SUPERIOR STOVES

We have sold more goods this year and had better collections than any two years previous.

FOLDING BEDS

and beds that don't fold; Rocking chairs and chairs that don't rock; High chairs and chairs that are not high. In fact we can show you a complete assortment of furniture, when we say complete we mean that we can furnish the home from the parlor to the kitchen. While great care and judgment was used by our buyers in purchasing, one thought was always kept in view and that was to get the HIGHEST VALUES at the LOWEST PRICES, and they did. Come and see.

STUDEBAKER WAGONS

and BUGGIES have been used all over Texas and are being used every day. Did you ever hear of a purchaser of a Studebaker Wagon being dissatisfied? Not a bit of. No one has a word against the Studebaker, except unscrupulous agents, and they can't look you in the face when they tell you that their wagon is just as good as the Studebaker. The Studebaker is the best thing on wheels, don't take our word for it alone—ask your neighbor about the merits of the Studebaker.

The more goods we sell the cheaper we can sell them.

It is reported on seemingly good authority that Kruger will visit the United States in the near future.

The republicans lose another staunch supporter and brainy man in the recent death of Cushman K. Davis of Minnesota.

CONGER, the American minister at Peking, and the administration do not agree as to the policy to be pursued in the final settlement of the Chinese trouble.

The latest official census reports gives the population of Nacogdoches county as 24,663 against 15,984 in 1890, being a gain of 8,679 in ten years.

The opening of work on the Nicaraguan canal will present a new and profitable field of employment for hundreds and thousands of laborers of all kinds, and it is fair to say that all sorts of people from all quarters of the globe will be found there after awhile.

LITTLE BELGIES. Hay has sent another note to the powers about some 'fool somthin' or 'nuther that a one gullused justice of the peace could settle in five minutes. If modern diplomacy would change its name to international tomfoolery it would be more appropriate, and better understood.

Nacogdoches is rich in old and interesting history, which should be rescued from oblivion by all means.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON, of Alabama, vetoed the gubernatorial succession bill which provided that the president of the senate shall become Governor—if the governor elect is ineligible.

There will be no turning back in England's policy towards the Boers. Failing to conquer these brave people, Kitchner has been ordered to exterminate them like they were wolves. Their houses are being burned and their women and helpless little children driven into the brush. The Boers are right. They should fight and shoot the British as long as there is a man left. They are fighting for liberty. The war from the first on England's part was one of loot, blood and plunder.

The republicans now come out openly and declare that the public was deceived by the administration before the election with respect to the situation in the Philippines. In other words, the people, in order to be induced to vote for McKinley, were told that the war was rapidly drawing to a brilliant close. Now the truth comes out and reveals the fact that the war is just about as near a close over there as it was a year ago. The war will be going on there at the next national election just as it is now. Our sympathy is with the Filipinos and the Boers.

The Nacogdoches editors enjoy something sensational, and if containing enough of the "horrible and awful" it felicitates their souls unspeakably. They gave more space last week to the hanging of old Smith the murderer of Mrs. Vawters, than they would have devoted to the greatest reform movement at work in our land or the most burning issue of the day.

'Tis true, 'tis pity,
Pity 'tis, 'tis true.
—Hempill Messenger.

Do not impugn evil motives for our work, brother. Remember Nacogdoches is an up-to-date town and her editors are up-to-date newspaper men. They know what their readers want and give it to them. It is a fact that not an editor in Nacogdoches witnessed the hanging of Old Man Smith. The Nacogdoches papers are not made up from matter written or selected to please the editor, but with the view to pleasing the greatest number of readers. If the editor of the Messenger could drop in among us as "a looker on in Venice" he would doubtless marvel at the energy, care and thoughtful methods of the Nacogdoches editors as they pursue their labors.

F. P. Brewer, received information yesterday that the civil appeals had dismissed the Will Barnes case and reversed remanded the Tom Johnson case. Will Barnes was tried here and sentenced to two years in the Penitentiary, while Johnson had been given five years.

Mr. W. J. Bruton, who recently moved back to Mt. Enterprise after a year's sojourn in Nacogdoches, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Bruton says he would not have left Nacogdoches if he could have without so much difficulty obtained a desirable house to live in here, but taking into consideration high rents, scarcity of residences, and the further fact that he had a good home at Mt. Enterprise, he concluded the best move for him was to return to his old home.

Mr. O. E. Hubbard has resigned his position with the Telephone Co. and has accepted a position at San Antonio. Mr. Hubbard has been with the Co. here about two years. He has not only made a great many friends in Nacogdoches but has been a very valuable man to the company. He regrets very much to leave Nacogdoches, but has been offered a salary in San Antonio that this company can not afford to pay. He leaves the lights and phones in full working order. JOE PARKER, the mid road populist humbug, has issued a call for the meeting at St. Louis, December 29, of all reform forces opposed to republicanism—and also democracy. Parker and his crew will not be able to attract much of a crowd because the people have absolutely no confidence in mid-roadism. The best thing that Parker can do is to go straight to republican headquarters, where he belongs and get his cue for the next campaign.

The SENTINEL acknowledges a friendly call from Messrs. C. L. Chandler, A. J. Chandler and N. C. Coleman, of Appleby last evening. Of course they are all readers of this paper and are pleased with it. Mrs. Rushing accompanied Mr. Rushing to Center where they spent two or three days with their son and wife.—Center Champion

Mr. J. E. Willis, of Brookland, Sabine county, was in Nacogdoches today. He sold several bales of cotton at a satisfactory price and purchased a good bill of goods. Mr. Willis is a progressive farmer, and believes in using up-to-date farming implements. He bought a stalk cutter and a "buggy" plow among the numerous useful articles he took back with him. Mr. Willis, of course, is a reader of THE SENTINEL and couldn't farm successfully without it.

G. L. Crawford, of Martinsville, was in town today and as usual had a whole lot to talk about. He says he was down in San Augustine county a few days after the election and in passing a field a man who was picking cotton asked how the election had gone in Nacogdoches county. League replied that it had gone solidly democratic. Thereupon the man who happened to be a populist threw his hat on the ground and swore that he never would plant another seed of cotton, because as he said it would not be worth four cents next year.

Mr. Lit Herring is in correspondence with a Mr. Carmichael, of Winsboro, Texas, who desires to put up a pottery in Nacogdoches. Mr. Carmichael visited Nacogdoches last winter and examined the clay in the vicinity and thinks this would be a favorable place to establish a pottery with the view of building it up to a large scale. Mr. Carmichael will probably visit Nacogdoches again soon and if he finds everything favorable and meets with anything like substantial encouragement, we feel assured that he will have a pottery in operation here by the early part of next Summer.

C. E. Branch, of Houston, representing the Galveston Shoe and Hat Co. is in the city in the interest of his house.

Egg Nog Branch.

Jose Manchaca, who lives in the moral neighborhood, and who was born and raised in this county gives the SENTINEL some interesting historical information concerning Egg Nog Branch and how it got its name. This small and ever running stream crosses the Nacogdoches and San Augustine road two miles East of the town of Nacogdoches and runs in a southerly direction, uniting finally with the waters of La Nana creek, some two or three miles below town. It is a small unpretentious stream and the many thousands who cross it every year never dream perhaps, that it has an interesting, as well as curious history. All, or nearly all, the creeks and branches in this county have Spanish or Indian names, given because of some local cause or condition peculiar to the water itself or the locality through which it runs. For instance Banita means beautiful; Moral; mulberry, Loco; crazy or mad; Cariso; cane, or caney, Atuscosa; mud, Ponte Suellos; foot bridge. Likewise the original Spanish name of Egg Nog Branch is Costanos, which is pronounced Castan-yoce; and means chinquepin. Mr. Manchaca, says the branch received its name from the abundance of chinquepins along its course. The old time Mexicans called it el canida de las Castanos, meaning literally the branch where the chinquepins grow, or chinquepin Branch. Jose Manchaca Sr., the father of Mr. Manchaca who gave the above information was an officer in the Texas service by authority of General Sam Houston, and among other duties he secured horses for the soldiers to ride, and was at the battle of San Jacinto April 21 1836. The people of the entire Province of Texas rejoiced at this great victory because it gave them peace for a time at least. The reported advance of Santa Anna and Cos from San Antonio after the fall of the Alamo and previous to the battle of San Jacinto, spread great fear and consternation among the people at the isolated village of Nacogdoches, because it was to that place that the self-styled "Napoleon of the West," had directed his legions. Everybody in a de haste to get across the Sabine river, 65 miles distant. Santa Anna would not dare to follow them across the river, because to do so would be to invade United States territory. When the news first reached Nacogdoches people loaded what few effects they had on horses, carts, wagons or any kind of conveyance at hand and started for the Sabine, but they had not gone far before news overtook them that the Mexicans were at their heels plundering and murdering. The utmost confusion at once ensued. Beds and provision were thrown overboard and the teams whipped into a mad run to get away. People sitting down to a meal, on hearing the news actually ran off and left the table sitting with nothing on it touched, or eaten. Santa Anna's bloody reputation was enough to inspire terror in the stoutest heart. No Mexicans, however, appeared and the fugitives at last crossed the Sabine. In due time came the news of Houston's victory at San Jacinto and subsequent flight of the Mexicans towards Mexico. Those who had homes and property at Nacogdoches returned, and on the 25th day of December 1836, a general celebration in commemoration of San Jacinto and Texas liberty was held at el canida de los Castanos, three miles East of town on the old San Antonio Road. It was also a reunion of friends who had been separated by the war. It is said that several gallons of egg nog were made and the occasion was one of great enjoyment to all present, and before breaking up in the evening it was suggested by some one that the branch be called Egg Nog, thereafter, in commemoration of the event, so from that eventful hour till now the little branch has kept the name given to it as a christmas present by the little band of patriots on Christmas day 1836. Some one has said that General Houston was present on that occasion, and it is probable that both he and General Rusk were there.

A Plume for Nacogdoches.

If there is any local enterprise in the city that deserves especial mention and is entitled to recognition from the press and the public it is the establishment of Ireson Bros. One feature of this establishment that we desire to call special attention to is the manufacturing department, from which all manner of the very finest cabinet work, Mantles, tables, ice boxes, fine screen doors, fine scroll work, balusters, and in fact nearly everything in the cabinet line or used in fine finishing for residences. As an evidence of the ability of this establishment to turn out first-class work, they have just completed the elegant mantle pieces for the fine residence of Col. B. S. Wettermark, which order they received in competition with the very best factories of Houston, Beaumont and Orange. This work speaks for itself and is the best recommendation of their superior facilities for turning out this class of work. They have invested thousands of dollars in machinery, and employ the most skilled mechanics. They deserve the success they have attained.

Conductors Promoted.

The putting on of a new passenger train on the Houston East and West Texas, according to the new schedule on that road, carries with it the promotion of three freight conductors to passenger runs. The new passenger conductors are Messrs. R. M. West, J. S. Karr and A. H. Whited. The old passenger conductors, of course, keep their same runs, namely, Conductors Andy Palmer, J. B. Keefer and Ed Connolly.

The passenger business of this road is better than ever before in its history.—Houston Herald.

NEW INDUSTRY.

One industry treads on the heels of another, and the opening up and successful management of a new enterprise is an incentive to the establishment of others, and every one established opens up a new field for labor, and makes the local market better. Every time a laboring man is given employment, just that much money is thrown into the channels of trade, and helps business all along the line. In this connection Ireson Brothers, are in receipt of a letter from C. E. Bodman, of Memphis, Tennessee. Mr. Bodman, represents, the Memphis Furniture M'fg. Co., of Memphis. The Tennessee Mfg. Co., of Memphis, The New Orleans Furniture Mfg. Co., of New Orleans, and the Mississippi Furniture Mfg. Co., of Vicksburg, the largest and most extensive Furniture and hardwood dealers in fact, in the South. Mr. Bodman states that the above named concern is about to establish a furniture factory at Shreveport, and is desirous of knowing of Ireson Bros. whether they are in a position to furnish common and cull gum, oak and ash lumber, cut one and two inches thick. Inquiry is also made about such stock in this county. If the Furniture factory is established at Shreveport as Mr. Bodman says, any and all kinds of hard wood for furniture purposes can be found here in Nacogdoches county. There is an abundance of oak, gum, ash and some walnut close at hand. This timber can be furnished, and will afford employment to a large number of hands. The contract to procure the wood will be let to the party or parties who can put the timber in proper and available position. This is an industry that will pay and it is therefore to the interest of people who own timber to encourage in every way possible. And then there is the pottery that in all probability will be established in this vicinity sometime soon, and will afford remunerative employment to a large number of hands. If Nacogdoches is to be a city of permanent growth, we must attract several enterprises here so employment can be given to labor. In this way a demand is created and the market made better.

HUMBUGS.

A few weeks ago it was announced that Dr. Harper, of Chicago University had demonstrated that a person could live on 15 cents a day and grow fat at that. To prove his theory Dr. Harper tried it himself. And now a man named Holley up in Indiana comes out with the proposition that a man can live and grow fat on 6 cents a day, and gives the following as his weekly expense for grub: bread, 15 cents; sugar, 10 cents; meat, 10 cents; coffee, 5 cents, and vegetables 5 cents. This makes 45 cents for a weeks supply of grub. The truth of the matter is that both Dr. Harper and his co-fool Holley are both humbugs—things instead of men. Any consumptive kitten that could live on 45 cents a week should be taken by the tail and have its head rapped against a tree. Harper nor Holley could neither one perhaps pull a settin' hen off the nest or lift a peck of kiln-dried meal bran, and yet they have the impudence to pose as having made a great discovery. A man that has to work from sun up till sundown to rustle grub for a wife and six children wants a daily bill of fare like this: 18 biscuits, six cups of coffee, 1 pound of bacon, one pint of gravy, 6 glasses of buttermilk, 2 pounds of turnips, and several other things. And there are plenty men can eat all this and more too without feeling uncomfortable. This 45 cents a week grub business is foolish.

THE CENSUS.

The census places the population of Texas at 3,048,710 against 2,235,525 in 1890, being an increase in ten years of 813,137 or about 36 per cent. Bailey county, way out in the Panhandle, stands at the foot of the list with only four inhabitants. Dallas county heads the list with 82,726.

The combined population of Harrison, Panola, Shelby, San Augatine, Sabine, Cherokee, Anderson, Nacogdoches, Angelina, Houston, Tyler, Jasper, Newton, Polk, Hardin, Liberty, Jefferson, Orange and San Jacinto counties which compose the Second congressional district is 280,665 against 210,238 in 1890, being an increase of 79,427. If the new apportionment is made on the basis of one congressman to every 200,000 inhabitants, the first, second, and third districts will have gained more than enough for an extra congressman. The gain in the other districts is about the same, and Texas will therefore be entitled to two new congressmen and also two more electoral votes in the next presidential election. The re-apportionment of the State will be one of the duties of the next legislature and of course no correct calculation can be made yet as to what counties the new districts will include. So far as East Texas is concerned it is probable that a new district will be created out the southern end of the second, northern part of the first and part of the third and will comprise the fourteenth district. The other new district will in all probability be taken from the sixth, seventh and eighth as they show the heaviest increase in population with nearly 300,000. The South will gain about ten electoral votes if the apportionment is made on the ratio of 300,000.

WILL NOT REORGANIZE.

A whole lot is being said about re-organization of the Democratic party, and all kinds of excuses are being offered why such steps should be taken. It will not be reorganized because it does not need to be. This is what the leaders say, and they certainly are in a position to know. The last two democratic platforms are the only platforms that the common people have had a voice in making since the government was founded, and because the eastern states could not make the platforms and dominate the conventions they bolted in broad open daylight and either put up an independent ticket or supported the republicans. This is the crowd that wants to reorganize the party. They will not succeed, and should not because they are a set of traitors and renegades, to the full extent of that term in politics. If the south and west is to remain the under dog in the fight let it do so on a clean platform.

"Old Sal" Meets a friend of other days.

Every now and then the old soldier boys meet up with each other again for the first time since the civil war closed and they went home. Such a meeting occurred yesterday on the streets of Nacogdoches when Jim Crawford of Etoile, who was in town with cotton stumbled up on George Partin, whom the soldiers all knew as "old Sal". We do not know why he was so called but it is a fact. Mr. Crawford and Mr. Partin had not seen each other since the "break up" and had changed so much that neither recognized the other. These old confeds were as glad to see each other as if they had been brothers and it was real interesting to hear them talk, and recount incidents that have been buried in oblivion for a generation. After a while the confederate soldier like the Texas veteran will pass away. They are rapidly passing now and every year sees the number grow wonderfully smaller.

The New Court.

Dock Burrows and Bud Loy retired from office yesterday and gave way to J. W. Byrd and Bud Thomas, the two newly elected commissioners. Byrd is a democrat and represents this beat, while Thomas is a populist and will represent Douglass beat. The commissioner's court will consist of three democrats and one populist.—Thomas being the populist member. The county Judge is also a democrat. We state this because our populist friends might attempt to claim him on their side. Mast, the old commissioner was elected from Melrose beat by an increased majority.

Doc Burrows, who retires was a good man and made a good commissioner. His work will show for itself for years to come. Bud Loy was a good business man—the best populist in fact that ever held office in this county. We are sorry Bud took a notion to run for treasurer. As long as a populist had to be elected from the Douglass beat we wish it could have been Bud Loy.

Killing Near Pinehill.

Sunday evening a difficulty occurred between Ed Osborne and Houston Lax, two farmers living three miles north of Pinehill, which terminated in Lax striking Osborne over the head with a stick of wood, from the effect of which he died a few hours later. From the best information we can obtain it seem there had been some previous trouble between the parties over rent matters. Lax in driving by Osborne's premises Sunday evening met Osborne and renewed the difficulty. Osborne, in order to avoid a personal encounter, climbed the fence and was on the inside of his field when Lax threw the stick of wood, striking him on the head with the above result. An examining trial was held at Pinehill Monday before Squire Cooper when Lax, failing to make the required bond, was held over to wait the action of the grand jury, and is now confined in the county jail.—Rusk County News.

THE most important question to come before the next congress is the Nicaraguan canal problem.

It appears like the railroad question and the shops, terminal yards, etc., have been dropped from the calendar. Wonder what has become of 'em, anyhow.

THE death of Senator Davis of Minnesota will probably advance Senator Lodge of Massachusetts to the chairmanship of the committee on foreign affairs.

THE road problem is the coming issue. This country will everlastingly be in the backwoods if we don't get on to a system by which we can have decent public roads.

EFFORTS are being made to have President McKinley take steps for the release of Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who is confined in an English prison for the alleged murder of her husband.

THERE is a world of the finest hardwoods of every description and of every variety here in East Texas, and it is now in demand. All that is needed is facilities for converting it into lumber suitable for use in factories.

THE race question is being discussed by all the colored conferences now in session and various and sundry resolutions passed. But it will not amount to a hill of beans after all. This old world is too busy to study much or seriously about the race question or any other question.

If the farmers will not plant any more cotton next year than they did this year the price will stay up. But the high price this year's crop brought is liable to stimulate the farmers to plant double the acreage next year, and the chances are that the prices will drop back to from 4 to 6 cents again.

It is proposed to erect a large paper mill in Atlanta, Ga., for the manufacture of paper from cotton seed hulls, and it is predicted that similar plants will be established in a number of Southern States, including Texas. It is said that the scheme is backed by unlimited capital, and the work of putting up plants will begin in about 30 days, to extend from Texas to North Carolina.

THERE will soon be one of the largest furniture factories in the South established at Shreveport. The promoters of this enterprise have already been inquiring about the hardwoods of East Texas, and are offering to contract for an unlimited quantity of such timber converted into lumber. The gum, oak, walnut, beech and a thousand other varieties that flourish here are now in demand. What we want is a saw mill right here in Nacogdoches with facilities for converting these hardwoods into lumber.

REMEDY NEEDED.

In a recent issue of the Times—Democrat of New Orleans, there appears a long list of Texas railroads and the amount of damages each road has been required to pay during the past year. In every case the damages were of a personal nature, that were brought in the first instance by persons along the various lines, all injuries received while a passenger on the road. A great many cases were suits brought for the recovery of damages for the killing of stock. The record showed that the H. E. & W. T. Railroad had paid out an average of $52,000 per mile in damages. There is not the least doubt that the present mode and method of jumping on the railroads for damages is simply a system of legalized robbery run in the ground. Of course some of the cases are perfectly meritorious and the persons by whom they were brought deserved a reasonable amount of damages. But a majority of the cases were usurious and altogether out of reason. There is not another state in the Union where the railroad damage hold-up is carried to such extent as in Texas. And it's a disgrace to the reputation of the State at home and abroad. If a fellow gets on the train and happens to get a piece of skin knocked off his shin he at once brings suit for $5,000 or $10,000 damages, and half the time gives some shyster lawyer half the amount to collect it. More than half the number of damage cases are due to the carelessness or ill-conduct of the passenger. A common $5 yearling if run down and killed by a train brings anywhere from $25 to $75. A 75 cent shote brings $8 and often $15, while just any kind of a flea bitten brancho will net its owner $50 if killed by a train. Nothing but blooded stock is ever killed. The worst feature in the whole business is that there seems an inclination with the jury in nearly every such case to give a verdict against the railroad. They perhaps act upon the law and evidence as it has been given them and are not to blame. A remedy of some kind is needed but we are not able to suggest what it should be. A railroad should be treated in court and everywhere else just as if it was a citizen of the county. It should not be imposed upon by high and unreasonable damage verdicts any more than a private citizen. It should have the same rights and protection. How to secure this condition and put a quietus on the outrageous and ever increasing damage practice is a problem that demands solution at the hands of the legislature.

MUST BE PROTECTED.

The Galveston Tribune in its plain open way which all can understand says that if Galveston is made safe it must be elevated or have a sea wall to keep out the waves. The Tribune goes on to say that unless this is done people will not live there and the city will either stand still or go down hill so far as business is concerned. The Tribune is eminently correct. Either plan suggested by the Tribune is perfectly feasible and there is no sense in the business people of Galveston saying it can't be done. It can be done and the main idea is all get together and see how soon it can be done. There is no doubt that both the State and National governments will lend their assistance in every possible way. Bigger and greater things than building a sea wall around Galveston have been undertaken and accomplished, and the sea wall can be built there is no doubt of that. So let every man and every paper in Texas talk about the matter and assist our friends of the Island City in making their homes and business safe and permanent.

THERE is every indication that the war taxes will be reduced during the coming session of congress at least $30,000,000. The reduction will probably secure the repeal of the internal revenue on telegrams, notes, checks, deeds, etc.

TO NAVIGATE THE SABINE.

What says the Longview Times Clarion and the Leader to joining the Courier in a call for a representative meeting early in January of citizens of Longview and Tyler to put on foot a plan looking to making the Sabine river navigable?—Tyler Courier.

The Leader says amen! It stands for anything legitimate and feasible that will build up Longview and Gregg county, and indirectly the surrounding country. Just what amount of interest we can awaken in this enterprise, however, we cannot just say, more than so far as we have heard any expression of opinion it has been favorable. When the business men of Longview have had time and opportunity, however, to come together and discuss the navigation of the Sabine river, we feel safe in predicting their views will coincide with those of the Courier, and they will favor holding the meeting suggested.—Longview Daily Leader.

Go after it, boys. Get the denizens together and resolve a resolute, then present it to Hon. S. B. Cooper and if there is anything in it he'll get it for you and you need not doubt it. We shouldn't object to seeing a few million dollars even "squandered" in East Texas. It is being squandered everywhere else. It wouldn't hurt to clean out some of these East Texas branches and let the stagnant water run off. It would be conducive to the health of the vicinity, and we could all enjoy the benefit of the circulation of a few extra government dollars.

EVANS, the commissioner of pensions, sometime ago passed a rule that no employe of his department would be permitted to indulge in any kind of strong drink during office hours and hold his job. There are about 2000 men employed in his department and even after this rule was passed through some channel or other the men continued to get drunk, and yet not one left the building all day. An investigation revealed the existence of a regular "blind tiger" in the basement of the building.

THE oleomargarine bill will come up at the next session of congress and will in all probability pass. It provides that no kind of chemicals be used in the manufacture of butter. A petition with 5,000,000 signers has been presented to congress asking that the bill pass. In thirty-two States there are already laws against making spurious butter but in spite of this fact, there were manufactured last year 79,000,000 pounds of butter mixed with chemicals.

It is reported that Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture will ask that the forthcoming congress appropriate $150,000 for the establishment of good roads. This amount will not be a drop in the bucket because it would take at least one third of that amount to establish a permanent system of good roads in Nacogdoches county.

Best Line to the Old States

One reason why most people go back to the "Old States" via the Cotton Belt is because the Cotton Belt makes from one to five hours quicker time than other lines.

The Cotton Belt offers you the quickest and shortest route to the Old States, without unnecessary change of cars. Both day and night trains are equipped with comfortable Coaches and Reclining Chair Cars; also Pullman Sleepers by day and Pullman Sleepers at night. Write and tell us where you are going and where you will leave, and we will tell you what your ticket will cost and what train to take to make the best time and connections. We will also send you an interesting little booklet, "A Day on a Parlor Car."

Thursday's Locals.
Obituary.

Again have fond parents and loving neighbors and friends been made sad. The Divine Hand in His wisdom saw fit to visit the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lilly Jr. and took from them a precious and loving child, little Dixie, who died November 15 1900. Age 9 years 4 months and 15 days.

Weep not fond parents, and well you may. Spring gave to you a gem of peerless beauty, but never will he raise his ruby lips to yours again in the warmth of childhood affection. It was hard to give him up "But the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh." But memory tells you that you are desolate. It tells you too of the loving smiles and of the sweet throbbing of unspeakable bliss which were yours when his sweet voice was heard. Little Dixie has gone to join the angelic throng upon fresh beauty and bloom forever in that brighter world. The Lord saw that he needed one more precious bud to shine upon His throne, and so He with His loving arms reached down and took little Dixie to a better world, where no pain or sorrow ever can enter. He can not come back to us but we can go to him. So cheer up fond parents and strive to meet him in that better world. Thou art gone our precious Dixie Never more canst thou return, Thou shalt sleep a peaceful slumber, 'Till the resurrection morn.

HIS AUNT PENNIE.

Little Virginia Perkins.

When the sad news came over the 'phone Thursday morning at 3:30 o'clock, "That our little Virginia is dying" how hard it was for us to say "Thy will be done." Next my own in affection was dear Virginia; rather timid before strangers, but to those she knew she was ever affectionate, lively, and intelligent, displaying a thoughtfulness beyond her years. Jesus bore her spirit home, where his own sweet flowers bloom, 9:30 p. m. Thursday Nov. 22.

Dear parents it is indeed a heavy blow, while I know there is no word that can be spoken that might alleviate your sorrow, yet how can I refrain when my heart bleeds to the core for you. I know your own strong will of duty and your implicit faith in "Him who doeth all things well" will guide and direct you in this your most bitter trial. You have some consolation even in your extreme grief for she is now with "Joy" in Heaven where they wait to hail the coming of mama and papa.

Now may God bless you dear friends, and give you strength to bear up under this great affliction, is the wish of a sincere

FRIEND.

"Gone But Not Forgotten."

These lines are written in loving remembrance of darling little Fay.

On last Friday evening the angel of death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Daniel and took from them their little daughter, Annie Fay, aged 4 years, 9 months, and 20 days.

She was a bright, affectionate little child, her actions and conversation were such that one was led to believe her much older than she was. She was the joy and pride of her home, always cheerful and happy.

How sad it is for us, as friends, to bid the little darling farewell and realize that we shall never more on earth behold her lovely face and hear her cheerful voice. But when we think of the dear parents, brother, sisters and relatives, our grief is not to be compared with theirs.

Weep not, dear parents, for we must bow in submission to the will of God and console ourselves with the hope when we are gathered at the river's bank, in that beautiful land, in the brightness of another life that father, mother, brother, sisters and friends will gather again in sweet reunion where death and parting are no more.

"We shall roam on the banks of the river of peace,
And bathe in its blissful tide,
And one of the joys of Heaven will be Darling little Fay that died."

A FRIEND.

S. C. Branch, representing the Williams-Richardson company, is in the city. Mr. Branch has been making Nacogdoches for the past twenty-five years, except during the past five years. He has many warm personal friends in Nacogdoches who are glad to see him back on this route again.

Clarence Edward Murphey.

Clarence Edward Murphey was born Feb. 14, 1884; died Oct. 27, 1900, at Douglas, Texas.

Eddie was a good boy and will be greatly missed by his many young friends of both sexes in the neighborhood in which he had lived since his early childhood. His make up generally, strong individuality, kindness of heart, politeness, and manly turn, made him a favorite among his youthful companions. His being a leader of boys predicted the leadership of men had he been permitted to reach man's estate. His friends are numbered by the score among old, middle-aged and young. He had a kind word and a happy greeting for everyone he met.

Eddie was a special friend to the writer, always ready to do anything in his boyish power for my comfort and pleasure. I shall never forget the sad feeling of my heart on my first visit to his parents after his death. He always met me at the gate and took charge of my horse, but there was no Eddie this time. Nor will there be any more at his earthly father's gate, but I shall expect him to be one of the first to meet me at the gate of his Heavenly Father, when I shall go to that home which is not invaded by death and where we will be separated no more forever.

Proud, heart-broken parents and lone sad brother, do not think of Eddie as being dead, but as being alive, and alive forever. Don't look at the cemetery for him, but look above. Say in your hearts, as did one of old, "He cannot come to me, but I can go to him." "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord." G. W. C. SELF.
