SIXTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY.

Today is Captain Jno. S. Doughtie's birthday, and when he came down this morning, he looked so fresh and vigorous that his friends hope he will be spared as many more years.

And this reminds that he has his birthday in the month with some other distinguished characters, notably among whom are Thos. A. Edison on the 11th of February, and George Washington, the "Father of Our Country," on the 22nd.

When you come to town call at my store and bakery for groceries, fruits, etc. I will buy your eggs at best prices.

MAN AT SACUL WAS ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

Roy Guinn Was Carried Back to Answer Charge by Deputy Sheriff of the Place.

From Wednesday's Daily: E. C. Parker, deputy sheriff of Angleton, in company with S. S. Myers, deputy sheriff of this county, arrested Roy Guinn in the edge of Rusk county, beyond Sacul yesterday afternoon, and Mr. Parker departed on the night train for Angleton with the prisoner. The officers made the trip to the scene of the arrest, from this city, in a car driven by Wade Walters, and returned in the afternoon.

As best The Sentinel can get at the particulars, Mr. Guinn is charged with murder in connection with the killing of a negro woman at Angleton about a year ago. At the time he was shot four times himself, and given up to die. In fact, it is said that he thought he was mortally wounded and made the dying statement to the effect that another man, a party to the tragedy, did the shooting that killed the woman and wounded him. From the officer it was learned that the other party is under bond, and trial of the cases will come up at the March term of district court.

The officer did not subject his prisoner to handcuffs or lock-up while lying over, making the trip together as fellow-passengers. Mr. Guinn belongs to a good

DISTRICT COURT.

From Monday's Daily: District Court was called at ten o'clock this morning and the jury impanelled.

The first case to be called is styled H. E. & W. T. Ry. Co. vs Jno. P. Davidson in a suit of trespass to try title in a little piece of land which both parties claim.

Hon. Jno. T. Garrison of Houston is attending district court in the city, looking after the interests of some clients.

From Tuesday's Daily: In the suit of the H. E. & W. T. Ry. Co. vs Jno. P. Davidson, which was on trial in the district court yesterday, a verdict was instructed by the court in favor of the railway company.

The suits of Will F. Peavy, N. W. Davis, Sam Dill, Virtie Smith vs. the Angelina & Neches Railway Co., which were set for today, have been continued on account of absent witnesses who were prevented from being present by sickness. These suits are for personal injury growing out of a motor car wreck on the line of the railway company.

The suit of Nacogdoches county vs. H. E. Carter et al., for recovery on a bond, has been dismissed.

A finance committee composed of Messrs. Edgar Thomason, J. E. Ray and Frank Sublett, organized this morning and are now busy checking up the books and accounts of the various officers.

The jury has been discharged until tomorrow, at which time some cases have been set for trial.

From Wednesday's Daily: The suit of E. L. Bogue vs. the H. E. & W. T. Ry. Co., was settled by agreement. It will be remembered that a car of household effects and a horse belonging to Mr. Bogue were burned in the railroad yards in this city some months ago.

A suit styled C. R. Langston vs W. D. Wilson is on trial today. This is a suit in which Mr. Langston seeks to collect on some land notes.

A divorce suit styled Floyd vs. Floyd is set for tomorrow, and a suit styled Fountain vs. Fountain is set for Friday.

AN OLD CITIZEN

WITH THE DEAD.

From Tuesday's Daily: Mr. L. G. Hanks, a well known and highly respected citizen of the Palestine community, six miles west of Nacogdoches, died last night after a lingering illness, and his remains will be laid to rest in the Maroney cemetery this afternoon.

Mr. Hanks was about sixty-seven years of age. He comes from the pioneers of Shelby county who moved to this county some years ago, and had been living in the community in which he died the past ten years. He was a member of the Baptist church and the Masonic fraternity, and was a good Christian man who was esteemed and highly respected by those who knew him. He is survived by two sons who reside in this county and two daughters who reside in Shelby county, all belonging to the good citizenship of East Texas, and with whom a host of friends enter into profound sympathy.

One of the easiest things to plant on a farm, and one of the hardest things to raise, is a mortgage.—Tyler Signal.

As that "Lively person" on the Lufkin News would put it: Be careful, guard your step and don't pledge your vote yet. The "spring crop" of candidates is not all in yet.

That illicit still unearthed in Panola county a few days ago is another evidence of the fact that we do not know what is in the ground beneath us, or in the world about us.

The Palestine Herald truthfully observes: "One of the worst things about old John Barleycorn is that it not only makes a man drunk, but it also acts as first aid in assisting him to act the fool in general and specific way."

The munitions plant, to be located at Longview, is not in Mr. Dies' district, and, for that reason, the Lufkin News may calm itself. The Lufkin postoffice and the improvement of Banita creek will go steadily on in the future, as in the past, without any interruption, whatever.—Longview Times-Clarion.

The Lufkin News had no editorial column yesterday which we cannot account for unless it was because the editor had been "swamped" with an oratorical discussion of the subject of "preparedness," or swept off his feet with the picture of an operatic star appearing on his page. "Smatter, Dock?"

There being no arrangement whereby a copyright or patent can be procured on personal names sometimes cause confusion. This morning a negro giving his name as Joe Bailey inquired for a package at the express office, and to make sure that no mistake would be made the messenger inquired if his initials were J. W.

The ground hog saw his shadow and, according to tradition, there are six weeks of rough weather ahead. At the same time the $8 hog saw his shadow on the Fort Worth market, and, according to trade tradition there are many weeks of prosperity ahead for shippers.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

It is now discovered that processed sweet potatoes sell better than sweet potatoes banked or celled in the old way for late marketing. Not only this, but the processing which seems to be a sort of warehousing under even-temperature conditions prevents loss and provides a means for slow marketing at better prices. Texas is learning. And Texas prosperity will increase accordingly.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Longview, the city up the road, and we use "city" purposely, is making a campaign to secure the location for a munitions plant the establishment of which is brought about by the preparedness agitation. The Champion has not mentioned Longview's efforts as yet but we have watched a little newspaper stir up something that now gives evidence of something real. So far as we know the Times-Clarion started the movement. Some alighted at the matter at first and called it a "pipe dream," but the little city paper kept hammering at it until now the big ones are taking notice. Anything that The Champion can do towards helping this progressive little bunch land this enterprise it here and now pledges itself.—Center Champion.

And in an effort to "give honor to whom honor is due," it gives The Sentinel pleasure to say that John McCleendon, one of the best-known newspapermen in Texas, is doing the editorial work on the Longview paper, which now gives promise of returns. Mr. McCleendon has worked on many different papers, and in the course of this service has promoted many worthy enterprises. He has never sought wealth or fame for himself, and wouldn't have it if it were thrust upon him, but he has rendered much valuable service for East Texas, and it gives us pleasure to insist upon him individually having a share of the credit.

If agriculture in the German Empire were conducted as it is in Texas, the German nation would have starved to death by now, but with far less area than Texas, Germany has fed a population of more than 60,000,000 people, or nearly fifteen times the population of Texas. With resources scarcely paralleled by any similar area in the world, Texas is compelled to spend the proceeds of her money crop to buy food outside. This condition lies at the very bottom of such poverty as exists in this State. It is an obstacle to the progress of the State. It is a prime cause of discontent. It is the weight that keeps our standards of living down. It obstructs the progress of education. It renders unendurable for tens of thousands. If the "Let-Texas-Feed-Herself" campaign can be prosecuted to a complete victory, it will be a greater victory than has been won in the European war.—Houston Post.

The announcement that C. W. Howth, former county attorney, will be a candidate for congress against Martin Dies at least gives assurance that this year's campaign is not to be any dry-as-dust, anemic affair. Instead, it will be red-blooded, red-headed, from the go-off to the windup, from the go-off to the winup. Mr. Howth was credited two years ago with a fervent desire to get into the race—but somehow lacked the inducement or the excuse or the something else to make the plunge. But this year the former county attorney finds himself equipped with a first class platform, already enunciated and constructed by the President of the United States, and one which happens not only to be increasing in popularity with the people, but also to be along the lines of the personal preference of the candidate himself. Anyone who has seen Howth in action knows that he at least simulates most successfully an impatient desire for a scrap all the time. Preparedness, to which Mr. Dies objects, will be the theme of Howth's most fervid appeal for votes—and there need be no doubt that his most fervid subject will be of the variety that would curl up the hide of any candidate except one long inured to the rigors of campaigning. On the other hand, Dies can be expected, while advocating peace, sweet peace and non-preparedness for the nation, to steam up his own engines of warfare to the popping-off point, and hand back as many blows as he receives. For a straight out fight on the question of preparedness, The News can conceive of no two Second district men who could make more solid entertainment for the voters than Dies and Howth. Whether either of them happen to lead the nomination is another matter. We can at any rate expect to be most copiously entertained right up to the last available minute before the primaries are held.—Fort Arthur News.

"PREPAREDNESS"
For some days the subject of "Preparedness" has been the all-absorbing topic in the minds of the American people.

As is well known, the president has espoused the cause, urging congress to equip the United States with a great standing army and navy, and so far as has been expressed seems to have a majority of the people with him in the belief while many others actuated in the endorsement through a spirit of party loyalty. But while this is true, there are many others who do not take kindly to the idea, some because they do not believe the necessity exists and others because they do not understand the issue. Notable among the latter class we might mention a majority of the congressmen from this state, together with Hon. Joseph Weldon Baily who is noted for his knowledge of international conditions, and Hon. J. H. Kirby, the lumber king and financier of Houston. A fair view of the causes of the opposition is expressed in the following letter from Mr. Kirby to a friend at Lufkin which we take from the Lufkin News and give space to it as a part of the discussion of public issue:

"All who know me well, know that I am quite independent in my views on public questions. On scientific question I must take the opinions of others, where I have had no opportunity for study or investigation; but upon questions public policy or principles of free government, I have my own opinions and I express them with the same freedom and liberty that I want to see my friends exercise in respect to such questions.

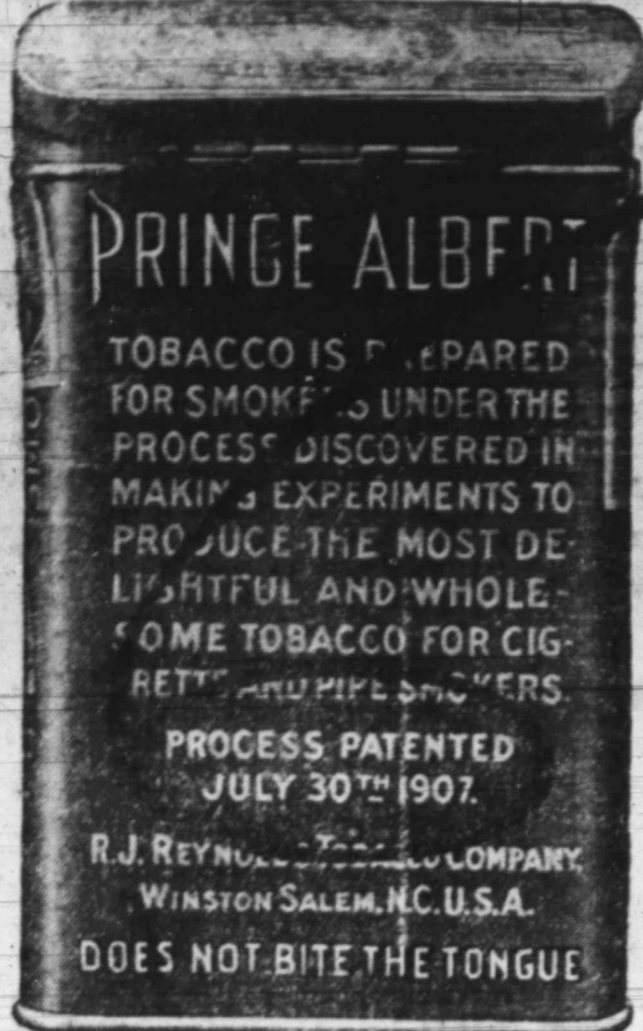

"In 1896, when democracy went mad over a question of financial policy and one which did not involve any principle at all but purely a matter of policy, notably the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of sixteen to one without the consent of any nation on earth, that I dared to buck the leaders of the party and my best friends because I could not embrace the heresy.

"I am in the same condition now on this question of preparedness. There was never a time in the history of the republic when there was less reason for the maintenance of a large standing army or a colossal navy than now. It is true that we may be drawn into the present European conflict before that controversy is settled, but if we do become involved it will be on the side of the entente allies and will mean no more than the employment of such navy as we have in assisting their plans for the suppression of the Kaiser.

"But for Germany's 'preparedness,' which she has been forty years in perfecting, there would have been no European war today, and no wholesale murder of knightly men and innocent women and children.

"Preparedness" is a temptation and ought never to be resorted to by any country, and it will not be again, because the European nations now involved in a most unholy war precipitated by the Kaiser's ambition to rule the world, will trim him so thoroughly before the conflict ends, that there will be world disarmament and permanent peace. Never again in the history of the world will it be possible for one ruler to plunge any goodly number of the governments of the earth into such a struggle as is now going on.

"Mr. Wilson is for 'preparedness' for political reasons. The politicians are with him because they want the office. The militarists are with him because they believe in the principle. The manufacturers of munitions and the builders of naval craft

BIG PEANUT ORDER.

Last week a Cleveland business man, a member of the party looking Texas over, left a $25,000,000 order to be filled by the state at large.

Will Texas fill the order? It's up to the farmers of the Comanche country, the DeLeon country, East Texas and every sandyland nook and corner of this good state of ours.

Here is the order as set forth by a man who knows—a manufacturer dealing in the products now coming into consideration as a cash crop for the live-at-home farmer:

"If the farmers of Texas would grow $25,000,000 worth of peanuts this year they would find a ready market for them." Mr. Kelly said. "We are importing peanuts today from Northern Africa, East India, Spain, China and Japan. We want American peanuts if we can get them. We have today 600 carloads coming from the Far East, and we could use as many more if we could get them."

"Texas has the soil and climatic conditions to grow peanuts as successfully as any country in the world. The farmers should plant your common variety of Spanish peanuts, and they will find the market for them. There are many concerns in the East which will gladly erect factories for milling the nuts if the people will only produce them.

"The peanut industry is rapidly becoming one of the most prominent in the country. There are many food products, such as peanut butter, cooking oil and similar forms, that are made from the nuts. The modern way of handling them is to press the oil from the nuts, use it in making these different forms and then feed the meal to the cattle and all kinds of livestock. The hay is fine for stock, and the two combined cannot be improved upon for fattening animals for the market.
"I believe it is only a question of time until the industry will be an important one in Texas. You have all the conditions for growing as good a quality of nuts here as anywhere in the world. And as the farmers and the mill men get together, and as adequate provision is made for the milling of the nuts, the industry will spread and develop. We manufacturers in the East are eager for such a thing to happen, for we are now importing large quantities annually, which we would much prefer to buy at home."

Here is a manufacturer from Ohio telling Texas something about its new cash crop not generally known heretofore.

Will Texas fill this order for 40,000,000 bushels of peanuts? It depends upon peaceful, safe and sane revolt against the monarchial crop rule of King Cotton.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

POT POURRI.

In handling the slugs which make up the lines in a newspaper, and in separating the various items, the make-up man sometimes gets the lines mixed up and they naturally read rather queer. As an illustration of what can happen we cite the Bangor (Pa) News a few days ago when the printer got a wedding and an auction sale mixed up with the following results:

"William Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Smith, and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east in the presence of 70 guests, including two mules and 12 head of cattle.

"Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot for the parties averaging 1,250 pounds on the hoof. The beautiful home of the bride was decorated with one sulky rake, one feed grinder and two sets of work harness, nearly new, was pronounced the Mendel and Sons wedding march was rendered by one milch cow five years old, and one sheep, who carrying a bunch of bride's roses in her head was very beautiful. She wore one light spring wagon, two crates of apples, three racks of hay, one grindstone of mouseline do soie and trimmings with bridal party left yesterday on an extended trip"—Myrtle M. Brown, R. 7. B. 83, Indiana, Pa.

Once again the wisdom of depositing funds in banks and paying bill by check instead of carrying the actual money on one's person is illustrated in tragic fashion. A few days ago a Wayne County, North Carolina, farmer, returning from town with the cash from the sale of his cotton crop, was set upon and robbed and his body thrown into the river. He was bringing home the actual specie in order to make settlements with his neighbors, and the negroes knew it, robbery being their only motive. This was tragedy enough, but the we were called upon to suffer the further disgrace of a lynching. We do not believe a situation can ever justify mob law, and we hope the lynchers will be punished.—The Progressive Farmer.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES YOUR LIVER!
MAKES YOU SICK AND SALIVATES
"Dodson's Liver Tone" Starts Your Liver Better Than Calomel and You Don't Lose a Day's Work.
Liven up your sluggish liver! Feel fine and cheerful; make your work a pleasure; be vigorous and full of ambition. But take no nasty, dangerous calomel because it makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.
Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crumbles into "sour" bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.
Listen to me! If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.
Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine. Your liver will be working; headache and dizziness gone; stomach will be sweet and bowels regular.
Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable. Therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of Calomel is almost stopped entirely here.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

Many romantic experiences and peculiar personal adventures have occurred in and around the noted old town of Nacogdoches.

One of the most remarkable and romantic personal histories of this type is related by the venerable, widely known and worthy citizen Wm. A. Skillern, who has lived here since the year 1834.

Mr. Skillern was born in Haywood county, Tenn., and came to Texas as an infant in 1834. The Skillern family home was the very first house ever built where the village of Melrose now stands.

This man, Wm. C. Bowen, was the leading factor in this story. He first lived north of Nacogdoches, and next out on the Loco, ten miles west, on a farm that was later known as the Turnipseed plantation.

Mr. Skillern was born in Haywood county, Tenn., and came to Texas as an infant in 1834. The Skillern family home was the very first house ever built where the village of Melrose now stands.

There is another heir in the Bowen Johnson. He is trying to help me get up the proof. The property there is quite valuable, but these heirs are not in possession, and like myself, quite poor.

Dear Sir: I am very anxious to get some information of the marriage of The trading and business of a community can not exceed the William C. Bowen to Elizabeth White, and have been referred to you as being most likely able to tell us something of where they were married.

EUICALINE You will not have the best if you fail to get EUICALINE for Malaria, Chills and Fever. It acts on the liver and bowels and relieves the system of the cause, pleasant to take.

swear that they were married? His children want to prove that they are his lawful heirs, in regard to some property.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I am, Mrs. Lillie Bowen McKinstry, Sherman, Texas.

The next letter is dated April 21, 1915. The same writer acknowledges receipt from Mr. Skillern of papers sent, and expresses thanks, and offers to pay charges. She writes: "I have written to Grimes county to see if the marriage certificates can be found there, and if I hear anything I will let you know, for I feel that you are interested."

Yes, I am related to the Bowens. Wm. Bowen was my father. I am the daughter of the second wife, and the only child of this marriage. I never knew my father, or any of my half-brothers and sisters, as he went to Brazil when I was two months old.

"They write me there is quite an estate there, but there will be a fight for it, and these papers are indispensable. They wrote me that they may cable me to come, and if they do I shall go, though I am not able to afford it."

"There is another heir in the Bowen Johnson. He is trying to help me get up the proof. The property there is quite valuable, but these heirs are not in possession, and like myself, quite poor."

"The address of Bettie Bowen Smith is Villa Americana, E de Sao Paulo, Brazil, S. A. It takes two months to write and get an answer.

"You probably know there are three of the other children living, Sue, Berry and Bettie. Sincerely, Mrs. Sillie B. McKinstry, Sherman, Texas, care Marks Bros."

She writes again, July 20, 1915 to Mr. Skillern that she has just received his letter, and says, "In writing to Nacogdoches again to find record of any of the Bowen children's birth, I asked the officers to tell you that I had located the marriage license in Conroe, Montgomery county, which had been a part of Grimes county."

"In regard to the property in Brazil, I had a friend to go there in April. He stayed all night at Bettie's house. They have papers showing that our father bought 16,000 acres of land, but have not yet located the record of the deed."

"This land is in virgin soil, and is heavily timbered with hardwood. Two years ago the government built a railroad to it, and advertised for the heirs."

This entire story seems stranger than fiction, and it connects the present conditions with the past of long, long ago, in a succession of interesting events. It

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutrient gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

AN EX-PRIEST PAYS PENALTY.

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Hans Schmidt, former priest, was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison today for the murder of Anna Aumuller, Sept. 2, 1913.

Schmidt went quietly to the death chamber, accompanied by the principal keeper and Rev. Father Cashin, the prison chaplain. Leaving the death cell he said good-by to those who remained.

When he entered the chamber the guards attempted to direct him toward the chair, but Schmidt gently shook them off and insisted upon addressing the seventeen witnesses. The guards desisted from their efforts and with Father Cashin standing at one side and the keeper at the other Schmidt said:

"Gentlemen, I ask forgiveness of all those I have injured or scandalized. I forgive all those who have injured me. My last wish is to say good-by to my dear old mother."

Schmidt then seated himself in the electric chair and the current was applied three times. Within a minute he was dead. He had spent the night up to midnight in praying and talking with Father Cashin and slept from midnight to 5 o'clock, when he was awakened for breakfast. He would take only a cup of coffee.

SHIPS ALLOWED ARMS FOR DEFENSE.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Sweden has informally advised the department of state that in consequence of the announced intention of Germany and Austria to sink armed merchantmen without warning after Feb. 29, it will notify its nationals not to travel on such ships.

It was explained at the legation of Sweden here that there would be no general warning, but that all Swedish consuls and legations throughout the world have been instructed to warn their subjects whenever it was known they contemplated taking passage on armed ships of the allies.

SCANDAL UNEARTHED AVIATION SERVICE.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Charges of a scandal in the army aviation service involving defective equipment, favoritism to certain officers and general inefficiency of the aero corps were laid before the senate committee today by Senator Robinson of Arkansas in support of his resolution for a congressional investigation.

Presenting photographic copies of letters which he said had passed between Colonel Reber, head of the corps and Captain Cowan, in charge of the San Diego aviation station, Senator Robinson told the committee in executive session that the documentary evidence proved that the officers recognized the inefficient condition of the aero service and that Reber had instructed Cowan to keep it secret.

SAINTED OLD MOTHER IS NOW AT REST.

From Saturday's Daily: Mrs. M. C. Fewell died at the home of her son, R. P. Muckleroy, out near the mill at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, and her remains will be laid to rest in Oak Grove cemetery at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Fewell would have been eighty years of age the 29th day of the present month, and was among the early settlers of this community. Her maiden name was Miss Mary Kendall and she was a native of Ohio, coming to this community with her parents when eleven years of age. About thirty-six years ago she moved to Johnson county where she made her home thirty-five years, returning to Nacogdoches about one year ago.

The sainted old mother was stricken with paralysis about ten years ago from which she partly recovered. She suffered another attack of the same trouble about ten days ago and another Thursday afternoon from which she failed to rally.

While unpretentious in her nature, Mrs. Fewell was a gracious, noble lady throughout her long life, possessing those sweet traits of character and virtues which go to make up the purest and most gracious type of womanhood. She was esteemed and loved by all who knew her, and notwithstanding she was living on borrowed time, and death came to her as sweet rest from the weight of age and affliction, many hearts are made sad with the realization of her death.

Use the Agricultural College and Experiment Station.

One way to make them help us is to obtain and study their publications. Bulletins and reports relating to practical farm problems and to valuable experimental work are published by them from time to time; and printed lists of these publications are sent to farmers upon request. These publications cost nothing, except the postage on a letter applying for them; and yet, by ordering from these lists with special reference to one's individual requirements, a good little library of useful information on all sorts of farm subjects can soon be built up.

Another way is to keep up a correspondence with them—farmers need to write more letters anyway; it is a good habit to cultivate. There is scarcely any problem on your farm which they have not been confronted with on the experiment station; and having more time and facilities for study and experimentation than you have, they have generally solved it or proved that it cannot be solved. The results of their experience with that particular problem—insect control, fighting plant diseases, innoculating leguminous crops, preserving fruits and vegetables, testing of plant varieties, feeding or fattening livestock, or whatever it may be—will be fully stated in a letter of reply or in a publication, if you will only take the time to write them and ask for the information needed.—The Progressive Farmer.

76 AMERICANS KILLED IN MEXICO.

Washington, February 17.—President Wilson sent to the senate today his response to the Fall resolution adopted last month requesting him to report on facts leading up to recognition by the United States of the de facto government of Mexico headed by General Carranza. It was in the form of a long letter from Secretary Lansing summarizing the events which preceded recognition and transmitting a great volume of data, including a list of all Americans killed in Mexico and along the border during the past six years.

The data disclosed that 76 Americans were killed in Mexico in the years 1913, 1914 and 1915 as compared with forty-seven in the three years preceding and that twenty civilian Americans and sixteen soldiers were killed on American soil in the last three years as a result of Mexican troubles.

The president through Mr. Lansing, declined to comply with that part of the Fall resolution asking for diplomatic and consular reports on political conditions and events in Mexico. The senate was informed that it was not compatible with public interest to furnish this correspondence, inasmuch as it was of a highly confidential nature.

HOME FROM MARKET.

Julius Eichel arrived home yesterday from New York where he went to purchase spring and summer goods for his house, and when seen by the Sentinel reporter Mr. Eichel said that he had selected a large and most beautiful line of goods, and making the purchases in person, picked up many good bargains.

Mr. Eichel is one of Nacogdoches' most progressive merchants, and his up-to-date store is a credit to the city. Having been with us many years, and being a man of keen perception and business acumen, he knows what the people of this section want and how to serve them, and this is the secret of the growing trade and growing importance of his house.

BANDIT ON SKATES.

Orange, Texas, Feb. 19.—This city hasn't any auto bandits that you read about under New York and Chicago date lines, but yesterday a brand new variety cropped out when it was reported a roller skate bandit was operating here.

Mrs. Jessie Wilson, Fullerton, La., widow, was the victim of the bandit on skates. She with her baby in her arms, was sitting on her curbing in Pine street, eating, when the novel thief dashed past and deftly snatched her purse.

For a moment Mrs. Wilson was too dazed to act. When she recovered her composure she pursued the thief, but he was too swift for her and soon skated out of sight.

A description was given to the officers but the roller skate bandit has not been caught.

Mrs. Wilson was going to Monroe, La. She was given a lodging place last night and this morning was finished with funds to finish her journey without having to wait to hear from relatives.

Bulletins and reports relating to practical farm problems and to valuable experiences obtained in actual tests and work on the farm, are published by the department of agriculture for free distribution among the farmers of the country, and the farmer who fails to get them and study them makes a very serious mistake. CHEERFULNESS HELPS.

A man undoubtedly needs the love of friends for the highest happiness, but he can be very serene if he has the approval of his own conscience, resting assured that the love will come in due season if he deserves it. I believe it was James A. Garfield who said: "It doesn't much matter what other people think of me, but it matters tremendously what James A. Garfield thinks of me." That is the right idea, and George Washington gave a fine recipe for dealing with worry about other people's misjudgments when he said: "If anybody speaks evil of you, so live that no one will believe him." That is the best answer to misrepresentation.

No, I do not believe I can too strongly urge upon boys the value of cheerfulness as an aid to success. Some day you will read in one of Dickens' books about that unique character, Mark Tapley. The only thing that worried him was that the Lord had made the world so good and put so many good things about us even in our first disasters that Mark never could find an occasion when it was really "any cred-it to be cheerful." And most of us, if we really looked at things right, would have to agree with Mark Tapley.—Clarence Poe, in The Progressive Farmer.

GIVE 'SYRUP OF FIGS' TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

The editor is rather run down. The other day a correspondent wrote to him for advice on journalism. He was told, among other things he must write only on one side of the paper. And now he has written to ask which side.—Exchange.

A dispatch from Washington, appearing in today's papers, says that Hon. J. W. Bailey will positively not be in the race for United States senator this year. His announcement has been momentarily expected in political circles the past two weeks, and this will put to rest the many wild rumors.

The Lufkin News had no editorial column yesterday, which we cannot account for unless it was because the editor had been "swamped" with an oratorical discussion on the subject of "preparedness," or else swept off his feet with the picture of an operative star appearing on his page. Smatter Dock?—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

Did you ever have the grip?—Lufkin News.
"Nuff sed."

The state health department has announced the appointment of three deputy hotel inspectors who will work in harmony with the Traveler's Protective association in the matter of grading hotels as to sanitary conditions, inside and out. The movement is a new one, the object thereof being to compel improvement in places where too little thought is given to health matters, and where the danger of giving disease a hold is greatest, because of the public character of the service furnished.—Beaumont Enterprise.

Some one has advanced the opinion that the letter "e" is the most unfortunate letter in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger, and in hell all the time. For some reason, he overlooked the fortunes of the letter, so we call his attention to the fact "e" is never in war and always in peace. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life, and no heaven. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect, and without it there could be no editor, devils, or news.—Ex.

Honest business has done more for the betterment of mankind and the advancement of civilization than any other single force. The world's real legion of honor today is the legion of business men. To be in business, or busy, and adding to the world's wealth and prosperity is a thing to be proud of—to be idle is to be in contempt. Being in business, building and adding to the happiness of the human family—constructive, useful work is man's greatest blessing, and the only really happy man is he who is happy in his work.—Center Daily Optimist.

Says the Polks County Enterprise: "The foreign advertising is increasing and the local advertising is decreasing. What will this lead to? Easily answered. An increase in foreign business and a decrease in local business with the home merchants. Watch our prediction—that is, if the home merchants do not wake up." A few days ago a representative of a well known Chicago mail order house, when addressing a convention of advertising men, declared that his firm made a practice of scanning the country papers, and promptly made extraordinary efforts to get business in every region where the local merchants did not advertise freely. Not to advertise is to invite strenuous mail order house competition.—Beaumont Enterprise.

Congressman Dies has refused to divide time with his opponent, Mr. Howth, in his forthcoming visit to the district, presumably upon the reason that he is making the visit to give account for his stewardship in the halls of congress and discuss with the people issues that have arisen in which he may have crossed with many. It will be recalled that Mr. Dies has not yet announced for re-election, and he will doubtless determine the matter on this visit. If he should decide to make the race again, as he doubtless will, the people will insist upon a joint discussion of the issues to which both parties will doubtless submit as neither is lacking in the moral courage and ability of political conflict.

The Sentinel is in receipt of a pretty little card announcing the birth of Jefferson William Pate, born to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pate of the Grimes County Star. With the same announcement comes another card reading "J. E. Pate & Son, publishers of the Grimes County Star, the County Paper." We suppose this is now the youngest publisher in the country, and a fulfillment of the admonition of King Solomon who said: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." But it is taking advantage of a helpless infant to shoulder such responsibility upon him in the tender years when he is unable to resist it.

There are too many men, old and young, who are not meeting their obligations and doing what they promise to do. Too many are trying to shirk responsibilities which mean labor, toil and hardships. This makes the load heavier on those who are trying to do their best. Those who are expecting to get through the world without making sacrifices and assuming responsibilities do not deserve anything in the world. The time has come when all men must come face to face with their duty and not run away from it. The man who is going through the world without bearing his part of the load is unworthy of any consideration of preferment.—Georgetown Commercial.

"Have you looked inside?" is a question asked on a little calendar folder sent out by a firm as an advertisement, and we want to say right here that this is just the reason some business men drag along trying to win success without printers' ink as an aid. They have never "looked inside" the proposition, and the only way to look inside is to use space in a good, live newspaper, and use it with the same diligent intelligence that the business man pays to other important details of his establishment. When once he has really "looked inside," he is so thoroughly convinced that he never turns back. A short study of the lives of America's greatest financiers—those men who in such meteoric fashion have made great fortunes, acknowledge without hesitation, that advertising has been their chief asset in attaining success, and you will notice they keep everlastingly at it. And another significant fact is that all had a small beginning. However small your business advertise and make it grow.—Hamilton Herald.

EDUCATION IN DOLLARS AND CENTS.

In this day of vocational bureaus and intensified efficiency, the appraisers of men are quite like the young father who exclaimed that he would not take a million for the wee thing in his arms, nor would he give a nickel for another just like it. They figure human life in dollars and cents and classify it precisely, according to age and equipment.

Some educator has figured that the value of the life of an uneducated laborer is $12,000, that of labor backed only by elementary school training is $20,000, that supplemented with high school education $40,000 and that enriched with college education $60,000. This assumes that unskilled or uneducated labor is worth only $1 a day and bases the working life on 300 days a year for forty years.

The accountants of human life values proceed to figure that every year spent in training in the high school or university adds $5,000 to the commercial value of the student's life and getting down to fractions, has it that every one of the nine months of the academic year is worth $444, every hour $2.75 and every minute four and a half cents.

The reader may figure out, if he knows Texas educational facilities, how many millions of dollars a year the state is losing through inadequate advantages for the education in youth.

"The best investment for the state," reads a bulletin recently issued by the University of Georgia that contains the figures on education's value, "is the education of all its citizens to their highest efficiency. The best investment for the child is his education to the highest physical, economic, intellectual and moral efficiency.

"But an education will not only increase his earning capacity. It will help him to clearer thinking, to purer feeling, to stronger willing. Literature, architecture, friendship, music, nature will speak to him in more varied and finer tones. It will give him a clearer vision, a wider horizon and help him to a more satisfying life. It fits him for opportunities for richer service to the people. In short, when the child's highest nature is developed and so trained that God's highest purposes may be fulfilled in him, then only do we have the fullest expression of the value of a child's time in education.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

VALUABLE ADVERTISING.

El Paso, Tex., Feb 19.—By answering a small advertisement in a country newspaper, an El Paso woman became rich.

Mrs. W. T. Campbell and Mrs. Fannie Dean, two sisters of El Paso, were notified by attorneys that, through the death of a cousin more than two years ago they have fallen heir to an estate in North Carolina, valued at approximately $100,000.

News of the legacy was received by Mrs. Campbell following correspondence with relatives of J. W. Moore, the testator, as a result of seeing a small newspaper article seeking the whereabouts of Mrs. Martha Lowe, mother of Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. Campbell answered the article which appeared in a Seguin, Texas, paper, and the correspondence revealed that she was heiress to the property without knowing it.

NEIGHBORS IN "ECLIPSE."

The partial eclipse of the sun came on schedule time this morning and was viewed by many people with smoked glasses. Many wondered how its approach could be forecasted so accurately, and doubtless many of these same people could not have believed it possible had not similar events been witnessed before and their approach forecasted as in this instance. Some people do not believe the earth is round because they do not understand the philosophy of it.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

The great difficulty of the scientific mind is to comprehend the viewpoint of those who have not had similar training. The scientists cannot impart the knowledge that he has gained because he does not understand how little the average man understands. We know that the moon is round because we saw the round shadow on the sun. If the moon is round we may suppose that the earth is also round until we have better proof.—Temple Telegram.

Another reason a scientist cannot impart his knowledge to the public is that a lot of blame fool newspaper writers persist in writing on the subjects which they know nothing about and get the public "all mixed up." The Temple Telegram's remarks are a case in point. We do not know that the moon is round because we have seen its shadow on the sun, for we have never seen the shadow of the moon or anything else on the face of old Sol. At the time of an eclipse the shadow of the moon falls on the earth. The moon is round, that is true, but how that fact proves or helps to prove that the earth is round is slightly beyond the writer's comprehension. The fact that the shadow of the earth which falls on the moon at the time of a lunar eclipse is always circular no matter what position the earth may be in at the time, and that is demonstrable that no solid except a sphere will always cast a circular shadow, whatever its position, a very good proof that the earth is a sphere, but it will not have to be depended upon until we have better proofs for we already have them. It is possible that the fact that Temple is dry may have something to do with the Telegram's man getting his wires crossed.—Grimes County Star.

WHAT DEATH MEANT TO BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Kansas City Star:
(From a letter from Benjamin Franklin to Miss Hubbard, a relative, at the time of the death of the philosopher's brother, John.)
Dear Child: I condole with you.

We have lost a most dear and valued relative, but it is the will of God and Nature that these mortal bodies be laid aside when the soul is to enter into real life. It is rather an embryo state, a preparation for living; a man is not completely born until he is dead. Why, then, should we grieve that a new child is born among the immortals, a new member added to their happy society? We are spirits. That bodies should be lent us while they can afford us pleasure, assist us in acquiring knowledge or doing good to our fellow-creatures, is a kind and benevolent act of God. When they become unfit for these purposes and afford us pain instead of pleasure, instead of an aid become an encumbrance, and answer none of the intentions for which they were given, it is equally kind and benevolent that a way is provided by which we may get rid of them

Death is that way. We ourselves prudently choose a partial death. In some cases a mangled painful limb, which can not be restored, we willingly cut off. He who plucks a thorn parts with it freely, since the pain goes with it; and he that quits the whole body parts at once with all pain and possibilities of pain and diseases it was liable to, or capable of making him suffer. Our friend and we are invited abroad on a party of pleasure that is to last forever. His chair was first ready and he has gone before us. We could not all conveniently start together, and why should you and I be grieved at this, since we are sure to follow and we know where to find them? Adieu.

Benjamin Franklin.

FOUND A DEAD MAN.

The news came to the city yesterday that the body of a man had been discovered in a shallow grave about nine miles from the city, on or near the plantation owned by Mr. W. J. Patterson of this place. County Judge Robinson, County Attorney Sam R. Sayers, Officer W. F. Seale, W. J. Patterson and Doyle F. Harrell left for the scene in an automobile.

shortly after the disappearance of their father, and a short time ago, it seems, wrote back here from some point in the State relative to some of the estate, effects or otherwise presumed to have been left by the deceased. Since the finding of the body yesterday those holding the inquest thought sufficient of the incident to have the two sons brought back to Lufkin, and officers Seale left last night for that purpose. That is all.—Lufkin News.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS.

On the death of Sovereign F. E. Buxton.

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to summon from his earthly labors our beloved sovereign, F. E. Buxton, a brother whose loyal nature, charitable and generous spirit, together an earnest zeal, and untiring devotion to the interests of Liberty Elm Camp No. 210, developed in our hearts for him a sense of regard and brotherly love:

Therefore be it resolved by Liberty Elm Camp No. 210 W. O. W., that while we reverently and devoutly bow, in obedience to the behests of that being whose ways are inscrutable, in removing from this life our deceased brother and sovereign, we desire to express our deep sense of loss in his death.

Resolved that we share deeply in the sorrow of the widow, the children, and the relatives of our deceased brother and hereby tender to them our heart-felt sympathy, and commend them to the loving and tender care of Him who has promised to be a Father to the fatherless, and a Helper to the widow.

Resolved, that Liberty Elm Camp No. 210 have an enlarged portrait of the deceased hung on the walls of its lodge room, as an expression of our respect and the grief we feel for the loss of our beloved sovereign.

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, and a copy be given to the local papers for publication as well as to the widow of our deceased brother and sovereign.

Respectfully submitted,
L. I. MULLER.

AN OLD GENTLEMAN FELL INTO A WELL.

News has been received in the city to the effect that Rev. M. L. Hines, a veteran Baptist minister of the county residing at Garrison, had the misfortune to fall into an old well at the brick yard beyond that town yesterday, and was very painfully injured.

How the accident happened, or how badly the old gentleman was hurt, The Sentinel has been unable to learn further than that the well was about thirty feet deep, and that he was very painfully injured.

Bro. Hines was one of the early promoters of the brick yard, and has worked with the enterprise at different times. He resides near the place and it is presumed that the accident happened while he was strolling in the vicinity. He is getting very feeble and would be inclined to stumble or totter, making this theory more plausible. He is a noble, consecrated Christian gentleman, and has many friends all over East Texas who trust that he was not seriously injured, and may have a speedy recovery.

A Woman's Problem

How to Feel Well During Middle Life Told by Three Women Who Learned from Experience.

The Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Read these letters:—

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I started the Change of Life five years ago. I always had a headache and backache with bearing down pains and I would have heat flashes very bad at times with dizzy spells and nervous feelings. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new person and am in better health and no more troubled with the aches and pains I had before I took your wonderful remedy. I recommend it to my friends for I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. MARGARET GRASSMAN, 759 N. Ringgold St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Beverly, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nervousness and dyspepsia, when I was going through the Change of Life. I found it very helpful and I have always spoken of it to other women who suffer as I did and have had them try it and they also have received good results from it."—Mrs. GEORGE A. DUNBAR, 17 Roundy St., Beverly, Mass.

Erie, Pa.—"I was in poor health when the Change of Life started with me and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or I think I should not have got over it as easy as I did. Even now if I do not feel good I take the Compound and it restores me in a short time. I will praise your remedies to every woman for it may help them as it has me."—Mrs. E. KISSLING, 931 East 24th St., Erie, Pa.

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Such letters are received and answered by women only and held in strict confidence.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

Trees of note, traditional trees, as well as historic trees, are worthy of mention, among the ancient land marks of historic and pre-historic old Nacogdoches.

This is a land of forests. Trees grow in varieties, species and types that are a wonder. Indigenous trees are found here that are peculiar to the locality. People who have lived here long become so accustomed to these trees, which in many instances are sublime beauties, that they do not appreciate them. Strangers take notice and express admiration of the trees, but the old timers almost sneer at this.

What is nobler, grander, more inspiring than a mammoth oak or elm, or a grand old hickory or pine, so tall that a boy cannot throw a stone over the top. The hickory nuts and pecans, too high up to be reached, always seem most desirable. Remarkable trees are too numerous here to mention, and so it is in all East Texas, from Texarkana on the north to Beaumont on the south. Nacogdoches being midway between.

The "Liberty Elm," which once stood upon the western bank of the Banita Creek, which flows through the western part of the city of Nacogdoches, near the railroad depot, was a most splendid tree, and the rippling, clear waters, rushing along by it, seemed to give the tree a charm, as a setting in the level lawn around. This naturally became a favorite camping ground for early adventurous tourists, and other travelers enroute to Texas, then the wondrous wild country. It is a tradition that General Zachary Taylor's army was encamped around this tree in 1846, on the way to the Mexican war, and again on the return in 1848. With them were such young soldiers as Jeff Davis, Twigg and Pillow. A decade before this this tree sheltered such men as Crockett, Travis, Austin and Bowie, not to say Sam Houston and Gen. Rusk, who then lived here. And the people long years after this held many public festivities beneath the wide spreading boughs of queenly tree.

But the tree is gone, and its day and time passed. And how mete it is that the local camp of the W. O. W. should be named "Liberty Elm Camp," and yet the "little creek," as it was called by the small boys, who had their "old swimming hole" in it, just above the "big road" "flows on forever," and still it is officially designated as Banita, a Spanish name meaning little bath or little creek. Near the city cemetery, in the eastern part of town, there once stood an old chinquapin tree of gigantic size and apparently of great age. It is gone now. It was, in early days, regarded as a "tree-of-noche triste" (sad night), beneath which bereaved hearts were supposed to linger and weep, in view of the last resting place of their lost loved ones.

There are cedars and Bois d'arcas that have been planted and grown as shades or ornaments in this town that appear to be over a century in age. These species of trees are not common in the forests, nor is there a live oak, mesquite or weasche found in the primitive forests here.

Albert Bright is placing material on the ground with which to have erected for himself a nice residence. The new house will be located on the lot formerly occupied with the home of Mrs. Loden which was destroyed by fire last October. This is a beautiful location, and with the nice house Mr. Bright has planned, it will be a beautiful home.

CROP PESTS

Last year a large portion of the Irish Potato crop of the country was damaged by potato scab, and nearly every crape myrtle was effected with a white fly. The potato planting season is here and no farmer should plant his potatoes without first disinfecting them with a solution of formaldehyde. Potato scab is caused by minute parasite fungus which burrow in the surface of the potato. It is very easily spread by infected seed, and when once in the ground may stay there for several years, therefore do not plant this year's crop on the same piece of land that was used for this crop last year, FOR IF YOU DO YOU WILL HAVE SCABBY POTATOES.

The treatment of this disease is to take one pint of formaldehyde and dilute it with 30 gallons of water. Have this solution in a barrel, then take the potatoes, place them in a sack and immerse them in the solution for two hours, after taking them out of the solution they should be spread out to dry. Care must be taken not to put them back in sacks that have not been disinfected. If our potato growers will follow this simple and cheap remedy the potato scab can be controlled. Formaldehyde can be purchased at any drug store in town at about 40c a quart.

The white fly is an insect pest that attacks evergreens and citrus fruits, the leaves of the plants attacked having the appearance of being covered with soot. In fact, when plants have the white fly they are at the same time affected with the sooty mould fungus. The white fly, which works on the under side of the leaves, is one of a class of insects having the faculty of excreting through the pores of the body a sweat substance called honey-dew. This honey-dew falls upon the leaves beneath the feeding insects and becomes the growing place for minute plant organisms called fungi.

The pores of the sooty mould are carried by the wind and fall upon this honey-dew where they begin to germinate and grow until the entire surface of the leaf is covered with a black filmy covering. The injury caused by this fungus is the covering up of the openings of the leaves which prevents the absorption of plant food from the air. By getting rid of the white fly you get rid of the fungus diseases as well.

There are two sprays that can be used for controlling the white fly, one a summer spray, which consists of a kerosine emulsion, but this time of the year it is best to use the winter spray which is much more effective.

The State Crop Commission of Louisiana recommends the following formula:

- Resin 20lb.
- Caustic Soda (Star ball potash) 7lb
- Fish Oil 3 1/2 pints.
- Water for final bulk 100 gal.

To make this spray, procure a large kettle, place in the kettle the materials shown in the above formula, then add about 14 gallons of water and boil for 3 hours being careful that the spray does not boil over. After boiling, it can be placed in barrels and water added to make the 100 gallons. The stock solution can be kept and diluted with water when needed, but after it is diluted it had best be used. Two applications of this spray should

BURNS IN JAIL

H. W. Ferguson, who has been in jail at Rusk, since his conviction last week, was released last Wednesday, making a $4500 bond in one case, and $2500 in another. Several parties from near Dallas assisted in making the bond, and it is reported the aggregated worth of the signers is perhaps $100,000.

A. E. Burns is still in jail, having been surrendered by his former bondsmen.

Ferguson was convicted in two cases connected with the failure of the Mt. Selman bank. On the charge of forgery he was given four years, and on the charge of conspiracy to wreck the bank eight years. The embezzlement case was continued. He has appealed both cases in which he was convicted.

Burns was given five years on a plea of guilty, but was granted a new trial, which will bring his case up again at the next term.—Jacksonville Banner.

PAPER FAMINE IMMINENT.

For the past several months the prices of all kinds of paper have been soaring, and we are now threatened with a famine in some of the varieties, which is best told in the following dispatch:

New York, Feb. 17.—Paper mills in the United States are operating to capacity and many of them are turning away orders, but the increase in the price of raw materials and high price of labor has reduced the profits of the business, according to members of the American Paper and Pulp association attending the annual convention here today.

Arthur C. Hastings, president of the American Writing Paper company, said:

"The country is facing the greatest general paper famine in its history. The stocks in the hands of our jobbers are very low, our imports have been virtually cut off, and our exports are greater than ever. I can see no relief in sight."

MRS. PATTIE BOOTH WITH THE DEAD.

From Friday's Daily: Mr. R. A. Hall of this city received a message yesterday afternoon bearing the sad news of the death of his sister, Mrs. Pattie Booth, which sad event occurred at her home in Paris, Texas, yesterday morning at four o'clock. The remains of the good lady were laid to rest in the cemetery at Paris this morning at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Booth was also a sister of Mrs. Cronkite who recently died in Beaumont and was buried here, and an aunt of Mrs. Angus Russell. Previous to the removal of the family to Paris, Mrs. Booth resided in this county, and has many friends here who will be made sad with the news of her death. She was about sixty-five years of age, and was a noble Christian woman who was loved and admired by those who knew her.
