DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY.

Preparing for Decoration Day, April 25th.

The president of the Daughters of the Confederacy, Mrs. H. P. Mathews, has appointed the following committees to arrange for Decoration Day, on April 26th. Program committee, Mrs. G. H. Davidson and Mrs. B. K. Smith. Committee to locate all the confederate graves in the cemetery: Mrs. Roland Jones, Mrs. R. C. Shindler, Mrs. John Schmidt. This committee is a very important one, as there are several graves unknown, and unmarked, of men who fought and died for the lost cause. Their graves will go unmarked no longer. Mrs. Council has kindly offered to assist this committee in locating the graves. The graves will be decorated on the 26th and later marble headstones will be put up, graven with the pathetic letters, C. S. A., that tell that an unknown hero sleeps beneath.

DOUGLAS DOINGS.

The News From the West End of the County.

Our singing, Sunday, led by Prof. Rawlinson, was quite a success. We think the proper thing for us to do is to get Prof. Rawlinson to teach a class for us.

Mrs. Ruthie Moore and Mr. Willie Watkins, of Alto, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Watkins Sunday and attended singing. Misses Nevie Paine and Fannie Campbell, Messrs. Willie Wilkerson, Jack Shaw, Willie Campbell and French Murphy, of Nacogdoches, were with us Sunday.

Misses Lennie Paine and Ada Leonard went to Alto on a shopping expedition last week.

Mr. Bob Paine left Monday morning for Houston. We regret very much to see him go and hope he may soon return.

Every few days a candidate comes around and smiles away our cares.

Joe Rogers, of Libert, was figuring in Douglass society Sunday.

Mrs. Kitty Coon is visiting relatives in Nacogdoches at this writing.

Mr. J. P. Bruton had the misfortune to get a thorn in his foot several days ago and is now very much disabled.

Mr. J. B. Finley, Jr., went to Nacogdoches and has not returned. We wish him a long and pleasant stay.

We hear a great deal of talk about a picnic to be at the Eden lakes on or about the 21st. We hope to be able to tell more definitely about it next writing.

Wanted—a boy to sell the Sunday Post-Dispatch every Monday morning. This office.

We still have a few packages of garden seeds, fresh and fine, better and more profitable than the commission kind.

At Nacogdoches Drug Co.

COMPANY "H."

Organized at Nacogdoches September 12, 1861.

Capt. G. B. Crain tells a good joke on Capt. Chas. M. M. Raquet, of Marshall, which is explained in the following correspondence. Mr. Raquet was one of the company organized by his brother, Capt. Henry Raquet, but he forgot who the captain was, notwithstanding he was his own brother, and has written Mr. Crain for the information:

Marshall, Texas, April 5, Mr. G. B. Crain,

Nacogdoches, Texas.

My Dear Friend:

I wish you would give me the date our company (Co. H) was organized and the date we left Nacogdoches for San Antonio and the name of the captain we started out with. I have forgotten the name. I think he resigned before we arrived at El Paso and that B. L. Rusk was elected captain and he resigned and W. L. Alexander was then elected. I would also like to know when and at what date Alexander was elected captain of Company H., 4th regiment. I also wish to know the date we left San Antonio for El Paso and what date we arrived in El Paso.

My memory is not very good on dates and knowing you have kept up an interest in these matters, I feel sure you can give me the information, and I would like to hear from you at once. I would be glad to get any information I can about the above.

I suppose you will be at Dallas at the meeting of the U. C. V. on the 22nd inst. I expect to go and truly hope I will meet you and a number of Company H.

With kind regards to yourself and family, I am, your friend.

CHAS. M. RAQUET,
Nacogdoches, Tex., April 8, Mr. Chas. M. Raquet.

Dear Sir and Comrade—Yours of 6th inst. received, contents noted. Company H. was organized by H. W. Raquet as Captain. He was promoted to rank of major. We left Nacogdoches September 12th, 1861, and on September 14th Jno. F. F. Doherty was elected captain. On October 14th, Doherty resigned and on October 15th B. L. Rusk was elected captain. On February 3rd, 1862, Rusk resigned and on February 4th, W. L. Alexander was elected and commanded the company until the close of the war. The company was sworn into service on Salado, near San Antonio, on September 29th, 1861; left San Antonio October 23rd, 1861, arrived at El Paso December 22nd and camped three miles above El Paso.

Don't think I can attend reunion. Several of the old company will be there.

With best regards to yourself and family, I am your friend and comrade.

A SAD DEATH.

Mrs. Bettie McClellan Ends Her Life With Strychnine.

The sad ending of the life of Mrs. Bettie McClellan by her own hands is reported from Melrose. Her death occurred yesterday at the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. Wm. Thompson, near Melrose, from the effects of strychnine, which it is alleged she took with suicidal intent. For several years Mrs. McClellan has been in very bad health and her death is due to ill health and despondency. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stalling, of Melrose, and was connected with many of the best families of this county, with whom all who know them deeply sympathize in this sad calamity.

THE struggle at Houston ended in the election of the Holt ticket by a large majority.

PEACE with the Boers is again talked of in London. But this is no change of the time worn topic.

THE pickle factory of San Antonio has already contracted to take the products of 125 acres of cucumbers being planted near by raised by irrigation. It looks like our country is going to be "in it" in spite of class legislation of the federal government.

A BIGAMIST who has lately been arrested in San Antonio has thirteen wives. Any man who has sense enough to fool that many women ought to have been discreet enough to stop with an even dozen, and not fly in the face of fate by adding the unlucky thirteen. No wonder he got in trouble.

THERE is absolute necessity for a new jail, but there is not for a court house. As we understand it there are two propositions to be voted upon at the bond election—one for forty thousand dollars for a new court house, and one for twenty thousand dollars for a new jail. A forty thousand dollar court house would look like "thirty cents" at the end of the twenty years in Nacogdoches. The present jail looks like thirty cents with a hole in it. We can make the present court house do a long time. So lets elect the jail and leave the court house alone until we are ready to build one that would be a credit to the town and the pride of the country.

STARVATION IN ZAPATA COUNTY.

A report from Zapata county gives a horrible account of the condition of the poorer classes there, who are on the verge of starvation. Capt. Roberts, of the U. S. Army, who has been there and viewed the situation in person, says: "I was on an inspection trip on the lower Rio Grande and passed entirely through Zapata county. There has been no rain there since May, 1901, and the people are in fearful need. Their stock is nearly all dead and they are unable to buy grain for the few head still alive. Hay is $27 a ton and the people have no money to buy it. The people from the interior of the county have moved to the Rio Grande border. "If something is not done immediately to give relief there will be many deaths from starvation. Our people are sending money to the Boers, to sufferers in India and to others in foreign lands when we have people starving to death at our own doors. As I passed through Zapata men and women would come and beg for what was left from our meals. The condition is horrible."

Zapata county is 200 miles southeast from San Antonio.

Just think of people starving for bread within the borders of the empire state, a state more talked of and praised for its agricultural achievements and its prosperity than any commonwealth in the Union. The people do not seem to realize that such a condition can exist within its broad limits, and to this indifference is doubtless due the terrible condition of these starving people. There are a few things yet left for charity at home, and we should lower our sights a little in our missionary work.

The noted Garfield law which aimed to prevent corrupt practices at elections, was wiped off the statutes last week by the Ohio legislature passing a bill for its repeal. The legislature was practically unanimous for the repeal of the measure, the chief argument against it being that it was ineffective and that it put a premium on perjury. The law sought to restrict the amount of money which could be spent by candidates to secure a nomination or election by compelling them to file sworn statements of their campaign expenses. The statute was generally evaded, but there were a few prosecutions under it. One of the problems yet to be solved is how to regulate a politician when he gets his heart set and his eye fixed on an office.—Houston Chronicle.

THE ATTENTION of our inexperienced readers is again called to the ABSOLUTE NECESSITY OF PROPERLY PACKING whatever you ship to any market. You can establish a good reputation for your product, whatever it may be, if you will put only FIRST CLASS goods in the package that bears your name. You can soon establish a reputation for your brand that will sell it for much better prices than it will sell for until its reputation is established.—East Texas Fruit and Truck Journal.

SUPPOSE a newspaper man every time he hears a man who criticises him or his paper in public, should retaliate by holding up to public gaze the faults and shortcomings of said fault-finder, what would be the result? THE BIG DALLAS merchants, Sanger Bros., are using their wealth quite worthily in offering to pay transportation to the reunion of 100 old Confederate soldiers, now inmates Home at Austin. In Dallas these old soldiers will be the guests of the Reunion Association. The old fellows had quite a jublie when the good news was announced to them. Arrangements will be made to carry fifty others.

Hon. S. M. Davis, candidate for representative from this district, was in the city a few days this week getting acquainted with the people. Mr. Davis is comparatively a young man and as a lawyer stands high in Angelina county who confidently expects to see him win the nomination, as the district as now composed is entitled to two representatives. He left for his home at San Augustine yesterday well pleased with the outlook here.—Lufkin Tribune.

When a farmer steps out to his barn these mornings—a farmer says: who had a good crop of cotton which he sold for 7 1/2 cents a pound—and commences to throw 90c corn to his hogs, put 95c oats in the troughs for his horses and mules, fills his racks with $16 hay for his cattle and finishes his labors by sprinkling around some 90c wheat for his chickens, the chances are that he is thinking something of raising these things this year. It requires a big cotton crop, and a war price for it besides, to feed in the above way.—Galveston News.

THE GRAND JURY REPORT.

The grand jury completed its duties and adjourned yesterday. Much praise has been justly bestowed upon this body for its zeal and energy and the proficiency with which they dispatched business. The report speaks in highest praise of District Attorney Donley and County Attorney King, who were untiring in their efforts to assist them in the full discharge of their duty.

Upon the jail question the jury reported as follows:

"We visited our county jail and it, as best as we are capable of judging, is in a very unsanitary condition. Some one has been very derelict in their duty as pertains to the cleanliness of the jail and the comfort of the prisoners confined therein, and we as grand jurors and as men who live in a christian and enlightened community, beg leave to say that in our opinion it is a burning shame and disgrace upon the fair name of our county, that we should have a jail in such condition for the incarceration and safe keeping of even the most hardened criminals to say naught of the innocent who may chance to be so unfortunate as to be locked behind the bars. We also find it, in our judgment, wholly unfit for the safe keeping of prisoners altogether impossible for an officer, no matter how watchful, to prevent at times the escape of those confined therein, and we are of the undivided opinion that a new jail should be speedily erected not only with a view to the safe keeping of prisoners, but also to their health and comfort." The report recommended that a finance committee be appointed by the court and instructed to report to the next grand jury.

The total expenses of the grand jury for the term including jury fees and bailiffs, amounted to three hundred and nine dollars. There were 54 true bills of indictment returned.

Canada buys $110,000,000 worth of merchandise from the United States yearly, but owing to our tariff rates being higher than those of Canada we buy of her to the amount only of $45,000,000. To requests for freer access to our markets and a more equal show, our protectionists reply that they are very well satisfied with the situation and will let well enough alone. Naturally the Canadians want a change, and some of them advocate a scheme of forcing reciprocity by putting up the Canadian tariff wall as high as ours, at the same time leaving the tariff wall low for the mother country. Protectionists are slowly discovering that other nations are learning that what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.—Houston Chronicle.

This state can make enough rice and cotton to supply the world, besides have more oil than Carter had oats.—Lockhart Register.

And she can raise more oats than ever Carter had.

NACOGDOCHES.

Another pleasing chapter upon Nacogdoches, from the pen of Mr. W. B. Jones, appears in the Beaumont Journal of April 3rd as follows:

This little city, at present the head of navigation on the Texas and New Orleans railroad, 120 miles north of Beaumont, is in the center of a fine agricultural country. The justly noted red lands are of great fertility. Many of them have grown crops each year for the past hundred years and are still good, and while they will grow to great perfection all the crops known to Texas the farmers have confined themselves to cotton and corn as the chief staple crop, but have now begun to figure on diversification and canning factories. A little experience along this line will soon awaken them to a realization of the profits in fruits, vegetables and melons, which will place the county in the front ranks of Texas. It seems that the farming class of people are the last to take hold of improvements and betterments, now the order of the day in all other lines of business, an in that connection it is an opportune time for the state to lead the way by finding a way to establish a state experimental farm in every county as free schools to the farmers on improved methods. Progress to our race is obtained mostly by absorption. The scientist may hunt up abstract truths and write volumes on the ways and means of extracting wealth from nature, yet the natural trend of all is to see the fact demonstrated. Then comes faith and a desire to go and do likewise. We are imitative by nature and hence the best lines of education are along the ways that others have trod, so that it is necessary that some should be found to take the lead, to demonstrate the fact, so that the timid will take hold and add works to faith. If the newspapers were to take up the question of state supervision and the establishment of experimental farms as an educational institution to each county, no better work could be done, and the thing would be assured. Knowledge is wealth, but the density of our ignorance becomes manifest when we stack up the things we know against those we don't know. Right here is the great trouble. Ignorance and arrogance are said to be the component parts of dinimite, gives birth to opinions and notions void of reason and understanding, and hence discord. "Civilization begins and ends with the plow." So wrote the late lamented Oram M. Roberts in his book on Texas. Whole chapters could be written on the plow and not exhaust the subject. In a sense it is the motive power that makes the wheels of commerce go round, and by its extensive use the earth is made to yield her bounty in support of its people better and more bountiful than at any other period in the world's history, and if it came to a showdown the man behind the plow would be the last to quit the earth.

There are those who in fancy have pictured a higher civilization, where wealth is slow to accumulate, and first place to brain and muscle. Therefore we tip our hat to the man who sows and reaps, the steady influences of the ground he tills, the sequestered quietude of his life, the close communion with nature enters into a beautiful make up. If the man who holds the world in equipoise adds to its wealth, health, and beauty, and at last is its great balance wheel in trouble, some times, and the sheet anchor of a nation's hopes. The time is now at hand when each day makes it more difficult for the world's great surplus of people to live off the narrow and smaller profits in trade, which will grow less and less as time goes on. We see it now in the more populous centers, where hundreds and thousands of people congregate, allured by the guide and tensil of city life to eke out a miserable existence, doled out to them day by day. It is there that degeneration sets in that works like a cankerous sore, infecting all who come in contact with it; spreading and sapping the sturdy manhood so essential in a struggle for higher ideals, and development. The very surroundings cloud the mind, circumscribe the vision and blunts the morals. So it has come to be reconized, that the master minds in letters, art, sciences and finance are scions of noble country sires whose youth was spent away from contaminating influences and as bare-rooted boys and girls drew life vitality and character from the ground. It has been estimated that the ground surface of Texas would be sufficient to give every human being in the world a town lot 50x150 feet and yet not one out of one hundred acres of the land is cultivated—even in the more populous districts one to ten acres. Just think what a great time it is for those in search of homes to realize what it means to give up the factory, and shop life and secure homes in the country while yet lands are cheap. Compare a town lot is a city to broad acres in the country, and try by any process of figuring to make the town lot equal to even one acre in the country from the standpoint of economic value.

THE SENTINEL is going to try its best to please those who do not like any politics in the paper, but there is no use talking about getting through a campaign without just a little "rag chawing" once in awhile. We have had an overdose of this kind of diet ovselves in the past, but the taste for it has been cultivated up to the point where it would be impossible to swear off all at once. We are going to be good if we can, and if we can't we'll be as good as we can.

CENTER is still talking about the prospects of a railroad just like the question has not been settled. She will make folks think she hasn't got a cinch yet if the papers over their keep on talking in such doubtful terms.

ANOTHER NEW ENTERPRISE.

For the past few days we have noticed that those ever hustling real estate men, Lindsey & Harris, were figuring on some deal, but on approaching them for news we failed to find out just what the proposition was until today. It now develops, however, that they have just closed a deal for 125 acres of the best fruit land in Texas, situated a mile and a half south of the city of Nacogdoches, near the H. E. & W. T. railroad, for the purpose of at once putting same into a commercial orchard. These gentlemen are now closing contracts for the ties and timber on this land, and will have the land fenced and in fine state of cultivation by November next, at which time they will put out 12,000 Mamie Ross and Elberta peach trees, which they have purchased to be delivered on November 1st.

It is the purpose and intention of Messrs. Lindsey & Harris to make this a typical experimental and fruit farm. They will erect a nice house on the premises, wind mill, etc., for irrigation. With an expert gardener, they will utilize about 25 acres in strawberries, tomatoes and other truck, making the 25 acres a small experimental farm.

This farm fronts on both the Spanish Bluff and Procella roads, and will be known as the "Mamie Ross Fruit Farm."

These gentlemen say they intend to demonstrate the fact that fruit and truck can be raised to perfection here and will be a business success.

The friends of Col. D. M. Short will regret to hear of his death, which occurred at Center last Sunday. Col. Short has been among the foremost and most prominent citizens of East Texas for half a century and has served in various positions of trust. GUILD NOTES.

The Guild Preparing for the Coming Handkerchief Bazaar.

Thirteen Guild members met with the president, Mrs. Cox, Monday afternoon and inaugurated the work for the coming handkerchief bazaar. Several committees were appointed and the time set for the Bazaar to be held is the 18th. The doors will be open from 4 o'clock p. m. till late in the evening. There will be no admission fee. Handkerchiefs will be on sale and also refreshments. All are promised a hearty welcome and a pleasant time meeting and greeting friends.

The first handkerchief received for the Bazaar was from Mrs. Stone, of Galveston, and accompanying it were the following lines:

In response to your call, dear friend,

The Holy Church to aid,
The little handkerchief, I send,
By dainty hands were made.

Accept it, with the tender grace
Of the "Windon's Mite," of yore,

And give it humble, lowly place
From an earnest, loving sower.
Much success to your enterprise!
So worthy and so true;

May your church triumphantly rise
And life again renew.

A donation of seven handkerchiefs from Mrs. M. B. Thomas of Birmingham, Ala. also brought a poetic fancy:

A Handkerchief Bazaar!
Oh! Ah!
I comprehend
And thus I send:

A tiny bit of linen sheer,
'Twill help to dry the transient tear,

Which oft times steals along
The line
Of willful beauty's face divine.

This one of silken tissue rare,
Will help conceal the trace of care,

Which gathering years will Leave behind
On all the necks of womankind.

And this by hand, of dainty stitch,
From out the folds of corsage rich,
Will hold our fascinated gage
And fill us with the fine art craze.

And this, a fabric much more cheap,
Will safely hide in pocket deep
To hasten out in time of need,
And prove a worthy friend indeed.

Go films of 'broidity and lace'
Fit each one in your destined place
Of friendship, charity and love
And help us on to heights above.

In the Bazaar will be found handkerchiefs from distant states as well as from friends at home; they have come from every direction and the collection is beautiful. We have endeavored to remember all of our home friends but as the Guild members did not compare lists it is feared some have been too much remembered. We feel grateful to all who are lending a helping hand.

Mr. J. L. Mullens, of Jacksonville, was selected by the association as inspector and leader for the coming season. Mr. Mullens comes highly recommended, and is employed by the railroad company and representative men from this association, but selected by the organization.

The following report was read by secretary showing financial condition of the treasurer up to date:

All members present report tomato plants doing nicely, and are all busy at present putting them in the field. The outlook now for a good crop and fancy prices was never better.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned to meet again first Saturday in May.

COMMUNICATED.

ED. SENTINEL:

Only two more weeks until the candidate are thinned out to "one stalk in the hill." The democracy of the county should try and put in men that will cope with the opposition and ones that have the moral courage to meet their antagonists with the vehemence of a Hercules. An opposition ticket will be put in the field, if all reports are true, but it won't be done until after the primaries. So it behooves the democrats of the county to turn out en masse at the primaries, and after the candidates have been chosen for the respective offices, an honorable clean campaign should be indulged in by not only the candidates but every individual who has a speck of democratic blood tracing through his veins. The saying, "the pops are not dead," is too true for us to be napping. We must put on the "whole armor" and fight until the ides of November. The test is all right, but a better understanding of it should be expressed and should be kept before the people until the primaries are over. The young man who has reached his majority since the last election, will be bothered not a little when he goes up to vote a ticket that says: "I voted for Sayers two years ago," etc., when in fact he had never voted at all. Again, there are very likely a few democrats who have immigrated from other states since the election, who would be confronted with the same obstacle. We must not have anything to hinder a democrat from voting and this assertion may cause a little confusion. Of course, the judge will allow such parties thus prohibited a right to cast their votes, but the idea is, can they conscientiously vote a truth when in fact they never had cast such a vote. Our county has surely enough patriotic democratic voters to elect the nominees. I know that THE SENTINEL will make a whole team in its efforts to defeat the opposition, but it needs help; it needs the help of every democratic voter in the county. It has fought long and hot for democracy and we appreciate what it has done, but we should show our appreciation by showering the till of that institution with the "root of all evil." By so doing we will not only help the democracy of the county but will be helping its only open exponent. Let us bend to the oar, and do our best to pull to the shore.

A DEMOCRAT.

Wednesday at the bureau of engraving and printing in Washington, all the plates roll and dies used in printing gold and silver certificates, postage and revenue stamps, bonds and postal cards during 1901 were loaded early on two big trucks. Although the precaution had been taken to spoil the face of each plate with fire, four strapping employes of the treasury department rode on each truck. A treasure committee rode in a carriage. The procession went to the navy yard foundry where the plates were unceremoniously dumped into one of the furnaces, to come out as pig steel and to be used for ballast for war ships. There were twenty tons of plates, rolls and dies from which were printed last year $200,000,000 in gold and silver certificates of various denominations, and $889,000,000 in postage stamps, besides hundreds of millions of bonds, revenue stamps and postal cards. The engravers are now at work on the rolls, plates and dies for 1903. Those in use now will be destroyed next February.—Pittsburg Gazette.

JUDGE INGRAHAM

Speaks Plainly of Democratic Principles And the Duty of Democrats.

The peerless government of the United States has for its foundation a written compact or agreement, and underlying it as a basic foundation is the principle of each citizen's giving up Part of his individual rights and liberties for the good of the many. If there were but two men upon earth at the same time this principle would apply if they each have equal liberty, and if it is not allowed to apply one or the other would be in control, and the one not in control would be the subject of the other. All political parties are based upon this same principle in order that its members may enjoy a more full and complete liberty and promote the greatest good for the greatest number of its members, and that they may receive greater benefits from their political opinions by acting together for a common purpose, than they possibly can by acting independently. In the government an independent would be one against the government, and if every individual was independent then there would be no government. There can be no independent in politics, because he would be one alone, the very moment he combines with another independent he has organized a political party and the more they enter into the agreement the larger the political and in the same ratio the smaller the independent. It is rumored there will be an independent ticket in the field this fall. Of course, every man has the right to run for any office he wants to, and the right to vote as he pleases and none can interfere with these rights. These are privileges that we are and ought to be proud of, but the wisdom of the years have demonstrated the great truth, that political thought can more easily be chrysalized into political action through political organization than in any other way. I am a believer in the democratic party and the principles it advocates, wanting no office, seeking no preferment, desiring its success and knowing success depends on organization, subscribing to the test given in this county, and only requesting you to close up your organization and stand by your party colors in the near primary and in the election next fall. We will nominate our candidates on the 19th and it is more than probable that we will not get all we want. Some of our choice may not be nominated, but whoever the nominees are they will be the choice of the democracy of Nacogdoches county, and let us one and all support them whoever they may be in the ensuing election without any variability or shadow of turning.

Hoping you will pardon this unasked for letter and wishing all the nominees of the Democratic party of Nacogdoches county may be elected next fall I remain,

Respectfully,
GEO. F. INGRAHAM.

ANCIENT NACOGDOCHES.

The Birth Place of The Republic of Texas.

The Beaumont Journal of the 27th contains another chapter upon the history of Nacogdoches, from the pen of Mr. W. B. Jones, from which the following is an extract:

The history, tradition and legends of Nacogdoches, if written in a book, would substantially be the history of Texas, and part of Mexico, as well as the life of Houston, Rusk, Bean and the early patriots who blazed the way and laid the foundation of the great state as it is today.

As I write, sitting in a room of the most noted and oldest house in the state, the house where the illustrious patriots gathered for counsel and for war, a strange feeling creeps over me, and in my fancy I see those booted and spurred pioneers coming and going, as messengers of war, or rallying to the bugle's call to meet some invading far off Indians, or the Mexican hosts, that rode and marshaled the country over in their vain endeavor to keep back the sturdy Saxon in his westward march. I tip my hat to the awful shades that surrounds us with an impulse to bare my feet, for the ground I tread seems holy ground and the very walls of the old building seem to echo the sound of many voices, the rattle of sabers, the clank of spurs and the bugle's clarion notes, that found lodgment in every crack and cranny during the time that a new world was born and left as a heritage to us and to future generations. There is no spot on the American continent that has witnessed so many stirring scenes. The Alamo was perhaps the most tragic, but in the sacred precincts of this lovely spot the republic of Texas had its birth and was christened in a baptism of fire. Under the shade of many trees in the old country rest the ashes of some of as noble sires as could die, who, when alive, gave vigor and strength to as much patriotism as could live. Peace be unto them; they builded greater than all who wrought before.

AGUINALDO is living comfortably on the banks of the river Pasig, with his wife, children—and mother-in-law. So that is the punishment Uncle Sam is inflicting upon the downfallen chieftain, is it? It is "cruel" all right, but not being "unusual," we suppose is permissible under our constitution.—Jacksonville Banner.

THE SHIPPING SUBSIDY BILL.

The Commoner, W. J. Bryan's paper, published the full text of the ship subsidy bill as it passed congress, and in referring to it editorially says: "A few amendments were accepted by the committee, the following being the most important ones: That contracts made under the act shall not extend beyond July 1, 1920; That not more than five million dollars shall be spent in mail subsidies in any one year before July 1, 1907, and not more than eight millions in any year after that date; that congress reserves the right to amend or repeal the law; and that foreign built ships shall not be subject to registry for the purpose of receiving subsidy. Several important amendments intended to protect the public were voted down.

It is gratifying to know that every democrat, populist and silver republican voted against the bill and scarcely less gratifying to note that six republicans, Allison and Dolliver of Iowa, Proctor and Dillingham of Vermont, and Spooner and Quarrels of Wisconsin, voted with the democrats.

It is estimated that about five millions will be spent on ships now in existence and the amount will be increased if more ships are built. The present expenditure will be about equally divided between the Atlantic and Pacific lines and one company, the International Navigation company, will, according to Senator Vest, receive 73 per cent of the entire amount paid on Atlantic steamers. The senator denies that England subsidizes her freight vessels and asserts that the tramp steamers which have the bulk of the carrying trade have never received aid from the English government. The ship subsidy is not intended for the farmer, laborer or merchant, neither is it intended for the ship-builder. It is intended for a few wealthy ship-owners who have influence enough to secure enormous contributions from the public treasury and they will be expected as a return to contribute to the republican campaign fund. The republican party is adding one more to the list of assessable interests and the taxpayers will contribute indirectly to a corruption fund already so large that the republican committee paid back a considerable sum to the trusts after the last election. Unless the people are very blind to their own interests and very indifferent to what is going on in congress, the republican party will in the coming election suffer severely because of its subserviency to the great incorporations that are so bountifully provided for out of the public treasury.

Johnny on Bullfrogs.

The bullfrog is large, green and warty. He can jump several times his own length. His voice is loud, but not pleasing. The bullfrog is shy and diffident. He builds his nest in damp, swampy places where it is difficult to track him. At the slightest alarm he utters a low plaintive note and immediately seeks refuge in the water. He is a good diver and can swim like a fish except that he does not wiggle, but kicks. There was a frog once that blew himself full of air until he busted like a paper sack. This shows the folly of vanity and self conceit. Oh, my friends, let us endeavor not to be in that manner, but to be good and truthful. Let us remember that life is short and that we must always be up and doing. Some people like bullfrogs to eat, but I would rather have pie.—Johnny, in Saturday Blade.

MRS. SHAW, wife of the noted Texas free thinker, J. D. Shaw, of Waco, is dead.

LUFKIN has let the contract for a ten thousand dollar new school building. Is Lufkin going to lead Nacogdoches?

THE bridge over the ditch in front of the Presbyterian church, corner of Fredonia and Hospital street, is badly out of repair.

THE truck growers are distressed over the delay in the arrival of fertilizers, which is throwing them back in setting out their tomato plants.

THE East Texas Teachers' Association met in Tyler last Saturday. Many valuable papers and interesting talks were made, says the Tyler Courier.

THE Wells-Fargo Express Co. is making a low rate on vegetables from points along the H. E. & W. T. Railroad, for the benefit of the Truck growers.

THE citizens of Kountze have organized a stock company for the publication of a newspaper, which is to be all home print and six column folio.

ON May 3rd next there will be an election for school trustees of the Nacogdoches independent district. It is time for the patrons and voters to begin looking around for the best available material for these important offices. The success of the schools depends as much upon good trustees as teachers. It requires both.

If it is permissible for one who has watched with interest the inevitable, yet regretted, removal of the Old Stone Fort; one who has watched with admiration the brave struggle of the Cum Concilio Club to rebuild it in its historic entirety, to express an opinion, it is briefly this: Ought not the citizens of the town and county to join together in giving assistance to an enterprise for which posterity will thank them? True, the Daughters of the Republic are rendering all the assistance in their power, but even then it is a heavy task for these noble ladies to accomplish unaided. Concerning the rebuilding of the Fort, it has been reported that some ideas have been expressed in favor of rebuilding this historic ruin with the stones alone, using the wood for souvenirs. The sentiment of the people who give thought to this matter is, as far as learned, that the wood be replaced with the stones. Certainly it would look very odd to see the new Old Stone Fort with modern patent door attachments. The charm of the building, its value as a relic, lies as much in those old weather beaten door frames as in the stone. It will not be the original Old Stone Fort with part of the material new. We are sure that finally the citizens will come to the rescue more effectually, the lot will be bought, and the Old Stone Fort, wood and stone both, will stand an object of pride for Nacogdoches, and a monument of triumph to the ladies whose names will go down the years as having saved it entire.

There is no use fretting about who can and who cannot vote. Any person who voted for Sayers at the last election, or who would have voted for him if he had voted at all, may vote in the democratic primaries. Because one did not get to vote at last election will not bar him. Young men who have become of age since last election have a perfect and legal right to vote. Any one who was kept away from the polls, from any cause, who would have voted the democratic ticket has the same right as if he had voted. Don't forget this, and tell it to all others who ask about it.

Isn't it strange that there are no small farmers, or at least very few, engaged in raising of rice? Yet the chances are just as good, the returns just as large and the investment just as safe, or safer, for that crop as for any other. There are thousands of acres of undeveloped rice lands in Orange county lying idle and unproductive which could and should be turned into a source of wealth to the community and to the individual. While welcoming the man who can own and cultivate his hundreds and thousands of acres. It is the small farmer whom we need most,—the men who build homes, churches and schools and create society—Orange Tribune.

ANY BODY can vote in the the democratic primaries who would have voted the democratic ticket at last election if he had voted at all. Philadelphia isn't so sleepy after all. The negro who committed a double murder in that city last Tuesday was tried and sentenced to death last Friday. THE experiment station at Troupe will make extensive experiments in the raising of dewberries and blackberries. There is no trouble raising berries in this section, but it is claimed the varieties now raised do not carry satisfactorily, and the station will endeavor to discover a variety that will stand shipping to Northern markets. —Jacksonville Banner. IT has been decided to build a 100-ton sugar mill on the state farm in Brazoria county, which is cultivated by convicts. The mill is to be completed by October 15th and will cost $263,500. There are 2,000 acres in cane on the farm this year. The state also proposes to build a railroad from the farm to the Brazos river in order to take advantage of water transportation in moving the crop.—Orange Tribune. One million stamps were sold in Chicago last week in one transaction. This is the largest individual sale of stamps on record. They were of the 4 cent and 1 cent denominations and will probably be used in the mail order business. It is to avoid such wholesale use of postage stamps, among other things, that a fourth class pound rate is being considered.
