled from "mother's" lips proved to me that she was still in love with her "old man" and that this little bit of pleasure only proved that neither was doubtful of the other. And with a proud look and loving wave of the hand she turned the heads of the fat mules homeward as the train pulled out for Fort Worth.—Weatherford Herald.

REUNION AT HOLLIDAY.

Annual Event Under Auspices of the Stonewall Jackson Camp, U. C. V., Will Be Held August 21-23.

The annual reunion of Stonewall Jackson Camp of the U. C. V. will be held this year on the encampment grounds near Holliday on August 21, 22 and 23.

Major Cobb brought to this office a poster advertising the reunion, under the heading of "The Holliday Creek Reunion." This poster contains no reference to Stonewall Jackson Camp and from reading it one would not know whether the reunion was to be a G. A. R., Old Settlers or U. C. V. meeting. However, Major Cobb interprets it to mean the annual U. C. V. reunion.

Among the speakers will be the Hon. Lon H. Mathis of this city, Hon. R. E. Taylor of Canadian and others.

THINKING ALOUD.

A Ruse Which Roused Lord Dudley and Formed a Friendship.

One of the earls of Dudley, who was addicted to the practice of thinking aloud, found himself in a very awkward predicament on a certain occasion. He was to spend the evening at the house of a friend and ordered his carriage early, as he had a long drive back to his own home.

When the hour arrived the carriage was not forthcoming. Seeing that Lord Dudley was considerably annoyed by the delay, one of the guests, whose way homeward lay past his lordship's house, politely offered him a seat in his carriage. The gentleman was almost a stranger to Lord Dudley, but the offer was accepted.

The drive did not prove a very sociable one. Lord Dudley took his seat and immediately relapsed into silence, his thoughts apparently engrossed by some unpleasant subject. Presently he began to speak in a low but distinctly audible tone of voice, and his companion, to his astonishment, heard him say:

"I'm very sorry I accepted his offer. I don't know the man. It was civil certainly, but the worst is I suppose I must ask him to dinner."

Silence followed this bit of audible thinking. His lordship was unaware that he had betrayed his thoughts and was probably still meditating upon the same unpleasant subject when the voice of his companion broke the stillness.

Apparently this stranger was afflicted with the same malady from which his lordship suffered, for he exactly imitated Lord Dudley's tone as he said:

"Perhaps he'll think I did it to make his acquaintance. Why, I would have done the same to any farmer on his estate. I hope he won't ask me to dinner, for I shan't accept his invitation."

Lord Dudley's abstraction was all gone. He listened to the other's words, immediately comprehending the joke against himself, and frankly offered his hand to his companion, making many apologies for his involuntary rudeness.

The stranger proved magnanimous, and from that night the two became fast friends.

THE TAXIDERMIST.

He Stretches Animal Skins Over Plaster of Paris Forms.

Recently a prominent taxidermist of St. Louis was taking a party of visitors through his establishment. He had some very rare specimens of big game fish, both of the sea and river, besides a large collection of birds of every clime about the walls.

"Is that stuffed, too?" asked a lady, indicating the lifelike form of a small pet dog which sat motionless upon the hearth.

The taxidermist frowned and returned very indignantly:

"Madam, we do no stuffing here. We stretch our hides over plaster of paris forms. The day of stuffing is past, and no up to date establishment does it."

The party was taken upstairs, through the rooms where the real taxidermy is done. They had expected to see hides being crammed full of sawdust, shavings and perhaps hair. No such thing was seen, however, and in place of this were men and boys molding out the forms of deer, antelope, fish and other kinds of animals in the smooth white plaster. This is done very much in the same way as the terra cotta cornices are molded to grace the corners of buildings. The hides after going through the cleaning process are stretched tightly over the plaster form, which indeed is more lasting than the old fashioned manner of stuffing them.

"Even specimens of fish are treated in this manner," resumed the taxidermist, "and you may easily see how a skin would retain its shape a great deal longer over the hard, smooth surface of the plaster than if a softer material were crammed into it, which if improperly done will bulge and last but a short time."—Exchange.

Lincoln's Last Law Case.

Lincoln tried his last case in Chicago. It was the case of Jones versus Johnson in April and May, 1860, in the United States circuit court before Judge Drummond. The case involved the title to land of very great value, the accretion on the shore of Lake Michigan. During the trial Judge Drummond and all the counsel on both sides, including Lincoln, dined together at the house of Isaac N. Arnold.

At the conclusion of the dinner this toast was proposed: "May Illinois furnish the next president of the United States." It was drunk with great enthusiasm by the friends of both Lincoln and Douglas. — Chicago Record-Herald.

Jim Tillery of Holliday came to town yesterday to take the train for Fort Worth. Before train time he met some convivial friends and forgot all about the train. This morning he reported to the officers the loss of $20 in money and his railroad ticket.

Dr. Wade Walker has returned after a visit of about six weeks with his old home friends in Kentucky. Doc enjoyed his visit immensely, as he does all the good things in this life, and returns to his practice here much refreshed and rejuvenated after his vacation.

Major J. P. Hart of Archer City, county surveyor of Archer county, is in the city today shaking hands with old friends. Major Hart is one of the pioneer surveyors of this section and, according to his friend, Major Cobb, locates all his lines from the South Elm corner, of historic tradition.

ANOTHER FIGHT SCANDAL.

Prominent San Francisco Sporting Men are Involved.

By Associated Press. San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—The Los Angeles sporting world is agog rivaling the O'Brien and Burns fiasco over another big pugilistic scandal, of some months ago. In connection with the calling off yesterday of the twenty round go between Joe Gans, the lightweight champion, and Jimmy Burns, scheduled to take place before the Pacific Athletic Club on August 15th. Prominent San Francisco sporting men and representatives of the alleged "fight trust" are involved and are charged with having offered large sums of money to break up the match for the reason that it interfered in various ways with the Britt-Gans match, scheduled to take place early in September.
