

ROCKEFELLER IN THE LIME LIGHT

OIL KING ON WITNESS STAND TELLS STORY OF ORGANIZA- TION OF STANDARD OIL.

IS PROUD OF LIFE'S WORK

As Witness for Defense Head of Giant Combine Testifies in Ouster Pro- ceedings at New York.

By Associated Press.
New York, Nov. 19.—John D. Rockefeller went on the witness stand when the Standard Oil hearing resumed this morning. The counsel for the oil company said that Mr. Rockefeller would probably be on the stand all day.

It is announced that after Rockefeller's cross examination by the government is concluded, John D. Archbold, vice president of the Standard Oil Co., will take the witness stand.

Mr. Rockefeller will tell his own story of the building up of the Standard Oil company and of his own personal fortune. The appearance of the oil king upon the witness stand has given a tremendous public interest to the long drawn out and often tedious hearings in the government's suit to dissolve the so-called oil trust. The little room in which the hearing is in progress will accommodate scarcely more than a hundred persons and was crowded with eager listeners today as Rockefeller told his story.

Mr. Rockefeller testified to the Standard's purchase of the firm of Pratt & Company of Brooklyn, of which H. H. Rogers was a member, and also to the buying of the Warden Frew & Company, which had large plants in Philadelphia and refineries in Pittsburg. The aggregate value of the property purchased, he estimated at $3,000,000.

Yesterday's Associated Press dispatches, in giving an account of Mr. Rockefeller's testimony, was as follows:

Relating his story with the air of a country gentleman of kindly mien, engaging a host of friends with incidents of days long past, John D. Rockefeller, president of the Standard Oil company, though for nearly ten years retired from the active cares of the company's direction, for over two hours today reviewed the history of the early oil trade and the development of the four companies that later grew into the present so-called oil trust. Mr. Rockefeller was a witness for the defense in the suit to dissolve the Standard Oil company, which is being prosecuted by the United States government, and his appearance at the hearing before Judge Franklin Ferris, the referee, brought a large crowd to the customs building.

The head of the big oil combine was surrounded by an imposing circle of counsel and when he began his testimony he gazed complacently upon a swarm of newspaper men, behind whom pressed close a throng of people that filled the room. Mr. Rockefeller appeared at complete ease and when John G. Milburn, of counsel for the Standard Oil company, propounded the first question, the witness spoke out in full tones as if he desired the most distant spectator in the chamber to hear him. Then, in a manner that indicated a pleasure at what he was about to tell, Mr. Rockefeller spoke of his start in the oil business and how, under adverse conditions, that business grew to the proportions of the Standard Oil company of Ohio, with its capitalization of $1,000,000. Mr. Rockefeller's eyes sparkled in reflection over that early financial organization and in speaking of its million dollar capitalization said with almost boyish enthusiasm:

"It seemed very large to us, who began with only $4,000 in 1862."

Flashes of Kindly Humor.

Thus the proceedings lost in a measure their official aspect because of the engaging manner which Mr. Rockefeller displayed in his answers, which now and then contained flashes of kindly humor. A glow of health shined in Mr. Rockefeller's smoothly shaven face and to inquiring newspaper men he replied that he never felt better. The president of the Standard Oil company was dressed in a plain suit of dark material and across his vest was suspended a heavy gold watch chain. A dark purple necktie, in which a large pearl pin was set, snugly closed to a high collar.

The developments of Mr. Rockefeller's testimony today, which carried him to the organization of the Standard Oil company of Ohio indicated that one of the lines of the defense would be that the Standard Oil company is not the result of an aggressive policy to gain the mastery of the oil trade, as charged, but the natural outcome of the economic development which the exigencies of the oil business demanded.

TO DISCUSS TUBERCULOSIS.

Prominent Physicians to Meet and Talk Against the Spread of the Great White Plague.

There will be held in this city at the Baptist church at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow a meeting of more than passing importance for the purpose of discussing the best methods of making war on the spread of tuberculosis.

GATES CONFIRMS PIPE LINE REPORT

CONFIRMS REPORT THAT HE IS PLANNING TO PIPE GAS TO FT. WORTH AND DALLAS.

PLANS NOT COMPLETED

W. B. Worsham, a Henrietta Capital- ist, Is Also Interested in the Enterprise.

Special to the Times.
Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 19.—Dispatches were received by the Texas News Service this afternoon that John W. Gates of Fort Arthur, the multi-millionaire, confirming the report that he is planning to pipe gas from the Petroleum field to Dallas and Fort Worth, but saying that the details have not been fully arranged.

Through Texas Company.

Houston, Tex., Nov. 19.—A proposition for the construction of a pipe line from Henrietta, Tex., to Dallas and Fort Worth for the purpose of developing the natural gas properties in Clay county and utilizing the gas for the commercial and industrial development of the two North Texas cities has been taken under serious consideration by the officers of the Texas company, operating in the Texas and Oklahoma oil fields.

The matter was considered at the annual meeting of the stockholders held in Fort Arthur yesterday, and it is learned that upon the fulfillment of certain requirements by the Dallas and Henrietta interests that submitted the proposition to the Texas Company, some announcement will be made concerning the details of the plan.

W. B. Worsham of Henrietta is interested in the enterprise. In connection with the people at Dallas a plan has been developed whereby it is believed the natural gas deposits near Henrietta may be piped to Fort Worth and Dallas and profitably distributed for commercial use. The plan has been placed before the Texas Company, and the proposition is well advanced. The promoters feel upon the building of such a pipe line the fuel problem will have been solved so far as the points reached are concerned.

J. S. Cullinan, president of the Texas Company, was seen tonight concerning the proposition. Mr. Cullinan stated he preferred the Dallas and Henrietta promoters of the enterprise give out any information that is given out relating to it. He admitted the company has the proposition under consideration, but does not believe that it would be proper for him to discuss the matter of the company's attitude toward the proposition at the present time.

JEWELER

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

Consistency in Dressing.

Omaha Bee.
The day has long since past when the business woman was a dejected bit of femininity, making her appearance in silk and satins, the last relic of more prosperous times, when she was in the habit of pouring tea for afternoon callers, nor is her attitude any longer one that calls forth sympathy or the part of everyone with whom she comes in contact.

Today she has her business suit and is quite as anxious that it be of correct cut as could any bride be of her wedding gown. It is a mistake, however, to believe that she lacks any of the womanly weaknesses for pretty trifles in dress, for if it can be considered a weakness, she is just as fond of the dainty bits of finery, dear to a woman's heart, as ever was her great aunt, selected in every way from coming in contact with the business world. She has her evening gowns, her pretty negligee, dainty lingerie, and even the lavender and lace which might be considered, according to story books, as belonging to a past generation. Her strong point is that she knows when and where to use these things. Business women recognize the necessity of a tailored suit and will make almost any sacrifice to possess one that is truly elegant. By no means does the word elegant signify expensive trimming and perishable shades, even though they may be considered new and a novelty of the present season. Quite on the contrary, it must be simple and practically without trimming; for style it depends upon the material and the cut of the garment. It is a mistake to suppose that satisfactory costumes of this character can be had for a song, for they are really expensive, but it is a case of the best being the cheapest in the end. Every sensible woman will try to arrange her expenditure so that she may be able to afford such a suit. If a good style is chosen she can wear it for several years, therefore, it is important that she know the little things that are marked features of advanced models.

THE PROSPERITY ASSOCIATION.
Houston Post.
With a degree of faith in the value of the work of the National Prosperity association, of which he is the official head, that almost approaches the sublime, President C. F. Simmons announces the completion of the work of that organization, the object for which it was created, the return of prosperity, having been accomplished.
"In giving details as to how the association proceeded in its work of setting things to rights, President Simmons says: 'Results far better than we had expected were established. Among the most important of these was the visit to President Roosevelt, which resulted in his not sending any more messages to congress that had the appearance of being an attack upon the railroads or other large corporations.'

Undoubtedly the suppression of the stream of presidential messages was a great feat, but while legitimately enabling the prosperity association to the gratitude of the nation, it was not the least nor the last of its accomplishments. 'Perhaps,' continues President Simmons, 'the most important thing is the change in public sentiment toward railroads and large corporations, especially in the South and the Southwest. Muckrakers have ceased to show their heads; demagogues have quit talking, and a very healthy state of mind prevails toward those industries, whereas previous to our work there was a vicious antagonism clearly evident among the masses of the people, most of whom held their views or opinions without giving the subject the proper thought."

Now if these things, to-wit, the restraining of the hitherto irresponsible Teddy, the suppression of the muckrakers and the demagogues had not been wrought, and the 'vicious antagonism of the masses against railroads and large corporations' not been overcome, we take it that the return of prosperity would have been delayed another year or two despite the enormous crops the country is making and which are rapidly moving into the channels of consumption, creating a 'state of mind' that at least helps the masses to a more placid view of the situation.

Now, if the prosperity association, before it finally disbands, will only clinch its work by making sure that the demagogue and the muckraker, and we liked to have said the president, stay put, the whole country will unite in acclaiming that it has done a goodly work.

BANK WITH THE OLD RELIABLE

Management

The success of a bank and the safety of the funds intrusted to it depend upon a judicious administration of its affairs.

Every officer of The First National Bank is a practical banker of life-long experience.

Its directors are all well known men selected for their business ability and financial standing.

The strength of this bank lies not alone in its large capital, surplus and resources, but in the character and financial responsibility of the men who conduct its affairs.

Details of Killing of Armstrong. Concerning the killing of John Armstrong at Bovina on Tuesday afternoon, the Amarillo Panhandle has the following account:

John R. Armstrong, aged 40 years, with a wife and child, and residing at Bovina, Palmer county, a brother-in-law of Harry Nichols of this city, was shot and killed yesterday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the point named, in the presence of a large number of witnesses. Shortly after the killing, or as soon as Sheriff Stevens could come from Farwell, the county seat, one Williams surrendered and was removed to jail. The affair created a profound sensation and sorrow throughout the community.

Eye witnesses to the tragedy state that just prior to the shooting and perhaps at the very time of the event the dead man was engaged in an encounter with Doby Williams, a brother of the man who was taken into custody. That someone shouted, "look out for the gun." A report of a rifle followed and John Armstrong's horse, being wheeled at the time of the shot, dashed across the street, the body of Armstrong falling from the saddle, one of the dead man's feet hanging in the stirrup and his body was kicked loose by the horse.

Events leading up to the tragedy, it is alleged, date back several months and involve court proceedings, embracing an allegation of crookedness in cattle transactions. John Armstrong, as representative of the "XIT" ranch, or syndicate, has been more or less active in his investigation of certain charges relative to the loss or the burning of cattle brands. Following this, it is alleged, that there was bad blood between himself and certain other resident of that community. Information had reached Mr. Armstrong that his life had been threatened. But he was an old plainsman and paid small heed to the reports. Thus the information runs relative to the preliminaries which led up to the killing.

For a period of nineteen and a half years John Armstrong had been in charge of the syndicate properties at and near the point where he was killed yesterday. He was known as a man of courage and fine business ability, and the fact of his long tenure in the service of the interests by which he was engaged carries with it the inference that he was thoroughly competent and esteemed by those engaging him.

The man held, charged with the killing of Armstrong, had been a resident of the community three years, having formerly lived in New Mexico. He was among the smaller cattlemen of the community and is married and has children.

Every shilling turned out by the English mint shows a profit of nearly 3 pence.

Cotton Yield Now Depends on Weather.

The Farmers' Union Gin company passed the 1,300 bale mark last night, after a run of fifty-three bales yesterday.

The Wigham gin has turned out over 700 bales, but both gins are several hundred bales behind their record last year at this date.

A. D. Terrell, of the Farmers' Union gin, said this morning that with favorable weather conditions he believed that as much cotton would be ginned here this year as was ginned last. The crop has been very late and depends altogether now upon the weather. If clear, sunny weather continues hundreds of bales will be ginned. Wet weather, however, would mean the loss of more than a thousand bales.

SNAKE AND OSTRICH FARM AT SAN ANTONIO.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 18.—An ostrich farm and a snake farm are two new and unusual industries just started in this city. The ostrich ranch has gotten under way and occupies a beautifully wooded park on the banks of the San Antonio river just south of the city. It has sixteen of the big birds on its preserves and is the show place that is attracting crowds of visitors. The proprietors claim that the climate and conditions here are favorable to ostrich growing and that the feathers find a ready market at a good profit. The owners of the farm came here from California and are experienced men in the business. The snake farm is just being opened up. It will be conducted by George Ellis, an old showman, formerly from Detroit, assisted by Mrs. Lulu Leeman, who was a snake charmer for many years with Ringling Brothers' circus. They propose to raise and propagate all varieties of snakes that have commercial value. Already San Antonio has the largest snake broker in the United States, but he merely buys and sells snakes. His agents scour Mexico and Central America and ship the snakes to this city. The owner of this unique establishment is an Englishman and is very secretive about his business, not allowing the public to see the many strange and venomous monsters that he handles. The business is said to be immensely profitable, but it is also a trifle risky, the snake merchant being just now in the hospital as a result of a rattlesnake bite. He will recover, but had a close call for his life. The promoters of the snake farm expect to supply snake skins to manufacturers, as well as live snakes to the zoos, circuses, etc. They announced that their farm will at once be stocked with 2,000 different varieties of snakes.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 19th, 1908.

Several instances have been reported lately where fires originating from a bonfire or an ash dump have gotten into dry grass on lawns and conflagrations have been prevented only by prompt and vigorous effort. The high winds that now prevail render it doubly unsafe and perilous to start any kind of a fire out of doors.

Citizens of Mineral Wells have subscribed $100,000 in capital stock for a new railroad to the northwest running to Galveston. The citizens of the latter place are expected to subscribe a smaller amount and intermediate towns will give substantial bonuses to aid the project.

It begins to look as if Mr. Bryan can never be president, and being a democrat and citizen of a republican State his chances for a seat in the United States Senate are not over bright. He is a young man yet, and it might be to his advantage to take up his residence in Texas. In time, this State would be proud to honor him with almost any office he might ask for. Mr. Bryan likes Texas and Texas people, and Texas would be proud of Mr. Bryan as one of her statesmen.

CULTIVATING THE SOUTH.

President Taft may cultivate the South without the bestowal of political favors as a reward for political service. The gentlemen who seek such reward are not truly representative of that South which gave Mr. Taft few electoral votes, but a great deal of moral support, and which now looks to him with abiding confidence to steer the ship of state safely and securely in the channels of peace, prosperity and universal good will. Though the South did not vote for Mr. Taft the South has confidence in him and admiration for him, and will accord his administration loyal and hearty support to the fullest extent of its deserts. If the president-elect shall rise above his party to the same extent as did thousands of Southern democrats who voted for him from patriotic impulse at the sacrifice of their party fealty the forces that make for enlightened patriotism may be conserved to good advantage. Let the president take the South into his confidence—not the politicians, office-seekers and patronage-brokers, but the people—and there will soon be a cordial understanding and a prosperity-promoting entente that will help the country without injuriously affecting his relations with his party.—San Antonio Express.

The thousands of democrats who voted the republican ticket are no longer democrats in any sense of the word, and if given preferment over those who have always been republicans and voted the ticket under any and all circumstances, it would be showing but little appreciation of party loyalty. A "turn-coat" should be made to serve at least a reasonable length of time in the ranks of the party before being elevated to places of honor over the heads of those who have stood up and voted the party ticket straight from the head to the tail of the ticket when they saw they were in a hopeless minority. The South has no use for a "turn-coat" and even if President-elect Taft does conclude to recognize a few of such so-called democrats by appointing them to office, such acts will not have the desired effect. A loyal democrat will think more of Mr. Taft if he will appoint to office only those who are re-

Phenomena of Heredity.

It is one of the phenomena of heredity that a boy wants to be what his father was—if a shoemaker, then a shoemaker; if an ironworker, then an ironworker; if an artisan of any line, then an artisan in that line—and the father and mother who have come to hate the smell of leather or the crime of the smithy, the oil waste of the machine or the sweat of downright hard work enjoy or coerce that boy into something that is generally dull or respectably stupid and kill the germ that would have produced the manufacturer, the mechanical engineer or the capitalist.—Philadelphia Telegraph

The average resistance of the human body, from the feet to the hands, when the soles of the shoes are saturated with water and the hands are wet, is about 5000 ohms, and may be represented approximately by the resistance of a copper wire about one-two-hundred-and-fifty-fourth of an inch in diameter and 7710 feet in length.

Little Chip and Mary Marble are said to have the best parts they have ever played with the new musical comedy, "His Honor The Mayor," which will be seen here within a few weeks. "His Honor The Mayor" is one of the most uproariously funny pieces that has been produced in many years.

An exchange remarks that "the time has certainly arrived when Texas should have a compulsory education law." Compulsory education is all right, provided the children are not forced to gain their education from books that vilify the country in which they were given birth, and teach them to disrespect those who gave their life blood in its defense. It will be time enough to pass a compulsory education law when the State of Texas will provide text books that will treat in some degree of fairness the "late unpleasantness." Doubtless, there are many people in Texas today who would prefer that their children grow up without a common school education rather than have them taught to disrespect those who defended the South. Provide books that teach the truth, and then, if found necessary, it will be ample time to pass a compulsory education law.

The World's Greatest Cotton Port.

An average of twenty bales per minute has been the movement of cotton to the port of Galveston during the twenty-six working days covering the period from October 11 to November 10, inclusive. This means a total of 1277 bales per hour, and an average of 23,225 bales per day.

During the period a total of 159,805 bales have been received. The smallest day's receipts were 17,403 bales, on October 17, and only on four days did receipts fall under 20,000 bales. Receipts on eight different days reached or exceeded 42,000 bales. A new record was established on November 2nd, when 70,124 bales were received.

BAKED BEANS READY TO SERVE

During the past summer we have sold more Baked Beans than ever before. The Heinz and Monarch brands have taken particularly well, and people have learned that this delightful food in the canned form is just as good, and in some ways better than the home baked variety.

Of course you have fire in the kitchen during this weather, but that is no reason why you should go to the trouble and worry of baking your own beans. The time it requires to bake them could be used to better advantage at something else about the house, or what is the matter in taking that time to rest?

We guarantee the quality of both the Heinz and Monarch brands and know that you will be pleased with them, served either hot or cold.

BRASS HORNS

The Way the Thin, Seamless Tubes
 Are Bent Without Injury.

Saxhorns, so called after a famous Belgian family named Sax, who invented and introduced these instruments about the middle of the last century, are the mainstay of all modern brass bands. They are manufactured in many different sizes, from high soprano to the huge contrabass or bombardon, and the most important of the lot is the euphonium, which supplanted the now obsolete "serpents" and oph-cleides. The tallest saxhorn ever made stands eight feet high and contains more than forty feet of tubing.

The advantage of seamless or "cold drawn" tubes for such instruments as trombones and horns is considerable, since, no matter how good the job may be, sooner or later the action of the breath will wear away the solder,

To bend these thin brass tubes without splitting or denting the metal was at one time very difficult, but, thanks to a most ingenious artifice, the operation is now both safe and simple. The tube is first washed out with a chemical substance, such as is used by plumbers to prevent solder from adhering where it is not wanted, and it is then completely filled with molten lead poured in from a ladle. Thus supported from within, the brass is easily and safely bent to the required shape, the lead being afterward removed by heat.—Pearson's.

BEEHOVEN.

The Composer's Own Story of How He Became Deaf.

Charles Neate, on a visit to Vienna, was either commissioned by certain English authorities to induce Beethoven to visit England or was persuading him to do so on his own account, and as an allurement he spoke of the superiority of the English aurists in their treatment of ear disease and held out hopes that were Beethoven to consult them he might at least find some sort of relief. Beethoven shook his head.

"No," he said, "I have consulted all kinds of doctors and followed their prescriptions. I shall never be cured.
 I will tell you how the thing happened.
 "I was writing an opera. I had to deal with a very tiresome and capricious tenor, I had already written two great arias to the same words, neither of which pleased him, and also a third, which he did not care for the first time he tried it, although he took it away with him. I was thanking heaven I had done with him and had begun to settle myself to something else which I had laid aside. I had hardly worked at it half an hour before I heard a knock at the door, which I recognized as that of my tenor.

"I sprang up from my table in such a rage that as the man came into the room I flung myself upon the floor, as they do on the stage; there he threw up his arms and contorted in illustration, but I fell upon my hands.
 When I got up I found I was deaf, and from that moment I have remained so. The doctor said I injured the nerve."—Dieht's "Life of Beethoven."

The price that one pays for a taxi today is just a little different from what was paid for, say, the hire of a sedan chair in days of old. In the domestic accounts of "Mistress Nell Gwynn" we read: "For chaireing you to Mrs. Knight's and to Mrs. Cassell's and to Mrs. Churchill's and to Mrs.
 Knight's, 4 shillings. For chaireing you yesterday and waiting eleven hours, 11 shillings 6 pence. Paid 13th Oct.,
 1675."—London Chronicle.

 used to persuade the ball into the hole.
 As a matter of curiosity I kept count

THE PLAYFUL PORPOISE.

A Sportive Youngster That Had Fun
 With a Motor Boat.

Writing of a motor boat trip on the Black sea, Henry C. Rowland in Appleton's tells of the playfulness of the porpoise:

"That evening was a lovely one, the air of a delightful temperature, very clear, and the sea like a mill pond. A big school of porpoises came over to play with the boat, and the water was so sparklingly clear and of such a glossy surface that we were able to follow all their movements even when they jumped to their fullest depth.
 They had not the slightest fear of the noise of the motor, but swam dangerously close to the propeller and frequently rubbed themselves against the sides of the boat.

 I lay on my face forward, with my head over the bow, watching him. He was playful as a puppy and at last invented a little game of his own. Lying across the stem, he would let the curve of the bow roll him over and over, presently disappearing to swim back and repeat the performance. I have watched porpoises in many wa-any as kittenish as these."

Health and Morality—Morality and Business.

Texas Trade Review.
There are many business men who are so eager in the pursuit of the dollar in sight that they lose all interest in things that are not directly in the narrow path they are following. This homely is called forth by the recent advances being made in the treatment and the prevention of consumption, and incidentally of other germ diseases. Somehow it is hard to get away from the proposition that the business man is primarily the leader and the teacher of the people in lines that lead to permanent progress in the civic, social, moral and commercial world, to say nothing of the more material development of his community. The narrow mind will hardly associate good health with good morals, and will never think of the bearing of general good health upon the business of the country. Still the tie is very, very close. Therefore it is the undeniable duty of the business man to take hold of all new things that are being discovered and developed for the prevention and curing of disease.

The hardware, the furniture, the clothing and the shoe man all have vital interests in the physical welfare of the neighborhood as have the physician and the druggist, and if they fail to do their full duty they are hardly in a better moral plight than the druggist who has sold poor or impure medicines. The builder who has an opportunity to help the ventilation of a building and fails or neglects to do so, is a moral leper; the furnisher who fails to induce a man to screen his house is probably the means of putting a case of fever in that man's house the next season, and besides having caused suffering and possibly death, has lots of the cause of sickness to somebody in the community in material improvement, and has damaged business to that extent.
These are general observations. Reverting to the work being done along the line of preventing consumption, which is now sweeping 35 per cent of our population into the grave, it would be a splendid move for the business men of every town and village in this country to get together and have a "tuberculosis exhibit," in which causes, prevention and cure would be fully shown, as was done at the recent Texas State Fair at Dallas. This exhibit was crowded from morning till night; nothing was offered for sale and nothing was charged for advice and suggestion, and the medicines prescribed, everyone could have for the asking—air and sunshine.

This is a matter of health, morals and business.

Making a Peninsula of Galveston Island.

One of the most gigantic undertakings ever proposed along the line of causeway building has recently been put on foot in Galveston county, Texas. This undertaking means the connecting of Galveston Island, on which is built the city of Galveston, to the mainland of the Texas coast. This gigantic causeway will be some two miles long, and the proposition contemplates a surface width of 225 feet. It is estimated by the engineers that the cost will not exceed $1,400,000. This cost is to be assumed jointly by the railroads entering the city, who will pay one-half; the interurban railway, which will pay one-fourth, and the city of Galveston the remaining one-fourth. This means a permanent public road into the city for the farmers and truckers of the mainland, who have heretofore been compelled to use boats for transporting their products to the city. The permanence of such a causeway also appeals to those contemplating business or residence in the city proper. Outside of the grade raising proposition, which itself followed one of the greatest engineering feats in the history of maritime affairs in this country—the construction of the seawall—this causeway will rank as one of the largest undertakings in the matter of roadway construction in this country.
Already the greatest cotton port on earth, the day is near at hand when Galveston will lead in grain, meats and livestock exports. The conditions justify the move, and the movement will add an impetus to the growth of this young Giant of the Sea.

In order to have money Mrs. M. M. Canfield drove alone from Owatonna, Minn., to Akron, Ohio—900 miles.

Some Footwear Sense

All of our friends who are familiar with our way of selling footwear and with the Shoes and Oxfords embraced in our wide stock and know the careful attention we give to every customer are prepared to understand that we are better fitted to shoe the people of this vicinity than any other store hereabouts. We have no time nor patience for any but the best shoes, and buy the best at the lowest possible price—and for this reason hundreds of people have learned to rely upon this store for good footwear of all kinds at moderate prices. We are showing more high class shoes than any store in Wichita Falls. We carry such well known brands as "LaFrance" Drew and Laird & Schobers. We have them in the new high Top Boots, the college cut, and staples, for dress and street wear. We are showing a very strong line of Ladies' Shoes at $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00. We have a great line of Children's in Tan and Black, colored tops from 75c to $1.75. We are closing out our entire line of Men's and Boys' Clothing, Shoes and Furnishings.

Conditions Along the "Denver."
Fort Worth Telegram.
"The early freeze along our line did greater damage to the cotton crop than we at first thought would be the case, at the same time the farmers along the Denver will raise as much cotton as they raised last year, in the aggregate, though the crop will not be nearly as large as estimated would be the case on August 1 last," is the way D. B. Keeler sizes up the situation along that road, after a trip as far north as Amarillo. "While the cotton crop will not be as heavy as we anticipated, the corn and grain crops are the largest in the history of the Panhandle."
"In Wichita county alone the farmers have about 2,000,000 bushels of corn and they will ship out at least half of this amount. At Clarendon the shipments of Indian corn now run to nearly 300 cars, with more in sight. This corn crop, with what was saved from the wheat crop is sufficient to spread prosperity along the entire line."
"Not only has the corn crop been immense, but this year the yield of kaffir corn has been large, with the market ruling steady and firm. This kaffir corn is now netting the farmer about a cent a pound, which is close to 50 cents a bushel. When it is taken into consideration that kaffir corn is always a sure crop and the yield will run from 30 to 50 bushels to the acre, it can be seen that the crop this year has proven a highly profitable one."
This season will break all records for the Denver on corn movement. There is not the slightest doubt about this fact. Up to this time last year was the heaviest year with that road, from a corn standpoint. It has not been so long ago that corn was imported by the people living along the Denver and this new industry, in a comparative sense, is the source of considerable pride to the officials of that road.

Mr. Keeler further states that the hog industry is forging ahead with leaps and bounds all through the Panhandle section. The bumper corn crop is perhaps largely responsible for the intensified development of this money making industry. It has also been demonstrated beyond a doubt that hogs can be finished as well and as cheaply on milo maize or kaffir corn as on Indian corn, which makes the hog raising outlook bright indeed.
The department of agriculture has demonstrated that Chinese and Japanese bamboo can be profitably grown in the United States, and will experiment with drought-resistant forms in Idaho.

A report from the Controller's Department, under date of October 30th, estimates the amount of railroad property in Texas subject to taxation to be very close to $500,000,000. At that time there were a number of counties whose reports had not come in, so that exact figures were not available. This is only a small increase over last year, but it is likely that a more even assessment has been made this year than ever before, and with projects now well in hand, it is likely that the assessment for 1909 will present some figures that will be gratifying to the most optimistic.
Norwegian sardines are entering the United States to the value of nearly $300,000 a year, a more than three fold increase in only two years.

Mathew-Walker.
Letters received by friends here announce the marriage of Miss Maude Matheny to Mr. D. C. Walker at Roswell, New Mexico, November 14th.
The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Matheny and was born and lived in this city until about a year ago, when she removed with her parents to Roswell, New Mexico.

Married—Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Rev. A. J. Bush, Miss Roxie Shipley to A. S. Biddle. Both are residents of this city and will make their home here.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to J. S. Bittle and Miss Rogie Shipley of this city and to Barton Stone of Hastings, Oklahoma, and Miss Eulah Keown of Burkburnett.

A STORY OF MILLIONS.
The Way One Man Had a Fortune Thrust Upon Him.
A story is told of how the reluctant giving of a promissory note by a penniless New York lawyer brought a fortune into his pocket amounting to several millions. The man referred to, John M. Bixby, went to New York in 1830 from a backwoods district as a half starved lawyer. To pay $1 a week for board and washing kept him on the verge of bankruptcy. He struggled on for a year or two and was constantly seeking odd jobs outside of the law to enable him to exist when a friendly lawyer in whose office he had desk room called him aside one day.
"Here is a chance for you, Bixby," said the lawyer. "I have an estate in fee simple and must get rid of the farm on the north side of the city. It is appraised at $200. You can have it if you like."
"I have not a dollar to my name," exclaimed Bixby.
"You can give me your note and I will renew it until you get ready to pay it," replied the lawyer.
The young man hesitated for some time. He was very nervous about placing himself under obligation for so large a sum, but finally consented. Young Bixby had to ask for the renewal of his note two or three times, had to deprive himself of the necessities of life to hold the farm until the opening of the Erie canal and the first lighting of the city by gas gave the metropolis a new birth and his farm was quickly swallowed in the growth. At the time of his death Bixby's property was worth $7,000,000. Today its market value is more than $13,000,000.—National Magazine.

Miss Cora Karrenbrock of Friedberg, who has been visiting in St. Louis and other parts of Missouri, returned home Thursday night, accompanied by her cousin, Miss Nettie Gerdemann of Forest Hill, Mo., who will spend several weeks in visiting in this community.
Mrs. Emilie McIntosh of Mill Shoals, Ill., and Mrs. Emma Boyd of McClainsboro, Ill., are the guests of P. S. Tullis and O. P. Mariele and families.

Mrs. Walker is Better.
It was reported yesterday that Mrs. Walker, wife of Dr. Walker, was dangerously ill at Fort Worth and for a time her life was almost despaired of, as a result of an operation performed on her throat. Reports from Fort Worth today, however, are of a more encouraging nature, and her condition is much better than yesterday.

A LONG DRINK.
The Way a Fast Running Locomotive Scoops Up Water.
Some of the great transcontinental engines take on 8,000 gallons, or 245 barrels, of water to be turned into steam for the next run of two hours, or about sixty miles. But such a vast amount of water is a burden, and new supplies are desired oftener. It is a loss of time to stop and let such vast quantities come aboard through a pipe; hence some way of taking water while rushing at full speed is desirable. It has been found:
If you make a scoop of your hand and swing it swiftly, the hollow side forward, into water some of it will be likely to spurt up your sleeve. That is nature's hint. Follow it up. Find a level place in the road and put down an iron trough four inches deep, fourteen inches wide and one-eighth of a mile long. The engine comes rushing along and, having passed the end, drops a scoop into this trough. There is a general splutter of water, but a tremendous stream rushes up the sleeve of the dropped hand and pours into the water tank. When it is full the fireman raises the scoop or it glides up the slope at the far end of the trough, and the engine is watered for the next run.—Epworth Herald.

Uses For Baby Carriages.
East sisters in New York use their baby carriages until they literally fall apart. Of course the primary purpose is served well and often, as the family is generally a good sized one. Then the carriage is used for a market and shopping wagon, being piled high with potatoes, greens, fruit and household goods of all kinds from neighboring stores and push carts. The east sister doesn't often have his things sent home. He's not sure he would get what he had bought. Then the little boys are sent out to hover around new buildings or old ones being demolished and gather in wood to be pushed home in the baby carriage. On other occasions it is piled high with garments being rushed to or from the sweatshop. Sometimes packages of laundry are delivered from it, and, again, it is filled with coal. When it is finally worn out it furnishes a little fuel and four hoops for the children to play with.—New York Press.

We Now Have A Splendid Assortment of Hart-Schaffner & Marx Clothes

For Fall and Winter in every detail. These garments show their superiority, and because we know all the good points about them. We boldly invite you to call and make comparison yourself. Compare the lines of the coats, the shape and effects of the lapels; compare the fit, the collar and neck; the set of the shoulder; compare the fit of the sleeves at the top and the finish at the bottom; compare the linings and inside finish. Careful comparison will establish in your mind the superiority of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes.

For young men, men and older men, suits and over-coats price $20, $30, $35 and
