NUMBER 143

GOMPERS TO REPLY

LABOR LEADER NOTIFIES BRYAN
HE IS NOT CANDIDATE FOR ANY OFFICE.

LABOR IS AFTER JUSTICE

He is Not Helping Himself to Office
While Making Effort to Secure Reforms.

New York, Oct. 23.—National Chairman Mack made public the following telegram from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and received by Mr. Bryan on his arrival in Jersey City tonight:

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Hon. William J. Bryan, Jersey City: Just saw President Roosevelt's attack. I deem it my duty to advise you that I am preparing an answer. Some newspapers are trying to embarrass you by declaring that you will appoint me as a member of your cabinet if you are elected president. You may say that I have publicly, emphatically and frequently declared that under no circumstances would I accept any public office, either elective or appointive, and this declaration is irrevocable. The contest of labor is for justice and not for office. SAMUEL GOMPERS.

Mr. Mack said that the democratic committee was receiving reports that the republicans in West Virginia were enticing democratic workmen out of the State into Ohio on the promise of work and to keep them out of West Virginia until after the election, when they would be told that their employment would not begin for some time.

Notice.

I have sold the Crescent Candy Company to N. W. Self, who has assumed all indebtedness of the company and all accounts due the company are payable to him.

In this connection, I wish to thank the merchants of Wichita Falls for their patronage and support of a home industry and ask a continuance of the same to the new owner.

A YOUNG TWISTER.

One House Demolished and Several Blown From Foundations.

Byers Sentinel.
Byers was visited Wednesday night by a hard twisting wind that damaged considerable property. The worst damage done was to the residence of J. S. Ables and family of four children. The house, which was a two-room box house belonging to F. B. Clark, was right in the path of the wind. The wind was blowing a strong gale and about 11 o'clock a strong gust of wind swept the house entirely away.

When the house went down Mr. Ables was considerably bruised about the head and body and his youngest daughter, Vivian, was pinned under the wall for several minutes. Mr. Ables raised an alarm and J. W. Tucker, living near by, rushed to the rescue, released the little girl and carried her to a place of safety.

The residence occupied by J. E. Enochs and family was blown from its foundations, a lamp turned over in the house and exploded, causing quite a bit of excitement, but no damage was done by fire.

The residence of J. W. Tucker and family was blown from its foundations, with no other damage.

The bungalow occupied by Mr. Frank Cullinan and family was considerably shaken and the supports of the front porch blown away. A brick flue was also destroyed.

Placating for Pierce.

The Index has noted with somewhat conflicting emotions the editorials in the various papers—notably the big dailies—on the H. Clay Pierce matter. For the most part they go on to say that Pierce will receive a fair trial, etc., and not a few of them predict that he will be promptly acquitted. Why all these editorial tears and placation for Pierce? True, he is presumed to be innocent until proven otherwise, but he is under a true indictment for perjury, and the highest court in the land has remanded him to the sheriff. There has been a man in the Sherman jail for a week on suspicion of being a murderer wanted in California. The sheriff that came for him declares that he is not the man wanted, yet he has been refused a writ of habeas corpus, and upon application of the governor of California was promptly requisitioned by Governor Campbell, and ere this is probably in California—carried across the continent in irons on mere suspicion. The man who is merely thought to be one Durham has even given up his plea for habeas corpus and decided to go to California to face his accusers. Why did not Pierce do this? If not guilty, why did he resist extradition to the court of last resort? The Judiciary of Texas are not barbarians. Pierce may not be guilty, and so far as we are concerned, we know of no sort of evidence that he is guilty, but it is enough to make the lowest subject of the Czay blush to note the manner in which the wealthy criminals are treated—as compared with the poor fellow who commits crime in the despair of poverty or mayhap when inflamed by liquor. The Thaw case has been a cancer on the very fair throat of the Goddess of Justice herself. Let Pierce be treated as any other prisoner under a grand jury indictment for felony.—Mineral Wells Index.

FLOOD SUBSIDES AT TULSA, OKLA.

Special to the Times.
Tulsa, Ok., Oct. 24.—The Arkansas River this noon was falling rapidly and the flood situation was improving.

It is believed that the Santa Fe tracks will be repaired tonight.

Negro Suicides.

Special to the Times.
Paris, Tex., Oct. 24.—George Wilson, a negro aged 60 years, ended his life here today because of financial troubles. He blew out his brains with a shotgun, tripping the trigger with his toe.

Lightning Was Fatal.

Special to the Times.
Waxahachie, Tex., Oct. 24.—Virgil Jones, aged 14 years, living a few miles from the city, died as the result of lightning striking his home yesterday, stunning him.

Yesterday we met a friend, an old, long-tried friend. He has the habit of saying to us what he pleases, either in praise or blame, and we have to take it. "Your editorials are getting mighty weak, old man, mighty weak. You start out like you were going to say something, but you take it back and apologize before you get through. Why don't you just come out one way or the other and let people know how you stand?" Such was the substance of the lambasting our old friend gave us.

Now, in answer to him, he would have us say that he is perfectly right or entirely wrong. He would not allow us to ride the fence at all with respect to what he said or anything else. But as is our custom with respect to many questions, so in regard to this criticism, we will not say it is entirely unjust. We may sometimes hit too soft, we may sometimes ride the fence when we ought to take one side or the other. We admit there are thousands, aye, countless questions that we do not fully understand, and we are ready to affirm that there are countless questions which no man on earth understands. The promptitude with which they take sides is not in every case evidence of a quick mind or a bright intellect. It is more often evidence of a want of sense. It is the bigot who can see but one side of a question. It takes no time for a squirrel headed citizen to settle in his own mind the great issues (if he ever hears of them) which have come down through the ages, burdened with the thoughts of the wisest writers. Scholars admit that the more they learn, the more they see how little they know. There are many questions of church and many questions of state which can never be solved in time and must be left to eternity; and yet upon these grave matters the narrow-headed men who hear of them may at once take sides. From these observations it will be seen that we have learned enough to know that we are very ignorant. Is this strong enough?—Bonham Herald.

TO TAKE THE STUMP

EVERY MEMBER OF ROOSEVELT'S CABINET ORDERED OUT TO HELP SAVE TAFT.

SECT'Y. ROOT GRUMBLES

Discouraging News From Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and New York.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Every member of President Roosevelt's cabinet will be on the stump for Judge Taft early next week. Five of them got their orders at the cabinet meeting today. The balance of them have been stumping for weeks.

Secretary Root did not take with good grace his order to go to Ohio and rouse the voters.

"Yes, it is true they are sending a poor devil out on the stump against his will," he said, on coming out of the cabinet room.

Mr. Root had declared time and again that nothing would induce him to take the stump, although he had consented to make one speech in New York city. Secretary Cortelyou has said over and over that he would not go on the stump but he is going.

Secretary Root will make a number of speeches. Postmaster General Von Meyer will devote his time to Ohio and West Virginia and will wind up with a speech in Massachusetts, when he goes home to vote. Secretary Cortelyou will speak in New York. Secretary Wright is going to speak in Virginia and Maryland next week and Secretary Metcalf will spend his time in West Virginia.

Special to the Times.
Lockhart, Tex., Oct. 24.—Two Dallas youths giving their names as Hopkins and Garrett were arrested today charged with passing counterfeit dollars. They were unable to make bond and were jailed.

Spurious coins have been in circulation here for some time and it is believed that the gang had a den hidden near here. The police believe Hopkins and Garrett themselves were victimized by the counterfeiters.

Another Burglary at Gainesville.

Special to the Times.
Gainesville, Tex., Oct. 24.—The room of Miss Minnie Armstrong, general delivery clerk at the postoffice, at her father's residence on North Denison street, was entered by a burglar last night, who secured a gold watch and a diamond brooch. Entrance was effected by cutting a window screen. The family was aroused in time to see the thief run from the premises and escape.

AS PRESIDENT-ELECT

W. J. Bryan Expects to Visit Texas After the Election.

C. C. Huff, chairman of the Wichita county democratic executive committee has received a letter from W. J. Bryan, in which the commoner says he expects to visit Texas after the election as president-elect. The letter follows:

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 20.—Dear Sir: The committee has thought it wise to arrange dates for me in doubtful States and I therefore have not had the time to visit the States known to be certainly democratic. I wish you would explain the matter to our democrats there and assure them that my absence is not due to lack of interest in them, but to the fact that I can serve them better by helping to win a national victory than by visits which, while pleasant, would not add to our strength in the electoral college.

I shall visit the South after the election. The favorable reports we are receiving leads me to hope that I may come as the president-elect and share with your people in the rejoicing that will follow a triumph for the democratic principles and policies.

I need not say anything in explanation of our platform. Your people are acquainted with the issues and understand the importance of a national democratic victory. I do wish, however, that you would impress upon the voters of your section the necessity of polling the largest possible vote in the Southern States. There are two reasons for this. First, every vote cast in the South adds to the popular vote in the nation, and we need a popular majority as well as a majority in the electoral college. A popular majority will give a public endorsement and a moral support which will be needed in carrying out the policies outlined in the platform.

Our democratic vote in the South usually falls several hundred thousand short of what it might be, merely because the democrats do not feel that their votes are necessary in their State and congressional contests. I wish you would make it your business to see that every democratic vote in your section is polled this year that we may have the encouragement and support that a popular majority will give.

There is another reason why your people should be sure to vote, even though they may feel that their votes are not necessary to elect their local candidates. The small vote in the South is constantly used by those republicans who talk about the reduction of Southern representation in congress. The larger the vote polled, the less the influence of such an argument. Please assist us to the extent of your ability in the effort to secure the largest Democratic vote ever polled in the South and the largest democratic majority ever recorded for the national ticket.

Thanking you for the assistance you have given us in the campaign I am, Very truly yours, W. J. BRYAN.

HEAVY FROST

LAST NIGHT

A heavy frost fell here last night and all tender vegetation was killed. Opinions to the effect of the frost upon the cotton yield conflict. Some farmers hold that the crop will be cut short by the frost, while others maintain that the damage is small and that the frost will cause the cotton to open in better shape than if there had been none.

Violence.

Special to the Times.
Plaquemine, La., Oct. 24.—Fabian Bouvy, who on Thursday shot and killed Professor Frederick Vanning while seated by his bride of a few hours on a Texas and Pacific train bound for New Orleans, is being guarded in jail here to prevent possible violence. Bouvy maintains a sullen silence.

Mrs. Vanning in an interview today states that Bouvy threatened to kill "any man whom she should marry." When she parted from the train Bouvy paced up and down the aisle like an insane man and told her he was waiting for a favorable opportunity to kill her husband, which he did soon afterward.

She believes that Bouvy would have killed her if her uncle had not gotten hold of his pistol.

The Bolster.
The crusaders are said to have brought home with them the bolster, and, according to Dr. Cantile, their wives, in ignorance of the only rational way of using the article (i. e., lengthwise as a support for the back of a person when lying on his side, and not knowing what else to do with it, put the bolster where it is still found on the beds of those who have not learned the wisdom of discarding it altogether—under the pillow.—London Chronicle.

Parents' Hairs and Heirs.
It is possible to predict from the hair of parents the form of their children's hair. Two blue eyed, straight haired parents will have only blue eyed, straight haired children. Two wavy haired parents may have straight, wavy or curly haired children, but the chances of curly hair are slight. Two curly haired parents may have children with either straight, wavy or curly hair, but the proportion of curly haired offspring will probably be large.—American Naturalist.

TAFT BEATEN IN MIDDLE WEST

Walter Wellman in Record-Herald. Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16.—Unless something like a miracle happens during the next fortnight Indiana will give the electoral vote to Bryan this year. As the case now stands, the only doubt is as to the size of his plurality. This is not likely to be large—from ten to thirty thousand—and on that account the republicans have not entirely abandoned hope. They will, of course, continue the brave struggle which they have made against heavy odds since the beginning of the campaign. Even now, with all the facts against them, the republican leaders do not openly admit defeat. They still try to hope that some lucky turn of affairs, some accident, may enable Taft to squeeze through. They are fighting politicians, these Hoosiers, and they do not always know when they are whipped; and when they do know it they do not confess it. Down in their hearts, those of them who know the truth, in so far as it can be known, feel that the game is about over and the score against them; but there is another thing to play, and they go on with the struggle bearing as brave an outward front as they can under the circumstances. It is a discouraging situation which they face. If one dares to tell the plain truth, it is not so much the loss of the State on the presidency that gives them grief as the fact that if Taft goes down the governorship goes with it, the State ticket, the legislature, a United States senator.

It is probable this announcement that Bryan has Indiana today, with every prospect of being able to hold it to the end, will come as a shock to the managers of the republican national campaign and to many thousands of loyal members of that party. Many political leaders and newspaper writers have printed statements that Indiana is for Taft by a reduced plurality. President Roosevelt included Indiana in his list of States safe for the republican ticket. At Cincinnati a few days ago I found Judge Taft quite confident of Indiana, basing his conclusion, of course, upon the reports made to him by his lieutenants. Under such circumstances, naturally one feels great reluctance to set forth his information and judgment against those of others, all well worthy of respect. One does not like to be the messenger with ill tidings, the destroyer of pleasant dreams. But the first duty of the independent observer is to the truth as he sees it, and the truth about Indiana, according to my lights, is that Taft has about one chance in a dozen of snatching victory from the jaws of defeat. It is barely possible that if President Roosevelt were to take the stump, appealing to the labor men and the masses of Indiana to rally around Judge Taft, and this were to be supplemented by a big republican campaign fund, the verdict as now made up might be changed, though even that is extremely doubtful.

Indiana is now for Bryan, not through any one cause alone, but from a long list of causes. Indeed, rarely if ever have I visited a State where there was such an extraordinary combination of circumstances and conditions tending to affect an election result, and all of these, without important exceptions, working on one side. We all know that in these later years Indiana under normal conditions, is a republican State, not by a great preponderance, but by pluralities of say 20,000 out of a total of about 700,000 votes. If this year we could find anything whatever worthy the name of a cause or movement that was operating to help Taft, if we could find any respectable offset to the gains which Bryan is so obviously making, we might fall back upon the normal republican preponderance and say that after the causes of change are balanced up, debit and credit, a margin will remain on the right side of the ledger. In this connection we should be able to give due weight to the well known fact that the people of Indiana are not given to violent changes politically. They are not prone to independent voting or sudden reversals down here. They take their politics pretty straight and quite steadily, year after year. Never but once in our day have they given a really large majority for anybody, and that was 94,000 for Roosevelt four years ago, when the presidential campaign in this State, as throughout the North, was not a fight at all, but a slaughter. The trouble is that there are no offsets. There is nothing working for Taft. Everything is working for Bryan. Among these latter are big things and little things. One or two of the larger factors might alone be sufficient to turn the State over. Add on all the smaller factors, all on the same side, and the conclusion seems irresistible, no matter how surprising or unwelcome. If we had anything of real value to put against all this, anything in the nature of a checkmate, it might be different. But search the State as you will and no such factor favorable to Taft can be found. Of a dozen prominent republicans I have asked this question: "What is helping Taft as compared with the McKinley-Bryan fight of eight years ago?" And no one is able to give any other reply than "Nothing," unless it be to call attention to the static fact that this is normally a republican State.

The factors which are working to give Indiana to Bryan may be scheduled as follows:

1. The general discontent, the desire for "a change" among that considerable part of the electorate who are not bound to one party or the other by indissoluble ties.
2. The union labor campaign against the republican party and its candidate, because of specific complaints against them, a campaign which is waged with earnestness and power and which constitutes a new element in presidential contests.
3. Sympathetic participation in both of the foregoing by a considerable part of unorganized labor and the salaried workers, due to their state of mind brought about by the prevailing contagion of discontent, short work and high cost of living.
4. The direct effect of all this and other causes upon the rival organizations—republican lukewarmness and discouragement, contrasted with democratic harmony, enthusiasm and confidence—are very important in a State like this, where so much depends upon organization efficiency.
5. The return of the last of the gold democrats who voted for Palmer in 1896 or for McKinley eight years ago, giving the democracy a united party for the first time in sixteen years.
6. The inexplicable but marked indifference of the business people, speaking as a whole, to the outcome of the election, their attitude being in marked contrast with former Bryan campaigns.
7. Business sensitiveness to threatened or feared losses through temperance statutes, this not confined to the liquor interests, but extending to allied

TAFT BEATEN IN THE MIDDLE WEST

8. The tendency of thousands of German-Americans, largely republican in the past, to go to the democrats this year because of their personal liberty apprehensions.

9. The influence of the saloons, 4,500 strong, upon the floating vote, their motive being essentially local, but their work having strong incidental effect upon the national issue.

10. The republican defection among the negroes.

11. Bryan's strength and Taft's weakness with the ministers and the church people, particularly in the country districts, due to certain prejudices.

What is labor doing against Taft in this State? Let us get at the facts and eschew mere rumor and guess work. There are 1350 labor unions in Indiana. They have 65,000 members, including coal miners, of whom there are 19,000. The organization of railway employees embrace 25,000 men, making a grand total of 90,000 for all organized labor. Eight years ago, when McKinley beat Bryan 26,000 votes in Indiana, all of these men voted according to their individual preferences. There was no political action on the part of the unions, no movement, no agitation. Opinions differ as to the proportion of organized labor that voted for McKinley. Some say 60 per cent, some only 40 per cent. The fact remains that McKinley carried the cities and towns, where labor is strongest. Four years later, when labor went almost unanimously for Roosevelt, the pluralities were enormous in the centers, where union labor is most numerous. Whether 40 or 60 per cent went republican four years ago we shall never know.

But we do know something as to how union labor is going this year. Now there is a movement, strong, implacable, pushed by all the leaders, followed by most of the men. No longer is it a case of follow your individual inclinations. Now the watchword is that the man who votes for Taft is going back on the union.

The unions have all indorsed the program of the American Federation of Labor—the Gompers program to beat Taft. Nine out of ten of the men believe it is a good cause, believe labor is only standing up for its rights. You may say they are all wrong, and the facts may be with you, but that doesn't change them. Of five members of the central labor council in this metropolis of Indiana, three are said to be republicans and working for Bryan. When the State council met recently at Vincennes 174 delegates were present. Sixty-four of them were known to be republicans, and others probably were. On the roll call for the adoption of the Gompers program only fourteen men voted nay, and many took the floor and declared that, while they were republicans, they should vote and work against Taft. On an early morning street car in this city union and non-union men were riding to work. A poll was taken. Of fifty-five men in the car fifty-four were for Bryan and twenty-two said they had never voted anything but the republican ticket. A poll was taken of the freight crews at one of the railway yards—seventy-eight for Bryan, four for Taft. These are mere samples. Every poll taken shows similar results.

I asked President Perkins of the central labor council what proportion of union men in Indiana would vote for Bryan this year. He is a democrat and an ardent follower of Gompers, but he stands high as to his personal character and his carefulness of statement. "At least 50 per cent of union labor in this State," he said, "is republican under ordinary conditions. Fully that much was for McKinley, 80 per cent of it was for Roosevelt. This year three out of four of the republicans will go to Bryan. Some of the others will go to Debs. Taft will not get more than 10 per cent of the vote, perhaps not that. I know of one organization of 400 men, 375 of whom are republicans. Taft will get about thirty votes out of the lot. I know of one negro labor union of 300 men, and two-thirds of them are for Bryan. Their attitude is not because of Brownsville, but because of the grievance of union labor against the republican party and Taft, its candidate. Almost without exception, our men are putting loyalty to the union above loyalty to any political party this year. We are fighting for a principle, and we believe for our very existence. So strong is the feeling that if a republican unionist goes out of his way to work for Taft his brethren look upon him as a traitor to the cause. There are not many of that class, you may be sure."

If our analyses of conditions are approximately correct, Bryan stands to gain 10,000 votes from union labor, miners and railway organizations; 5,000 votes from unorganized labor and wage earners generally; 7,000 votes from the German-Americans; 4,500 votes due to the influence of the saloons among the floaters, 4,000 votes on account of the difference between organization and efficiency in the two parties, and 2,500 votes among the negroes. The total of these figures is 23,000, representing a gain for Bryan and loss for Taft, or a change of plurality of 65,000. In the foregoing no account is taken of possible gains among the business men, among the farmers, nor among the ministers and church people who have some little prejudices to work out; nor is any specific account taken of the gold democrats who have now returned to the fold, as they may possibly be included in one of the other items, particularly the Germans. After giving Taft the benefit of an assumed arbitrary gain of 5,000 votes from Bryan at the outset, making the republican plurality 36,000, we find these various factors wiping out that plurality and giving the State to Bryan by 30,000. If we cut these approximations of Bryan gains almost in half the State is evenly balanced between the two parties.

Under such circumstances, it is difficult to reach any other conclusion than that, as Indiana stands today, Bryan has it from 10,000 to 40,000. In truth, leading republicans have admitted to me they fear it is true. Watson is, of course, beaten for governor, and it is 5 to 1 in the legislature, a United States senatorship and two or three congressmen will go with the hide. The Taft leaders have not yet given up the struggle. They will fight on. If Chairman Hitchcock can get his hands on $250,000 and send it to Indiana, so that the republican organizations may have about $200 to use in each of 1250 precincts where money can be put to advantage, it is still possible to snatch Indiana from the burning. But in my opinion, if Mr. Hitchcock is lucky enough ever to get hold of that much money in a lump, he will be a wise man if he spends it in New York, where a Taft triumph will certainly mean the presidency.

Remember we will be moving October 27th, hence our grocery department will be closed the entire day.

An Interesting Book.

A French marquise whose country house is crowded with guests during the hunting season hit upon the original idea of placing a register at the disposal of her visitors in which to record their desires and criticisms. The pages of the richly bound book soon began to be covered with notes such as:
"Count de R. still owes 25 louis. He knows to whom."
"The green peas yesterday were burned."
"Baroness M. flirts—unfortunately not with me."
The marquise has withdrawn the register.

On Wednesday, the 28th, the Times is instructed from Chicago headquarters to make its last remittance to the Bryan campaign fund. If you are a democrat and this good cause appeals to you, send in your contribution. Since the 15th, only $6.00 has been contributed, the names of the contributors being as follows: J. L. Meers, $1.00; W. J. Bullock (second contribution), $1.00; T. M. Sims, $1.00; A. F. Kerr, $1.00; A. H. Carrigan, $1.00; O. to Stehlik, $1.00.

In another column of this issue of the Times will be found an article showing the time of the open season for killing or hunting game as provided by our State laws, and it is to be hoped that our local sportsmen will post themselves thoroughly and be governed accordingly. The quail crop is unusually large this season and if the "pot hunters" do not clean them out before the open season has hardly begun, the genuine hunters will have sufficient game to last during the season.

There are but a few more days left for you to make your contributions to the Bryan campaign fund. If you are a democrat and hope for the success of the ticket which stands for a popular and honestly administered government of, for and by the people, you should assist all in your power to help pay the expense of spreading the political truth. Your dollar may be the means of converting a dozen votes in doubtful States, where votes are most needed. If you have not done your part to help win a national victory, it will be rather embarrassing in the future, should you have occasion to call upon democrats for their support to some office which you may hope to win by the fact that you are a democrat. The national committee, the parent of the party, is sorely in need of funds, and if Bryan is defeated on November 3rd there is everything to indicate that his defeat has been brought about by the fact that the campaign committee has not been supplied with sufficient funds to make a winning fight.

That the republicans are going to try to roll up a large vote for their State ticket in Texas is evidenced by the following letter addressed to the Times which explains itself: "If prices are right, I wish to place an ad in your weekly issue of next week. Kindly give me rates for full page, both for display and reading matter, and one say about half and half. I request this by return mail. I, of course, don't ask your paper to sacrifice any of its political, religious or moral opinions and only make one condition on the placing of this advertisement with you and that is that the issue which contains it will not contain anything in opposition to the republican State ticket in this State. Kindly let me hear from you by return mail and if prices are satisfactory will forward copy with check to cover same. Yours truly,

"CECIL A. LYON,
"Chairman Republican State Executive Committee."

As the Times does not accept advertising on that basis, not even when accompanied by a check covering the price of the ad, it will be useless for it to quote Mr. Lyon its advertising rates, but it must confess that its curiosity is somewhat aroused and it is anxious to see just what kind of "dope" the republican State chairman is going to put through democratic newspapers just one week before the election, and to note just how many democratic editors will agree to say nothing, editorially, against the election of the State republican ticket. There ought not to be any, but the temptation to get a page or perhaps a half-page ad, accompanied with Mr. Lyon's check, which all of us know is good in any bank in Texas, is great, and the Times predicts in advance that many democratic papers with backboneless editors will accept the proposition.

Texas Game Season Opens Nov. 1st.

Only a few more days to the beginning of the game season, and since Texas now has a strict law, vigorously enforced by the army of deputy game wardens, many inquiries are being made as to the provisions of the law. Below will be found the essential restrictions or regulations. The open season is, as follows:
Deer—Nov. 1 to Jan. 1; limit, three bucks, no does.
Turkeys—Dec. 1 to March 1; limit three turkeys.

Quail, Partridges and Doves—Nov. 1 to Feb. 1; limit twenty-five birds.

Prairie chickens, pheasants, antelope and Rocky Mountain sheep not to be killed for five years under any circumstances.

It is unlawful to purchase, offer for purchase, transport within or without the State for purchase wild turkeys, ducks, geese, grouse, prairie chickens, pheasants, partridges, quail, doves, pigeons, plovers, snipe, jacksnipe or curlews. Each bird constitutes a separate offense. The penalty is a fine of from $10 to $100 or imprisonment of from five to thirty days, or both.

Unlawful to sell, offer for purchase deer, antelope, Rocky Mountain sheep, bide or antlers thereof.

Netting or trapping of wild birds prohibited.

Unlawful to shoot wild fowl other than by ordinary gun, placed to the shoulder.

Unlawful for common carrier to transport game unless prescribed affidavit is made by person killing same. They must have killed it and that it is not being shipped for market, but for personal use, and such person must take passage on same train. Three days killing of wild ducks (seventy-five) permitted at one shipment.

Possession of game out of season is prima facie evidence of guilt, and each bird is a separate offense. The State game warden and his deputies have the same power and authority to make arrests and serve process as sheriffs and the same power to secure aid. He may arrest without warrant.

A game bag one day can contain a limit of twenty-five birds of all kinds and no more. It makes no difference whether there are ducks, doves and quail—only a total of twenty-five killed one day is allowed.

Yes there is a big difference in coffee.
Just as there is in apples or potatoes.

Some coffee plantations are particularly favored as to soil, climate and cultivation, and you can imagine that such a plantation would produce a better grade of coffee than a less favored plantation.

Revere Brand

of highland coffee comes from some of South and Central America's most favored plantations.

The soil, climate and cultivation on these coffee fields all combine to make Revere Coffee the most perfect coffee produced. It's really worth more than we charge for it.

One Can Never Tell.

Newcastle News: That talk about the Wichita Falls and Southern road being extended south from Newcastle is simply mythical. It is true that at some future date the road may be extended to the Llano iron fields, but in that case the ore would be brought to a smelter which would be established here, and instead of Newcastle boasting a population of 5,000 or 10,000 people five or six years hence, we might expect a city of 25,000 or 50,000 inhabitants. Sounds a little mythical itself, doesn't it? But wait and see, and in the meantime watch the town grow and help it grow, resting assured that it will for a season at least remain the terminus of the Wichita Falls and Southern.

Dallas News: Your doubts may be substantially founded. Still, one can never tell where a railroad is going when it starts. Besides, those Wichita Falls people are never satisfied with well enough. Having put that road through to Newcastle to bring coals, the Wichitians may push it on to Llano to fetch iron to their town. You have never noticed any grass growing under the ample petals of the Falls folks, have you?

The Wichita Exhibit.

Dallas News: The Wichita Falls country is represented by a fine exhibit in charge of P. C. Maricle. It possesses a unique feature in the shape of a large map of the country with its water courses, its railroads, its cities and towns and its general topography done in grains of various colors.

The six railways entering the county are shown, cards indicating that these make Wichita Falls a manufacturing center and a great distributing point for business. The railroad to Young county's coal mines, fifty-eight miles away, is shown; also the gas wells sixteen miles from Wichita Falls, which supply the town with gas, and which may, it is believed in Wichita county, be used to supply natural gas to Dallas and Fort Worth.

Lake Wichita is shown, four and one-half miles from the town, a great body of water covering a larger area than any other artificial lake in Texas.

The display also shows on shelves samples of Newcastle coal taken from the mines in Young county and brought to Wichita Falls by the Wichita Falls and Southern railroad.

There is a fine display of field corn, of which it is claimed that 2,000,000 bushels were raised in the county this year. There is cotton of the highest grade, raised around Wichita Falls, and fine samples of wheat, oats, barley, peanuts, pumpkins, ribbon cane, vegetable of all sorts and other valuable products.

Myles O'Reilly Holds Record.

Myles O'Reilly has taken the lead in securing new members for the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. O'Reilly turned in the names of the following parties, having secured them in less than two hours work: W. P. McFall, W. T. Arthur, B. D. Donnell, W. Henderson, John Moore, Otto Stehlik, A. T. Darden, M. J. Shivers, C. H. Miller and O. P. Maricle.

M. Marcus of the People's Ice Company brought in the name of Harley Heath. The blank membership cards distributed at the monthly meeting are bringing results.

Business Men's Excursion.

In pursuance of a motion to appoint a committee to secure, if possible, a Sunday train on the Byers run, Chairman R. E. Huff, who occupied the chair during the monthly membership meeting, named Messrs. Frank Kell, B. J. Bean and J. M. Bland on this committee.

The committee on Frederick excursion was named by Mr. Huff as follows: B. J. Bean, chairman; H. M. Hughes, W. F. Jourdan, P. H. Pennington, Dan Hardy, J. H. Russell, J. T. Young and Secretary Gohlke.

A rousing business men's excursion will be run to Frederick in the near future and thereafter it will be the aim of the organization to run an excursion to a different point each month.

A New Bureau.

A Rowell's directory of newspapers and periodicals has been received by the secretary. This medium will enable press items being sent out to the various publications devoted to the pursuit to be exploited. A systematic press service regularly followed up is one of the greatest result getters in commercial club work. The expense is confined to labor and stamps, the news when used being published without cost.

Inquiries Pouring In.

A healthy list of inquiries continue to come to the secretary. A St. Louis party writes that he has a client who would be interested in putting up an office building or any other class of structure. If some local capital would enter into the venture with him, the secretary called his attention to the very flattering opportunity for the construction of a modern apartment house providing two, three and four room suites, some furnished and others unfurnished. This class of building is needed in Wichita Falls and would net a handsome per cent on the investment. In the larger cities apartment houses net 10 to 15 per cent, as compared to 6 and 8 per cent net on business property.

A glass manufacturer from Kansas writes for more information regarding the gas and oil fields near the Falls and says he will visit this city if report is favorable.

During the week inquiries regarding the chances for another bakery, jewelry store and shoe store were received by the secretary. It is the policy of the office not to hold out flattering encouragement where the business field is represented to a point where competition would be hurtful to local interests. Competition is the life of trade and where there is a reasonable show for new-comers, nothing will be placed in the way of their investigating the field.

A Pittsburg man says he must move to a milder and more healthful climate, and has $5,000 to invest in anything which will show results. Another inquiry is in reference to a combined planing mill, cabinet shop, carriage and blacksmith shop on a small scale. This party seems to want some inducement, which he will not secure.

Numerous requests for pamphlets and information along agricultural lines are received each week.

Remember we will be moving October 27th, hence our grocery department will be closed the entire day. NUTT, STEVENS & HARDEMAN, 143-2f Grocery Department.

WILL BUILD INTO LAWTON

Lawton Democrat.

Full financial backing for the construction of the Lawton, Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway line has now been secured and, with cars promised in operation to Randlett within the next sixty days, contract already let and work to begin shortly for the next twenty miles north of that place and money in sight for every mile of the line on into Lawton, a complete, active, efficient railway outlet is promised for this city connecting directly with leading Big Pasture and important Texas towns before the close of the next twelve months.

J. M. Bellamy of this city, president of the building line, today filed in the office of register of deeds here first mortgage on the company's possessions and proposed line in the sum of $800,000, drawn in favor of the Commerce Trust Company of Kansas City in return for the issuance of bonds in that amount with which the road is being financed.

The bonds have already been issued, states President Bellamy, and he showed to a representative of this paper information to the effect that $23,000 worth of bonds have already been sold to one firm. In addition to this, negotiations are under way for the immediate sale of other large chunks of the issue. "There will be no trouble whatever," said Mr. Bellamy, "to effect the sale of the bonds. Eastern capitalists are anxious to take them at par value and in fact negotiations have been opened which will lead to the immediate sale of the entire issue."

The amount of bonds already sold, states Mr. Bellamy, is sufficient to finance the remainder of the line's construction into Randlett and, with no great hindrance, cars will be running into that little city within the next sixty days.

Beyond that joint, according to the terms of the mortgage, funds are to be issued for payment of the construction of each ten miles of track, as that length of track and grade is completed. This will insure a steady progress of the line's construction.

Contract was let several weeks ago in Oklahoma City to the John E. Kirkes Construction Company for the construction of twenty miles of the road, extending this way from Randlett; between that place and Emerson, for the consideration of $200,000. Work on this contract, according to its terms, was to begin within 30 days after the signing of the contract. Mr. Kirkes, however, took suddenly ill immediately after the contract was awarded and has not been able to close the deal. He is expected here early next week, says President Bellamy, to look over the line and it is expected that the contract will then be closed and work promised to start within the next thirty days.

Human Sympathy.

Recently in Topeka, Kan., a vicious dog attacked a pet belonging to Fay Ogdon, a little girl living in that city. The little one picked up her pet and protected it from injury, but in doing so, was bitten fifteen times. The dog was killed and an examination showed that it was suffering from rabies. The parents of the little girl were in poor circumstances, treatment could not be obtained closer than Chicago and to prevent hydrophobia was deemed impossible unless immediate medical aid by the Pasteur treatment could be obtained. It was a moment of despair for the parents. Poverty stood between them and the saving of the life of their loved one and the object seemed unattainable. The reporter of the morning paper was told of the circumstances and publication was quickly given. Before noon strangers had rushed to the rescue of Fay Ogdon. $130 was turned over to be used by her and she was sent to the institute in Chicago and her life was saved. It is an inspiration to read a true story like this, for it shows us how close to humanity and human sympathy brings us to each other. The story told by the reporter merely detailed circumstances surrounding an unknown unfortunate, but it touched the heart strings. Who was there that did not form a mental picture of the sufferings of the parents and of the little one whose life was in danger owing to the need of a few dollars? The response was immediate and from hard-headed business men and hard worked laborers who gladly contributed. Men are not at ways quick to see the necessities of charity or will keep postponing it, but once let the need come home to them and, led by fellow man and sympathy will sweep away all selfishness and bring mankind closer together.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Joan of Arc may soon be granted beatification by the Catholic church, a statement having been made to that effect by the bishop of Orleans. Ever since 1894, when her candidature was brought up before the Roman tribunal, Catholics have been looking forward to the day when her beatification would be announced. It must be proven that Joan displayed the heroic degree of the cardinal virtues of fortitude, justice and temperance, with the adjuncts of humility and chastity. Entire volumes have been filled with the reports, pro and con, and the making of a saint may be considered a long and careful task.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison has been fishing in Florida waters and when she went out for tarpon caught a shark. She has, however, on more than one occasion, made a splendid fishing record, and is very fond of the sport. Some of the best records have been made by women who are patient and fond enough of the sport to make the long trips that are required in Southern waters for the pleasure.

The Princess Victoria Louise, daughter of the kaiser, is said to be the most popular girl in Germany. She is a very pretty girl, sweet 16, and considered by her father too young for sweethearts. Her name, however, has been mentioned in connection with nearly all the princes of other countries, and when the time comes there will, no doubt, come wooing more of them than she will know what to do with. Her mother is a very domestic house frau and, no doubt, has brought her daughter up to take an interest in things pertaining to the home. Like her mother, Princess Victoria is said to be a fearless horsewoman.

A very clever plan was hit upon by a woman who travels extensively. She found that she could keep much cleaner and save her clothing in the sleeping car by taking with her a very thin piece of white material which she dampens and fastens over the screen with thumb tacks. In no way does it interfere with the atmosphere and often makes it cooler in summer and keeps out all particles of flying dust and soot.

An exchange tells us that school girls are wearing knickerbockers to match the petticoats and the petticoats match the dress. They (the knickerbockers) are made of soft material, very wide, with the fulness at the knee line confined with a band of the material that fits below the knee, thus permitting the petticoat fullness to fall over the knees, making a petticoat to be worn over a light union suit of knitted material.

A very fetching house dress was fashioned of black and white shepherd plaid serge, trimmed with narrow folds of black taffeta silk and small black silk covered buttons.

Another effective house dress was made of a tan and blue striped Viyella flannel, trimmed with small crocheted buttons in either tan or blue.

Cashmere, serge, challie, albatross and light weight flannels are all very pretty for house dresses.

Coral is said to be a Persian fad that threatens us imminently. It has gone up in price and is seen in all the different sorts of jewelry as well as the dress and hat garnitures. All of the different shades of pink are seen, and the deep red is also used quite effectively.

Hatpins seem to be growing in size and their price is increased with their growth. Some of the more as large as silver dollars. Those in cut steel upon a black hat are extremely effective and very expensive.

Like the French woman, her American contemporary is discarding the use of many jewels except for state occasions. Her hands are not covered with rings all of the time. Simplicity is the keynote in this regard. What she wears is of the best and she changes frequently, but she does not overdo. Some one has said that too many rings gives the hands an old appearance, and it is undoubtedly so. It is very poor taste for a young girl to load herself down with rings and other pieces of jewelry.

Professor Blackie's Opinion.
A correspondent sends an anecdote concerning the attempt of a serious minded lady to lure Professor Blackie into giving his opinion of Saukey's hymns at a time when they had an enormous vogue. The lady was giving the professor lunch, and he tried to fob her off by praising a Stilton cheese on the table. Some time after the lady sent him a copy of Saukey and a piece of the cheese, hoping thus to draw him. She succeeded to the extent of these four lines of verse:
Thrice blessed is she that hath done what she could
To make a lean man fat and a bad man good—
For the body, cheese; for the soul, Saukey;
For both, thanks. —Glasgow Herald.

A Petite Turn Down.
Sir Algernon West in his reminiscences tells this story of Robert Browning: "When he had become famous some one wanted very much to meet him. A kind friend arranged a meeting, and the guest besieged Browning with questions and conversation during dinner, and even after dinner he continued buttonholing his victim. 'Come,' said the poet, 'this will never do. They will say I am monopolizing you.'"

Sticks to His Word.
"He is a man who sticks to every word he says."
"Is that so?"
"Yes; he stutters so."—New York Telegram.

REAL SERVICE TO YOU

IF, BY some persistency in giving advice, this newspaper can convince every merchant of the wisdom of telling you all of his store-news that is important—of using enough space in which to do it, and of telling as much of his store-news in every issue as you would be interested in knowing—and—

If, at the risk of over-iteration, this newspaper should convince you that this same store-news is of real, live, palpitating importance to you, as fully worthy of your attention as politics, or base ball, or Crowned Heads, or elopements, murders, riots, fashions or functions of the rich—and—

If it should follow that the merchants should prosper in exact ratio to their energy in advertising and that you should thrive in proportion to your intelligence in spending your income—then this newspaper will feel that it has accomplished so real a public service that this city will be a better place in which to live and to do business

YOU COULDN'T BE FOUND ANY OTHER WAY

So the man concluded to advertise for you. He had hoped you would happen to come around to see him of your own accord—or, that somebody would tell you about what he has to tell you—or, that necessity would drive you to search for him.

But, you didn't come—you didn't happen to hear, or to see. His message for you wasn't delivered. His offer—the offer that is really more to your liking and to your interest than any you've had for months—is, at last (as it should have been at first) put into the form of an ad., and awaits you in these columns. The Home of Good Clothes

DESIGNED BY
SPERO, MICHAEL & SON
NEW YORK

One of the most essential features of Clothing is style. It is not put into like starch in a collar; it is not added to the garments when they are nearing completion. Style is built into clothes from the very start; from the chalk lines on the cloth before the shears starts their work and goes hand-in-hand with every operation in clothes making to the last stitch.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx and Spero, Michael & Son's clothes have real style and also the other necessary accomplishments; excellent material high grade workmanship and splendid wearing qualities. We are showing a surprising assortment of fall styles in all the modish fabrics and collar for men and young men. Price $10 to $40. All men and young men suits bought from us will be kept pressed and repaired free of charge.

MANOR HOUSE COFFEE

We would certainly sell it.
