

LIQUOR LAW UPHELD

SALOONS CANNOT OPERATE UNDER UNEXPIRED LICENSES.

OPINION BY JUDGE BROOKS

Vaccarezza Case From San Antonio Decided By Court of Criminal Appeals Adversely to Saloons.

Tyler, Tex., Oct. 16.—In the case of the late Steve Vaccarezza from Bexar county, the court today remanded the relator to the custody of the sheriff of that county. This case was to test the right of a saloon man to continue his business under his old license after the Baskin-McGregor law became effective. The court held in an opinion delivered by Judge Brooks and concurred in by Judge Henderson, Judge Davidson being absent, that under the Baskin-McGregor law a man in order to engage in the sale of retail liquor must take out license under the provisions of that act and that he cannot engage in the sale of whiskey under and by virtue of the unexpired license that he held at the time the Baskin-McGregor law went into effect. In his opinion Judge Brooks holds that the Baskin-McGregor law repeals all other laws in conflict therewith and that therefore saloons cannot operate under unexpired licenses issued prior to the time that the Baskin-McGregor law went into effect. The court does not construe, however, that the Baskin-McGregor law meant prohibition over the State for a certain period but that all saloon men should have begun preparation for a new license as soon as the law went into effect.

The Vaccarezza case is the medium through which the San Antonio liquor dealers and the State revenue authorities agreed to test the new statute, in accordance with which agreement the saloon men put up $80,000, the amount which they would be required to pay in licenses if the case went against them.

The case of ex-parte Woods from Orange county, bearing on the same subject, was argued today and its final disposition will be watched for with interest in all the prohibition districts in the State. The relator applies for habeas corpus seeking discharge from prosecution for the violation of any act after the Thirtieth legislature imposing a high license tax on the business of selling Uno and Ino and such non-intoxicating malt liquors. The constitutionality of the act is attacked on the following grounds:

1. That the bill contains more than one subject.
2. That it is a private or local bill and no notice having been published on an intention to apply for it before the bill was introduced. That thereby it is void.
3. That the license tax is so high the prohibition in its effect and being an innocent pursuit removed from the police powers of the legislature.
4. That the law violates that provision of the constitution that requires all occupation taxes to be equal and uniform upon the same class of subjects.

LAWTON BOOMING MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Special to the Times. Lawton, Ok., Oct. 17.—Lawton promises to be the liveliest town in the new State of Oklahoma during the coming year. The value of the public and private improvements now under way and projected will reach a million dollars. Here's the schedule for a busy winter: Waterworks, $260,000; sewers, $50,000; streets, $10,000; paving, $200,000; school house, $25,000. The sidewalk extension is going on as fast as the contractors can take care of it. In the way of private expenditures the Baptist college will expend probably at once $250,000. The First National Bank has commenced work on the finest three story bank and office building in Oklahoma. The building will be 50x150 feet. In addition to these improvements, the government's appropriation for Fort Sill exceeds a quarter of a million.

FOUR HUNDRED VETERANS

Remnant of the Cavalry of the Gallant Forrest Led the Parade.

By Associated Press. Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 17.—Several hundred grizzled veterans, civil war survivors in the cavalry commanded by General Nathan Bedford Forrest, met here today in their fifteenth annual reunion. About four hundred of the Forrest veterans were mounted and led the parade, which included members of the Southern Mothers' Organization, the Ladies' Confederate Memorial Association, local members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Junior Confederate Memorial Association and others. The parade ended at Forrest Park, where an imposing statue of a cavalryman stands. Here simple but affecting ceremonies were held. The veterans in the afternoon took part in a barbecue in the East End Park.

The young man who was arrested yesterday after he had cashed a forged check, at the jail last night said that his name was Charles Teter and claimed that he had once been a bookkeeper in a bank in Oklahoma. According to Teter's statement, he now has a brother engaged in the banking business in Oklahoma.

CHAMPIONS NEGRO

CARNEGIE SAYS THEY HAVE BECOME INDISPENSIBLE.

PROBLEM STILL UNSOLVED

Lord Roseberry Doubts Wisdom of Enfranchisement—Believes Period of Tutelage Should have Been Imposed.

By Associated Press. Edinburgh, Scotland, Oct. 17.—Andrew Carnegie in an address at the Philosophical Institution yesterday appeared as the champion of the negro in the United States. He traced their development from slaves to citizenship among them, their participation in church affairs and told of the enormous expenditures of money for their churches and schools. Mr. Carnegie contended that the negro was a saving man and repudiated the idea that the negro was lazy. He said that they had become of economic value and indispensable. He admitted, however, that the negro problem was still unsolved. Lord Roseberry, who spoke on the same question, said that he doubted the wisdom of enfranchising the negro. He believed that ninety per cent of them were illiterate when they were enfranchised and on Mr. Carnegie's showing that 47 per cent of them were still so, it seemed to him that a period of tutelage might have been wisely imposed.

Many local nimrods are making hunting expeditions into Oklahoma these days. The open season for quail hunting is now on in the new State and they are reported to be unusually plentiful. Ralph Darnell and T. C. Colgin returned last night from a hunting trip about Kell and report splendid sport. They couldn't bring their game home with them for the reason that the Oklahoma law prohibits the carrying of such game out of the State.

Complaints have been filed in the corporation court against E. M. Rogers, local manager for the Southwestern Telephone Company, and Claude Foose, collector for the same company. The complaint against Rogers is that he allowed a load of coal to remain on the sidewalk over night, while Foose is charged with riding his bicycle on a sidewalk.

COTTON IS HIGHER TODAY

SOLD AS HIGH AS $11.85. Cotton was selling higher today than for several days past, the price ranging, from $11.25 to $11.50. Two bales of extra choice cotton from Young county sold for $11.65. Considerable cotton came into the gins today, and a number of bales were sold.

STATISTICAL POSITION.

Some Basic Facts and Figures About American Cotton Crop.

S. H. McCormick in Dallas News. It is an axiom of economic science that the action and reaction of supply and demand regulate, in the long run, the market price of all commodities. As a rule, price results from the amount of the supply and the extent of the consumptive demand on the supply. In view of this law I ask space to state briefly the basic facts in regard to the supply and demand of cotton, so far as these facts can, at the present time, be stated in an intelligible way. I speak only of the American cotton, which constitutes on an average about three-fourths of the world's supply. On the assumption that demand or consumption of the commercial year beginning September 1, 1907, and ending August 31, 1908, will be the same as in the preceding commercial year, three elements are involved—the amount of cotton consumed during the preceding commercial year, the amount of cotton on hand, in the visible and invisible supplies, on Sept. 1, and the amount of the prospective crop of the current year. The invisible supply consists of mill stocks and the visible supply consists for the most part of port stocks at the world's outlets.

On Sept. 1, 1907, the total visible and invisible stocks of American cotton were 2,845,000 bales. On Sept. 1, 1906, they were 2,054,000 bales. Let this year's crop of American cotton be assumed to 11,500,000 bales. The year's supply will consist of course, of the aggregate of these two amounts, or of 14,345,000. The total supply of the preceding commercial year was 14,404,000 bales. The total consumption of American cotton during the preceding commercial year was 12,698,000 bales. The cotton mills of the world last year took 13,060,000 bales. They took 1,862,000 bales more than they spun. This fact accounts for the large carry-over at the end of the last commercial year.

If the cotton crop now being gathered should be 11,500,000 bales, and if the mills of the world should, during this commercial year, consume the same amount that they consumed last year, the carry-over on September 1, 1908, would be 1,647,000 bales, or something more than half of what was on hand Sept. 1, 1907. The carry-over on September 1, 1907, was, as I have said, 2,845,000 bales; and on September 1, 1906, it was 2,054,000 bales; on September 1, 1905, it was 2,912,000 bales; on September 1, 1904, it was 1,146,000 bales.

My figures are taken from the annual statement of Henry G. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange. In presenting these figures I am seeking neither to write cotton up nor to write it down. I venture to make no prediction as to the future price of cotton. I assume neither the role of prophet nor adviser. Making prophecies and giving advice are very hazardous things. I merely give facts and figures. From these each person can draw his own conclusions.

TRAGEDY AT CHILLICOTHE.

D. H. Hawkins Shot and Instantly Killed While Resisting Arrest.

Saturday evening a tragedy occurred at Chillicothe in which D. H. Hawkins was instantly killed. Sheriff Walker had papers for the arrest of Hawkins and notified Constable Owen Harvey to arrest him on his arrival at Chillicothe, which he prepared to do. It seemed that Hawkins was a desperate character and everyone was desirous that he should be arrested. Constable Harvey secured the assistance of Will Vance to arrest him.

When Hawkins arrived at Chillicothe he was informed that he could consider himself under arrest, but he did not think he had to be arrested and began trying to take the constable's gun away from him. In the struggle the gun was discharged. This caused considerable excitement and the constable told Vance to shoot Hawkins as he was about to get the gun away from him. Vance did so and he was instantly killed. No doubt if he had secured the gun the officers would have been killed and probably others too would have been shot.—Quannah Observer.

W. B. Brown, who has been thirty-six years in continuous mail service, is the oldest in the 11th division and is now running out on the Wichita Falls and Dallas Railway. When Eastland was the terminus of the T. & P. Railway in 1880, Mr. Brown stopped over night with the Call-man, who at that time was postmaster at Eastland. Mr. Brown was born in Forsyth county, Ga., and expects to continue in the mail service.—Vernon Call.

A JACK THE RIPPER

VERNON MAN RUNS AMUCK IN RESORTS AND STABS TWO WOMEN.

ONE WOMAN MAY DIE

J. C. Evins Placed Under Arrest Late This Afternoon After Rampage in Resort District.

A man whose name is said to be J. C. Evins and whose home is said to be at Vernon, ran amuck in the resort district late this afternoon and as a result of his demonstration one woman who is an inmate of Mamie Lynn's place, was wounded in the abdomen with a knife stab and another at Lizzie Harris' place received a knife cut on the arm. The wounded woman at Mamie Lynn's place is probably fatally hurt.

Marshall Gwinn was called to the scene by a telephone message and arrested Evins and placed him in jail. Evins at first refused to accompany the officer and required a strong dose of physical persuasion before he came along.

As far as has been learned, Evins' attack was entirely unprovoked. It is said that he was intoxicated and had had trouble with a man in the resort district earlier in the afternoon. This aroused his fighting ire, it is said, and he proceeded to raise a rough house and in the two houses mentioned used his knife freely. At the time Marshall Gwinn arrived Evins had driven all the inmates from the house and was in sole possession of the place.

Owing to the late hour of the occurrence fuller details of the affair have not been learned.

Depressed Feeling Prevails in Wall Street and Stocks Sell Lower.

POLITICAL GOSSIP

BRYAN NOT IN FAVOR IN NEW YORK.

FAIRBANKS DOWN AND OUT

Hughes Will Have the Backing of New York—Knox a Possibility—Taft is to Be Reckoned With.

Special Correspondence.

New York, Oct., 17.—We begin to feel the influence of Bryan boomers here in New York, who are urging that he is the only candidate the Democrats can put up. New Yorkers aren't quite ready to concede that, although they are willing to concede that Bryan proposes trying again for nomination. But I find less enthusiasm for him about the hotels thus far than ever before since 1889—that is, eight months preceding convention. Word I have from Washington is that he isn't regarded as at all likely to get the nomination. But certainly his supporters are getting busy in the east here, making a quiet canvas to line up the sentiment.

Other Democratic Gossip in New York.

Johnson seems to be left out of it, even if Watterson does champion him. Among the gold Democrats—which means of course, among men of wealth who are Democrats—D. R. Francis, of Missouri is best liked. Culberson, of Texas, isn't talked of much more. Folk is beginning to be looked into, mainly because he has "done things." The consideration of Chandler—New York's lieutenant governor—is much hurt by his having the support of Conners, chairman of the State committee. Daniels, of Virginia; Harmon, of Ohio; White, of Louisiana; Watterson, of Kentucky, none of them appear to be in the running at all; but Douglass, of Massachusetts, the Brockton shoemaker, is much discussed for "second place" on the ticket in the event that the presidential nomination should go to the west, or south. Our mayor McClelland, doesn't seem to have even a tiny boom formulated, but some think that augurs well for him in the end. Hearst is never spoken of except as being a party who is necessarily bound to be a factor in the convention because he wields newspaper influence, but as a presidential figure he is not counted on here in New York to do more than fuse his Independent league when the time comes. I should say that at the moment the best bets were Francis and Folk, with Douglass as a second-placer.

Latest Republican Gossip.

The latest talk of Republican candidates figures Fairbanks as permanently out of it. Foraker hopeless, Knox possible, Taft highly likely, but Hughes having much the best of it at the moment. Of course you must reckon on New Yorkers' natural prejudices in favor of their own State as a presidential supplier; for all the candidates on the public lips Hughes is the least known. That he has presidential aspirations is not denied; that he has been given warm hopes to believe that he may be "it" is also conceded. Many think that Taft is being overtalked, that he is hurt by Roosevelt's apparent anxiety for him to have the nomination; and I was told last night by a prominent Ohian that Foraker controls enough districts in the State to make it utterly impossible for Taft to go into convention with a solid delegation. If that be so he won't be as strong as he ought to be. Cannon isn't thought of, and Root is believed to represent Wall street too strongly to be worth while nominating. One thing that hurts Hughes' chances is the same that hurts Taft's—probably inability to mass a solid delegation, for New York Republicans are divided into factions, with the bitterest sort of feeling between the Odell and the Roosevelt cliques; and while it is Republican politics to unite, that seems very doubtful here.

Cuban Interest Spreading to the Philippines

I am informed that Cuban unrest is spreading to the Philippines, and that when Mr. Taft arrives there he will have some pointed questions put up to him as to what the United States proposes doing relative to giving the Filipinos independence. Undoubtedly much of this unrest in the Philippines is created by the Anti-Imperialists in this country, all of whom are importers with large interests in the Philippine Islands. But it is having its effect, and the Filipinos haven't gotten what Taft promised them when he was governor, or what he held out to them as a hope. The difference in the situations is, I am told, that Cubans are aggressive while the Filipinos are cowed and timid. The Administration wishes to shy at these problems if possible, for they are nasty questions to bring up immediately prior to an election for its postponement?

Catholic Prelates Have the Laugh on a Magazine.

Catholic prelates are much amused at the "enterprise" of a certain magazine which in its last issue professed to portray who the next American cardinal will be. It illustrates the frantic zeal of publishers to get "scopes" when such a preposterous theme as choice of a cardinal is discussed, when it is a known fact—where knowledge is possessed in the slightest degree—that of all the uncertain things in the world the choice of a cardinal is the most uncertain. Eminent bishops smile at the "valueless" of the information of a secular publication able to publish what they haven't the faintest hint of. But these publishers are great men, you know; they are much like Stephens-Decatur who, the night before he was killed in the duel toasted his country as "right or wrong, my country." Right or wrong it's "their magazine" for the rich tid-bits, which, it chances, is wrong, woefully, foolishly wrong at that. No man a-top of earth has the faintest surmise who the next American cardinal will be, or if there will ever be a second at the same time.

What Lady Modish Has to Say About Hats.

From Town Topics. My faith in womankind is reviving! The extremes in things sartorial that threatened earlier in the season to make us all look guys have been modified. Fitness is now the keynote, and to be smart one must have a perfect ensemble, each detail quiet, even inconspicuous.

For instance, hats, except for calling and theater, have shrunk in size and are toned down to perfect relation with the head. Those the Roosevelt bride ordered are charming, one especially, of soft gray felt rolling slightly at the left side and fitting the head rather closely. A mass of wide and flexible quills by the turned-up side was headed with a big, wise-looking owl's head.

To hold the hat securely in place a big flat chon of blacks under the brim against the hair at the left. Around the crown there is a narrow twist of black.

Big hats prevail for evening and reception, but none of the monstrosities of late summer size.

Loaded indeed are charming model hats with ostrich plumes and tips. With marabout they are the preferred trimming, but each is laid on the hat, not directed away from it, and if any fall over the brim it is by the merest two inches.

Mrs. Sydney Smith, paying informal visits the other afternoon, wore a hat of this type, white adorned with black tips. The magpie combination certainly holds on wonderfully.

Wholesome Sanitation.
No matter what may be the consensus of opinion as to the complete list of laws passed by the Thirtieth Legislature of Texas, it is safe to say that men and women unanimously endorse the bill introduced and passed requiring the scientific cleaning and disinfecting of schools, churches and public buildings.

In many places, particularly in the country, the church building serves not only as a place of Sabbath worship, but is the school building five days in the week, the lecture and debating hall, the room for entertainments, and the auditorium for political speaking. With a room in constant use by men of such varied types and systems, the result is often a floor and even four walls decorated with tobacco spittle and sputum from throats diseased with catarrh, tuberculosis and other germ diseases.

In such cases the dry sweeping is not only nil as a method of cleanliness, but becomes a harmful practice, in stirring up the germs from the dust and dry spittle, which float about the room to settle on walls, benches and furniture.

The law requires the floors to be swept with sawdust wet with a solution of formaldehyde, and that windows and furniture be carefully wiped off; rugs, carpets and moveable furniture thoroughly aired after each meeting or service. This does away with the dry sweeping and the dry dusting. If germs have been deposited they are positively eliminated by this airing, cleaning and disinfecting.

Instead, then, of poking fun at this measure, we should guard its requirements and use our personal influence to see that such regulations are strictly enforced. In this way, and only in this way, can we make for the health and welfare of our children, our home and our native State.

The scholarly William E. Byerly, professor of mathematics at Harvard, was once asked by a student how to develop a retentive memory. The professor answered that ordinary mental exercise was sufficient to secure a good memory, whereat the student asked if he might test the mental capacity of his instructor. Professor Byerly agreed, and the student asked him to listen to and remember several varied items for a test. He began:
"One quart of whiskey."
"Um!!" said the professor.
"Six pounds of sugar, a pint of sour milk, three onions half a gallon of molasses and two raw eggs."
"Um!!" said the professor.
"One quart of whiskey."
"Um!!" said the professor.
"Two green apples, twenty-six peanuts, one and one-half cucumbers and four mince pies."
"Um!!" said the professor.
"A package of starch, sixty-seven cakes of yeast and the skins of seven bananas. Got that down?"
"Yes," answered Dr. Byerly.
"How does it taste?" asked the student.—Boston Herald.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Oct. 17th, 1907.

Cotton has a fixed value and should bring as much in one town as in the other, provided the freight to the seaports are the same. Wichita Falls has a number of cotton buyers, and all of them are after the cotton, and in order to get it have to pay the top of the market. Things are not now as they used to be, when only a few straggling bales of cotton were brought to this market during a cotton season. Now we are equipped with two splendid cotton gins, a cotton compress and a cotton oil mill. These enterprises have been put here because it has been demonstrated beyond a question or doubt that the soil of Wichita and surrounding counties is capable of producing just as good and a little bit more of cotton per acre than the black lands of Texas, and with less labor. The cotton farmers of North and Middle Texas are finding this out and are coming to this part of Texas in droves to buy and settle down on small farms.

Up to this year Wichita county farmers have never taken to cotton raising to any great extent. The failure of the small grain crop early in the spring made it necessary for them to either plant their wheat and oat lands to cotton and corn or let them rest for a season. Many preferred to rest their lands. A few planted cotton and corn and as a result raised good crops. Corn is now selling for 57 to 67 cents per bushel, and cotton on an average of 1 1/2 cents per pound. More than 6,000 bales of cotton will be produced in Wichita county this year—at least three times as much as was ever produced in any one year previous. This cotton, together with the seed, will sell for an average of $65.00 per bale, which will bring the farmers of the county the neat sum of $390,000. Next year at least 12,000 bales of cotton should be raised in the county.

Wichita Falls now has all the dry goods and grocery stores that the population of the city and surrounding country will support, but there are many other lines of business that would come here if business houses could be had. For that reason more business houses should be constructed. The complaint of the scarcity of business houses is greater now than ever before and the demand for them is growing daily. At least a half dozen could be rented on long time leases at a price that will pay good interest on the money required for their construction.

The Republicans of Oklahoma, having failed to secure the support or sympathy of Roosevelt and the administration at Washington in their efforts to contest the election of the Democratic State ticket in Oklahoma, have laid down, and it is now said that statehood for the territories is assured and will come by November 1st.

We are still receiving fresh vegetables and solicit your orders for anything in our line. Nutt, Stevens & Hardeman. 133-21

Where Will They Get Money.

It is announced from Washington that the republican congressional committee is preparing to set up a great campaign thunder factory at the Federal capital for the purpose of conducting a long, persistent campaign for the control of the next congress and some people are wondering where the money is to come from, since it is not probable that the "yellow dog" funds will be available.

Don't be alarmed about the ability of the republicans to get money and plenty of it and they will get it from the same old sources in the same old way. So far as this Washington bureau is concerned, however, it will be apparent later on that the public itself will pay the burden of the expenses. The approaching session of congress will witness a vast output of oratory. These speeches will be printed by the tens of thousands at a nominal cost and mailed to all sections of the country under the congressional frank. Thousands of tons of documents, prepared for campaign purposes, will thus go to the voters. The voter who gets this stuff, together with seeds, books, etc., may swell up when he thinks of the courtesy of the congressman in thus remembering him, but it will not occur to him, perhaps, that he is paying for it himself.

All the preaching we have heard in regard to civic righteousness will count for little when the exigencies of the campaign require money. The republican managers may not get it from Mr. Harriman or from the life insurance companies, but the protected barons are still interested in the Dingley law and they will have to pay the cost of its maintenance as usual. They know very well that the republican talk of tariff revision is buncombe and they will be prepared to do business with the campaign managers when money is needed.

Of course, these contributions will not come directly from the treasuries of the trusts and corporations, but it is merely a matter of juggling the books to transfer the money to the hands of some individual who will hand it over.

All the indications are that next year's contest will be fought between the people and the money power. The democrats will have less money than ever before and the republicans will have all they need for legitimate purposes and an abundance with which to buy votes in the doubtful States. The problem of getting the money is not troubling the republican managers in the slightest.—Houston Post.

Conditions Better Here.

The Texans who return from New York are more than ever impressed with the prosperity of their own State. A stringency in the money market exists in New York. In discussing this situation, a man well known in Wichita Falls said:

"One hears of hard times on all sides in New York. Everywhere the complaint is made of the tightness of the money market. Those who have surplus funds simply won't let go of any of their money, and men who need it are in a bad way. Certainly the conditions are most unsettled.

One of the causes for the present stringency is the feeling of uncertainty among financiers as to what course the United States government—legislative and executive branches—will take in the future with respect to corporations. Industrial stocks have suffered considerably from this, and other lines have pursued a sympathetic course.

The iron and steel market constitutes a good barometer of business conditions. Just now there is practically nothing doing, the market being extremely dull. And so it is in other lines in the East.

"Things are different in Texas. Even with a shortage in the cotton crop, the State is in a prosperous condition, and no such complaint exists here as in the East. This is easily accounted for in the fact that the people of Texas produce something. They have something to sell, something more tangible than stocks and bonds. This is an agricultural country, and the ground is the source of all wealth, there is something solid and substantial about the prosperity that abounds in the Lone Star State."

Old Favorite Coming.

"Uncle Josh Spruceby," the first of the many rural plays now being presented in the different cities, will be seen at the Wichita Theater for one night, Monday, October 21st. This production is said to be different from all others, as it contains much comedy as well as pathos, and the realistic saw mill scene is said to be the most exciting and intense effect ever produced. The scenes of the play are laid in Vermont and New York, which gives ample opportunity for portraying the simple rustic characters in country as well as the many incidents which befall the simple country folks that visit the metropolis.

LITIGATION OF THE UNION.

The Synod of American Presbyterian Church is Told of the Condition.

Waxahachie, Tex., Oct. 16.—The first meeting of the synod of Texas of the American Presbyterian church has passed into history as a gathering in which perfect harmony prevailed. The last day of the session was devoted entirely to the consideration of reports of standing committees.

The following with reference to the status of the litigation of the reunion of the churches was adopted:

Your committee on pastoral oversight, appointed at the Abilene synod, knowing that suits had been instituted for the property of some of our churches, appealed to a few friends for funds to defend the church in the controversy with but few responses, they believing local churches should bear the expense of the suits. The entire funds raised are in the Western Bank and Trust Company at Dallas. Of this sum we recommend that we pay $20 to Rev. S. M. Templeton for expenses in connection with the Jefferson suit.

That you commend most heartily to all churches Judge M. B. Templeton, who has given his legal services generously to the cause of his church, and conducted voluminous correspondence without money, paying even his own stenographer and the traveling expenses.

That you remind your churches that the litigation in the several States so far as carried, sustains the validity of the union both as to the power of the constitutionality and as to the regularity and validity of the steps taken by churches in the accomplishment of the union. The courts have found that there is no doctrinal trust attaching to the property of the church in any such manner as would interfere with the effecting of this union, and that the property is a possession of the church in its organic capacity that the only question for the court to determine is as to the present identity and whereabouts of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. This question is answered by district and chancery courts in California, Indiana, Missouri, Tennessee and Texas, by the court of appeals of Illinois and by the supreme court of Georgia; and that the constant answer is that the identity and present laws of the Cumberland Presbyterian church are now to be found within and are a part of the reunited church.

MONKEY STOLE THREE BABIES.

Had to Be Shot Before Children Were Recovered.

Brussels, Oct. 12.—An incident which just happened at Hamont caused excitement among the population. A circus arrived in the town and after the tents were set for the evening performance it was found that three babies were missing.

An investigation led to the discovery that an old monkey belonging to the circus had kidnaped the children and taken them to a little house near by, where the beast kept watch on the roof while the children were asleep.

It was necessary to fight the monkey in order to rescue the children, and it proved to be a hard fight, as the beast refused to let anyone enter the door of the house. The monkey had to be shot before the children were rescued.

A negro passenger on an Oklahoma train was shot and instantly killed a few days ago by a white man—the county attorney of an Oklahoma county. The provocation for the killing was that the negro, on boarding the train, took a seat by the side of the white man, who immediately moved away and took another seat in another part of the car. This gave offense to the negro, who followed the white man to his seat and demanded an explanation of what the negro termed an insult, and without multiplying words with him the white man pulled his pistol and shot the negro dead. This is given merely as a news item. The reader can form his own opinion as to whether, under the circumstances, the negro got what he deserved.
