

Small Child Drowned in Cistern Sunday at Antelope

A two years old child of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Willis, of the Antelope community, while playing in the yard Sunday fell in the cistern and was drowned, the little remains being interred Monday in the Girard cemetery.

The child was missed and after a search of an hour or more the body was fished for and found in the cistern.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis have the sympathy of entire community in this sad and unexpected bereavement.

Miss Sadie Harrington and C. S. Dodson Were Married Sunday in Spur

Sunday morning at nine o'clock Miss Sadie Harrington and Mr. Clark S. Dodson of Wichita Falls, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burl Harrington, Rev. Berry officiating.

Miss Sadie Harrington was born and reared in Spur, is a young lady of charming, lovable personality and womanly accomplishments, and has many friends who join us in wishing for her happiness and her new relations and home. Mr. Dodson is a young business man of Wichita Falls, at which place the young couple will make their home, the young couple leaving Spur soon after the marriage ceremony.

Three Car Loads of Cattle Shipped and Sold by Morrison

Last week J. B. Morrison shipped one car load of cattle to the Fort Worth market, and also sold two car loads of fine stock cattle to R. V. Colbert of Stamford.

Bud has some four or five hundred cattle now grazing his pastures, and which will represent no inconsiderable sum of money when the marketing season rolls round.

Clifford B. Jones Placed on Advisory Committee of W. T. C. of C.

Clifford B. Jones has been spending much of his time the past two weeks in Austin on legislative matters. Mr. Jones was appointed on the advisory board for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at its meeting last week. At this meeting President Bourland was also elected general manager to take place of late Manager Homer D. Wade who resigned to accept the place of manager for the Dallas Chamber of Commerce. President Bourland will be both president and manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce until the regular annual meeting to be held at El Paso in October, at which time new officers will be elected.

Diversified Farming Supercedes The One Crop System

W. H. Crouse and T. H. Perry, two leading business men of Stephenville, were in Spur the first of the week, Mr. Crouse to look after his business property interests in Spur, while Mr. Perry visited with his brother, L. H. Perry, of the Spur Hardware & Furniture Company. In conversation with Mr. Perry concerning the country surrounding Stephenville, he stated that farmers no longer depended upon cotton, as was the case in former years but poultry, dairying, hogs, cattle, and feed crops were now the dependence of farmers—and that as a result prosperity was more general throughout the entire section. From these diversified interests money was constantly coming in every week, whereas under the one-crop system formerly practiced, money was in evidence only at one season of the year.

Mrs. S. T. Johnson Died Sunday at Home in City of Dickens

Mrs. S. T. Johnson, wife of Thomp Johnson, died Sunday at their home in Dickens, following an illness of only three or four days, her remains being interred Monday in the Dickens cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson formerly lived in Spur, having made their home in Dickens a number of years. They have one daughter, Mrs. Dodson of north of Dickens.

The many friends of the family in Spur, Dickens and throughout the county will sorrow with the husband and daughter in this great bereavement.

METHODIST CHURCH SERVICE FOR SUNDAY

Sunday school at 10 a. m. We are expecting a good attendance and a fine time in every class. Come and be with us.

The pastor will preach at 11 a. m. The subject will be "From Father To Son." This will be a message you will be glad to hear.

All the leagues will meet at 7:30. Special services are planned for Sunday night. At the 8:30 hour, the Sunday school will have charge in the Sunday School Day program, and everyone is invited. All the family will enjoy it.

Stores Will Close in Spur for the Fourth of July

As will be noted by a page advertisement for Independence Day, the majority of grocery and dry goods merchants, joined by other business concerns are notifying the trade that these places will be closed Thursday, July 4th, in commemoration and celebration of Independence and the Glorious Fourth.

Hackberry Slim Will Show in Rotan on the 3rd, 4th and 5th

Rotan will have a three days celebration on July 3rd, 4th and 5th. Hackberry Slim, who was here showing a small bucking buffalo for Juneteenth celebration events, will be in Rotan with a full and complete rodeo show. Hackberry Slim is well known throughout the West, and no doubt many of his acquaintances will be attracted to Rotan for the celebration events.

Spur Citizens Getting in on 'Ground Floor' of N. M. Oil Belt

F. B. and Steve Crockett, J. T. Baisden and Russell Smith returned Wednesday from a trip out in New Mexico where they had gone to prospect a new oil field which is expected to open up some time soon—and endeavor to "get" in on the ground floor—and reap some of the easy profits usual to the newly developing fields. We understand that they acquired some option holdings in the heart of the prospective field, and here is hoping that their investments may bring them returns surpassing even their fondest dreams.

Antelope Community Has Light Rainfall for the Season

County Commissioner M. F. Hagar, of Kent county, was transacting business in Spur Saturday. Mr. Hagar lives in the Antelope community, and states that of all the rains falling over the country his section, the Antelope community, has had not more than a half inch of the rains. There is a strip of country several miles long and wide, passing thru Antelope, which has had very little rain, and it is said that crops are beginning to suffer.

HAIL AND WINDSTORM DOES SEVERE DAMAGE TO CROPS

Friday night of last week the Spur country experienced another destructive and devastating hail and wind storm, thousands of acres of crops being destroyed and damaged by both the hail, winds and blowing sands, preceding and following.

The most destructive area is to the south and west of Spur, and among farmers suffering severest loss were L. B. McMeans, J. H. Hooper, A. C. George, Jno. D. Hufschler, Bob Hahn, J. L. Hutto, Vernon Powell, J. M. Hahn, S. C. Rawlings, Walter Tomlinson, H. C. Boren, Will Harris, Comie Foreman, Ralph Carter, Bob Westerman, J. M. Pope, Charley Kimmell, W. A. Stevens, Walter Harris, Buel and Wade McDaniel, W. C. Stewart, Joe McDonough, Joe Curry, Art Smith, Clarence Watters, John Watters, the old T. A. Randleman place, Lee Watson, J. C. McNeill, J. R. Robertson, C. H. Scott, Jim, Buren and W. P. T. Smith, and a number of others both on and off the Plains.

There is no accurate way of estimating the amount and acreage of damage, but it runs into the thousands in both acres and dollars.

Replanting of crops was commenced as soon as fields were dry enough, those not suffering damage helping the more unfortunate in the work, and in many instances Sunday was employed in 'pulling the ox out of the ditch.'

The high winds is said to have done almost as much damage as did the hail.

This is the second hail storm to do extensive damage in the country, and yet all are hopeful and optimistic of having good yields this fall, and with favorable conditions to the end of the season this hope will be realized.

New Filling Station to Open Saturday in the County Capitol

J. S. Jones is this week completing the construction of a building for a filling station on the southwest corner of the square in Dickens and is now installing the equipments and will open for business Saturday under the name of Jones Service Station. For the opening the Jones Service Station will give away 100 gallons of gasoline as an introduction to the trade.

Farmer 'Jim' Says the Hoover Democrats are Being Chastized

J. M. Hahn, of Highway, was in town Monday. Notwithstanding the fact that many farmers in that section suffered severe crop loss from the hail storm of Friday night, Jim was among those who suffered but very slight damage. He says his observation is that "Hoover Democrats" were those who were most severely punished by the wrath of the elements. However, we feel quite safe in predicting that "tea parties" will not become popular, even among the "Hoover Democrats."

A Model Dairy Barn on W. B. Lee Farm

Twenty years ago when the Spur country was an open cattle range but few could foresee the day when a big red barn would adorn every quarter section of land with thoroughbred registered dairy herds grazing on alfalfa meadows—but that day is now here.

This week W. B. Lee carried us out to his farm two or three miles southeast of Spur, which is being worked and superintended by Mr. Lowe, his brother-in-law. On the place is a model dairy barn and thoroughbred, registered Jersey dairy herds are grazing on alfalfa meadows. The barn is large and roomy, with a large hay loft for the storage of hay and bundled feed, the lower part being cut into some six or seven departments for the storage of varied grains and prepared feed stuff and storage of barn lot equipment. Seven cow stalls, fitted with stanchion feed bins and hay racks, are built the length of the barn, there being a run-way between the stalls and barn affording convenient access to stored feed and in placing it in feed bins at milking time—everything being under one roof and giving protection in all kinds of weather. The entire plan of construction and arrangement is simple, most convenient and comparatively inexpensive considering the capacity and benefits in conducting a small dairy business.

At this time six thoroughbred, registered Jersey cows are being milked, with others coming on later. These cows are giving from four to six gallons of milk daily with two milkings—and this is not mere talk

Spur Post Office First in the Sale of New Edison Stamps

Mrs. Senning was among the first postmasters of the state to order, receive and place on sale the new Edison postage stamps, made in celebration and commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the invention of the incandescent lamps.

This is only an instance of the progressive spirit of Spur.

Electricity is Developing Rural Districts as Well as the Towns

District Manager Owsley, of the West Texas Utilities Company, with headquarters in Stamford, was here the past week, looking after company interests in Spur and this section. The utilities company is now serving quite a number of rural customers with electricity practically every farm home along their high lines now taking advantage of the conveniences of electric service. This is an electric age, electricity being necessary in the future and more complete development of both towns and rural districts—and in this the utilities company is rendering a real service and contributing much in the development of the country.

Jayton and Spur Ball Teams Play a Good Game at Jayton

At Jayton Sunday afternoon the Spur and Jayton ball teams played a fast game, and until the last inning the scores were evenly divided, the final result being five to four in favor of Jayton.

Spur has an excellent team, but has been somewhat hampered in the organized leadership heretofore. However, the team has given a good account of themselves, and with the proper encouragement and leadership promise to make a record before the end of the season.

The next game will be played in Spur Trades Day, Monday, with the Afton team which is also a good team and the games promises to be interesting to baseball fans.

SPUR-JAYTON UNION LEAGUE MET TUESDAY IN JAYTON

Tuesday night the Spur chapter of the Epworth League came to Jayton for the regular monthly meeting of the Spur-Jayton Leagues.

After a short devotional meeting held by Rev. C. M. Armstrong, Mr. Willis Giddings of Spur, District Secretary of the Stamford District gave a short talk.

After Mr. Giddings talks, a social was had. Much pleasure was derived from this union meeting and all young people are urged to attend them. The next meeting will be at Spur the second Tuesday night of July.—Jayton Chronicle.

Spur and Afton Will Play Ball in Spur Monday Afternoon

One among the entertaining features scheduled for Monday, Trades Day in Spur, will be a match game of baseball between the Spur and Afton ball teams. The game will be called about four o'clock at the fair park.

The teams are well matched and those interested in baseball will be given a most interesting exhibition here trades day.

Wade Resigns and President Bourland is Manager of W. T. C. of C.

Homer D. Wade recently resigned as manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to accept the place of manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, and at a recent meeting President A. M. Bourland was also made manager until the October meeting in El Paso annual meeting of the organization.

An advisory committee, was appointed at this meeting, composed of Clifford B. Jones of Spur, R. W. Haynie of Abilene, J. A. Wheat of Seymour and Ray Nichols of Vernon.

Plains Farmer Loses Several Hundred Acres Cotton

Lee Watson, of south of McAdoo on the Plains, was in Spur Saturday. Mr. Watson was in the hail belt of the Friday night's hail storm, having several hundred acres of cotton completely destroyed. He was arranging to begin replanting his crop just as soon as the ground is dry enough to get in the field. This second hail storm to visit the Spur country was also extensive and most destructive, thousands of acres this season may be late for replanting yet with favorable conditions abundant production may yet be realized.

WILL LEACH RECEIVES TELEGRAM OF THE DEATH OF HIS SISTER AT SABINAL

Will Leach Saturday received a telegram from Uvalde county, informing him of the death of his sister, Mrs. Ed White which occurred Friday night at her home in Sabinal. Mr. Leach was unable to attend the funeral.

Two Car Loads Gin Machinery Arrives for Hayes Gin

Monday J. I. Hayes received two solid car loads of gin machinery for the Swift Gin Company, and the machinery is now being placed in the new gin building just completed.

The gin machinery is all of one make, including linters, cleaners and bolly attachments, all of the very latest improved models. In fact, Mr. Hayes states that the gin will be the latest improved and most completely equipped of any other plant in West Texas, and which will be ready for operation for the beginning of the cotton season.

Rodeo To Feature Big Celebration At Amarillo, July 3-5

WILD WEST PERFORMANCES ARRANGED FOR VISITORS ENTERTAINMENT

Miller and King's Master Rodeo to be staged at the Texan ball park which has a seating capacity of 7,500, under the auspices of the Tri-state Fair at Amarillo, July 3, 4 and 5, is offering some of the greatest exhibitions of wild west performances ever staged in the Southwest.

Due to the fact that the Panhandle-Plains wheat harvest will be on, President Wilbur C. Hawk has arranged for night as well as afternoon programs, thus enabling all farmers and business men to avail themselves of the entertainment.

Texan Ball park has been equipped with 26 flood lights and other lighting effects will make the big arena in front of the grandstand as light as day.

Included among some of the world's star performers will be Vaughn, Chaig Johnson, known as the "Sweetheart of the Rodeo," Tommy Kirman, champion trick rider and roper; his wife, Bea Kirman, known as the favorite horse lady of America; William King, Colorado's best known performer, and many others. The price range for the rodeo is announced at $1, and box seats $1.50.

Among the many features to be offered will be wild cow milking contests, bronc riding, calf roping, bull-dogging, maverick race, brahma steer riding, calf roping, high jumping horses and high schooled horses.

On the night of the Fourth of July a magnificent fireworks display has been arranged. This feature alone will be spectacular.

Officials of the Tri-State Fair expect the largest gathering in Amarillo on July the 3, 4, and 5, and the Rodeo management is emphatic in their promise to give a real entertainment. There will be a good many people going from here to attend both day and night performances.

Dr. Morris in Temple and Marlin Taking Special Treatment

Dr. Morris, accompanied by Fred Hisey, this week drove to Temple where the Doctor will go through the clinics in the diagnosis of his illness. Dr. Morris will probably remain in Temple and Marlin several weeks, taking treatments, and very probably undergoing special operations. It is hoped by his many friends that Dr. Morris will soon return home completely recovered from his illness.

Spurite Becoming Devoted to Reel and Rod on Gulf Waters

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Sullivan returned last week from Corpus Christi where they had been spending a month or more. While there Mr. Sullivan devoted his time and efforts out on the waters angling for fish, and it is said that since he staid with them from morning till night, he became quite an expert and successful angler. He informed us that he intends soon to return and resume the sport on the Gulf waters.

ROAD BUILDING BACK THROUGH THE AGES

Many motorists who speed along the Old Post road out of Boston today are unaware that Paul Revere galloped along that same route on his famous ride. Nor do travelers on the Corniche road in the French Riviera always realize they are skimming over a sector of the Via Aurella a Roman "speedway" which the Emperor Aurelius began more than two centuries before Christ was born.

"Speedway" is entirely correct as an application of these Roman roads, a National Geographic society bulletin points out. We have the word of Pliny, an early geographer, for it. Once a Roman emperor traveled 200 miles in 24 hours, in three relays of chariots. He sped at eight miles an hour. Pliny describes that record as "a wonderful thing and an instance of creditable celerity."

"Many present day roads are tell tales of ancient history for they follow the routes of historic highways," continues the bulletin. "It is especially true of highways of Modern Europe and open of the United States. Watling street and Stone street and Peddlers Way are survivors of the military roads with which Rome once adorned Britain. Nobody knows who built the first road but remains have been found of a highway laid out by Cheops, the builder of the Great Pyramid in Egypt. Babylon had three great highways and the first levying of tolls on the history of highways took place on one of these Babylonian routes. The Carthaginians were the most scientific road builders of ancient times, but the details of their construction have been lost. All roads lead to Rome, was not a metaphor, but a fact during the supremacy of the Roman empire. Roads led to the imperial city from Dacia, present day Transylvania, on east and Germany on the west. Another road branched from the very tip of what now is Spain. By the Roman laws the roads were free for the use of the public. They could belong to one person or a group of persons and the emperors were charged with their maintenance. Soldiers, convicts and slaves kept them in repair. In some places service on the road eliminated payment of taxes. The Romans were proud of the emperors who built highways. They honored them with triumphal arches and medals and named the highways after them, such as the Via Appia and the Via Aurelia.

"The Via Appia was the Roman 'Lincoln highway.' Over it St. Paul the Apostle traveled, untroubled by toll collectors, it was begun by Caesar Aulus Claudius in 312 B. C. and when completed reached to the Adriatic coast. Modern traffic takes a new path, but the Via Appia

Never Saw Equal Of Sargon, Says Newby

"I believe I had about the worst case of stomach trouble in Texas, but after taking two bottles of Sargon and one bottle of Sargon Soft Mass pills, I am in the very pink of condition.

W. H. DENBY

"Right after very meal I would have sour stomach. I suffered day and night. I was at dinner one day and a sharp pain hit me right under my liver and extended thru to the pit of my stomach and almost 'knocked me out'. I was dizzy for hours afterwards and the pain just stayed in my side.

"My kidneys were acting so freely I had to be up four or five times every night. Loss of sleep made me weak and nervous and my whole system was badly run down. My liver was out of order, I was badly constipated, and was continually taking laxatives.

"Since taking the wonderful Sargon treatment my only trouble is to keep from eating too much and I never have a sign of indigestion. All the pain is gone from my side, my nerves are in fine shape, and I sleep fine. I'm no longer constipated. Sargon Soft Mass pills certainly are wonderful for they do their work thoroughly without gripping like other laxatives.

"I had read a lot about Sargon, but I never had the slightest idea I would get such remarkable results from it in so short a time."

The above statement was made by W. H. Newby, well known resident of Dallas. He owns the Live and Let Live barber shop at 3906-A Homes St.

Sargon may be obtained in Spur at the Red Front Drug Store.

still runs its course from Rome across the Alban hills.

"The Romans had no road maps. They published itineraries listing the stations along the road with the distances between each station. Their nearest approaches to road maps were drawings of the stations with topographic features of the surrounding country. When the Roman empire declined, road building did likewise. Charlemagne, emperor of the Franks, began a program of road construction, but after his death the development passed into a lethargy which was hardly disturbed during the middle ages. A quaint law was passed in England in the Middle ages relative to the muddy and rutted highways of the day. According to the law bushes and trees were felled for 200 feet on either side of a road to prevent the gentle inhabitants from rushing out and attacking travelers. The first toll for the maintenance of English roads was passed by Edward III in the Fourteenth century.

"The Incas of Peru had the most extensive highway system in the New world. Their Queen of Roads, which connected Quito and Cuzco, was five times as long as the completed Via Appia. They were shrewder engineers than the Romans. The latter built their roads in straight lines, conquering all difficulties in their paths.—Ex.

Katherine Rose Has Fine Spring Garden East Of McAdoo

That West Texas Spring gardens are not successful has again been proven an erroneous statement is being demonstrated this year by Katherine Rose, a 4-H member out at McAdoo. She has canned 13 cans of mustard from a 20 foot bed. She has helped provide the family with greens, onions, lettuce, beans, beets, radishes and other vegetables.

She is now canning her beans and beets. Later on she will have tomatoes to can. She is using the tin for canning and putting the 4-H labels on her cans. Her plan is to try to sell some of her canned products.

A complete record is kept of what her garden cost and the profits made from it. Later in the fall she will have complete records showing what she has made on her spring and fall gardens.

Keeping an accurate record book is part of the 4-H club girls work and counts with the history 20 percent of her years work.

by over working on the sunny side of thirty. Men die sometimes, but it is because they quit at 9 p. m. and don't go home until 2 a. m. Its the intervals that kill, my son. The work gives you appetite for your meals; it lends solidity to your slumber; it gives you a perfect appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work, but the country is not proud of them. It does not even know their names;

it only speaks of them as old So-and-So's boy. Nobody likes them; the great busy world doesn't know they are here. So find out what you want to be and do. Take off your coat and make dust in the world. The busier you are, the less harm you are apt to get into, the sweeter will be your sleep, the brighter your holidays, and the better satisfied the world will be with you.—Bob Burdette.

Beating The Hen At Her Own Game

Because an incubator is of a more or less mechanical nature there is undoubtedly a temptation to treat it as if it were almost entirely automatic in its action. A good incubator will accomplish much with astonishingly little attention, but it must have a reasonable amount of the right kind of care if the best possible results are to be obtained. Quite often have I seen an incubator condemned as a failure when the operator was really at fault. Proper attention is just as essential in the artificial incubation of eggs as it is in any other mechanical operation. I shall, therefore, give a few pointers which I hope may show at least a few of my readers how to get better results than they have been able to obtain heretofore.

stages, and all other details of operation. It is not necessary, therefore to give minute instructions to these points. I receive hundreds of letters from people all over the United States asking how they should operate their incubators. My answer is always the same, "Follow the manufacturer's instructions closely and you will be successful." The manufacturers of each machine should know more about the minute details of operating their machines they make than I do, therefore, their directions should be followed closely in every detail.

An incubator is a real convenience and a wonderful time saver when properly operated. One attendant will consume no more time caring for an incubator containing 2,000 eggs than would be necessary to give adequate attention to a dozen hens. On the other hand, because individual hatches are quite large, carelessness of lack of proper understanding may cause material losses. It is easy to see therefore, why the manufacturer's instructions should be followed in every detail. (C).

THRILLING STUNT SCHEDULED HERE JULY 8, 9, and 10th

MELROY, The MYSTIC, TO DRIVE CHRYSLER OVER SPUR WHILE BLINDFOLDED

Melroy will drive car during hour of heavy traffic and stop several times. Starting promptly at 4 p. m. from the Lyric Theatre driving a new Chrysler, Melroy, the psychic wonder who is playing at the Lyric Monday Tuesday and Wednesday, July 8, 9, 10, will drive blindfolded on a thrilling tour of the business district of Spur stopping at a number of business places enroute.

This dare devil feat is being put on through the courtesy of the Lyric Theatre. It is expected that large crowds will gather at the starting point as well as at the different stopping places.

To prove to everyone that there is nothing fake about the blindfolded drive, the car will be examined by a committee of citizens before the start and Melroy will have one of these men place the eight ply black satin bandage tightly around his head so that not a ray of light can be seen. He will then take the wheel when the thrilling dash around the city will start.

As this hour is one of the busiest so far as traffic is concerned, it will make the drive all the more hazardous, but Melroy, who has performed this remarkable feat a number of times before, declares that he can accomplish it successfully, tho he will be risking his life every minute he is at the wheel. Everyone is invited to watch Melroy start off and greet him at his different stopping places as well as at the finishing point, where he will finish, remove his bandage and both the car and bandage will be examined by the committee to see that everything is the same as when he left.

Agricultural Hints

Prepare for your fall salads by putting in endive seed.

Start piling up weeds and lawn clippings for a compost heap.

Rotate your garden crops. Plant root crops one year where surface crops were the previous year.

Keep corn and bean plantings in mind every two weeks or ten days to be sure of a succession later in the season.

Potatoes keep best in storage at a temperature of from 34 to 38 degrees Fahrenheit. Good ventilation is an advantage.

Don't cut the asparagus too late if you expect an equally good crop next year. Give it a dressing of fertilizer when you stop cutting.

Bran Good For Cure - But Not To Prevent Cases Of Diarrhea

That bran is safe as a cure for diarrhea and yet is safe to use as a preventative for diarrhea has been ably demonstrated by one of the ten poultry demonstrators in the county. This poultry demonstrator is very successful with her poultry because she makes special efforts to fix her houses, brooders, etc. just as she is instructed.

When Mr. Holmgren gave bran as a cure to diarrhea, this woman felt that since it was a cure it could also be used for a preventative. Thus reasoning she began feeding bran to her baby chicks to prevent their taking diarrhea. Last year out of three hundred chicks she had not lost one. When her chicks began to die off this year, about one every day, she asked the home demonstration agent what was wrong. Upon examination it was found that Rickets had developed due to the chicken's not getting enough minerals. The bran had been so filling that it was impossible for the chick to get all the calcium and the vitamins that it needed to build the bones correctly. This calcium and the vitamins could have been obtained from the sour milk, at the same time the sou milk would have been a preventative for diarrhea.

MRS. MARY MAEK DYER DIED IN JAYTON

Mrs. Mary Maek Dyer was buried in the Jayton cemetery Saturday afternoon, June 15, Rev. C. C. Armstrong conducting the funeral. Mrs. Dyer was past sixty one years of age at the time of her death. She had been a member of the Baptist church for many years. She leaves nine children with her many friends to mourn her departure.—Chronicle.

ORGATONE RESTORES HEALTH AFTER FLENTGE WAS ALL RUN DOWN

"All my troubles have been completely overcome since I commenced taking Orgatone, and I never enjoyed better health in my life," said Ben Flentge, a well known farmer residing on route 1, Plainview, Texas.

"About seven years ago," he continued, "my stomach went back on me, and I began to have nervous indigestion. I lost my appetite also, and just had to force myself to eat enough to keep me going. Everything I ate would sour on my stomach, and I would often be so badly bloated with gas that I could hardly get a good breath. I was so nervous from headaches, too, and would often have such bad dizzy spells I could hardly walk. I also suffered from a pain in my back around my kidneys nearly all the time. I didn't seem to get a particle of good from any of the different kinds of medicines I took, and I finally got so weak and run-down that I was hardly able to go at all.

"One of my friends had been taking Orgatone, and it has done him so much good that he insisted on my giving it a trial. Well I bought a bottle of Orgatone, and it wasn't very long after I commenced taking it until I could see that it was the very medicine that I needed. My appetite came back, and now I can eat three square meals every day, and I never suffer the least bit from indigestion or stomach trouble of any kind. Why, I even eat big meals of heavy foods like meats and pastry, and it doesn't hurt me at all. The nervousness has left, and I sleep just fine and dandy very night. I never have that pain in my back anymore, and haven't had a headache since I took my first bottle of Orgatone. In fact, I never had better health in my life, and I will tell the world that Orgatone did the work fine."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Spur by the Spur Drug Company who are direct laboratory agents.

Red Mud Member of 4-H Club Papers Bedroom For 40c

Dorothy Rhodes, a 4-H club member out at Red Mud, at the expense of 40c has new paper for her bedroom. By using several layers of newspapers with two coats of alabastine she has for herself a colorful room of soft dull pink. The alabastine covers the newspapers so completely that it is impossible to tell where the papers come together or see any printing.

Carrying out a tri-color scheme she has painted her dressing table ivory with a dressing stool to match. She has arranged a study table out of an old center table and made pigeon holes for her letters and writing materials by using old cigar boxes.

The table is laquored ivory to match the dressing table and chairs in her room. Her curtains are white voile trimmed with orchid voile. She has three colorful boudoir pillows on her bed, where she has used the rose bed spread.

She has a large closet for her clothes and it is papered the same as the walls.

She has removed all the old calendars and put up good pictures.

A veteran drill sergeant, accustomed to the rooky's penchant for getting under way on the preparatory command, must covet the job of traffic policeman for a half hour's exercise of his rusty vocabulary when he sees pedestrians stepping off with the amber light.

JACK SHOULTS DIED SUNDAY IN JAYTON

One of the saddest happenings in this community for many years was the death of Jack Shoults, which occurred, Sunday, June 16. The immediate cause of his death was appendicitis. He was born April 29, 1906 and was married to Miss Mary Armes, August 7, 1927.

He leaves a young wife, a baby girl, mother, two brothers, three sisters and a host of friends to mourn his departure. He was a splendid young man, honest, industrious and ambitious to make a home for his loved ones.

Being conscious to the very last and realizing that his death was near he called his loved ones to him and kissed them good-bye, saying it would only be a few minutes until he would be safe and at rest. His only regret being that he had to leave his wife and baby, and admonished his wife to raise the baby so that she could join him later in the happy home above not builded with human hands. Telling those surrounding his bed that he could feel the touch of the angel's wings on his face he asked them all to kneel and for Jimmie Johnston to lead them in prayer, and then passed on to the loving care of He who takes note of even the fall of the sparrow.

Rev. North of the Jayton Baptist church conducted the funeral services and his body now rests peacefully in the Jayton cemetery.

The relatives have the sincerest sympathy of the entire community, and the consolation that God certainly cares for His own.—Jayton Chronicle.

FELT BAD AFTER EATING

"FOUR YEARS ago, I suffered with heartburn and bilious indigestion. Whatever I ate disagreed with me. Gas on my stomach made me very uncomfortable. My tongue was coated and my color was bad. I needed a good laxative, and so my mother-in-law gave me some Black-Draught and told me to take it. I found it helped me very much, so I bought it for myself. Seems it was the very thing I needed. It is a fine family remedy, and I use it when I need something for constipation."

"I also give Black-Draught to my children whenever they need something for colds or upset stomachs. Our whole family takes Black-Draught."—Mrs. G. C. Leary, 103 North Alston Ave., Durham, N. C.

Midway News

Elton City is very lively since the nice rain Friday night. A shindig given at the home of R. M. Johnston Saturday night was enjoyed by everyone.

The picnic at the "Canyons" Sunday was a grand success. Everyone reported the greatest time of the season. Those present were H. P. Cole, Helen Wiley, Joe Williams, Jane Wiley, Clarence Alexander, Beverly Moore, Orval Kennedy, Hazel Williams, Morris Green, Lillian Peters, M. Dobbs, Arleen Anderson and Dot Blanton and the Misses Wills.

Bud Scott was seen in town Sunday. He reports a good crop and a fine bunch of Rhode Island Red chickens.

Helen Wiley, Elizabeth Williams Beverly Moore, Ruby and Allie Dren non were shopping in Spur Saturday.

The Slayden family visited the Dement family Friday night. The children played games while the older people looked on they reported a nice time.

Mrs. Moore and Beverly spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Peters Friday night.

Mrs. Calvin Gentry and son, Junior visited Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gentry, the owner of the Midway grocery, the past week.

Hazel Williams states that Elton is a fine town but that the last of July will find her on her way back to Oklahoma.

Miss Evelyn and Dollie Dement have been visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilson of Spur.

Hazel Williams, Beverly Moore, Helen and Jane Wiley visited Lillian Peters Monday. They all enjoyed a horse back ride to the Goens ranch.

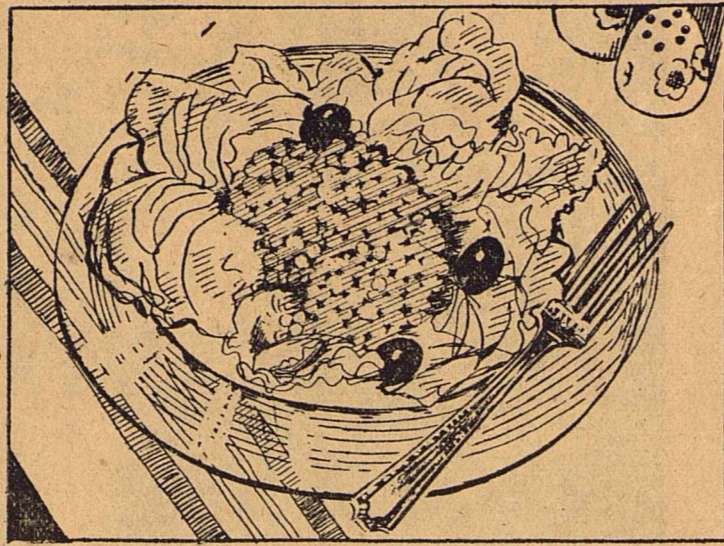

The singing at Mr. Pettigrew's was very successful Sunday night and they all reported a good time.

We are very sorry to say that Clarence Alexander of Afton is on the sick list this week.

Chester Blanton spent the week end on the Sizemore place. He reports everything looks nice and green and crops are looking favorable.

Newel Webb of Spur is visiting with Naomi Blakley this week.

Peas Are Economical This Spring

Did you ever realize that the peas which you so calmly serve your family nowadays were once a rare food for royalty only? Tradition tells us that the pea was brought to Europe from the mysterious mountain regions of India. Peas have been found in Egyptian tombs as part of the provisions to sustain the departed in their long journey.

Lower Price—Higher Quality

It has only been since the Civil War that peas were low enough in price for the average person to use them in any quantity—and this decrease in price, and increase in quality, was due largely to the efforts of the canners to supply the best at the most economical price.

That peas are economical may be seen from a short study of the prices. Naturally, the price varies with quality. The large peas which are intended for soup-making are less expensive than the wee, little peas whose function is to make a salad pretty and tasty. For ordinary household use, unsifted peas, which are big and little, just as they come from the pods, are good—much preferred by many people. Enough peas for three liberal servings can be bought for ten cents in this grade.

Because peas contain protein in appreciable amounts it may become part of a meat substitute dish. For instance, a pea and walnut roast is delicious. To make it, mix one and one-half cups pea pulp, one cup soft bread crumbs, one-half cup chopped walnuts, one-fourth cup butter, two-thirds cup canned tomato soup, one beaten egg and salt, pepper and onion juice. Bake in a buttered baking dish in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for thirty to forty-five minutes. Serve with hot, canned tomato soup, undiluted.*

Earl and Jewell Pettigrew are planning on a trip to the Carlsbad Cavern. We wish them a good time.—Reporter TRAGIC! TRAGIC!

With an overload in the Berachah Home, due to shortage of funds, they still receive pitiful appeals to admit girls.

There are twelve applicants pleading for admission and they are short $1,500.00 on expenses on the load they are carrying at present.

It is foolhardy to admit others unless they can care for those already in the Home, which they are endeavoring to do at a tremendous disadvantage.

After visiting the Berachah Home at Arlington, Texas, some weeks ago and learning of the pitiful appeals begging for girls to be taken into the home, who could not be received because the home was already carrying a larger load than its finance provided for, the thing got on my heart one night, and I was awakened from a sound slumber and a plan was given me by which I believe the Home can be wonderfully assisted.

As I lay there meditating, I said to myself: "Anybody can give a dollar to that home. Even a tramp could get a dollar and a half for a day's work, give the dollar to the home and have a half dollar left."

If we can get fifty thousand people to give one dollar each, it will help wonderfully. If you will give your dollar and get some of your friends to do likewise, it can be put over easily and not hurt anybody, but be a blessing to everybody. One or more dollars sent to Miss Hattye V. Saylor, Secretary of the Home, Box 38, Arlington, Texas, will be applied on opening up the Home to other girls than are now being cared for. Let us all join hands and give this worthy home a lift.—A. P. Hunt, Cooleidge, Texas.

J. P. Goen was in Spur Wednesday from his ranch home northwest of Dickens, spending several hours here buying supplies of the Spur merchants.

Mr. Taylor, of near Dickens, was in Spur the first of the week. Mr. Taylor had a load of peaches from his orchard, and which he sold to townspeople. The fruit crop this year throughout the Spur country is most abundant, trees and vines in all orchards being loaded with fruit to the limit.

Jim Smith, of Dry Lake, was among the many business visitors in Spur Saturday, spending the afternoon here trading and meeting with his friends of the town and surrounding country.

Wade McDaniel returned the last of the past week from Cross Plains in Callahan county, where he had been spending several days looking after property and oil interests, and also visiting with relatives and old time friends. He reports that that part of the country is also experiencing adverse conditions in crops and seasons. The oil business is also being retarded in development progress at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Williams, and Mrs. White of Fort Worth, last week visited with Mr. and Mrs. Sherrod Williams in their homes at Paducah.

Wednesday of last week Mesdames Edmonds, Wilson, Williams, of the city, and Mrs. White of Fort Worth, made a trip to the Plains country. This was Mrs. White's first view of the "Great Staked Plains."

Mrs. Mack Watson returned this week from a visit of several days to Roswell, New Mexico.

Roy Harkey is this week completing the construction of a new bungalow residence in the north part of the city. The new home will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Jams O. Smith moving to the residence vacated in the West Addition.

CONGRESSMAN RAYBURN SAYS EXTRA SESSION WAS DISAPPOINTING

Washington.—Representative Sam Rayburn, who left for Texas today, driving through via the Shenandoah Valley, Nashville Memphis, Little Rock and Texarkana, believes the extra session of Congress will be more disappointing to the people than any ever held before.

In a statement he issued just before leaving Washington, the Fourth District Congressman said: "The results of this extra session of Congress will, in my judgment, be more disappointing to the people of the country than any ever assembled. It is true a so-called farm bill has been passed. I voted for it as it was all in the way of farm relief allowed by those in power. I feel that it is certain that in results to the farmers it will be disappointing and give as little relief as any piece of legislation ever passed which had for its announced purpose the relief of any class.

"A tariff bill has passed the House and is now pending in the Senate which gives protection to some products of the farm and ranch but on the other hand, piles higher and higher the duties and, therefore, makes much higher the prices that the farmer will have to pay for every implement and every piece of clothing that he has to buy.

"As an example, a 10 per cent duty on shoes. Few farmers have cow hides to sell but all must buy shoes. For the average farmer there will be no hide to sell, therefore no money from that source, but many pairs of shoes in the course of a year must be bought for every family and it may be a conservative estimate it will cost every family from $5 to $20 each year from the tariff that has been put on shoes. Another example, an additional protective duty has been placed on sugar, that conservatively estimated, will cost the American consumers in the neighborhood of $300,000,000.

"When the regular session of Congress convenes the Committee in Interstate and Foreign Commerce, of which I am a member, will have some great questions before it. A bill for further authorization of consolidation of railroads has been introduced and will be brought up early. A measure to control interstate traffic in busses and trucks will be considered.

A REAL MAN

A real man never talks about what the world owes him, the happiness he deserves and the chances he ought to have and all that. All he claims is the right to live and be a man.

A real man is just as honest alone in the dark in his room as he is in public.

A real man is dependable. His simple word is as good as his Bible oath.

A real man does a little more than he promises.

A real man does not want anything for nothing, so the get-rich-quick can not use him.

A real man always has excuses for others never for himself. He is patient and charitable to them and to himself he is strict.

A real man is glad to live and not afraid to die.

A real man never hunts danger and never dodges when he ought to meet it.

A real man's love is like a dog, and that's saying a good deal.—Santa Anna News.

L. D. Davis, of McAdoo, was in Spur the past week end, informing us that the plains section of the county has had plenty of rain—and some hail, too. Mr. Davis lost approximately twenty five acres of his cotton crop from the first hail storm. However, he was fortunate, having hail insurance which somewhat relieved the situation and prevented his suffering a complete loss.

NOTICE TO THE PEOPLE

On Tuesday, July 16th, next, there will be held an election to determine whether two constitutional amendments submitted by the present legislature shall be adopted by the people.

One of these amendments is to raise the governors salary to $10,000.00 a year and the other is to increase the membership of the supreme court from 3 to 9 members. It is proposed to raise their salaries to $10,000.00 a year also.

Contrary to custom to submit constitutional amendments at the general election these two amendments are submitted on Tuesday, when it is hoped that the farmers in the country and the working people in the towns won't take time to go and vote on a week day. These two amendments were hatched in the minds of certain corporation and political lawyers who are trying to slip upon the blind side of somebody and pass two amendments which are not needed or demanded by the people.

It looks like every time we turn around we meet some politician wanting to create a new job and pay somebody $10,000.00 a year. It looks like it is time to call a halt on this $10,000.00 a year foolishness. If the thing ain't stopped everybody we elect will begin to want $10,000.00 a year.

The idea of these two amendments is to set the example of $10,000.00 for he governor and the supreme court and then there will be about 100 more state officials that will want the same.

These two amendments should be defeated for no other reason than for the people to put their foot on this continual raise in official salaries.

The governor already gets $4,000 a year and in addition he gets free mansion house to live in, he gets his servant hire free to keep his house clean, cook his meals and keep his yard and flowers. He gets free his ice, light, water and fuel.

He gets free telephones and telegraph service and $500 a year traveling expense. A private citizen would have to pay at least 4,500.00 a year for this service. This added to his salary makes $8,500.00 a year. It is enough and it is a waste of public money to want to give him $5,000 a year more. This is no time to raise salaries let alone more than double them.

They tell us we need 9 members of the supreme court to hurry business. I submit that 3 judges can agree on opinions quicker than 9. Any school boy knows that 3 minds can reach an agreement quicker than 9. The proposition to create 3 times as much time to get results as it does under the present custom which has been tried for 50 years successfully.

The 9 judge amendment gives Moody the power to appoint 6 new supreme court judges if this amendment carries who shall hold their office for 2, 4 and 6 years when under the old time custom they should be appointed until the next general election and let the people then decide whether they wanted to keep them or not. A certain big corporation lawyer who was mainly instrumental in having this amendment submitted said that they gave Moody the power to appoint for 2, 4 and 6 years because the people could not be trusted to elect 6 new judges at one election.

If the people can't be trusted then the people ought to turn out and show this crowd that the people don't trust them and run a plain black scratch through the ticket where it says "For" the amendment. Then your ticket will read "Agin" the thing. Don't forget this. If you just simply scratch the whole ticket your vote will not count.

I appeal to the people everywhere to turn out and vote against these amendments.

Just take the time off on Tuesday to go to your boxes and vote and work on the Saturday before or after the election.

In that way you won't loose any time and we will take this crowd of $10,000 a year tax eaters to righteous defeat. Don't forget to vote.—Jas. E. Ferguson. (Pol. adv.)

The Bones of The Ghost

By George Floyd Murray

(PART TWO)

The next morning found Uncle Tom much improved. It seemed almost impossible for one to have regained strength as he had in the last twelve hours.

He was served with nourishment about his usual meal time, and seemed to enjoy it immensely.

He talked freely, and unbelievably strong. Augusta slept soundly until past eight that morning. She raised to the side of her bed, and was arranging her hair when Aunt Dillah came to her door announcing that her meal was ready. Augusta was a girl who all ways had plenty on hand to think deeply over. But this morning was an exception, as she had so many wonderful things to think over.

Things she had for thought food was the striking appearance of Paul Banderoff. His manly and thoughtful appearance had completely swept Augusta off of her feet.

At noon that day Uncle Tom called Estel to him and inquired of her what had become of Paul.

He with held the secret from her, but she could see that he was beginning to worry about Paul's being absent.

August dressed herself, and went about the place that day looking, despite herself, for Paul to show up about the place.

Aunt Dillah went to Paul's room and found that the bed had not been used that night.

but despite etain etain trlecmfw

At the close of the next day Uncle Tom was beginning to let a fear of distrust grip him more and more. He raised to the side of his bed and made out a telegram to a detective agency. He felt best not to divulge his secret to any one there.

Four more days dragged along, but despite his worry, he was gaining strength.

It was nearly the morning of the seventh day that a stranger put in his appearance at the Banderoff home. He found his way to Uncle Tom's room and introduced himself as Holoway Crane, an experienced detective which the association had sent down to take Uncle Tom's case in hand.

Never was self-confidence better embodied in a specimen of humanity than in that of Holoway Crane. Uncle Tom reluctantly related the circumstance surrounding the affair. Holoway was not one of these fire eaters who flew out to do the whole job in one day. He went out to a room prepared for him and rested from his long worry of getting down there. He slept soundly as if nothing was wrong. He ate his meals, and seemed to be enjoying himself beyond measure. He had frequent talks with Augusta. He also had talks with Estel, and the doctor. He talked with Aunt Dillah. Two days passed before he left the Banderoff home to investigate.

Holoway was a graduate in applied science, and was following it as a business which was making him famous in unraveling mysterious affairs of long standing. Yet, he was kind hearted, and had the power of winning his way to the confidence of a serpent if any man on earth can do it.

He returned to the Banderoff home after spending several hours in the desolated old Miller home. He had climbed to the attic and like other men who had gone into the attic, and returned with no clew. But at the foot of the stairway he discovered small splashes of blood which proved to be the blood of a victim of foul play.

It was after supper that night when Holoway arrived at the Banderoff home.

He did not stop until he was inside his room. He drew out a little table and began spreading small squares of paper which were finger prints of different people. He compared them along with finger prints of some notorious characters which he had been working after for several months.

He found evidence there at the foot of the stairway that he had fresh trace of a notable crook who had operated from northern Canada to South America. He had been thrown off of his trail then long enough that the crook could have covered considerable territory.

It was about nine that night when he went to Uncle Tom's room. Holoway was not in one of his talkative moods that night, as what he had discovered at the foot of the stairs was something very sad.

He sat there for a minute drawing on his cigar apparently trying to frame up what he had to say to Uncle Tom without shocking him. Finally, Uncle Tom inquired what he had found out during his investigation.

"You was wrong Mr. Banderoff," Holoway said, "Your nephew did not do what you figured he did. I find that he was taken from the d house either dead or mortally wounded."

"Oh, Mr. Crane," Uncle Tom said, "You don't mean to say that Paul met with foul play, do you?"

"I do, Mr. Banderoff, for I have evidence bearing out my theory. You see, Mr. Banderoff, I have been trailing an outlaw for the past two years, and I have evidence that he has dropped in here for the purpose of solving the mystery of the ghost and to do other depredation while here."

"What have you found to bear you out in your belief that Paul was killed there that night?"

"I think it hardly worth while to discuss the affair further, but you will find that I am right after all."

Uncle Tom was so broken up over what he had learned that it seemed that he would release. August was overheard what Holoway was saying to Uncle Tom. She went into the pine bushes near the back of the house and wept bitterly.

Holoway disappeared during the night from the Banderoff house and was not seen until the next night. He had spent the day wandering along the river banks. He found near the old mansion where a motor boat had landed against the bank just above the water's edge. He looked carefully and found the imprint of the license number, which was 213. But further investigation during his stroll along the river bank that day served to confuse what he had already learned.

He found the foot print in the soft dirt of a small ladies track which when followed out proved that someone else was connected in the crime. He followed along until he came to Wiser Bluff a mile or more on down the river. He followed on until he found a place where something had been unearthed. He was sure it was the place where Uncle Tom had buried the rest of his gold.

There the ladies' track was vivid, but there was nothing to bare the finger prints of the one who unearthed the gold.

He noticed just as he was in the act of leaving the place a shiny little object which proved to be a set in an ivory hairpin left there by the one who had done the digging.

He returned to the Banderoff home, and arrested Augusta. It was a great shock to everyone to think that such an innocent looking girl as she seemed to be could be cold blooded enough to participate in such a crime as that.

Nine days had gone along by the time Paul came to himself. He opened his eyes and began to gaze about blankly. He was somewhere in a sanitarium. He could tell that much from the general appearance of things. He felt about to find heavy bandage about his neck and head. He tried to raise himself in bed and found that he was too weak.

He reflected back over the last things he could remember as matter of facts. But as to where he was he did not know.

Presently a nurse came in. She saw that he had regained consciousness. She went and stood over him and asked him how he was feeling.

"Oh I don't know," he said "how is uncle Tom getting along now? he inquired.

"I don't know who you have reference to honey but if you will tell me who you are I might get in touch with uncle Tom and find how he is."

"I am Paul," he said.

"Paul?"

"Yesum, that's my name."

"What is your other name besides Paul?"

"Paul Banderoff, Uncle Tom Banderoff's nephew."

"Where do you live?"

"Here at Sun Set," he said indifferently.

"Yes, but you are not at Sun Set now, darling," the nurse said with a smile about her white little face.

"Oh, I ain't," Paul said surging to raise himself in bed.

"Don't do that, honey, you are alright now, if you will be careful not to get a back set."

"Where am I," Paul said confused.

"You are in the sanitarium here in the city of New Orleans."

"How come me to be away off down here?"

"You was brought here by a secret service man by the name of Scot Higgins who said that you was a prisoner whom he was forced to shoot to arrest you. Now, do not worry yourself in order that complication will not set up, and you will be well in a few more days."

Paul made everything plain to Eselda the little nurse. He told her everything he could remember about the affair.

Eselda fixed out a telegram and sent it to Sun Set.

Holoway Crane was waiting then for conveyance to the county jail to carry Augusta for safe keeping until he had further proof of her guilt or innocence in connection with the case when a stranger hurried into the house with the telegram, which read as follows:

"Mr. Banderoff, Paul Banderoff

is being treaed here in New Orleans for a gun shot wound in the head. He is under arrest being held as a prisoner by a man giving his name as Scot Higgins. I fear he is a crook, call real soon or wire the officers here to investigate."

It was signed by Eselda Rein-fro, nurse.

Holoway was the first man to grab the telegram after Uncle Tom scanned the lines.

"Well, he's changed his name, but I will wager my life that he is no one but reacting Bill Bowin," Holoway said.

Far up the river was the great clouds of smoke indicating the arrival of Cheerful Poly, a steam boat which run the river on regular schedule.

Holoway felt it best not to wire as he felt that he stood a better chance to get up with the criminal just to go without letting any one know what was happening.

He boarded the boat within the next few minutes, leaving Augusta under the watch care of Uncle Tom. A day later Scot Higgins called to see how Paul was getting along. He found Paul much better than he ever figured to find him.

It was along toward noon when Scot came into Paul's quarters. He pitched his hat over on Paul's bed, and was making himself very much at home.

"My name is Scot Higgins," he said reaching his hand to Paul.

"My name is Paul Banderoff," Paul said acknowledging the introduction.

"Well, Paul," Scot said, "You and I got kinder mixed up over there at Sun Set the other night, and apparently you got the worst of it, however, we can square it all, if you are willing to split with me."

"I don't understand you, Mr Higgins, Paul said.

"Well, I don't blame you for not understanding me but the fact is, you will have to understand me or else I will be bound to let th law take its course."

"I do not understand you, Mr. Higgins," Paul said again.

"How about this? Scot said, pulling out a little scrap of paper which was the bearing to the rest of Uncle Tom's gold which Paul found in the floor at the old mansion that night.

"This here instrument I found in your pocket that night I caught you over at the old mansion." "Mr. Higgins, if anyone knows anything about what become of the gold it is bound to be you."

"So, then, you had rather stand a chance of going to the penitentiary than to pay me for the trouble of keeping you out?"

"That is not the thing of it," Paul said "if you have anything against me you are at liberty to prove it."

"Will you set there, and tell me a lie, you dirty scoundrel?" Higgins snarled.

"I am not telling you any lie, and if anyone knows what became of the gold I am sure it is you," Paul said.

"So you don't aim to tell me what became of the gold, then, do you?" "I know nothing to tell you, you dirty crook, and if I did I am sure that I would not tell you about it," Paul said as he began trying to get to his feet.

"So, if you feel that way, you dirty cur, just take that, and see how you come out after all."

At that Scot Higgins struck Paul with his fist. Paul slumped to the floor as a result of the blow dealt him about the face.

Eselda had mistrusted Higgins wickedness, and had stopped just outside the door to see if she could hear what was passed between them.

She heard the threat Higgins made. She heard the blow dealt Paul. She rushed to the door only to see Scot Higgins standing over Paul with an automatic pointing a him. The blood was running from Paul's mouth freely as he lay helpless.

She ran down stairs screaming and hollowing, "He has killed him," she completely collapsed in the office.

Every nurse, and physician hurried to the office. They were trying to find out of her what had happened but all she could think to say was, "Oh, he killed him, he killed him."

Scot took advantage of the situation. He grabbed on to Paul, and half dragged him down a stairway which led down on the outside of the building, and dumped him into a waiting car. He was tucked away so cunningly that the car passed on out of the traffic while the swarms of policemen gathered to the front of the building to see what the commotion meant.

Paul's eyes were closed from the effects of the blow which Higgins had dealt him there in the sanitarium. The streaks of dry blood still remained on his face.

The next day was a day of torture for Paul. He thought once he heard foot steps coming to his prison room but the sounds died away. How he did pray that it was someone coming with water. The wound which he had received at the old mansion was becoming irritated and was very painful.

of an old vacant stone building. Two burley guys grabbed Paul and dragged him from the car. He was carried to the third floor of the old building. Scot, himself, never stayed about the old building only in cases where he felt sure he could punish a victim into confessing.

The place where Paul was finally stopped was an old dingy room with barred from the inside. Great yellow streaks coming down the wall indicated a leaky roof. An old straw mattress and an old musty quilt constituted the furnishings of the room.

Paul was chained by the wrist to a giant staple in the wall. He was left there for the next day and the night to come.

During his time without water or food Paul was delirious with a raging fever.

Scot was scouting about. He felt that he was being watched for closely. But he had changed his disguise in as much that it would have taken a detective to have recognized him as the man who had brought Paul there.

Paul realized his predicament in as much that he would have told Scot Higgins if it had been that he knew anything of the gold.

Scot came in late at night. His breath was strong with the scent of gin. "How a bout the gold, kido?" he inquired of Paul.

"For the sake of god, man, believe me, I do not know what become of the gold I went to the old house for. Now, please, Mr. Higgins, do not punish me any longer for I am telling you the truth."

"You are telling a damn lie, and you know it, you dirty cur, and I will keep you here until you rot if you don't tell me, what went with the gold."

Paul's eyes were closed from the effects of the blow which Higgins had dealt him there in the sanitarium. The streaks of dry blood still remained on his face.

The next day was a day of torture for Paul. He thought once he heard foot steps coming to his prison room but the sounds died away. How he did pray that it was someone coming with water. The wound which he had received at the old mansion was becoming irritated and was very painful.

Tomato Dishes Make A Red Letter Day

IN spite of the fact that this last season's tomato crop is smaller by about a third than that of 1927, we can still make any meal a red-letter day by the simple expedient of serving tomatoes. Probably the value of their cheerful, gay color has much to do with their popularity. And of course no one could ever forget the cool, clean flavor of this fruit which masquerades as a vegetable.

The Taste's the Thing

Aside from being pretty to look at, and good to eat, the tomato is good for one. Its large content of vitamin C which protects against scurvy, presents an added reason for its inclusion in the diet, either raw or canned.

But after all, the taste is the real reason why we eat tomatoes, so here are a few recipes which bring out all their delicious flavor:

Creole Peppers: Sauté eight diced green peppers in one-third cup butter until a golden brown. Add one number 2 can of tomatoes, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-half teaspoon pepper and a few drops of onion juice. Simmer gently until quite thick and dry.

Tomato Timbales: Bring two and one-half cups canned tomatoes and salt and pepper to the boiling point. Mash well but do not strain. Add three-fourths cup bread crumbs and four beaten eggs. Pour into buttered ramekins and set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a slow oven, 350 degrees F., for 30 to 40 minutes or until set. Turn out of molds and serve surrounded with creamed peas.

Mrs. Joe Kellam has a niece of Breckenridge as her guest.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Mort Smith were visitors in Crosbyton and Lubbock this week.

J. H. Busby and family returned this week from a vacation and visit of several weeks in other sections.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Algers are here this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jas. B. Reed. Mr. and Mrs. Algers formerly lived here, Mr. Algers being engineer in the construction of highways through the county.

Mrs. Shirley Robbins and little Miss Shirley June returned this week from Lubbock where they were the guests of her mother.

Mrs. H. O. Ever's returned this week from Abilene where she had been visiting her mother.

Cecil Scott, of Duck Creek, was here this week. He reports about three-fourth of an inch of rain accompanied by hail. He this week bought a hundred pounds of seed for planting feed, therefore we judge he intends to replant his old feed acreage together with much of that apportioned to cotton.

The City Grocery this week moved to its new location formerly occupied by Bell's Market.

Piggly Wiggly is this week installing new and modern fixtures and equipments for a market.

S. H. Twaddell this week made a trip to Lamesa and other points.

Mrs. Lee Gilbert and sons, Mack and John O., returned last week to Spur. They have been in Houston the past several months where Mack and John O. have been employed, and where they had gone for the benefit of Mr. Gilbert's health. Mr. Gilbert is at the present time in Pyote with Mr. and Mrs. McClanahan where he will remain for some time, still recuperating, and stating that the Pyote climate is benefitting his health still further.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meadors and Misses Olive Meadors and Esther McKnight of Wichita Falls, left here Sunday for an extended trip to California and other states. The party will probably stop over in Cool Colorado for a time, visit the Carlsbad Caverns and enjoy the sights and pleasures of other resorts.

A. B. Smart of the Smart Music Shop, this week sold the first Baldwin Grand Piano to come to this section of the state, Ned Hogan making the purchase for his daughters, Misses Mary Elizabeth, Nedra and Peggy.

W. J. Elliot was in the city Saturday from his Spring Creek farm and ranch home, spending several hours here greeting his friends and transacting business affairs.

Virginia and Frederick Stewart, of Stamford, are in Spur, guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Jennings.

Carl Williams, of Littlefield, now has charge of the Bowman stock of goods, pending settlement or adjustment of the recent assignment to creditors.

Mrs. W. S. Perry and children are in Amarillo visiting with relatives. During their absence Wilbur is "rollin' 'em high."

W. R. Stafford and family will leave Monday for a trip to California where they will spend several weeks enjoying the summer vacation period.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Andrews Jr. returned this week from a month's vacation and visit with relatives in Stamford, Dublin and other points of the Eastern part of the state.

Mrs. John Pennell is in the city visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lisenby.

Mr. and Mrs. Buel McDaniel, of four or five miles southwest of the city, were in Spur Monday. Buel was among the number of farmers of that section who suffered crop loss by the hail storm of last Friday night. However, he with others, was not discouraged, and got back in the field to replant as soon as the ground dried sufficiently from the rain which accompanied the hail—many of them laboring on Sunday to get the "ox out of the ditch."

G. B. Joplin and family and Leonard Joplin and family returned the past week end from an extended trip to Glenrose and other points in the Eastern part of the state, Christoval, San Angelo, and other points in the Western part of the state. They report a very pleasant and enjoyable trip.

J. B. Morrison was on the streets Tuesday of this week. Aside from his farming operations, Bud has four or five hundred head of cattle grazing and fattening on his pasture lands, and getting in fine shape for future marketing. His field crops have thus far escaped the damaging hails.

Creed Haile, wife and children, of Eastland, spent several days of last week in Spur, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Haile. Creed Haile has been engaged the past two or three years in business at Eastland and his many friends here will be glad to know that he is prospering and is well contented in his new home.

Mrs. Janie King returned Sunday from a vacation trip spent in Corsicana, Dallas and other points, visiting with relatives and friends.

Mrs. A. Lollar of east of the city was shopping in Spur Tuesday afternoon.

Leonard Wilson and family, of Clarendon, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. David Wilson of the city, spending two days here with the family.

A girl baby was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Dunwoody at home in the city.

Recovering From Crop Losses Sustained by the Hail Storms

Will Garner was meeting with his friends on the streets Monday. The first hail storm of the season caught Will among the many other farmers, he losing a considerable acreage. However, he has replanted the crop is now up and growing nicely and most promisingly—but he states that a nice little grower at this time of the season would not hurt and it would be appreciated.

Judge Brummett was in town Thursday.

Mrs. E. P. Tayloe, formerly Mrs. H. P. Cole, now of Paris, Tennessee, who is now here visiting with relatives and friends, was greeting her friends and acquaintances in Spur the past week. Mrs. Tayloe will spend the entire summer here.

Mesdames Annie Bryant of Eastland, and Essie McGuire of Abilene, passed through Spur Saturday of last week, stopping over to visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cathey. They were in route to Colorado for a summer vacation.

J. E. Sparks, of the Highway section, was among the many business visitors in Spur Saturday of the past week.

J. H. Hooper, of Twin Wells, was in Spur during the week. We understand that he was among those who suffered considerable loss to crops by the hail storm of Friday night, and the blowing sands preceding the hail and rain. However, everybody is optimistic, and with favorable conditions bumper crops will yet be made.

Sam Sparks, of the Spur Bakery, is out of the city in the Eastern part of the state this week, on business.

Mrs. Burl Harrington, who recently underwent a surgical operation, we are glad to note, is reported doing nicely and rapidly regaining her former good health.

Dr. Grace has been quite ill the past several weeks at his home in the city. Here is hoping that Dr. Grace will soon be completely recovered and able to resume his practice and daily associations.

Mrs. McAlpine and son, Neal, of Dallas are in Spur visiting Mrs. Clemmons and family and W. A. McAlpine and wife.

Mrs. White, who has been here the guest of her sister, Mrs. Geo. M. Williams, returned this week to her home in Fort Worth.

Dr. Howard made a business trip the past week to Cross Plains. Dr. Howard is locating in Spur, having already established an office in the Campbell building over Piggly Wiggly on the east side of Burlington Avenue. Dr. Howard's office is equipped with the latest electrical appliances, and he will make a specialty in the treatment of chronic diseases as well as the general practice of medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones, of Dickens, were shopping and transacting business in Spur Monday of this week.

J. W. Day of the north part of the county, was among the recent business visitors in Spur.

J. H. Meadors, a leading business man of Dickens, was transacting business in Spur the past week.

J. H. Jones, of southwest of the city, was trading in Spur the first of the week.

E. B. Shaw of Croton was in the city Wednesday and in passing by stated that crop conditions were good in his section, and that the predicted rain in plenty time to mature crops. His section has been favored in that hails and blowing sands have done little damage to crops.
