There's A Good Deal More than Theory In Medicine.

When the medicine comes out of our Prescription Department. We know not only the theory of compounding, but also the practical experience that produces medicine which accomplishes the results expected. Ask any competent physician about this point and you will understand better how important it is. We do the largest Prescription business because we produce the best medicines from Prescriptions. Give us a chance at yours, please. Our Prescription Case is in charge of the only graduate pharmacist in town.

Our Peach Orchards.

Visitors to the nurseries of Prof. F. W. Mally at Garrison report themselves as delighted with what they see of the fine supply of young trees now growing for planting in our county and other points along the line of the H. E. & W. T. Ry. Co. The later part of the season has been very favorable for the growth of June buds and they are growing at a fine rate. While in the city recently the Professor stated that he was not pushing sales much just now owing to the fact that prices are advancing. He proposes to countermand all outstanding prices and quotations on Sept. 1st, and those who do not place their orders by that time will be considered only upon the basis of the market prices ruling at the time their orders are placed. If any of our growers have not taken this matter into serious consideration yet, it will be well to do so at once.

Letters either to Houston or Garrison will receive prompt attention.

To Our Friends and Patrons.

Our Mr. Vondersmith is now in New York. He will also visit all other eastern and northern markets, buying a complete line of fall and winter goods, which will arrive in ample time for these seasons and which we will be able to place before you at prices and qualities unsurpassed by any one. We will buy your cotton, wool and hides, cash or trade.

We have just remodeled our store and will carry a larger and more complete stock than heretofore. Please give us a call.

His Wife is Sick.

Capt. Jno. P. Davidson received the following telegram this morning, which explains itself:

"Big Sandy, Aug. 19.—Notify Rev. R. E. Fletcher that his wife is sick at Big Sandy with fever. Come."

It is not known exactly where Mr. Fletcher is, but he was at Zavalla the past week.

Albert Brewer, of Traweek, was in the city yesterday.

ANOTHER COMMERCIAL ORCHARD.

Organized Yesterday With a Capital of Thirty Thousand Dollars.

Thursday's Daily. A meeting of a number of leading and enterprising citizens of Nacogdoches and Garrison, including Sam H. Dixon and Prof. F. W. Mally, was held in the office of Col. B. S. Wettermark in this city yesterday afternoon. The object of the meeting was to perfect the organization of the Fitzie Hill Orchard Co., which was done with a capital of thirty thousand dollars. W. Y. Garrison was elected president, R. H. Lee vice president and Sam H. Dixon secretary and treasurer. The company intend planting out five hundred acres in fruit trees at Fitzie as soon as practicable, and will increase the acreage as fast as possible. The altitude at Fitzie is 800 feet above the sea level, which it is claimed adds greatly to the especial adaptability of the land there to fruit culture.

Died.

At Martinsville Sunday, August 17, 1902, at 7 a. m. Dr. J. D. Martin aged 88 years. So passes after a long and useful life, one of the best known and best loved men in this part of Texas.

Dr. Martin was a distinguished physician. He resided for a few years in Nacogdoches but most of his life has been spent at Martinsville which was named in his honor. He was unusually admired for his unswerving integrity, and was a man of wide influence. Sorrow touched him very nearly in his later days. The death of his daughter Ida, in the bright bloom of her youth, was a shock from which he never recovered, and only a few short weeks ago the wife of his youth slipped away to the land of the leal. Weary with the cares of life and the weight of over four score years, his strength failed and he has gone to join his loved ones in the unknown land. Dr. Martin leaves a large family of grown sons and daughters to mourn his loss and revere his memory, and innumerable friends who remember his example and to whom he is an honored memory. The last time he was in Nacogdoches, he spoke of his death saying that he knew it was only a question of days. He faced it fearlessly as a brave man should, settling all his business affairs and leaving nothing to be done after his death. He died in the fullness of years promised to good men. The world is better for such men as he having lived in it, and the good he has done will live after him. Requiescat in pace.

Floyd Matthews, of San Augustine, is in the city.

ANOTHER JAIL DELIVERY.

J. C. Orr Made His Escape Last Night.

From Friday's Daily. J. C. Orr, who was jailed last week on a charge of criminal assault, and who was remanded without bail upon examining trial before Justice of the Peace W. D. Peevey last Tuesday, made his escape from jail last night through the same old route by which so many prisoners have made their escape during the past two or three years. Orr prized off a bolt, or grate bar and made his exit from the cell in which he was kept, which is the only one that was considered at all safe, and then made his way easily to the outside of the jail through the openings already made that have been left unrepaired so long.

The offense for which Orr was imprisoned is a serious one, and he is doubtless making good use of his time to make good his escape. In the meantime the "sleuth hounds" are on his trail and he will have to play it very smart if he is not back in custody within a short time.

There were several other prisoners in the jail at the time but none attempted to escape.

Died.

At his residence on Fredonia Hill last night, August 17, at 10:15 o'clock, Mr. Rufus Green. Mr. Green had moved to Nacogdoches from Attoyac with his family less than a month ago. He had hardly gotten settled in his new home when death claimed him, leaving a devoted wife and three children to mourn the irreparable loss. The funeral will be held at Black Jack, where the family has a host of friends, and will be at 5 o'clock this afternoon. THE SENTINEL joins in the sympathy of all for the bereaved family.

Married at Swift.

Mr. Leak Y'Barbo and Miss Laura Mora were married at the residence of Gabe Mora Sunday morning, Esq. J. J. Shirley performing the ceremony. The bride and groom left at once for Dallas on their bridal trip, and were accompanied as far as Shreveport by the waiters. Mr. Will Mora and Miss Dora Y'Barbo. Mr. Y'Barbo is one of the leading young men of our community, while his bride is a most charming young lady, highly respected by all who know her. We wish them a happy life, and may their troubles be few. A FRIEND.

SHOOTING AT STERNE.

John Treese and Porter Slay Empty Their Guns at Each Other.

Monday's Daily. A shooting scrape at long range took place yesterday afternoon at Carraway's mill near Sterne between John Treese and Porter Slay. The shooting is the result of an old grudge. Treese used a shotgun and Slay had a Winchester and six shooter. It is said six or eight shots were fired, three shots from Treese's gun taking effect in Slay's side ranging from his shoulder to his thigh. The two men, it is said, were shooting at each other at a distance of about eighty yards. None of Slay's shots took effect. The latest report is that Slay is seriously wounded but his wounds are not considered dangerous.

Runaway.

Died.

At Melrose, August 18th, 1902, Miss Suckie Teutsch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Teutsch. Miss Teutsch had been very ill with protracted fever for several weeks. While her death was not unexpected it was none the less a severe shock to her devoted parents, and her large circle of friends, among which she was a universal favorite. The funeral took place at Chireno, this morning at 11 o'clock. THE SENTINEL extends its heartfelt sympathy to the family in their deep grief.

THE poll tax amendment to the constitution ought to go through without trouble now. The pops, under their new misnomer of the allied peoples' party, have denounced it.

"WHERE will the Santa Fe go from Center?" is a problem that is keeping many ambitious East Texas towns on the guess right now. The road is doubtless open to conviction on the subject and will wait to examine the bids.

LUFKIN got her first bale two days ahead of Nacogdoches, and paid a good deal more for it, and the Tribune is in ecstasy. But Nacogdoches got seven bales inside of twenty four hours, which helps some to offset the chagrin in having our frisky little neighbor get ahead of us.

SMITH COUNTY is "all tore up" on the prohibition question and the woods over there are full of orators denouncing and defending whiskey in the regulation style. The fate of the saloons in that county will be decided on August 29th. A saloonless Tyler almost staggers the imagination.

THE democratic congressional convention for the Seventh district met in Galveston August 14th and nominated Hon. A. W. Gregg of Palestine, for Congress as previously instructed by the primaries. Under the primary system these conventions, formerly so full of interest and unknown quantities, have become little more than mere automatic recording machines and it would be less expensive and the work would be as well done if they were held by mail.

CHEROKEE county justly exults over the fact that she shipped more than one half the fruit and tomatoes that went out of Texas during the past season; but she cannot reasonably expect her supremacy to last, now that Nacogdoches has entered the field. On peaches Cherokee may continue to lead, although we do not concede the point, but in the matter of tomatoes—we make no unseemly brag, but old Nacogdoches will be satisfied with nothing less than the head of the procession a year or two hence.

THE editor of the Henderson Times seems to be worried about religious problems and is quoting Paley to confound his enemies. Apparently, some peculiar sect whose doctrines are offensive to him, is seeking the scalp of the philosopher of the Times and he is delivering some knockout blows in return. The country editor should always be a truly good and pious man—and he generally is, but don't "rile" him by insisting that he shall be a religious specialist and a champion of your doxy as against the other fellow's. Stay with 'em, Brother Milner.

THE editor of THE SENTINEL acknowledges the receipt of an invitation from the Beaumont Labor Council to participate in the Labor Day parade and picnic to be given by all the union organizations in Beaumont on September 1.

MR. COOPER will be renominated for Congress in Nacogdoches on Wednesday, August 27th, and he is sure to give the convention a speech that will warm democratic blood and furnish all needed ammunition for campaign thunder. Samuel Bronson is one of the admittedly strong men in the lower house of Congress and his regular biennial "walk-over" in this district shows how well his constituents are satisfied with him.

HERE is a pointer for the farmers of Nacogdoches county, from the Atlanta Journal:

Already the first bales of the South's new cotton crop are beginning to come in. And already the speculators are beginning to misrepresent conditions and give out informations and opinions with a view to depressing the market.

And here is a chunk of horse sense in the same connection from the same source.

The farmers would certainly be in a more advantageous position if they could make the spinners hungry for their cotton, instead of themselves displaying such hunger for the spinners' money.

That's it exactly. The best way to get a good price for your stuff is to make the consumers hungry for it, and the best way to make them hungry is not to glut the market.

It would pay the farmers of Texas to keep in touch with Col. E. S. Peters, president of the Texas Cotton Growers' association, on the price and prospects of the staple, for he is thoroughly well informed on the subject and knows how to get the best price for his cotton. A few days ago he gave out the following which every cotton farmer who reads THE SENTINEL would do well to carefully consider:

With the close of this month—August—the cotton year of 1901-1902 will pass into history with the shortest supply of spot cotton in many years. In fact we are almost facing a cotton famine. The speculators are industriously making the most of the early cotton that is coming into market and leading the spinner to believe that he can obtain sufficient from this new cotton to bridge him over until a new crop is on the market. This is based upon the hypothesis that the cotton farmer will follow the same policy of rushing all his cotton on the market and auctioning it off. And this is what is holding prices down, and why September and October prices are 1 cent below the spot cotton to-day. I would urge every cotton farmer to abandon the auction system, which you well know forces the sale of any commodity below its real value, and adopt an up-to-date business method of marketing the crop; i. e. slowly as the needs demand, and not glut the market and force the price down. Not only would this maintain the present values, but would tend to securing to the cotton grower a fair price for his cotton.

DOWN in Wharton, Bay City, Eagle Lake and other prosperous little cities of the Colorado valley, so greatly benefited by the ability and enterprise of Dunovant and Eldridge, the citizens are mourning the tragedy which resulted in the death of the former and the imprisonment of the latter on a charge of murder. This is all well enough as a matter of sentiment, but why do not these same citizens whose loss is so great, resolve amid their mourning that the deep-rooted evil which led to the needless tragedy, shall be destroyed, before there are other victims, by the overwhelming force of an indignant and thoroughly aroused public sentiment? Why do they not resolve to disarm, as the law of their State commands them to do, and no longer present to the world the revolting spectacle of a professedly civilized people settling their disputes by the bloody and senseless code of the savage? Let their mourning in this case bear fruit in the shape of an organized and determined public sentiment which shall drive the pistol totter out of business and make him a civilized man. Otherwise they mourn to no purpose and go their ways like unthinking cattle to let the curse still ravage them.

THE country along the line of the H. E. & W. T. Ry., just now coming into long delayed prominence, would be greatly benefited by a proper write-up in book form of its extraordinary advantages and resources, followed by the wide circulation of the book, and the following newspaper dispatch from Houston, of August 13th, indicates that the work is in progress:

Wm. Doherty, general passenger agent of the Houston East and West Texas, is engaged in the preparation of a 60-page pamphlet, descriptive of the fruit and vegetable region of East Texas along the Gulf Air Line. The book is written in response to numerous enquiries concerning fruit and truck growing from all sections of the country. It will contain full and complete information concerning the subject matter and will be liberally and handsomely illustrated. Mr. Doherty's book will be ready for distribution by September 15.

A NEW and apparently efficacious remedy for the bite of a rattlesnake has been discovered out in Erath county. The Stephenville Empire tells about it as follows: "On last Thursday morning when the little nine-year old girl of Mr. A. L. Porter who lives on Richardson creek, had gone into the smoke house on some errand and upon approaching a barrel that was setting upon some rocks off the ground, a very large rattlesnake bit her on the foot. The snake had ten rattles and a button. They promptly dispatched his snake-ship, corded the child's leg, placed her foot in a pan and covered it with kerosene oil and sent for Dr. Holt. When the doctor left, five hours after she was bitten, the child had never felt any effects from the bite. We are forced to believe that kerosene is an antidote for snake bites.

MR. BRYAN has again confronted his enemies and silenced malicious criticism from innumerable sources by authorizing the distinct announcement that he would not be a candidate for the presidential nomination next year. We are glad to believe, however, that he will take a very influential part in saying who the nominee will be.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT will only stop at Dallas and San Antonio during his contemplated trip to Texas next fall. This will be good as far as it goes, but will give the President a very inadequate idea of the State. Texas is the largest concrete proposition in this republic and its largeness is by no means confined to its superficial area and its cotton crop.

NEAR Sulphur Springs this season T. F. Gafford got $1500.00 for the Elberta peaches raised on fifteen acres of average land. With twenty times more labor and worry, no boll weevils and rain at the right times in the right quantity he might perhaps have raised enough cotton on those fifteen acres to have brought him three or four hundred dollars. Consequently, brethren, let us stick to cotton.

PAUL BREMOND used to say that he was inspired by supernatural agency to build the H. E. & W. T. railroad, but he was laughed at. If he could come back to earth now and witness the splendid development along the once "baby line" he fathered, he could reaffirm his inspiration theory and find more believers than he did the first time.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN, the Jupiter Tonans of America, had an interview with Emperor William in Berlin recently and got his measure taken by that young potentate in a way he didn't expect. After the interview William gave it out in substance that J. Pierp's assumption that he was "the whole thing" here on earth made him distinctly tired, especially in view of the fact that he, William, was also on earth and had a well fixed habit of regarding himself in about that proportion to the rest of mankind. The emperor went on to say that Morgan was really a commonplace man without any large or philosophical conception of the enormous power supposed to be controlled by him and was nothing more than a highly successful money grubber on a big scale who was ignorantly monkeying with forces that would overthrow him sooner or later. Other people are also beginning to suspect that Mr. Morgan in his conquest of the earth has absorbed more than he can digest and that, like other conquerors in other fields in times ago, success has made him reckless and he is riding to a fall. Speaking from the purely personal point of view our chief objection to Mr. Morgan is that we are not in his class financially, and if we were it is quite probable that we would have a poor opinion of the emperor's opinion of the American colossus. As it is we suspect that Billy is about half right.

THE ridiculous yarn is going the rounds of Texas press that Jesse James, killed by Bob Ford, nearly twenty years ago in Missouri, is nevertheless very much alive and attended the last Confederate reunion at Dallas. If this is true, old Mrs. Samuels, the mother of Jesse, who saw him in his coffin and has been guarding his grave in morbid fear of grave robbers for many weary years, should be informed of the fact so that she may cease her unnecessary vigilance and get a much needed rest.

IT was beginning to get fashionable even among a good many democrats to belittle William J. Bryan as a gent who should go way back and sit down until he was called for, but the fashion has suddenly ceased. Mr. Bryan has been over in "the enemy's country" recently on a speech-making tour, and in unemotional, gold standard New England he was everywhere received with marked enthusiasm and listened to by immense audiences. Bryan stock is manifestly going up again, and those who know the man and his tremendous vitality and courage also know that he must be reckoned with for many years to come as a great force in the democratic party.

SOMETIMES the faithful and long suffering newspaper man comes into his reward while he yet abides in the flesh. For twenty years past Alonzo Scurlock has conducted the Chronicle at Cleburne in Johnson county, and made it an excellent paper, and now he has retired, says the Johnson County Review, "with a neat competency, to enjoy the remainder of his days with his family, his Shetland ponies, Belgian hares, fine chickens, etc." A veteran editor, retiring to end his virtuous days amid peaceful bucolic surroundings, is a picture of calm delight and philosophic content to make a nerve-wrecked plutocrat in all his gairish glory and eager striving for more, more, more, seem the very genius of misery by comparison. There are compensations in life after all, and when we reach the earthly paradise of our Elberta peach orchard and profitable tomato patch some years hence we will be all the happier for the recollection of these strenuous days of the newspaper treadmill.

THEY say that the Scotch pray for a good conceit of themselves. It is a good thing to pray for. Without an abiding confidence in our merit, our capability and in others' good opinion of us, we can accomplish nothing. There are, however, two ways of having a good opinion of ourselves. The first way is, having this opinion, to go after every good thing in sight on the principle that we either deserve it or are smart enough to get it; and the other way is to calmly wait for others to recognize our merit, and recognizing, to reward it. It is needless to remark that the first of these plans is all right; the second all wrong. Nacogdoches is justified in her good conceit of herself. Her confidence in her ability to do and to dare has never been misplaced. But it will never do to rest on what we have accomplished and adopt the second plan. The railroads we want will not come this way because the city has nice people residing herein or hereabouts. A complete system of fire protection, including a ten inch main, will not spring into existence because it is a God-fearing and Christian community and ought not to be burnt out. Uncle Sam is not going to send a tobacco expert here uninvited to build us houses and raise us tobacco just because the soil is suitable. All these things we can have, but we have to go after them. "God gie us a gude conceit o' oursel's." The kind that makes us know that we have energy and brains, industry and push enough to get what we want, and then get out and hustle till the prize is won.

His Aunt Dying at Waco.

The following special dispatch to the Houston Chronicle of August 13th, from Waco, will be of interest to our readers because the venerable lady referred to is the aunt of County Assessor R. A. Hall, of this city. Mr. Hall is the grandson of the distinguished statesman who succeeded Sam Houston as governor of Tennessee when the latter so suddenly and mysteriously resigned the office and sought the wilds of the west to begin his life over:

Waco, Aug. 13th.—Mrs. Mary B. Cassidy, aged 84 years, is in practically a dying condition in this city. She is the mother of W. A. Cassidy, a prominent abstract man, and belongs to one of the old Tennessee families.

Mrs. Cassidy is a daughter of General William Hall, of Sumner county, Tennessee, and is the last living member of this illustrious and long-lived family.

General Hall was for 35 years United States Senator from Tennessee, and was lieutenant governor of Tennessee when Governor Sam Houston resigned and came to Texas, filling out the unexpired term of the noted Houston.

Mrs. Cassidy's husband has been dead for more than twenty years, and she has lived with her son, W. A. Cassidy.

How to Save Them.
 The arbor vitae shrubs in and about Nacogdoches are infested with a very peculiar insect. Their house looks like a small Indian club, covered with twigs of arbor vitae. It is lined with a silken web and the worm inside can move it anywhere he wants. A specimen was sent to Prof. F. W. Mally, who is president of the East Texas Orchard and Garden Co., Ltd. of Houston, for identification. Prof. Mally promptly wrote a most kind and interesting letter, giving not only the name of the insect, but the remedy, and we quote from it for the benefit of owners of shrubbery. He says: "The insects you enclose are well known pests of the evergreens found in Texas, especially of the arbor vitae. They are popularly known as the southern bag worm, (Thyridopterix ephemeraeformis.) They often become so numerous as to defoliate the tree and you will do well to carefully hand pick all you can find and burn them, or else spray the trees well with a solution of 2 lbs. arsenate of lead in 50 gals. water. The best and cheapest way however, is to have the trees hand picked and the bags burned." Prof. Mally went on to say that the specimens reached him in good condition, which was unusual, as about half the specimens sent reach him in a terrible condition. The entomological and agricultural societies in Texas are doing so much good with their investigations and are so obliging about answering questions that it seems a pity not to take the small amount of trouble necessary to insure specimens sent them reaching their destination in good condition. The first requisite is to put what you are sending in a small pasteboard box, never put specimens in an envelope, the postmaster's stamp destroys it. Second, pack it so it won't rattle around in the box, (a scrap of cheese cloth will pack beetles or cocoons nicely.) plant specimens can be put in moss or cotton, anything so they won't shake. Any variety of moth or butterfly should be pinned firmly to a piece of cork fastened to the bottom of the box. These few points remembered will get specimens inquired about in recognizable shape, and some time a timely question may save a crop.

A gang of expert budders have been working in Prof. F. W. Mally's nurseries at Garrison, Lufkin and Hulen the past ten days and are still at work. They have been putting in about fifteen to twenty thousand buds per day to supply contracts for fruit trees in Nacogdoches and vicinity. There is a big rush on and prices are steadily advancing. The proprietor is making special prices to Truck Growers associations, and on car lots now while the budding season is yet on. Write him at once for special prices this month. Address him either at Garrison or Houston, Texas. wlf

FRIDAY'S LOCALS

Enlo Miller, from San Augustine, is here today.

J. A. Pye, of Tolver, with his two daughters, is in the city today trading.

T. K. Rayner, the postmaster at Decoy, was in town yesterday. He is preparing to erect a gin and put up a store at Decoy. A move is also on foot to consolidate three school communities and build a large, substantial school house at that place, with fine prospects of success.

R. A. Green, of Melrose, was in town today. He says a fine rain fell at Melrose Wednesday night.

Mr. Latham, a merchant of Mahl, was in the city on a business visit today.

John W. Lewis, of La Nana, is in the city.

Sam Rider hauled out a big lot of machinery yesterday for his new gin at Mahl, which he will have in operation in a few weeks.

Messrs. M. Martin and Henderson Coulter are in the city today from Ironosa.

Rev. Jno. N. Wilson, of Melrose, was here today. He is assisting Tax Assessor R. A. Hall with the assessor's rolls.

Miss Lena Justice left for Martinsville yesterday, where she will spend a week.

Mr. R. L. Reed has just returned from Willis. He says the boll weevils have made that part of the country look pretty bad.

Hon. W. M. Imboden is in the city. He is on his way to Hemphill on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roquemore left for Lufkin this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kuhne returned to Nacogdoches last night. They have been visiting in Palestine for the past three weeks.

Rev. S. F. Baucom returned from Cold Springs yesterday. He says that on account of sickness the meeting closed Wednesday night, with four accessions to the church, three by baptism and one by letter.

KIDNEY CURE.

There is no disease so insidious, so slow but sure, as kidney disease, or so wide-spread. The symptoms are so slight as to generally escape notice.

The first indications appear in the urine, with varied effects. The quantity may be increased or decreased; it is likely to be highly colored and scalding; it may be pale or thin, or thick and milky with a sediment. Later on more pronounced symptoms will be present, such as dizziness, blood in the urine, with marked bladder and urinary disorders.

Poisonous waste matter is collected by the blood from all parts of the system and carried to the kidneys, where it is separated and cast out through the urine. The kidneys deal with the blood only during a nourishment therefrom. Hence, if the blood is bad the kidneys are not only overworked, but underfed. How necessary is it, therefore, that the purity and vitality of the blood should be maintained. It is plain why the great blood purifier and strengthener—Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic—has been successfully used in treating kidney diseases and in preventing same. In purifying the blood the kidneys are greatly relieved, while, at the same time, new strength and vitality are given these organs. The following letter tells a very old story:

PINE KNOX, KY., June 25, 1902.
 Dr. Harter, Medicine Co., Dayton, O.
 GENTLEMEN: I had a severe case of typhoid fever six years ago which left my kidneys in bad order. I have tried a number of remedies and taken treatment from doctors, but Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has done me more good than everything else.

C. CORDELL,
 Merchant and Mine Operator.

There are thousands of just such cases as the above that are treated without results because they are wrongly treated. Mr. Cordell's condition resulted from an exhausting fever; the kidneys, as well as the rest of the system, had been wasted by disease. No wonder Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic promptly cured, because it purified and enriched the blood, and such blood carried new strength and vitality directly to the kidneys and to all the organs.

A New State of "Grand Old Texas."

Commercial fruit and vegetable growing is making a new State of "Grand Old Texas" and filling the pockets of our people with hard cash. There is no country on the globe capable of sustaining greater animal life than that portion of Texas known as Central East Texas. The H. E. & W. T. Ry. traverses this section. All along its territory commercial orchards are being planted and large acreage grown in vegetables. During this season nearly a hundred cars of tomatoes were shipped over this road to outside markets beside the many thousand crates shipped by express. In many instances the grower, received as much as $200.00 per acre for their crop. The facilities for handling the output of the orchard and garden are unsurpassed. The lands along the H. E. & W. T. Ry. are low in price and can be secured on terms most favorable to the home builder. The country is well drained, well watered and healthful and is being rapidly settled up by a thrifty and progressive population from every section of the country. If you desire to secure a home for your loved ones where all the cereal crops are grown, where fruits and vegetables flourish and stock of all kinds thrives, do not fail to write for full information to Sam H. Dixon, Passenger and Immigration Agent of the H. E. & W. T. Ry., Houston, Texas.

You Know What You Are Taking
 When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, No pay. 5c.

Estray Notice.
 In compliance with law and upon the return of J. W. Byrd, County Commissioner for Precinct No. 1, Nacogdoches county, Texas, I hereby give notice that there has been found running at large, and strayed, the owner of which is unknown, one bay mare about 5 or 6 years old, about 11 or 12 hands high, branded thus T on left hip, said animal left in care of J. H. Pyburn, living 5 1/2 miles south of Nacogdoches. If not legally proven away by the owner thereof within twenty days from the date hereof, the same will be advertised and said commissioner will proceed to sell the same according to law. Dated, Nacogdoches, Texas, this 6th day of Aug, 1902. E. M. WEEKS, County Clerk
 By D. J. Ivey, Deputy.

ELDRIDGE, the slayer of Capt. Dunovant, on a S. A. & A. P. passenger train west of Houston, was admitted to bail in the sum of $25,000. He furnished the bond without trouble.

THE indications are that the republicans will need a congressman from Texas if they can get him. The democratic prospects for capturing the next House are growing steadily brighter.

THE President has appointed General Fred Grant to command the department of Texas and the appointment will be entirely satisfactory to the people of the State. The General saw his first soldiering in Texas at old Fort Griffin 25 years ago, and he's a gentleman, to boot.

THE tragic death of Millionaire Charles Fair and his young wife while "scorching" on their automobile along a country road in France at the rate of sixty-two miles an hour, has given a great shock to the "400" in this country. Breaking records in automobile races is a favorite sport of American rich people abroad, but when it involves breaking their necks also it will cease to be so popular.

THE famous Boer generals, De Wet, De Lary and Botha, were received in England last week like conquering heroes rather than defeated enemies. England shows her good sense in thus endeavoring to conciliate the gallant Dutchmen and make them loyal subjects, but her methods were not always thus. She would have tried Washington for treason and hung him without ceremony had he failed in his rebellion against George III and gone back to her shores a defeated leader.

THE coarse abuse of Mr. Bryan, a plain private citizen and a country editor, by the republican press of late is creating so much sentiment in his behalf that his subscription list is growing like a green bay tree and his opinions are being more widely quoted than ever. The truth is that Mr. Bryan's unrelenting hostility to the trusts and the tariff that spawns them is making itself felt in the east as well as in the west, and hence the venomous abuse he is receiving from the trust and tariff press.

A FEW miles out from Denison on a certain tract of land large fissures in the earth have opened and smoke issues in considerable quantities from them, indicating mysterious subterranean fires on an extensive scale. The attention of Bro. Murray, of the Denison Gazetteer, who does not believe in a hot hereafter for sinners, is respectfully called to these portentous signals right at his back door, so to speak. They may or may not have a peonitory meaning of a theological character, but let him pause and reflect on the possibilities of the situation ere it be too late.

A GREAT WORK WELL DONE.

It is only during the few years past that the railroad systems of the South have realized their opportunities in the way of developing the country along their lines, but within comparatively recent time, (in this section especially), they have become the very largest factors in stimulating immigration and otherwise helping on the growth of the country. In former years it was not so and the railroad people confined themselves strictly to the transportation business. But we have changed all that, and conspicuous in the change is the H. E. & W. T. Ry., connecting the far Southwest with the East by way of Shreveport. For years and years the line passed through the wilderness of East Texas with its riches all unrespected and a thousand opportunities for fortune going to waste. It is so no longer. The energetic policy of the company has introduced marvelous activities all along its line and the change is beyond description within reasonable length. The crowded world needed just such a country as this slumbering wilderness of pine and hardwood forest along the line of the H. E. & W. T. Ry. and was knocking at its doors for admittance. The Company was aroused to its opportunity and although it didn't own an acre of land along its lines, that land was there, rich, fruitful and unoccupied, and an immigration policy to people it was determined on. The outcome was the establishment of the immigration department of the H. E. & W. T. Ry. on the 10th day of July, 1900, with Sam H. Dixon at its head. Mr. Dixon is now so well known in East Texas that his name is a household word, but it is not out of place to say that before his appointment to this position he had already a statewide reputation as a man intimately identified with the agricultural interests of the State and an expert in all that related to its best material development. He is full of energy, knowledge of East Texas and quick appreciation of opportunities and since he has been the immigration agent of the "Little Giant" line he has made a record of which he has a right to be proud. The development of the country along the line since his appointment has been wonderful and he and Mr. Doherty, the assistant passenger agent of the road, are perhaps doing more for the upbuilding of this part of East Texas than any other force. From Houston to Shreveport we all realize that such a mighty impulse is overturning old conditions and bringing in men and money to develop a comparatively primeval country, and it is simple justice to say that the H. E. & W. T. Ry. Co., through the immediate agency of Sam Dixon and Mr. Doherty, has wrought this great change. Until within the last two years we knew nothing about tomatoes, potatoes and peaches as a money crop and relied on cotton to bring in all the money we had to use during the year. Not so now. The spirit of diversification has taken hold of our people and we are building up a new source of profit in our farming life that is destroying old traditions and increasing prosperity in other avenues of activity. Under this new light lands comparatively without value have increased ten fold in value, and all the talk now is how we can put in great peach orchards and big tomato farms. Let us confess the truth that the greater part of the new spirit is directly due to the immigration departments of the railroad companies, and let us be glad to recognize the fact that the H. E. & W. T. is earnest and eager to follow up its work to make the country along its line a vegetable garden, well settled with the best class of farmers and bringing in large sums of money to our markets every year.

A good start has been made and here is the proof: During this season, Nacogdoches shipped of tomatoes, 28 carloads, of potatoes 1 carload; Lukin, tomatoes, 10; potatoes, 1; Garrison, tomatoes, 9; Paxton, tomatoes, 7; Tenaha, tomatoes, 7; Appleby, tomatoes, 3; Joaquin, tomatoes, 3; Shepherd, tomatoes, 1; Livingston, potatoes, 2; Cleveland, potatoes, 2; Keithville, peaches, 12. Total, tomatoes, 76; potatoes, 6; peaches, 12.

In addition to this, the immigration department of the road has within the past two years located between 600 and 700 families along its line, established three large commercial orchards and three canning factories, with quite a number of other industrial enterprises in view. From letters already received, this department feels sure that at least five hundred families from other parts of the country will settle along the line of the road during the coming year.

Now let it be recollected that never before this season was there a carload of peaches or tomatoes shipped from any station along this line, and that next season the shipment will at least be doubled. Verily the immigration and passenger department of the H. E. & W. T. Ry. is doing a great work for this section.

THAT man, John W. Gates, plutocrat, plunger and all-round gambler, great in nothing and lucky in all things, is a mighty bad example to the young men of this country who rebel against the slow and plodding methods of their fathers and want to make money quickly without working for it. It is only a matter of time, unless he mends his ways, until Gates will hit the ceiling with a crash that will make an end of him, but meanwhile thousands of youngsters, dazzled by his luck, are taking on his habits to the best of their small abilities, and he is doing more harm in that direction than he will ever be able to repair.

THE new one cent afternoon daily in Houston seems to have hooked on to its neighbor, the Chronicle, as a permanent text to preach from. It has not yet reached the "reptile contemporary" stage, but seems to be headed in that direction.

THE Beaumont gushers have ceased to gush and the oil business down there will in consequence be put on a much more definite and satisfactory basis.

SOMEBODY should tell old State Press of the Gal-Dal News that Texas girls of the red headed variety are not the only peaches in the orchard. There are others.

THE New York gossip of the Houston Chronicle speaks of Russell Sage admiringly as the "grand old fellow," and the editor of the Chronicle in the same issue flays the old miser alive and gives him a terrific and well deserved roast for the infinitesimal smallness of his soul.

THE enterprising reporters of the Galveston press are building railroads into the Island City nowadays at a rate which promises to put Galveston easily in the lead as a railroad center. They have constructed both the Rock Island and Frisco into their town.

THERE seemed to be something fishy in the story to the effect that Little Alfonso, the boy king of Spain, has commenced to persecute and abuse his faithful and devoted mother, and it now turns out to be a cruel Carlist lie circulated to injure the monarchy. Alfonso is a good little boy with the sweetest and best of mothers, and he would deserve a most terrible spanking every day in the year if he should ever fail in love and respect for her.

ONE D. R. Burow, of De Witt county valiantly announces that he will enter the lists against Geo. F. Burgess for congress and spend every cent he has in an effort to win out. George Burgess is one of the bright young statesmen Texas has given to the country, whose congressional career has been a distinct success and the people of his district will keep him where he is just as long as he wants the job. Mr. Burow should have a heart to heart talk with the Hon. Walter Jones, of Galveston, before he spends himself and all his money in an effort to down Burgess.

ONE of the most useful men the South has produced since the civil war, Col. W. A. Hemphill, founder of the Atlanta Constitution, died in Atlanta last Sunday. He has been for thirty years past a conspicuously potent force in regenerating the defeated section he fought for most gallantly in Lee's army, and the splendid growth of nearly all the old Southern States is largely due to forces aroused and activities energized and inspired by the wise words and brave example of this great Georgia newspaper man. He and his partner, Henry Grady, preached a gospel through the Constitution that carried hope and renewed purpose among the people all through Georgia and her sister states, and while he lacked the picturesque elements of Grady's personality he was hardly less useful in carrying out their combined ideas.

I am ready to weigh your Cotton at my old stand. Thanking you for past favors and hope to receive a continuance.

THE contract for the construction of the Galveston sea wall has been awarded to Isaac Heffron, of that city, whose bid was $1,068,066.13. This bid calls for sandstone as the material to be used, but it will be changed to granite if the county commissioners require it.

OVER in Georgia the nomination for governor is seeking somebody to accept it, but it has been successfully dodged thus far. Carrying the party banner through a lifeless campaign to certain defeat is not the kind of job a man would naturally hanker for.

THE first bale of cotton of the season in Texas always comes in for unusual honors and a fancy price. A similar distinction should be conferred upon the first crate of peaches or tomatoes, for getting to market early with these products makes a big difference in the profits of the season.

WE must become a nation of rice eaters if our new coast country industry is to flourish as it should. Rice should be a staple article of food in Texas homes, and those who prepare it for the table should learn some of the many new ways in which it can be made a most appetizing and nutritious diet.

THE pops have their "allied people's" ticket in the field. Now let the republics trot out theirs and see if the two combined can make any impression on the far-famed "brutality" of the Texas democratic majority. Sam Lanham would doubtless be glad of an opposition strong enough to put a little snap into the campaign.

THE one-cent afternoon daily has arrived in both Houston, Texas, and Atlanta, Georgia. It remains to be seen if it has arrived to stay. It takes a very large population of newspaper readers in a community to make a newspaper self-supporting on that slender basis. At the North the one cent daily is a success; at the South it is still a problem.

A FEW representatives of the discouraged remnants of the old populist party of Texas met in State convention at the Fort Worth a few days ago and in a half hearted sort of way concluded to rechristen the party and put out a State ticket. It is now the allied peoples party and the ticket nominated is as follows: Governor, J. M. Mallett of Johnson. Lieutenant governor, J. H. L. Bonner of Smith. Attorney general, T. J. McMinn of Bexar. Treasurer, Buck Barry of Bosque. Controller, J. M. Perdue of Upshuar. Land commissioner, M. C. Granbury of Travis. Superintendent of instruction, Prof. Collier of Callahan. Railroad commissioner, E. P. Alsbury of Harris.

THE ANCIENT CURSE OF TEXAS.

Monday night at an early hour in the ladies' coach of a San Antonio and Aransas Pass train coming into Houston, about fifty miles west of the city, Capt. William Dunovant, a wealthy and enterprising citizen of Eagle Lake, was shot to death by W. T. Eldridge, vice president and general manager of the Cane Belt road and former business associate of Capt. Dunovant. The murdered man was just entering the car when Eldridge saw him, whipped out his pistol and commenced shooting. Dunovant fell mortally wounded as the result of one of the shots and to make sure of his victim Eldridge beat him pitilessly over the head with his empty revolver. The wounded man was taken into Houston and died shortly after reaching there. Eldridge was taken to the county jail at Richmond and is by this time doubtless at large through the instrumentality of a writ of habeas corpus. The cause of the tragedy is said to have been an old disagreement about business matters, resulting in a feud, threats to kill, etc. Both men went armed and Eldridge, finding his chance, killed his enemy in short order. Dunovant was a highly distinguished, one-armed Confederate veteran, a man of lion-like courage and immovable convictions, and Eldridge is a young man whose extraordinary energy and capacity have brought him up from poverty and obscurity within a few years to wealth and prominence. Both men have been doing a great work in the development of Southern Texas and were citizens of the highest usefulness. As a Confederate veteran Dunovant was as unique in his way as Charles Broadway Rouse, of New York, and was perhaps the most devoted man on earth to the memories of the Lost Cause. But his devotion to the dead past did not hamper his marvelous activity in the living present, and he built great rice mills and railroads and sugar mills and owned and managed vast plantations, and was in touch with the most vital forces of the era as though he were the very incarnate genius of Modern Progress, rather than the stern, embittered old soldier who left one arm on a Virginia battle field and lived in fierce, unyielding protest against the verdict at Appomattox. Thus intensely representative of both the old and the new South, his was a rare and impressive individuality; and it is a bitter satire upon our civilization that such a man, in the prime of his usefulness, should have fallen at last, a victim of that infamous survival of savagery in Texas which prompts a man to girt himself with a murderous and cowardly revolver in contemptuous defiance of the laws of his State, and go out among decent people ready for slaughter. Both Dunovant and Eldridge were armed, and with their wretched little feud for a motive, were thus ready to disgrace the State and murder each other at the first convenient opportunity.

Eldridge "got there" first, and now, doubtless, after a big trial in court, full of fat fees for the lawyers and much declamation of the usual variety and the familiar old pleas we have all heard so often, the slayer of Dunovant will get his freedom and resume his six-shooter. THE SENTINEL does not assume to prejudge this case nor to determine the guilt or innocence of the defendant, but if the press of Texas does not emphasize the obvious lesson to be drawn from such a tragedy of state-wide interest it will fail in its imperative duty to the public. Had these two men, both high class citizens, whom the great mass of their fellows had a right to look upon as examples in obedience to law, set that example of obedience by leaving their accursed, contemptible, cowardly "guns" at home, as was their duty as law-abiding, self-respecting citizens, a cruel, bloody and senseless slaughter that would have been disgraceful to breech-clouted Apache Indians, would have been averted, a most useful life spared to the State and his family, and the precious, sacred "feud" some people love so dearly and coddle so tenderly, as though it were a family jewel, would have had far less of evil life in it than since a human being has been slain to propitiate it.

The annals of Texas reek with such tragedies as this, and as legal punishment rarely follows, the six-shooter is still recognized abroad as the popular symbol of the civilization of Texas.

Our statute against unlawfully carrying the weapon is all that could be desired, but statutes cannot enforce themselves, nor will the officers enforce them in the absence of an ample and aggressive public sentiment—at least such statutes as this. The plain truth is that until the people of Texas, profoundly stirred by the deadly peril to their homes and loved ones, shall organize against the lawless pistol as against a pestilence; preach against it from the pulpit; teach against it in the school house and the home circle; thunder against it from the rostrum; use the press continuously to assault it; ostracize the pistol-toter in social life and fasten upon him steadily and implacably the immeasurable contempt and abhorrence of all law-abiding people, no matter who he is nor how rich he is—until then the six-shooter will continue to be the popular arbiter in personal issues between the citizens of Texas, and Texas homes continue to be desolated and depleted nearly every day in the year by its murderous work.

EX-GOVERNOR HOGG deserves the thanks of the people of Texas for his scathing public denunciation of the murderous "pistol toting" habit. What he says will not stop the habit, but will add materially to the volume of public sentiment that is being created against it. All the leading men of the state should follow his example and thus start a crusade that would not cease till the evil had disappeared.

HAYTI continues to show the world the glaring incapacity of the negro for self government in a country where he has it all his own way, with no cruel white folks to disfranchise him. Hayti is a disgrace to the nations.

THE President has appointed Judge Oliver W. Holmes, of Massachusetts, as associate justice of the supreme court to succeed Justice Gray, recently resigned. Every consideration of right and justice and fair distribution of the honors of a great, non-partisan, non-sectional court demanded that the South, with only one member on the supreme bench, should have this appointment. We have plenty lawyers big enough for the place, but we lacked a president big enough to select one of them.

PROF. HUXLEY, shrewdest of philosophic observers, once said that men of ability were common enough, but men of force and decision of character combined with ability, were very scarce. Nearly every community in the land shows the statement to be true, and because it is true Texas could ill afford to spare a man like Capt. Dunovant, who fell a victim to the "pistol toting" habit of W. T. Eldridge a few nights ago on a train coming into Houston. As a purely economic proposition, without reference to its immorality or lawlessness, it would pay Texas a handsome profit to suppress the pistol habit. The valuable lives preserved to the State by so doing would vastly more than balance the expense of the suppression.

IN no state of the Union is the decline of politics as a popular avocation more marked than in Texas. A generation ago, with a State campaign on, the woods would have been full of orators trying their voices in preparation for the heavy work later on, and farmers would have eagerly seized the opportunity to quit the cotton field and attend the political meetings, sure of some red hot declamation to stir their blood before they went home. In those days the newspapers discussed little but politics and the most strenuous life we knew was during the biennial campaign. But all that is changed and the pendulum is swinging to the other extreme. Industrial development is the text nowadays and the politician and his gospel are matters of secondary consideration. Meanwhile Texas is growing great and rich under the new stimulus, and while in the interest of good government we continue to elect a democratic administration and will do so apparently for all time to come, the fun has gone out of the campaign and the race of old time spellbinders has nearly passed.

THE acknowledged leader of Texas populism is Jerome Kearby, but he didn't feel enough interest in the subject to be present at the State convention of his party in Fort Worth.

AND now Montgomery county is to have a try at it. The commissioners court has ordered an election to be held there on September 6th to determine whether or not intoxicating liquors shall be sold in the county.

THE bright little Interstate Journal, at Logansport, La., happily says that the old truism, "Consistency, thou art a jewel," will have to stand aside and make room for that better maxim, "Persistence, thou art a jewel."

JUDGE TERRELL, of Austin, is inaugurating a movement to raise funds for a monument over the grave of ex-Governor Roberts. We are a great people for inaugurating monument movements, but very leisurely in getting to the unenviable stage of the program.

THE big office building to be erected by John H. Kirby in Houston will stand on the corner of Main street and Rusk avenue and be only seven stories high. Is Houston never to have a sky scraper, or does she wisely anticipate the reaction against that monstrosity and build accordingly?

IN Virginia and North Carolina the state authorities are taking the most determined measures to break up the crime of lynching. In those states they now consider lynchers as criminals—not "good citizens," and treat them accordingly. Human rights are safe in no community where the mob is permitted to kick the sheriff aside and murder people at its pleasure.

THE universal optimism of the press of Texas is one of the best signs of the time. And let us say right here, brethren, that it is a good deal harder to habitually take the cheerful view of life in a newspaper office than in several other places we wot of. The editor not only has his own troubles but, in a sense, he has pretty nearly every other fellow's, also, and to always preach the gospel of good cheer under such conditions is no easy assignment.

"FIRST bales" are rolling into Texas towns so rapidly now that the fall trade will soon open and our streets present a busy aspect. Cotton is a good old standby and will always be a reliable money crop in this section. The great agricultural reform movement in the direction of diversity has never underrated the white staple, but has merely insisted that it shall divide its sovereignty with other money crops to the obvious benefit of everybody concerned. Our farmers want something to sell at other seasons as well as during the cotton season, but under the all-cotton system they will never have it.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT

TO THE CONSTITUTION, TO BE SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF THE PEOPLE ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1902.

JOINT RESOLUTION.

Amending Article 6, Section 2 of the constitution of the State of Texas requiring all persons subject to a poll tax to hold a receipt for same before they offer to vote at any election in this state, and fixing the time of payment of said tax.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Article 6, Section 2 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

Sec 2. Every male person subject to none of the foregoing disqualifications, who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years and who shall be a citizen of the United States, and who shall have resided in this state one year next preceding an election and the last six months within the district or county in which he offers to vote, shall be deemed a qualified elector and every male person of foreign birth subject to none of the foregoing disqualifications, who is more than six months before any election at which he offers to vote, shall have declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States in accordance with the Federal Naturalization Laws, and shall have resided in this state one year next preceding such election and the last six months in the county in which he offers to vote, shall also be deemed a qualified elector; and electors shall vote in the election precinct of their residences; provided, that electors living in any unorganized county may vote at any election precinct in the county which such county is attached for judicial purposes; and provided further, that any voter who is subject to pay a poll tax under the laws of the State of Texas shall have paid said tax before he offers to vote at any election in this state and hold a receipt showing the poll tax paid before the first day of February next preceding such election. Or if said voter shall have lost or misplaced said receipt, he shall be entitled to vote upon making affidavit before any officer authorized to administer oaths, that such tax receipt has been lost. Such affidavit shall be made in writing and left with the judge of the election, and this provision of the Constitution shall be self-enacting without the necessity of further legislation.

Sec. 3. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation submitting this amendment to the qualified voters of Texas at the next general election.

Mr. I. A. Foye and John Pressler have consolidated their stocks of goods and John has moved his stock of groceries to Mr. Foye's stand. He will take charge of the grocery, confectionery and fruit department, while Mr. Foye will continue to manage the dry goods and notion department. All lines will be increased and they expect to greatly enhance their business. They are rustlers and will hold their share of trade.

In Memoriam.

"They are gathering homeward, One by one."

Mrs. Alma Sandidge, daughter of W. B. and Nannie Richardson, was born Jan 9th, 1880, was married to G. T. Sandidge on the 29th day of December, 1901. A short time after her marriage they began housekeeping in their beautiful home in Caddo, Tex., and entered upon what seemed to promise a long life of happiness and usefulness.

But alas! how vain are earthly hopes, how uncertain are human calculations! On the 19th of July, 1902, after five weeks of patient suffering, when the best medical skill had been baffled and after all that loving friends could do, the death angel entered this happy home and claimed for its victim Alma, whom we all knew and so tenderly loved, and the husband is now desolate amid the wrecks of his brightest dreams, and the family and friends are left to mourn what seemed to be an untimely death.

But to this cloud of sorrow is a silver lining. Her heart was consecrated to God in girlhood and the pure, sweet life she lived among us is a beautiful tribute to the religion of Jesus. Her many excellences of mind and heart made her the center of attraction in the family in which she was reared and in the large circle of friends among whom she lived and who now so deeply feel her loss. She was a dutiful child, a loving sister, a devoted wife. In her new home she was tenderly loved by all who knew her, and the tenderness and care with which they ministered to her in sickness, was a loving tribute to her true worth.

She died as she lived in the triumphs of a living faith. When she realized that the end was near she expressed herself as perfectly willing to go and kissed mamma and papa and husband good-bye, saying, "meet me in heaven." She calmly folded the book of life and bound it with the golden clasp of faith in a glorious resurrection, then sweetly fell asleep in Jesus.

"Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep! From which none ever wake to weep; A calm and undisturbed repose, Unbroken by the last of foes."

The memory of her life will linger among us like the refrain of some sweet song, and the influence of her example like the fragrance of a lovely flower.

The funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church by her pastor, Rev. C. J. McDonald, assisted by other ministering brethren who were present. After these beautiful services, all that was mortal of Mrs. G. T. Sandidge, amid tears and sorrows of a large concourse of weeping friends, was conducted to the Caddo cemetery, where was paid the last tribute of respect. Our loss is her gain. Earth is poorer but heaven is richer since she went away.

Oh, the loved ones watching there By the tree of life so fair, Till we come their joys to share, Some sweet day by and by. —By request from a Caddo exchange.

MOTHERS TESTIFY TO THE BENEFITS THEIR SICK BABIES HAVE RECEIVED FROM THE USE OF LAXAKOLA

Having received your sample of Laxakola, we very much pleased with it and have prescribed a bottle for my baby. The Laxakola did wonders for my baby in relieving his troubles. I have given up trying to get my baby nothing but Laxakola. I got it cheaper and a great relief. I got it from C. H. & H. A. Union and Purchase Co., Mass. ARNOLD CARWILL, South Mills, Mass. I should please find cents in stamps for a bottle of Laxakola. I used your sample bottle and it did all you claim for it, as it helped my baby wonderfully. Mrs. JANE KAYACHT, Union Deposit, Dauphin Co., Pa. I wish to thank you very much for the good Laxakola has done my little niece, Marion Lurine Back. She is only two and one-half years old, and has suffered something awful from constipation. She has never had what you would call a natural movement. Sometimes we were almost afraid of convulsions, it hurt her so much, and she would be so frightened. This is awful pleased to think it doesn't hurt her so now, and she will take Laxakola without a fuss. We are pleased to think it helped her so much. Mrs. OSA MORSEY, Graham, N. H. My baby is four months old and is terrible. He was sick and I tried a good many things, but nothing seemed to relieve him. I had a sample of your Laxakola and it worked like a charm. He is now as healthy as I could wish, and that I would never recall or forget. He is now getting better all the time. I have given him Laxakola and he is now getting better all the time. I have given him Laxakola and he is now getting better all the time. I have given him Laxakola and he is now getting better all the time. LAXAKOLA is a pure, gentle and painless liquid laxative, and contains valuable tonic properties, which not only act upon the bowels, but tone up the entire system and purify the blood. A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, which will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it. Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhoea, accompanied with white or green evacuations, as it neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of the fermentation. LAXAKOLA will aid digestion, relieve restlessness, assist nature and induce sleep. For constipation, simple fevers, coated tongues, and infantile troubles arising from a disordered condition of the stomach, it is invaluable.

Try it Today. Send for a Free Sample. It may Save your Baby's Life or Prevent a Long and Serious Illness. It Costs Nothing; Send For It and mention Your Druggist's Name. For Sale by All Druggists 25c and 50c, or by express, $1.00. All charges prepaid, a large bottle of LAXAKOLA. Address THE LAXAKOLA Co., New York.

SATURDAY'S LOCALS

Miss Lola Fuller returned to Austin last night after a visit of some weeks to relatives here and at Melrose.

T. W. Bell, a prominent farmer of Rusk community, one who farms on an extensive scale, is in the city today on business.

John C. Lewis, of Kosse, Texas, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lewis, near Nacogdoches, the past three weeks, returned home a day or two ago.

MONDAY'S LOCALS.

Hon. W. A. Skillern, of LaNana, was in the city today.

J. P. Bruton will be with the home oil mill again this season. He came down from Douglass this morning to go to work as seed buyer. Mr. Bruton bought seed for the home company last season, and is experienced in the business.

Commissioners' court is still in session and will hold until Thursday. The jail question will be considered Wednesday and some final disposition will be made of the matter. The court is now going over the tax assessor's rolls, which it will take them three more days to complete.

The new tent has arrived for Bro. Gaddy's use at the Melrose meeting which begins next Thursday. The meeting will last a week at Melrose, after which the tent will be moved to North church, where a two weeks meeting will be held. The new tent is a fine, large one, and is a source of justifiable pride to those whose energy has been the means of obtaining it.

Willie Sharpe, of San Augustine, is in the city today.

Miss Ora Baucom has been sick over a week with continued fever.

There was a splendid meeting at Trinity yesterday, with one accession to the church.

Dr. J. D. Martin, was buried at Martinsville this morning at 7 o'clock. Messrs. Tom Crawford, and C. H. Richardson attended the funeral from here.

TUESDAY'S LOCALS.

Rev. Ellis Smith with his wife and family returned to Crockett today. Mrs. Smith and children have been visiting in Chireno the past six or eight weeks and returned yesterday to Nacogdoches to join her husband, who has been spending a week among his old friends at this place.

Mr. Calcoat, of San Augustine, is in the city today.

Henry Bates, of San Augustine county, is in the city on a trading expedition.

W. G. Sharpe, of San Augustine, left this morning on a business trip to Ellis county.

F. G. Braley, of Swift, was in the city today trading.

District court will convene on the 4th Monday, the 22nd of September.

Mr. J. W. Murph and his grandson, Johnnie Caver, came up from Linn Flat yesterday and are guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Drewry.

Hardy Dial is moving his bar and fixtures in the new and magnificent building which now occupies the ground upon which his former little wooden building stood and will soon be ready to begin business again. He has had his saloon furniture and fixtures stored in one of the buildings on Church street while the new building was going up.

Leland Mast left for Chireno this morning to attend the funeral of his cousin, Miss Suckie Teutsch.

R. W. Gilliken and family, of Lulkin, passed through the city yesterday on his way to visit his father, Baker Gilliken, who resides eight miles from town. Mr. Baker Gilliken has been in very bad health for some months.

Bassett Haltom, of Swift, brought to THE SENTINEL office this morning a lizard with three tails. He says it comes from a country noted for Swift lizards, and is an instance of the superiority of Swift, lizards in other less fortunate localities, having to worry along with just one. We have the small reptile now in a pickle bottle, but are going to turn it loose after a while. When it comes to wigwag, the Swift lizard is right in it.

Photographer C. C. Harlan of Eaton, O., can do now, though for years he couldn't, because he suffered untold agony from the form of indigestion. Physicians and medicine failed to help him till he tried Electric Bitters, which work such wonders for him that he declares they are a godsend to sufferers from dyspepsia and stomach troubles. He is unrivaled for diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Kidney. They build up and give life to the whole system. Only soc. Guaranteed by Stripling Haselwood & Co.

Our friend C. R. Dickson was in the city yesterday. He told us about his experience with Belgian hares and Edgar, started with the hares and a buck three years ago, since which time they have sold and killed "about a million" and they still have "about two million" on hand. The boys had a splendid time at the recent carnival at Nacogdoches and received many nice compliments, and THE SENTINEL owes them an apology for not mentioning their float in the write-up of the Carnival.

All Were Saved.

"For years I have suffered such untold misery from Bronchitis," writes J. H. Johnston, of Broughton, Ga., "that often I was unable to work. Then, when everything else failed, I was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. My wife suffered intensely from Asthma, till it cured her, and all our experience goes to show it is the best Croup medicine in the world." A trial will convince you it's unrivaled for Throat and Lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and 1.00. Trial bottle free at Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

The name of W. S. Byers appears in the list of democratic nominees this week, for Constable of Precinct No. 8. Mr. Byers is a young man of sterling worth, democratic to the core and is fully competent to fill the office with credit to himself and honor to the democracy, and his prospects of election are very promising.

BLACK JACK LETTER.

Weekly Budget of News From the East End.

Attoyac, Aug. 18.—There is a great deal of sickness in our community at this writing. We hope to be able to report "all's well" soon.

Mr. Rufus Greene died at his home in Nacogdoches last night of slow fever. His remains were laid to rest in the Black Jack cemetery today. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to his wife and sorrowing relatives and friends.

Mr. Jesse Layton left for Minden last Friday to accompany his sister, Miss Nettie, home, who has been visiting there several weeks.

Hon. W. M. Imboden stopped in our burg last Saturday while enroute to Hemp-hill to attend court. The to be district attorney is such a jovial gentlemen that all are ent movements, but very purely in getting to the un-ling stage of the program. THE big office building to be erected by John H. Kirby Houston will stand on the corner of Main street and Musk avenue and be only even stories high. Is Hous- on never to have a sky scraper, or does she wisely anticipate the reaction against that monstrosity and build accordingly?

Donald has showed the paper to several of his neighbors and the county authorities, but so far nothing has been gleaned that has thrown any light on the mysterious appearance of the document. The constable from Alto was in Nacogdoches today on a "little business." Mrs. Edgar Wade is alarmingly ill and grave fears are felt as to her recovery.
