TEXAS' POPULATION REACHES 4,429,566. Washington, Feb. 14.—A census bureau estimate for July 1, 1916, gives Texas a population of 4,429,566, a gain of 75,756 for the past year and an increase of 333,024 since the 1910 census. The estimate for population on Jan. 1, 1916, is 4,386,638. Estimates of the population of the large cities have not been completed. The department announces that Texas has increased its population more rapidly than the country as a whole.

WILSON TO RUN AGAIN

Washington, Feb. 14.—President Wilson today formally gave his consent that his name be used as a candidate for renomination.

In a letter to the secretary of state of Ohio, the president stated that he was unwilling to enter a contest for the nomination but was willing to permit the use of his name in the coming primary in order that the democrats of Ohio might make known their preference.

The president made known his position in order to comply with the Ohio primary law which requires candidates for delegates to the party convention to make known their first and second choices before Feb. 25, and also requires that the candidates for delegates have the consent of their choices to make use of their names.

AT FORT WORTH.

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 15.—Announcement was received today by the Chamber of Commerce that the Hon. Martin Dies Congressman from Beaumont, whose stand in opposition to President Wilson's preparedness program has gained him wide notoriety, will deliver an address here about March 1.

In his address Mr. Dies will make an argument against preparedness. No arrangements yet have been made locally for his reception and it has not been decided at what place he will speak.

Geo. B. Whitaker of Commissioner's Beat No. 2, was a pleasant caller at the office today, dropping in to have his announcement for commissioner placed in the Weekly Sentinel.

A. Hatchel, a former citizen of this county, where he still has many friends among the older settlers, is in the city visiting with his son, H. Hatchel.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Nacogdoches Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the torture of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Nacogdoches citizen says:

A. D. Holt, truck farmer, Nacogdoches, says: "I had to get up many times at night to pass the kidney secretions and they scalded. I also had pain in my back and loins. Whenever I have had such trouble, Doan's Kidney Pills have always given me relief."

NEW PAPER FOR CUSHING.

Carl Thorn, who has been in charge of the mechanical department of the Garrison News for some months, was in the city yesterday afternoon returning from Cushing, and when seen by The Sentinel man said that he had perfected arrangements for the establishment of a new paper at Cushing, hoping to get out the first issue about the first of March. He will move an outfit from Joaquin.

Mr. Thorn is a good printer, and an ambitious young newspaper man who will put forth his best efforts to give his patrons a good paper, and we wish him a full measure of success in his new field of labor.

Life is the slave of thought, and jealousy is the foe to faith.

Those who are willing to be deceived pay the dearest for the flattery they receive.

A man's integrity will sustain him in every trial; his rascality will sooner or later expose him.

Come on, "fellers," and let's get an oil well down before Huntington and Lufkin drain the pool dry.

The greatest thinkers are those who talk less and get there first. "Still water runs deep" in human minds as well as in oceans.

Children are the flowers of their parents' lives. The fond parent can better understand the relation between man and the divine father.

Some author has said that "conscience is an awakened love for your fellow-man." It is also the most severe judge of the soul that holds it.

With the epidemic of lagrippe that has been raging over the country lately it is necessary to carry two handkerchiefs—one for show and one for blow.

The man who boasted that he was a self-made man had something to think about when his friend told him that God was thereby relieved of a great responsibility.

The best "preparedness" one can engage in these war times is peace with God and a good life insurance policy. The cost of living will soon be out of reach of the average man.

Knowledge acquired through study is cheaper than that bought with experience, but if you attempt to follow all the wise old saws you will not get very far in life. It is the doing of things in some practical way that counts.

The disposition of retaliation brings a man down to that which he despises in the one who has given him offense; the return of a good deed lifts him up in both his own and the estimate of the people with whom he is associated.

The Beaumont Journal is taking a pool or straw vote of the people of the district on the issue of "Preparedness," addressing the newspapers and many other people on a return card with the query as to the sentiment in each locality. This enterprise may reflect sentiment of the towns, but sometimes the people of the country have a way of bringing up the rear with a different verdict.

We, Texans think we are "it." Well, we are, but with a small "i" from start to finish, we are not half so big or powerful as we think we are. The Texans are about five millions strong and live in a productive country and yet we don't quite pay our upkeep. Germany is about the size of Texas, and its population is about sixty-five million people. They grow more than they consume; they ship to Texas some of the food its people consume and some of the clothes they wear; and we have learned much we know from Germans. That country is fighting and standing off armies of two-thirds of the civilized world. One fifth of the German army is strong enough to drive all Texans into the Gulf of Mexico. Its able bodied men combined, grow. We have as women are in the field growing ten times to twenty times the food we Texans, men and women combined grow. We have as much land and we have the peace full opportunity to cultivate it and make a big surplus but we don't do it. Several times Missouri and Illinois smoke houses and Kansas corn cribs kept many of us from starving. Up in the big productive country it is said that some of us have palagra and the balance of us have hookworm. They have set aside a fund to treat us for hook worms, and us. Suppose we wake up and us. Suppose we make up and actually do things; show the world that we are progressive, selfsupporting and as intelligent as anybody. We have the country and it's ours. Let's use it—make it boom with plenty—Tyler Signal.

In the heat of discussion which is now engaging the district on the subject of "preparedness," in which Congressman Dies is coming in for severe denunciation from many quarters for his opposition to the plan of the president, it is due him to say that he is not opposed to the whole scheme of preparedness as many might suppose, but does not believe in such sweeping investment at a single time. The following extract from one of his most recent speeches, which is a re-iteration of former statements from him on the subject, best explains his belief in the matter:

"None of us oppose preparedness. We all want a strong navy. We want the government to go right along in a normal way improving the navy in the future as in the past. Just now we have $2000,000,000 worth of war ships appropriated for and under construction. We are willing to go forward in the great work of building up the navy. We think our facilities are the best in the world, but if the officers in charge of them will tell us that more men and more powerful guns are needed, we will join in the movement to supply them. But we are not to be swept off our feet by baseless rumor and unsupported clamor for huge additional appropriations. We are not for peace at any price. The safety and honor of the nation is as dear to us as to those lion-tongued lip-warriors who question our courage and patriotism. We simply refuse to be bullied into what we feel and believe to be the beginning of militarism."

It must be true that "politics make strange bedfellows." The Carthage Register has never been an admirer of Congressman Dies, and Editor Carnes is one of those rugged characters who says what he thinks—and he is some thinker, too. The Register is also bitterly opposed to the program of "preparedness" now proposed and in this fight in finding it necessary to support the erstwhile objectionable congressman.

A lady friend of the Sentinel called the editor over the phone this morning and said that her father and other older settlers always understood February 7 to be "Ground Hog Day." Since the one we recently passed played us so treacherous, we hope the old gentlemen were correct, and prefer to believe that today is the right day if it behaves itself as it should.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

We have been informed that the people up north reckon February 14 as "Ground Hog Day," but we would imagine that there would always be bad weather in the north on that day.—Temple Telegram.

EARLY TEXAS NEWSPAPERS

(Southwest)

Newspapers in Texas were few and far between. For years after the original settlement at San Felipe, on the Brazos River, there were no newspapers, and after this for a long period, there were only a few, published in the larger towns. The circulation of these papers was, of course limited. The following is a list of the earlier publications:

THE GOVERNMENT MALARIA PROBLEM.

Four percent of the inhabitants of certain sections of the South have malaria. This estimate, based on the reporting of 204,881 cases during 1914, has led the United States Public Health Service to give increased attention to the malaria problem, according to the annual report of the Surgeon General. Of 13,526 blood victims examined by Government officers during the year, 1,797 showed malarial infection. The infection rate among white persons was above eight per cent, and among colored persons about twenty per cent. In two counties in the Yazoo Valley, 40 out of every 100 inhabitants presented evidences of the disease.

Striking as the above figures are they are no more remarkable than those relating to the reduction in the incidence of the disease following surveys of the Public Health Service at 34 places in nearly every state of the South. In some instances from an incidence of fifteen per cent, in 1914, a reduction has been accomplished to less than four or five per cent in 1915.

One of the important scientific discoveries made during the year was in regard to the continuance of the disease from season to season. Over 2000 Anopheline mosquitoes in malarious districts were dissected, during the early spring months, without finding a single infected insect, and not until May 15, 1915 was the first parasite in the body of a mosquito discovered. The Public Health Service therefore concludes that mosquitoes in the latitude of the Southern States ordinarily do not carry infection through the winter. This discovery indicates that protection from malaria may be secured by treating human carriers with quinine previous to the middle of May, thus preventing any infection from chronic sufferers reaching mosquitoes and being transmitted by them to other persons.

Although quinine remains the best means of treating malaria and is also of marked benefit in preventing infection, the eradication of the disease as a whole rests upon the destruction of the breeding place of Anopheline mosquitoes. The Public Health Service, therefore, is urging a definite campaign of draining standing water, the filling of low places, and the regrading and training of streams where malarial mosquitoes breed. The oiling of breeding places, and the stocking of streams with top-feeding minnows are further recommended. The Service also gives advice regarding screening, and other preventive measures as a part of the educational campaigns conducted in sections of the infected territory.

This study is typical of the scientific investigations which are being carried out by the Public Health Service, all of which have a direct bearing on eradicating the disease. The malaria work now includes the collection of morbidity data, malaria surveys, demonstration work, scientific field and laboratory studies, educational campaigns, and special studies of impounded water and drainage projects.

DEATH AT TIMPSON.

News was received in the city yesterday of the death of Mrs. Whiteside, the beloved wife of Dr. T. F. Whiteside, a prominent physician of Timpson. Mrs. Whiteside is a descendant of the Armstrong family on her mother's side, a well known family of Shelby county, and was a most estimable Christian lady who was loved and admired by all who knew her.

MORE OIL TALK IN ANGELINA COUNTY.

The following report of oil excitement in Angelina county is taken from Saturday's issue of the Lufkin Daily News:

The News had as one of its guests this morning Mr. Joseph H. Stahl, an oil expert from Beaumont, who was just returning from the newly discovered field at Huntington. Mr. Stahl was returning to his home in Beaumont, but before leaving Lufkin left the following statement with this publication, which is given to the reading public as handed in. It will no doubt be of interest to many in this section who have a "leaning" for oil. He says:

"After sounding the well at Huntington, which has been at a standstill for several months, I located the depth at about 1,033 feet, and after several bailings, found that I had about 168 feet of oil, between the heaving mud water on top and the water flow below which I could not reduce, not knowing the 'log' of the well. I sent a dart nacker to try and shut off the lower flow, then I encountered a fine paraffine base gas which is of great value. I consider this field equal to the 'Thrall' or any other field of high gravity oil of which Lufkin is in the same zone, and I am certain that if properly handled, you could develop a good field close to Lufkin. I made a survey of this territory about seven years ago, and this being the first time to visit your city since, I must say that I find conditions greatly improved. Yours truly, Joseph H. Stahl, Beaumont, Texas."

It was after the foregoing interview that Mr. Stahl called once more at the News office and made

UGH! - CALOMEL - MAKES YOU SICK. DON'T STAY BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Will Clean Your Sluggish Liver Better Than Calomel and Can Not Salivate.

Calomel makes you sick; you lose a day's work. Calomel is quicksilver and it salivates; calomel injures your liver. If you are bilious; feel lazy, sluggish and all knocked out, if your bowels are constipated and your head aches or stomach is sour, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone instead of using sickening, salivating calomel. Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you'll wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and bowels regular. You will feel like working. You'll be cheerful, full of energy, vigor and ambition.

Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal guarantee that it will clean your sluggish liver better than nasty calomel; it won't make you sick and you can eat anything you want without being salivated. Your druggist guarantees that each spoonful will start your liver, clean your bowels and straighten you up by morning or you get your money back. Children gladly take Dodson's Liver Tone because it is pleasant tasting and doesn't gripe or cramp or make them sick.

I am selling millions of bottles of Dodson's Liver Tone to people who have found that this pleasant, vegetable, liver medicine takes the place of dangerous calomel. Buy one bottle on my sound, reliable guarantee. Ask your druggist about me.

A PRETTY FACE is the result of a healthy physical condition. Beauty is but skin deep, yet it greatly depends on a clear complexion, free from wrinkles and hollow cheeks.

Health always brings wealth of beauty. A healthy state of the system comes with Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a medicine prepared for woman's ailments—it cures those derangements and weaknesses which make woman's life miserable.

Mrs. MARY HALLMAN (daughter of Mr. J. C. Faxon), 510 E. Richard St., Sherman, Tex., says: "I write this in the hope that it will assist some poor sufferer. I took 'Favorite Prescription' when I was just entering womanhood. Can say it relieved me of suffering and built up my system in general."

Mrs. PEARL FAUNDA, of 902 West 13th Avenue, Corsicana, Texas, says: "I certainly can praise Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the good it did me when I was a girl just drifting into maturity. I certainly will recommend 'Favorite Prescription'."

SAFE BLOWED AT MT. ENTERPRISE.

Yeggmen Got Away With Three Hundred of March & Ross' Money Last Night.

From Saturday's Daily: The report was flashed over the wires this morning that yeggmen had cracked the safe in the store of March & Ross at Mt. Enterprise last night and secured about three hundred dollars.

At the time of the report there was no clue to the identity of the yeggmen, but it is believed to have been the work of professionals.

"GROUND HOG DAY"

Editor Sentinel:

I notice there is some dispute concerning "Ground Hog Day," some claiming the seventh. Now, to stop all controversy, why not follow Father McCauley's plan in settling the disputes they had in Ireland concerning St. Patrick's day which is as follows:

On the eighth day of March, some people say, St. Patrick at midnight first saw the day;

While others declare 'twas the ninth he was born, And 'twas all a mistake, between midnight and morn, For mistakes will occur in a hurry and shock, And some blamed, and some blamed the clock.

And with all their cross-questions sure no one could know, If the child was too fast, or the clock was too slow.

Now the first faction in old Ireland, they say, Was all on account of St. Patrick's birthday.

Some fought for the eighth, for the ninth more would die, And who would not see right sure got a black eye.

At last both factions so positive grew That they both kept a birthday, then Pat had two.

Till Father McCauley who showed them their sins Said that no one could have two birthdays except they were twins.

Says he, don't be fighting for eight or for nine, Don't be always dividing, but sometimes combine.

Combine eight with nine and seventeen is the mark, So let that be the birthday, Amen says the clerk.

If he was not a twin, sure our history will show, That at least he is worth two saints that we know.

So they all got bland drunk, which completed their bliss. And they have kept up the practice from that day to this.

AN IDEAL REPORT.

Road overseers are required to make a report to the commissioners' court, and as many overseers haven't but little knowledge of bookkeeping, some of them are hard to audit. The following made by W. T. Whiteman is ideal, and so perfect that the county clerk has given The Sentinel a copy for publication for the benefit it may be to others engaged in similar work:

Caro, Texas, Feb. 8, 1916.

To the Honorable Commissioners Court, Nacogdoches, Texas, Gentlemen;

As road Overseer from Mahl to Linn Flat I beg to submit my report for the year's work:

|---|----------|
| Cash on hand at beginning of 1915 | $ 86.21 |
| Collected in cash from hands | 335.50 |
| Total to account for | $421.71 |
| EXPENDITURES. | |
| Road dragging | $ 46.50 |
| Lumber and six shovels | 41.49 |
| Hauling gravel and clay and going over entire road with grader, over Mahl Section twice | 224.00 |
| Paid Birdwell for land and widening hill between Mahl and Caro | 70.00 |
| TOTAL EXPENSES | $381.99 |
| Balance on Hand | $39.72 |

I bought about $20.00 worth of lumber which was practically lost. I used it to protect the ditches of the hill which I afterwards got Birdwell to widen. He was to widen the road and furnish the land for $75.00 and I settled with him by giving him the lumber and $70.00.

I have had five miles of road dragged by a competent man with a good four mule team for $4.00 for each dragging, which is 80cents per mile, and good money can be made at this price.

I clayed some sand, widened some road, and put gravel on some bad clay places between Caro and Linn Flat.

Herewith check for $39.72 to balance this account. I am now 45 years old and do not care for the office any more. I recommend Hugh Weatherly for the Caro to Linn Flat road and Pete Winder for the Mahl end. Chas. Watkins would fill the place to good advantage, but I think he claims to be over age, not sure about this.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) W. T. Whiteman.

TAKE CARE.

A subscriber sends in the following poem for what it may be worth as a warning:

"Once I had money and a friend
Upon whom I sat great store,
I loaned my money to my friend
And took his word therefor;
I asked my money of my friend
And naught but words I got—
I lost my money and my friend
Which made me very poor."

OUT ON $5,000 BOND.

Sherman, Texas, Feb.—Mrs. Annie Faust today was held in $5000 bond subject to the action of the grand jury following the death of the Rev. H. M. Cagle, a prominent Baptist minister, whom she shot down on the public square here Monday. Shortly after the shooting Mrs. Faust was released under $1000 bond on a charge of assault with intent to murder. Today she had no trouble in making the $5000 bond and was released.

The Sentinel is glad to learn that Uncle Mich Weatherly of Appleby is recovering from a recent debility. He sustained a fall which crippled him, and the weight of his great age makes his recovery slower.

RETURNED FROM MARKET.

Mr. Henry Schmidt of the firm of Mayer & Schmidt has returned from the Eastern markets where he went to purchase spring and summer goods for the big house with which he is connected, and was accompanied by Miss Ann M. Jones of San Angelo who will have charge of the millinery department of the store, and who went with him to make personal selection of the season's latest effects.

In addition to the purchase of a large and well assorted line of all the latest effects in millinery and ladies' wear, five new show cases were purchased which will be used for the care and display of the line of muslin underwear, relieving the other cases, and completing the arrangement which gives to the establishment nice cases and cabinets for the care and display of their millinery and ready-to-wear goods and enabling them to discard all tables which had heretofore been used. With the installation of the new cases, everything has been re-arranged, opening up passage-ways in each department where the goods can be displayed and seen without exposure to air and dust, and reached with convenience, altogether making a most happy arrangement which delights the eye as well as serves a great convenience. Added to these good conveniences, the house has an elevator with a boy in constant service to carry customers and prospective customers up and down at their wish, and this great convenience is further supplemented with a well-appointed rest-room, all combining an ideal arrangement in various appointments, and making an enterprise that is in keeping with the best appointed city stores.

The ladies will find in Miss Jones a very pleasant lady who comes highly recommended, and who will take great pleasure in serving the public with the best of the market and skillful knowledge of the trade affords.

NOW SHE IS GOOD.

Hush—here's a secret:

A lady who does not live a hundred miles away from this office suspected her husband was in the habit of kissing the pretty servant girl and resolved to detect him in the act. After waiting for some time for an opportunity she heard him quietly enter the kitchen one evening when the pretty servant girl was out. She immediately placed a shawl over her head with matches in her hand and heart burning with jealousy, entered the darksome kitchen by the back door and was almost immediately kissed in the most ardent manner. Burning with rage and bent on administering a terrible rebuke she tore loose from his embrace and struck a match, and there stood face to face with the servant girl's best beau. Her husband says after this his wife has never been more affectionate since the day they were married.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and remove dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

Oscar Graham with his splendid troupe will visit Lufkin next Thursday, further announcement of which will be made in the paper later. Mr. Graham makes an annual visit to the towns which support an opera house, in this section, and has built a great reputation for himself and helps with the good, clean, interesting plays he promotes.

WILL TAKE CENSUS EARLIER THIS YEAR.

The following with reference to the work of taking the scholastic census is taken from the Austin American, and will be of interest to the people generally:

Announcement was taken yesterday by W. E. Doughty, superintendent of Public Instruction that the tremendous undertaking of making an accurate census of the school children of the State will begin this year on March 1 instead of May 1 as heretofore. Few people probably know that the thirty-fourth Legislature enacted a law requiring that hereafter the school census of the State shall be taken between the first day of March and the first day of April of each year.

Another important change made by the Thirty-fourth Legislature in the scholastic census law was to the effect that the scholastic age shall hereafter be seven to seventeen years instead of seven to sixteen years, inclusive as heretofore; that is, an extra year has been added to the scholastic age limit. The extension of the age limit will in no way increase the burden upon the school authorities, since all children seven to twenty-one years old are admitted as free pupils to the public schools of the State.

The school census of the state is made under the direction of the State Department of Education. The work of sending out supplies and instructions to county superintendents and to the presidents of school boards is just about completed, so that the census trustees, as they are designated by law, may begin their work promptly on the first day of March.

The census trustee or person taking the census in a common school district is appointed by the county superintendent, and in independent school districts by the president of the school board. The work of taking the census of the State requires, in all, the services of 9,200 census trustees.

A VALENTINE PARTY.

Miss Louise Baker entertained Saturday afternoon with a valentine party—a little early for a valentine party but in order that her school friends might attend, it must needs be Saturday instead of Monday.

This beautiful home was decorated prettily, and little red hearts and cute little cupid held full sway. The game of hearts caused quite a deal of merriment, Miss Anita Huston winning high score, received a pretty box of stationery, and for "no luck at all" Miss Mintie Blount was presented with a box of candy hearts. Miss Ara Brooks of Beaumont, Miss Daba Buford of Henderson, Miss Latham of Alto and Miss Christabel Patton of Melrose were interesting out-of-town guests.

Miss Baker refreshed her guests with dainty salad course and thus closed one of the merriest parties of the year.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Hon. W. E. Thomason as a candidate for representative of Nacogdoches county in the legislature, subject to the action of the democracy.

Mr. Thomason is too well known to the voters of the county to need much comment from this paper. He is a native of the county, and has spent his whole life here. He was raised on a farm in the eastern part of the county, and after reaching manhood engaged in the profession of teaching, teaching school at different places in the county for a period of ten years. After quitting the profession of teaching, he was associated with one of the leading firms in this city in the mercantile business for a period of six years, after which he served the county four years as county treasurer. While filling the latter position he studied law, and was granted license and took up the practice of law immediately upon retiring from this office.

As a lawyer Mr. Thomason has given his attention more to civil business, and ranks with the good lawyers of Nacogdoches.

With these qualifications, gained largely through experience and close application, Mr. Thomason has a knowledge of the conditions and needs of the county, and could be depended upon to work untiringly and unselfishly for the interests of his state and county, and if elected would make us a good representative.

In this connection Mr. Thomason requests the Sentinel to say that he will not be able to make a personal canvass of the county, but will try to reach people through appointments at the political gatherings where he will be pleased to address them on the issues of the day and divide time with any opposition.

HAVE YOU BEEN SICK?

Then you realize the utter weakness that robs ambition, destroys appetite, and makes work a burden.

To restore that strength and stamina that is so essential, nothing has ever equaled or compared with Scott's Emulsion, because its strength-sustaining nourishment invigorates the blood while its tonic value sharpens the appetite and restores health in a natural, permanent way.

If you are run down, tired, nervous, overworked or lack strength, get Scott's Emulsion to-day. It is free from alcohol.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

Stripling has been in Austin this week looking after the approval of some school district bonds, and other matters connected with the educational affairs of the county. He arrived home last night.

Hon. Beeman Strong arrived home last night from Austin where he went to argue some cases before the court of criminal appeals. He also made a visit to San Antonio while gone.

Dr. J. K. Castleberry of Sacul was in the city today, and when seen by the newspaper man, said that the epidemic of lagrippe which has become so general over the community has not spared his section and that in his practice he was finding many complicated cases, some of which required operation to relieve.

SATURDAY'S LOCALS.

Prof. M. A. Shaver, principal of Garrison High School, was an arrival to the city on the noon train.

John F. Wells, who had the misfortune to get his hand cut recently, is reported to be suffering from blood poison.

Rev. L. V. Aldridge, pastor of the Baptist church at Garrison passed through the city this afternoon going to Jacksonville.

Mrs. Oscar Strahan and little son, Eugene, of San Augustine, are visiting in the home of Mrs. Strahan's mother, Mrs. J. T. Dickinson.

Carl Thorn, superintendent of the mechanical department of the Garrison News, came down on the noon train to see sights of the old town. This is Mr. Thorn's first visit to the city in six years and he is finding many improvements.

Some of the record-keepers of the city say that seventeen years ago today, February 12, 1899, was the coldest that was ever known here. One man reported that his thermometer registered four above zero, while others reported six and eight degrees. Zero means thirty-two below freezing as read by the Fahrenheit thermometer. Today has been typical spring with the birds singing and the "fish" worms trying to break through the soil.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Spradley left yesterday for Mineral Wells to which place they had previously shipped their household goods with the expectation of making their home a while in the hope that they might thereby regain their health. Previous to settling down they will visit relatives in several places. Mr. and Mrs. Spradley have many friends over the country who sincerely trust their fondest hopes may be realized, and that they might soon be able to return to citizenship with us.

If you can't smile, try a grin.
There is no value to a frown.

The Lufkin Daily News has found a piece of senatorial timber in Congressman Dies, and dishes up a column of good reading matter on the subject.

Claude Callan of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram says his wife is for preparedness. Possibly she is justified, and no "anti" would argue that question with her.

The belief in limitations, that we cannot rise out of our environment, is responsible for much wretchedness. Until you erase "fate" and "can't" and "doubt" from your vocabulary, you can not rise. Franklin Monthly.

One of the greatest things for which Nacogdoches now suffers is more rent cottages. If local capitalist would erect a few nice cottages they would find it not only a good investment but would render the town a patriotic service as well.

If Longview lands her munitions plant before the navigation of Banita Creek has been provided for, will this have any weight with the department when it comes to provide a new postoffice site for the city of Lufkin? This question is put for all those who feel themselves concerned. —Lufkin Daily News.

A negro was killed in Nacogdoches the other night; following his death there was a funeral. Further than this The News has not been advised. East Texas towns are very resourceful along this line, and the writer is glad to make mention of the "progress" that is being made. —Lufkin News.

If good reasons existed a year ago to reduce the cotton acreage, those reasons have been strengthened by this terrible war. Indeed, the consequences that will follow a large acreage of cotton to the exclusion of feed crops and other products essential to the farm home, will be disastrous, and poverty will prevail throughout the South. This proposition is so plain that no intelligent person can fail to see it. —Col. Milner in Rusk Co. News.

A great truth told in a few words. Says the Fort Worth Star-Telegram "Buy-it-made-in-Texas is the first law of community progress." If we would always give first consideration to those things raised at home we would not only increase the circulating medium of our wealth, but we would build a country in which good people of other places would want to reside and it would prove the most effective immigration agency, through which would follow the development of our great country.

Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you and to think what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background, and your duties in the middle distance, and your chances to do a little more in the foreground; to see that your fellow men are just as real as you are, and try to look behind their faces to their hearts hungry for joy; to own that probably the only reason for your existence is not what you are going to get out of life but what you are going to put into it; to close your book of complaints against the management of the universe, and look around you for a place where you can sow a few seeds of human happiness—are you willing to do these things even for a day? —Henry Van Dyke.

It is the duty of the business men of the towns to do everything in their power to promote the interests of the country, which can be done by finding and developing markets for the produce, and seeing to it that the farmers get a square deal in both what they have to sell and what they have to buy. In turn it is the duty of the farmers to stand by and give their support to the towns which are co-operating with them. By neglecting to give the co-operation noted, the business people can wreck the country from which they draw support, and by giving their patronage to the mail order houses the farmers can wreck the towns and neither class can enjoy that prosperity which is possible with co-operation. We are all one big family, and must be of mutual help to each other if we enjoy mutual prosperity.

SELLING THE SURPLUS VEGETABLES.

I have sold a great variety of fruits, vegetables, etc., in small quantities, for a good many years, and have learned a few things that have proved valuable to me and may be useful to some other farm woman.

In the first place, I find that it pays to have special customers. I often sell onions for $1.00 a bushel when the merchants pay only 60 cents. The telephone is a great help in this. I phone to probable customers that I have certain things, state my price, and arrange details of delivery. When I go or send to town I know exactly what to take. It is far pleasanter than peddling things about and more dignified. It is so much more comfortable to feel that we are conferring the favor, as we are when we sell fine vegetables.

I make a very special point of having everything I sell the very best of its class. I have quite a large asparagus bed and sell a good deal every spring but only the finest stalks. I don't mean that I sell all the finest stalks. We use lots. But I don't sell anything else. The smaller stalks I use in soup, omelets, etc. So with potatoes and onions, I find many uses for the small ones, that nothing is lost. But I want every sale that I make to be a quality advertisement.

I always try to make things attractive. I like to put a cluster of narcissus or violets in with my asparagus, or onions, or spinach, or a bunch of parsley, sometimes, or springs of mint with a leg of lamb. I have even made a quarter of beef beautiful with a string of red peppers.

What we need most in the South, I think, is a keener sense of honor in trade. I am Southern through and through, but it is not to be denied that some of us think that "trade" is not very honorable, anyhow, and that it doesn't much matter if we do get the best of the transaction. This it seems to me, is a mistake. Instead of "doing others before they do us" let us adopt the motto, "The best produce in the best condition, to the best customers." We shall find it pleasanter—and more profitable.—Mrs. J. T. Camp in the Progressive Farmer.

TOM KING KILLED AT BRONSON MILL.
Bronson, Texas, Feb. 12.—Henry Smith, deputy city marshal, shot and killed Tom King this morning at the sawmill here. The officer was attempting to arrest him for carrying a concealed weapon. King was a blacksmith at the mill.

THE FARM ORCHARD.

Every farmer in the county should have upon his farm a home orchard consisting of a variety of fruit trees adapted to our soil and climatic conditions. There is nothing that reduces the cost of living more than a good supply of canned fruits, jellies and preserves, besides having fresh fruit to eat from May to October. The conditions of both soil and climate of East Texas are adapted to the growing of peaches, plums, pears, apples of certain varieties, and persimmons, and an orchard of these useful and healthy fruits should be found upon every farm. The failure in the past of our large peach orchards has been due to the lack of attention and proper care. The San Jose scale and other diseases have done their work unhindered by the efforts of man to check their spread throughout the eastern part of the State.

In order to make a success of a small home orchard it should be planted upon a good loam soil with a clay subsoil at a depth of from 14 to 24 inches. Trees like peaches and Japanese plums should be set out 18 feet apart and no manure placed about their roots at the time of planting, but manure should be used as a top dressing. January and February is a good time to set the trees out. All the injured roots should be pruned off and the top of the trees cut back. Clean cultivation should be practiced the first year up to June when cowpeas can be planted between the rows of trees, and these peas plowed under in the fall. The February following the planting of the trees is the best time to begin pruning and shaping the trees into the form you wish them to grow. Dead wood should be taken out, all of the limbs cut back, especially the center growth, so that light and air can have free access. If too much wood is allowed to grow the trees will not bear heavy crops of fruit. One of the important things about the care of an orchard, and one which is most neglected, is spraying the trees for diseases or insect pests.

Every orchard should be sprayed at least twice during the winter with a lime-sulphur spray. This spray will control both the San Jose and Oyster Shell Scales. It can be bought from the drug stores and should be diluted at the rate of one gallon of the lime-sulphur to nine gallons of water, and applied to the trees with a spray pump. This spray must not be applied to the trees after they have begun to bud. The best spray to use during the summer is Bordeaux mixture. The first spraying can be made while the trees are in bloom and the second after the petals have fallen and the young fruit set, and the third spraying when the trees are in full leaf. This spraying is especially good for leaf blight on all kinds of fruit trees.

The small home orchard upon the Station at Nacogdoches, consists of the following selection of fruit trees, and is recommended to every farmer. The selection of peaches will give you fruit from May to October, while the plums will give you fruit for the table. The Japanese persimmons late fruit and the figs will produce fruit the entire summer.

PEACHES—Mayflower, Elberta, August Elberta, Indian Cling, Stinsons, October.
PLUMS—Burbank, Wickson, Botan, Gonzales, America.
PERSIMMONS—Lemon, Tansu, Naahi, Haykume, Hachova.
APPLES—Texas Red, Red June.
PEARS—Kiefer.
FIGS—Magnolia, Brunswick.

How About A

RIDING PLANTER

Do You Need One?

We have a few of the No 105 John Deere that we will make it interesting to you if you are at all interested and will come in and give us a look. With this Planter you can drag down your beds, throwing all trash to the middles, open up your row, drop your seed and cover all at one operation. With this Planter you can also plant your seed to a more uniform depth, thereby insuring you a much better stand.

This Planter has about six or eight inches more clearance from the ground when raised than any other Planter of this kind, which is a very strong feature, when carried from one field to another, as it does not gather up trash, etc.

With this Planter you can put your middle-buster on and use as you would any other middle-buster and with much more ease and satisfaction.

This Planter is very simple and strongly built. Any boy can run it and do the best of work.

Come in and look this over and take one out and try it and if you are not satisfied then you do not have to buy.

Yours to please,

Tucker-Sitton Hardware Co

BRYAN WILL ADDRESS UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

William J. Bryan, former Secretary of State, will be in Austin March 14 or 16 to address the students of the University of Texas, according to word received here yesterday. Mr. Bryan's chief object in coming to Texas is to aid the Anti-Saloon League of Texas in its prohibition propaganda. In this connection he plans to speak at Dallas, Fort Worth and Austin. What the subject of his speech to be delivered before the students will be has not been learned.

Dr. W. J. Battle, acting president of the University, sent an invitation to Mr. Bryan last fall to arrange a trip to Austin to speak to the students. The reply stated that Mr. Bryan might come to Texas in the spring. Recently a letter was received from the noted lecturer, stating that he would be able to address the students on either one of the two above dates.

Although term examinations will be in progress at this time, Dr. Battle assured Bryan that he would get the attention of the students.—Austin American.

CHESTER WILLIAMS IS TO BE HANGED.

A dispatch from Angleton, dated Feb. 14, says: "The negro, Chester Williams, who was convicted of a killing at the September term of the district court for Brazoria county, was sentenced this morning by Styles to be hanged on the 18th day of March. Prior to the killing for which Williams was convicted he was a convict on the Clemons state farm in Brazoria county, and was charged with killing a fellow convict by cutting his throat with a razor." It will be remembered that Williams was sentenced to the penitentiary from this place for cutting his wife's throat. He made his escape into Louisiana and was captured by Sheriff Spradley. He also escaped from the convict camp and was again captured by Sheriff Spradley at the same place in Louisiana.

HELP THE VETERANS

It has been suggested to the Sentinel that as many of the Confederate veterans will not be financially able to make the trip to the Confederate re-union, that it would be a beautiful and most worthy recognition of the great debt we owe these grand old gentlemen and if we would make up a purse and help those who wish to attend.

It is a matter that we, as Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy could do with credit to ourselves and honor to the cause for which they dedicated their young manhood.

The railroad fare will be $14.30 for the round trip, and the reunion will be held May 15-16, at a time when we will have delightful weather.

Hon. W. B. O'Quinn, district attorney of this district, was a passenger north today at noon, I am not worrying about a hundred other things that might be done. But here is a thing that is worth while, and I buckle down to it." I have known boys to worry about their mistakes until their worry becomes ten times bigger mistake than anything else they had ever done. You ought to worry enough over a mistake to make sure you don't do it again, and then forget it. And it's a good rule of Everett Hale's: "Never bear more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three kinds—all they have had, all the now have, and all they expect to have."—The Progressive Farmer.

CHEERFULNESS HELPS A MAN TO SUCCEED.

"The men whom I have seen succeed best in life," says Charles Kingsley, "have always been cheerful and hopeful men who went about their business with smiles on their faces, and took the changes and chances of this mortal life like men, facing rough and smooth alike as it came." And I believe Kingsley's observation accords with the general rule. The worrying, anxious, fussy, or sour fellow really handicaps himself immeasurably in the struggle for success. Cheerfulness is to a boy what axle grease is to a wagon; it makes things smooth and enables you to get further and accomplish more with the same expenditure of effort and power.

It's a boy who can "endure hardness as a good soldier," in St. Paul's phrase, without whine or complaint, who wins; and there's another good phrase of St. Paul's that is worth recalling in this connection. "Forget those things which are behind," he says, "this one thing I do." In other words, he says, "I am not worrying about the past. It can't be helped. And I am not worrying about a hundred other things that might be done. But here is a thing that is worth while, and I buckle down to it."

I have known boys to worry about their mistakes until their worry becomes ten times bigger mistake than anything else they had ever done. You ought to worry enough over a mistake to make sure you don't do it again, and then forget it. And it's a good rule of Everett Hale's: "Never bear more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three kinds—all they have had, all the now have, and all they expect to have."—The Progressive Farmer.

NOBLE OLD MAN WITH THE DEAD.

From Wednesday's Daily: Parties were in town this morning after a coffin for Mr. J. P. Popp, who died at his home at Poe's Switch yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon at five o'clock.

The funeral will occur at St. Rest Burying Ground tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Popp was about seventy-five years of age at the time of his death, and is survived by his aged wife, two daughters and four sons. He was a native of Germany, coming to America when a boy. He came to Nacogdoches county in the early seventies, and it is said of him that Nacogdoches county never had a better man within its historic borders—a good neighbor, a true friend and a patriotic citizen who was ever helpful where he could be of help, but never intrusive where it would cause embarrassment. He was a good Christian, and a member of Nacogdoches Lodge No. 118 I. O. O. F. in which he was highly esteemed by his companions.

The Sentinel joins the many friends of the family in a feeling of sincere sympathy.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT HAD OYSTER SUPPER.

The Nacogdoches Volunteer Fire Department had a most enjoyable oyster supper at the City Bakery Monday night which will long be remembered by those present.

After the business meeting at the city hall, the members repaired to the City Bakery where twenty-three plates were laid supplied with fresh oysters and accessories, and that the occasion might be enjoyed in full measure without interruption, the management of the Bakery closed the doors to all other service until this event was closed.

Gathered around the festal board, the chief, Capt. Sturdevant addressed the "boys," expressing his appreciation of their loyalty to him and the department, and optimistic in the hope of great work in the future. To his address many responded with toasts of appreciation and good wishes, and all voiced the loyalty that has been characteristic with the members giving assurance of continued fidelity. Supplemental to the earnestness manifest, the occasion was not without some humor and spice, and the evening was one continual round of enjoyment to those present.

The management of the bakery spared no pains to suitably entertain the gentlemen, and their effort was voted a great success by those participating.

EASTERN STAR HAD A GOOD MEETING.

From Wednesday's Daily: The Nacogdoches Chapter of Eastern Star is reported to have had a most enjoyable meeting last night, with a fine attendance present.

Several candidates were present for initiation, and following the business meeting a course of refreshments was served which were highly enjoyed by those present.

The committee in charge of the refreshments was composed of Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Childress and Mrs. Finklea, and the gracious manner with which they served won for them the admiration of all.

FOR SHERIFF.

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Tom F. Lambert of Appleby as a candidate for sheriff of Nacogdoches county, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Mr. Lambert was born in the Douglass community, moving to Appleby about ten years ago, and has spent his whole life in the Joe Lambert, a pioneer minister of the county. He is serving his second term as constable of the Appleby precinct, and has made a good officer, as a result which he has been solicited to make the race for a higher position, and which he would doubtless fill to the entire satisfaction of the people and make a good sheriff.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The following marriage licenses have been issued since last report:

- H. R. Crawford to Miss Sallie Greening.
- O. M. Johnson to Miss Mertie May Banks.
- R. R. Coleman to Miss Annie Newton.
- W. M. Burney to Miss Ethel Wright.
- K. B. Ballard to Miss Minnie Caswell.
- C. E. Clifton to Miss Laura Davis.
- Leroy Windham to Tennessee White. (col.)
- D. F. Lister to Miss Susan Weeks.
- Berel Bolton to Mamie Jacobs. (col.)

FOR CONSTABLE.

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Mr. A. J. Hagan as a candidate for constable of Nacogdoches precinct No. 1, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Mr. Hagan has been a citizen of the community the past eleven years and is well known to a majority of the voters. He is a good man and a good citizen, well qualified to perform the duties of the office, and if elected would doubtless make the precinct a worthy public servant in the capacity of constable.

STONE VICTORIOUS.

In the wrestling match last night Stone proved too much of a man for his opponent Wilbur Adams, throwing him twice, and not taking over three minutes time for either job.

The attendance was so small that the management could not afford the program of preliminaries previously announced, and supplied with a boxing contest by Robert Jordan, Jr., of this city, and a young man named Haslett. It is said that the boxing match proved the most interesting for the reason that the opponents were better matched.

DIED IN SHREVEPORT.

Coleman Mayo, who is well known to many Nacogdoches people, and a brother of Mrs. R. E. King of this city, died in Shreveport yesterday afternoon and his remains will be brought through here today over the H. E. & W. T., and transferred to the T. & N. O. and carried on to Spurger for interment. Mr. King went to Shreveport last night and will accompany the remains.

John L. King, who has been working with the circulation department of The Sentinel the past three months, has resigned to accept a position with the Tilford-Hunt Lumber Co., for whom he will superintend the work of having a lot of telephone poles manufactured. He went to Garrison today where he will put a crew of men to work, and will put another crew to work at Fize and possibly other places. He will continue to make his home in this city, and The Sentinel trusts that he will enjoy a prosperous career in his new line of business.

GROCERY AND BAKERY.

Frank Fezell, a well known baker of the city has rented the Hardeman building, formerly occupied by Miller's grocery store, in which he will open up a bakery and grocery store, carrying a full line of bakery products and staple and fancy groceries.

The building has recently been repaired and remodeled, in which everything has been put in good shape for the business, and is a good stand in which Mr. Fezell will doubtless enjoy a good business.

SURVIVING CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

The veterans who served in the Confederate army are rapidly passing away. Of Raguet's company that left here with over one hundred men in the ranks on Sept. 12, 1861, for San Antonio, and became officially known as Co. H, 4th Texas Calvary, originally Riley's regiment in Shelby's brigade, the following are the names of the survivors now known, who went to New Mexico: F. M. Rainbolt, John E. Norvell, John T. White, John W. Johnson, Ab Acrey, Joe Rogers, Dev White, Rufe Casey, Charley Massey, and Hite Weatherly.

Following are the survivors who joined the company later on: Elisha Muckleroy, Sam W. Read, Wes Skeeters, E. M. Weatherly, H. B. Power, Newt Roberts, Mat Whitaker, M. V. Baugh, Elias Paache, David Lee, A. L. Tindall, Ike Anderson, Jas. M. McCuiston, Frank McCuiston, Joe Sharp, W. H. Petty, Peyton F. Edawrds, W. S. Mayfield, J. E. Mayfield, and John Burrows, who gives the list of names, thirty in all. How many will there be in one year more, or two years, or ten?

They composed the finest mounted and best equipped body of the gamest men in the land; they proved it on the battlefield.

Dock Burrows says he does wish he could see them all together once more and shake hands again. This is published at his special request, as his greeting.

MUST HAVE HELP.

Uncle Sam says he must have help. He wants stenographers for his office in Washington, and throughout many of the Southern States, at entrance salaries of from $340 to $1200 per annum. He has some vacancies in his Philippine offices and in Panama, for which he pays an entrance if you are competent you will soon draw a most attractive salary and only work from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., with thirty days' vacation during the year with pay. Several different examinations were held here in our city during the past year by Civil Service Department, to secure help for the government. Special letters were received by our school urging that our graduates take these examination. We prepare students for several departments for Government work.

Owing to America being the great department store of the world during the European war, Uncle Sam will need far more help this year than ever before. Young men and women, ambitious to succeed should give this Civil Service work prompt and serious consideration. The position is certain, the salary good and the pay sure.

Business men desiring efficient office help, bookkeepers, stenographers, secretaries or operators, at salaries in keeping with the quality of service rendered, should phone or write us just the kind of help they want and we take particular pains in selecting it, either from students just graduating or from former graduates who are desiring advancement. We have an enrollment of more than two thousand per year, and ten thousand former students from which to select just the kind of help you want. We have an experienced man in charge of our Employment Department who will take special interest in serving you without charge.

Those interested in preparing for either Government or Commercial positions, phone us, at our expense, or write for particulars. More than three hundred new enrollments last month. Catalogue free upon request.

People who use Peruna

Mrs. T. Fresh, R. 1, Hickory Point, Tenn., writes: "I am happy to tell you that I am cured of catarrh. Having been afflicted with catarrh and stomach trouble for seven years, and after having tried four different doctors, who only relieved me for a little while, I gave up all hope of being cured. I was induced to try Peruna, and to my great surprise I am now entirely well. My health never was better."

FOR COUNTY JUDGE.

To the Democrats of Nacogdoches County:

Two years ago I also ran, and was defeated, and during the campaign said that I would not run again; but circumstances alter cases, and I have heard or read, that smart men sometimes change their minds while there are others who never do. Anyhow I have changed mine. When I was defeated I instantly resigned and would do so again under like conditions.

The county judge's office is yours, but you have to have someone to fill the position, and I offer my services for the place, if satisfactory to you; if not, I will still be with the democrats.

Respectfully,
GEO. F. INGRAHAM

SECRETARY OF WAR
TENDERS RESIGNATION.

Quits the Cabinet Because His Plans are Not Endorsed by Congress in Full.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Lindley M Garrison, secretary of war has tendered his resignation to President Wilson. Comment is withheld at the White House.

Mr. Garrison is said to have determined to quit the cabinet when it became apparent that his continental army plan would not meet the approval of congress.

Reports of the resignation were circulated late today after the secretary had announced that he would not deliver an address on national defense before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, as had been expected. Immediately afterward he and Mrs. Garrison left today for New York, and it is said at the war department that it would be for an indefinite stay.

The Philippine bill passed by the senate recently is understood to have been another reason for Secretary Garrison's decision. He objected strongly to the Clark amendment incorporated in the Philippine bill for independence for the islands within from two to four years.

President Wilson accepted the resignation and a formal announcement is expected without delay.

CANADA RECEIVES A BIG FRIGHT.

Niagra Falls, N. Y., Feb. 13.—This peaceful Mecca of honeymooners felt that it was closer to the war Saturday night than at any time since the outbreak of hostilities in Europe.

Across the great gorge of the river and beyond the roaring Falls, Ontario, on the Canadian side, is virtually under martial law. Military orders were issued during the day, warning citizens not to assemble or loiter in the streets and all strangers are closely questioned, or shadowed by government agents.

Following the examination of wild rumors of plans for a German invasion and the explosion in the Castner Electrolytic-Alkali plant, on this side, hurried measures were taken to prevent any possible hostile movement on Dominion properties.

Additional troops and fifteen machine guns were dispatched to the border from St. Catharines, Thorold and Toronto Guards at the power houses, munitions plants, railroad yards and bridges were doubled. The precautionary measures spread to the Canadian press bureau, and orders were issued against Canadian troops publishing anything regarding troop movements.

Save your hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug-store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it. You will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

EXCITING OIL BOOM
AT HUNTINGTON.

Our Neighbor Town is Getting Into Limelight With Townsman in the Swim

The oil fever is running high at Huntington, and if reports are correct there is a probability that a great oil field will be brought in down there within the next day or two in which Mr. A. G. Lesterjette, a citizen of this city, is one of the central figures.

The following special correspondence is taken from yesterday's issue of the Lufkin Daily News:

Huntington, Texas, Feb. 10.—Joseph H. Stahl, an expert geologist and oil man from Beaumont, is here today to pass judgment on the oil well put down by A. G. Lesterjette, and gives it as his opinion that it will easily develop into a pumper of 250 barrel capacity. He further expresses the opinion that the field here will be equal, if not superior, to the Thrall oil field in Williamson County, which recently created so much excitement.

Gas from the well readily ignites from a burning match, and the well is now being baled with a view to testing its capacity, the water and mud being drawn out containing considerable oil. Huntington people are very highly elated over the prospects, and arrangements are now under way to start drilling on a second well at once.

NEW FIRE TRUCK HAS ARRIVED.

The new fire truck for which an order was recently purchased by the city council, has arrived, and has been added to the firefighting equipment of the Nacogdoches Volunteer Fire Department. The new truck was tried out yesterday and found to measure up to specifications. It will be a great addition to the department, as well as secure for the city a reduction in insurance rates.

Organized some years ago with a truck that was pulled by the boys. Horses and wagons were added later and the department has gradually built up until it is a credit to the city. At the first opportunity The Sentinel will gather a historical sketch of this worthy institution, together with a statement of its present efficiency.

NEGRO WAS KILLED AT SWIFTS BARN.

In an Altercation Last Night Bud Lewis Was Shot to Death by Henry Bush.

From Monday's Daily: In an altercation at Swift's barn about nine o'clock last night Bud Lewis was shot to death by Henry Bush. One shot took effect in his throat, another in the back of his head and another in the hip. His head also exhibited signs of having been struck with the gun or some heavy instrument. A thirty-eight calibre Police special was used.

Several other shots were fired, and Bush claims that Lewis shot at him twice before he fired.

Immediately after the shooting Bush surrendered to City Marshal Woodland and Night Watchman Biggs and was placed in jail. The body of the dead negro was carried to the home of his sister, Edna Johnson.

Both negroes are well known. Lewis owned an automobile which he used as a service car. Bush has been working for the Swift Bros. many years, lately doing delivery work for the drug store, and bears the reputation of being a good negro.

A special term of justice court was called this morning to investigate the matter, when Bush waived examination and was released on $1000 bond pending an investigation by the grand jury.

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have suffered with female trouble, backache, nervous spells and the blues. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

The origin and meaning of the name Nacogdoches is not definitely known. This was the name of a tribe of Indians that lived here when civilization arrived. There was a bare remnant of the tribe still here, and there were other tribes in the region that had kindred names, such as Caddochoes, Naco, Waco, Tehuacano, and perhaps others. The names Naconichi and Natchitoches may likewise be of this class.

These names and localities where first known lead to the inference that the name Nacogdoches was made up of several names similar in sound or in some way. The French who came here from Louisiana, chiefly from Natchitoches which town was called Nackyush, the name being similar to Natchitoches, both in spelling and pronunciation, may have clumsily written or called it one way, while the Spanish from the west and Americans from the "states" also had to formulate it on their respective tongues, getting it finally into its present inimitable jaw-breaker shape. The primitive Mexicans pronounced it Nack-o-toche.

There are many traditional church stories related as occurring here. The one about "Ohio Santissimo," or holy spring located yet on the bank of the LaNana creek in the eastern part of town, just back of the present city cemetery, has been often told. It runs thus: There was a priest leading a band of adventurers on an exploring tour in search of Indians to be connected to the Christian faith, coming from the east. There was at that time a most awful drouth. No water was to be found, even in the LaNana creek. These travelers famishing, sank down in despair. The priest had a saving inspiration which led him up the creek a short distance to where a rock bluff projected over the dry creek, and smite upon the rock with his staff. The holy spring gushed forth. Another priest is said to have come from the Rio Grande to the rescue of this land, making the distance of about 750 miles in only three steps. If faith could move mountains, why not obliterate space?

Another tradition is that buried treasures are here undiscovered. Trains of burros, Mexican donkeys and bearers of burdens were pressed so closely as to have to dump their precious burdens into the river Attoyaque. Wealthy Mexicans residents at times had to flee for their lives, and they buried their treasures and left them—and no one can find them.

When a law-breaker "in the states" fled for safety, he wrote upon the door of his abandoned home, Gone to Texas. In some such cases this was his refuge, here in Nacogdoches. And he generally brought his honor with him and proved himself a man. But the situation was embarrassing. Some noted instances of this character could be recited. But the preacher also came here. It was a rich field for him. He built the first protestant church in San Augustine county, Texas, and the first Baptist church in Nacogdoches county. And old Milam Lodge at Nacogdoches was the first Masonic organization in Texas, though designated at No. 2.

GALVESTON IS LEADING PORT.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Galveston led all ports of the United States in cotton exports this week. Of the 111,391 bales there were shipped through Galveston 46,998 bales. The total cotton exportations since August 1 have been 2,978,380 bales.

Farm Telephone Saved Child's Life

One of the Children fell into a water tank and was rescued unconscious and apparently lifeless. The frantic mother telephoned to the doctor six miles away, and he started at once. In the meantime his assistant telephoned instructions and the mother restored the child to consciousness before the doctor arrived.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

As to how came Nacogdoches, and when, it is only known that Gil Ybarbo, a Spanish colonist of mysterious origin, was the first permanent settler. He had lived at the site which the town of San Augustine now occupies, thirty-five miles east of Nacogdoches, with a small colony of Spaniards, or Spanish subjects. This country then belonged to Spain, and the Louisiana country belonged to France. The Spanish language prevailed in Texas and the French language in Louisiana. Ybarbo's colony was suddenly ordered away from their far as San Antonio, losing property and lives, but returned to Nacogdoches where they stopped about the year 1770, and became permanent settlers.

Other people had lived here and built houses and gone, perhaps for a century before Ybarbo came. But these events are history. Tradition indicates that Nacogdoches had been a townsite for centuries before this. The mound-builders had lived here and left monumental evidence. But who they were and when they came and went is a matter of conjecture, as well as why they built mounds. Four of these mounds were left upon the grounds now forming our college campus, centrally located in the town limits. The smallest one of the four remains to be seen now; the other three have been razed and removed. Other mounds of this character were left in East Texas, some of them notable. There were four small ones a mile and a half south of Nacogdoches near the old Hoya home. These mounds indicate that this has been a populous locality for ages. The excavations made in removing soil to build mounds were plainly visible until modern dates. In contemplating these traditions the scriptural quotation comes to mind: "Take off thy shoes; the ground whereon thou standest is holy." The lay of the land almost suggests a divine design. It is a picturesque spot, one that could tempt any wanderer in this former wilderness.

J. E. M.

The Sentinel has overlooked to note sooner that Miss Ethel Compton had accepted a position at Cushing where she will be attended by the good wishes of many Nacogdoches friends.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

As to how came Nacogdoches, and when, much has been said heretofore, and there is little known. The true origin of the town is more of a tradition than a history.

There are many evidences of antiquity to be found here, and there are many fanciful stories along this line. In fact, it has long been a fad for the residents of the town to emphasize and enlarge upon the great age of the town, even to exaggerate for jocular effect. One instance of this kind is to refer to the age of the noted and notable "Old Stone Fort," a peculiar and mysterious rock house located in the very heart of the town, as having been built so very long, long ago that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, or to state this in the Spanish tongue of its builders, "quien sabe" (who knows.)

The minutes of the district court in the clerk's office show that the very first term of this court was held in 1837, in this old stone fort building, and that the lawyers and officials held a kind of public exercise or oratorical blow-out at the close of the term at which time the immortal Thomas J. Rusk made a speech referring to this term being held in this building of a hundred years ago. This would date it back to 1737, which would be about the period of the San Antonio missions. The reference to its age may not have been facetious, but the proof is not forthcoming.

One of the first owners, or probably the first white owner, was John S. Roberts, a veteran of the battle of New Orleans in 1812. He always operated a saloon on the ground floor—the ground was the floor. He was a jocular and eccentric man of more than the average mentality. He had a sign made in fine style and placed it high up on the front of his building, bearing the words, "Old Stone Fort, Erected A. D. 1619." He kept it there many years, and he enjoyed the joke of allowing greenies to believe the record—and being an aged man in an aged house would justify the further fallacy of his having aged whisky, all a glaring absurdity. Whisky was not allowed to grow old here then. But jokes aside, this old rock edifice was a real wonder, even at home, while it stood on its original site, and it was known far and near, and was frequently visited by wandering people viewing its peculiarities of structure and form. It was not unusual for ladies to go all through it while it was used as a saloon.

It has been removed and rebuilt about four hundred yards north. Business razed it and patriotic ladies rescued it from extinction. It is a monument to the memory of traditional days of the quaint historic and romantic old city that sent martyrs to the Alamo and heroes to San Jacinto iglory.

MEXICO MUST WORK FOR PEACE.

Galveston, Texas, Feb. 9.—The people of Guadalajara, Mexico, yesterday accorded an enthusiastic welcome to General Carranza, it is reported in advices reaching the Mexican consulate here today. General Carranza delivered an address in which he is quoted as saying: "We should have our place in the family of nations and those who now direct the affairs of this country, should keep this fact constantly in mind: We should be represented and make ourselves respected in the council of nations and prove that we are entitled to the world's respect. We must unify ourselves and work to a common end, because only in this way can we become a strong nation. We have been able to maintain our independence when foreign intervention was desired in some quarters, and in fact appeared imminent, and now we must show that we have the power to re-establish permanent peace in Mexico."

We have Fertilizer for sale, and if you don't use it you may make very little cotton.

There is much said about reducing cotton acreage. This is what you should do, but while reducing the acreage be sure you don't reduce the production.

If you would compete with the world in growing cotton, you must make it cost less to produce. Make more per acre.

The only way to do this is to quit over-cropping.

Use Fertilizer

cultivate well, often and rapidly.

Make more on ten acres than you have been making on twenty to forty acres.
