NUMBER 282

SPOTLESS TOWN DAY A SUCCESS

HUNDREDS OF VOLUNTEERS ARE AT WORK CLEANING UP THE CITY.

THOUSAND WAGON LOADS

Of Dirt Moved Today, But the Job is Still Incomplete.

Armed with hoes, rakes, shovels and other tools, the men and children of Wichita Falls have been busy since early this morning cleaning out the accumulations of debris and refuse from the highways and byways of Wichita Falls and are in a fair way to make a "spotless town."

The work is progressing under the direction of about fifty district captains and altogether there are fully a thousand volunteers at work. About two hundred of these volunteers are doing the big part of the work, the labors of the others being confined mostly to their own premises.

Early this morning the scarcity of wagons was a serious handicap and at no time was there enough wagons to fill the demands. About fifty wagons and teams are in commission, but fully two hundred were needed.

The bankers, lawyers, merchants and capitalists are working side by side with the men who work by the day and the city street gang—and Clean-Up Day has proven a very democratic institution.

The negro population fell into the spirit of the day and the "flats" have been given the most thorough renovation that district has ever known.

There was a good turnout in the factory district and good work was done there.

When the sun rose this morning heaps of trash and dirt were piled in the alleys at the rear of nearly every home and the residence districts have been pretty well scoured and burnished. Fully a thousand loads of dirt have already been moved, but tonight will find much dirt still heaped up in the alleys. It is probable that a meeting of the general committee will again be called to devise a plan to have the dirt moved away.

The ladies of Wichita Falls responded in a most generous manner to the call for eatables for the outdoor luncheon and after everybody had been fed it was found that there still remained enough to feed a crowd three times as large.

NEW PAPER MONEY WILL REPLACE OLD

Washington, D. C., April 3.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Coolidge has approved a plan for systematizing designs for United States notes and coin certificates, thus carrying into effect a scheme of uniformity in portrait and general design for notes of the same denomination of each class. The plan adopted will embody the idea of officials of the treasury department, bankers, business men and currency experts.

It is believed the new notes when put in circulation will be welcomed by the public on account of their simplicity and the readiness with which different denominations may be fixed in mind. At present there are nineteen different designs for United States notes and coin certificates of various denominations, leading to confusion and uncertainty. Under the new plan there will be but nine and the possibility of confusion will be reduced to a minimum, while the artistic quality of the notes will be greatly enhanced.

Under the plan adopted all classes of notes of each denomination will carry the same portrait and no portrait will appear on the notes of more than one denomination, nor will any portrait be used which will not be immediately recognizable by every person who handles money. The one dollar silver certificate will carry the portrait of Washington; the two dollar silver certificate the portrait of Jefferson. The five-dollar note, whether silver certificate or greenback, will carry the portrait of Lincoln, the ten dollar gold and silver certificates that of Cleveland; the twenty, that of Jackson, the fifty dollar, that of Grant; the 100-dollar that of Salmon P. Chase, and the one-thousand dollar that of Alexander Hamilton.

The eagle, the buffalo and the Indian head, which have proved to be easily counterfeited, will disappear.

AMERICANS IN FRANCE MUST PAY TAXES ON INCOMES.

Paris, France, April 5.—Americans, like other foreigners resident in France will be obliged, when the income tax bill becomes a law, to pay the tax during their stay in this country.

Thus, if an American rents a villa at Nice for three months for $2,500, it will be assumed that the annual rental of the villa is $10,000 and the tenant's income will be assumed to be seven times that amount, or $70,000. He will therefore pay income tax to the French revenue authorities on one-quarter of that sum, representing a three-months stay in France.

If the American is earning his living in France in trade, commerce, or the liberal profession he will be asked to declare his sources of revenue. He will then be obliged to pay a tax varying according to the category to which his source of income belongs and, in addition, a supplementary tax on his total income.

Women may not only practice in the law courts, but as sworn interpreters as well. M. Forichon, the first president of the court of appeals, has just appointed Mme. Cighara as an interpreter. Thus a new career is opened to women who possess the necessary qualifications. They must not only have a thorough knowledge of several languages, but must possess some knowledge of criminal, civil and international law.

Mme. Cighara, who is a widow, obtained her linguistic accomplishments very easily. Her father was a British consul, who spoke three languages; her mother was a German, who also had a knowledge of three tongues, while her husband was an Italian and a sworn interpreter. She has a sister married to an Englishman, another sister is married to a Norwegian, while she herself is a naturalized French woman.

Every year since she became a widow, Mme. Cighara has applied for a position as interpreter, and although there is no law debaring women from acting in this capacity, her request was invariably refused. When, however, the Montagnin case revealed the ignorance of certain sworn interpreters, M. Forichon decided that henceforth candidates for the position of interpreters would have to pass an examination. The new regulation was made retroactive; all the sworn interpreters had therefore to undergo an examination, and out of seventy only twenty-two emerged successfully from the ordeal. Mme. Cighara renewed her application. She was given permission to sit for examination and passed successfully.

How to Trap a Flea.

That the flea is elusive is proverbial, but that the bureau of entomology of the department of agriculture in Washington has hit upon a plan to circumvent the irritating little insect is not generally known. According to Van Norden—The World Mirror, for April, the government has discovered a method by which any housekeeper may rid herself of a visitation within a very short time.

Fill a glass three-fourths with water, on top of which pour about an inch of olive oil, then place a night float (a little wick inserted in a cardboard disk or in a cork disk) in the center of the oil. Place a tumbler in the center of a soap plate filled with strong soap-suds. The wick should be lighted at night on retiring, or may be used in any dark room. As the soap-plate-soapsuds trap is placed on the floor of the room it does not interfere with the sleeper, and the fleas which are on the floor are attracted to the light. For outbuildings, such as barns, etc., a large milk pan may be used, and instead of using olive oil and a glass, a stable lantern may be placed in the center of the pan, while instead of soap-suds, a scum of kerosene may be put on the water in the milk pan.

This method, it is said, will rid a house of the pests in a few nights.—Jonesboro (Ark.) Daily News.

TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS

Owing to a delay in my fixtures and the decorating of my new place I could not move on April 1st. At the present I think I will be in my new place by April 10, where I want to meet all my friends and customers. Remember the place—next door to Lawler's Barber Shop. Watch for opening of this fine Jewelry Store.

A TIMES "WANT AD." FOR QUICK RESULTS

The Burns-Johnson Fight.
The pictures of the great fight are said to be the best ever made and the fact that the enterprise is backed by that great theatrical manager, Wm. Brady, is sufficient guarantee of their excellence.

The metropolitan press has been enthusiastic over them. The Galveston News says:

"The Burns-Johnson fight pictures, exhibited at the Grand yesterday afternoon and last night, and which are to be exhibited this afternoon and tonight as well as undoubtedly all to the good for the real thing in pictures, where action is what is wanted. They are clear, well handled by a good operator, and at times cause the pulse of one (if he has any sporting blood in him, which nearly all have) to quicken perceptibly.

In the opening of the film, the guarantees of Burns and Johnson are shown in check form. Then Burns is shown in his training camp, skipping rope, playing handball, boxing the shadow, and then going a few rounds with his sparring partner. Jack Johnson's smiling face looms up, and immediately the house begins to buzz. He is shown punching the bag in training and then his muscular development.

Interesting and instructive sights of the Sydney, Australia, streets are shown on the morning of the fight. The Stadium, seating over 20,000 people, is shown, with the thousands of expectant and animated people surging about the place.

Then round 1 flashes on the screen, and the young man who makes the pictures more interesting to some tells of the features as they flash, life-like, on the screen. It is in this first act that close observers see how Johnson won his fight with Burns. After about fifteen seconds of boxing, the Galveston negro landed Burns a telling smash, knocking him to the floor and dashing him beyond possible worth for several rounds. The size and apparent weight of the two men is greatly in Johnson's favor, and he handles Burns as though he were a boy. Johnson's right upper cuts never fail to land and he outgenerals his white opponent in every point of the game. He makes "Tahmy" do the forcing, while he stands back, jeering him, and inviting him to come within reach. And this is exactly what Burns does—he digs in time after time, leading in every rush for the big man's head. In doing this he causes many in the audience to moan with anguish and shout to the ever moving picture, "Don't try to hit him in the face; you are smaller of the two; lead for his body—low." But if the animated picture of Tahmy hears, it heeds not, and goes on to destruction, with pitiful attempts to strike the big champion in the face.

In the fifth round Burns makes a grand rally; in fact, it is said that he did not recover from the terrific blow received in the first round until the fifth had rolled around and he had been beaten unmercifully by the negro. But it was Johnson's round, as the other had been before it, and as all of them were after. So it goes on through the great mill to the last, when Johnson's right, poised amid air for the final smash upon Burn's swollen jaw is going to strike the final blow, and remains there in response to McIntosh's ending to the fight: "Hold, Johnson!"

The crowds know Johnson. "Looks just like the same old Johnson;" "I think Johnson has broadened out a little;" "Gee, look at that boy's arm;" "Wonder what he would do to Jefferies," etc. Then they get to telling one another about the time Johnson got whipped by so and so when he lived here, and so it goes.

The fight pictures are well worth seeing. They are excellent, not only from a fight standpoint, but from the standpoint of a picture maker's craft.

DOUBLE TAXATION.

As was pointed out to the Texas legislature by the Tax Assessors' association of the state, a very considerable amount of property is subject to what is practically double taxation under the present system of rendition. For instance, A buys from B a home valued at $3000, paying $1000 in cash and giving notes for the remaining $2000. When the assessor comes around A is required to render his home for taxes at its full value although in fact he actually owns only a third interest in it. B also is expected to pay taxes on A's notes for $2000 so that A and B together are supposed to pay taxes on $5000 worth of property—A paying on $3000 and B on $2000—although the actual value of the real estate involved is but $3000. Under the small monthly payment plan under which a majority of the homes purchased in cities are now secured, the buyer very frequently starts with an exceedingly small cash payment and it is years before he actually becomes the owner of his home; in the meantime he pays taxes each year not only on what he owns, but on what he owes. The tax assessor suggested that in the cases of lands with outstanding notes against them, the buyers be required to pay only on the equity actually held by them while the note holders should be taxed for the balance.

Undoubtedly there is a good deal of tax dodging despite the efforts that have been made to equalize taxes in this state but, as a rule, it is not the purchasers of small homes who are the most expert dodgers and it is largely on this class of purchasers that the excess taxation falls.

In the opinion of the Times, there is entirely too much of this closing up of business houses during business hours, and any town or city that encourages the practice is bound to suffer in a financial way in the long run. People who go to work at 7:30 in the morning and quit at 5:30 in the afternoon do not find sufficient time to visit the business houses and make their necessary purchases before the time for closing. Therefore they are forced to wait until Saturday night and on that night nearly every business house is jammed and purchasers are compelled to wait their turn—just as those who patronize the barber shops, and the fellow who is forced to wait his turn in a barber shop on a Saturday night in Wichita Falls knows that if he gets a shave or hair cut he will be forced to wait anywhere from half an hour to an hour before his number is called. It is all right to give the poor, tired clerks a chance to rest, but it is not right for merchants and business men to form an iron-clad agreement to close their doors at an unusually early hour of the day and not open them until the next morning. By doing so they force many people to patronize catalogue houses, who can sit down at home and order their goods by mail and get them just about as quick as they could by waiting until Saturday night or until they can afford to take a day off from their regular work to make their purchases.

As was to be expected, H. Bascom Thomas, who was expelled from the Texas senate, has been sent back by his constituents, carrying every county in his district. In the eyes of Texas people, a legislator who goes back on the demands of the platform upon which he rode into office is not entitled to much consideration when it comes to "firing" a fellow member for reflecting upon the integrity of that body. Doubtless the people of the Second District would have preferred to keep Thomas at home and sent a more able man to represent them, but in sending him back they have said by their votes that his record, bad as it is, shows up rather favorable when compared to the record of those members who voted to expel him.

If the matter of voting to issue bonds for the construction of a new county jail is defeated in today's election, it will be on account of those who argue that if we did not have the saloon the need of a larger jail would not be necessary, either falling to vote at all or voting against the proposition. The Times, however, does not take that view of the matter. Wichita Falls and Wichita county are increasing at a very rapid rate in population. This being true, it is but reasonable to assert that a jail constructed years ago for the purpose of properly caring for persons charged with crime in a county of less than 10,000 population, is not sufficient for that purpose when, as now seems very probable, the county has, or at least would have before a new prison could be constructed, even if the bond issue carries, nearly 25,000 population. The Times will readily agree that Wichita Falls would be a much better town and Wichita county a better county if there were no saloons in the city or county, but it also notes the fact that some of the most rock-ribbed prohibition counties in the State have their court dockets crowded with cases, and even some of these dry counties with not so great a population as Wichita, have just recently voted to issue bonds to build bigger jails. This, however, is no reflection on the dry counties. All crime should not be laid at the door of the saloon. The worst feature of the liquor traffic is that it derives its support from those who can least afford it, thereby causing innocent women and children to deny themselves of what is rightfully theirs in order to satisfy the thirst of the head of the family for strong drink. Even if we had no saloons, common decency would demand that our facilities for taking proper care of those charged with crime have a larger and better jail.

Amarillo is known to be a tough town, but we little thought that the ladies of that town had contracted the pistol habit. Last week a young damsel of some sort was arrested along with her beau for carrying a "sure-nut" sixshooter to a holiness meeting. Don't know where she carried it, but it seems quite certain she grew careless with the weapon and let it drop on the floor. This was more than even the Amarillo officers would stand for. The couple was arrested and the gallant young man was also found to be a walking arsenal. Both were taken into safe keeping. Of course, the young lady has an excuse: she said she was taking the weapon to be repaired, which statement might possibly relieve her of the fine, but scarcely clears her name from a moral standpoint. Girls should remember that men are their protectors and if two guns are needed while attending church, let the man carry them both.—Childress-Post.

Wichita Falls is to be congratulated upon having such a wide-awake paper as the Daily Times. Haskell folks can get important news of State-wide prominence from that source 24 hours earlier than from the metropolitan newspapers. For instance: We saw in it an account of the Cisco fire Saturday night, while other papers containing the account did not arrive until Sunday night.—Haskell News.

Of course, the Times is young yet, but it is growing rapidly, and before a great while hopes to make more extensive improvements in its news service. In addition to being a member of the Associated Press, it is also a member of the Texas News Service, an organization of live newspapers with wide-awake correspondents in every town of importance in the State.

Fully Aged Pure Cider Vinegar

Possibly you don't know just how much time, care and what special processes are necessary to make a good vinegar.

There are artificial methods for aging, coloring and flavoring vinegar but vinegars so treated are never as good as the properly made vinegars are.

It sometimes takes months or even years to age vinegar properly and for this purpose the Heinz people have large storage tanks and warehouses kept at certain temperatures where their different kinds of vinegars are kept until "ripe."

The right color, rich full flavor and exquisite aroma of Heinz Pure Cider Vinegar are all natural and due to the use of first class materials and methods.

Merely Singed.

Fort Worth Star-Telegram.
 To the outside world, which by this time has heard various stories of Saturday's fire in Fort Worth, the Star-Telegram begs leave to say that Fort Worth has not been destroyed; it has not even been crippled by the worst fire which its history has on record.
 The city has been merely singed a little. It is true, many handsome residences are in ruins, several churches are destroyed, business properties have suffered, and a monetary loss of many thousands of dollars has resulted from the combination of a wayward fire and a thirty mile gale, but, after all, it is only a small part of Fort Worth which has been burned.

The remainder of the city will be prompt to help those living in the burned district who could ill afford the fire's damage. Fortunately, the number of such is comparatively few, but the charitably inclined should be none the less prompt today to see that food and shelter are provided for every one whom the fire has made homeless and who has not the means to provide for temporary quarters until the burned district can be replaced.

Fort Worth is grateful to her sister cities. In the hour of her calamity, Dallas and Weatherford responded promptly to the call for help, and expressions of sympathy and proffers of assistance have come from every city and every section of the State.

When one looks upon the desolate scene of Saturday's conflagration, it is hard to be philosophical and one can but feel that many of the direct victims of the fire may find it hard just now to be optimistic.

But one may at this time express the faith that every experience is valuable. And no lesson of the fire is so important, so hopeful, as the drawing together into the breach the finest qualities of human nature—sympathy and brotherly love and faith.

Homes have been opened to those whose own homes are in ashes. In Fort Worth there can be none homeless. Every charitable instinct in the hearts of as fine a citizenship as exists today is finding exercise in practical application.

Fort Worth has reason to feel glad because of the gift made many years ago to the Texas and Pacific railroad. The open space of ground, unsightly, it is true, and often looked upon as an eyesore, in reality saved the business section of the city from serious damage and possibly destruction. The usefulness of the reservation Saturday emphasizes the value of frequent open spaces in the city, space which might well be occupied by parks or public breathing grounds.

Saturday's fire emphasizes that Fort Worth can well afford a larger fire department and a better water supply, two propositions that will confront the incoming commission. It also emphasizes the fact that we are getting beyond the period of too many frame buildings. We need more brick, concrete and stone, at least in residence sections that are congested.

The burned district will be rebuilt; and its appearance will be better than ever. In the meanwhile, aid the worthy sufferers from fire damage and do your best to help Fort Worth keep on growing.

Our Motto.

Full and honest value for your money. We will appreciate a call to see our new and complete stock of up-to-date jewelry.

STYLISH SPRING SUITS WORSTEDS AND LINENS

The new shades of light weight worsteds in Spring suits are extremely delicate and very pleasing to even the most critical.

They are especially well suited to the prevailing styles of tailoring and makes it possible for even the lighter and darker complexions and slight and plump figures to secure not only a highly attractive and becoming shade but also a design that is most becoming.

The linens will be fully as popular too and the new weaves are going to induce many women who have never used linens before to use them this Spring and Summer.

We want you to call and see our Spring suit display for we have by all odds the largest most complete and—better than that—the most attractive line of suits at moderate prices while we also have the more expensive weaves also.

Better call soon for the extremely attractive display is producing rapid sales even now, and before long the selection will be broken.

TO RESTORE DAVIS' NAME ON BRIDGE

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., April 6.—Today proposals were opened at the office of the engineer in charge of the Washington aqueduct for restoring the name of Jefferson Davis to the stone tablet on Cabin John Bridge, six miles west of the city, from which it was expunged during President Lincoln's administration. The name is to be restored in accordance with orders given by President Roosevelt on Washington's birthday, less than two weeks before he left the office of chief executive. Although the amount of work to be done is comparatively small and the cost very little, yet it took considerable time to get the orders through the various channels to the officer directly in charge of the work, who at once went about completing the necessary details. The bridge is a high structure and considerable scaffolding has had to be erected where the mechanics will do their work. The restoration of Mr. Davis' name to the tablet will mark the culmination of many efforts with that object in view, which, however, will finally be accomplished without the immediate appeal of any organization or individual, but by the direct orders of Mr. Roosevelt himself. An allotment of $250 was made for the work by the engineer's office. The specifications asking bids for the restoration of the name read as follows:

'Restoring the name of Jefferson Davis on the granite tablet on the west abutment of Cabin John's Bridge by removing the entire face of the stone about 5 feet by 11 feet to a depth of approximately 1 inch or sufficient to form a new, clean, smooth bushed surface and recutting the legend now upon the tablet with the name Jefferson Davis as shown upon the rubbing with 'V' cut letters: The present ogee marginal border around the tablet is to be bushed to a clean bevel cut 1 1/2 inches wide.'

Two stone tablets are built in the bridge, one on either abutment (south face). One bears the inscription: 'Union Arch'

Chief Engineer, Capt. Montgomery C. Meigs, U. S. Corps of Engineers Esto Perpetua.

The other:

'Washington Aqueduct Begun A. D. 1853, President of the U. S. Franklin Pierce, Secretary of War Building A. D. 1861 President of U. S., Abraham Lincoln Secretary of War, Simon Cameron.'

The blank space in the above description indicates the place, formerly filled by Mr. Davis' name. Its absence from the tablet all these years has always stimulated curiosity on the part of sightseers, who made inquiries as to why the space was left blank and whose name if any had filled it. The presence of the name there, as an army officer pointed out today, will put Mr. Davis' name in the same category as the others now on the tablet, which because of its comparatively inconspicuous position will not attract the attention that it heretofore has and will relieve the ubiquitous guide of one of his subjects for comment and an object of interest to be pointed out to tourists. It will probably take a workman two weeks to do the work required by the specifications. The use of the 'V' shaped letters to be chiseled in the tablet is less expensive and less laborious than the square cut letters usually adopted, but at the same time they are now conspicuous.

Habitual constipation is the door through which many of the serious ills of the body are admitted. The occasional use of Frickly Ash Bitters will remove and cure this distressing condition. Mater-Magner Drug Co., Quality Druggists. 274-12t

Easter Sentiments and Legends.
Worldwide sentiment has decreed the lily to be a saint among flowers, and the reason lilies are so appropriately and extensively used in the decoration of churches is not only because of their symbolical meaning, but because they are the most perfect of floral types, especially the candidum and harrisi and the so-called calla lily which, by the way, is not a lily at all; but, as all agree that a rose by any other name is just as sweet, so the calla is the acknowledged type of absolute statuesqueness of form and purity of color, and the beauty of these white flowers befits solemn and lofty surroundings.

Legends in plenty cluster about the lily. One legend of very ancient date gives the supposed origin of 'lily, of all children of the spring the palest; fairest, too, where fair ones are.' Long centuries ago angels coming as visitants to earth found it bare and gloomy in comparison with the eternal blooms of their home in paradise. They entered rocky tombs and took the shining mantles off the blessed and changed them to flowers. From this comes the beautiful and poetic superstition that on Easter morning in every lily bud is hidden an angel.

In ancient times a most curious Easter custom prevailed in France. Wooing lads and lasses would come forward as applicants for an 'egg and matrimonial dance.' A hundred eggs were arranged on a level sward spread with sand, and all the young tenantry selected their partners to dance on the green among the eggs.

The story is told by an old chronicle that Phillibert, Duke of Savoy, was out hunting and, being in the neighborhood of the beautiful palace of Margaret of Flanders, called to pay his respects to her. All the tenantry were dancing on the green, the eggs were laid, and the lovers were treading a measure of the national dance amid them. Few there were who managed to dance through without breaking some of the obstructions. If they succeeded not even the 'nay' of the parents prevailed to break up the match. It was an evidence of the intentions of Providence to smile on the union.

While many had tried and been successful, the duke besought the princess to try the dance with him. Though it was the first time they had met, she agreed, and they executed the national dance without breaking an egg. They were greeted with an enthusiastic cheer, and, as it was a sure sign that they were affianced by divine will and their wedded life would be one of great bliss, they bowed to the fates that ordained it so, and in the sentiment of the romance they were married and lived happily ever after.

It was about thirty years ago that the Easter card came into being. Christmas cards were first given consideration in 1871, and soon afterward Easter cards were tried. A large firm in London and another in Boston were among the first of such publishers.

But at no time in the early development of the card was the religious or spiritual side lost sight of. In fact this side was elaborated upon.

This is a specimen of sacred verse on the back of an Easter card of twenty years ago.

Round thee and thine may love's white wings
Be spread this holy morn;
May every joy that true love brings
For thee this day be born!
The Lord this morn hath risen, lo!
Where late a shadow lay;
Now eastward streams love's Easter glow
Chasing all gloom away.
Rejoice! O may that love new born
On earth this morning shed
Round thee and thine this holy morn
In hallowed peace bespread!

Freak Fruit Cake.
Many housewives would say fruit cake made without butter was a freak. The recipe below will, however, give you as rich, savory a fruit cake as you ever tasted; yet there is no butter in it:
Mix four cups sifted pastry flour, one level teaspoon soda, two level teaspoons mixed spices (except cloves), one-fourth level teaspoon salt and two cups seeded and quartered raisins. Add also one-half cup nuts chopped fine if you like. Blend one-half cup Cottolene with one cup brown sugar and one cup white sugar, add one cup molasses, one cup milk and then the flour mixture. Beat well and bake in two pans.
Cottolene is used exclusively by many housewives for all frying and shortening purposes.

A little chap in Philadelphia, whose father is a prominent merchant, and as such never loses an opportunity to descend upon the virtues of advertising one day asked his mother:
"May Lucy and I play at keeping store in the front room?"
"Yes," assented the mother, "but you must be very, very quiet."
"All right," said the youngster, "we'll pretend we don't advertise."

Two Views of the Governor.

Corsicana Sun.
 The one-man-power idea of Governor Campbell is not meeting with the approval of the democratic press of Texas, and a careful consideration on the part of the people will arraign them against many of his proposed measures. Unfortunately there are some of us in Texas who can recollect conditions as they were during the days of E. J. Davis, and a return to those conditions is not anticipated with pleasure.—Waxahachie Light.

Governor Campbell is somewhat singular, if not unfortunate. His position in the majority of instances cannot be objected to in the light of the real quality of democracy. At times he appears to show evidences of tyranny or a desire for one-man power. However, there are none who are faultless. In the main Governor Campbell is right and hues along straight democratic lines. The reference to the 'E. J. Davis regime' is hardly applicable and is not deserved, yet some of the demands made by him on the legislature carry the mind back to those dark days. The idea of hauling citizens up from over the State to Austin for trial or as witnesses does smack of tyranny and would be, beyond doubt, an injustice. The Sun likes Governor Campbell when he is right, which is most of the time, but opposes him when he wanders from correct lines, which is some of the time.
