YOUNG LADY HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

While Miss Willie May Emmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Emmons, was out riding with a young lady friend Saturday afternoon, the horse she was riding became frightened and ran away, running about a mile before she finally turned loose all holds and fell off.

Fortunately the young lady sustained no serious injury in the fall, and save for the fright she was all right in a few moments after her mad flight.

Ed. Blount, Mack Monk and Elbert Lawson, seeing the peril of the lady, went to the rescue. Mr. Blount advising her to extricate herself from the saddle which she misunderstood as advice to jump off, and which proved wise as she sustained no injury doing so, and to these gentlemen, as well as all others who helped in the rescue and manifested an interest in the matter, Mr. and Mrs. Emmons request The Sentinel to return their thanks and give assurance of their appreciation.

FOR DISTRICT JUDGE.

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Judge L. D. Guinn as a candidate for the office of district judge, of this district subject to the action of the democracy.

Judge Guinn is serving his first term in this capacity and is making a brilliant record. He is fair and just in his decisions, at all times tempering justice with mercy, and has made a record in the dispatch of business, keeping up with his work, amount considered, possibly better than any other district judge in the state. The best test of his legal ability is best attested in the fact that he suffers but very few reversals from the supreme courts. Last, but by no means least, he is a patriotic, jovial, Christian gentleman who believes in the enforcement of law as the best protection of life and property and nothing can swerve him from his duty as he sees it.

HENDERSON MAN DIES.

J. H. Langhorne, a resident of Henderson, died unexpectedly yesterday. After overexerting himself he walked back to the house, notifying his wife of his condition, and lay across the bed.

Before help could be summoned he was dead.

He is a brother of J. B. Langhorne of this city, and the news reached Timpson in a short while after his death. Mr. Langhorne in company with members of the family left immediately for Henderson, making the trip in a motor car. The funeral service was held Monday afternoon and the people of Henderson turned out in large numbers to witness the last sad rites over their departed friend.—Timpson Times.

WATERWORKS FOR TIMPSON

Mr. Henry E. Elrod, civil engineer of Dallas, Texas, who has supervision of the waterworks improvement for Timpson was in town today. He stated he was perfectly satisfied as to the quantity and quality of the water which the well will furnish. The well is now down to a depth of nine hundred feet, and the drillers have completed their work. Mr. Elrod states that the water is a soft water, drinkable, good in industrial and domestic purposes. Specifications for pumping machinery and pump houses will be prepared at once and contract let for these in a short time. He states the work will be pushed to completion and it should be only a matter of weeks until Timpson has a complete waterworks system.—Timpson Times.

W. L. Greer, a former citizen of this city, who is now making his home in Corsicana, is in the city today meeting with old friends. Mr. Greer was connected with the store of Mayer & Schmidt for many years, and was rated as one of the best salesmen in the country, as well as one of the most popular citizens. He is now traveling for the O. E. Hyndman Candy Co., and will visit this city every thirty days in the future, during which his old friends will get to see him often.

Judge E. B. Hightower, Jr., of Beaumont, candidate for Chief Justice Court of Civil Appeals of the Ninth District, is in town today meeting with the people. Judge Hightower is a distinguished member of the Beaumont Bar, and is a very pleasant gentleman who will doubtless arouse considerable interest in his candidacy for the position. He will place his formal announcement with the papers within the next few days.

POSTOFFICE MATTER SEEMS HUNG UP.

It will be remembered that a rumor gained currency a few days ago to the effect that a contract had been let for the postoffice building at this place, which was started by an outside company writing to a local party to look out for service in their line, and stating that the contract had been let. Subsequently congress included Nacogdoches in a list of appropriations for "continuation of work" which added force to the belief in the reliability of the report, but having no news direct from the department, Hon. C. A. Hodges, city attorney, and who has had the matter in charge for the city, wrote the department for further information to which he has received the following reply:

Washington, Jan. 28, 1916.
Mr. C. A. Hodges,
City Attorney,
Nacogdoches, Texas.

Sir:

Receipt in acknowledgement of your letter of Jan. 21, 1916, making inquiry as to the time when the contract will be awarded for the new postoffice building, Nacogdoches, Texas.

In reply you are advised that at the present time a general revision is being made in the types used for the post offices, and the Nacogdoches building is included under this heading. For this reason it is impossible to state at this time just when the working drawings will be taken up, but it is probable that if further inquiry is made about the matter two months hence the Department will be in a position to give more definite information.

Respectfully,
JAS. A. WETMORE,
Acting Supervising Architect.

Mr. A. Y. Donegan, our progressive postmaster, has been interesting himself in the same matter, and wrote Congressman Dies to which he is in receipt of the following reply:

Washington, Jan. 26, 1916.
Mr. A. Y. Donegan,
Nacogdoches, Texas,
Dear Sir and Friend:

I have your letter of recent date with reference to the postoffice building for Nacogdoches, and in reply beg to advise you that I have taken up the matter with the treasury department, urging every expedience in the matter. I have the matter constantly in mind, and shall do everything in my power to urge the matter forward.

With best wishes, and wishing you continued success in your duties, I am,

Your friend,
MARTIN DIES.

FIRE BRICK PLANT BURNS.

The Athens Fire Brick and Tile plant was destroyed by fire this morning a little while before 4 o'clock. The fire was caused by the bursting of an oil pipe. The pipe burst near the fire in a kiln and the oil caught at once and the blaze was carried right to the main building by a current of water caused from the heavy rain that had fallen during the night. The building was soon in flames and the flames spread so rapidly that there was no possible chance to extinguish the fire.

The loss is about $35,000 partly covered by insurance. The kilns were not damaged and the plant will be able to go on filing orders on hand.

No doubt the plant will be rebuilt at once.—Athens Review.

SHERIFF SPRADLEY DID QUICK WORK.

Sheriff Spradley returned from Timpson yesterday where he did some good detective work, best reported in the following from the Timpson Times:

City Marshal E. A. Booth and Sheriff A. J. Spradley captured a negro by the name of Lawrence Brown Sunday, charged with having burned a barn on the night of January 1st, belonging to Jonah Roberts, another negro near this city. As soon as the barn was burned, Roberts phoned Mr. Spradley to bring his blood hounds and try to catch the negro that committed the deed. Mr. Spradley could not come at the time and only yesterday found an opportunity to get away from Nacogdoches. He came to Timpson and with the aid of City Marshal Booth went to the scene of the crime, and after several hours of good detective work finally located the negro wanted about ten miles east of town. The negro was arrested and brought to this city. This morning in Attorney Chamness' office he made a full confession. Brown said he and Roberts made a crop on the halves, and when the corn was divided, Brown said he didn't get his full share and that Roberts would not let him have what he thought was right. So in order to get even with Roberts he burned the barn, destroying about four hundred bushels of corn, together with a quantity of other feedstuff. The negro bears a bad reputation, and the officers are to be commended for having captured such a character.

SHERIFF GOES FOR REESE VINSON.

The Sentinel yesterday carried a dispatch announcing that Reese Vinson, wanted at Lufkin had been captured in Minnesota. The following report, taken from yesterday's issue of the Lufkin News, give fuller particulars:

Sheriff W. L. Evans received a telegram Saturday evening from officers in Minneapolis, Minnesota, stating that Reese Vinson was being held in that city, pending the arrival of officers from Angelina County. The News understands that the young man in question has waived all right and agreed to come to Lufkin without requisition. Sheriff Evans departed yesterday morning over the Cotton Belt for that northern city, and something like a week will be required to make the round trip. It will be remembered that Sheriff Evans was absent about two weeks some time ago presumably in the north after the same party, but returned empty-handed. This time it is reasonably certain that the party sought is in custody.

Most of the readers of this paper are familiar with the affair occurring in this city during 1914 in which Roy Shirley was killed at the Cotton Belt depot. Vinson being tried for his murder and the result being a hung jury. The defendant was afterwards released on a $5,000 bond, since which time he has been absent from the city for about one year.

Both Shirley and Vinson were reared in this city, were young men and had been companions of long standing.

ARE OPENING UP NEW BOARDING HOUSE.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Emmons, who formerly operated the Eaves

House, have rented the rooms above the Weeks & Weaver bottling Works, and the downstairs building to the side of the same building, in which they are opening up a boarding house, moving to the new quarters today.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmons made a good reputation while in charge of the Eaves House, and will doubtless enjoy a good patronage in their new quarters.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Licenses to wed have been issued to the following parties since last report:

H. Q. Perry to Camelia Langford.

J. C. Brooks to Clemis Duke.

Frank Posky to Annie Rodi-quer.

Andrew Richards to Mrs. Adeline Hall.

Frank M. Hart to Jessie M. Towns.

John Jackson to Verna Smith.

County Court has not been doing much business this week, the bad weather and sickness over the county preventing witnesses and interested parties from attending the court. This week has been devoted to non-jury cases, and a few probate matters have been settled, and some other little business which is of no general interest has been disposed of.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS.

Call meeting of Nacogdoches Chapter No. 13, R. A. M., Saturday night, Feb. 5th, at 7:30, for work in the M. E. M. and R. A. degrees. All companions, regular and sojourning, are requested to be present.

The Genuine Oliver

We do not have to tell any man who has ever used an OLIVER "just why" the OLD GENUINE is the best plow for him to use. But we do want to talk to you—if you happen to be one of the very few who have not yet "Followed in the Trail" of one of the Old Reliable Olivers.

The man who has used the GENUINE OLIVER knows that it will "turn the sticky, gummy spots" where many other plows would "choke." He knows that it will "scour" clean, run light, and handle easily. He is more than satisfied with his OLIVER. Are you satisfied with the plow you have been using? If not come to our store at once and get a GENUINE OLIVER. Give it a fair trial and then smile with the other OLIVER users.

It's a "cinch" and we guarantee that you'll be well pleased.

With the investment of a little money and brains, Nacogdoches county could have oil wells with real oil in them. With half the showing some communities promote a great boom. We can have the boom and the real thing to back it up.

Nacogdoches has lots of good sidewalks, but it needs much more. Nothing contributes more to the civic attractiveness of a town than beautiful lines of concrete sidewalk out each street, and nothing will enhance the value of property more in proportion to the expenditure.

If Longview is not the most logical and appropriate place in Texas for the location of a new munitions plant, we would like for some one to tell us why.—Longview Times-Clarion.

We give it up. The Clarion being on the ground floor should know best. The people of Nacogdoches are generally peaceable, and when a scrap has to be had we take it in Irish fashion.

Says the Carthage Register: "When the Mexican soldiers shoot a bandit they pack the body in ice and ship it to Juarez where it is exhibited. Could the defacto government offer any better evidence that it is doing its best to show us?" This reminds us of the dark ages when the head of the enemy was brought in upon a charger. The United States should resent such exhibits in the interest of decency.

Specialist in the work of making cheese, working under the department of agriculture of the National government, have issued a bulletin in which they make the statement that cheese making can profitably be developed in the hilly and mountainous districts of the South, thus opening up a new resource for our section. Michigan and other northern sections have long enjoyed a monopoly in this business and with it Michigan is said to have grown very rich.

Just now while some of the statesmen and some of the newspapers of the country are endeavoring to discourage the "preparedness" idea which would saddle a big debt upon the tax payers of the country, the Longview Times-Clarion is trying to build a munitions factory in Longview. It is seldom an editor becomes so mercenary, and it was least expected of the editor whose remarks we recognize in this agitation. Show your hand, John, and tell us what you are getting "out-en" it.

The Brenham Banner-Press is out a mammoth special edition, celebrating the golden anniversary of its age. Brenham and Washington county are prominent in the early history of Texas, and as its prophet the past fifty years, the Banner has been a faithful and efficient representative, growing and developing with the country until it has taken its place with the metropolitan little publications of the state. May it live another half century, is the wish of the Sentinel.

If there is profit in assembling the various kinds of groceries into a commission or wholesale house and supplying the retail trade therefrom, why couldn't a similar method be employed with profit in operating a house along the same lines in handling country produce? It is a poor rule that won't work both ways, we are told of old, and if it is a good system to handle the finish product through a given channel, it stands to reason that the raw product could be handled profitably in the same way. There are no grocery peddlers in the country for the reason that a system of that kind would not pay; there should be no produce peddlers for the same reason.

Of course there is nothing in a name, but the claim is made that Germans do not like English walnuts and English peas as well as they used to, and that there has been a slump in market value of these products in consequence.

In the general scheme of nature these big rains are necessary with which to furnish mother earth with a reservoir of water, and it is one of our boasts in East Texas that God sends the rain and the sunshine necessary, but they get uncomfortably disagreeable for the time being.

The Nacogdoches Sentinel is another kindly disposed exchange that expresses a willingness to allow Longview to have a munitions factory. And just for that we are going to interpose no objection to a Congressional appropriation for Banita creek.—Longview Times-Clarion.

A good trade in terms that are acceptable. The historic old Banita has had municipal appropriation to build concrete and iron bridges, and with a congressional appropriation we can conserve the waters for some useful purpose.

Up to January 1st, 1916, there had been ginned of the 1915 cotton crop in Nacogdoches county 12,530 bales. When Texas was admitted into the Union, Smith county was a part of Nacogdoches county. Now Smith county has a larger population and grows more than twice as much cotton as its mother, Nacogdoches county.—Tyler Signal.

Like the prodigal son of old, you have strayed from the straight and narrow way, and have not pursued the modern idea of diversification. The farmers over here have learned that all cotton and empty barns and smokehouses is a poor policy, and have turned more of their attention to raising feedstuff and foodstuff for man and beast. With this policy it has also not been necessary to swell the population with cheap labor and an extra bunch of children to till the slow crop. Come back home, colonel.

Only by limiting immigration can high standards of living and good wages be maintained among American working men, in the opinion of labor leaders who are advocating the enactment of a literacy bill. There is no one who will deny that the unrestricted and overwhelming influx of immigration into this country tends to disrupt and cheapen the market for labor. Representative Burnett, chairman of the House immigration committee, declares thousands of foreigners in the United States are ignorant and unambitious and work cheaply, live in squalor and create conditions that drive American workmen from the community. As to whether the literacy test is the fairest method of restricting immigration there is a wide divergence of opinion, both Wilson and Taft having vetoed literacy test measures. It is not compatible with American ideals to welcome the educated crook and bar the honest uneducated laborer. Surely some more sensible way of limiting the number of aliens admitted annually can be worked out.—Galveston Tribune.

Few people are disappointed in love until after marriage.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

A POTATO DRY KILN.

One of the really big and profitable things that could be worked out in Nacogdoches would be a potato dry kiln with which to prepare sweet potatoes for market.

With a kiln sweet potatoes can be carried through a drying process which will make them keep sound in any kind of weather, and enable the owners to keep them until there is a demand. With the old method of handling the product in this section the market is always glutted at gathering time, as a result of which the surplus is sold for any available price—and having experienced this condition for so many years, the farmers do not raise much surplus. With the dry kiln, a system of gradual market can be employed, through which the prices could be held up and a profitable crop developed.

Our lands are adapted to the growth of sweet potatoes, and they grow to perfection in East Texas. We have the world for a market if we would but develop it, and in this proposition there is room for both farmers and "middle men" to develop a great industry. In fact, the time is not far distant when the principal crops of East Texas will be sweet potatoes and peanuts, and when that day dawns we will have a more prosperous system of agriculture, and a more prosperous country.

Then, too, this is a great section for hay raising, all kinds of grasses and hay crops growing to perfection here, and this condition in turn offers good opportunity for a more extensive system of cattle and horse raising. The thing for which we are suffering along these lines is a better system of marketing, and here the business men can take a hand profitably, because anything that increases the resource and wealth of the farmers increases the trade and wealth of the towns as well.

A great old country, is this, if its people will be great enough to develop the God-given opportunities it possesses.

JUDGE MIDDLEBROOK VISITED CENTER.

Center Daily Optimist. Judge V. E. Middlebrook, Associate Justice of the new court of Civil Appeals in Beaumont, spent yesterday in Center, where he has many friends, and while here did a very gracious act of courtesy characteristic of this able jurist who so worthily wears the fairest flower of Christianity, which is called courtesy.

It will be remembered when Governor Ferguson honored Center with a visit last June, Hon. V. E. Middlebrook was in the Nacogdoches bunch who "kidnaped" the governor away from the social hour given him on the lawn of "Seclusion" (the Bryarly home) and at which Judge Middlebrook was one of the honored guests.

While in Center yesterday this Associate Justice of the higher courts took an hour out of his busy life, spending it with Mrs. Bryarly in social converse, which was most enjoyable and highly appreciated by her. It takes such small acts of courtesy like this to show really great men. "How kind and gracious, even in common speech. Is that fine sense which we call courtesy; Wholesome as air and genial as the light, Welcome in every clime as breath of flowers— It transmutes aliens into trusting friends, And gives its owner passport round the globe."

Zeno Cox has returned from a visit to the markets where he went to purchase goods for his new store.

WHAT IS A MAN WORTH?

(Austin Statesman)

The prolongation of the war has had the effect of complicating remarkably the work of the statistician. The man who is fond of figuring out what given circumstances will produce in all occasions began his calculations on the supposition that all would be over within a few months. After the few months passed he began to figure on a year, and again he had to revise his figures.

The most intricate problem that he has been working on is what will be the total destruction in value of the men killed and men disabled for life. Statisticians working on this problem go back as far as the war of Chimeia in '61, when Proudhon estimated the value of a life at 20,000 francs (4,000). Since the writers on this subject have the arbitrary figure and have valued the life or services of a man according to his producing capacity. Foville made the far more moderate estimate of $800 as the average value of the men killed in the war of 1870. Coming down to the present time, Yves Guyot considers that a man's salary or wages represent no more than half of the value of the production to which he contributes, and starting from this basis he figures that during the first six months of the war France had lost $3,000,000,000 through the disappearance and disabling of producing men. On the same basis the loss to date would be $9,000,000,000, but other writers contest the soundness of the basis on which these figures are produced. If the workman, on a salary of $2 per day may be considered worth from $7,000 to $10,000, the engineer who earns $20 a day, may be considered worth $100,000 and if these figures were taken in view of the heavy losses in officers, the total would amount, perhaps, to double the statistician's figures.

An officer at the front, taking the legal value of a human being as fixed by law at $5,000 calculated the cost per square yard of ground reconquered from the enemy in a certain attack at $13,000.

Monsieur Eugene d'Aichthal of the Institute and member of the Society of Statisticians of Paris refuses to accept the basis of any of the calculators who have figures on these results up to this time, and is of the opinion that in view of the many opportunities for differences in circumstances and faulty bases, no figures worthy of serious consideration will ever be reached.

EQUITY AND JUSTICE.

According to an eminent jurist he principles upon which all laws are founded are the principles of common sense. Doubtless this is true, yet there are many laws now on our statute books and many unwritten laws opposed to the principle of common sense. The sentiment that once demanded the enactment of the law or the precedent for it no longer exists, yet the people have not the interest nor the courage to have such laws repealed.

It has been said that "reason is the soul or life of the law." Then is this true, when the reason ceased to exist the law becomes obsolete and should be repealed. Are our representatives zealous to repeal the laws which are confusing and unnecessary? Such does not seem to be the fact.

The courts are crowded with civil cases that have arisen from technicalities, obscure legal usages and conflicts between laws in our statutes. Many controversies have been taken to courts that should never require legal talent or expensive litigation, simply because our laws are confusing.

The primary object of both laws civil and criminal was to protect the people. Society requires protection from those who are criminal. The interest of those who are good citizens demands equity and justice. The honest man who is a good citizen needs the privilege of justice in the courts, regardless of wealth; his interest and that of the court require simplicity in our laws, honor in those who administer justice and services at the hand of attorneys who represent clients.

To save our people millions in annual litigation, to exalt our courts and those who represent them; to make it possible for the poor as well as the rich to get their claims economically adjusted, our procedure should be simplified.—Farm and Ranch.

GROWING APPLES.

Apples thrive best on a strong clay loam naturally retentive of moisture and made more so by turning under legume winter cover crops. A young apple orchard should be well cultivated to July in some low-growing crop like potatoes or melons, but not smothered with corn. All cultivation should cease by July so that the wood will have a chance to ripen and mature for winter. Then sow peas in the orchard to be turned under in September and Crimson clover for a winter cover. Keep the crops well fertilized and encourage the growth of trees. When the trees have attained a size that should become fruitful, we check this rapid growth by sowing the orchard down to grass.

But this grass should not be for hay nor pasture, but solely for the benefit of the trees. Cut the grass two or three times during the summer and leave it to mulch the ground and help to retain the moisture. Topdress the grass annually with bone dust and potash and you will get apples.

Plant one-year-old trees and head them back to a foot from the ground, for low-headed trees are important for spraying, and the spraying, and the spraying must not be neglected if you are to have clean and sound fruit. Spray early in spring with Bordeaux mixture, and as the blossoms fall add 1½ pounds of arsenate of lead to 50 gallons of the Bordeaux and spray to prevent the codling moth laying eggs to make the fruit wormy. For early apples plant Yellow Transparent, Early Harvest, Red Astrakhan and Red June; for fall Bonum, Grimes, Golden and Jonathan; for winter, Royal Lambertwig, York Imperial, Stayman; and in mountain covers plant the Yellow Newtown Pippin of the Albermarle strain. Set apple trees 35 feet apart each way.—The Progressive Farmer.

CYCLONE AT TIMPSON.

A "young cyclone" did considerable damage in the northern part of town Wednesday night. Several barns and outhouses were blown from their foundation, and many chickens were thrown out into the coldness of the night. Two or three houses occupied by negroes, near the negro school building, were badly damaged. It is also reported that the lumber sheds at Thomas' planer were blown down.—Timpson Times, Friday.

Hall Hayter, of Nacogdoches, was here on business Tuesday.—Huntington Herald.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY! IT SICKENS! ACTS ON LIVER LIKE DYNAMITE

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Starts Your Liver
Better Than Calomel and Doesn't
Salivate or Make You Sick.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work! Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick. I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

YOU GET STRONG, if you're a tired-out or "run-down" woman, with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And, if you suffer from any "female complaint" or disorder, you get well. For these two things—to build up woman's strength, and to cure women's ailments—this is the best medicine to benefit or cure.

The "Prescription" regulates and promotes all the natural functions, never conflicts with them, and is perfectly harmless in any condition of the female system. It brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and vigor.

Mrs. KARA WADSWORTH, Box 2, Waxahachie, Texas, says: "I was in very bad health, could not get any relief. Through the advice of a friend I got Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and began to mend. Can say I am now sound and well, and will always praise your medicine. Advise young mothers and women who are in bad health to use 'Favorite Prescription.' Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness."

O. D. Mitchell, a former citizen of this county who has been making his home in Manatou, Oklahoma, the past year, has been here the past few days visiting with his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Brown, leaving for his home yesterday. Mr. Mitchell's first experience in farming in Oklahoma was rather trying, but his perseverance and industry won. Last spring he planted his crop as usual and his prospect was good, when the hale came and ruined the entire crop, necessitating the work of planting the whole over. He finished the second planting the 30 of May and in the fall gathered twenty-seven bales of cotton and eleven hundred bushels of corn.

A heavy cold in the lungs, that was expected to cure itself has been the starting point in many cases of disease that ended fatally. The sensible course is to take frequent doses of BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP. It checks the progress of the disorder and assists nature to restore normal conditions. Price 25, 50 and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all druggists. eodw.

POLL TAX PAYMENTS. Up to the close of time for the issuance of valid poll tax receipts 3,605 poll tax receipts and 110 exemptions were issued for Nacogdoches county. This is a good increase over last year when 3,180 were issued, but not up to the record of the year previous to that when 3,942 were issued, making the record for the history of the county. In the windup of this year the usual rush was experienced, 450 being issued Saturday and 305 yesterday. Collector Rainbolt says that the payment of other taxes was better this year than last, but that much went delinquent. A number of people paid their poll tax and let their advalorem go delinquent.

NONE CAN SAY WHAT NEXT DAY MAY BRING. Cleveland Ohio, Jan. 30.—In a stirring address before nearly 4000 people packed in Gray Army tonight, President Wilson urged the people of the country to strengthen their military defense in order that he may maintain the honor of the country. The president boldly asserted that the United States is not afraid of any nation, but that in case of national peril he feared for America because of the inadequacy and inefficiency of the military arms of the country. "Let me tell you, gentlemen," the president stated emphatically "you cannot afford to postpone adequate preparedness. I do not know what the next day may bring. I do not mean to point to any particular danger, but to we are being swept along in things which we have no control. No man can say what the next day or the next week may bring. You may count on me to keep you out of war, but you must help me in maintaining the honor of the nation. As Mrs. Wilson appeared on the platform under the escort of delegation of prominent Cleveland women, there was a great volume of applause. Immediately afterward the president appeared, and again the big armory rang with cheers. He finally was forced to stand and acknowledge the greeting before it subsided. After the address to the Chamber of Commerce members, the president returned to his hotel, where nearly 6000 persons had congregated. He spoke a few words of appreciation but did not make a speech. "I am a union man," said the president, "and I must not work over eight hours a day." He was roundly cheered.

SAYS TEXAS CAN MAKE MEXICO GOOD. Chicago, Jan. 24.—"Texas alone stands between the United States and invasion from Mexico." This statement was made by Louis J. Wortham, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, at the Blackstone Hotel today. Mr. Wortham was a Texas Ranger and river guard in the early days and he is still in constant touch with conditions along the Rio Grande, so he speaks with authority. "The Mexicans have no respect for the government of the United States," he said. "They would not hesitate to cross the border in a general attack on this country if they were not afraid of Texas. The Rangers and river guards have instilled a whole new fear in the bandit chief, but they are not afraid of the United States army. They know that the regulations slow up the army and that official red tape would protect them in their movements. This is not true of the Texas border guards, however, and the Mexicans know it. If the State militia of Texas was given authority to go across the border, the lives of American citizens would be safe in a few hours. Under the leadership of the Rangers and the old Texans who have protected themselves against the raiding bands for years, the State troops could go across the river and make travel on the Mexican railroads as safe as it is in the United States." An International News Service reporter asked Mr. Wortham if Carranza would ever bring about peace in his country. "Never," he said. "Carranza is a vainglorious weakling and will never get control of his people. He is not a soldier; not a leader. The outrages of the last several days indicate how powerless he is to control the situation. Intervention is the only thing that can safeguard the lives of foreigners. And if the United States does not want to intervene, just give Texas half a chance and she will go over there and stop all this murdering and pillaging at once."

NO OIL YET. A report got into the papers a few days ago to the effect that an oil gusher had been brought in in Houston county, but the following from the Lufkin News will set the report at rest: P. M. Albritton returned this morning from Palestine, Crockett and the newly discovered "oil" field in Houston County, of which considerable has been said in the papers here of late. Various reports have been circulated about this probable "gusher," and Mr. Albritton slipped quietly away to size up the situation. To make it short, he says he saw nothing to indicate oil, thinks that the Huntington field has it outclassed world without end, and that Lufkin is a second Caddo by the side of it. He is of course willing to admit that oil might be found there, but he has no faith in the project at the present time, and will not have until he sees an entirely different showing.

A LETTER FROM FORMER CITIZEN. The Sentinel is in receipt of a letter from W. T. Thurston, a former citizen of this county, ordering the paper sent to his address at Electra, Texas, from which we cull the following extracts that will be of interest to readers: "Although it has been something like five years since I was in your city, being a native born of your county, I still have fond recollections of the boyhood days spent in that territory. Am especially interested in the political campaign, as I expect to see some of my boyhood friends in the race for some of the official positions." With the carnival here last week were the usual money traps and the student of human nature had a good opportunity to observe how strong the gambling instinct is even in the most highly respectable men and women. As a recreation this instinct may be indulged in to a certain extent without serious harm, but without rigid self-control it is dangerous.—Carthage Register.

Vinson was arrested about three weeks ago at Minot, S. D., but escaped from jail before the arrival of an officer from his place. He was convicted on another murder charge here several years ago. Sheriff Evans left here tonight for Minneapolis to bring Vinson back, he having agreed to return without extradition.

RURAL CREDITS ARE NECESSARY. Some one has said that the backbone of Germany's military power lies in her agricultural system. When 65,000,000 people packed into an area less than the site of Texas are able to make their soil produce enough to support themselves and their armies in time of war, they have a tremendous economic advantage over opponents who have to send gold for supplies. And the chief factor in the German agricultural system has been their land-credit associations upon which the rural credits bill just introduced into congress has been modeled. The United States will continue to be self-supporting for many years to come. With efficient agriculture we can take care of a population of several hundred millions. Rural credits make our rural productivity and consequent farm efficiency. When the United States becomes so populous it is unable to support its population without importing food it will be time to call a halt in further increases.—Galveston Tribune.

S. F. RICHARDSON IS VISITING HOMEFOLKS. Mr. S. F. Richardson, a native son of this county who has been making his home in Panama the past nine and one-half years where he was engaged as draughtsman in the construction of the Panama Canal, is in the city visiting with relatives and old friends. Mr. Richardson is very optimistic about the value of the canal, both as a great enterprise for this country and as a self-sustaining proposition. Previous to the slides which have been interrupting traffic lately, Mr. Richardson says the tolls from the ocean-going vessels had already begun to show a profit above the maintenance, and had not been from the interruption he is of the opinion that a good profit would now be enjoyed. In the matter of the slides Mr. Richardson does not apprehend any serious draw-back, believing that the trouble will soon be gotten under control and the usefulness of the canal preserved. After spending a few days with the homefolks and friends here, Mr. Richardson will go to Washington where he will spend a month with the department, after which he will return to Panama. A pure atmosphere soon blows away the foul odor. If you would be sound in mind and body live in a pure atmosphere.

Don't waste good time waiting for the unexpected to happen—make something of your own "happen" and you will be better able to retain sole possession.

If there is anything in the theory of a clear sky on "Ground Hog Day" foreboding six weeks of bad weather, we are face to face with the proposition and will have to submit to the inevitable, so pass along the rain, sleet and snow and let's be done with it.

Don't rely on your emotionalism to attend you in a crisis. Your nerve might fail in a real emergency.

Maybe that success you are looking for is deferred because you are trying to do too many things.—New York Journal.

An exchange defines a good night's rest as follows: "Anybody who goes to bed a pessimist and gets up an optimist, has had a good night's rest." If there are any pessimists in this community, we hope they will immediately try this remedy, and if it doesn't work the first time, let them go back to sleep.

Take your time and name something better than East Texas ribbon cane syrup.—Palestine Herald.

Why not let us agree on this subject and save the good time that would be wasted in a futile effort to contradict it? Instead of handing us a nut to crack, pass the hot biscuit.

With an adequate system of marketing worked out, and a peanut oil mill and potato dry kiln, together with a sufficient number of hay presses, and the rebuilding of the elevator, Nacogdoches would quickly become the city of commercial importance it should, and farm lands in this section would get as much a premium. We have much to do, fellers, but there is a good reward for every effort. Let's get busy.

The Nacogdoches Sentinel is another kindly disposed exchange that expresses a willingness to allow Longview to have a munitions factory, and just for that we are going to interpose no objection to a congressional appropriation for Banita Creek.—Longview Clarion.

Good for the editor of the Clarion. He never was inclined to want the earth. Press the factory button, line up the committee on rivers and harbors, and let's start something over here in East Texas.—Lufkin News.

It is a great mistake of some people to be constantly expecting some mistreatment or little "slight" or "flout" from the newspaper. The true newspaper man never stops to consider preference of personality in the course of his work, and becomes too large and well rounded in his character to take advantage of anyone in his columns. Instead of getting mad with him for any little injustice you may feel that has been done you at any time, try the method of approaching him in a good-humored, genteel manner and note how much better you will fare.

FACTS FOR THE FARMERS.

The crop for 1915 as given by the ginners' reports and the Census Bureau will amount to 11,160,000 bales. At the beginning of the market season, August 1st 1915 we had a visible supply of the previous crop of 3,080,881 bales, and on farms 1,800,000 bales, or 4,899,881 bales of the 1914 crop. To this amount if we add 11,160,000 bales produced in 1915 and linters amounting to 800,000 bales we have a total commercial supply of 16,859,881 bales. From this supply we have sold up to December 18, 1915, a total of 4,766,112 bales, leaving on hand at that date 12,093,769 bales.

Great Britain will stimulate the production of cotton in Egypt and India for this year, thus increasing the yield in those countries at least 2,000,000 bales of conditions are favorable.

Asiatic Russia now grows a million bales, and the acreage will be increased there.

Asiatic Turkey is coming to the front as a cotton country, and this year the probabilities are, that country will produce an amount sufficiently large to put the South on notice that she has another competitor in the production of cotton.

The acreage for 1915 would easily have produced 2,000,000 bales more than were produced had it not been for the terrible storm that passed over a large area of the cotton States and the infestation of the boll weevil. Two million bales added to this crop would have reduced the crop at least $10.00 per bale.

If the acreage this year is increased over last year and conditions should remain normal the South will pay the penalty in low prices for cotton and high prices for feedstuff.

In view of all the facts now staring every farmer in the face and banker in the face, it does seem that a large acreage in cotton for 1916 would be averted. Taking all the facts into consideration the best interests of the South would be subserved by reducing the acreage of last year.—Rusk County News.

COMFORTS MAKE LIVING HIGH

No economist has put enough emphasis on the fact that if the cost of living is higher now it is to a large extent because the average man is demanding more luxuries and these must cost more. Before the days of plumbing and bath rooms the workmen missed onerous bills, but he is not ready to throw the plumbing out of the house.

Oil is cheaper for light than electricity, but people pay more for a modern light because they want the better service even at the higher price. Workmen by the thousands have phonographs, a form of entertainment unknown until a very few years ago.

Even the street cars are rather a new thing, and the poorest families spend many dollars every year for this service, which has become indispensable. Magazines are purchased now by many people who ten years ago had never subscribed for such a publication.

Thousands of articles are for sale in every department store, of which a large percentage are purchased at some time or other by the average earning family. Modern living does cost more, assuredly, but it also yields more.—Milwaukee Journal.

HOPE SURE AND STEADFAST.

It has been said that men generally find what they are looking for. Those who seek trouble usually find it sooner or later. On the contrary, the diligent seeker for contentment and happiness is most likely to find the object of his search.

The hunter in pioneer days when tramping over the woods in search of game he expected to find. Acting upon this, he used the kind of weapons and adapted himself to the surroundings suitable to the conditions. This did not mean that he would wholly ignore an opportunity to kill other kinds of animals than those for which he was looking, but he was not likely to take notice of smaller game, since his mind was intent upon the larger.

There is a great deal of analogy in hunting and farming. The man who makes his plans for a certain definite achievement in crops, and animals and profits therefrom will strive diligently to succeed. He will not be diverted from his original purpose by trifles. The unexpected rise in price for one crop one year will not lead him to plant most of his farm in that particular crop and thus throw himself upon the mercy (?) of the market. He will use his own judgment as to the kind and character of the crops and animals and will be "steadfast in season and out of season" for safe, dependable farming.

When his plans are found unsatisfactory they will be changed; when his favorite crops and animals do not pay, other crops and different kinds of animals will be selected under more favorable conditions. The object is to be fair with the crops and animals, honest with one's own opinions and sincere in the preparation, cultivation, harvesting, marketing, etc.

We need not expect too much in one year. We can not hope to reach our full expectations every year. Other business men meet their disappointment with greater zeal and determination. Temporary disappointments may mean greater reward.—Farm and Ranch.

ABOUT PAYING HONEST DEBTS.

We believe that the fellow that refuses to pay his honest debts is committing as great a crime as the fellow who robs a bank—in fact, we have more respect for the bank robber. Of course, there are hundreds of thousands of honest people who can't pay what they owe them. We mean the deadbeat—the fellow who makes it a profession to buy stuff on credit and use every possible method to keep from paying what he owes. The credit system is the gravest evil of its kind in existence and the sooner the people learn to pay cash the better off our country will be. Since the great war began many people have had to depend almost entirely on the credit system to pull through and many firms were forced to quit the credit business because they could not obtain credit themselves. And there are many people who took advantage of this condition and because the merchants would not credit them when they needed it most, have refused to pay what they owed before the war, this also applies to practically all classes. If you owe anything and can pay it do so, don't grumble and make excuses to keep from paying up. If you are financially embarrassed, go to your creditor and have the manhood to tell him you will pay him just as soon as you can, and you can rest assured any sensible business man will do the right thing about the matter.—Granger News.

LET US LAUGH.

God bless the man who makes us laugh!

He's worth a thousand sour-faced moralists, because he sweetens our souls and gives us a smile to wear as we go about our tasks.

Life has so many worries in it, so many things to line our faces with the furrors of anxiety, that we need laughter as we need food and water. It saves us from shriveling into crackling husks of discontent; it refreshes our intelligence, it restores our faith in men; it gives us strength to brush aside our cares and surmount the obstacles before us.

Hail, then, to the man who brings us laughter!

Take our house, our lot, our bank account, our shoes and shirt away, and give us Charley Chaplin, Marie Dressler and Fatty Arbuckle to frolic for us on the movie screen, and we'll laugh ourselves back to prosperity again.—San Francisco.

FIRE AT GARRISON.

From Bro. Hotchkiss, who returned from the place this morning, The Sentinel gets the information at the home of A. C. Irwin, in Garrison, was destroyed by fire about 6:30 o'clock last evening, but that the bulk of the household furniture was saved.

The fire originated in a little outhouse at the rear and spread to the residence, and the water-works being out of commission leaving no means with which to fight it, nothing could be done but let the flames eat their way through everything available and save the furniture.

Bro. Hotchkiss did not learn as to whether or not any insurance was carried on the building.

We are inclined to be lenient with the fault of people who are bigger than we are.—New York Times.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

Continue what you are and where you are and you are what and where you will always be. The world of wage-earners is a world of hoppers, wishers, and hesitators, held down by foolish doubts and empty fears. Endless thousands of bright, fine fellows whose wish bone is where their back-bone ought to be, are excusably afraid, halting, timid, clinging with the drowning man, grasp to their slender salaries, because they think business is a mystery and they can never learn to transact it.

You must be more, have more and do more in this life or you will always be seeing other men that are better dressed getting more out of life, more of this world's enjoyments and comforts than you. We can point you to undreds of young men and women no smarter than you that are now successfully and happily engaged in a business of their own, because they attended our institution, took a course of bookkeeping and shorthand of business administration, and finance, and prepared themselves to go into the business office and work along with trained men and become masters of the art of doing business.

Business is not a happy-go-lucky, haphazard sort of a thing. If you understand it thoroughly, you are sure to succeed. If you have never been trained, it is all left to luck and guess work.

Write for our catalogue today and read the unsolicited testimonials from many of our former students who are today demonstrating their success and the value of our training. Opportunity never comes to him who waits. It comes to him who goes after it with all there is in him, with a deep, burning, intense resolve of his inmost being. Read our catalogue carefully. Why not you be one of the 2000 that will go out of our institution this year into a good business office. Procrastination is a thief of time. Fill in the following blank and send in by return mail. It may be the turning point in your life.

Miss Clara Turner, a former employee of the store of Mayer & Schmidt, who has been spending sometime with the homefolks at Martinsville, was in the city Saturday and Sunday visiting with friends. She will return to her work with the same firm in a few weeks.

She Will Recover

So her doctor said. Her friends and neighbors felt sure of it too. They have used Peruna themselves and know of its merits. That old cough that had worried her for years and years, for which she had taken all sorts of cough medicines, has disappeared. Peruna is doing the work. She will recover. Indeed, she has recovered.

Her name is Mrs. William Hohmann, 2764 Lincoln Ave., Chicago, Ill. She had suffered with catarrh of the bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child. As she got older she grew worse. She coughed both winter and summer. Had to sit up at night. Could not sleep. "But all that has left me now, Peruna has cured me."

TESTING CORN FOR PLANTING

One of the principal causes of the average low yields of corn in the county is the lack of a good stand, and one of the causes for this poor stand is the inferior germinating power of the corn used for planting. Where a farmer selects his seed corn in the field, and after gathering the corn and gives it proper attention, there is no loss, danger, or poor germination, than where the corn is purchased either from a seed house or through the local drug store. The heating of corn when kept in large bulk or the too frequent applications of high life to keep out insects will lessen the germinating power of corn.

Knowing these facts, it is necessary to test all corn that is intended for planting, this is a very simple matter, and every farmer can do it without interfering with his other work, for one reason, it can be done when there is a very little else to do on the farm, and that is during the winter months. On the station here we not only test for germination all the corn planted, but the seeds of everything grown on the station, and we find in our experimental work that it pays, that it means dollars and cents to the station therefore it means dollars and cents to every farmer in the county.

We use a box made from 1 by 4 for the sides and ends 20 inches long each way, holes are made from one inch from the top of the box every two inches through which string is passed from every side, while check the box off into squares each 2 inches in size. The box is then filled with damp sawdust (or if you cannot obtain sawdust use sand) up to box is now ready for use. Take your ears of seed corn, and with a knife take out three grains of corn, one from the tip, one from the middle and one from the butt, and plant these three grains all in one check of the box which should be number one, then place a small tag with the same number upon the ear of corn and place it away. Take your next ear and do the same as you did with ear number one, and continue this operation until you have a test of all the ears you intend to plant. A box of the size mentioned will test 100 ears of corn and the numbers on the box should run from one to ten of the first row along the top of the box, and in tenths on the side of the box. Corn will germinate in this kind of box in about six days. The box should be covered with burlap as soon as the corn is planted, which must be watered every day and kept in a warm place. Warm water instead of cold applied to the burlap covering the box will hasten germination. After the corn has germinated you can soon see which are the good ears for planting and which are the poor ones, and as soon as you find this out take the poor ears and feed them. Several tests can be made in the same box.

The station will have such a box on exhibition in front of one of the stores in Nacogdoches, and it is hoped that some of the farmers will take advantage of this of increasing their corn yields.

The farmers of the county should this year continue to grow feed crops. There is a ready market for every peanut grown in the county and it is the best ready money crop we have, paying much better than cotton. The chances are that cotton will go begging this fall, which means low prices, it was the short crop of last year that made cotton reach 12c per pound. If we had reduced our usual crop we would never have received such a price.

If our farmers are foolish enough to plant a large acreage of cotton they must expect to find themselves in the same condition next fall as they were in the fall of 1914 and there will be no one to blame but themselves.

"GUSHER AT KENNARD"

A dispatch from the place to the big papers says that an oil gusher has been brought in at Kennard by the Houston Oil and Gas Company at a depth of 1,060 feet.

Thus it seems that oil wells are being brought in all around us, which should inoculate us with some of the "oil fever" in a field that we know from experience and observation has real oil in it before outsiders drain our pool dry.

Rev. Chas. Atwell, who is the preacher for this evening at the Episcopal Church, was until recently the rector of St. John's Church, Oak Ridge, Chicago, and has lately come to this section of Texas for his health. Rev. Mr. Atwell is at present rector of Christ Church at Nacogdoches. —Lufkin News.

News has been received in the city that Mrs. W. A. Skillern, living some miles in the country, died at six o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Skillern was very old, and is a native of the county, belonging to one of the prominent pioneer families. She was a noble christian lady, and had a large circle of friends who are made sad with the news of her illness.

FROM MISS BESS MASON.

The people of the State of Texas are beginning to realize that in order to get the best results from products raised, and to be progressive, thrifty people, we must begin to devise some means for taking care of the products raised in the country.

The step which has been taken by the State is the Home Demonstration and Canning Club work. There are about forty counties in Texas which are carrying this work on, Nacogdoches county being one of that number. The whole object in the canning club work is "Better Living at Home," thus taking care of home vegetables and fruits which have hitherto been allowed to go to waste. This is the opening wedge to bigger and better things which will follow to the people of this county.

By slightly increasing the garden plantation of tomatoes, our young people, ambitious for an education, will be able to can or otherwise preserve these products by a simple method so that they can be turned into ready money to defray the expense of schooling.

In order that the canned products may find a ready market, a label has been prepared by the United States government which is distinctive and which holds the trade for the product, as it has gained a reputation in the market.

It has been made possible that domestic science and art can be taught the girls in the club work along with other household improvements, labor-saving devices, etc. The girls can secure the work in this way which they might have opportunity of getting in the school work some time yet.

The Home Demonstration work has been carried out in the leading schools in Nacogdoches county. A club was organized at Woden consisting of about twenty enthusiastic girls ready to enter into the campaign for utilization of home products. A fireless cooker was made and will be tried out an early date, the total cost of the cooker being twenty-five cents.

The interest in the canning club work and domestic science work is indeed very good at Chireno. A club of nine girls, comprising the class in agriculture, was organized. The girls will receive credit in the agricultural class for raising the tomatoes.

Terrell Hilliard of Shelby county has been in the city a day or two looking after some business interests.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS HAD BIG MEETING.

A Good Program Rendered and Swell Banquet Spread at Meeting Last Evening.

From Saturday's Daily.

LaNana Lodge Knights of Pythias had a meeting last evening that will long be remembered by those present—and a goodly crowd was present.

The Lodge was opened in regular form, a member initiated in regular form after which the business session was closed and a social session was ushered in at which a big banquet was spread where the members and visitors gathered around the festal board, and with Hon. Eugene H. Blount as master of ceremonies, ate, drank, and made merry to the enjoyment and satisfaction of all.

With Mr. Blount presiding in his magical manner, many brilliant toasts were delivered, among the speakers being Hon. Beeman Strong, Judge S. W. Blount, Capt. Sturdevant and Messrs. J. Thomas Hall, Taylor Nichols, Louis Muller, Lee Wilkerson, Harold Hatch, G. B. Engledow, D. Rulfs, Audley Harris (the new member), and Sam Kerr. There were possibly other speakers whose names we did not get. After the banquet cigars were passed and a smoker enjoyed.

Mr. Sam Kerr, deputy district grand chancellor, of Lufkin, was a distinguished visitor of the occasion.

The Knights of Pythias is a great fraternal order which draws men closer together in bands of fraternal love and esteem, and LaNana Lodge is one of the most prosperous in this section of the country, whose members love the order, and with whom it is a pleasure to be associated.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

WILL NOT FOLLOW NEW PRIMARY LAW.

Dallas, Texas, January 28.—Absolute disregard of that provision of the Texas presidential primary law ordering the call of a primary election on the fourth Tuesday of May to select a nominee for the presidency was held by the State executive committee of the democratic party to be the best course out of a badly muddled condition of affairs at a meeting held here Friday.

Instead of holding the primary election which was pointed out would cost not less than $500,000, the committee ordered precinct, county and State conventions to be held as heretofore. In case mandamus proceedings are brought by any citizen to require the committee to call the primary election the chairman of the executive committee and the secretary were instructed to accept service and a committee was appointed to assist them in any legal proceedings that might result.

WRESTLING MATCH WAS BIG EVENT.

Pet Brown, World's Champion, Retained Championship in Bout Saturday Night.

Better expressed in the slang of the street, all wrestlers are ambitious to "get Pet Brown's goat," but none have been able to adopt any new tactics or muster sufficient strength to handle the job. Alec Bean is a good wrestler, and with a nice line of successive victories he mustered sufficient courage to tackle Mr. Brown, and fought him bravely for his place in the wrestling world, at a bout held at the old courthouse in this city Saturday night.

Preliminary to the big bout a wrestling match was held between George Peterson and Marshall Stone which was rather an interesting contest within itself, and was so evenly matched that it was voted a draw. The next matter of entertainment was a boxing match between Hal Morrison and Will Reagan which was also a very spirited event, and so closely matched that no decision was rendered as to the victor. Following these preliminary features three big, athletic negroes were provided with gloves and turned loose in the ring, and this proved one of the most exciting and interesting events of the occasion. In the first period of the contest the two yellow negroes went after the black, but he fought them bravely.

The preliminaries having all been rendered, the big wrestling contest with Pet Brown and Alec Bean was launched, and a great contest it was in which giant strength, science and physical endurance were all exhibited. Brown secured the first two falls, throwing Bean the first time in thirty-two minutes, and the second time in twenty-six minutes. The first fall was accomplished with a hammer lock, while the second was administered with the legs in a feat that is called in wrestling parlance body scissors.

It was manifest from the start that Brown would win because of his superior strength and knowledge of the science, but he gave his opponent a square deal throughout, failing to take advantage that he could have employed and shortened the time. In the same manner he gave the crowd a square deal, taking his time to demonstrate the science and strength with which he is gifted, and at the same time protect his adversary from injury. And we would not give Brown all of the glory. Bean made a hard fight to save himself, and if possible win a victory. He never lost his nerve and never ceased trying, at the same time coming clean with his adversary. In the bout he gave evidences of a good wrestler, as he has in all the other engagements with which he has been connected with in this section, and the only trouble with the match now under discussion is that he tackled a man in whose class he could not do business. He is not alone in this, for this fellow Brown has been putting them all down alike, and is a marvel of strength and activity who will likely hold his championship for many moons to come.

Good order was maintained throughout the evening, and the sport was good and clean, combining an exhibition of science.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

tific athletics which was highly enjoyed by all present.

The attendance was good and the patronage sufficient to meet the expenses of the evening.

In this connection Mr. Brown through his manager, requests The Sentinel to give expression of his thanks and assurance of his appreciation for the uniform courtesy with which he was treated by Nacogdoches people which made his visit to us a most pleasant occasion.

Dr. RAMSEY HERE.

Dr. W. A. Ramsey, a distinguished physician and prominent citizen of Joaquin, is in the city today, arriving on the noon train. He came down to meet a party from Tyler in a matter of business, and will return home tonight.

The Sentinel man hunted up Dr. Ramsey and made inquiry as to the actual facts in the oil excitement in his section. Many reports have gained currency in the matter, some to the effect that a great producer had been brought in and that many more wells were being put down, etc., but wild cat news is closely related to fish stories, gathering momentum and getting larger as they travel. When asked if there was actually any oil produced in the Logansport field, as reported, Dr. Ramsey said: "I have never visited the well in person, but I am reliably informed that some oil is actually being produced from the well, though the quantity is small and this particular well as yet is unprofitable. Oil men who profess to know say that a good oil strike was found, but the well was not drilled properly, hence does not produce as it should. There is much oil excitement in the community and other wells will be put down, and all indications are that we have a real oil field."

Dr. Ramsey is a most progressive gentleman and has been one of the moving spirits in keeping up interest and getting development under way in the field. He has faith in the proposition, as he has in other good things in East Texas, and if there is really a profitable oil field in the vicinity of Joaquin and Logansport, he and his associates, and the live wires of Logansport, La., who are promoting the present development will never stop until it is fully developed.

CULBERSON A CANDIDATE.

A letter from United States Senator C. A. Culberson, appearing in today's state papers, announces his candidacy for reelection to the United States Senate.

There has been considerable speculation in political circles for some time as to whether or not Senator Culberson would seek reelection, which this positive statement from him will set at rest.

THE PATRIOTS

For the purpose of paving the street in front of the Jno. H. Cox building at the corner of Main and Fredonia streets the following citizens and firms have generously contributed to pay the expense of this work from their own resources.

This is a very important improvement, inasmuch as it is at the corner where there is more traffic than any other place in the streets of the city. This plot of paving was left undone because of the refusal of the owner to defray his one-third of the expense of doing same at the time the paving was done. These are the donors:

Judge V. E. Middlebrook of Nacogdoches, associate justice of the ninth district court of appeals and candidate to succeed himself, spent Wednesday in Carthage in the interest of his candidacy. The editor of the Register knew Judge Middlebrook when he was a teacher before he began the practice of law, and observed that he was then a young man of extraordinary ability. His subsequent career has fulfilled the promise of his youth. Of him it may be truly said: "Nihil tedit quid non ornavit."—Carthage Register.

HISTORIC OLD ROAD. THREE PRIZES WERE CAPTURED BY COUNTY.

The question is frequently asked: "Why mark the old San Antonio road?" Answer, because it leads to the beginning of Texas, and to show this part of the history of Texas, which is the very beginning of the history of Texas. Without this road there would have been no Alamo shrine no San Jacinto glory, and no Texas. The Old San Antonio road from Nachitoches, La., via Nacogdoches, Texas was on the main artery through which passed the blood of the heroes that was shed for Texas. Before it even became a road it was the pathway to this land.

Monuments are proper on battlefields, in cemeteries, and at historic points where memory enshrines such sacred sites. In the list of the Lone Star State's glories, the old King's Highway, the Camino del Ray, as this olden-time route is termed, should appear first, because it came first. It was the first step in the history of Texas. Mark it well! Point it out to the world by monuments, to show how Texas came here.

Stephen F. Austin's diary was about the first descriptive record of it. The famous "Old Stone Fort" stood upon this old San Antonio road, in the old town of Nacogdoches, which was built by its travelers and its historic adventurers. Let it be marked by monuments to show where "Footprints on the sands of time" were made by Sam Houston and his immortal comrades, and by others of note before and after him. There is not a mile of it that has not been baptized in the blood of daring adventurers and brave patriots. From end to end, from time to time, it has been a bloody battlefield, a stream of history.

PROMISE REMEMBERED

Sixteen years ago when the body of Mrs. Thos. H. Summers was laid to rest at North Church in a brick vault built by Lit Herrin, the husband requested Mr. Herrin to build for him a similar vault when he died, and by the side of the open grave marked off the ground for his own grave. At this place the body of Thos. H. Summers, 89 years old, was buried yesterday in a brick vault built by Mr. Herrin in fulfillment of the promise made sixteen years ago.

Local weather observer T. A. King says that the heads of the government weather bureau affirm that they have had more difficulty in dealing with the atmospheric conditions during the recent past than the department has ever before experienced in the past forty-five years. It is now in order for some imaginative mind to give a reason for this state of affairs. Any cause will be received, ranging from the war in Europe on down through every channel one chooses to mention.—Lufkin News.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderrine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a looseness and itching of the scalp which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderrine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Keweenaw Danderrine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderrine. Save your hair! Try it!

At the recent meeting of the Farmer's Congress, three prizes were captured by two girls and a boy of the county, the first being won by Miss Leone Holmes, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. J. P. Holmes and Miss Besie Heflin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Heflin, of Garrison, the third by Jewel Means, son of Carl Means of Appleby. The first prize was $100 in money, and the second and third were for $25 each for the most profitable acre of peanuts, in which the contestants were required to keep books, charging all expenses against the crop, and reporting the net amount of profits. The contestants grew more than 100 bushels of peanuts each, to which is added the hay crop. There was but little difference in the amount produced by the two girls but Miss Holmes' account is said to have shown the best profit and most systematic record.

Writing to the Garrison News, Miss Holmes contributes the following beautiful and sensible account of her experience which we reproduce for the benefit and inspiration it may be to others:

I have been asked to tell the story of how I won my $100.

I believe there is some good in all things. I believe that every address delivered at the Garrison High school, whether by layman or expert, has been helpful to me. And taking heart at the encouragement thus given from time to time, I entered the Texas Industrial congress prize competition for the best acre of Spanish peanuts. Once while reading one of the farm papers my father receives, I happened on this principle of farming laid down by Pliny: "It is a maxim universally agreed upon in agriculture, that nothing must be too late; and again, that everything must be done in its season; while there is a third precept which reminds us that opportunity lost can never be recalled. By following this maxim closely I won the $100. First I got an early start; second by the advice of crop literature sent out from Texas Industrial Congress headquarters, and availing myself of the crop wisdom of our county demonstration agent, cultivation of my prize acre was correctly accomplished; third, in this way I did not lose a single opportunity to win my $100. The time and effort involved in developing my prize acre has been worth to me another $100. It has taught me the value of good advice. It has taught me the value of enthusiasm. It has taught me the plain secret of success in many of our undertakings as we go along. And while I won a place in the prize competition I am not satisfied, more enthusiasm brought to my work would have rewarded me with second place. Therefore I shall set about winning capital prize for 1916. But the prizes are not everything. By diligence employed under the direction of mature counsel my prize acre produced more merchantable Spanish peanuts than five acres of more, cultivated in the usual way. Glory enough and success enough for any Texas girl. And so I admonish my farm girl friends to try an acre of Spanish peanuts the coming year. Try the acre for pleasure as well as profit. Cultivate enthusiasm as well, while managing and planning the cultivation of the crop. The exercise of the mind and body is a fine thing, and the prize—well the prize is not, after all, the goal, but rather good health, a fine growing enthusiasm, and a sense of satisfaction which comes to those who do things well. Besides, what a great money crop Spanish peanuts are getting to be. Men who know about markets and by-products see a new farm prosperity for Texas in the peanut. Now is the time to learn the crop and get rich. Write to Texas Industrial Congress for entrance blanks. You must start today or you will fail. There is a third precept which reminds us that opportunities lost can never be regained.

The "Star Spangle Banner" may be the national tune, the Golden-rod or something else the national flower, and the turkey and eagle the national birds, but the national nut is unquestionably the peanut.

CARRANCISTAS RESCUE. AMERICAN SOLDIERS.

Brownsville, Tex., Jan. 27.—Privates William C. Wheeler and Viggo Pederson, of Battery D, Fourth Field Artillery, who were kidnaped late yesterday by Mexican bandits, and taken south from the border, were rescued by Carranza soldiers, and brought to Matamoros today, crossing the international bridge into the United States at 11 o'clock. They were turned over to American authorities dressed in Mexican clothes.

No word had been heard from the men since their crossing the river. They wore no clothes. A searching party was sent out from Matamoros by Colonel J. R. Quintanilla, commander of the border in the absence of General Alfredo Ricaut, and an early morning hour the Americans were found.

Lieutenant John E. Mort, commanding Battery D, of the Fourth Field Artillery, with Second Lieutenants Bernard R. Peyton and Albert W. Waldron, were placed under arrest today by Captain Walter S. McBroom of the Twenty eighth Infantry, and charged with making an incursion into Mexico with fourteen privates. These soldiers swam the Rio Grande last night under the protection of gunfire from the American side, in attempting to make a search for Privates Wheeler and Pederson.

The bodies of the four soldiers who were drowned, Sergeant Owen, L. Clements, Corporal Michael F. Ring, Private Henry A. Rhode and Charles D. Wiltonbest, had not been recovered at noon, but those searching for the corpses expected to find them before dark. Parties are searching the river between here and Progreso, Mex.

There were no boats available at the point of crossing. The officers and men swam the river carrying only pistols and cartridge belts. So far as earned today, they were not moored while in search of houses on the Mexican side, but on their return to the American side, were fired on several times from the bush.

PRIMARY LAW IS CONSTITUTIONAL.

Austin, Texas, 27.—Two lengthy opinions, construing the residential election laws, and addressed to Paul Waples of Fort Worth, chairman of the State democratic executive committee, which is to meet at Dallas tomorrow, were made public today by the attorney general's department. The opinions were prepared by Assistant Attorney General William Pickney Dumas.

The presidential preferential primary law is held to be constitutional. It was passed by the legislature in 1913. After the holding of such a primary it is unnecessary to hold a State convention for the purpose of declaring the result of such primary.

It would not be proper for the names of the members of the State executive committee to be voted on at the so-called presidential preferential primary in May.

The names of the delegates from the State at large are the only names to be submitted as delegates by the state executive committee to the county chairmen. Returns of such primary election should be made in same manner as returns of regular primary election in July.

The State Executive committee in August, after the regular biennial primary election, has the duty of electing national committeemen, although the national executive committee has authority and power to pass upon legality of the selection. The State executive committee would not have authority to make the selection.

The State Executive committee is required to submit to the various county chairmen the names of candidates for delegates at large, and can not select the names to be certified to the county chairman.

It is not improper for the State chairman to call on the county chairmen to certify the district delegates elected, instead of a strict adherence to article A, requiring the usual laborous methods of canvassing the election of national delegates on May 23 when the national convention meets June 14. The opinion says:

"It is a physical impossibility to get the names of all delegates before the national convention within the time for its meeting next June, and is would likely cause a deplorable condition of affairs in that body at a time when harmony would be most desired."

Contractor Hablin of Nacogdoches, who secured the contract for the erection of the new Masonic Temple in this city, was here yesterday. He was attending to various matters incident to the beginning of the work, such as getting proposals from some of the local concerns for supplies that will be required in the erection of the structure. While the actual work will depend somewhat on the weather, still it is hoped to begin within the next two or three weeks at least. This will give employment to a number of men for some time, and will add considerably to Lufkin's payroll.—Lufkin News.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

PALESTINE COMMUNITY LOCALS.

Special Correspondence.

The health of the community is very good at present, except for Mr. L. G. Hanks who has been nearly sick all the year. Chester Hanks, his grand-son, has been visiting him this week.

There are three of the candidates from this community, Edwin Tillery, Robert Christian and Jim Christian. (The correspondent makes complimentary reference in a partisan way to the candidates which we could not afford to publish in justice to the other candidates and "tote" fair as a public journal—Editor.)

We are having a lot of rain now.

The farmers are preparing land for planting time, which will soon be here.

Mr. Frank Murphy received a message Thursday that his grandmother, Mrs. William Skillern, was dead. Mrs. Skillern leaves nine children, three girls and six boys.

PLANT A TREE

Plant a tree about the house. Plant several. Plant a few pecans, a few pears, plums, peaches and other fruit bearing trees. If you expect to die before they come to the bearing age, plant them for your children, plant them for somebody else's children. If you have no concern for posterity, then go—go to Mexico. Every farm home in East Texas should be supplied with nut bearing trees for home use. A home without fruit trees is not complete. No country in the world grows better or prettier trees than East Texas. The forest is living evidence of this statement. Pears and nut trees are not only adapted to this country, but they are the lazy man's trees, as they flourish better without cultivation when once established.—Cusk County News.

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine — Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

North Crandon, Wis.—"When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins which left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. MAYME ASBACH, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCASLAND, 509 Have St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. OSGOOD, 1-Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
