BULLETIN—
Madrid, Spain, Feb. 3.—The government has ordered the cruiser, Princess de Asturias, to proceed at once to Lisbon.

By Associated Press.
Lisbon, Portugal, Feb. 3.—Premier Franco has relinquished power and a new cabinet has been framed with Admiral Ferreira de Amaral as president in place of late Dictator Franco. This step signified the practical withdrawal of Franco from power.

The opening session of the new council was held today. King Manuel II appeared before the ministers and placed himself entirely in their hands.

The new cabinet is made up of a coalition of many elements in the hope of reconciling the many disturbing factions.

Some of the new ministers have been notably opposed to Franco's iron rule. Not one of the ministers who were in sympathy with Franco will remain in the new cabinet.

Intense Excitement Prevail.

By Associated Press.
Lisbon, Portugal, Feb. 3.—The city is still in the throes of intense excitement. The authorities continue to follow unceasingly the details of the plot which culminated in the assassination of the king and his heir. One man is now under arrest. He is an Italian who played in the orchestra of a theatre in Lisbon. This man is in an extreme condition from hysteria. His food in prison is served him without knives or forks for fear that he will kill himself.

NO DECISION ANNOUNCED.

Wichita Falls Railway Officials Have Returned From Hearing at Guthrie.

Messrs. Frank Kell, C. C. Huff, M. M. Murray, C. L. Fontaine, and Mr. Sanders, all connected with the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway, returned Saturday from Guthrie, where they had been summoned to appear before the corporation commission of Oklahoma and show cause why the defendant railway shall not construct and maintain a depot at a point on the road nearest to the government town-site of Eschitt, and for the further purpose of showing reasons for not complying with the 2-cent fare law in Oklahoma.

Mr. Kell, general manager for the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway, was seen by a Times reporter after his return from Guthrie and said that while the commission had not rendered a decision in either case, gave it as his opinion that his road would be exempted from the 2-cent fare law. He expressed no opinion as to what the ruling of the commission would be in regard to the construction of a depot near Eschitt.

NO MOVE TO SECURE THAW'S RELEASE

By Associated Press.
New York, Feb. 3.—According to announcements made yesterday it is not likely that any action will be taken looking toward the release of Harry K. Thaw from the Mattewan asylum for at least a month. It is said that Martin W. Littleton, Thaw's chief counsel, will leave the latter part of the week for a vacation and will probably be gone two or three weeks. In the meantime no move will be made to secure Thaw's release through habeas corpus proceedings.

Artful Cupid's Wiles.

Cupid, the artful God of love, oft times mixes up the destinies of man and changes the whole course of human lives. A few months ago E. C. McMillan, a graduate of the Brooklyn Navy Yard school in steam, electrical and gas engineering, and a son of E. S. McMillan, a well known Texas railroad contractor, came to Wichita Falls to take a position with the Wills Automobile Company as head machinist. He had trotted about the globe, some and at that time he had little thought of permanently locating in Wichita Falls. He had not been here long, however, before Cupid began to make plans for him and soon had him hard and fast. McMillan fell in love with Miss Eunice Payne, an operator at the Southwestern telephone exchange and a very popular and charming young lady. McMillan's suit was successful and on last Wednesday morning the couple were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Fry at the Baptist parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. McMillan are now at home at 408 Lamar avenue.

Parties interested in bidding on the property known as the Wichita Theatre, located at the corner of Eighth street and Scott avenue, are requested to be on hand at the court house at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. 226-11

WRECK ON DENVER

A QUEER CO-INCIDENT

Wichita Falls Passengers Were Talking of Wrecks When the Crash Came.

North bound Fort Worth and Denver passenger No. 1, due here at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, was wrecked at Rhome, Texas, yesterday. The exact cause of the wreck is not known, the locomotive tender jumping the track at a point this side of Rhome and turning almost completely over.

The trucks were stripped from the baggage coach and from the two passenger coaches immediately following. The track was torn up for a distance of nearly a hundred yards and the cars were thrown about in a confusing fashion.

The floors of the baggage coach and the passenger coach immediately following were torn into splinters by being stripped of their trucks and then dragged over the wheels.

The wreck caused a panic among the passengers, but it is reported that not a single passenger was seriously injured.

The train was in charge of Conductor A. S. Cockrell, who is well known in Wichita Falls. J. L. McConkey and Attorney C. C. Huff were also among the passengers.

In connection with this most unusual incident is reported. Just before the wreck occurred Mr. McConkey had jokingly accused Mr. Huff, who is an attorney for the railroad, with being on the train for the purpose of settling injury cases from wrecks. While the two were talking Conductor Cockrell came along and stopped and was talking with the two Wichita Falls men on the same subject, when a violent shock, followed by the sound of splintering floors and crashing glass, announced a sure enough wreck.

In the hours following the wreck, for the train did not reach this city until about 9 o'clock last night, Mr. Huff was kept quite busy in settling with injured passengers.

Lectures on Sunday Observance.

Rev. Edward Thomson, a representative of the Sunday League of America, delivered three addresses in Wichita Falls Sunday on the subject of Sunday observance. He argued the necessity of observing the laws respecting the "Lord's Day" from a patriotic, economic, health, social and religious standpoint, giving instances of persons in high positions from Washington to Roosevelt who favored the strictest observance of this day.

It is not a question of the other man, but will you do right?

Drug stores should not be opened on the Lord's day. If one really needs medicine the druggist can fill the prescription. Doctors should let their patients know that unless it is a case of urgent necessity they will not make calls during the hours for church services. He gave the church members some hard questions to harmonize with the Bible and duty to our fellows who buy their meat, ice, groceries and other things on the Lord's day, thus forcing clerks and keepers of these commodities to work on the day set apart for rest and home comfort. He declared there was no need for the post-office to be open on this day, only that the people demanded it. We are hopeful that his visit did much good, and how we urge that all the people of our city observe this one day in seven as a day of rest, both of body and of mind. Let no church member patronize a Sunday baseball game, an excursion to the lake or elsewhere, go hunting fishing or other such things, as will lower in the minds of our children and the young people of our city the sacredness of this day. And let us join hands in making Wichita Falls a model for others to pattern after in law-abiding, moral, upright citizenship. Shall we do this?

MESSAGE SPLITS REPUBLICAN PARTY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—President Roosevelt's sizzling message to congress, coming on the heels of the business depression, and fired upon congress at a critical time in the preliminaries for the presidential campaign, has split the republican party wide open. It is now to be unremitting and bitter warfare between the Roosevelt radicals and the conservatives. The struggle is to have all the intensity of that within democratic ranks over the silver issue in 1896. Hughes is chosen as the man around whom all the anti-Roosevelt republican forces are to rally. The fight is certain to shake the carefully built structure of republican organization from turret to foundation stone.

Conservative vs. Radical.
The message sharply defines an issue of conservative vs. radical, a distinction of party nomenclature that has been a prominent feature of the political history of Great Britain, and thus far has not appeared in the politics of this country. No one here yet sees that a radical and a conservative party, under these names, are to come into immediate being. Yet it is being asked in Washington now, "How can men like Aldrich, like Hale, like Allison, the great senate triumvirate, be longer classed in the same party with Roosevelt?" They will all try to stay in, but types such as the former will make a desperate effort to regain control of the party machinery. It is then planned that the Roosevelt people shall trail or strike out for themselves. In this connection, parenthetically, Mr. Roosevelt himself objects to calling it "radical vs. conservative," and prefers "reactionary vs. progressive."

Conceal Real Views.
The quoted comments of republican legislators upon the message do not begin to express their real views. Those who differ in principle, if they spoke out, would talk almost as strongly as did Chancellor Day, of Syracuse University. Those who are alarmed merely from political fears, but are afraid to join issues with the president, forswear themselves and give perfunctory indorsement. Many of both sorts, more determined than ever in opposition to Roosevelt, have set to work under cover to get control of the Chicago convention.

Railway Mail Service Established.
Postmaster Otis T. Bacon informs the Times that a railway mail service has been established on the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway from this city to Frederick, and that beginning today pouches will be carried to Burkburnett, Devol, Eschitt and Frederick.

City Council Meets Tonight.
The city council will meet in regular monthly session tonight. A considerable lot of business will come before the meeting.

Quality Cheapness

When a customer has once been educated to quality, he will seldom seek a store a store that appeals merely to the desire to save pennies. There are communities where quality arguments would have no weight, but many more could be educated toward quality if the right arguments were used. Quality arguments are sometimes slow trade builders, but they build exceedingly strong—bargain goods are only a bargain to those who cannot afford the best, but there is generally a hole in a bargain. If you simply want BARGAIN COFFEE, pay the cheap price and get it. If you want absolute purity and perfect flavor—the kind that brings you back for more, PAY MORE AND GET MORE. QUALITY has been behind every business that has built up a solid reputation.

LINCOLN'S JOKE.

Fixing the Responsibility For the Loss of Harpers Ferry.

President Lincoln's jokes, especially when perpetrated in connection with grave matters, usually had a purpose in them. After Lee had taken Harpers Ferry the president, realizing how great a calamity it was to the northern arms, determined if possible to fix the responsibility for the loss of the important position.

Halleck was summoned, but did not know where the blame lay. "Very well," said Lincoln, "I'll ask General Schenck." The latter could throw no light upon the question, further than to say that he was not to blame. Muroy was the next to be called to the presence of the commander in chief and to enter a plea of "not guilty." Hooker was next given a hearing, and "Fighting Joe" made a very emphatic disclaimer of all responsibility.

Then the president assembled the four generals in his room and said to them: "Gentlemen, Harpers Ferry was surrendered and none of you, it seems, is responsible. I am very anxious to discover the man who is." After striding across the room several times the president suddenly threw up his bowed head and exclaimed: "I have it! I know who is responsible!"

"Who, Mr. President, who is it?" asked the distinguished quartet as they looked anxious, if not troubled.

"Gentlemen," said the president, with a meaning twinkle in his eye, "General Lee is the man."

There was a lack of mirth in the laugh created, and the four generals took their departure with a determination that they would not again be placed under suspicion.

SLEEP MYSTERIES.

Tasks Often Performed While the Worker Slumbers.

"One can become so accustomed," he said, "to a monotonous task that one can fall asleep and still keep on working. Thus in India there are punka coolies, men who turn a fan all night long in the hot weather while their English masters rest, and it is not uncommon for a punka coolie to acquire the knack of sleeping at his task. On and on he sleeps through the hot, perfumed hours of the Indian night, but his hand mechanically and steadily turns the punka pulley.

"Men have composed great literary works in their sleep. Coleridge's 'Kubla Khan' is the most famous example of this; but, then, Coleridge was a morphinomaniac, and his sleep was scarcely natural. But R. L. Stevenson, Corelli and Longfellow have also done good work while sleeping.

"Divers sometimes fall asleep deep down in the sea, but some unknown part of their brain keeps watch, and at the proper moment, though asleep, they give the order to be hauled up. This is a good deal like the miracle that happens to all of us—the miracle whereby if we tell ourselves on retiring that we must wake at 7 we invariably do wake at that hour—how or why it is impossible to say. Some part of us watches, works, keeps awake all night, so that at 7 it may call us."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Penny For a Priceless Book.

A workingman once purchased for a penny an aged looking volume bearing date of 1540. The man tried to read it, but threw up the attempt apparently in disgust, and the volume was relegated to the cupboard. A friend of his happened to see the book and took it to the British museum authorities, who promptly made an offer of £90, the highest sum the librarian is allowed to expend without a special vote of the trustees. Had the man known what he was about he would have stood out for more, as the authorities would have paid almost any price rather than allow the volume to slip through their fingers. It was, in fact, the first book printed by Gutenberg and was therefore almost priceless.—London Tit-Bits.

Improved on Solomon.

In a certain Sunday school a little girl told the story of Solomon and the disputing mothers in this wise: "Solomon was a very wise man. One day two women went to him, quarreling about a baby. One woman said, 'This is my child,' and the other woman said, 'No, 'tain't; it's mine.' But Solomon spoke up and said: 'No, no, ladies; don't quarrel. Give me my sword, and I'll make twins of him, so you can both have one.'"

An Auditive Illusion.

"What town is that a few miles to the north?" shouted the aeronaut, leaning over the edge of the basket.

"Oshkosh!" yelled the agriculturist over whose farm the balloon was passing.

"What?"

"Oshkosh!"

"What did he say?" asked the aeronaut's companion.

"He didn't say anything. He swore at me."—Chicago Tribune.

GROUND HOG SAW SHADOW WINTER TO CONTINUE 6 WEEKS

According to the popular old superstition the weather conditions yesterday had a great deal to do with the kind of weather we will have for the next six weeks. Yesterday was February 2nd and was Ground-Hog Day. On that day Mr. Ground Hog came forth from his hole and cast an anxious look at the shadows across the mouth of his den and quickly scurried back into the depths of his subterranean residence to wrap himself in slumber for six more weeks while winter reigns over the land. Had the day been cloudy and the "critter" seen no shadow he would have remained without, expecting sunshine and spring to come on apace.

Surfacing Natural Wood.
White pine, birch, cherry, whitewood, maple, sycamore, gum and hemlock need no filling at all. They are classed as the close grained woods, and their surface presents no pores or cellular tissue to be filled. Still the surface needs to be sealed up so the wood will not suck the oil out of the varnish. This is called surfacing. It consists of coating the surface with shellac and then sandpapering down to a smooth finish. When thus treated the wood is ready for the varnish.

Riding the Rail.
A Georgia paper says, "He who rides on the rail courts death."
It was an Irishman, ridden on a rail, who said that except for the honor of the thing he would just as soon walk.—Houston Post.

OBITUARY.

Died, at his home, 1205 Lamar avenue, James M. Brown, Sr., in January 23rd, 1908, at 1 p. m., after an illness of only three days with grippe, passing away without pain seemingly.

He was born in Barnard, Castle county, Durham, England, on March 2nd, 1834. After growing up to young manhood he served seven years apprenticeship as carpenter.

In about 1857 he came to America and enlisted in a permanent company at the Carlisle barracks in Pennsylvania for a five year term. At the end of this term he received an honorable discharge from his commanding officer. The next few years he was in private life in Lacon, Marshall county, Illinois.

In October, 1866, he returned to Carlisle, Pa., where he reenlisted for five more years service in Company B, 4th United States cavalry. In December, 1867, he was transferred from Carlisle, Pa., to Texas, landing in Corpus Christi, and by wagon train moved his family to Camp Verda, and from there to Austin, where the Texas headquarters were located at that time. From there he was moved to Fort Concho, and in 1870 he was moved to Fort Richardson, where, on the 25th day of October, 1871, he received an honorable discharge, with this statement under the head of Character: "An excellent noncommissioned officer and soldier. An upright and trustworthy man." After his discharge from the army he moved his family to Austin, Texas, where he followed the carpenter's trade until 1875, at which time he moved on a farm about sixteen miles from Austin, and in 1885 he came to the Wichita Falls country and for the last seven years had made his home in Wichita Falls.

He was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church and a man whose word was his bond, and one who was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, Mrs. E. E. Brown and nine children as follows: R. H. Brown, Goodnight; W. W. Brown, J. A. Brown, J. M. Brown Jr., Mrs. W. H. Bachman, Mrs. Charles F. Priebe, Mrs. Charles Duke, all of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Effie Strom and Frank B. Brown of Denison, all of whom, except a son, Frank Brown of Denison, were at his bedside during his illness and death.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Feb. 3rd, 1908.

Is a man insane who does what the law requires of him, i. e., protect from slander the woman he has married? According to the verdict in the Thaw case, when he does such a commendable act, he must plead insanity in order to escape a long term in the penitentiary or perhaps death. The woman Thaw married was not as virtuous as she might have been, but before marrying him she told of her past life and her relations with Stanford White. Thaw loved the woman and in the face of what she had told him, married her. It was then nothing but his plain duty to give her all the protection that any man with a spark of manhood in him could. White, who was a married man, persisted in his attempts to renew his relations with this woman after her marriage to Thaw, and as a result was shot down like a dog. For this, the same law which requires a man to love and protect the woman he marries must suffer the same penalty as a common murderer, or prove himself to the satisfaction of the court and jury that he was insane at the time of the commission of the act. In this respect the verdict is unjust, but owing to the inconsistent law was the best for the defendant that could be returned. The fact that Thaw killed White should have been an evidence of his sanity instead of the reverse. He would have been a fool to have not taken the course which he did.

People themselves will do things which they know to be wrong and which are in violation of the law. Not only this, they will even stand for injuries to themselves and their property, which could be abated were their neighbors to observe the law. This is as true as gospel itself, and until some man, a preacher for instance, who is expected at all times to practice what he preaches, and tread in the straight and narrow path, falls into the same habit of violating the law, then and not until then do the people who have so long stood for nuisances, discover the fact of their injury. This is one way in which preachers are a benefit to any community and the Times sincerely trusts that our city authorities will not allow their efforts to abate nuisances stop with the arrest of one of our prominent ministers. There are others and they should have been stopped months ago.

A short time ago the esteemed Abilene Reporter referred to Wichita Falls as being a town of about one-third the population of Abilene. These figures will have to be revised now, according to the poll tax record. There were just 727 people who paid this tax in Abilene in time to qualify as voters, while 662 did the same thing in Wichita Falls—a difference in favor of Abilene of only 65. At the same rate of increase, the difference one year from now will be in Wichita Falls' favor.

Sappho.
Sappho was born in Lesbos about the end of the seventh century B. C. In antiquity the fame of Sappho rivaled that of Homer. She was called "the poetess," he was called "the poet." She was styled "the tenth muse," "the flower of the graces," "a miracle," "the beautiful." But few fragments of her works are preserved, and these only incidentally by other writers.

FORECAST OF THE WEEK.

Many Interesting Events on Tapis With Portugal in Stage Center.

The coming week will be replete with interesting events at home and abroad, including the development of the serious political situation in Portugal, the passage of the American fleet into the Pacific ocean, the renewal of the fight for Irish home rule in the British House of Commons, the formal inauguration of Vice President Fairbanks' presidential candidacy by his home State, Attorney General Bonaparte's inauguration of the Federal suits against the so-called Harriman Pacific railroad merger and many other lesser events.

Congress promises nothing sensational during the week. After devoting part of the day Monday to bills taken up under suspension of the rules, the house will continue its consideration of the Indian appropriation bill, and it is probable that it will be before the house until the middle of the week, if not longer. Among the bills which probably will be passed tomorrow under suspension of the rules is the measure increasing widows' pensions to $12. It is expected to go through after a brief discussion although it will involve an additional expenditure of $12,000,000 annually.

The urgent deficiency appropriation bill will be reported to the senate on Monday and will be taken up on Tuesday.

The American battleship fleet has now reached a decisive stage in its eventful trip. More than half the distance has been covered. After four days coaling at Punta Arenas the warships will thread the remaining passages of the Magellan Straits and by the end of the week they will plow into the waters of the Pacific ocean.

The presidential candidacy of Vice President Fairbanks will be formally launched with the choice on Tuesday next of Indiana's delegation to the republican national convention. The call provides for conventions for the thirteen districts of the State, but does not include the delegates at large, who will be selected at a State convention. Two delegates and two alternates will be chosen in each district. It is expected that all of the conventions will endorse Fairbanks for president and that the four delegates at large selected later will also be for him.

THE "TUPPENCE" HABIT.

It Has a Firm Grip on London and Its Inhabitants.

Tuppence—meaning, of course, twopence and equal to the sum of 4 cents in United States currency—is the dominating sum in London. It is as much an institution as the war debt, beer or the game of cricket. Wherever you go, whatever you do, whatever you sell or whenever you open your mouth it is tuppence or a series of that sum that is extracted from you. It more than takes the place of the five cent piece in America or the threepenny bit in the British possessions.

Tuppence is as much as a fairly well-to-do worker can afford for his meal at midday. In the poorer restaurants that sum gets him two slices and a big mug, or three slices and a little mug, or a portion of cake and a drink, or a fried egg, slice and small mug, or a sausage with mash or bread, or a rasher of bacon. In the next higher class everything drinkable is twopence per cup, while pastry, pies, etc., are the same sum per head. At the "popular"—i. e., "no gratuities"—restaurants the waiters expect a tuppenny tip (though it is advertised otherwise by the proprietors), and the non-tipper has a bad time. At most cafes tipping is the usual thing, and tuppence is expected and is accepted with the servile bow and pleased expression that distinguish the English and continental waiter upon such occasions.

The tuppenny tube is well known. You deposit that sum, and you get in anywhere and get out anywhere else you please. On trolley cars and buses that amount will carry you for an hour or two very often, usually to the terminus. The railroad porter who carries your rug a few yards or who says "Yus" when you ask if the train has stopped always has his hand out for the usual fee, though he will carry your two large bags and whatever else you have for half a mile over high stairs and low lines and accept the same amount with the same satisfaction.

The cabby to whom you give coppers over the legal fare salutes you respectfully, but if you pay double fare in a lordly manner he wants more and is apt to make disparaging remarks about your breeding, as may the bootblack to whom you give 1 instead of 2 pence. The cabby is the surer of the two, however, for disparaging remarks, to which characteristic, I really believe, can be traced the advent of the taximeter.—New York Post.

The Attraction of Chess Problems.

The mere player who has never experienced the magnetic attraction of problems cannot fully realize the feeling of joy and satisfaction from solving some masterpiece, the work of a famous composer. There can be no doubt that solving problems, especially from diagrams, is an intellectual amusement and that the study of problems tends to accuracy of analysis, quickens the perception and strengthens the chess faculties generally and may occasionally impart some of those sparkling ideas which are so sadly needed in ordinary play.—Strand Magazine.

OLD TIME SURGERY.

The Barbarous Methods of the Sixteenth Century.

Ambrose Pare, a barber surgeon of the sixteenth century, tells in his notes how in 1537 he went to the long wars to get practice in surgery. He invented some new processes, particularly in the treatment of amputated limbs.

Up to Pare's time the most barbarous means had been used to stop the bleeding. In his own words: "So soon as the limb was removed the surgeons would use many cauteries to stop the flow of blood, a thing very horrible and cruel in the mere telling. And truly of six thus cruelly treated scarce two ever escaped, and even these were long ill, and the wounds thus burned were slow to heal, because the burning caused such vehement pains that they fell into fever, convulsions and other mortal accidents. In most of them, moreover, when the scar fell off there came fresh bleeding, which must again be stanch'd with the cauteries. So that for many healing was impossible, and they had an ulcer to the end of their lives, which prevented them from having an artificial limb."

The idea of abolishing such cruelty by using the ligature occurred to Pare in one of his war journeys, and his success went beyond his own expectations. His other discovery was made within a few hours of his joining the army. It was believed by the surgeons of the day that there was poison in a gunshot wound, and one of the accepted authorities insisted that they must be cauterized "with oil of elders scalding hot, mixed with a little treacle." The pain was intolerable. It happened that at his first treatment of gunshot wounds Pare's oil ran short, and he used instead "a digestive made of the yolks of eggs, oil of roses and turpentine." To his surprise he found next morning that the patients he had thus treated were in better condition than the others. "Then I resolved never more to burn thus cruelly poor men with gunshot wounds."

Newton's Fearful Crime.

At the end of a meal at Haydon's house Kents proposed a toast in these terms: "Dishonor to the memory of Newton."

The guests stared at him in questioning surprise, and Wordsworth asked for an explanation.

"It is," answered Kents, "because he destroyed the poetry of the rainbow by reducing it to a prism." And the artists all drank, with one consent, confusion to the savant.

The Henrietta Railroad.

The Henrietta and Southwestern railroad grade has been completed to within three miles of Goose Lake in this county for some time.

Under the new management surveys have been running surveys from a point on Post Oak creek south through Windthorst, and the people there are now out with a subscription list raising the bonus. It is not known just what amount the railroad will ask them for, but it is rumored that it is $10,000. On Monday J. H. Meurer informed a reporter for the Dispatch that $4,000 or thereabouts was subscribed the first day.

It is learned that enough steel has been bought to lay the track out a few miles from Henrietta, the cross ties having been in the Henrietta yards for several months.—Archer City Dispatch.

KING AND CROWN PRINCE OF PORTUGAL MURDERED

ARMED WITH CARBINES A BAND OF REVOLUTIONISTS SHOT TO DEATH MONARCH AND HEIR TO THRONE.

THREE OF THE ASSASSINS WERE KILLED

Queen Amelie Attempts to Save Her Son at the Risk of Her Own Life, But Does Not Succeed. Is Uninjured Herself.

Lisbon, Feb. 1.—King Carlos of Portugal and the Crown Prince Luiz Philippe, were assassinated today and the city is in a state of uproar. The king's second son, Emanuel, was slightly wounded, but Queen Amelie, who strove to save the crown prince's life by throwing herself upon him, was unhurt.

A band of men waiting at the corner of Prado de Commercio and the Rua de Arsenal suddenly sprang toward the open carriage in which the royal family were driving to the palace, and leveling carbines which they had concealed upon their persons, fired. The king and crown prince, upon whom the attack was directed, were each shot three times, and lived only long enough to be carried to the Marine arsenal, near by, where they expired.

Almost at the first shot, the king fell back on the cushions dying, and at the same moment the crown prince was seen to half rise and sink back on the seat. Queen Amelie jumped up and threw herself toward the crown prince in an apparent effort to save his life at the cost of her own, but the prince had already received his death wound. The police guard fired on the assassins and killed three of them.

The royal family were returning from Villa Vicosa, where they had been sojourning, and were on the way from the railroad station to the palace. A strong guard was in attendance because of the recent uprising in the city and the discovery of a plot to assassinate Premier Franco and overthrow the monarchy. But the band of murderers had selected the most advantageous spot for the commission of their crime, for they were concealed from the eyes of the police until the carriage had wheeled into the Prado de Commercio, a large square.

Before any of the guards were aware of what was happening the assassins leaped to the carriage and instantly a fusillade of shots rang out. In a moment all was terrible confusion, the king and crown prince being shot down without the slightest chance to save themselves. Guards sprang upon the regicides, the number of whom is somewhat uncertain, and killed three of them and captured three others. One of these committed suicide after being placed in prison. It is charged that one of the murderers was a Spaniard named Cordova.

The bodies of the king and crown prince were removed from the marine arsenal in low closed carriages to the palace, the Praca das Necessidades, the late residence of the king, escorted by municipal guards mounted. The news of the assassination swept through the city like fire through dry grass, and tonight half the population is panic stricken, not knowing where the next blow may fall. There is the greatest dread for the future of the country, which seems on the verge of being plunged into the throes of a revolution with all the attendant horrors and bloodshed. Throughout the city consternation reigns and all the houses and business places are barricaded.

Three Bullets Hit King.

An examination of the wounds of the king, who was already dead when he reached the arsenal, showed that three bullets had found their mark. One wound was situated in the nape of the neck, a second in the shoulder, and the third, which was the fatal wound, severed the carotid artery. The crown prince, who was still breathing but who died almost immediately after admission to the arsenal, had suffered three wounds in the head and chest. Two bullets struck Prince Manuel, one on the lower jaw and the other in the arm.

Queen Maria Pia, the mother of the king; the duke of Oporto, his brother, and a number of ministers and court officials, hastened at once to the arsenal when the news reached them of the attack upon the royal family.

The cold blooded murder has sent a thrill of horror throughout the country, even among those who have been working politically for the establishment eventually of a republic.

Not Deed of Anarchists.

At the first thought it would seem as though the assassination was the work of anarchists and not republican sympathizers. Nevertheless, the stirring events of the last few weeks had prepared the people for some startling culmination. The discovery of plot after plot, as well as the discovery of many secret stores of weapons and ammunition have demonstrated beyond peradventure the existence of a determination on the part of a large body of the Portuguese to overthrow the present conditions and proclaim a republic.

Carlos I was born Sept. 28, 1863. He married Marie Amelie, daughter of Philippe, Duc D'Orleans, May 22, 1886. He succeeded to the throne Oct. 19, 1889. The crown prince, Luiz Philippe, duke of Braganza, was born March 21, 1887.

A SPANISH TRICK.

The Incident Which Moved England to Turn Drake Loose.

The relations between which Drake's raid into the south sea had for a time threatened with open rupture had greatly improved—at least in outward appearance—and in 1585, under special promises of immunity from molestation on religious or other grounds, Philip had invited to his ports a fleet of English corn ships in order to supply the deficiency of his own harvests. No sooner, however, had the English ships arrived than an embargo was laid upon them and their crews arrested.

One ship, the famous Primrose of London, managed to escape. While lying off Bilbao quietly discharging her cargo she had been visited by the corregidor of Biscay and his guard disguised as merchants. Suddenly called upon to surrender, the crew flung themselves upon the Spaniards, drove them all overboard and made sail. Some of the discomfited Spaniards as the shore boats fled were seen clinging to the English vessel. These were humanely rescued and carried in triumph back to England, and among them was the corregidor himself. Upon him were found his official instructions, setting forth expressly that the embargo was ordered for the purposes of the expedition which Philip was preparing against the English. This was enough for the queen and the powerful public opinion of commercial circles in London, which had obstinately clung to pacific relations with Spain. A retaliatory embargo was proclaimed, letters of general reprisal were issued, and Drake was let loose.—From Publication of Navy Records Society.

TWO MINUTE SKETCHES

Giuseppe Garibaldi.

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

GARIBALDI was always a filibuster, but he filibustered not in quest of loot or personal power, but for the good of his own country. That Italy is today a strong, united nation rather than a group of petty principalities or dependencies of other powers is due in very large measure to the inborn filibustering propensity of Giuseppe Garibaldi. Here was a man with a mission, and he could not be kept down. For half a century his soul was centered upon the unification and liberation of Italy, and for the greater part of that period he was fighting for his cause.

California grows a flower named the garibaldi because it is red. The followers of Garibaldi wore red as their distinctive color of garb. The Garibaldian red shirt, famous in history, stood for united Italy. It was the red badge of liberty through unification.

Garibaldi, who was a sailor's son and given to roving, became identified early in life with Mazzini and other zealots in the Young Italy movement. But the methods of Garibaldi were not those of Mazzini, who was unable to compromise by accepting unification of the Italian states under a monarch, so insistent was he for a republican government. Garibaldi also was a republican, but he was willing to accept a benevolent monarchy as a means to an end—the protection and development of the Italian people.

Condemned to death for his part in the earlier uprisings, Garibaldi escaped to France and thence to South America, where he presently found opportunity to continue his career as a warrior in opposition to tyranny. He fought for the new republic of Uruguay against the usurpation of the Argentine dictator. Then he made his way to the United States, an exile from home, earning his living as a maker of candles and declining the honor of a demonstration such as the Americans gave Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot.

Back to Italy went Garibaldi when the time was ripe, raising band after band of followers, conquering the Neapolitan provinces in the cause of unification and finally, absolute master of Naples, relinquishing voluntarily to King Victor Emmanuel his own sovereignty for the good of Italy. There, indeed, was a patriot with no price tag attached to his red shirt.

CUNNING BIRDS.

Stratagem of the Lapwing and the Ruse of the Thrush.

"The goose is a frightful liar," said a nature fakir. "He quite puts me to shame."

"Really?"
"Really. You know how the goose, when you draw near it, hisses? Well, with that hissing sound it says: 'Scott, beware. I am a serpent.' Yes, from primeval times the goose has acted this lie. The primeval goose mother, sitting on her eggs in a place of reeds and sedge, would not fly when an intruder appeared; but, keeping her body concealed amid the leaves, she would stretch out her long, flexible neck and hiss wickedly. 'A snake in the grass,' the intruder would say to himself as he retreated, and on her eggs the goose would chuckle in a sly, contemptuous way.

"The lapwing is another liar. Approach her nest and she sets up a distressful crying and runs back and forth in front of you, trailing one wing as though it were broken. You follow. You think to snatch her up in your hands. With this lie she lures you away from her young.

"The thrush in time of drought beats with his feet on the grass like a clog dancer. Thus he lies to the earth worms. He makes them think that it is raining. Up they come in silent haste, and the deceitful thrush makes a rich meal."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Tolerance.

George Elliot was once asked what was the chief lesson she had learned in life's experience, and her prompt answer was, "Tolerance." It might have been expected from a woman who once said that she regarded life as a game of cards in which she watched each move with the deepest interest and turned as far as possible to her own advantage.

Greatest Lumber Cut.

More lumber was cut in the United States last year than in any other year in its history. The enormous amount of 37,550,736 board feet was produced, and the mill value of this was $621,151,388. In addition, there were produced 11,858,260,000 shingles, valued at $24,155,555, and 3,812,807,000 lath, valued at $11,490,570. On the whole, it approximates 40 billion feet, and the total mill value of the lumber, lath and shingles each year produced is not less than $700,000,000. These figures give some idea of how vast is the lumber industry and how great is the demand for its products.

A glance at the kinds of lumber produced shows very clearly the passing of white pine and oak, one of the greatest softwood and the other the greatest hardwood which the forest has ever grown. Since 1899 the cut of white pine has fallen off more than 40 per cent, while that of white oak has fallen off more than 36 per cent. Today yellow pine leads all other woods in amount cut, while Douglas fir—and this will be a surprise to many—comes second. Since 1899 the cut of Douglas fir has increased 180 per cent. Louisiana is the most yellow pine State with Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas following in order. Washington produces by far the greatest amount of Douglas fir.

A comparison of the lumber producing States shows that since 1899 there have been many changes in their relative rank. Washington, which in 1899 stood sixth, now leads while Wisconsin, which eight years ago led all others, is now third. In the same period Oregon, Louisiana, Mississippi, Idaho and California made great strides as lumber producing States, though, on the other hand, the amount produced in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio fell off anywhere from 29 to 54 per cent.

The highest priced native woods are walnut, hickory, and ash, and the cheapest are larch and white fir. From the fact, however, that since 1899 the average increase in the price of lumber has been 49 per cent, it will not be long before cheap woods are few and far between.

Splendid Faust.

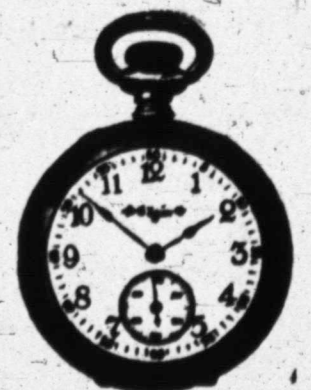

A theatrical season would seem sadly lacking without the presentation of "Faust." It is one of those classic favorites that defy the onward sweep of years and that found an audience ever in waiting. Like "Hamlet," it has taken firm hold on the public and is perennially pleasing.

Notwithstanding the fact that Sedalia in several past seasons has been visited by Lewis Morrison and John Griffith, both of whom are pre-eminent in this play, the coming of Hubert Labadie and his excellent company to Wood's Opera House last night was an event of more than passing interest. The weather was wretchedly bad, but a reasonably large and more than ordinarily cultured audience greeted the new comers.

As a matter of course contrast was at once drawn between Mr. Morrison and Miss Roberts, on the one hand, and Mr. Labadie and Miss Von Tromp on the other, but the Capital cannot say that the latter suffered by comparison. Mr. Labadie, who hails from Detroit, Mich., has been playing Mephistopheles the past nine years and has won great favor with the critics and the public. He is a brilliant, painstaking young actor, magnetic in voice and movement and admirably adapted in physical and mental equipment to the presentation of this character.

The electrical and scenic effects were entirely in keeping with the play. The laboratory, the garden, the cathedral, the Brocken and the duel scene were all pictures of rare dramatic impressiveness and beauty.

NEGROES ATTACK OFFICER.

Chickasha, Ok., Feb. 2.—Lieutenant George W. Bellamy of Oklahoma met with a harrowing experience this morning, while a passenger on the Fort Smith and Western train leaving Fort Smith for Guthrie at 7 o'clock, which assumed the form of an attempted assassination.

Incensed over the enforcement of the Jim Crow law, which was first enforced in Oklahoma on yesterday's Fort Smith and Western train coming from Fort Smith into Oklahoma, two negroes who had attempted to force their way into the chair car provided for white passengers, assaulted the lieutenant governor with drawn revolvers. The timely intervention of passengers and crew prevented harm being done the governor.

The arrest and subduing of the negroes caused no little trouble to those affecting it, and this was only accomplished at the point of numerous revolvers.

They were turned over to the officers at Crowder City, where they will be allowed to sleep off the incentive to their rash act, while charges are in the course of preparation for their prosecution.

R. C. Malone, who is now located at Abilene, is spending a few days in the city on business.
