WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1908

NUMBER 164

MOUNTED CANNON FROWN UPON TOWN

INHABITANTS OF AUSTRIAN SEA-PORT LOOK INTO MOUTH OF
CANNON ON MOUNTAIN.

MONTENEGRIAN TROOPS

To the Number of 8,000 Occupy Pass Leading Into Herzegovina.

received here from Cetinje, the capital of Montenegro, declare that the telegraph line between Cetinje and Cattaro, a seaport of Austria, has been cut and that Montenegrins have mounted guns

CONVICTS FIRE MINE.

Cunning Attempt of Prisoners to Escape Results Disastrously.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 17.—Fifty State convicts employed in the mines at Pratt City formed a conspiracy last night to set No. 3 mine afire and escape during the confusion, and as a result eight of them were burned to death, one is missing and the other forty-one are safely locked in the stockades. The last body was taken out this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The coup was cunningly planned and dar-ingly executed. A lot of timber lying in the manway was ignited and the convicts hoped when attention had been attracted to the flames they could make their way through the mine and escape by the main entry, which could be reached after a journey of about a quarter of a mile underground. They had hoped to be able to make their way along the mine ahead of the smoke and fumes from the fire. In this they miscalculated, for eight or nine appear to have been suffocated. The others appeared to be meeting with success until the mine officials suspected something.

Suspicion is Aroused.

One employe saw the flames burst out and when they came so suddenly and in such volume he was sure that oil or some highly combustible matter had been used in starting them.

Making his way to the outside he informed others and they, too, believed an attempt was being made to get away.

Guards were at once placed and the forty men were caught as they came from the main entry. The rescue work was then begun, for in addition to convicts it was known that there were a number of free laborers in the mines.
They appear to have escaped, except the convicts near the source of the flames, who were early suffocated.

In checking over the prison lists tonight only one man is missing, and it is not known whether he perished or made his escape. The fire did little damage to the mines. A number of the timbers were burned, but it is believed tonight this will not affect the operation of the mine. The flames appear to have been confined largely to the piles of timber where the fire was originally started.

HEARST VISITS ROOSEVELT.

Evidence That Roosevelt No Longer
Entertains Bitter Feeling.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—William Randolph Hearst called on the president last night and on a dental today. Mr. Hearst came to Washington ostensibly on private business. It is intimated, however, by persons who are close to the independence party management, Mr. Hearst received an intimation from the White House the president was "mighty pleased" with the Hearst contributions to the late campaign. From certain statements made today, however, the White House view was that Mr. Hearst's suggestion.

More than once during the progress of the campaign information was permitted to escape showing the president approved of Mr. Hearst's exposition of the Standard Oil files. It was evident the former disfavor in which Mr.
Hearst has been held by the president was lessened considerably by his letter-reading campaign.

It could not be learned that anything very important occurred at the interview between the president and Mr.
Hearst. The interview was necessarily brief, for the chairman of the independence party took advantage of an intermission between the acts at the theater to pay his call. The knowing ones say the interview was important mainly as an ice-breaker. It marked, they are confident, the beginning of the establishment of peaceable relations between the president and Mr.
Hearst.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

The following article contains some clever suggestions for the woman who is repotting her ferns:

This is the time to repot ferns and rubber plants.

About two inches increase in the diameter of the pot is required.

A compost can be secured from the florist or made at home.

A good garden soil mixed with barnyard or commercial fertilizer is all that is needed.

Too little of the fertilizer is better than too much, which will burn the roots.

Broken bits of crockery must be placed over the hole in the bottom of the pot.

Three inches of dirt is then placed over this and leveled ready for the plant.

In removing the plant from the old pot care should be taken that the leaves are not injured.

To avoid this, strike the sides of the pot lightly but firmly with a trowel.

Then place the pot on the side, and, holding the plant with the left hand, strike the edge with the trowel.

A sharp blow on the edge should cause the soil and root to come out together.

The mold is placed at once in the new pot and given a thorough wetting.

The new compost is then put in around it until the pot is filled.

It must be remembered that the plant should always be placed an inch deeper in the soil.

The day after repotting, the plant should be kept away from the sun.

From a St. Louis Paper.

American children are too dainty, too much dressed up. They should be allowed to play more in the mud and dirt. These are good for children.

This is the view of conditions in the United States pictured by Prof. Fritz Koch of the Lake Geneva New School, Switzerland. His opinions were gained during a recent investigation of American educational institutions.

"Not least among the detriments to the natural development of children is fashion, a forced culture of vanity and extravagance," he declares. "Not only do the parents, but also the teachers, set the example. Cleanliness is a virtue not demanded from the factory hand while at work, but children while at play are constantly reprimanded because of their dirty hands, spots on their clothes, etc.

"Children should be left unincumbered by critical adult supervision during their free play hours. They are naturally diggers of the dirt, waddlers in puddles, climbers of trees and fences and balustrades. Real boys and girls are rovers in field and forest, in alleys and dangerous places.

Cushions for Gifts.

For the girl who wishes to begin her Christmas gifts is a hatpin cushion made by covering a cylinder or cardboard with fancy ribbon or silk.

The cylinder may be one of the tubes used for mailing pictures, or a roll that broad ribbon comes on, but it may be made of cardboard.

To do this cut the cardboard the desired size—5x9 inches is a good size—and dip in water so it will roll easily.

Roll it carefully until the edges meet, then paste a strip of paper under and over the joining to hold the edges in place.

When it is perfectly dry cover with figured ribbon in pale shades.

Fill with curled hair, letting the hair come beyond the ends to form a round cushion. Cover with plain silk, matching in color either the ground or figure of the ribbon. Each cushion is surrounded by a frill of white chiffon.

Ribbon is twisted around the cylinder at each end and finished with a fluffy bow, while the ribbon to hang it by comes from underneath the bows.

When a girl gets a string tied to a man—she always expects him to pull hard enough to trip himself.

Better it is to live in peace in a cottage of the suburbs, half a mile from the railroad station, than to live in agony over a piano player on a street car line in the finest residence district of the city.

Making the best of the worst of it is one of the most difficult tasks of life.

Only the once unhappy know true happiness.

Frequent passengers take the least stock in railroads.

Many a good man has been washed overboard while trying to steer the ship of state.

The people who despise economy are usually those who cannot practice it or have no need to practice it.

Most men's interest in the full dinner pail begins and ends with their own.

Sacrifice, not avarice, makes true manhood and womanhood.

Practice is wise; mold will form even on goodness when it is not exercised.

Christmas.

Bonham News. In olden times, in the years that have gone, when the old men and old women of today were children, for several weeks before the sacred holiday, all thoughts were turned toward it. The anticipated joys and pleasures filled the hearts of both old and young. Great preparations were made, winter clothing had to be made, the big turkey fattened, the hogs killed, so that sausage and spare ribs might be abundant, friends and relatives were invited to participate in the festivities and pleasures of the holidays, great piles of wood prepared to last during the entire time, a big gum back log for each fire was carefully prepared with a view to lasting a long time, presents for the children and all the servants must be in readiness, for every servant from the little plebeian up to the grey headed sire expected and knew that they would receive something nice. The old "black mammy" always had a double share, for every one of the white children had to have a present to give her. The young men prepared to devote most of their time to their sweethearts, and the young ladies expected to meet and be with their intended ones—what glorious anticipations—the hope, the expectation of meeting with and spending one whole week with the one we love most gave us energy and made us feel glad the time was near, and then when the time did come and we met our loved one it was truly a heaven on earth. There was only one drawback to it and that was the thought that it could not last always, and we had to be separated for awhile. At least that was always a serious thought to me, and then during the interval of separation—what if some one should come along and receive the smiles of my Dulcinea and try to win her affections from me. I was just a little jealous hearted and could not bear the thought of some one coming, between my sweetheart and myself.

But about that old-fashioned Christmas, when the day came it came full of joys and full of pleasures, the old folks at home happy because their children and grand-children would be with them; the children and grand-children were happy because of the visit to father and mother and grandfather, and, best of all, to grandmother for grandmothers are always an object of love to the grandchildren. Visiting friends enjoyed it, the servants enjoyed it, for it meant a week's rest and frolic for them and also many acts of kindness and remembrances to them from the white folks.

Those old times, old holidays, old enjoyments, can never be forgotten by the old people who participated in them. Great changes have taken place since those days, most of the old timers are resting quietly in their graves, the manners and customs of the present generation have superseded our old ways, simple style and genuine hospitality.

"One thing is as it was in those days, its style, its manner, its way, never changes—our way of loving, our devotion to our sweetheart, when pure and genuine, is unchangeable and goes on forever.

Let us still look forward to Christmas as a time of good will, as a time of rejoicing, as a time when our hearts should be filled with gratitude to our Heavenly Father, for the day, the cause, that gave rise to the celebration. Let us be kind and good to all mankind and let our affections be pure and strong and sacred for our loved ones, for did not the angels say on the first Christmas morn that they brought glad tidings of great joy which shall be to all people and all nations?

Let us proclaim something on next Christmas morning that will make some one feel glad, make some heart swell with pride and joy. We can certainly tell to our loved ones that same old, old story and make them feel glad.

DAVIDSON IS LEADING.

Incomplete Returns Indicate Attorney
General Will Lead Ticket.

Dallas News.
Completed returns of the vote cast in ninety-eight counties in the recent election show, for president, the following results:

Bryan	107,750
Taft	32,226
Watson (Pop.)	425
Chafin (Pro.)	907
Debs (Soc.)	3,519
Gilhaus (Coc.-Labor)	206
Hlazen (Ind.)	85

Total vote 145,227
Bryan's plurality over Taft . . . 75,524
Bryan's majority over all . . . 70,372

One hundred counties show the following vote for governor:

Campbell	106,617
Simpson	35,331
Heath (P.O.)	27
Rhodes (Soc.)	3,197
Cook (Soc.-Labor)	9
Martin (Ind.)	4

Total vote for governor . . . 145,549
Campbell's plurality over Simpson . . . 71,284
Campbell's majority . . . 67,683

Ninety counties show for attorney general:

Davidson	104,172
Atwell	28,396
Davidson's majority over Atwell	75,776

For lieutenant governor the vote, so far as is shown by the News' completed returns, is as follows between Davidson and Ogden:

Davidson	88,756
Ogden	23,639
Davidson's majority over Ogden	65,977

The vote of ninety-eight counties on the proposed constitutional amendments was as follows:

For the school amendment	69,642
Against	27,072
Majority for the amendment	42,572

For the precinct redistricting amendment:

Against	52,871
Majority against amendment	1,218

For salaries' amendment:

Against	53,416
Majority against amendment	30,096

The counties from which the News has gathered complete returns constitute two-fifths of the whole number. If their vote is representative it indicates a total vote of more than 350,000 and a majority for Bryan of about 175,000 and a majority for Campbell of about 150,000. It is likely that the vote of the counties that have so far reported is somewhat heavier on the average, than of the unreported counties, so that these figures are apt to be somewhat reduced.

It is not improbable that Attorney General Davidson has led the ticket. Ninety counties gave him 3,000 votes, making round number, of Mr. Bryan's vote in ninety-eight counties, and within 22,500 of the votes given to Gov. Campbell in 100 counties. Some correspondents, contrary to instructions, neglected to report the vote for attorney general. The detailed reports show that Attorney General Davidson ran ahead of both Mr. Bryan and Gov. Campbell in most instances. If it be assumed that in the counties from which his vote is not reported Attorney General Davidson received only as many votes as Mr. Bryan his total would be 112,395, or 5,000 more than Mr. Bryan got in the counties reporting and 6,000 more than Governor Campbell.

The vote so far reported determines the fate of two of the amendments. It is evident it will require complete returns to make it certain what happened to the commissioners' precinct amendment.

Every man and woman should strive to own a home, a place to stay at and stay in, a place where the storms of life will beat their tempestuous fury out, but leave loved ones safely housed against its violence. It should be the joy of everyone to work to the end that a home may be his or hers. A little land by here, until after a bit a comfortable home can be purchased. It is not necessary to buy a few hundred acres. A palace is not necessary to comfortable life. But shelter is necessary. It is a duty every man owes

BAKED BEANS READY TO SERVE

During the past summer we have sold more Baked Beans than ever before. The Heinz and Monarch brands have taken particularly well, and people have learned that this delightful food in the canned form is just as good, and in some ways better than the home baked variety.

Of course you have fire in the kitchen during this weather, but that is no reason why you should go to the trouble and worry of baking your own beans. The time it requires to bake them could be used to better advantage at something else about the house, or what is the matter in taking that time to rest?

We guarantee the quality of both the Heinz and Monarch brands and know that you will be pleased with them, served either hot or cold.

BATHING AT DIEPPE.

When the Comtesse de Boigne Tried It in the Year 1806.

The Comtesse de Boigne in her memoirs gives an account of a visit she paid in 1806, which is interesting in view of the position Dieppe now holds among French watering places.

"The poverty of the inhabitants," she says, "was frightful. The Englishman, as they called him (and for them he was worse than the devil), was cruising incessantly before their empty harbor. With much difficulty a boat was able to escape from time to time and go fishing, always at the risk of being captured by the foreigner or confiscated upon the return journey if the telescopes of the watchers had seen it approach a vessel.

"As for the comforts arranged for the convenience of bathers which Dieppe has since organized, they were nonexistent at that time. My brother was able to find a little covered cart, and with great trouble and great expense, notwithstanding the universal poverty, a man was hired to lead the horses down to the sea and two women to go into the sea with me.

"These preparations raised the public surprise and curiosity to such a pitch that my first bath was watched by a crowd on the shore. My servants were asked if I had been bitten by a mad dog.

"I aroused extreme pity as I went by and it was, thought that I was being taken down to be drowned. An old gentleman called on my father to point out to him that he was assuming a great responsibility in permitting so rash an act. It can hardly be imagined that the inhabitants of a seashore could be so afraid of the sea.

"But at that time the people of Dieppe were chiefly occupied in keeping out of sight of it and in protecting themselves from the disasters which they feared the sea might bring, so that it was for them nothing more than a means of annoyance and suffering. It is curious to think that ten years later bathers were arriving in hundreds, that special arrangements were made for their convenience and that sea bathing of every kind went on without producing any astonishment in the neighborhood.

"I have thus attempted to point out that the custom of sea bathing, which is now so universal, is comparatively recent in France, for Dieppe was the first place where it began."

Hobson's Choice.

"There is an egg for breakfast," remarked a landlady to her lodger. "Which do you prefer?" "Prefer?" repeated the latter. "Where's the preference when you only offer an egg?" "Why, you can have an egg or nothing," was the sharp reply.—London Scraps.

No Fun.

Jester. Of course I expect pay for them. You don't suppose I write these things for fun, do you? Editor (handing back the batch of paragraphs)—Well, if you did, you failed most disastrously.—Illustrated Bits.

Married the Day They Met.

Horace Greeley and Mary Young Cheney were married the first day they met. They had corresponded for some time, a common friend who was something of a matchmaker having brought this about. She was all his fancy painted her, but she was much disappointed in his appearance, so much so that when he appeared before her, having proposed and been accepted by letter, she frankly told him that, although she married him, she was not in love with him. Their married life was long and happy, and the loss of his wife was a blow which Greeley did not long survive.

A CURIOUS WORD.

Twists That May Be Given to "Ba" in the Chinese Language.

In the Chinese language the same word may be given several different meanings by the modulation of the voice. The same thing may happen to the English "Yes," which may be pronounced so as to mean "I assent to that," or "I am doubtful," or "Indeed?" An eminent authority on philology gives an amusing illustration of these modulations in the Annamite language, a monosyllabic tongue spoken by the people of Tonquin and Cochin China.

In this language the syllable "ba" pronounced with a grave accent means a lady, an ancestor. Pronounced with the sharp accent, it means the favorite of a prince. Pronounced with the semi-grave accent, it means what has been thrown away. Pronounced with the grave circumflex, it means what has been left of a fruit after the juice has been squeezed out. Pronounced with no accent, it means three. Pronounced with the ascending or interrogation accent, it means a box on the ears.

Thus the word "ba," in the order given above, is said to mean, if properly pronounced, "Three ladies gave a box on the ear to the favorite of the prince."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Two Previous.

A Richmond woman has in her employ a little darky, Miff Cole. One day Miff became confidential and told his mistress he was "goin' to the cemetery next Sunday."

"But, Miff, that's a long walk. You know it is more than five miles." "Oh, missus, I ain't goin' to walk. I's goin' to ride."

"How is that, Miff?" "I's goin' in a kerridge 't my uncle's funeral."

All day Saturday Miff could talk of nothing but the approaching affair. Sunday his mistress excused him, and she expected that on Monday she would be regaled with a full account of the funeral. But Miff turned up with a most melancholy face. In answer to her inquiry he said: "I didn't go, missus. He ain't dead yet."—New York Herald.

NEW ROAD TO LAWTON.
Oklahoma City Oklahoman.
As a result of a conference between J. M. Bellamy, president; J. E. Kirkes, contractor, and S. J. Carpenter, secretary, at the latter's office in the Lee Annex yesterday, work will begin immediately upon the 17 miles extension of the Lawton, Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway.

The extension begins at Emerson and runs to Lawton for connections with the Frisco and Rock Island railroads.

The terminus of the system is at Bellamy Junction, in the center of the Big Pasture, 37 miles south of Lawton, and the road is expected to supply shipping facilities to that entire section. The road has been bonded for $500,000, and is expected to cost not less than $20,000 a mile. It has developed beyond the point of financial embarrassment.

"As a feeder to Oklahoma City, the road is of much importance," said Mr. Bellamy yesterday. "The Frisco and Rock Island connections make it largely an asset of this city."

Following are the officers of the new company: J. M. Bellamy, Lawton, president and general manager; C. P. Hopp, Oklahoma City, vice president; S. J. Carpenter, Oklahoma City, secretary; Will R. Walter, Oklahoma City, treasurer; Hamon & Mitschrich, Lawton, and Horace Speed, Guthrie, attorneys.

LOWDEN PLEADS GUILTY.

Fort Worth Man's Bond Fixed at $10,000—Unable to Give Bond.

(Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 16.—Haggard, unshaven and nervous, Edwin C. Lowden of Fort Worth, Texas, defaulting bookkeeper of the Provident Savings Bank & Trust Company, faced his accusers today and pleaded guilty to the charge against him.

"Guilty, your honor," said Lowden, leaning over the magistrate's desk. "All I want is to get the case over with as quickly as possible."

"Grand jury bond of $10,000," replied Squire Lamping.

"I won't try to give bond," said Lowden to a reporter. "I hope the grand jury will take up the case as soon as possible and get the whole business over with."

List of Those Subscribing to the Fund of $1,000.

The following are the names of contributors and amounts paid into the Prize Cotton Fund of $1,000 which is being distributed in weekly installments of $100 to cotton growers marketing wagon cotton in Wichita Falls.

Below are additional subscriptions pledged and it is important that the full amount be raised to allow disbursing the sum of $1,000 as advertised. The plan has met with popular approval and is considered a wise expenditure when it is considered the reputation Wichita Falls had in the surrounding country in the past as a weak cotton market. It can be safely said that this fact has been overcome through the plan in operation.

TRUMBULL ON TEXAS.

Thinks There is a Disposition to Be Fairer Toward All Corporations.

Railway World.
Frank Trumbull, president of the Colorado and Southern lines, the interests of whose roads in Texas is extensive, and who has worked energetically in shaping public opinion in the Southwest in favor of fair treatment of corporations, including the railroads, said recently upon his return from a five weeks trip through the Southwestern States that the attitude of Texas toward the railroads is very friendly, and that he has entire confidence in the prediction that the railroads of that State can count upon fair treatment from the people.

That Texas is greatly in need of pursuing such an attitude toward railroad corporations as will encourage railroad building in the State was clearly brought out by Mr. Trumbull in an address recently delivered by him before the board of trade of Fort Worth. Dealing with some phases of the railroad problem, of the relation between the railroads and the State and Federal governments, and Texas'
need in respect to new railroads, Mr.
Trumbull said:

"The right of the government to regulate corporations engaged in public service has been too long upheld and admitted, to now be turned over. But the question, 'How far should the regulation go?' and 'What is a reasonable return upon your capital if invested in railroads?' must be answered by investors as well as by law-makers, for it takes two to make a bargain.

"But it is said the railroads are over-capitalized and the people are taxed to pay dividends on watered stock. This is a feature of transportation which seems to have about the same fascination for many minds that a salivatic battery has for children, and when they tackle the subject and try to formulate a precise remedy that will retain the energy of private capital, they go through about the same amount of wringling that the children do in trying to let go of the battery. The same with the question of physical valuation of railroads; it is one of those theories which please the imagination, but no one can say what the government could do with it after it had it, any more than what the government could do with a physical valuation of farms and farm improvements."

During the vacation days in New York city the poorer children of the lower East Side of Manhattan island received 26,043 luncheons through the home delivery system of the Children's Relief Society.

CELEBRATES 79th BIRTHDAY.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Carrigan entertain in honor of Judge J. H. Barwise. Judge and Mrs. A. H. Carrigan entertained a few of Judge J. H. Barwise's "old time" friends last Friday evening at a 6 o'clock dinner, the occasion being the seventy-ninth anniversary of the birth of our venerable townsman—Judge J. H. Barwise, who has the unique distinction of having lived here before there was any city or railroad, and who has been here longer than any other citizen of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Carrigan had her table tastefully arranged and an appropriate post card designated the place for each guest. Some of the cards had written on them a few lines of original poetry, appropriate to the occasion.

The menu consisted of several courses, novel among which were oysters spiced and served in a bowl of solid ice, and scalloped oysters, served a la Mandy.

The turkey and cranberry sauce were a special feature.

The pleasure of the occasion was enhanced by the informality that pervaded. After some reminiscences of former occasions, on which Judge Barwise and his estimable wife had feasted most of those present in their hospitable home, it was truly remarked that very little change could be discerned in the appearance of the Judge now and twenty years ago.

A happy incident of the evening was the dancing of a jig, participated in by "Isbeth," the 18-months-old daughter of Judge and Mrs. Carrigan, and her grandfather in his 89th year, thus proving that there is something in the saying that "we are as old as we feel ourselves to be."

All united in wishing their venerable friend many happy returns of the occasion.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Burnside, Dr. and Mrs. Wade Walker, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Barwise and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hunt.

NO DEFINITE ANSWER AS TO SENATORSHIP.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 17.—When asked regarding the report that he might be elected to the United States Senate from Nebraska, Mr. Bryan said: "The tendering of a senatorship is a matter of such importance that no man can treat it without the consideration it deserves. No senatorship in my State is being tendered, therefore I cannot say what my action would be, but the United States senate, next to the presidential office, is the highest position to which any American may aspire."

Verdict for the Defendant.

The civil suit of J. Markowitz vs. Ed. Lysaght, which has been on trial in the county court for several days, was given to the jury yesterday and a verdict for the defendant was returned. The suit resulted from a land sale in which the plaintiff sold the defendant a tract of land bordering upon and partly covered by Lake Wichita. The plaintiff contended in his complaint that more of the land than was represented by the defendant was covered by the water of the lake.
