BRUMBY ON PLAGUE.

State Health Officer Proposes to Watch Texas Ports.

Austin, Texas, June 9.—The appearance of bubonic plague at various ports has placed the state health department on its mettle. Dr. Brumby said yesterday that while a quarantine against vessels from parts infected with this deadly disease is always in effect, extra precautions are being taken in the premises. He said he has inaugurated a campaign of extermination of rats at Galveston, the main port of the state. The bubonic plague may be transmitted through flees and rats, and no chances are to be taken in the matter. Special attention is to be paid to the supervision of tramp steamers which are the most likely to be infected, as these vessels stop at all ports in search of business. The state health officer has notified his force at Galveston to keep a sharp lookout for steamers coming from any port which is likely to be infected. Before they are allowed to enter the port, all ships from any such ports are thoroughly disinfected. The process of fumigation kills rats.

It is understood that such an application is to be made, but the board of pardons said today that no application has yet been received.

Fifth Sunday Meeting.

The last session of the Fifth Sunday meeting of the Nacogdoches county Baptist association met with Sacul church Friday night, May 29.

The old time hospitality of the lovely little town and the blessings received from the meeting, combine in making the meeting one long to be remembered by those who attended.

The introductory sermon was preached by W. A. Spivey. Text, 1st Corinthians, 3:9, "For we are Laborers Together with God; ye are God's Husbandry; ye are God's building." He was followed by W. L. Heflin.

Saturday morning after devotional exercise L. A. Bagley was elected chairman and S. S. Harris secretary. The question, "The best method of building up our Churches," was ably discussed by W. L. Heflin, J. H. Thorn and Boon Anderson.

"The duty of a Deacon," was discussed by A. L. Charlton, A. T. Garrard and W. A. Spivey.

AFTERNOON.

Bro. Hugh Davis made an interesting talk on State-Wide Prohibition.

"How may the Parents be enlisted in the work of the Sunday School," was ably handled by A. L. Charlton, R. T. Holleman and Bro. Buckner.

Bridge Went Down.

Hempstead Tex., June 9.—The railroad bridge across the Brazos river collapsed last night about 1 o'clock just as the westbound passenger train crossed to safety on the west side. After working through two overflows and expending a great deal of money to save this structure it finally succumbed to the great washing of the water, and now the span on the west side is down and will have to be replaced. A special watchman hurried the news to Hempstead in time to stop trains from moving in that direction. Trains will run either by Navasota or Rosenberg.

ELECT PRECINCT CHAIRMEN.

State Chairman Geo. A. Carden of the Democratic Executive committee of Texas, replying to inquiry has issued the following open letter which indicates that precinct chairmen should be elected by the voters of each precinct:

Dallas, Tex., June 4.—Mr. James B. Stubbs, Galveston, Tex.: My Dear Mr. Stubbs—I have considered the matter about which you make inquiry in your letter of May 29, to-wit, my opinion as to whether members of county executive committee must be elected by all of the voters of the county or whether each member must be elected by the voters of the precinct which he aspires to represent on the county committee.

Upon first reading Section 106 of the law I confess I was in much doubt as to the proper construction to be placed thereon, but I have concluded that the precinct committeemen or member of the committee for a particular precinct should be elected by the voters of his precinct, and not by the voters of the county. This construction is in line with the unbroken custom of the party, and is not out of harmony, in my opinion, with the rules of construction properly applicable to the statute.

With sentiments of esteem I have the honor to be yours truly.

George A. Carden,
Chairman State Democratic Executive Committee.

WHEN H. Clay Pierce returns to Texas it will not be a case of the return of the prodigal but Missouri might kill the fatted calf when she welcomes her magnate again.

COTTON is being planted for the third time this season in some sections of the state. Talk about grit, some farmers have more determination than a whole drove of the business men.

THE district judge of this district has for the past 18 or 20 years been elected from either Cherokee or Shelby county, for this, as well as other reasons, Nacogdoches candidate for this position is entitled to the support of the people. Judge Mims is an able lawyer, having been engaged for the past 20 years in the active practice of his profession and no better or more honorable man could be elected to this position.

W. J. BRYAN played right field for ten minutes in a base ball game at Crete, Nev., yesterday in a game with the "Commoner" nine against a picked up nine. He couldn't run well enough to play ball so he quit and umpired the balance of the game. "The Commoner" nine beat with a score of 23 to 19. It isn't often a man can play part of a game and umpire the balance. Bryan however is different from most men.

THE Denver auditorium is already being prepared for the National convention to be held next July. The decoration will be the most elaborate ever before seen on TEXAS is becoming noted as a summer resort. A well known gentleman who has been in the habit of spending the heated term at Lake Nebagamon and Prides Crossing is coming to Texas this season.—Galveston News.

The noted gentleman referred to has not arrived yet and it looks a little like he was about to change his mind about making the promised visit.

Of course Nacogdoches county will have a fair this fall, and the fine exhibits of live stocks, from pure bred tows to fine blooded horses and cows, will open the eyes of the natives. And the other products of the farm will prove that Nacogdoches county stands among the foremost counties of Texas in an agricultural line. She will also have a few manufactured packages to hand the moss backs of this section.—Garrison Gleaner.

The Gleaner is right. There is more good stock, poultry, etc., scattered over the county already than one, not familiar with such matters, would think there is, and in a year or two the result will be startling if we get the fair under headway.

TYLER must have some place at which teams can get water, and this place or places should be on the public square where the greatest number of teams stand during the day, and where practically all the teams used in the performing of the city's business pass many times a day. These watering places should be placed where they can stay and when built of permanent material.—Tyler Courier and Times.

The above fits Nacogdoches in a way. Till recently wagons coming in from the east, west and south crossed the creeks by ford and the teams could get water. Since the bridge on East Main street was widened the ford at that place can't be used by people driving wagons and is very inconvenient for use at all. The cost would not be great to put in a watering place on the public square and it would be of great benefit to the public and especially to people coming in from the country to trade.

The first issue of the Shelby County Review, published at Center and edited by James T. Denton, has reached this office. The initial number of the Review is neat and newsy and The Sentinel wishes much success for the promoters.

A BIT OF INFORMATION.

The records of the district court of this county show out of twenty-six cases appealed therefrom during the past three years. 14 of the cases have been reversed and remanded by the higher courts for new trials. It is well for the people to understand that it cost the county quite a sum of money to again try the fourteen cases so reversed.

It was to remedy alleged condition of this kind that caused a great many people to desire a change during the last election for district judge, and if this be true, it rather appears that another change is in order.

Lufkin has recently landed two railroads and Center is making a move to bring one in and push another out. Now Nacogdoches should get busy and extend a trolley out to both of her suburban railroad centers, that these villagers might ride into town now and then and see for themselves how this world really moves.—Lufkin Tribune.

Now don't you worry about Nacogdoches. We will take you in as a suburb when you get up to the proper standard and let you come to town and see the sights if you will promise to be good.

The Nacogdoches Sentinel says if the county fair falls through "the burden of the blame" will rest upon the mossback of the county. Well we sincerely hope that there are enough wide awake business men in the town of Nacogdoches alone to carry the county fair proposition to a realization. A county fair would be a great thing for Nacogdoches and Nacogdoches county and it is to be hoped that the good citizenship of the Stone Fort city will not let mossbacks deter them in their determined efforts to succeed in the new and commendable enterprise.—Garrison Gleaner.

Center News: The News force was the recipient of a most delightful treat of ice cream soda yesterday with the compliments of Mrs. Dibrell, who will be remembered as one of the most excellent ladies who was here with the federation meeting. The treat was delivered by Mrs. Bryarly, to whom she had written with the request that we be remembered thus. The News greatly appreciates this substantial token of friendship and esteem, and shall ever treasure this kindness in the most sacred precincts of our recollection.

This shows what a change has been wrought in the printing business in the length of a generation. Imagine an old time printer or journalist referring to ice cream soda as a "substantial" beverage. Nevertheless, the fact remains that it is substantial. At least, one can consume a great deal of it and keep his balance, which was not true of the lighter refreshments that were often offered to—and accepted by—the old "Prints."—Galveston News.

PRESIDENT DUCKED BY HORSE.

Animal Reared Backward and Both Went into Creek but Separated.

Washington, June 3.—(Special)—President Roosevelt narrowly escaped serious injury when a new and untried horse he was riding yesterday afternoon reared and went over backward into Rock Creek. That the president escaped unhurt was due to him having thrown himself as far as he was able from the animal. Mrs. Roosevelt was with the president, and they were accompanied by an orderly. The president was thoroughly wet but this he enjoys, and after the orderly had captured the horse Mr. Roosevelt insisted on remounting and completing his ride, then about half over.

On their return to the White House, the president and Mrs. Roosevelt did not speak of the accident. For this reason, when inquiry was made last night concerning the accident it was denied. The details became known today and stirred Washington. It was in Rock Creek Park, which has been preserved in its natural state, and in which the president delights to ride, that the accident occurred. He had urged a mettlesome horse into the stream and started up the sharp incline to the higher ground on the opposite side.

In the middle of the ascent the animal reared, and the president was forced to throw himself forward upon the animal's neck to bring him down to earth again. In a moment the horse reared again and lost his balance. Freeing his feet from the stirrups as best he could the president threw himself as far as possible from the falling horse. Both landed in the water, and the president, realizing his danger, rolled and scrambled away from the hoofs that were lashing in all directions.

"Fortunately the horse landed with his hoofs away from me," remarked the president to a friend today, "for I have a decided aversion to having my hair combed in the manner he bade fair to part it."

The horse is a recent addition to the White House stables, and under ordinary circumstances would have been first tried out by a groom. This suggestion did not, however, appeal to the president when the June sunshine tempted him for a ride yesterday afternoon. His other mounts are out of contention, and the president ordered the new animal sent to the outskirts of the city with the one to be ridden by Mrs. Roosevelt. Soon after mounting, the new 4-year-old was inclined to be what the groom termed "a trifle light on his forrud feet, sah." When the ford was reached in the ride the animal hesitated, but took the water prancing. The water at this point is about ten feet deep and underlaid by large stones.

Mrs. Roosevelt was badly frightened by the accident, but she was reassured on seeing the president spring to his feet shaking the water from his khadi riding suit. He was none the worse for the fall and would not hear of abandoning the ride.

According to the president's view of the accident, "it really did not amount to anything and is not worth printing."

A preacher came to a newspaper man in this way. You editors do not tell the truth. If you did you could not live; your newspaper would be a failure. The editor replied: You are right and the minister who will at all times and under all circumstances tell the whole truth about his members, alive or dead, will not occupy his pulpit more than one Sunday, and then he will find it necessary to leave town in a hurry. The press and the pulpit go hand in hand with whitewash brushes and pleasant words, magnify little virtues into big ones. The pulpit, the pen, and the grave stone are the great saint-making triumvirate. And the great minister went away looking very thoughtful while the editor turned to his work, and told of the unsurpassing beauty of the bride, when in fact she was as homely as a mud fence.—Ex.

Wasting Water Assets.

California has learned, says the California Cultivator, not only that the ground may become water-logged by over-irrigation, but that ill-considered drainage and the inconsiderate use of water from wells may so lower the underground water-plane as to threaten the reversion of large areas to unproductiveness.

The Geological Survey has demonstrated that all the subterranean waters of 775 square miles in southern California are connected, and that every well taps a common supply; and on this the water-plane, which was twenty-three feet below the surface of the soil in 1898, is now fifty feet below.

Election Law Section on Which They Relied Declared Unconstitutional.

Special to the Galveston News.

San Antonio, Tex., June 2.—An opinion just made by Assistant Attorney General Walthall, holding that the amendment to the Terrell election law providing that on petition of 10 per cent of the voters of any party the executive committee shall submit any question to the voters at the general primary next preceding the state convention is unconstitutional, will, it is reported here, be sprung at the meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee, which is to meet at Dallas, June 8, which has been called by Chairman Carden for the purpose of discussing the question of statewide prohibition.

The opinion of Mr. Walthall was given in answer to a letter received by him from Chester H. Terrell, a lawyer of San Antonio, and the anti-prohibitionists believe that the result of it will be the refusal of the Democratic Executive Committee to order a vote on the prohibition question at the primary to be held in July.

The amendment to the Terrell election law, which is said by Attorney General Walthall to be unconstitutional, is as follows: "Provided, any political party in this state in convention assembled, shall never place in the platform or resolution of the party present any demand for specific legislation on any subject until the demand for such specific legislation shall have been submitted to a direct vote of the people, and shall have been indorsed by a majority vote of all the votes cast in the primary election of such party. Provided, further, that all laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith be and the same are hereby repealed; provided, that the State Executive Committee shall, on petition of 10 per cent of the voters of any party, as shown by the last primary election vote, submit any such question or questions to the voters at the general primary next preceding the state convention."

The prohibitionists have for weeks been circulating a petition to secure the necessary 10 per cent of the voters, which, were the law constitutional, the Democratic Executive Committee would have had no choice but to have submitted the matter of a submission of a prohibition amendment to a vote at the general primary.

Changes in Currency Law.

Associated Press.

Washington, June 2.—Treasury officials are making active preparations to carry into effect the new currency law enacted in the closing hours of congress. After a conference between Assistant Secretary Coolidge, Director Delph of the bureau of engraving and printing, and W. W. Eldridge, of the office of the comptroller of the currency, the statement was made that the actual work of printing the new notes would be begun within the next ten days. The new notes will be identical with the national bank notes now in use, except that the legend at the top of the face of the note "Secured by bonds of the United States" will be changed to "secured by bonds of the United States or other securities." The comptroller of the currency now has in the vaults about $203,000,000 in old notes belonging to various national banks and these will be used as required until the new notes are printed and released, ready for use. It is probable that it will require six months to change all of the plates used by 6810 National banks, but it is expected that some of the new issue will be ready for delivery by July 1, next. Several matters connected with the new issue are still under discussion, one of the most important being the denominations of the notes, but it is thought that the smaller denominations will be used first, as each autumn there is heavy demand for small notes, especially from the west and south.

CARELESS WORMS IN' COITON.

Special to the Galveston News.

College, Tex., June 6.—In answering inquiries from farmers near Navasota Prof. C. E. Sanborn, entomologist of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, hands the following answer, which may be of benefit to the farmers generally:

Messrs. W. H. McGee and M. R. McAlpin of Navasota quite recently called upon the department of entomology in order to ascertain some remedial measure for controlling a certain kind of caterpillar that was destroying cotton in the vicinity of their town.

They reported "that it had quite recently appeared in some localities, and it was completely destroying the cotton. At present the cotton is about a foot high and well foliated. Where the worms have appeared, not only the foliage is being destroyed, but the tender terminals also."

After closely examining these small worms I concluded that they are the common careless worms technically known as loxostege similis. From the character of their work on the cotton plant they have been confused with other similar worms, such as army worms, boll worms and the cotton leaf caterpillar.

In this state there may appear in a single year about five broods of this insect, and unless the broods are subjected it is not at all unlikely that some of the latter broods will continue to do considerable damage. With a thorough subjection, however, of the first broods there should be no need of alarm later.

Since this worm responds quickly to the action of arsenicals, there should be no loss resulting from its work, if application is made in due time. One of the greatest troubles lies in the fact that this worm, when in great numbers, does a great deal of damage in a short space of time, and with parties who do not know how to subject it, it may mean a serious loss.

A very good remedy is to dust the infested portions of the field with paris green at the rate of about one pound per acre. If the party has a good dusting machine at hand this will be of very little inconvenience. If no dusting machine is at hand, the pole and bag method may be used quite successfully. In dusting paris green from the bag it should be diluted in order that danger may not result from overdose to the plant.

There is no exact amount of diluted to be used, but air-slacked lime or land plaster may be used at the rate of from 10 to 100 pounds to one pound of paris green. Care should be taken not to use more than two pounds of the paris green to the acre, since about one pound is necessary and more is likely to burn the foliage.

The application should be made while the dew is on, or after a shower while the foliage is yet moist, in order that it may adhere, or if it is impossible to make the application while the foliage is damp, it should be made when the atmosphere is quiet since the wind is liable to cause a waste of the paris green.

This formula is equally effective against most other insects which feed on cotton foliage.

Card of Thanks.

To the patrons and pupils of Alazan School District. As the Alazan public school closed on May 29, I take pleasure in extending my thanks to them for their past favors.

I have had the pleasure of teaching your school since Oct. 1, 1905 and feel gratified over our acquaintance. I wish to thank the children especially for their attendance and for the courtesy shown me by them. I feel that some have done a good year's work, others have not, this is explained by their report card. Although I have accepted a position in the Woden school yet I feel under obligations to the ones that I have so faithfully served and will endeavor to do whatever I can towards the upbuilding of the community.

During our last term of school I have had the honor of having one boy in school who has not missed a day from school nor missed one word out of a regular spelling class in nine months. During this time he has gone through the higher speller twice. Thanks for any favors shown me. Respectfully, B. C. Castleberry.

What to do in Dyspepsia

Dieting has become a great fad in America, and just as, years ago, we, as a nation, over-eat, so now we are under-eating. The one is as bad as the other. Man needs food and plenty of it to sustain life and to give strength to compete in this busy world.

It is not, however, the fact that you may eat too much that hurts you, but that you don't digest what you eat. And if that results in dyspepsia you will not cure the trouble by eating less food simply. If your digestive organs were sending the proper amount of gastric and pancreatic juices you would have no dyspepsia. To cure the disease you must create an abundance of these necessary juices.

This can only be done by a reliable tonic laxative, and as its name indicates, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains the very ingredients needed to do this. Take it regularly for awhile according to the explicit directions on each bottle and you will soon be cured of dyspepsia and all of the accompanying symptoms such as heartburn, sour stomach, bloated stomach, liver, pimples, slow complexion, wind on the stomach, etc. Every bottle carries with it an absolute guarantee to do what we claim. It is a gentle, pleasant, effective laxative and you will like its taste and be pleased with its results.

One of the great friends of this remedy is Harry F. Keator, a lieutenant in one of the Ohio companies that fought at the battle of Santiago. While in the wet trenches, and eating the rough food of a soldier, he contracted severe dyspepsia and lost weight rapidly. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he promptly began to use, not only cured his dyspepsia but increased his weight 40 pounds. Your druggist will sell you a bottle at 50 cents or if you will send it worth a hundred times that to you.

FREE TEST

These wishing to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before buying can have a few sample bottles sent to their homes by addressing the company. This offer is to prove that the remedy will do as we claim, and is only good to those who have never taken it. Send for it if you have any symptoms of indigestion or bowel disease. THERE seems to be quite an epidemic of strife between the whites and blacks all over both north and south and in many cases there has been bloodshed on both sides. In many cases the blacks are assisting the whites in the capture of black criminal offenders. There was a clash between the two races yesterday at Longview and two negroes were badly wounded. The feeling there is intense and the situation looks desperate and the governor has been called upon for rangers to suppress the trouble.

WE notice from the daily press that President Harrington of the A. & M. College has been burned in effigy by students immediately in front of his residence also various other insults have been thrust at him. We do not think it is good policy in upholding the action of the mutiny of students as a rule but no matter who may be wrong in the matter we think it would be good policy for a change to be made, as everything points to the fact that this great Texas institution was in danger of a collapse which would be a blow to education and a disgrace to the state.

THE Alumni Association of the A. & M. College have met and filed charges against president Harrington and the patrons demand his resignation, and that several suspended students be reinstated. The patrons have also sent a committee to thank the alumni for their action which they claim was the sole cause of the college being saved. Mr. Harrington bitterly denies the charges, branding them as "frivolous and untrue." The board of directors have promised immediate action in the matter, and it is to be hoped that the institution will not suffer from the effects of this unfortunate state of affairs.

A bird sings because it loves to make music. A bird does not have to worry about clothes and food, having perfect faith that tomorrow will provide food adequate for its simple needs. If man had one-tenth the faith of the bird he would be very much happier and contented. But man does not trust God like he should, but continually struggles and strives to lay up for the future, when he does not know that there is to be any earthly future for him. He needs to sing more and worry less, for there are many things that will just come to pass, no matter how much he tries to prevent the occurrence. If man can not sing, he can at least say kind words and refrain from knocking.—Cleburne Enterprise.

Maybe so; but State Press has known some wingless "birds" who seemed to take no more thought of the morrow than the feathered warblers in the leafy trees. And as for singing, these flightless warblers, when fairly tuned up, could make the mocking bird ashamed of its vocal department. And still they were not overly popular with particular people.—Dallas News.

As a rule State Press is cheerful but he must have let some warbler warble him out of his roll at Mineral Wells.

WE are in receipt of a letter from Hon. S. B. Cooper authorizing us to announce his candidacy for re-election to congress from this district. ### Our Old Friend the Breaksnake.

Chicago Inter Ocean—News of the killing of a two headed snake on the right of way of the Pennsylvania railroad, near Bloomsburg, Pa., the other day by a man named Frank Kelm, will, we are almost certain, revive interest in what is, perhaps, one of the most fascinating of American ties. We mean, of course, the breaksnake.

The remains of the two-headed snake, we are informed, are now in possession of P. F. Shuman of Cattawissa, Pa., who will be glad to show them to any interested person. The length measurement of the snake is exactly four feet three inches. By some who have examined it, it is pronounced a blacksnake. It is, however, as we have already intimated, a breaksnake, a reptile which used to be common in Illinois a few years ago, and is even now found in this state and in other parts of the Middle West on rare occasions.

Ignorance of the true character of the snake is displayed in the announcement that it is two-headed. The mistake arises from the fact that the breaksnake can move backward as well as forward. Had Mr. Keim simply captured the snake instead of killing it, he would, in the course of the next few months, have seen it pass through all the changes that have made it in the eyes of old settlers and naturalists one of the most remarkable of all living creatures.

Judging by its measurement, it was at the time of its death in what might be termed its altogether form. That is, it had not yet broken so that it might forage more successfully and economically. A little later it would have fallen into many little pieces each piece complete in itself, and these, after scattering and remaining apart in the interval, would come together every Saturday evening and remain as one complete whole every Sunday.

As the season advanced, the breaksnake would break into longer lengths, until about roasting ear time it would enter the end of every week in the manner already stated.

There have been instances, of course, where a part has been killed while absent from the other parts or from the complete whole. In such cases the remaining parts would come together as if nothing had happened.

The late James P. Gilman of Du Page county, who left a large collection of snake data, observed one case where after an absence of several weeks, a missing part returned on Sunday and demanded admission to the whole. The latter had already grown a new part to take the place of the part missing, and would not break so as to permit the wanderer to come in. After a vicious fight, in which the smaller part was worsted, the latter ran up a tree and patiently waited its chance. In a little while the complete whole passed beneath, when the detached part let itself fall upon the middle of the parent snake with such force that the latter broke in two. Before it could reunite the rejected joint had slipped into its place.

No doubt many old residents throughout the Middle West could tell even stranger stories about the breaksnake, and, as we say, it would not be surprising in the least if the news from Bloomsburg, Pa., should serve to revive interest in the most interesting of creatures.

The output of copper in the Ural district in 1906 amounted to 4174 tons, as compared with 3610 tons in the preceding year, thus showing an increase of 564 tons. These figures cannot be considered as satisfactory from the Russian point of view, taking into consideration the high prices which prevailed last year for copper. Moreover on comparing the total output of copper in 1906 with that of the year 1804, 1903, and 1902, a decrease in the production is noticeable.—Scientific American.

The Marine Chronometer recently installed by Stripling, Haselwood & Co. is attracting considerable attention. It is the finest time piece made, and will not vary five seconds in a year. People generally have already accepted it as the only dependable time and the Chronometer is looked at by hundreds every day to obtain the time. This being a very expensive time piece, (costing about $600.00) this enterprising firm is deserving much credit for offering it to the use of the public. If you have not yet seen it, it is well worth your while to do so.

Jack's Return.

Jack came home from sea, and was late arriving home. His wife was impatiently awaiting his arrival, knowing his ship had arrived.

She received him with a few remarks, and Jack immediately went to bed.

When his wife went upstairs she was surprised to see him sitting up in bed holding an umbrella over his head.

"Good heavens!" she said, "what are you doing?"

Jack said good-humoredly, "I guessed there was to be a storm, and prepared in time."

His wife was compelled to laugh, and peace was maintained.

"An Irishman died, and seeking admittance at the gate was detained for a minute only by St. Peter, who, upon hearing that he was Mike Mullady of Chicago heartily invited him in and to take a front seat. Mike looked approvingly around and said:

"It's a foin fat job ye have here St. Peter, and ye've held it a long time." "Yes, Mike, said Peter, but we don't reckon time and money here, as you did down below. Here a million years is but a minute, and a million dollars wouldn't be more than a cent."

"Is that so?" said Mike. "Then Peter will ye lend me a cent?"

"Certainly!" said Peter, "in a minute."

Newspapers and the Truth.

The better newspapers, the majority of newspapers, we believe, strive to tell the truth; and for many reasons. It gives them an aspect of infallibility which is flattering to any mortal man; it is more profitable, and, finally, it is more honorable. There are, of course, papers, and big papers, which deliberately "color" the news to suit their own private purposes, who permit their editorial opinion to seep into their news columns, but it is a hazardous undertaking, like unto trying to fool all the people all the time. Such a course may win temporary success, but the inevitable day of retribution comes sooner or later.

Newspapers worthy the name expend more effort in "getting things right" than in getting them. That sometimes incorrect statements creep into print is because, in the first place, no paper can be more accurate than its most accurate reporter, and secondly because of the unavoidable haste in collecting and printing the world happenings of a day. If every report sent into a newspaper office were accurate, if every employe had attained to that superhuman degree of perfection where mistakes are impossible, papers would print only the truth, and the task of publishing would become a delight.—Chicago Evening Post.

From Monday's Daily:

The Mother's Club.

The High School Mother's club held a highly interesting session at the hospitable home of Mrs. D. K. Cason Tuesday afternoon, President Mrs. G. H. Matthews, presiding.

The library program consisted of several splendid numbers. Mrs. C. D. Mims contributed an excellent reading on the subject, "Parents Rights," which developed the idea that many parents surrender all their rights if baby asserts his rather emphatically and that Miss Dorothy, aged six, must have the six dollar French doll even if papa has to continue to wear the same shabby old hat. A readjustment of these conditions to be sought in the good old recipe in a certain old book which refers to a cheap rod spared and the subsequent spoiling of an expensive child.

Mrs. Giles Haltom read from the pen of Edward Howard Griggs, "Moral Education Through play," which advanced the opinion that play is so important an instrument of education that it should not be left to chance or whim, but be directed with judicious care, that opportunities must be given the child for joyous play if he is to be educated for the art of joy in human life.

The subject "The Atrocities of the Colored Supplement" was handled by Mrs. Marr in an interesting manner and was followed by animated discussion. The gist of the whole was that the effort to stimulate in children a taste for better things artistic, an aesthete through art exhibitions and libraries and in Sunday schools has a decided backward step every Lords day when the "unfunny" colored supplement arrives teaching a disrespect for old age and a contempt for the unfortunate. As the chief charm in these colored atrocities, for the children lies in their action it was decided that children could be entertained and instructed with an entirely different class of pictures, those setting forth good deeds. Certainly with the element of fun introduced, and even the touch of tragedy, as nature must play an important part in the picture story.

Mrs. Casely read an excellent article, "Keeping Children at Home," which was full of fine thought and called forth earnest discussion.

Mrs. June Harris contributed a splendid reading on the subject of "Corporal Punishment," in which was expressed the opposing opinions of several eminent students of child life. This number elicited much helpful discussion and it was suggested that the club conduct a symposium on corporal punishment in the near future.

Mrs. Butt read a very clever arrangement of "Auld Lang Syne" from the pen of some club woman which on motion of Mrs. June Harris was adopted as the club song.

(Tune Auld Lang Syne.)
Should mothers' meetings be forgot,
And never brought to mind?
Should children's welfare count for naught,
To mothers ever kind?
The home and school will closer grow—
Parents and teacher too,
When auld acquaintance each and all,
At "Mothers club" renew.
God uses us to help each other,
Our motto so bright,
Let mother, teacher, home and school,
In glorious cause unite,
For 'tis not all to train the mind
And leave untaught the heart;
Effort must win we'll surely find,
If each will do her part.

'Tis of the "Mothers club" we sing—
Long may it live and shine!
And be a light to other schools
Who soon will fall in line,
And may the noble work we plan
Be crowned with all success;
And future generations rise,

Obituary

From Saturday's Daily:

The funeral yesterday at 6 p. m. of little Milton Ray Walker, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Walker at the city cemetery, was attended from the residence of Mr. J. O. Ray by a large procession of sympathizing relatives and friends. How sad to think of the grief and distress in the hearts of the loving parents and others of the family who had become attached to the darling little one. Their only consolation is that their dear one is not lost, but gone to a home in heaven, where angels claim him as one of themselves. Gone to Jesus to await other loving hearts.

We tender our sincere sympathies to the sorrowing ones, and we are sure that they have the sampathies of a large number of friends and relatives.

Our bank is under direct supervision of the State of Texas. The State is our boss and gives us rules to go by. The State sends examiners to our bank several times a year and they make a thorough inspection of it and make their sworn report. Besides that our directors have to publish a report of our business at different times during the year, under oath, consequently they have to keep posted on what the bank is doing. Look at the list of our stockholders. They are a safe crowd to handle your money, and they solicit your business.

Death at Livingston.

The telephone was used by A. J. Spradley to head him off.

No Humbug.

No humbug claims have to be made for Foley's Honey and Tar, the well known remedy for coughs, colds and lung troubles. The fact that more bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar are used than of any other cough remedy is the best testimonial of its great merit. Why then risk taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar costs you no more and is safe and sure. Mast Bros. & Smith. eod

Simpson's Mill.

June 4.—We moved here last week finding a pleasant home with neighbors all around us, the green woods covered with a carpet of fine grass, the songs of birds, the pure country air, the sound of the cow bells all seem good to those who have been close in town. This mill does good work with the capacity of 35,000 feet per day, running only every other day, owing to the fact that the loggers cannot furnish logs. At the present time they are sawing hardwood for furniture. The commissary supplies our groceries and the vegetable carrier brings our best food. The boss man owns a net giving us fish sometimes.

Last Saturday we got in our buggy and drove to Caanan church about 13 miles. The district conference of the Free Methodist church was in session. Bro. Miller, the elder, preached fine sermons to a crowded house. The love feast Sunday morning with a testimony service was a treat to the Christian, while the poor sinner stood by starving in his soul. The service closed at night with an impressive sermon, "Why hold ye between two opinions." Monday morning found us on our way to dear old Melrose, and we took a supply of nice honey from our bees. That night we were at home again until the next trip. L. W.

A Treatise on Horse Collars

BOTH men and horses wear Collars. The difference is not only in size and character, but a man can select a fit—a horse can't. Therefore the necessity for good judgment in buying the equine kind. A cheap, badly stuffed collar of inferior leather will not only harm a horse's skin, but break in important parts before it has been in use, maybe, a couple months.

Our No. 64 and 66 have never failed to give comfort to the horse and double the money's worth to the people. We are always particular about the fit, that's why we have so many sizes.

Bring around your horses, large or small, and let us take care of their Collar and Harness wants.

Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good" and Doctor Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-poos humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for women's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve, it is unequalled. It won't satisfy those who want "booster," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equaled.

The Bridge club met with Mrs. J. N. Jackson at the customary hour Friday afternoon. Although on account of absence from this city, illness, etc. of some of the members only three tables of players participated in Mrs. Jackson's hospitality a most delightful afternoon was spent, and the game was pursued with interest and zest. One table of "42" players also enjoyed the afternoon with Mrs. Jackson. At the conclusion of the games a two course luncheon was served on daintily spread tete a tete tables, with salad in tomato cups, sandwiches and iced tea for the first course and strawberries, whipped cream and cake for the second. Mrs. Woodworth of Cuero, Texas, was the only out of town guest. Little Miss Margaret Kellogg attending her first Bridge party received the "Lions share" of attention.

"The Dissolving Circle" by the author of "Where the Trail Divides" is an interesting addition to late fiction. The setting is unique, Sioux Falls, South Dakota "the battle ground upon which a giant domestic problem is daily fought." The characterization is strong, virile as befits its setting, the theme well handled, the central character (there are no heroes in twentieth century fiction) a man among men and the style forceful, in harmony with the theme and setting. Incidentally, secret orders will find inspiration for new initiatory rites in those of the "Lethe Club."

The Baptist Ladies Aid Society observed week of prayer each afternoon of last week from 4 to 5 o'clock. Some delightful and helpful meetings were enjoyed by those who attended. They have decided to discontinue their cake market down town until September 1, but any member will gladly take orders, not later than Thursday, to be delivered Saturday, throughout the summer.

A young man was once heard to ask a married friend "if married men lived longer than single?" to which the married man replied, "it seems longer."

Don't generate worry, trouble and discord, but smile, grin, laugh and get in the merry procession. The following beautiful toast has been paid to laughter: Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the heaven of the soul, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the bead in the cup of pleasure; it dispels dejection, banishes blues and mangles melancholy; for it is the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it is what kings envy peasant, plutocrats envy the poor, the guilt to envy the innocent; its sheen on the silver of smiles, the ripple on the waters of delight, the glint of the gold of gladness; without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither; dimples would disappear and smiles would shrivel; for its the glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth-cry of mirth, the swan song of sadness.—Abilene Reporter.

The Daughters of Confederacy.

On Wednesday afternoon June 3, the Stone Fort Chapter of the U. D. C. met at the home of Misses Dedie and Mary Hoya. The object of the meeting was to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis. Before the special program the president called the chapter to order for a short business session. After minutes of the last meeting were heard each one present responded to roll call with the name of a member of the Confederate Cabinet. The secretary read a letter from a committee at Seguin requesting financial aid for a monument to be erected at that place to the memory of southern valor in the Civil war. As the Daughters of the Confederacy in Nacogdoches contemplate launching a life enterprise and asking similar favors of their friends, they instructed the treasurer to forward a donation to the chapter at Seguin.

Then the interesting subject of a monument in Nacogdoches was discussed. When a band of women get behind a movement success is certain, and ere many years have passed our historic little city will boast of a monument erected to the memory of those who wore the gray. May their undertaking meet with the earliest possible success.

After arrangements were made for services to be held June 14th to the memory of Stephen D. Lee, the program of the day was called for. Mrs. Jack Roberts gave a biographical sketch of Jefferson Davis, noting facts showing his sincere conviction and courageous action, and laying special emphasis in the noble stand he took after the war. The gentle yet firm dignity with which he bore his defeat holds a lesson for young Americans.

Mrs. B. K. Smith fittingly commented on Jefferson Davis, our chieftain, showing that the ruling power of the Confederacy was worthy the honors shown him.

Mrs. W. I. M. Smith read an interesting article on Anniversaries Texas Delights to Honor, which brought out the fact that Texas is not unmindful of those to whom credit is due. Special events of Davis' life were discussed by those present which with appreciated music completed the program.

After singing Maryland, My Maryland, and partaking of refreshments thoughtfully provided by the hostess, the chapter dispersed truer than ever to southern principles.

Mrs. I. J. Roberts. A storm party was one of the pleasures of last week. Misses Margaret and Ellece Harris being very pleasantly surprised by a party of their young friends. The Harris home on Virginia avenue is peculiarly adapted to pleasures of this nature, with its spacious rooms, splendid verandas and fine lawn. "42" and other games were freely indulged in and music added its usual charm to the pleasure of the evening.

Warner Linthicum of Appleby is in the city today.

LAW NOT UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Section of Election Statute is in Grave Doubt.

Special to The Galveston News.

Austin, Texas, June 3.—James D. Walthall, office assistant attorney general, denies in toto the story sent out from San Antonio that the attorney general's department had declared unconstitutional the amendment to the election law providing that no political party shall incorporate a demand in its platform for specific legislation until such demand shall have been submitted to a vote of the people. Mr. Walthall has been passing on such questions and his statement follows:

"We received some time ago a letter from Will A. Morris, in which the question was submitted as to whether or not the amendment to the election law which provides that no political party in this state shall ever incorporate in its platform any demand for specific legislation unless the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the people was constitutional. We answered this letter by saying that the validity of said amendment was involved in doubt, but that it had never been the custom of the attorney general's department to declare statutes unconstitutional in advance of their having been so declared by the courts, unless clearly unconstitutional beyond any doubt. We therefore declined to pass upon the question submitted. Mr. Morris replied to this letter stating that he believed the custom a good one, but that in his opinion the amendment referred to was clearly unconstitutional, submitting a number of authorities in support of his contention and asking if we did not agree with him. This letter we have not yet replied to.

A New Chinese Steamship Line.

According to the Board of Trade Journal, and the Registrar of imports and Exports at Singapore (Mr. A. Stuart) reports that a new steamship company, with a capital of 3,000,000 ticals (about $1,125,000) is being organized by Chinese and Siamese merchants with the object of entering the carrying trade between Bangkok, Singapore and Hong Kong in opposition to the North German Lloyd, who have recently come to an agreement with the Japanese owners of the vessels on the Bangkok, Hong Kong and Swatow service. As the promoters include several large rice Merchants who have usually done a chartering business on their own account, the company's success, says Mr. Stuart, seems to be assured. Meantime six vessels will be chartered and new boats built in England or Japan.

Badly Sprained Ankle Cured.

Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and had been suffering terribly for two days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Stallings, of Butler, Tenn., told us of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep and had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle. —E. M. Brumitt, Hampton, Tenn., 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Mast Bros. & Smith. dw

Mrs. John Ogg returned yesterday to her home in Rockland. Her sister, Miss Rosa Graham, accompanied her.

Nature has provided the stomach with certain natural fluids known as the digestive juices, and it is through these juices that the food we eat is acted upon in such a way as to produce the rich, red blood that flows through the veins of our body and thereby makes us strong, healthy and robust, and it is the weakening of these digestive juices that destroys health. It is our own fault if we destroy our own health, and yet it is easy for any one to put the stomach out of order. When you need to take something take it promptly, but take something you know is reliable—something like Kodol For Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Kodol is pleasant to take, it is reliable and is guaranteed to give relief. It is sold by Stripling, Haselwood & Co. dw

Mrs. F. P. Brewer came in today from Center. She was accompanied by her granddaughter, little Miss Lucile Brewer, who will remain here some time with her grandmother, Mrs. Geo. H. Weaver.

Stomach troubles are very common in the summer time and you should not only be very careful about what you eat just now, but more than this, you should be careful not to allow your stomach to become disordered, and when the stomach goes wrong take Kodol. This is the best known preparation that is offered to the people today for dyspepsia or indigestion or any stomach trouble. Kodol digests all foods. It is pleasant to take. It is sold here by Stripling, Haselwood & Co. dw

Clifford Stone, sheriff of Rusk county, is in the city today. He came after a negro named Fred Brown who was taken up by Deputy Sheriff Wilson, wanted in Henderson.

"Start Young"

To train a child into good habit. There is no habit that will add so much to the good character, the general happiness and thorough contentment of a life is the good habit of "saving." The best way to start this habit is by opening an account "at this bank" for the child. The child will become as interested in watching this account grow as it would be with a toy. This interest will harden into a habit, and the habit into character. You can open an account at this bank for your child with as small an amount as One Dollar if you like. Better come in today and do this.
