WATER COMPANY SUBMITS PROPOSITION TO IRRIGATED LAND OWNERS.

THEY OFFER FREE WATER

Condition That Farmers Maintain Ditches and Pay Cost of Operation.

A meeting held at Bean & Stone's private office this morning the Wichita Falls Water and Light Company submitted a proposition to the owners of water rights on lands along the irrigation ditch, which in effect offers free water to the land owners on the condition that they maintain the ditches and the cost of operation. The water company agrees to keep the dam and furnish water for irrigation purposes free of charge. Hereafter the contract between the owners of water rights and the water company called for the payment of two dollars an acre for the use of the water, the company maintaining the ditches and operating the irrigation system.

There are now about 2,000 acres under irrigation and the farmers owning the irrigation rights will meet next week to consider the proposition. If it is accepted, which now seems probable, the farmers will form a co-operative company and the costs of maintenance and operation will be pro-rated among them.

CLAY PIERCE NOT ALARMED.

Receiver, Dorchester of Waters, Pierce Property He Will Visit State at Proper Time.

Berham, Tex., Oct. 11.—C. D. Dorchester, Federal receiver of the Warner-Pierce Oil Company in Texas, who has been in St. Louis for several days, returned home last night.

While there Mr. Dorchester met Henry Clay Pierce. He expressed to the receiver his satisfaction at the progress of the business under court protection and his belief that he will be dealt with justly thereby.

He did not refer to the oft repeated determination of Gov. Campbell to have him back in Texas, but stated to Mr. Dorchester his intentions to, at the proper time, visit the State, and does not seem to find in the situation any cause for alarm for his personal or property interests.

BACON WILL ACCEPT.

Friends Say That He Will Be Recommended for Postmastership.

It is stated upon seemingly good authority that Cecil Lyons, chairman of the Republican State central committee, has determined to recommend to President Roosevelt the appointment of Otto T. Bacon as postmaster in Wichita Falls. Mr. Bacon is not dissatisfied with this report, but his friends here say that the appointment has been offered him and that he has taken the matter under advisement and will probably accept.

Mr. Bacon was prominently mentioned for the appointment some time ago and at that time said he would not accept the postmastership if it was tendered him. It is understood that he has changed his mind and is now willing to accept the appointment.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

To Inspect the Filter Plant at Sulphur Springs.

At the meeting of the directors of the Wichita Falls Water and Light Company this morning, a committee was appointed to go to Sulphur Springs to inspect the filter plant in operation at that place with a view to ascertaining the same method here to employ and clarify the water. A proposition was formulated to be submitted to the residents and property owners of the Crescent Lake addition for a water service.

THE UNITY CLUB

Charmingly Entertained at Home of Mrs. Zundelowitz.

In response to a cordial invitation to all members to be present, Mrs. Zundelowitz's parlors were well filled with enthusiastic members of the Unity Club Friday afternoon, October 11. The officers having been previously elected and the program arranged, nothing remained to be done but to take up the work for the year.

The president, Mrs. Darnell, in a few well chosen words, set the club to work, with Mrs. H. C. Young as leader for the afternoon.

The study of Julius Caesar was begun, and with the aid of Miss Kate Friends' outline of Shakespeare, the club hopes to do an excellent year's work.

Mrs. Reed read a splendidly written paper, "The Fifty Years of Rome Before the Assassination of Caesar." Mrs. Robertson gave "Relations of Characters by Family" in a very interesting way.

The lesson over, the hostess in her usual charming manner announced she had brought from Europe to each one a little token of remembrance, and presented a dainty, perfumed package, which contained a beautiful hand-made lace handkerchief.

After being served with delicious refreshments, the ladies departed, declaring Mrs. Zundelowitz to be the ideal hostess of the Unity Club.

THE SKIFF CAPSIZED.

Father and Two Sons Drowned While Crossing the Cumberland.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 12.—While trying to cross the Cumberland river a short distance below this city last night in a skiff, T. J. Warmack and his two young sons were drowned when the boat capsized. George Tullis, who was also in the party, reached the bank in safety.

STOCKS ARE LOWER

LEADING STOCKS SELL DOWN TO LOW LEVEL OF LAST MARCH.

HARRIMAN DENIES RUMOR

That He Has Ordered Sweeping Reductions on His Railroads.

New York, Oct. 12.—The New York stock market opened very weak today, a number of the leading stocks selling down to the low level of last March.

The explanation of this decline as flashed in Wall street is based on rumors that E. H. Harriman has issued orders for sweeping reductions on every railroad line he controls. Harriman gave out a denial today that such orders had been given.

Booze Will Come With Statehood.

Muskogee, I. T., Oct. 12.—The citizens of the Indian Territory are getting ready to quench a long thirst, just as soon as the president issues the Statehood proclamation.

Attorneys who have examined both the constitution and the enabling act give it as their opinion that there is no law whatever against the introduction of liquor into the territory after statehood. The constitution provides that it shall not be sold or given away, but it does not prohibit any person from buying and having shipped in all the liquor he wants for his own consumption. Under the present law it is a penitentiary offense for persons to ship liquor of any kind whatever for his own use or for sale. There will be many a private selection of liquors in the cellars of the Indian Territory residents under statehood.

DETROIT LOST AGAIN.

Chicago Won on Tigers' Diamond by Score of 6 to 1.

GIVING UP THE FIGHT

WESTERN UNION CLAIMS THEY HAVE APPLICATIONS FROM MANY STRIKERS.

UPON INDIVIDUAL MERITS

Applications of Strikers Are Being Considered and the Best Places are Being Rapidly Filled.

New York, Oct. 12.—Officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company stated last night that their force of operators throughout the country had been largely augmented within the past few days through the application of strikers to return to work. The applications of the strikers are being considered on individual merits and as a result it is said that the desirable places are rapidly being filled.

The report that Colonel Clowry, president and general manager of the Western Union, has resigned, is authoritatively denied.

Say Report is Canard.

Special to the Times.

Port Worth, Tex., Oct. 12.—Stamping the newspaper dispatches from Cleveland to the effect that striking telegraphers there have applied for their old jobs back, as a canard, a bulletin has been sent out from striking headquarters in Chicago under date of Oct. 8, and received at local strikers' headquarters.

Excerpts from the bulletin follow: "The morning press says that the Cleveland local has voted to return to work at the old terms and that they would ask President Small to permit them to do so. Letters and telegrams we have received from Cleveland prove this absolutely untrue. Statements of this nature are being sent broadcast over the country by the companies, saying men in this and that town were going back, but are untrue and are spread in the hope that they may be believed by some weak-kneed borthers somewhere and start a stampede.

"Striking operators are conversant with the tactics employed by the companies to attempt to create stampedes, and such reports have no effect upon them.

"Each company is worrying along with a handful of superintendents, managers and chief operators working wires and the condition grows worse daily as the scabs' endurance reaches the limit and exhausted nature cries for rest and sleep."

Say Strike is Won.

While very guarded of speech, local striking operators appear confident that the strike is in reality won, and that the companies will soon seek a settlement, and doubtless grant the full demands of the strikers. They declare that their slogan, "stick, stick," is being lived up to and that the companies have only a small percent of needed operators. On the other hand, the companies contend that they are handling a normal amount of business.

At a meeting of the volunteer fire company at the City Hall last night, a committee of three was appointed to meet with the City Council when the purchase of a new fire wagon is made. The following were appointed members of the committee: E. B. McHam, Lloyd Wilson and Everett Hughes.

HAILED WITH DELIGHT.

Lusitania's Record is Occasion of Rejoicing in Britain.

London, Eng., Oct. 12.—The performance of the Cunard liner Lusitania in crossing the Atlantic in 5 days, and 20 hours is hailed with delight throughout Great Britain. All the European papers published long accounts of the passage and ask that the Lusitania repeat the performance in its westward passage.

Rev. J. J. Dalton and wife are moving into the new Presbyterian manse today, which adjoins the church on Tenth street.

They all pronounce it the best program yet at the Majestic.

PRESIDENT MOVES CAMP.

No Bears Found on Upper Tensas and Camp is Moved Forty Miles.

Stamboul, La., Oct. 11.—President Roosevelt's camp at the Monticello crossing of the Bayou Tensas has passed into history. The president left the place at 6 o'clock this morning and when he turned his back on the camp it was with a determination not to return again.

He headed toward Bear Lake, whence on Sunday he will remove to another camp which will be pitched near Newellton, in Tensas Parish, on a branch of the Iron Mountain railroad.

The decision to change camp was arrived at yesterday and preparations were immediately begun for the movement. Mr. Parker was dispatched to Stamboul to make arrangements for a train from that point to Newellton, and B. Jackson, one of the colored bear hunters, was sent in with him with instructions to proceed to Newellton and select a proper place for the new encampment. The change of location was decided upon not only because no bear had been killed, but because the president and his friends became convinced that there were none, or practically none, on the Upper Tensas.

The new camp will be on Bayou Tensas, as was the old, but forty miles south of the present site, and it will be about twelve miles inland from the railroad. The people in that section claim that the bear have been run out of the up country and have taken refuge in the region in which there has been less disturbance. Only Ben Lilley, Holt Collier and the Metcalf brothers of the professional hunters will be taken south. Jack Powell, the negro cook, will also be attached to the new camp. Most of the horses and dogs and some of the tents will likewise be removed. The transfer will be made on a special train consisting of a Pullman, a baggage car and a live stock car.

CHANGE FOR WORSE

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH IS NEAR TO DEATH.

IN A STATE OF APATHY

Vitality of Aged Monarch is Slowly But Surely Ebbing Away and End is Near.

Vienna, Austria, Oct. 12.—The condition of Emperor Francis Joseph took a turn for the worse at noon today and it is now believed that the end is near. The following bulletin has been issued:

"Coughing continues, though the emperor spent a good night." The report from Madrid that the proposed visit of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria to Vienna has been indefinitely postponed, has been officially confirmed.

TAFT IN HONG KONG.

Secretary and Party Will Sail for Manila Tonight.

Hong Kong, China, Oct. 12.—The steamer Minnesota, with Secretary William H. Taft on board, came into the harbor today.

Secretary Taft and party are attending a reception at the American consulate this afternoon and will dine with the governor tonight. After the dinner the Minnesota will sail for Manila late tonight.

Arrives in New York.

New York, Oct. 12.—Representative James E. Ransdell of Louisiana, who accompanied President Roosevelt on his trip down the Mississippi, arrived here this morning in the interest of the annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which will be held in Washington early in December.

NEW LAW IN FORCE

ACT REGULATING LENGTH OF TRAIN CREW SERVICE.

TO WORK ONLY 14 HOURS

Texas Measure Differs From Federal Statute, Which Requires That Men Must Be Employed No Longer Than Sixteen Hours.

Beginning at midnight last night it became unlawful for any railroad to knowingly permit any conductor, engineer, fireman, brakeman, train dispatcher or telegraph operator to work longer than fourteen hours until he has had at least eight hours off duty.

The act was passed at the regular session, but at the special session it was amended so as to make it effective ninety days after July 12, when other laws went into effect.

The Texas act differs with the law passed by congress to that extent that the Federal statute provides that these men shall work no longer than sixteen hours. Certainly, by observing the Texas law, compliance with the Federal measure is made an easy matter for the railroads.

At many points railroads have been increasing their force of operators, so as to comply with the order as to dispatchers and operators, and a number of men have been added from time to time.

With reference to trains the law was aimed at local freights, which on some lines frequently require longer to make the runs than the fourteen hours set by the legislature. Ten hours is the average time of the run on most of the lines, but it sometimes happens that delays will lengthen the schedule. At local points frequently there is a great deal of switching to be done, and in the busy season the trains lose a great deal of time.

The disposition of the roads is naturally to hasten the freight to the end of the division and on to its final destination. It is to their interest to do it. But sometimes delays occur. Here is where the law may hurt many of the lines.

The law is going to be obeyed by the roads. As to how it will affect them, or what course they will pursue if a freight train fails to get within twenty miles of its destination or a terminal within fourteen hours, will be seen only after such condition arises after the law becomes effective.

Dog and Pony Show Coming.

Every boy in the country will now be saving up their small change to go to the Bonheur Bros. Dog and Pony Show. There are few shows that possess the drawing powers of this aggregation. Who is it that is not captivated by the tiny Lilliputian horses from the ghost islands of the West Indies? There are ten of these equine wonders trained for the ring, besides midget trick mules, Arab horses, milk white beauties, educated goats, monkey dudes from Monkeyland endowed with a college education, and the funniest of clown dogs from the animal school. Specialty performances will also be seen on a large stage, interspersed with fire dances and moving picture plays. Don't miss the free open air band concert and outside exhibition before the show begins. Will exhibit in this city on Thursday, the 17th.

ONE KILLED—EIGHT INURED.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 12.—In a collision between a Louisville and Nashville freight and a Frisco passenger near Pratt City at 6 o'clock this morning one man was killed and eight injured. J. C. Smith of Birmingham was killed instantly. Among the injured are General Freight Agent Willcox of the Frisco, who had his knee wrenched and W. M. Goldsmith of Rochester, New York.

GRIDIRON BATTLES

FOOTBALL SEASON IS NOW ON IN EARNEST.

MANY GAMES TODAY

Pigskin Chasers are Girded For the Fray in the North, East and South.

New York, Oct. 12.—Football in the East is now reaching an interesting stage and today's contests promise to be useful in giving a line on the relative strength of the big elevens. Harvard will meet the fast Williams squad at Cambridge, while Yale will play Holy Cross at New Haven. The work of the crimson bunch, so far, has been somewhat disappointing to the Harvard fans, and it is generally admitted that in the early games the Elis have shown up to the best advantage. In their recent practice the Cambridge lads have made marked improvement, and the rooters hope that they will demonstrate their ability by rolling up a big score in today's contest with Williams.

Princeton meets Bucknell today, and is showing up, well and the enthusiasts of Old Nassau are already doting out a championship season. Particular interest will attach to the game at Philadelphia between Swarthmore and Pennsylvania, because of the recent bequest of the late Miss Anna Jeanes, who gave $1,000,000 to Swarthmore college with the provision that athletics be abandoned. Swarthmore is especially proud of its football team, which once defeated Pennsylvania, and the sentiment of the students is decidedly in favor of refusing the bequest on the terms offered. In any event, the matter will not interfere with this season's football schedule at Swarthmore, since a decision will not be reached until the meeting of the board of managers in December. The Swarthmore eleven will put up a battle royal today in an attempt to defeat the Quakers, since the effect of such a victory might cause the board to decide that a winning football eleven is more to be desired than even a million dollars.

At Ithaca today Cornell will play Colgate, while the citizens of Buffalo will witness what should be a fast game between the Carlisle Indians and Syracuse University. The redskins have made an exceptionally good record since the season opened and there are some who believe that they have a good chance of winning the championship honors of the East. West Point meets Trinity at home, Dartmouth plays the Massachusetts Aggies at Hanover, Amhurst meets Bowdoin, Lehigh plays Rutgers and New York university meets Stevens at Hoboken.

The big game of the South will be that between the Naval academy and Vanderbilt university at Nashville, at Annapolis. The Tennessee squad is admittedly not as good as last year, and it is anticipated that the sailors will have little trouble in taking its measure. George Washington university will play Western Maryland at Washington and Alabama and Mississippi are scheduled to measure strength at Columbus.

In the West the principal games will be Indiana at Chicago, Ames at Minnesota, Wabash at Purdue, Alumni at Iowa, Nebraska at Grinnell, Kansas Aggies at Haskell and Denver university at Utah. The season will open in the Central West in earnest, when Chicago will play the Illini, the Nebraska Cornhuskers will invade Minnesota and Missouri will play Iowa.

As the result of an advertising campaign, Secretary Myles of the Chamber of Commerce is receiving many letters from prospective truck farmers who are making inquiries concerning irrigated lands in this section. The irrigated lands about Wichita Falls offer better opportunities for truck farming than any other section of Northwest Texas, and the possibilities of farming by irrigation have scarcely begun to be realized here. Mr. Myles is following up the inquiries very closely and is confident of bringing good results.

Very few pecans have as yet been brought into the local market, but the first good frost will liven things up in the pecan groves and will open the market in earnest. Local dealers are paying from 10c to 12c for the nuts.

Bears and Business.

If President Roosevelt loves a "game fighter," he ought to be fond of the Rev. Mr. Long of Massachusetts. In the controversy between the "Burroughs-Roosevelt" school of New York story writers and the Massachusetts school of meekness and mercy, the Burroughs-Roosevelt school scored so heavily in the first October opening that the Reverend Mr. Long seemed to have nothing left to say in support of his theory that if a game animal is not prematurely killed and skinned it has possibilities of developing increasing intelligence, even up to the point of human mildness and gentleness.

Those who may have supposed that the Reverend Mr. Long had been finally disposed of by this "combined onslaught" did not take into account his gameness. In countering, he alleges that the last bears killed by the Roosevelt contingent of nature students were mother bears, killed in the spring when they were nursing their cubs and too weak to escape easily. As for the rest of the New York or dead game school, Mr. Long asserts that they are "skin collectors," the obvious inference being that they are attempting to collect his also.

While this is gameness, it is not to any obvious extent mildness. Unless prematurely skinned, such bears as are likely to be found in the Louisiana cane brakes might easily attain this much of the spirit of Massachusetts tolerance for the infirmities of aggressive domination. In fact, Louisiana bears may now be seen dancing to the music of hand organs in a much less formidable spirit than the Reverend Mr. Long displays. They are often muzzled as a precautionary measure, as Mr. Long is not, but that is not to the purpose.

The real purpose of life in the United States is the business of life, not of sport or controversy. The president may be dead game in hunting bears with a rifle and adding their skins to his collection. The Reverend Mr. Long may be dead game in hunting them with a camera and photographing them to show that when not exasperated by unnecessary attempts to skin them they are really as mild as some New York "nature students" if not as some of the Massachusetts school. In subsequent controversy both sides may show dead gameness over bears and hundreds of other topics which can be developed to distract attention from the business of life. But the United States are a field for business, not for exploiting bears or controversies over bears.

A sense of the innate respectability of American institutions, common fairness, common sense, common respect for the opinions of a world which has real work to do are what make for business, not for buying and selling only, but for the whole business of life in the greatest Republic of the world.—St. Louis Republic.

Byers Newslets.

Special to the Times.
Byers, Tex., Oct. 11.—A break down at the gin Monday caused quite a little excitement, as a Mr. Tucker made a very narrow escape. The large pulley that runs the stands flew to pieces and struck a post just over Mr. Tucker's head. The gin could not run until the necessary repairs could be gotten from Dallas.

Mr. J. J. Nixon had quite a runaway Wednesday while returning from Henrietta. His horse became frightened at something on the roadside and, as one would say in common parlance, was mortally flying. Mr. Nixon said he was sure not more than one would get home alive and as the horse could not talk, maybe he had better quit the buggy. In jumping from the buggy he sustained sprains and bruises which he will remember for some time. The worst feature of the wreck was that the running horse headed into Henry Meadows's (the rural mail carrier) buggy and caused his team to run away and overturn his wagon. Fortunately Meadows was not seriously injured.

Dr. Poe and Garrett of Henrietta are here doing dental work for their regular customers.

Cotton Pickings.

Justice Brothers made a trip to his farm on Red River yesterday and reports that the cotton yield in that section is exceeding all expectations and in consequence the farmers are jubilant. From nearly every section of the Wichita reports of the same tenor are coming from the cotton fields. The weather has been unusually favorable for the maturity and the picking of the crop, and from present indications the estimate on the crop in this section will have to be raised materially.

Reports from the big centers indicate more firmness in the cotton market and the markets closed yesterday several points up. The cotton market now depends much upon the weather and early frosts in the cotton belt would send the price upward, and on the other hand continued favorable weather would have a tendency to force the market still lower.

Cotton in the lint was selling around $11.30 in the local market today, and cotton in the seed sold as high as four cents.

Men who keep close to the cotton market estimate that about one-third of the crop ginned in this section has been sold by the growers, the other two-thirds being held by the farmers and placed in storage in the Farmers Union Warehouse for a higher market, much of it to be held for a minimum price of fifteen cents.

Right here in Wichita Falls the buyers have been paying a higher price for cotton than has been paid in other towns in this whole section of the state. The yield too is turning out far better than was anticipated a month ago, and the cotton is not only yielding more but grades better than in almost any other part of the state. In many instances the valley lands are turning out a bale to the acre.

The Kentucky traveler who was yanked off a train in Texas for taking a drink of whiskey on board the cars, is probably convinced that the Lone Star is not so wild and woolly after all.

About the best thing a man in Texas can do now is to carry a copy of the state statutes under one arm and a Bible under the other, and look as innocent as a sanctified preacher.—Moravia (N. C.) Yellow Jacket.

BE CONSISTENT, BE LOYAL.

If you want to help Wichita Falls grow the way to do it is to do your trading at home. Just the other day a farmer, who has been a reader of the Times for a number of years, visited the office and approved the policy the paper has always stood for regarding sending away for supplies to catalogue houses in foreign cities, but was under the impression that the paper was only striking at those farmers and country people who occasionally send away for an article. This farmer was well posted and happened to know that it was the practice of many business people in this city to send away for their household supplies. He wanted to know why it was that the Times failed to make mention of this fact. It is true, the Times has never made it a business to call names in speaking of this practice of sending away for that which can be obtained of home dealers, but it has frequently called attention to the fact that until our business people ceased to patronize catalogue houses themselves they could hardly expect others to do so. If all the money which is drawn from this city and surrounding country should be spent with local dealers we would have a much better town and country. It would make it possible for retail dealers to carry larger stocks; it would bring the man who owns business and resident property better income on his investments; it would create for the farmer a better local market for his products and it would help build up the country more than any other agency. The business man who sends out of his home town for his supplies does not deserve to be patronized, and the farmer who does the same thing should seek a market for his products from the people to whom he sends his money.

TOM JOHNSON AND CONGRESSMAN BURTON.

Leading Republicans throughout the country, it appears, are very apprehensive that Mr. Roosevelt made a serious mistake when he encouraged the nomination of Congressman Burton for Mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, to oppose the re-election of Tom Johnson, since it is believed by most of them that Burton is doomed to a disastrous defeat. Burton is Taft's right hand man in Ohio, and if he is defeated, the effect on Taft's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination will suffer a set-back, as some will point to Burton's defeat as hostility among Republicans to Taft. This is not the first time Burton and Tom Johnson have been in a race for the same office. In 1888 they were rival candidates for congress. More than 40,000 votes were polled in the district and Burton won by about 600 majority. In 1900 Johnson won for the same office over Burton by a majority of 3,000, and in 1894 Burton won the office back over Johnson by a majority of 5,000. After that defeat Johnson was elected as Mayor of Cleveland and has not only refused to run against Burton for congress, but has been the means of giving his old-time opponent a clear field and allowed him to be elected without very serious opposition. Johnson is an aggressive free trade Democrat, while Burton is a protectionist of the extreme type. Some of Taft's opponents are now claiming that Burton was put up for the express purpose of being slaughtered in order to discourage in the State of Ohio Taft's boom for the presidency.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Index, came out last week in a six column form and we consider this a great improvement in a paper that was already good. The Post has made arrangements to change to an eight page six column form within the next few weeks and then Childress' papers will be the same in size. This is the ideal form and size for a good country paper. The people of Childress may not be aware of the fact, but they are already getting better news service than any other Panhandle town that has no daily. A glance over the various papers of the Panhandle will reveal the fact that the two Childress papers are giving more local matter and spending more money on their news service than those of any other town. There are other towns where the local papers are receiving much more advertising and where they are making more money but none are representing their towns so well.—Childress Post.

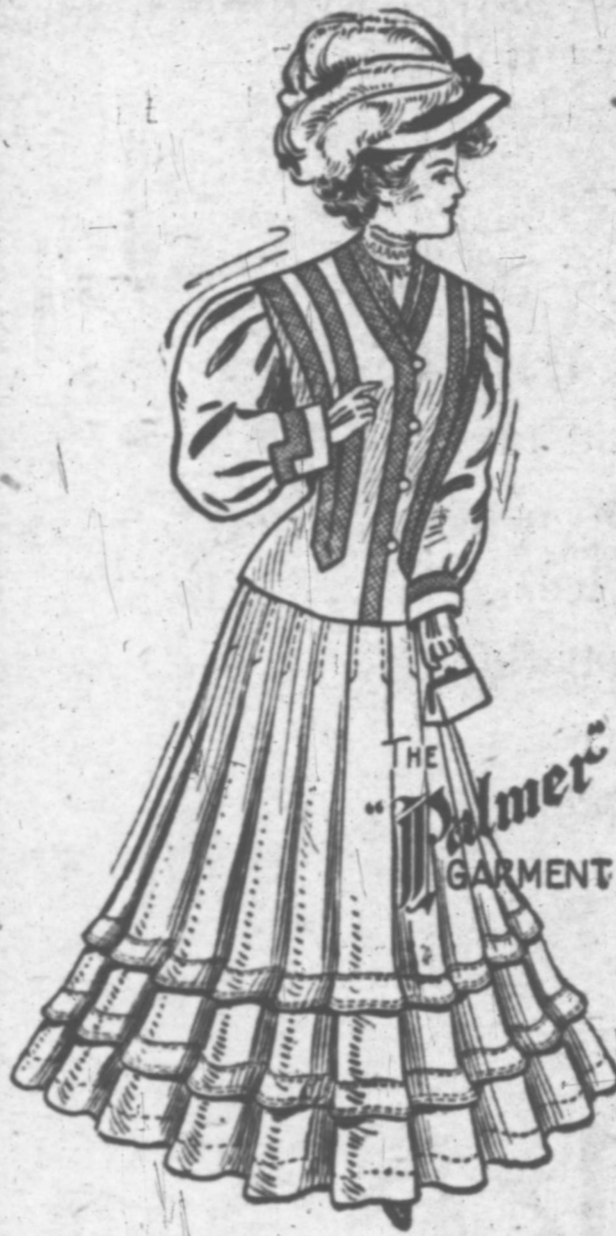

In the Post and Index Childress has two splendid papers, far above the average, and judging by the number of ads carried by both papers, it seems the business men of that town fully appreciate their worth. Sometimes publishers of splendid papers get to be just a little bit unreasonable and expect too much patronage. The Post editor may be a little bit inclined that way, but his readers, no doubt, will agree with the Times that the Post now really has quite a sufficient amount of advertising. By placing the rule to the issue of the Post on our desk, the Times finds that it contains 440 inches of display advertising and 224 inches of reading matter, part of the latter being local ads.

Referring to the coal purchases the New York Evening Post says: "Two hundred thousand dollars in excess of the bids of foreign contractors, the president is willing to pay American ships for carrying the coal for the fleet to the Pacific. But no more. When it comes to paying a superfluous million dollars the presidential gorge rises. Why should it? What has the republican party been doing all these years but teaching the public that foreigners must be prevented from getting American money at any cost, and that the true purpose of government is to make money for certain favored Americans? Anybody who has a shipyard has long been regarded as having a special claim on government pay; and the exclusion of all foreign ships from our coastwise trade has made ship-owners feel that the government was a silent partner in their enterprise. Now that they are to receive a bonus of $200,000 they will doubtless forget any longer to marvel at the government's setting itself up to violate the very laws it compels its citizens to obey and will no longer growl because the administration has hired a British naval reserve steamer to run on its Panama line. Some good has plainly come out of this mischievous cruise. It has given the public another admirable lesson in what happens when there is a high tariff and a statutory restriction of trade. All Mr. Roosevelt's jauntiness in bestowing the gift of $200,000 upon the ship owners will not prevent thousands of Americans from perceiving that they are the victims of a conspiracy to save one set of men from business competition, when others have to work out their own salvation without government coddling."

BIG INDIAN CHIEF

QUANAH PARKER IS GUEST OF TOWN NAMED IN HIS HONOR.

SPENDS THE WEEK THERE

Interesting incidents in Life of the Famous Indian Statesman recalled By His Visit.

Quanah Parker, one of the most celebrated Indians of modern times, is the guest of our city this week.

This Comanche chief has always taken a great deal of pride in the town named for him, and through the medium of the Tribune-Chief has kept himself well informed as to its doings.

Quanah looks well, and does not talk so much about getting old and dying as he did last year. When we first met him Monday he was dyked out in the white man's garb, and sported a diamond breastpin in his tie that would have aroused the envy of the least jealous woman in town.

The old Indian was in high spirits; evidently the companionship of his old friend, Yellow Bear, known among the pale faces as J. L. Elbert, Esq., the pioneer real estate man, was grateful to him, and they were well nigh inseparable.

Quanah had many thrilling escapes in the early days in the settlement of this country, beginning with the battle a few miles south of here when Nona, his father, was killed by Gov. Ross, and his mother, Cynthia Ann Parker, captured. His numerous escapades on the plains would fill volumes, still he never came nearer to death's door than one night at the old Pickwick hotel at Fort Worth in the late eighties.

Quanah and another Indian chief had gone to bed in the same room, after carefully blowing out the gas. The fumes during the night killed Quanah's companion but the old chief remained in the land of the living though it took every doctor in Fort Worth the next day to keep him there. The Washington authorities at the time were much distressed, for if Quanah had died, it would have been impossible to have kept the Comanches from believing that he had met with foul play, and they probably would have gone on the war path.

Quanah is a great admirer of President Roosevelt, W. Q. Richards and Burke Burnett, whom he holds among the greatest men of this age. He is getting ready to visit the two later cow men, who never fail to provide him with plenty of beef and good hunting and he and his tribe are ready to do justice to their hospitality.

In his home near Cashe, Quanah possesses the prettiest farm in Oklahoma. The Wichita mountains recede to the north forming a triangular valley with Cashe creek as its base line. Sheltered by the steep mountains Quanah's fourteen room residence commands a magnificent view over several hundred acres of the richest land imaginable. The creek bottom is densely wooded making it very easy to pass the valley without noticing it.

The chief has always made it a point to be on a pleasant footing with his white neighbors, but not long ago was seriously discomfited by their action in refusing his little grandson admittance to the only public school in the neighborhood. Raising the race issue cut the old Comanche through the soul and he has never been the same to his neighbors since.—Quanah Tribune-Chief.

In connection with the reported escape of a city prisoner from the county jail several weeks ago Sheriff Davis feels that an injustice was done him. Mr. Davis says that the man was sent without an escorting officer in charge from the city hall by the city officers and that he never arrived at the jail at all. Mr. Davis states that he has reserved a separate compartment at the jail for the city prisoners, where the city officers are supposed to place their prisoners and that he is not responsible for the failure of any city prisoner to reach the jail.

Faithful to a Promise.

The following pathetic story is told by the press dispatches:

A man in Chicago had been arrested for the third time on charge of intoxication. On each of the previous arraignments he had promised the judge that he would abstain from the use of intoxicants if he were allowed to go. The third time the judge was lenient and let the man go on his promise to reform. The man went to his home and fell ill, probably from the effects of the sudden withdrawal from his system of the stimulating liquor. In his delirium he raved for that which he had promised not to have, and steadily his weakened system succumbed to the ravages of the disease whose quickest cure is to feed upon that which produces it. Then his good wife, unable to stand his ravings any longer, filled a glass with whiskey and held it to his lips. Here was life and relief from the terrible craving that was drawing him down to unconsciousness and he might drink and be saved. For an instant he hesitated and then all the strength of his manhood was centered in his promise, and he dashed the glass far across the room and beyond his reach.

He was keeping his promise.

As his sufferings increased the wife again offered him the whiskey—she could not have been truly sympathetic had she done otherwise, and he again cast it from him. His promise was still inviolate. And the next day as his shattered body writhed in the agony of final dissolution the glass was held to his lips that his dying struggles might be eased, but for the last time he refused it, and, refusing, died.

He had kept his promise at the cost of his life.

The Mysterious Passenger.

The captain of a vessel which was bringing to America in the fall of 1790 a mysterious passenger who had come aboard at Hamburg watched the latter so closely that at last the passenger said one day: "Sir, this is not the first occasion upon which I have observed the attentive scrutiny you bestow upon me. May I inquire the reason?" "Sir," responded the candid captain, "you took passage on my ship as a Dane. I don't believe you're anything of the kind." The passenger smiled. The smile was full of perspicacity and confidence and was followed with, "Pray tell me, then, what you believe me to be."

At this question Captain Ewing sidged, hesitated and finally blurted out: "Well, to be honest, I think you are a gambler. You've well nigh ruined yourself at home and are now coming to fleece the fools you'll find on shore."

The young man's smile broadened. The next minute he turned grave again, lowered his voice and replied: "Captain Ewing, as you have studied me during this voyage, so I have studied you. I have come to the conclusion that you are a man to be trusted. I am Louis Philippe, duc d'Orleans, eldest son of that Louis Philippe d'Orleans who was slain by the guillotine on the 7th of November, almost three years ago."

When Dead Men Ate.

In the medical press is a story of a man who believed that he was dead and who for that reason refused to take any nourishment. "How can the dead eat and drink?" he asked, when food was pressed upon him. It was obvious that unless something were done to bring him to his senses the delusion must soon become actuality—he would die of starvation. The strangest ruse was tried. Half a dozen attendants, draped in ghostly white, crept silently in single file into the room adjoining his and with the door open sat down where he could see them to a hearty meal. "Here, who are these people?" inquired the patient. "Dead men," answered the doctor. "What?" said the other. "Do dead men eat?" "To be sure they do, as you see for yourself," was the answer. "Well," said the corpse, "if that is so, I'll join them, for I'm starving." The spell was broken, and he sat down and ate like forty famished men.
