War News.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The following official communication was given out in Paris this afternoon:

"On our left wing to the north of the Oise, the battle continues with great violence. The result remains indecisive. We have been obliged at certain points to yield ground.

"Along the remainder of the front there has been no change.

"In Russia, after a battle which lasted ten days the German army which was operating between the East Prussian front and the Niemen river has been driven back along the entire line and made its retreat, abandoning a considerable quantity of war material. This army has evacuated completely the territory of the Russian Berlin, Oct. 5.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—An official report from the German army headquarters says that in the siege of Antwerp the forts of Lierre, Waelhem and Koningshoyck and the intermediate redoubts with thirty guns have been taken.

"Thus a breach has been made in the outer circle of forts," the report adds, "rendering an attack on the inner circle of forts and the town itself possible.

Two Brothers Hold Championship for Gathering Cotton.

Mt. Pleasant, Oct. 3.—Two brothers, Oscar and Watson Combs, living near Mt. Pleasant, recently picked 719 and 694 pounds of cotton, respectively, in one day. They claim to be champions, inasmuch as 1100 pounds of seed cotton of the variety they picked will turn out a 500 pound bale. If any one can beat this record they are anxious to know about it.

Has No Authority.

Austin, Oct. 5.—The federal government has no authority to deposit government funds in state banks, according to a telegram received today by Commissioner of Insurance and Banking Collier, from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. This was in answer to a telegram by Commissioner Collier sent to Mr. McAdoo on Sept. 28. He also says he would like to have a summary showing the reserve held by state banks in the several sections of Texas. Commissioner Collier had hoped that some means could be found whereby state banks could obtain federal aid in this emergency.

Baltimore Concern Buys Texas Distress Cotton.

Houston, Tex. Oct. 6.—A new impetus has been added to the "Buy-A-Bale" movement in Texas, and as a result 12,000 more bales of distress cotton will find a ready market as fast as it is ginned and prepared for sale. The Crown Cork & Seal Company of Baltimore, Md., has wired the local Chamber of Commerce to purchase for it 6,000,000 pounds of Texas distress cotton at 10 cents per pound. This means that this concern will spend $600,000 for Texas cotton during 1914.

Dismantling The Furnace.

Learning that the State railroad from the furnace to the ore beds was being torn up and the ties burned, and that the new brick work recently put under the furnace boilers by the Texas Iron Association, was being torn out, a Press-Journal reporter went over a few days ago to see if the report was true, and we found it correct.

The road from the furnace to ore beds, a distance of about three miles, has been torn up, the rails stacked at the furnace ready to be taken to some unknown point, and we were informed at the prison that the ties were being hauled into the walls and being sawed up for wood. The brick work that was recently placed under the boilers at the furnace by the Texas Iron Association is being taken out, and the boilers left swinging to wooden beams. We presume the local management at Rusk is working under orders from headquarters from Huntsville, where we understand the brick will be shipped for repair work at that prison.

This shows that the present prison commissioners are determined to destroy what little is left of the East Texas penitentiary before the next administration comes in. But it certainly is strange to a bystander to see such willful destruction of property. The railroad was recently repaired and put in good running order, and the work on the furnace and boilers is all new, and why it is destroyed in this manner is more than we can understand.

It is bad enough for the tax payers to be compelled to lose $20 per month each on 45 convicts, and feed 16 mules while they raise less than eight bales of cotton and no feed stuff at all, but to see these convicts used in destroying property that recently cost thousands of dollars to construct, is beyond our comprehension. We simply give the facts. Some one else will have to solve the problem.

And in those days it came to pass that a certain farmer spake unto himself thus: Now I see my chance. I will plant more cotton next year while the others have left off acres and cut down the crop so as to reduce the yield and raise the price. Whereupon his neighbors, seeing his designs, gathered themselves together and decided that this farmers name should be changed to Mud.

The hookworm campaign of this county, under the State Health Department has close. The examinations made were 2016. Total infections found 617, nearly 33 per cent. Examinations between the ages of 6 and 18 years, total 1034. Of those 48 per cent were infected. Total treatment all age 898. Dr. E. D. Outlaw, the physician in charge, has gone to Clarksville Texas, for his next field operations.

Sorghums

Sorghums of various varieties are grown extensively throughout the State, both as grain and forage crops. In the western and northern portions the growing of the grain sorghums takes the place of the corn crop. Grain sorghums such as the milo, dwarf milo, kaffir, either black, red or white hull, teterita grow best in a semi-arid climate and therefore are not as well adapted as the sweet sorghums for East Texas.

Sorghums were first grown in the United States about 1853, the seed having been imported from North Africa.

As the farmers of Nacogdoches are at this time attempting to change their cropping system in order to meet the new conditions, they should not overlook the growing of sweet sorghum, not only as a forage or hay crop but also as silage. The red amber, Minnesota amber, and sumac varieties of sweet sorghum will all grow on the soils of Nacogdoches county, and can be planted upon the same land from which a crop of winter grain such as rye or oats had been harvested.

Sorghums should not be planted on the same land year after year as they are large feeders of Nitrogen and should therefore be planted in a crop rotation with a legume either a winter legume such as vetch or burr clover or the summer legumes of which quite a number grow here to perfection.

The sweet varieties should be planted here in preference to the grain sorghums, as our climatic conditions are apt to hinder the forming of good grain heads, besides the larger sugar content in sweet varieties make them more palatable, and stock will eat them with greater relish.

With a ready market about to be created in Nacogdoches for all forage crops there is no reason why the growing of such crops as the sorghums, peanuts, and cowpeas should not become as great a money crop to the farmer as cotton has been in the past. There is one thing I want to make clear, and that is raise enough of these crops so that you will only have the surplus to sell and keep enough stock on your farms to which you can feed the bulk of the forage produced, in this manner only can you retain the fertility of your soil. If you sell all of your forage instead of returning a good percentage of it back to your soil in the form of manure you will be robbing your soil of its fertility. Just the same as you have been doing in the past with the growing of cotton.

Geo. T. McNess,
Supt. Station No. 11.

Josh Henson has orders from the Gulf Refining Co., to buy a bale of 10c cotton for this company. This bale is to be taken off of market in the Buy a Bale move. Josh says he wants to find the poorest widow in the county who will sell a bale at 10c, one who is really needy. He has been offered chances that he has turned down.

A Prize For a Peck of Peanuts, Finders, Goobers or Ground Peas.

Washington, D. C. Sept. 30.—The boys of southern Virginia have become interested in raising peanuts, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture has been organizing peanut clubs to assist them. The first crop is now ready for gathering and promises such good returns that it is hoped that similar peanut clubs may soon be organized in other parts of the South. The Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Virginia, and Tennessee all offer excellent fields where good peanuts may be grown. In parts of all these States it is hoped that the boys may be taught to raise peanuts either as a cash crop or as feed for pigs.

Substantial prizes have been offered by certain peanut butter companies to encourage young men to raise good peanuts. The basis of award is an exhibit of a peck of clean peanuts with a history of the crop as it was raised and a statement of the yield and the profit. Each boy works on an acre of ground and the market value of hay also obtained from the acre is counted in with the rest of the profit.

The peanut clubs which have been organized in eight counties in southern Virginia are similar to the Department's corn clubs. The age limit for members is from ten to eighteen years as it is in the corn clubs. The peanut butter companies that have offered special prizes have made it possible for boys to compete in the following counties: Isle of Wight, Prince George, Nansemond, Surry, Dinwiddie, Sussex, Chesterfield, and Greenville. This covers a district already famous for the production of a superior variety of peanuts, and is a most favorable locality for trying out the peanut club idea.

The young members of the new club commenced work in June. Many of those who prepared the seed bed thoroughly, planted their peanuts at the proper time, and gave them good cultivation, secured a good stand and are assured a good harvest. Even those who do not win prizes will have their valuable crops and their more valuable experience as compensation.

State University.

Austin, Tex. Sept. 27.—The Daily Texan, the college paper for the University of Texas, made its initial appearance for this session on the 24th. It is Vol. 15, No. 1. It carries beneath its heading the legend, "First College Daily in the South." It is a self-supporting student institution, edited by students, managed by students, its news gathered by students and is devoted entirely to students' interests. The first number of the session contains six pages and looks good to the business office, since it has about two columns of advertising to one of reading matter.

Child's Play in Mexico.

What is the fuss in Mexico about?

Why, Panchy and Venny each wants to be the big boy in a convention.

And the dear people—where do they come in?

They do not come in. They stay quietly in the background to form the scenery and constitute the chorus.

Is it a difference of opinion over national problems or principles of government that has caused the trouble?

It is not. It is merely a question of who can be boss.

It is not a question of who wants to be boss. That has already been settled. Everybody does.

Unfortunately, everybody can't be—at least not at the same time.

Just now the issue is between Pancho Villa and Venustiano Carranza.

These two gentlemen combined with each other to overthrow Huerta.

Now that Huerta is overthrown, each seeks to eliminate the other.

Villa has demanded that Carranza resign as first chief of the constitutionalists.

Why? Because Carranza has not done anything out of keeping with his pledges to the people?

Not at all, but because Carranza is in a position to control a convention of chiefs and leaders it is proposed to hold.

Carranza retorts that he will resign if Villa will relinquish his command of the army of the north.

Why? Because Villa has mistreated the people or abused the principles of government?

Not at all, but because Carranza is afraid that if he resigns without checkmating Villa the latter will gain supremacy in the country.

It is mere child's play.

"You can't paddle in my rain barrel," and "You shan't lide o' own my cellar," would be dignified beside the criminations and recriminations these two men are hurling at each other from a safe distance.—Houston Chronicle.

Non-Union Railroad Men Ask Injunction Against Railways And Unions.

they were refused work because they were not members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, J. A. Underwood, C. W. Irwin and H. D. Wallas, all of Dallas, today filed an injunction suit in the Fourteenth District Court against the organization named and the Texas and Pacific, Houston and Texas Central, International and Great Northern, St. Louis Southwestern and the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railroads to restrain them from refusing to employ any man solely for the reason that he is not a member of such brotherhood or to discharge any man for that reason.

It is one of the largest suits of its kind ever filed in Dallas and will involve scores of railroads and thousands of men.

The suit was brought by Judge J. C. Patton of Dallas, and Judge Kenneth Foree has issued an order for the defendants named to appear before him Oct. 31 to show cause why the injunction asked for should not be made permanent.

The petition alleges that the railroads have a contract with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen which, in effect, is "discriminatory, oppressive, preventive of competition and the freedom of the brotherhood."

The petition recites that the three plaintiffs have made their livelihood for the last ten years as switchmen and that they are competent to hold positions as such, but that they have been refused work by the railroads named because of the contract these railroads have with the brotherhood.—Dallas Journal

Half And Half Cotton

The Dallas cotton buyers claim that there is being shipped from various points in Texas and Oklahoma cotton that is known to the trade as "half and half." This cotton is not a merchantable product and is being refused by the cotton trade generally, the Dallas Cotton Exchange having officially posted a notice to that effect.

"Half and half" cotton is raised from a species of seed which produces from 40 to 50 per cent lint from 1,000 pounds of seed, while the standard American seed at 1,500 pounds will average 85 per cent. This cotton, however, is not considered by the trade any better than East India cotton, which sold last year 2 cents under the American products, and further, the staple is very short, is without strength and is considered even less desirable than the standard American linters.

There are rumors and surmises, since the recent visit of Mr. Geo. S. Waid, assistant General Manager of the T. & N. O. Railway Co. as to the putting on of an additional through train from Beaumont to Dallas. The night train has been taken off and Nacogdoches is not sorry. But a useful, practical train would be welcome.

Sterling, Conn.—"I am a girl of 22 years and I used to faint away every month and was very weak. I was also bothered a lot with female weakness. I read your little book 'Wisdom for Women,' and I saw how others had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and it has made me feel like a new girl and I am now relieved of all these troubles. I hope all young girls will get relief as I have. I never felt better in my life.—Miss BERTHA A. PELOUIN, Box 117, Sterling, Conn.

Massena, N. Y.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I highly recommend it. If anyone wants to write to me I will gladly tell her about my case. I was certainly in a bad condition as my blood was all turning to water. I had pimples on my face and a bad color, and for five years I had been troubled with suppression. The doctors called it 'Anemia and Exhaustion,' and said I was all run down, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me out all right."—Miss LAVISA MYRES, Box 74, Massena, N. Y.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Governor Colquitt made a big speech before the legislature last Saturday, in favor of the proposed state bank bill. He spoke three hours and never laxed. He went into details from every point of view, quoting statistics and history. He requested the members to ask him questions proposing to meet all objections. His arguments were strong, pointed and independent. His emphasis and fervor were impressive. He referred to his being called a politician, and did not deny it, and he gave names of other politicians whose honor was notable, such as members of congress and the U. S. senate. He fired hot shot at the newspapers that he said have falsified his positions and the merits of the Bank Bill. He predicted that if this bill be rejected now the bank would yet be inaugurated later, and those now opposing it would yet be its supporters. He handled some of the interests who are opposing it, in strong language.

Hon. Giles M. Haltom of the Nacogdoches Sentinel made this office a little visit upon his return from a visit to the East Texas fair. He was in company with Judge Middlebrook and daughters, and the party made the trip in an automobile.—Garrison News.

Important to all women

Readers of this Paper.

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the results of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores.

THE TOWN OF INDEPENDENCE

For Years the Cradle of Culture and Refinement—Home of Sam Houston, Scene of His Joys and Sorrows—Seat of Baylor University—Grave of Margaret Lee Houston and Little Sam.

BY H. C. FULLER

Dr. J. E. Mayfield
Editor Sentinel:

The town of Independence is situated in Washington county, Texas, sixteen miles due north of Brenham, which is the capital of the county. It was my good fortune to live in Brenham one year, and during that time I accepted frequent hospitalities at the hands of the good people of that section and visited practically every part of Washington county, and also old San Felipe, the place where Stephen Fuller Austin, established the first permanent Anglo-American settlement in what is now the state of Texas. I shall have something to say about San Felipe, this old shrine of liberty in some future communication.

The people of Brenham and Washington county are nearly all Germans, of the second and third generation. I mean by this that they are the children and grand-children of German immigrants who came to Texas at the dawn of the 19th century and anchored themselves to the soil: Only a few of the original settlers are now living. They are as good people as God ever made, and their excellent citizenship has contributed in no small measure to the material growth and permanent progress of Texas and the great industrial section in which they live, Washington county and other counties in the southwest. In Washington county the ratio of German population to what we call American or English people is about fifty to one in favor of the German population, and yet we find the various offices of the county divided almost equally. For instance Green Morgan is county clerk; William Wendt tax assessor; Reichardt Hoffman, tax collector; Prof. Bohmer, superintendent of education; Burney Parker, sheriff; E. L. Rasberry, county attorney, E. H. Bolden, district clerk. Charlie Muegge, treasurer, and others in like proportion. No friction of any kind whatever has ever occurred between the different nationalities, because they are all loyal American citizens.

To return to Independence: My first visit to Independence was made in the month of May when the famous blue-bonnet flower was in its glory and when the valleys along the road looked like great undulating billows of water. No prettier sight could be imagined.

Washington county is not as well timbered as east Texas counties and is inclined to be hilly, however, the hills, instead of being abrupt or steep, are really long swells, that fade away into the dreamy distances of the great Brazos section. Here and there are giant liveoaks, that are in all probability hundreds of years old. As one rides over this lovely country in a swiftly moving automobile, he cannot help but understand why Sam Houston, and other Texas heroes settled there and declared it was the prettiest country in the world, nor as he approaches Independence can he help but feel that he is indeed treading upon sacred ground.

Independence is beautiful in its ruins and memories. The very atmosphere is surcharged with a refinement that like the odor of roses still clings to the broken vase. The people who now live at Independence are descendants of those who signed the Texas Declaration of Independence in March 1836, at old Washington, ten miles further east from Independence on the bank of the Brazos.

The first object of attention as we reach the environs of Independence is a large three story stone building, and numbers of stone out-buildings. The larger building was the original Baylor University which was for years located at Independence, and where hundreds of students attended from Texas and many of the states east of the Mississippi river. The university was established by the Baptists of Texas, old Union Baptist Association taking the initial step. Several thousand acres of land were dedicated to the University and it flourished. Sam Houston moved over from Huntsville, in order to educate his children. History, romance and sentiment everywhere.

As time passed the Baptist people got into a wrangle, and the great institution was divided and moved far away—the male section to Waco and the female section to Belton. The 70th session of each section recently opened at the places where they are located. Some time I will write the entire story and tell how the trouble came about, and how it came to pass that the beautiful little town of Independence came to be deserted.

The four story stone building and all the lands were sold to a citizen of Independence for a song, because, as I was told the institution owed him and he took it to settle the debt. Later Father Huhn came down from somewhere in the north and bought the land and buildings for the purpose of establishing an industrial school for colored boys. In due time about 100 colored boys ranging in age from eight to sixteen years arrived and were put to work on the farm, while they were not receiving instruction in the school. It is alleged that the negroes were not well treated and that every time one got a chance he slipped out and took refuge at some of the neighboring houses—white or black. Of course this condition of affairs was not relished by the good people of Independence and finally all the negro boys left and returned to their homes in the north. Father Huhn, and two sisters still occupy the old Baylor University building, and devote their time to dairying and truck farming.

Baylor University was named in honor of Judge R. E. B. Baylor, and this distinguished old time jurist is buried just across the road from the old University building, under a large live oak tree. A very plain, time worn and weather beaten slab marks his resting place.

Just under the hill, and on the road that leads from the town proper to where Sam Houston, first settled at Independence, is the very church in which Gen. Houston professed religion in 1836, great venerable wooden structure surrounded with ancient liveoak trees. The very seats on which he sat are still there, the same old Bible is still there, the windows are quaint and old fashion. It was my good fortune to attend religious services three times at this venerable place—this sacred shrine of other days. In this beloved house the great Graves of Georgia once held a protracted meeting, and Rufus Burleson, used to pour forth his most fiery eloquence. Supported by four tall cypress posts only a few steps outside the church is a large bell, which was presented to the church by the mother of Margaret Lea, who was the second wife of General Houston. The tones of this great bell can be heard eight miles away and in every stroke what a volume—what volumes of history and pathetic incident well up and roll upward and outward. Only a few steps also from the church in another direction we see a vault built of solid stone and brick. It is the last resting place of Margaret Lea Houston, her beloved mother, and her infant son Sam Houston, Jr., who died at Independence, and whose death broke the heart of the stern old warrior, hero and statesman. I was shown the room in which the child died, and the mantel over the old fashion fireplace, against which Gen. Houston leaned and wept in the agony of his heart.

Just across the road from the church is a building fast falling into decay. It once knew better days and had the reputation of being the center of refinement and literary culture. In one of the large east rooms of this house Russell McArdle, the famous artist, under the personal direction of Gen. Houston, painted the picture known the world over as the "Battle of San Jacinto," or rather "General Houston after the Battle of San Jacinto." Col. Mat Whitaker, of Nacogdoches, you will remember, is shown in the picture. It has always been, and is this moment, a source of wonder to me, that the great state of Texas noted for its culture, its love for venerable things and its pride in patriotism, does not take such steps as might be necessary to preserve in a permanent way these shrines of history that are fast falling to ruin and forgetfulness. And in this connection I still remember how the old Stone

Fort was razed in order to make room for a structure of brick, that might add a few more dollars in the mad race of commercialism, that now holds the world in its grip. As poor as I am, and as I always expect to be, wouldn't give what I know about the venerable shrines of this country, and the profound as well as sacred interests that attaches to them, for all the dollars that could be piled in or on a ten-acre plot of ground.

All around Independence history is written in large characters. In the future, when I have time I shall tell you about the cemetery at Independence and what I found there, also many other things of historic interest. I shall also tell you of two trips made to old Washington and what I found there.

More Than Enough is Too Much.

To maintain health, a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets and you will soon be all right again. For sale by all dealers. dw

Paris, Oct. 1—It is officially announced that the reserve territorials and men of the auxiliary service of the north of France who were withdrawn from that section at the time of the German invasion, while others were sent back home because they were not needed, now also have been sent home temporarily.

What Would you Do.

There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. Men act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value. Mrs. O. E. A Beautiful Double-Wedding.
From Monday's Daily:

A most beautiful and impressive ceremony took place at the First Methodist church this morning at 10:15 o'clock when two of the most prominent couples in the city were united in marriage. Rev. S. S. McKenney officiating. The contracting parties were Mr. James Roy Gray and Miss Clara May Hoya, also Mr. Joe Ivey and Miss Dophie Hillenkamp. Each of the couples used the ring-ceremony according to the Ritual of the Methodist church and the entire service was most deeply impressive. Only a few relatives and friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Ivey went to Galveston and other points and Mr. and Mrs. Gray went to Ft. Worth and other points.

Why Not Publish It.

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru, Ind. was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes, "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by all dealers. dw

Washington, Oct. 1.—The British government today through Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, notified the state department that Great Britain would not interfere with shipments of foodstuffs from the United States to Holland.

It Always Does The Work.

"I like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy better than any other," writes R. E. Roberts, Homer City, Pa. "I have taken it off and on for years and it has never failed to give the desired results." For sale by all dealers. dw

Callao, Peru, Oct. 1.—The Kosmos steamer Marie arrived here today with the crew of the British steamer Bankfields, which was sunk by the German cruiser Leipzig of Eten, Peru.

Toned up Whole System.

"Chamberlain's Tablets have done more for me than I ever dared hope for," writes Mrs. Esther Mae Baker, Shreveport, N. Y. "I used several bottles of these tablets a few months ago. They not only cured me of bilious attacks, sick headaches and that tired out feeling, but toned up my whole system." For sale by all dealers. dw

Lowestoft, England, Oct. 1.—Via London.—The crew of the steamer Selby, sunk by a mine in the North sea, while on a voyage from Shields to Antwerp, was landed here today.

The State Bank Bill

Two petitions are displayed in a prominent central business house in this town, one addressed to Hon. V. A. Collins, state senator from this district, and the other a duplicate of this, but addressed to Hon. A. T. Russell, our representative in the legislature stating that the signers "urge you to use your vote and influence toward the defeat of the proposed law establishing a Central State Bank for the State of Texas, and the use of the state school fund securities as capital for said bank.

We vigorously protest against the use of any part of the permanent school fund as proposed by the bill, believing that this is a sacred trust fund," etc.

These two petitions had fifteen signatures this morning. Others have not been reported. The signers are mostly leading business men.

Apply Sloan's Freely For Lumbago

Your attacks of Lumbago are not nearly so hopeless as they seem. You can relieve them almost instantly by a simple application of Sloan's Liniment on the back and loins. Lumbago is a form of rheumatism, and yield perfectly to Sloan's which penetrates quickly all in through the sore, tender muscles, limbers up the back and makes it feel fine. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25 cents of any druggist and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief. dw

In the Mexico muddle it seems as if it is just about to clear up every now and then. But it fails at the last point. Gen. Carranza went before the conference of leaders called to settle it, and tendered his resignation in order to remove all obstacles to peace. But the conference almost unanimously refused to accept his resignation. Gen. Villa is again raising a resistance in the northern part of Mexico. What is the matter with him is not easy to understand. It looks like he is afraid that if peace be made he will lose his job. And he has a lot of followers of that stripe. War is their only diversion.

The U. S. Department of Commerce reports a total of the 1914 crop of cotton ginned up to Sept. 25, as 2986 bales, as against the same period in 1913, 5069 bales.

The Jacksonville Daily Progress received and published a telegram from John B. Long representative at Austin saying:

After committee examination on Bank of Texas bill, and developments thereon, unless otherwise instructed by concerted action I shall vote for the bill.

How long will the war last is a question. About 50 years ago a war broke out here. It burst forth as suddenly and as vigorously as did the European war. Both sides predicted that it all would be over in a few days, and a slow man would never get to it. So they all fell over themselves rushing into it. It lasted four long hard years and both sides were sick of it, but neither side would back down. By sheer force of numbers and advantages, the North simply crushed the life out of the South. That alone ended it. Will the war in Europe do the same way. Or will it not be worse?

Local history is always interesting, in glancing over some of the files of the "Daily Phone" which was at one time the name of the Sentinel it was found that three of the business firms who had advertisement with the paper then are still advertising. Mayer & Schmidt, still occupy the same place, except when larger space is wanted. J. H. Thomas' grocery, except his space is larger and Dr. J. A. Drewery, Dentist, in the weekly. The date of the paper was Sept. 8 1899 Vol. 1 No. 41. Some other business firms then were J. H. Summers, grocery, Howard Irion, grocery, K. P. Branch, grocery and McNeil Chapman, dry goods.

Dallas juries have evidently determined to uplift the city and stamp out crime. The policeman who shot and killed a 17-year-old boy who was running from arrest was given one day in jail for the killing. Fearful penalty. Now, it is certain that the next man who is tempted to shoot will stay his hand. He might suffer a slap on the wrist.—Mt. Pleasant Times-Review.

The policeman will spend a day in jail, the mother a lifetime of mourning and the boy—who knows where? One killing out of a hundred is justifiable, but down at bottom no man has a right to kill another. When such crimes are punished with a day in jail servitude—horrors!—and a medal for bravery, there is no wonder that Texas and especially Dallas bear bad reputations. —Brenham Banner.

Hunting.

I bought a fine, new-fangled gun, and said, "I'll shoot about a ton, of rabbits owls and jays; with cartridges and kindred goods I'll roam the prairies and the woods, and thus spend pleasant days. It's long since I have tasted game; domestic meats are all the same, they're stale and flat; so I shall wander far and near, and shoot a groundhog or a deer, a chipmunk or a cat." So off I strode, and I could feel within my breast the Nimrod's zeal. I had no catiff fear; but everywhere I went I found, on posts, or sticking in the ground, this sign, "No Hunting Here." I walked about a thousand miles, and saw, on fences, trees and stiles, the same dogged signs; and farmers, when they saw me come, would say, "Keep off my land, by gum, or you will pay a fine." Ah, it would be pleasant to hunt, and do the joyous Nimrod's stunt, far from the maddening crowd, but for that sign, which ruins bliss, and is about as bad as this: "No Trespassing Allowed!" Is there no place where one can take his nice new gun and shoot a snake, a tree toad or a fly, and not behold those signs which say, "These grounds are private—keep away!" I pause for a reply. Walt Mason.

Hernandez, Captor of Silliman, Under Arrest in Santone

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 3.—Luis Antonio Hernandez, captor of United States Consul John R. Silliman at Saltillo, was arrested here today at the instance of Mr. Silliman, who recognized him on the street. He was held on a charge of smuggling a diamond into the United States and another charge has been made out, charging him with being an undesirable alien. Prosecution was made by United States District Attorney Camp before United States Commissioner Edwards. Consul Silliman told the court officials that Hernandez threw him into a dungeon and daily for several days threatened him with death by torture, saying his (Silliman's) life was being spared for the time that his execution might be made a sort of holiday for patriotic Mexicans. Mr. Silliman says his captor informed him the Mexican army had crossed the Rio Grande and had captured cities and towns in Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri. Although he knew this statement to be untrue, Silliman says he feared to dispute Hernandez lest he might execute his threats of torture. Hernandez, who was military commander at Saltillo, Silliman declares, was the bitterest hater of Americans in Mexico. Silliman departed tonight for Washington to make report to the state department.

The Old Girls.

When man grows old and musedbound, and crippled by the loads he's carried, it's pleasant then to look around, and see the girls he might have married. Some chance, that once conveyed a smart, prevented this or 't'other wedding ah, then he had a broken heart, and found this life but weary sledding. But now, grown old, he casts his gaze on many a dismal female relic, that he adored in other days, and thought enchanting and angelic. That matron with the shrewish tongue, who keeps her neighborhood excited—she was a peach when she was young, and once with her my troth was plighted. And that old maid who loves her cat, and has of singing birds a covey, and who has grown absurdly fat—ah, once I called her "Lovey Dovey!" And yonder suffragist so grim, whose purpose is poor man's abatement; long since I sang a lover's hymn, on summer eves, beneath her casement! I thank the destiny that shaped my course when I was young and giddy! Ah me, the perils I escaped, when I pursued the maid and widdy! I see old sweethearts in the town, as here I raise my Ebenezer, and thank them that they turned me down, and handed me the ice cream treezer.—Walt Mason.

"Petrograd"

Beginning with Sedan Day, "St. Petersburg" is no more. The misty marshes where its towers stand are hereafter to be known as "Petrograd." "Burg," meaning "borough," in English-speaking lands, frowns in harsher sense of "fortress" or "stronghold" in German. Luther sang of "ein feste Burg." "Grad" is an exact equivalent, as in Biograd (Belgrade). The Russian peasant speaks of his capital as "Tsarigrad" the czar's strong town.

Peter the Great, who founded the Muscovite capital long after New York was a lively town, spoke German and welcomed Germans to his lands. Their descendants are numerous about the capital. Such places as Kronstadt have German names that will have to be dealt with. St. Petersburg has long been the only great capital to bear a foreign name with its own people.

Germany is strict about using a German name whenever possible. "Luttich" for Liege and "Lowen" for Louvain are becoming almost as familiar as "Lothringen" for Lorraine. In Berlin the custom extends to the most ordinary words.

"Petrograd" is a first rate name; easy to spell, truthful and not very long, for a Russian one. Complaint might be made on behalf of St. Peter, whose name the town has borne so long; but Russian higher criticism may have disposed of him in the Princeton fashion. Many Russians had already slighted him by referring to their capital simply as "Petersburg."

Let's Begin To Build.

Come out of it. What? Why, the idea that everything has gone or is going to the demnition-bowwows.

It's just the other way. True, some of us will have to pocket our losses, either real or imaginary.

But everything is here just as it was six months ago.

The land is here.

The houses are here.

The industries are here.

Nothing has been subtracted from the sum total of our possessions.

Our chief industry—cotton—is the one thing that we must sell at a sacrifice.

That calls for tightening the belt up a bit.

But it isn't ruin.

It is simply a call on our initiative.

It means some readjustment.

The chances are that we shall be the gainers in the long run.

We have been putting too much dependence in cotton.

Now is our time to reform.

But don't lose sight of the fact that no invading army has left us in desolation.

We still have resources to provoke the admiration of avarice.

Therefore begin to build.

Begin right where you left off six weeks ago.

Nothing is to be gained by inactivity.

The Times-Herald has been getting out a 12 page paper when eight pages might have sufficed.

On several occasions it put out a 16-page paper when it could have crowded the business into 12 pages.

And why?

Because it wanted to set a good example.

There is no sense in running to cover unless one absolutely has to.

Bring on the promoters.

Get out the architects.

Start the ball to rolling.

One dollar spent now will do infinitely more good than $100 spent when the tide of prosperity is running high.

Hog Cholera Serum Ready.

Temple, Texas, Oct. 3.—Secretary W. E. D. Rummell of the Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of information from the Texas A. & M. college at College Station that a supply of hog cholera serum, thought to be ample to supply the wants of the farmers of the state, has been prepared and stored at the college laboratory and that local requirements will be filled on request.

Masonic Sanitarium at San Antonio

Following the receipt of a charter for the National Masonic Sanitarium Association of San Antonio, Friday, members of the Masonic Order in this city Friday night held a meeting at which the following officers, who also are directors of the association, were elected for the coming year:

C. A. Soule, president; Dr. Conn L. Milburn, vice president and chief physician; Harry W. Hamilton treasurer; Luther L. Powell, secretary; A. W. Houston, general counsel; C. S. Goodwin, business manager; L. I. Powell and C. S. Goodwin, grand organizers.

It was ynnounced at the meeting that, while several valuable sites for the sanitarium have been offered, none has been selected as yet. The choice of a site is expected to be made within the course of the next few days. The sanitarium proper is to cost no less than $250,000 and architects are working on plans for the building. Actual construction is expected to commence within the next month or so.

Although the proposition first was agitated only a short while ago, more than $125,000 already is in sight, coming from Masonic bodies in various parts of the country. The first donation to the sanitarium fund has been made by A. W. Houston, grand master of the Masons of Texas, who received No. 1 of the certificates that are being given to donors.

The committee in charge is preparing a parchment, on which the sanitarium proposition is to be outlined, which will be sent to President Wilson. Another will be sent to Secretary of State Bryan and these two will be given the opportunity of making the second and third donations to the funds, receiving certificates Nos. 2 and 3. Theodore Roosevelt will be given the opportunity of securing certificate No. 5.

While all of the officers of the association and the directors are members of the San Antonio branch of the Order of Masons, the association is national in its scope.

Governor-Elect Urges Farmers to Raise More Livestock

Temple, Tex., Oct. 4.—Talking on farming altogether, Governor-elect James E. Ferguson officially opened the East Texas Fair at this place yesterday. A large crowd was present on opening day and much interest was shown in his "agricultural oration." Livestock raising was encouraged by him and he specifically urged that the farmers of Texas allot more time and study to the raising of more and better hogs. The fair will continue for several days.

Wants To Succeed Sterett

Corpus Christi, Tex., Oct. 3.—Friends of W. W. Wood of Rockport are circulating petitions asking Governor-elect Ferguson to appoint Mr. Wood state game, fish and oyster commissioner under the Ferguson administration, succeeding W. G. Sterett, the present incumbent.

Take Bank Fight to the People Says Colquitt.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 5.—Governor Colquitt, to all intents and purposes, is going to begin war and more war in his effort to get bank legislation. He said Monday that he intends to keep the legislature here until Christmas, if necessary, in his efforts to get what he calls relief for the farmers. Furthermore, he will speak at Tyler Saturday on his bank bill and he announces that in all likelihood he will make a number of engagements throughout North Texas, and carry his fight to the people now as James Stephen Hogg carried the railroad commission bill fight to the people.

The governor is complaining very vigorously at the newspapers and insists that they are misrepresenting the side of the question advocated by the bank proponents. As a matter of fact he walked into the attorney general's office today and remarked to the first assistant attorney general:

"Cureton, I am going to keep this legislature here until December. There is one bill I want you to prepare for me. Draw me a bill that will provide for official reporting of all testimony taken in hearings and addresses on the floor of the house and provide penalties for any newspaper or newspaper reporter that misquotes or garbles the proceedings."

The Warriors Lament.

The glory and the pomp of war are mostly in the poet's song. Ah, what was I enlisted for? To dig a ditch some ten miles long. My dreams were all of dress parade, of flaunting plumes and banners gay, and here I labor with a spade, and dig for sixteen cents a day. When first I heard my country's cry her call for men to guard her shore, I said I'd gladly bleed and die and steep my narrow bones in gore. I always loved the soldier's trade, I ever yearned to join the fray, and here I struggle with a spade, and dig for sixteen cents a day. I saw myself returning home, all scarred and wounded, yet superb, a captured helmet on my dome, and trophies torn from Hun or Serb; in dreams a conquerer I strode adown my native village street, while women kneeled along the road, and threw bright blossoms at my feet. But if to that dear town I go, that town of noble sons bereft, the only scars I'll have to show are those the Coggone shovel left. Ah not for me the shining spade, it is not mine to charge or slay, for I must labor with a spade, and pull down sixteen cents a day. Walt Mason.

No Aches or Pains

Peruna Did It for Me.

"I find Peruna an excellent spring and summer medicine and am glad to call the attention of my friends to it. I know by experience that Peruna is a good medicine, and always recommend it whenever I have an opportunity. I can truthfully say that I have no traces of my old complaint, and have neither ache nor pain, and enjoy life. Words cannot express my appreciation for the good Peruna has done me."

PERUNA THE SPRING AND SUMMER MEDICINE.

"I used to get cramps in my stomach. I had sick headaches. My stomach nearly killed me. My family physician only gave me temporary relief. I got out of patience and had given up all hopes of recovery. I then wrote to Dr. Hartman and he advised me to take Peruna. I got a bottle of Peruna and commenced using it. Soon got better and am now entirely cured and feel like a new woman. Peruna is my comfort. I will never be without it." Mrs. Thomas M. Morgan, R. F. D. 2, Wadsworth, Ohio.

The Legislature.

Austin, Oct. 1.—After a conference this morning with Representative Calvin, champion of the Bank of Texas bill on the floor of the house, Gov. Colquitt decided to appear before the house committee on banking tonight and give his views on the measure. It is reported that the governor would favor the Bank of Texas bill, even were the school bonds eliminated altogether, as it is apparent that the Bank of Texas could be started on a small scale with the other funds which it would get. These funds it is estimated, would reach about $7,000,000. The question however, which the committee in the house is attempting to solve, is just exactly how much of these funds would be utilized for a banking business.

State Treasurer J. M. Edwards today appeared before the house committee and occupied the entire morning session. Mr. Edwards told of the various funds on hand and the amount now available. He said that besides the $800,000 now in the state depositories, there is about $750,000 in cash in the treasury which might be used for the Bank of Texas. Questioned as to the state utilizing the $17,000,000 of school bonds, Mr. Edwards said that before he would permit the conversion of these bonds into the capital stock of the proposed bank, he would obtain an opinion from the state's legal adviser as to the constitutionality of the proposition; he would have to satisfy himself as to the safety of the proposition. He did not think he would be secured if the state school bonds were converted into money and this money distributed among the state banks in Texas, certificates being issued in their stead, and the title of these certificates fully established.

Assistant Attorney General Cureton is now preparing an exhaustive brief to be submitted to the legislature on the constitutionality of the utilization of the school bonds for the proposed bank. It is understood the department will hold the proposition constitutional.

Report Of A Pleasant Outing

It was further evidenced yesterday afternoon that "distance does lead enchantment," when twenty-five ladies of Christ Church Guild motored out to the beautiful home at Rose Lake Farm of Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas Hall. During the business session it was decided that the members spend each Monday afternoon from now until Christmas sewing, making appropriate things for the holidays, especial interest will be taken in dainty baby dresses, dust caps, fancy and plain aprons. Any order placed with the guild ladies will be much appreciated. An enjoyable aftermath to this enthusiastic meeting was a refreshment course of delicious cake and cream. The Guild adjourned to meet next Monday with Mrs. Gus Nelson.

Plans Are Abandoned

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—All plans for holding the third international peace conference at The Hague next year have been abandoned. This was announced today at the State Department.

Mind Cure

Said the learned apothecary, as he handed me his pills, "These will make you blithe and merry, they will cure all human ills. They will kill the microbes buzzin' in your vitals and your head, it you'll only take a dozen just before you go to bed." So I took them for the glanders, which had held me for a spell, for the numps and yaller jaunders, and they made me sound and well. On, those pills I recommended, till I saw their merits I defened every time I had a chance. Then the able druggists perished, and a new one took the store, and the pills I loved and cherished weren't compounded any more. Then a sample pill I carried to an analyst of fame, and around his study tarried while he analyzed the same. And his laughter made him totter when his task was done, by jing: "this is made of flour and water, and it wouldn't cure a thing!" Thus the man of science lilted, for his task had made him gay; and I humbled felt and wilted, as I took the pill away. Just the same, those pills had cured me, changed my health from bad to good, as the pharmacist assured me, on his honor, that they would!—Walt Mason.

Why Newspapers Sell Goods

Newspaper circulations are built by public confidence. People believe in the newspapers they read. They personally know most of the local advertisers. When a national product is advertised in the newspapers it enters good society. It has the stamp of familiarity. It carries confidence with it. It reaches the people when they are in the mood to buy and tells of goods readily obtainable.—Exchange.

R. W. Sears Of Sears Roe-buck Dead

Chicago, Sept. 29.—R. W. Sears, founder of Sears, Roe-buck and company, who died yesterday at his summer home near Waukesha, Wis., left a fortune estimated at $25,000,000, it was learned today. Mr. Sears, according to business associates, was the originator of the mail order enterprise. He began his business career in 1884 while working as a railroad telegraph operator, making a purchase of a dozen watches. He was then 21 years old and retired at the age of 45. He was 51 years old at his death.

From Monday's Daily:

The Joint Peace Services by the different churches of the city held last night at the Methodist church were attended by as many people as could possibly squeeze into the building. Many were turned away for lack of room. The songs and the sermon were quite impressive. In the sermon Rev. M. C. Johnson of the Main Street Presbyterian church was at his best, and the special song by Miss Freeman, of Rusk was greatly appreciated.

The free will offering for the Red Cross Society amounted to $43.44.

To The Baptist Churches of Nacogdoches County.

The Nacogdoches County Baptist Association convenes with the First Baptist Church of Nacogdoches, at Nacogdoches on Thursday, October 22nd, and each Church is urged to elect delegates and send to said Association. We are prepared and will take care of every person visiting this Association, either delegates or laymen, and no one need worry about being cared for absolutely free. We understand it is being reported that some of the Churches will not elect delegates, because they fear the delegates will not be entertained, this will not be the case, but each brother and sister visiting the Association will receive that courtesy that is due one another in the Faith.

Committees have been appointed to meet the trains and all will be cared for in a fraternal and christian spirit. If delegates or laymen come by private conveyance their teams and vehicles will be cared for without expense to them, and we earnestly urge you to come and enjoy yourselves with us. Brothers B. M. Hall, F. P. Marshall and Arthur A. Seale, are members of the Entertainment Committee, and homes have already been arranged for all who attend. You can either communicate to the above committee before coming, or after you arrive and you will be immediately assigned to a home during your stay among us.

Earnestly urging you to come and worship with us, we beg to remain,

Faithfully yours,
B. M. Hall,
F. P. Marshall,
Arthur A. Seale,
Committee of First Baptist Church.

Keep smiling, 'tis better than building a fame as kicker or fretter who's sore on the game. There's no sense in that sort of renown; far better go grinning all day through the town; from office to tavern, as gaily you chase, display a glad cavern dividing your face; all day, as you teeter from court hotse to jail, smile sweeter and sweeter, and utter no wail; and as you're ascending your wearisome stair, your smile should be lending its warmth to the air, your troubles are frightful? Well, wearing a frown won't make them delightful, or batter them down. Old Trouble keeps piling its thorns on my head, but still I keep smiling, and will till I'm dead; when I'm in my casket, all finished my trip, I'll smile like a basket of hickory chips. Keep smiling 'tis wiser, through all the long year, than being a miser with chirrups and cheer. Why is the world dingy and dismal and gray? Because we are stingy with messages gay. We groan and we grumble, we whine and we wheeze, and don't take a tumble to facts such as these. It's every man's duty to chortle and grin, and thus fill with beauty the world we see in.

ELLIS ASFOURIA, Proprietor

Now this mighty war is o'er, and upon fair Zenda's shore the invader steps no more, we shall sing! Now the war dogs hide their teeth and the sword has found its sheath, we shall place a gorgeous wreath on our king. He has laid all Graustark low, he has quelled the haughty foe, but he doesn't seem to know why he fought; he is trying to recall what it was that stirred his gall, why his soldiers, heroes all, have been shot. Ah, it is a frightful strain on the monarch's weary brain, and he sits in grievous pain, thinking hard; "what had Graustark done to me, that I seized my snicker-snee? Hung her washing on the tree in my yard? Now so many men are dead, and the land is painted red, I must harbor in my head some excuse! Now the victory is won, I must think what she had done, that I made the carnage run like the deuce!" While the monarch thinks and thinks, with a brain that's full of kinks, all his stricken country sinks in despair; for the fields are white with bones; orphan cries and widows' moans, and the old men's sobbing groans fill the air. On the farm the starving cow licks the empty manger now, and no more the shining plow cleaves the sod; for the man who tilled the fields and brought home the golden yields now have journeyed on their shields to their God

Texas Towns Join in Road Complaint.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Marshall and other East Texas cities that recently complained against the freight rates enjoyed by Shreveport, have been made parties to complaint filed with the interstate commerce commission by the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce protesting against freight rates enjoyed by these Texas cities to points in Oklahoma and Arkansas. This complaint is lodged against the Kansas City Southern, Louisiana and Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, Frisco, Texas, Oklahoma and Eastern, Texas and Fort Smith, and Texas and Pacific lines. These roads are declared to be discriminating in their class rates to points in the two states mentioned in favor of Dallas, Fort Worth, Marshall and adjoining Texas towns and against Shreveport shippers.

London, Oct. 1.—The British war office has issued a call for 1,000 expert railroad men to assist in the operation of the French railways.

Cotton Market in 1899.

From a copy of the Daily Phone (Sentinel) we quote the cotton market in Nacogdoches on Sept 28th, 1899.

Good Ordinary.....4½
Low Middling.....5½
Middling.....6
Good Middling.....6½
Middling Fair.....6¾

We also notice in an issue of Nov. 8, 1899, that cotton seed had advanced to $9.00 per ton, and a reference is made that the price a year before had been $6.00 per ton.

When we compare these prices with the price of today we should take courage and thank a kind providence that conditions are no worse than they are.

Spur Farm Lands.

Many farmers are making a hard or doubtful living on high priced lands in localities cursed with insect pests, or floods, or drought, or weed plagues, or other enemies to successful farming. The end of each year finds time and energy practically wasted no progress made. Spur Farm Lands offer relief from these conditions.

The tenant on the high priced lands further east can make a payment and be master of his own acres here. Any good farmer can pay for them from the products thereof. The Spur Farm Lands offer productive, virgin lands easily cultivated, at low prices and on easy terms. Splendid crops are raised without irrigation. No boll weevil ever know here. Altitude 2000 to 2600 feet.

Considering the reliable production of these lands—prices are lowest in Texas; new country, settling fast; splendid climate, no malaria, chills or fever; good churches and schools. We offer the homeseeker a wide range for selection and are selling direct —no commission to anyone; the purchaser receives full value in his lands in dealing direct with the owner as opposed to paying a middleman several dollars per acre.

STOCK FARMS AND SMALL RANCH TRACTS.

We also offer fine grazing tracts, perfectly adapted to this purpose—one section to fifty, at prices from $5.00 per acre up. Free illustrated booklet, giving all particulars on application to—

EXHIBIT OF FINE SWINE.

Fifteen Hundred Dollars in Premiums In This State Fair Department.

Fifteen hundred dollars have been appropriated for premiums in the general swine department at the Louisiana State Fair this year.

One of the most interesting features in connection with this division is the fact that the competition will be open to the world.

There won't be any special prizes this year for swine, but the amount allowed for general exhibits will no doubt draw a large collection.

Very few losses were suffered in the ranks of the various teams this year.

In baseball, what few losses were euffered will be easily taken care of by the large squad which the veteran coach Billy Disch has developed.

Track and basketball have received much new material upon the opening of school.

When it is time to propose peace. To superficial observers this may appear an inopportune time to propose peace.

The question naturally arises: Why not? And, if not, what time is opportune?

If it were desirable to wait until the conflict was practically decided either one way or another, such proposals would seem superfluous.

This war, like all other wars, is bound to terminate. Peace will come some time without proposals from anybody.

The question of issue, however, is: Can it be stopped before the limit has been reached, or, to put it another way, before the result has been determined by a complete victory of one side and a complete crushing and conquest of the other?

What peace proposals contemplate is not the bringing about of peace in itself, for that is inevitable, but the bringing about of peace as soon as possible.

For this reason no time seems more opportune than the present in which to make them.

It the European nations have spent years in preparing for this war, why should the United States delay in paving the way for the possible early cessation of hostilities?

Presiden Wilson should not be criticised as premature in his offers of mediation.

They did not meet with approval by the belligerents, it is true, but they have all been apprised that the United States stands waiting to help them adjust their differences, and that was absolutely necessary if tangible results were to be hoped for.

We have merely opened the door. If they don't want to come in they don't have to, but they never could come in if the door were not open.

Texas University Athletics

Austin, Tex., Sept. 30.—The State University at Austin will no doubt surpass its wonderful athletic record of last year during the coming session.

The Texas raised athletes are winners in competitions with the boys of the Southern and Southwestern States. Last year the University teams won the State Championship in football, baseball, track, basket ball, soccer and wrestling.

Very few losses were suffered in the ranks of the various teams this year.

The football team has twelve former Varsity players and a host of scrubs and aspirants from the preparatory schools.

The schedule calls for games with many of the state teams and with Oklahoma, Haskell Indians, Mississippi and Washash. Coach Allerdice has again been retained to pilot the eleven.

In baseball, what few losses were euffered will be easily taken care of by the large squad which the veteran coach Billy Disch has developed.

Track and basketball have received much new material upon the opening of school.

Historical Place Found.

Houston, Oct. 2.—At the first meeting for the fall term of the San Jacinto chapter, Daughters of the Republic of Texas, announcement was made by Judge J. L. Autry that he had located approximately the spot where Santa Anna surrendered to the soldiers of the army of Texas.

Judge Autry has made research and has convinced himself that he is historically correct in the matter.

The spot is on land owned by J. S. Cullinan, near the ship channel, Santa Anna having approached Vince's bayou on his way to Harrisburg.

When the discovery was made known to Mr. Cullinan he proposed that at his own expense, he erect a marker at that point, and this offer the members of San Jacinto chapter accepted with a vote of thanks.—Galveston Tribune.

Why Not Publish It.

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru, Ind. was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes, "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by all dealers. dw

Probably there is a great art in knowing how to retreat under cover of your rear guard without getting it kicked off.

CITROLAX! CITROLAX!

Best thing for constipation, sour stomach, lazy liver and sluggish bowels. Stops a sick headache almost at once. Gives a most thorough and satisfactory flushing—no pain, no nausea. Keeps your system cleansed, sweet and wholesome. Ask for Citrolax. Swift Bros. & Smith. eod.
