"FAMOUS DETECTIVE" CAUGHT YESTERDAY

Constable Burrows had the distinction of capturing a very "famous," or infamous, detective yesterday, and lodged him in jail. The party is a negro giving him name as A. D. White, and was indicted by the grand jury for shooting a negro near Chireno some three weeks ago.

Through the courtesy of Sheriff Spradley, the Sentinel man visited the jail this morning and interviewed the man with "international connections" and much credentials. Upon being interrogated in the matter, White says he is a member of the C. T. Ludwig Detective Training Corporation of Australia, that his number is B 42 while he works on Bulletin No. 7. Asked as to why he had been sojourning in the Chireno country, he explained that he was spotting some bootleggers and gamblers which had detained him, and that in the meantime he had incurred the enmity of the negro whom he had to shoot—"in self-defense."

In speaking of his "detective" connection and work, he grows very eloquent, and seems to labor under the mental hallucination that he has a perfect right to serve any and all courts, and that his credentials give him ample authority to make any arrest.

White is a victim of a "correspondence course," and has become so confused with it and his

A big, safe proposition for you—no chance for you to lose—but it's just as safe for us. We know from experience that you will keep the planter for it will give you satisfaction just like it does for hundreds of other AVERY PLANTER users.

Look at the illustration above. Built entirely of steel (no cast iron) which makes it very strong yet light and easy to handle. See these lugs on the rim of the driving wheel and those two pitmans (one on each side) that make the planter "Plant" when you want it to plant. With this positive "Locomotive Drive" construction there can be no "skid or jumps" and besides it is so simple that nothing can get out of order.

Plates for planting anything can be had with the AVERY planter and the "Sure-enough" Peanut Planting Attachment should be of special interest to anyone wanting to buy a planter. You can't expect too much of an AVERY and we can't say too much for them. Nothing is perfect but then AVERY planters are next to it. Come get an AVERY and try it.

TEXANS OFFER CALVARY HORSES

Austin, Texas, March 20.—Will A. Miller, Jr., and W. R. Hemphill, stockmen of Amarillo, were here today and had a conference with Adjutant General Henry Hutchings relative to the question of supplying horses for the Texas calvary in the event the guard is called into action. They informed General Hutchings that they could supply all necessary horses. Should the guard be called out, several hundred horses may be needed for service.

Major F. S. Rogers of Dallas, advocate general of the Texas National Guard, today conferred with General Hutchings on the probability of the guard being called into action.

TEX WALLACE MADE BOND.

"Tex" Wallace, the wounded bank robber suspect, left Timpson Sunday for his home in Fort Worth. He was detained for a short while in Shreveport by officers who arrested him on suspicion in connection with the bank robbery case here. The Timpson officers notified the Shreveport officers that he had already been detained here on the charge and that he was set at liberty for a while, whereupon Wallace continued his journey. Wallace made a bond here in the sum of $1000.00 which was readily furnished by Fort Worth friends.—Timpson Times.

MAHL SCHOOL CLOSED.

The school at Mahl closed Friday with a picnic for the children. The teachers, Miss Edna McCuiston and Mrs. Minnie Grimes, in company with the pupils and a few others went to Pecan creek—and such a good time as we did have!

There were two wagons and two buggy loads of children, supplied with a nice basket of good things to eat. We arrived at the creek at 10:30 and got busy, some digging fish bait while others prepared the hooks and lines the weetots gathering wild flowers and pretty ferns.

After spending a few hours in the sport of fishing and merry laughter and frolic, dinner was announced, where a great spread was enjoyed. The teacher supplemented the dinner with a box of candy and chocolate.

At a late hour we all returned home, tired but happy.

JOAQUIN PIONEER DEAD.

The following report of the death of a prominent pioneer citizen of Joaquin is taken from the Center Optimist:

The sad news reached Center this morning of the death of "Uncle Lige Rushing, of Joaquin, whose death occurred some time last night, mention of whose illness has been previously made in these columns.

The funeral took place at Joaquin this afternoon, and quite a number of Center people went over to attend and pay their last respects to a loved and honored citizen.

STEERS BREAK

THROUGH TOWN

Ballinger, Texas, March 20.—Early day scenes were enacted in this city yesterday when a bunch of big steers on feed in the city stampeded and dashed through the business section of the city. The steers were stopped in front of the Central hotel and have returned to the feed pens. The steers broke over the fence when they became frightened at something.

"Might makes right," and prevails so long as it is able to sustain its element of strength—but right always has its inning in the end.

An echo from Lufkin: "The Sentinel editor has propounded the question of the hour. Where, oh where, are they?" (the oil wells.)

Resolve to cultivate a cheerful spirit, a smiling countenance and a soothing voice. The sweet smile, the subdued speech, the hopeful are earth's most potent conquerors, and he who cultivates them becomes a very master among men.—Elbert Hubbard.

All eyes are on Mexico now, some out of interest in the probable conflict that will result in giving the United States revenge for the great insult heaped upon us, some in the political bearing, and some with an eye single to exploitation as soon as conditions will warrant invasion.

The Sentinel does not want to be impertinent, but we would like to know what has become of the "oil wells" which gave evidence of becoming "good producers," "gushers," etc., in neighboring communities some weeks ago. While the price of gasoline is soaring so high it would be a good time to take the "cap" off.

In exchanging greetings with a friend a few mornings ago Mr. Sam Stripling, a well known druggist of the city, is quoted with having said "the weather is distressingly beautiful." The expression is a little odd, but analysis proves it full of logic. The weather, with its balm of spring, has been ideal, but the drought that has been with it is becoming somewhat distressing to the farmers who need moisture in their lands.

Dispatches from the scene indicate that the Carranza government is working in good harmony with the United States in the chase of the Mexican outlaws who have been terrorizing both republics, and if this condition can be maintained our soldiers will render a great service to the stricken republic in ridding it of the outlaws in the wake of which can follow a reign of peace and prosperity.

If the money that is squandered in wars and munitions could be expended in relief for the suffering and some form of universal religion that would make men love each other, there would be no more wars. But such is the frailty of mankind that the experiment is considered impractical in diplomatic circles who prefer facilities with which to "shoot" civilization into those who are disposed to rebel or be arbitrary in the settlement of international affairs.

The law of cause and effect is as certain and as irrevocable as the law of supply and demand, or the law of gravitation. This being true, with the spread of the news of the superior market facilities this city is providing for the produce that will be raised, farmers from other sections will begin to sell their homes and buy small farms tributary to this town. New lands will be cleared to accommodate them, and old lands will be reclaimed, insuring that ere long every acre of idle land in the vicinity will be put into cultivation. This in turn will bring new business to the town, and new people who are hunting a busy place, all leading up to the industrial and commercial development the patriotic and progressive have long craved

N. cogdoches will have a goodly number of visiting school teachers and school children tomorrow who will come to spend the day with us in the inter-scholastic meet, and the hospitality of the city will be extended to them. No profession is more worthy than that of school work, ranking next to the ministry, and the friendship of such people is a treasure to be coveted.

The Palestine Herald reiterates a great truth, that has been told in many ways, but always containing the same gem of truth, in the statement that "as we develop our agricultural resources we will at the same time develop our other resources. We need to recognize that this is an agricultural country." And as citizens of this agricultural country try the first essential of prosperity is "to live at home and board at the same place."

Lufkin is the best proposition in the way of a city between Houston and Shreveport. He who lives here knows it, and the visitor is not long in finding it out. Come on, if you are coming; the water is fine.—Lufkin News.

"Watch your step," Dock, or you will start something. Since when has Lufkin merged into a resort with such fine water? And is "water" all you have to offer in support of your theory? "Watch your step"

In a telegram to the war department Wednesday, Colonel Harding, acting governor of the Canal Zone, states that the Panama canal will be reopened by April 15 for the passage of deep draft vessels. The work of reopening the great waterway is regarded as an engineering feat second only to the construction of the canal, as, besides the removal of millions of tons of rock and earth from the collapsed excavations, the pressure on the sides has been greatly relieved and barriers against slides constructed which, it is believed, will materially minimize the menace from that source in the future. Also, the equipment for the speedy removal of future earth movements has been greatly improved as well as the facilities for the quick handling of ships.—Houston Post.

Application has been made to the State department at Austin for a permit to sell stock in a proposed company for the marketing of bull frogs. But application for charter privilege hits a snag. If a bull frog is within the meaning of the fish, game and oyster laws of Texas, well and good. Otherwise authority to issue charter rights is in doubt. The fat statute book fails to recognize the frog, establishes its commercial status, regulate its meanderings to certain streams and ponds, or provide a curfew for its peace-disturbing croak. Just how Legislature after Legislature overlooked the bull frog, after all these years devoted to intensive regulation from bed sheets to building railroad stations, is beyond understanding. Commercializing the bull frog catch is not a new industry by any means, as fashionable consumers will agree. But the proposed organization is probably the first serious attempt at the business in Texas. So let the charter issue require a special session of the Legislature or a State-wide bull frog primary to issue the proper permit and add a new industry to the list.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

ANOTHER LUFKIN ECHO.

The people of Lufkin have heard about the interest that is being aroused in this city in the matter of a potato dry kiln, and of the matter the Lufkin Daily News in its issue of yesterday, (Monday) has the following to say:

"In the following The News will choose to speak of the sweet potato dry kiln. In all probability the people of Angelina County are not very familiar with the subject, for the reason that it is rather an innovation.

The growing of sweet potatoes, however, is about as old as the hills, but the "dry kiln" process is but lately coming into vogue. Just at this particular time the editor finds that he is not very well versed upon the subject, but he is fully aware that the same has vast possibilities, and that it is being undertaken in other localities with beneficial results.

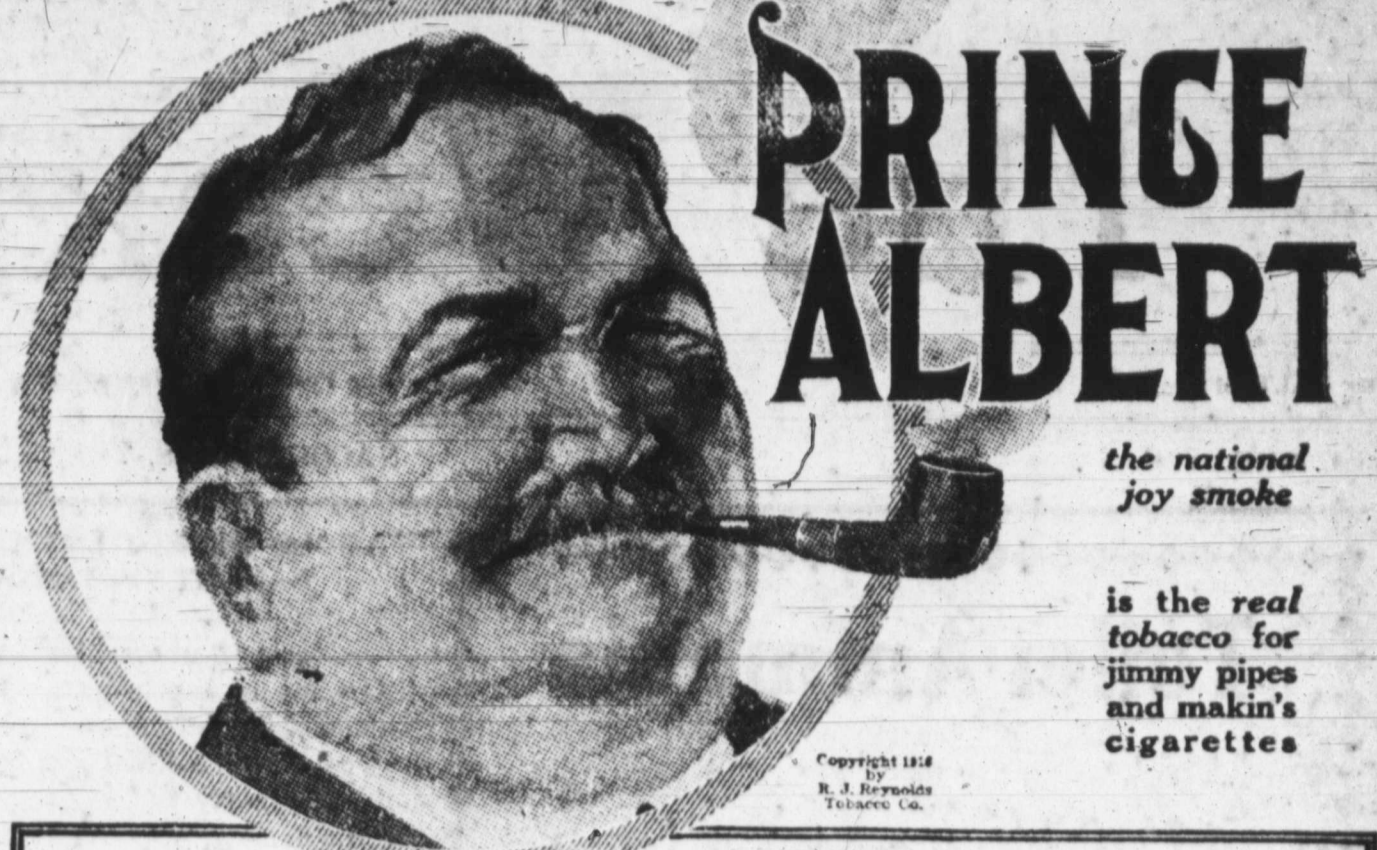

"One of the readers of The News happened to see an item in the daily press touching on this subject, and our friend clipped the same and mailed it to this office. The gist of the article was that a representative party of Nacogdoches citizens recently visited the town of Longview to inspect the sweet potato dry kiln plant at that place and acquaint themselves with the necessary steps to be taken looking to the establishment of a like concern in our neighboring city. In the event that all signs do not fail, a plant of this kind will be established in Nacogdoches, which will not only be destined to take care of the surplus crop of potatoes in that county, but will be of that capacity that the potato crop of adjoining counties will also be taken care of as fast as the same is dumped upon the market. Samples of the Longview "dried potato" have been shown in this locality, and a most favorable impression has been made among the potato-growers, who will no doubt give this kind of a crop special attention in the future.

"All of this is well. Angelina County soil is well adapted to the growing of such a product, and if our people can have no dry kiln right here at home, then it will be a matter of consolation to know that such a convenience is but twenty miles away. Let the slogan be: Onward with this East Texas progress; let it blossom and put on fruitage wherever it may."

KILED A COW.

Several Lufkin automobile parties went to Nacogdoches last night to witness the widely advertised wrestling match, and which resulted in Tony Bernard proving himself the master of Young Zebyscko, winning both falls.

But that has nothing to do with the cow episode, in which Old Pide was wafted away to kingdom come. It happened when the Lufkin bunch were on their way home, and it may never be known just what car struck the animal, nor who was at the wheel; but all the same it was a "center shot," and the carcass was left by the side of the road. The impact did not affect the machine in any material part, none of the occupants of the car were hurt and the balance of the journey was completed without further mishap. It will also be said in this instance that the right thing was done in the premises, for before leaving the scene of disaster to the cow, those in the car hunted up the owner of the animal and paid him the market value for the same. The number of the car could not be ascertained, although it is certain that it appears upon the streets of Lufkin almost every day.—Lufkin Daily News, Saturday.

HISTORIC RELIC GIVEN IN VILLA TERRITORY.

El Paso, Texas, March 16.—The Seventh and Tenth calvary said to be advancing into Mexico by forced marches from Culberson's ranch near Hachita, N. M., were nearing the Villa territory in the Casas Grandes region tonight, according to the most reliable information which could be obtained here. These troops are reported marching with the minimum equipment and led by Mormon scouts from the Morman colonies at Colonia Dublan and Colonia Merales. From their point of departure the distance is eighty-five miles to Casas Grandes. If Villa intends to offer any resistance to his pursuers it is considered probable United States soldiers may come in contact with his outlying posts very soon.

deducted on the assumption that the defacto government's troops will co-operate in the effort to destory Villa and his followers, but with the exception of the support given by the small garrison at Palomos, opposite Columbus, that joined General Pershing's column, military headquarters here was without evidence tonight that active aid would be given by Carranza's army.

The bank statements of Nacogdoches, published in this paper this week show $739,172.14 of individual deposits. This represents money which belongs to people of the community for which they have no immediate use and have put it away for safe keeping in the banks until they do have need to check against it. In addition to this, there are items of time certificates of deposit and other money which would run the available money supply of this community up to possibly a million dollars. Very few towns in the state the size of Nacogdoches will be able to make such a good showing of financial resources.

BACKACHE, SWELLING OF HANDS AND FEET.

Dear Editor:
I appeal to those of your readers who are bothered with backache and a constant tired feeling to give "Anuric" a trial. It has been recently discovered by Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. I suffered from backache, swelling of hands and feet, too frequent excretion from the kidneys and many other symptoms. Was unable to work, but after taking just one box of "Anuric" according to directions I am again able to perform my daily duties. (Signed) W. R. BAY.

THE SILVER WEDDING WAS CELEBRATED

From Saturday's Daily:
One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the year was had at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. N. Cunningham last evening, when a number of friends gathered at their home to help them make merry in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, an event known as the "silver wedding."

No set program was arranged, the people coming together in an informal, social way to make merry with good cheer and good wishes. Many beautiful presents of silver were bestowed upon the happy couple, good music on the piano and violin was rendered, and a beautiful talk together with fervent prayer was offered by Rev. Atwell of the Episcopal church, all combining to make up an evening of enjoyment which will long be remembered by those present.

Rev. and Mrs. Cunningham have been making their home in Nacogdoches the past four or five years, during which time Bro. Cunningham has served as pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and in this ministry, and in their social intercourse with the people, they have won the esteem and friendship of all, who trust that every good fortune will attend them, and that they may celebrate their golden wedding here twenty-five years hence.

THE EFFECT OF DROUGHT ON PLOWING

There appears to be a good deal of complaint from some of our farmers about the present drought interfering with their plowing, especially upon the heavier soils of the County. I am not at all surprised at such conditions and it is no ones fault but the farmer himself, who will not plow under the corn and cotton stalks in the fall and winter at least ten inches deep, and so drought comes like the present one, he will have no excuse for not working on account of the soil not being in condition to plow.

The Experiment Station has been preaching winter deep plowing for the last four years, and those of our people who have heeded this advice have their land plowed and corn up, while those who did not are loafing because they say the soil is too hard to plow and in their case it is the truth, but the condition is their own making.

Let me take you back to the weather records for this past winter and the winter before, and you will soon see very little difference in the total rainfall for the winter months, which goes to show, that if the soil had been plowed at the right time there would be plenty of moisture to support plant life.

Year 1914—
November 5.76 inches
December 9.72 inches
January 4.72 inches
February 3.87 inches

Year 1915—
November 4.51 inches
December 3.35 inches
January 8.30 inches
February 0.23 inches

This shows that from November to February 1914-15, we had 7.68 more rainfall than the same months this year, or for the actual months when plowing should have been done of 4 inches less this season. During the plowing season we have had however 16.16 inches of rain which fell in good showers and at intervals, which allowed ideal weather for working the soil, but the trouble with the ideal weather during the fall and winter, was that it was also ideal for hunting, and some of our farmers preferred to hunt.

Experience in some cases is a hard master, but it takes such to convince some people, and it is hoped that the experience some are getting this year by putting off their plowing will be a lesson, so that when next fall and winter comes around they will be found plowing their land and putting it in condition to stand such a drought as we are now having.

The Experiment Station advises the farmers to plant light on cotton, the chances being that the price will be low if a normal crop is produced. Learn to live at home like some of you did last year, grow plenty of feed crops. Grow peanuts instead of cotton. There is a demand for them. It is a ready money crop in your own county just like cotton, and one acre of Spanish peanuts will pay you better return than one acre of cotton at 12c a pound. Figure it out for yourselves if you do not believe me, and if you cannot figure it out come up to the station and I will show you. Come around anyhow, even if you are better farmers than the man on the Station. He is not too old or thick-headed to learn something from anyone that comes to the Station, and you should be the same way. A man who knows everything and thinks he cannot be taught anything is a fit subject for a first-class funeral.

VISITORS RECEIVED NOTICE

The following notice of the sojourn of Nacogdoches people in Longview upon the occasion of their inspection of the potato warehouse is taken from yesterday's issue of the Longview Times-Clarion:

Two large touring cars occupied by Nacogdoches live wires came to this city yesterday. They were accompanied from Henderson by several cars filled with members of the Henderson Chamber of Commerce, and the object of the visit to Longview was to investigate the potato warehouse and curing plants here.

Immediately upon their arrival they were met by our Mayor Bodenheim who figuratively handed to them the keys to the city and told them that if they happened to want anything that they couldn't see to just call for it. The gentleman were then taken in hand by Secretary Roberts of the Board of Trade, who accompanied them at once to the plant near the Santa Fe depot and explained to them in detail everything they wanted to know. After the inspection of this plant Mr. Roberts then piloted them to the Wells plant, in the outskirts of the city where Mr. Wells went into an exhaustive explanation of the entire matter.

The Nacogdoches party remained until this morning and inspected the Gregg county good roads and the paved streets in the city. They were lavish in their compliments for Longview—in fact, we suspect they, each and every one, fell in love with our model town, and it would be no surprise to soon find several of them making preparations to quit the historic old red land city.

Where can you invest money more profitably than by buying a bottle of Prickly Ash Bitters—you get four for one. A kidney medicine, a liver tonic, stomach strengthener, and bowel cleanser. Four medicines for one dollar.—Stripling, Haselwood & Co., Special Agents.

Mrs. Dee Pace gave the young folks a singing Sunday night. A large crowd attended and report a nice time.

We are sorry to say that our Sunday School has broken up, but we hope it will liven up again after awhile.

With best wishes to the Sentinel and its many readers.

FROM WALNUT GROVE.

The health of our community is fine at present.

Cane planting has been the work of the farmers for the past week.

School work is progressing nicely, Mrs. Mae Smith teacher.

Mary Curry, Myrtle Parrott, Edgar Terrell, Louise Carroll, Leala Thomas, Annie Carroll and Beatrice Frederick were perfect in spelling the past week.

New windows and a room heater was placed in our school house last week.

C. H. Carroll returned Friday from Ft. Worth where he had been with a car of hogs.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Smith visited Mrs. Smith home-folks at Melrose Saturday and Sunday.

J. R. Frederick of Mayo visited his daughter Mrs. E. G. Terrell Thursday.

Mr. Allen Chaney and family of Arlam attended service here Sunday.

Rev. F. M. Richards and D. Nix were present on our last week-end to hear Rev. Nix's sermon.

A nice singing was enjoyed by all at Mr. Ed Curry's Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Richards took dinner with D. R. Boatman's family Sunday.

Dewey and Ida Hilliard of Arlam spent the week-end with their daughter Mrs. W. Barton, who has typhoid fever.

BAPTISTS TO MEET APRIL 20.

Jacksonville, Texas.—At the request of J. M. Loggins, C. C. Huffines, J. P. Giles, J. R. Tinsley, J. F. McClung and H. M. Allen, a meeting of Texas Baptist Missionary Association of Texas has been called by I. S. Knight as moderator to convene at Jacksonville April 20. The call is signed by L. S. Knight and J. A. Long, assistant. The call states that matters concerning the Texas Baptist Orphanage are to be considered.

SHERIFF SPRADLEY HOME.

Sheriff Spradley has returned home after spending several days with the banker's detectives and local officers of Timpon in an effort to ferret out the hiding place and apprehend the guilty parties in the recent bank robbery occurring at that place, and gives quite an interesting account of his trip.

The first matter to be investigated by the detectives in this last investigation was the hiding place of some parties who had lately taken refuge in the loft of the Baptist church. Mr. Spradley says that they found a sawed-off gun, a box of shot gun shells, some pistol cartridges, medicated cotton, and many other things which indicated that a desperate character, who was suffering from some kind of wound, had been inhabiting the place. They also found many chicken bones, beef bones, crumbs of bread, roasted potatoes, and the indications were that the parties had been in the building some days.

Taking up the tracks and clues a man who fits the description pretty well was seen near Garrison yesterday morning, but there is another man and woman somewhere in the vicinity on whom they could get no satisfactory line.

Mr. Spradley says it is the most puzzling case, and at the same time the most daring, that he ever had anything to do with, and is of the opinion that the robbers have local friends and confederates in their operations.

"Tex" Wallace, the man who was shot a few nights ago, is getting well, and unless some better clues can be obtained, he will have to be turned loose.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

WEDNESDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. Arthur Sweatland entertained the Wednesday Bridge Club this week, and the occasion is reported to have been a most enjoyable one with this talented hostess.

Mrs. Chas. Williams made high score and was awarded the souvenir of the occasion: a pretty china tea pot. Mrs. Whited won the booby prize.

In the conclusion a course of dainty refreshments were served, which were enjoyed in the same happy manner that had been characteristic of the afternoon, and combining to make it one of the most enjoyable social functions of this kind of the season.

JUNIOR AID.

The Junior Aid Society had a most interesting meeting with Miss Letha Moorer last week, with Miss Moorer leading. An interesting program was rendered, after which an ice course of refreshments was served.

The next meeting will be held with Miss Violet Davis Saturday afternoon. This is a change made from the announcement of last meeting, and the members will take notice accordingly.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitute.

THE TELEPHONE MATTER.

Mayor Matthews handed this letter to the Sentinel with the request that it be published, together with the statement that the meeting will be called as requested therein:

Dallas, Texas, March 11, 1916.
Mr. C. A. Hodges,
Nacogdoches, Texas.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of the 9th instant, enclosing notice of the resolution of the City Council of the City Nacogdoches pertaining to the rate of this Company, was duly received.

I expect to visit Nacogdoches and take up this matter with the City Council personally, not later than the 25th of this month.

Will you kindly advise me if the City Council will grant me the courtesy of appearing before them on or about the 25 instance?

J. E. Famworth,
Vice-pres.

THE WRESTLE.

From Saturday's Daily:
In the wrestle at the old court house last night Bernard was victorious, throwing Zebysko with a cradle hold in the first fall in forty minutes, and throwing him again in the second fall in about seven and one-half minutes.

The contest was quite spirited, each struggling tenaciously for the victory.

Previous to the big wrestle a good program of boxing and lightweight wrestling was enjoyed.

A good attendance was present, and the occasion was greatly enjoyed by the lovers of such sport.

MR. J. F. VONDERSMITH WAS HURT YESTERDAY

From Friday's Daily:

Yesterday morning when Tax Assessor J. F. Vondersmith attempted to mount his horse, three miles south of Martinsville, the animal, jumped and threw him off backward, and in the fall the gentleman received some very painful injuries which put him out of commission for travel for a few days.

An automobile was sent out for him yesterday afternoon and he was brought home. The injury seems confined mostly to his hips and the lower part of his back, and it will possibly be several days before he is able to get about again, but it is hoped that none of his injuries will be serious.

ELEVEN MILLION BALES GINNED.

Washington, March 20.—The final cotton ginning report of the census bureau issued today shows 11,059,430 running bales, or 11,183,182 equivalent 500-lb bales of cotton, exclusive of linters, were ginned from the 1915 crop. Included in the figures are 39,623 bales which gingers estimate would be turned out after the March canvass.

Ginning by states in equivalent 500-lb bales: Alabama, 1,020,208; Arkansas $15,846; Florida 47,816; Georgia 1,907,510; Louisiana, 340,606; Mississippi, 953,620; Missouri, 47,930; North Carolina, 698,852; Oklahoma, 639,209; South Carolina, 1,153,581; Texas, 3,223,803; Virginia, 15,809; all other states, 35,694

BRENHAM HEARD FROM.

The Sentinel does not want to be impertinent, but we would like to know what has become of the "oil wells" which gave evidence of becoming "good producers" "gushers", etc., in neighboring communities some weeks ago. While the price of gasoline is soaring so high it would be a good time to take the "cap" off. —Nacogdoches Sentinel.

It is true that in almost every community where wild-catting has been done for the past several months, exaggerated reports have been sent forth. In the Brenham field prospecting continues. One well is now producing ten to twenty-five barrels daily, and as soon as additional equipment is received and installed, this will be increased. Two wells are drilling in the proven field, and deep tests have been made. The Sentinel doubtless realizes that it takes time, also money, to develop an oil field, and in some of the largest producing fields the prospectors labored months and even years before any oil was sold. Confident that the Brenham field will justify all the claims that have been made for it, local citizens are working steadily, and will continue to spend time and money until their efforts are rewarded. —Brenham Banner-Press.

The government weather bureau seems to be having as hard time to get a rain as do the "prophets" in other walks of life —new-comers and native born.

Many Texas editors are taking a "short course" in journalism in the School of Journalism at Austin this week—and many of us who could not attend doubtless need it. This institution is doing much to raise the standard of Texas newspapers, and the reading public will be co-beneficiary in the good results being obtained.

AN OLD SETTLER DEAD.

The sad news of the death of Mr. J. J. Shirley, an honored old gentleman of the county, has reached this city.

Mr. Shirley died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chas. Shofner, yesterday afternoon, and his remains will be laid to rest in the cemetery at Shady Grove this afternoon.

Mr. Shirley is survived by several sons and daughters who are honored citizens of the county. He was about seventy-two years of age, and during his long life in the county has always lived an upright, Christian life, in which he drew about him a great host of friends who are made sad with the news of his death.

D. M. McDuffie, a prominent business man of the county, residing at Garrison, was a visitor to the city yesterday afternoon, motoring down in his car. Mr. McDuffie is one of the self-made men of the county. He came a few years ago a poor young man from one of the older states, and went to work. He has continued to work faithfully all these years as a result of which he has accumulated a good competence and is well fixed in this world's goods. In the meantime he has been a patriotic citizen, always contributing his share to matters of public benefit.

PEANUTS AND INDEPENDENCE

(Contributed.)

Where are the most prosperous farmers of today? The independent farmers of the United States are found throughout the corn and grain districts. Corn and grain spell livestock, and an abundance of livestock spells prosperity in any region under the sun. But what is the cotton farmer throughout the thin, sandy land sections of the South to do? The cattle and hogs would grow, but the land will not profitably produce the corn.

There is a way. The problem is solved with the Spanish Peanut. The facts are proven. There is a new hope for the farmer of the Southland. The Spanish Peanut has saved the day. It is one crop that is a sure crop. It is drought resistance and pest proof. It makes profitable yields from sea level to an altitude of 6000 feet. It flourishes on an annual rainfall varying from 13 to 55 inches, and in climates as different as those of Texas and Kansas. It is one of our greatest legume plants and will enrich the soil where the roots are left in the ground. It pays well on poor land, and better on good soil, often yielding 50 to 75 bushels per acre. As a stock food no product of the soil seems to equal the feeding value of the Spanish Peanut. The department of agriculture says that Peanut Hay is second only to Alfalfa and worth $12.00 to $20.00 per ton.

When the market price justifies, Peanuts can be sold profitably for cash; when not, they can be profitably marketed through the livestock route. The Spanish Peanut, when fed vines and pods together, is one of our best feeds for horses and mules, for brood mares and colts. This kind of hay is one of the best known milk-forcing feeds for dairy cows where high yields are wanted. Beyond a doubt, the Peanut is the coming crop for the hog farmer. An acre of good peanuts will produce as much pork as three acres of average corn. No trouble about gathering the crop. Just mow the tops for hay and let the hogs gather the nuts themselves. Six dollars an acre will cover the cost of growing peanuts for hogs, and an acre of good peanuts will easily make 600 pounds of pork. Peanut fed pork is more delicious than that produced by any other feed. The Alabama Experiment Station found that it cost over 75¢ per acre to fatten hogs on corn alone; while hogs pastured on peanuts cost less than 2¢ for every lb. of gain. At the Arkansas Experiment Station a bunch of hogs gained 1252 pounds from an acre of corn produced only 436 pounds gain. At the Louisiana Experiment Station hogs gained 852 pounds to each acre of peanuts. At the Alabama Experiment station hogs gained as much from an acre of peanuts as from 57 bushels of corn.

A. D. Gaston, representing the Tom-Houston Hand Peanut Sheller, was a pleasant caller at this office this morning, calling in to demonstrate his sheller. The little machine seems to do the work very nicely, with a capacity of several bushels an hour and sells for the low price of $4.50. Mr. Gaston will return to the city and demonstrate his machine at the hardware store of Cason, Monk & Co., next Saturday.

George Meisenheimer and family have moved into their pretty new home on East Main street. This new house contains eight rooms and hall, and is quite a substantial addition to that part of the city.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

The contemplation of the advent of religion into Nacogdoches, or into Texas, which was at first the same territory, in an ordinary sense, we are reminded of the scriptural words, "Take off thy shoes, for the ground whereon thou standest is holy." Nacogdoches soil is sacred, to say the least of it, Texas was born in this county, and grew into statehood from it. The very spot can be pointed out. It is at the big springs one mile west of the old village called Douglass, which spot is on the "Old San Antonio Road," sixteen miles west of the town of Nacogdoches, and on the east side of "The River of Angelina," as it was first called. These events occurred about the year 1690, which date was five years after LaSalle, the noted French explorer landed on the Texas coast by mistake in his search for the mouth of the great Mississippi river.

And the Catholic priests were the first to explore and record these events.

A Catholic mission, which means a church with its adjunct buildings and improvements to supply the needs of the organization, was established, most probably on the very site of the main plaza in the heart of the modern city of Nacogdoches: "The missionaries left Monclova on the 27th of March, 1690, and, crossing the Rio Grande, proceeded to the country of Assinai, which they reached about the middle of May. The friendly Indians received them with joy, and the mission of San Francisco de los Tejas was established."

This was followed in 1691 by the advent of several Franciscan missionaries, of Fathers, and the establishment of other missions east of the Rio Grande. The country was called New Spain, and the Province called the New Philippines. Other missions were started in East Texas by the Spanish Fathers, designed to head off the French from Nacogdoches, La.

One of these was called, after the name of the Indian tribe, Adaa, and was located over further eastward. Another was at or near Nacogdoches 1716.

But these missions in East Texas were so far away from civilization and the population so sparse, being wholly of untutored Indians, that they did not flourish and after a few years they were all abandoned, and even their sites were lost to later settlers. A century passed without any establishment of a Catholic church at, or near Nacogdoches. Adventurers came and went, from time to time. Houses were built here, and occupied at times, and then abandoned. Churches also were temporarily used. One was at the corner now occupied by the new court house, and the little plaza was in front of it. Another was on the corner now occupied by the F. & M. State bank, almost in front of the Old Stone Fort, which was probably intended for its protection. Cemeteries were located at each.

The present Catholic church on the site where it now stands was located long after those churches and missions had passed away. It was probably begun at the time of the coming of Gil Ybarbo and his colony, in 1778, and occupied a different site.

For many years, up until about 1860, there was no other church here, except that the Episcopal church was established about the year 1840, and occupied the present site of the Sentinel office. The Baptist and Methodist churches came later.

A Baptist church was organized in 1838 at what is now known as "Old North Church." It was then called Union church, having reference to union of church house between the Primitive, or Hardshell Baptists, and the Missionary Baptists. The pastor of the former was Rev. Holloway Power. The first pastor of the Missionary Baptists was named Reed. He came from Tennessee. He held meeting on the ground in the open beneath the large post oak tree that is still shading the worshippers, for several years preceding the erection of a house of worship on the venerable spot. It is claimed that he preached the first orthodox sermon ever preached in this county in 1836. There is also a story that the first sermon by an orthodox preacher was delivered in the town of Nacogdoches in 1828, on the north side of the public square where the foundation logs for sills and sleepers of a stone house had been put in place, and these logs being used for seats, and the preacher being a wandering Cumberland Presbyterian.

The foregoing data is stated from memory of traditions. They might be verified and corrected by careful investigation of records.

The original church house at North Church was constructed of hewed logs and no sawed timbers, or factory nails or materials. The logs used were spliced in the middle. At one end of the building the pulpit was built into the splice, and at the other end the entrance door fitted into this splice. Other sides had splices in the middle of the logs, which were not pine logs, but oak, from the shady woods at hand. These woods were then most beautiful in their original nature. Near at hand was a natural spring of water.

There was then no big road or North street to town. The roads were little more than big trails running as chance laid them out, going from house to house in a tortuous course, and changing to suit purposes and changes in settlements. In going out north from town one of these roads led out by our college and went to the old Hubert place. Then it turned to the west and led to the old Watkins and Fowler places. A fork of the road took in the old Power home at Redfield. The two old Fulghum places, three miles and six miles out on our present Henderson road, and the Crain place seven miles had big roads, as did also the Talliaferro or old Strode place six miles out on the Henderson road. The modern owners of these places do not know them by these names. The Caddell place is another. Ben Scogin lives there. But these old time memories will soon be in oblivion. They refer to events that made Texas and her glory. Let us honor their history.

NACOGDOCHES CITIZENS VISITED HENDERSON

The following report of Nacogdoches citizens stopping off for a little visit with friends in Henderson, is taken from this week's issue of the Rusk County News: On last Tuesday a number of representative citizens of Nacogdoches spent a couple of hours in Henderson, enroute to Longview, where they went to inspect the potato dry kilns and to get such information as needed in establishing a like plant at Nacogdoches. The party was composed of Capt. I. L. Sturdevant, president of Stone Fort National Bank, F. H. Tucker, cashier Commercial Guaranty State Bank, D. K. Cason, president of Cason-Monk Hardware Co., John Schmidt, president Nacogdoches Grocery Co., W. U. Perkins, president Nacogdoches Cotton Oil Co., R. W. Hazlewood, of the firm of Stripling, Hazlewood, & Co., and Chas. Perkins, capitalist. Most of the visitors were former citizens of Henderson and Rusk county and the meeting with old friends and acquaintances made their stop-over pleasant and enjoyable. While here the visitors were guests of Mr. R. S. Kangerga and Mayor Harris at a luncheon at the Southwestern Hotel.

BANK ROBBER SUSPECT CAUGHT.

Constable Will Seale of Angelina county passed through the city on the north-bound H. E. & W. train this afternoon with a man whom he thinks was the bank robber that was wounded in the foot in the recent robbery at Timpson, with which readers of this paper are familiar.

The man has the appearance of being foreign-born, has a wound in the foot that fits the description of the wound carried by the man supposed to have escaped, and Mr. Seale has considerable confidence in the idea that he has the right man. The man was captured at Diabol.

As soon as an investigation is made, in the course of which the shoe that had been recovered will be tried on him, and such other tests made as will tend to an intelligent solution of his identity, Sheriff Spradley of this city will be advised.

PRIMARY LAW

Austin, Tex., March 22.—The presidential primary act of the Thirty-third legislature was today held unconstitutional and unenforceable by the state supreme court in a unanimous opinion by Chief Justice Nelson Phillips. The holding is based on the payment of the expenses of such primary elections out of the public funds.

"Tested by legal principles which are clear and established the payment of the expenses of elections of political parties is not a public purpose for which public revenues may be used; and in our opinion the act in question is therefore unconstitutional and unenforceable," reads the opinion.

"THE SHOE FITS."

The following report of the investigation of the suspect in the Timpson ank robbery is taken from yesterday's issue of the Timpson Times:

If there is anything in circumstantial evidence, one of the men implicated in the attempted ank robbery here two weeks ago, has been captured and is now in the custody of officers. He gives his name as John McQuaig, and was arrested by the constable at Diboll Tuesday. The officer says when he arrested the suspect he was walking leisurely along the railroad track, and had nothing to say when he was placed under arrest. The fellow was brought to Timpson Tuesday afternoon and underwent an examination by officers and physicians.

City Marshal Booth says there is no doubt in his mind but that he has the right man. It will be remembered that the hiding place of the robbers was found in the loft of the North Side Baptist church a few days after the robbery, and that everything indicated one of the men had been shot through the left foot. Among other stuff part of a shoe with a bullet hole through the toe part was found, also a pair of hose, with the same mark. When the suspect was brought here yesterday the piece of shoe was fitted on the foot and the hole in his foot corresponded exactly with that of the shoe and the hose. Physicians examined the foot and say positively that it was caused from a bullet, the bullet going entirely through the foot as was indicated on the shoe.

A message from Lufkin says the other part of the shoe has been located where the fellow changed when he purchased a new pair of tennis shoes. McQuaig refuses to answer questions, is insolent, and appears to be foreign-born.

Another suspect was brought in from San Augustine last night but the officers haven't as good evidence against him as the fellow captured at Diboll.

COLE YOUNGER DEAD.

Lees Summit, Mo. March 22.—Cole Younger, famous outlaw of border days, but of late years, a devout church attendant and model citizen, died at his home here last night after a lingering illness. He was 72 years old and unmarried.

Cole Younger was one of the last of the members of the notorious robber bands that infested Western Missouri during and after the Civil war. He was a member of the Quantrell band of guerrillas and with his two brothers took part with the "James Boys" in bank and train robberies in Missouri and neighboring states that netted the looters more than a hundred thousand dollars. The leading members of these bands are dead some at the hands of the law, some by suicide and others from natural causes. Younger after a long term in the penitentiary became a law-abiding Missouri citizen.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF A CITIZEN DEFINED.

More Efficient Citizenship Suggested as Remedy.

(Editor's Note.—The following is the first of a series of articles by J. S. Cullinan, Chairman of the Texas Economic League, on the Administration of Justice, to which subject the League is now addressing itself.)

By J. S. Cullinan.

The Texas Economic League in listing for discussion the subject "Administration of Justice," brings to the attention of the public a question of community, state, nation and world-wide importance. The Declaration of Principles adopted by the League sets forth that the ills which we are now suffering are due in a large measure to the incompetent application of law, the faulty administration of justice and to indifference on the part of citizens to the welfare of society, and the League is pledged to acquaint the people of Texas with the causes that have contributed toward defeating justice and promoting injustice, and to a study of the fundamental principles of modern civilization, and it is to this task that the League now addresses itself.

As a citizen, I want, in a measure, to plead guilty to the charge of indifference to the public welfare, for in common with many men in my class, I have not always performed my full duty as a citizen, but as a member of the League, I am endeavoring to atone for my sins of omission by giving such time and ability as I am able to devote to a study of public affairs. I invite others who may feel remorse of conscience, or who, for any reason, have a desire to become more efficient citizens and help others to do likewise, to join the League and become identified with an organized effort of "preparedness" for citizenship.

The Administration of Justice is the heart and soul of government. It is there that the citizen comes in contact with his government and hears an interpretation of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States, which is the citizen's contract with government for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. To those who may feel that this subject is not one of pressing importance, I want to say that no matter what Sherman said about war, in my opinion we are reaching a point where PEACE IS HELD, and I believe that most of the active and responsible members of society in this state will join me in this conclusion. When government reaches a point where to enjoy liberty one must become a tramp, and to be free one must seek the habitat of a savage, then the citizen is justified in demanding a cancellation of his contract with government.

It is my conception of our government that its mission is to increase liberty and expand freedom, and it is not only the privilege, but the duty, of the citizens to challenge any act of government that interferes with these ends. In the Constitution, the citizen has a written agreement with government for liberty, freedom and justice, and he is sole authority on what constitutes liberty, freedom and justice; our government contracts to preserve, safeguard and administer them.

I am not one of those who believe that this subject is wholly a legal question. I consider the legal profession, more than any other class, responsible for the present state of affairs, for the pathway to justice is lined with lawyers, and liberty cannot be taken from the people without the consent of the Judiciary, composed wholly of lawyers. In order that every citizen may feel perfectly within his rights in entering into this discussion, I want to quote a clause from the Declaration of Independence, giving the citizen the right to alter or abolish government: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men; deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness." And continuing the discussion of the rights of a citizen, the Declaration of Independence states: "It is their right, it is their duty to throw off such government and to provide new guards for their future security." I would neither abolish nor alter our form of government, but I would use it, for one, claim my Constitutional rights as a citizen to liberty and freedom, and to the extent of my ability I propose to defend it. It is not a better form of government we need, but better citizenship and a more efficient administration of Justice.

This nation must depend upon just men for justice, and no man associated with the Administration of Justice should fail to endow his conduct with the influences of publicity, and no lawyer can afford to dismiss an opportunity of presenting to his fellow citizens evidence of righteous stewardship of his client's welfare, or fail to challenge an occasion of winning the confidence and esteem of the people by making public and permanent records of convincing evidence of his professional honesty and integrity. The books of almost all business concerns are open to inspection of proper officials and why not let the sunshine in on the records of the legal profession? The regulation of the lawyers is suggested as "first aid" to justice and not as a complete remedy for

(Editor's Note.—The following is the second of a series of articles by J. S. Cullinan, Chairman of the Texas Economic League, on the Administration of Justice, to which subject the League is now addressing itself.)

By J. S. Cullinan.

There may be those who regard the Administration of Justice as a matter entirely in the hands of office holders, and not one that concerns a citizen and that our system of government will hold secure the liberties of the people regardless of the conduct of the citizen. To those who may feel that there is safety in indifference, and who place blind confidence in our system and our servants of government, I want to quote a paragraph from a statement recently made by Hon. Thos. R. Marshall, Vice President of the United States as follows:

"Equitable enforcement of the law can never be made to rest upon the office-holders of the land. It must rest upon the individual. It cannot be said that it is the system of government which is wrong. It is the unjust use of the system. It has not been the use, but the misuse of the powers of government which has produced this discontent in the minds of men."

In a previous article I have suggested that it was the legal profession which was making the Temple of Justice tremble, and stressed the importance of higher legal ethics as a source of relief. But the perils of "legalism" neither begin nor end with disorderly conduct on the part of unworthy members of the bar. We have become so legalized that business efficiency is largely determined by law, and property rights have become a legislative prerogative. The subordination of business honor to legal ethics has not improved the morals of industry, and it has resulted in waste, incompetency and instability. The Constitution guarantees rights to persons and property, and government was established to secure those rights, and nowhere in our Constitution is a citizen required to get from government a permit for liberty or a franchise for freedom. They are divine rights.

The citizens are the joint stockholders and owners in government, and it is for them to define the rights of persons and of property. This government is ours—yours and mine—and we have no right to turn it over to legal-counsel or to farm it out to office holders. If we are not willing to discharge our responsibilities as sovereigns, then we should change our system of government and employ a King to run the country.

A Remedy Suggested

Having engaged in these criticisms it is incumbent upon me to suggest a remedy. The business interests have, during the past quarter of a century, felt the influence of two powerful forces—Regulation and Publicity. While both these agencies have been misused, they have made good, and I do not believe there are many honest men in business who would withdraw them. Their worth having been proved, I would apply them to the legal profession as they are public servants, and have as much of a monopoly on law as our transportation systems have upon traffic.

Considering the public or semi-public nature of the duties of the legal profession, there would seem to be no further reason why its affairs should not be open to scrutiny quite as much as applies to corporate business where the National or State Governments vary properly fix or reserve the right to investigate, such corporate business.

Let the Sunshine In

The lawyer has been quite active in regulating business, and is no doubt more capable of working out the details of regulating his profession than a layman, but my first impression is that all lawyers should be required to keep permanent record of all their transactions, and report annually to some department of State the name of all clients, compensation received, from such clients, and the character of service rendered in court or out, and the place where rendered, and that the public and the press be given access to these records.

This nation must depend upon just men for justice, and no man associated with the Administration of Justice should fail to endow his conduct with the influences of publicity, and no lawyer can afford to dismiss an opportunity of presenting to his fellow citizens evidence of righteous stewardship of his client's welfare, or fail to challenge an occasion of winning the confidence and esteem of the people by making public and permanent records of convincing evidence of his professional honesty and integrity. The books of almost all business concerns are open to inspection of proper officials and why not let the sunshine in on the records of the legal profession?

The regulation of the lawyers is suggested as "first aid" to justice and not as a complete remedy for

TOO MUCH "LEGALISM"

GUILT CHEAPER THAN INNOCENCE.

Lawyers Responsible for Legal Thefts.

(Editor's Note.—The following is the third of a series of articles by J. S. Cullinan, Chairman of the Texas Economic League, on the Administration of Justice, to which subject the League is now addressing itself.)

By J. S. Cullinan.

Continuing the discussion of the Administration of Justice, let us inquire "What is Justice?" One of the greatest thinkers of antiquity is credited with saying that justice was the treatment of persons according to their deserts. James Madison said that justice was the end of government. Alexander Hamilton said that justice was a capital imperfection in government and Benjamin Franklin said that injustice was plunder. President Wilson, in discussing justice recently, said: "I do know that the United States in its judicial procedure is many decades behind every other civilized government in the world; and I say that it is an immediate and imperative call upon us to rectify that, because the speediness of justice, the inexpensiveness of justice, the ready access of justice is the greater part of justice itself." The President's conclusions are especially significant, as our government was formed for the avowed purpose of establishing justice, yet today many a citizen will voluntarily accept injustice as more speedy, inexpensive and ready of access than justice.

Honest Men Fear the Law.

If, in the course of human events, we have reached a point in government where speedy justice is more desirable than delayed justice, where the penalty of guilt is cheaper than the reward of innocence, where the certainty of wrong is preferable to the uncertainty of right, and where good citizens tremble in the Temple of Justice like children on a stormy night, then we have traveled a long way from the tradition of our forefathers. Whose government is this, that honest men need fear it? If we have reached a point in government where any good citizen must cringe and cower before the law like vassal slaves before their master, and dicker for justice as though it were a special privilege, then if we are true to the teachings of Washington and Jefferson, it is not only the right, but the duty of the citizens to abolish government.

The men who signed the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States said they were forming a government by the people and for the people. But we seem to have degenerated into a government by the lawyers and for the lawyers. This country is suffering from "legalism" far more than Germany has ever suffered from "militarism" and the more legalized we become the more inefficient we are.

We need not go to war to throw off the yoke of "legalism," that is tyrannizing the liberties and threatening the freedom of the nation. We need only to think and to act. The legal profession has given the nation some of her most profound thinkers, and when I call to mind members of the Texas bar who are the soul of honor, whose lofty characters tower above business and partisan strife and who daily make professional sacrifices to the highest ideals of citizenship, it is with effort that I can do other than glory that profession, but as a citizen under contract with my government to discharge my duty as a sovereign, I am compelled to speak the truth as I see it, in the hope of helping the better element of the legal fraternity to restore and improve the ethics of that profession.

Legal Ethics Need Reforming. I am fully in accord with the President's suggestion of reform of court procedure, but do not feel that it will correct the evils which we suffer in the administration of justice. The ethics of the legal profession, as practiced by many members of the bar, need reforming as well as court procedure, and more righteousness and patriotism in the whole fabric of society will greatly improve the administration of Justice.

Every good citizen should be proud of the age in which he lives, and glory in the achievements of the leaders of his civilization, but this generation has witnessed more stupendous legal-thefts than all previous centuries combined, and to speak the name of some of those who have plundered great commercial enterprises is to fill the heart of the American people with shame. But not in one instance has corporate property or the people been prostituted that a lawyer did not plan and approve the raid. No man has a moral right to teach another how to steal, and the teacher, not the student, must take the major share of responsibility. When a dishonest business man and a dishonest lawyer get together, two thieves have met, and they, and not the property, should suffer, and neither should all honest men and honest property be penalized for their misconduct. There can be no defense to offer for those who commit business crimes—dishonesty is never defensible, and the press of the nation is to be commended for opening wide its columns to heralding the misdeeds of such business men to the world, but the lawyers are the custodians of the legal morals and upon their shoulders must rest primary responsibility for all legal thefts.

DISTRICT COURT

From Tuesday's Daily:

In the case of Henry Bush, charged with the murder of Bud Lewis, which was on trial from Friday until yesterday, the jury returned a verdict of guilty, assessing his punishment at fifteen years in the penitentiary.

At the conclusion of the trial of this case, the case of Howard Sharp, charged with assault and attempt to murder a railroad conductor at Fitz some months ago, was called for trial and disposed of in a short while, the jury rendering a verdict of guilty and assessing his punishment at two years in the penitentiary.

The grand jury reassembled this morning, and in addition to business with which the public is not advised, have some eight or ten cases bound over from different justice courts of the county to investigate which will keep them in session several days.

From Wednesday's Daily:

The case of Cotton Rivers, charged with assault and attempt to murder Rev. Sweeney, a colored minister, went to the jury yesterday afternoon, but no verdict had been returned up to noon today.

The case of Frank White, charged with murder, went to trial this morning and will consume the remainder of the day, possibly running in tomorrow.

ANOTHER NEGRO KILLED.

From Tuesday's Daily:

The sheriff's office of this city received a message from Chireno at noon today stating that Will Watts had killed Will Berry.

The tragedy occurred just before noon, but no further particulars were learned. Both parties are negroes.

This makes two negroes that have been killed in the county this week one having been killed at Maytown Sunday afternoon, of which previous report has been made, and the grand jury now being in session will investigate both.

Will Watt, the negro who shot another negro by the name of Will Berry at Chireno yesterday, came in at a very early hour this morning and surrendered to the officers.

TO TELEPHONE PATRONS

Of the city of Nacogdoches; it has been arranged with the City Council and the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Company that a meeting will be held on April 10, 1916, at 3 o'clock p. m., at the City Hall, to pass upon the rates to be charged patrons for toll-phone service.

The rates are to remain the same as heretofore for bills for April 1st which will be month of April, and no raise is to be made on rates before May 1st, 1916, which will be after the meeting in April, when the matter will be fully gone into and determined by the City Council.

Respectfully,
GEO. H. MATTHEWS,
Mayor.

WILL SOLICIT HELP.

Mr. Chas. Perkins requests the Sentinel to say that he will start a subscription list for the benefit of the Paris sufferers, the city which was wiped out of existence by fire last night, and many thousand people left homeless.

Money left with him or with either of the banks of the city will be forwarded to the sufferers promptly, and the generosity of Nacogdoches could not be exhibited in a more worthy cause.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall, of Nacogdoches, are here this week the guests of the family of O. L. Hall—San Augustine Tribune.

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work compelled me to stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. FRANK KNOLL, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move.

Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. YOST, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up.

Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. CLEMENTINA DUBRING, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It will be confidential.

A NEW FAMILY.

Dr. R. W. Sivley, formerly of Cleveland, Texas with his family, has moved to one of Mr. Penman's cottages up North Fredonia street, and the family will receive a cordial welcome to citizenship with us.

Dr. Sivley has associated himself with Dr. Henderson in the practice of dentistry, and they have engaged and fitted up a nice suite of offices over Swift Bros. & Smith.

In noting the departure of the family from their former home to this place, the Cleveland News says:

"We regret to announce that our genial townsman Dr. W. R. Sivley has sold out and is going to move out of our midst.

"Dr. Sivley has practised his profession in Cleveland for several years and during that time has made many devoted friends who deeply regret his departure. He is thereby proficient, an expert in his line, and we say unhesitatingly that the community fortunate enough to secure Dr. Sivley and his god wife, may count themselves indeed fortunate.

"We hope for Doctor and his wife much prosperity, good health, many new friends and a happy remembrance of those they have left behind."

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Hon. Geo. F. Rainbolt, our worthy tax collector, has returned from a visit to his venerable parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Rainbolt, in the Concord community. The elder Mr. Rainbolt is one of the real pioneers of this county having lived in the Brileytown community many years before the civil war, and has been a living witness to the development of this section from a sparsely settled wilderness to its present proportions, and like the majority of these grand old men, he is the very personification of honor, chivalry and patriotism while his good wife possesses all the traits of character that go to make up the most gracious type of Souther womanhood. They are getting very old now, but in the evening of their life they are able to draw about them the friendship and esteem of a great host of admiring friends who never lose an opportunity to cheer them along with words of good cheer and friendly greeting.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

Memories of the past, and "flowers for the living." Both sentiments are laudable, and are suggested by the fact that Hon. W. A. Skillern was on the streets of the sacred old city again last Saturday. He is an octogenarian, and more. He is venerable for his great age, and he is revered for his long, manly and upright life. Moreover, he has lived in this county so many, many years, probably longer than any living person. No living person had lived at Melrose when he first lived there in 1834. His present home, seven miles south of this city, in the vicinity usually called Lanana, his postoffice now being Decoy, has been his continual home for more than a half century. When he first went there in the 60's the wild woods were full of droves of wild deer and flocks of wild turkeys. He was fond of hunting, especially of "fire hunting," which means hunting deer in the night with a big torch made by rich pine carried in a "fire pan," his gun and dog being also along. Often the hunter rode upon a horse, while the companion led the dog behind and carried the gun. Thus more game was killed than two or three families could use.

Mr. Skillern and his faithful wife raised a large family on this old homestead. But a few weeks ago, the good old mother passed away, and now the lonely, aged and discrepant old father tells his friends, tearfully and sadly, that he wants to go, too, and join his life-long and beloved helpmeet in the heavenly home of the Great Father of all. He is nearly blind, his hearing bad, and he is barely able to walk. How sad to think of it! He has fought the good fight—he has finished the work. He is ready to meet his God. "Flowers for the living." Remember the present as well as the past.

A few weeks ago the Sentinel published a story from Mr. Skillern which referred to the long ago. His aunt, Miss Elizabeth White, whose family were pioneer settlers in the northwestern part of this county, married a man named William C. Bowen, who was a man of strong character and intellect. The couple, after a few years in the fortress, moved to where Bosqueville is now, five miles above Waco. Mr. Skillern visited the Bowsens there and came within $75.00 of buying the tract of land where Waco is now located. The wife died about 1855, and Bowen married again about 1860. He had a "fuss" with the second wife's brother and killed him about the beginning of our civil war, in which he had at once enlisted and served through it. At the end of the war Bowen's disappointment was so keen that, like many others, he fled to Brazil, leaving his children and his second wife and young babe behind. Later he sent back for his wife's children and they made their permanent home in Brazil. After his death there one of his daughters, with her husband and children, took ship for Texas, but all died on the ship except a baby boy whose home is now in Texas. His name is Willie Bowen.

The widow left behind is dead, but her only daughter, Mrs. Lillie Bowen McKinstry, is living in Sherman, Texas, and she has been writing Mr. Skillern for information as to heirship of the Brazil children as well as herself and Willie Bowen. There is a large acreage of land there that Bowen owned, now very valuable. Details and proof are necessary, and litigation ahead.

Mrs. McKinstry writes that Willie Bowen is going to Brazil, and will sail from New York on the Lampport-Hold liner on March 18. She has refused to give power of attorney to lawyers. This heir will see the others and get at the bottom of the matter. He will visit his aunt, Mrs. Bettie Bowen Smith, who lives at Villa American, Brazil, and will report back.

Mrs. McKinstry is taking a very sensible course. She is very grateful to her kinsmen, Mr. W. A. Skillern, and says she would be glad to see him. He says he would be glad to have her visit him at his plain country home where he can make her comfortable, and he would meet her here in his accustomed hospitable style. And what a story she would learn, all news to her, of her ancestry! Her genealogy was a revelation when the Bowsens in Brazil set up the inquiry. And Willie Johnson may not yet know that his landing at Galveston, an unclaimed orphan, led to the founding of an orphan home there and that his grandfather Skillern was a San Jacinto hero. He did not know his Brazilian lineage and inheritance until recently. Let us hope that the Bowen heirs may come into their own, for they are not wealthy. Willie Bowen is carrying a copy of The Sentinel to Brazil. His voyage and visit will be sensational.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the "tender mother!" If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or get naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well-playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

SAN JACINTO WIDOW WITH THE DEAD

Houston Chronicle, March 20.

Mrs. Hepzibah Clemens Brill, 93 years of age, a resident of Texas for 80 years, died Sunday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Mulcahy, in Harrisburg, where she had resided for the past 10 years.

Mrs. Brill is survived by three daughters, 18 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren. She was a widow if, Solomon W. Brill, a veteran of the battle of San Jacinto. Her father was first justice of Gonzales district under the republic of Texas.

She came to Texas in 1836. At the age of 18 she married Mr. Brill and they made their home in Seguin, which has been the family residence ever since. It was there in the old homestead that General Ben McCullough, her cousin, made his headquarters while conducting his campaign against the Comanche Indians. The Indian raids had become so frequent and terrifying in that section of Texas that to General McCullough was given the task of freeing the country of the hostile raiders. Mrs. Brill whose memory was good, often recounted the scenes and experiences of those remote days to members of the family. In those early days she was personally acquainted with Gen. Sam Houston.

Mrs. Brill had been a member daughters, Mrs. J. F. Mulcahy of Harrisburg, Mrs. Laura A. Fulshair of Christoval and Mrs. Lon W. McKee of Seguin.

The remains will be shipped to Seguin tonight by the Setegast Kopf Company, accompanied by members of the family. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. J. A. Pennybacker, pastor of the Seguin Methodist Church, will conduct the services, and interment says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill.

It Always Helps

I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good."

Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Cardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

will be made by the side of her husband in the old family cemetery on the homestead estate. Mrs. Brill had been a member of the Methodist Church ever since it was established at Seguin, being one of the original founders.

CHIRENO WON LOVING CUP.

In the windup of the Inter-scholastic Meet held in this city Saturday, Chireno was found to have the greatest number of points, and was awarded the loving cup.

Throughout the exercises the Chireno contingent exhibited careful preparation, talent and the determination to win and the other schools congratulate her on the good showing she made. Prof. Adams is superintendent of this school and he may well be proud of the progress his school is making.

The Nat school made a most excellent showing, coming a close second all the way through.

Nacogdoches won the debate Saturday night. Nacogdoches and Garrison did not enter actively into the whole program, entering with a few A exhibits, and in such matters as they made entry they shared with the honors.

A SUMMER NORMAL FOR NACOGDOCHES

At a meeting of teachers of this and Shelby counties, held in this city Saturday afternoon, it was elected to have a summer normal for teachers for these and any other counties who wish to join in, in this city some time in early June, with Prof. O. J. Rushing, superintendent of Center High School, as conductor.

Application to this effect will be forwarded to the state department of education and it is believed that it will be granted.

With its new buildings and school equipment, Nacogdoches will be an ideal place for this meeting, and it will bring a number of teachers to us for a period of eight weeks, who will add much to the social and commercial life of the city.

The man chosen for conductor is a graduate of the State University with several years experience with prominent high schools, and is very popular with the teaching profession.

Miss Addie May Wheeler is in the city visiting with her sister, Mrs. Robert Wilson.

Miss Emma Finch of Lufkin is spending the week-end with her friend, Miss Willie Cason.

D. C. Mast, one of The Sentinel's good friends from Melrose, was a pleasant caller at the office this morning.

Misses Ruth Lynch and Lottie Moore came up from Lufkin yesterday afternoon for a visit with friends in the city.

Messrs. W. P. Berry, W. R. McMillan, M. V. Wyatt, W. D. Price and N. R. Miller of Lufkin were registered in the city last night.

Joe Miller and daughters of San Augustine were visitors to the city yesterday, making the trip through the country in an automobile.

Prof. A. E. Day, superintendent of Garrison High School, is among the visiting school men to the city today, coming down in a car this morning.

Tax Assessor Vondersmith, whose injury was noted in yesterday's paper, was able to come up town this morning, but will not be able to ride for several days.

Prof. Adams of Chireno and Prof. Perritte of Nat are here with their schools in the county meet, and are making a commendable show.

Prof. M. A. Shaver, principal of Garrison High School, made The Sentinel a pleasant call this morning. He spent yesterday in Lufkin refereeing some ball games, returning to this city last night.

FOR CONSTABLE.

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Mr. J. P. Grimes as a candidate for Constable of Precinct No. 3, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

Mr. Grimes is the present incumbent of the office, and so far as the Sentinel knows, has made a good officer. He is a good man, and a good citizen, well known to the voters of the precinct, and if re-elected will continue to serve his people faithfully.

AN OLD-TIME NURSE CURED

Of Catarrh of the Stomach by Peruna
MRS. SELENA TANNER,
Athens, Ohio.

This Cure Dates From October 3, 1899.

Oct. 3, 1899 —"Catarrh of the stomach. Was nearly starved. After taking Peruna I have a good appetite."
Sept. 11, 1904 —"I can assure you that I am still a friend of Peruna. My health is still good."
April 23, 1906 —"Yes, I am still a friend of Peruna. Will be as long as I live. I keep it in the house all the time."
Dec. 18, 1907 —"I recommend Peruna so often that they call me the Peruna doctor. Peruna recommends itself when once tried."
Dec. 27, 1908 —"I still tell everybody I can that Peruna is the best medicine in the world."
Aug. 15, 1909 —"Peruna saved my life years ago. I still take it when I have a cold."
Jan. 4, 1910 —"I was threatened with pneumonia. Peruna saved me."
May 17, 1912 —"I am glad to do anything I can for Peruna."
May 6, 1914 —"I have always been a nurse. Peruna has helped me in my work more than all other medicines."
Mar. 22, 1915 —"I have divided my bottle of Peruna with people many times. It always helps."

The above quotations give a vague glimpse of the correspondence we have had with Mrs. Tanner since 1899. Our files, which cover twenty-five years, include many similar correspondents.

COW HIDES WANTED.

The hide market is strong and prices are high. Until further notice we will pay 14c per pound for all weight, sound, green hides branded included. We advise you to salt the hides heavily as soon as you get it. Put the hide in a sack. Write your name, address, route and box numbers on two tags. Put one tag inside of the sack and one on the outside. Ship by express to A. Golenternek & Co., Tyler, Texas. We remit the day that the shipment is received.

At prevailing high prices for hides, it will pay for every community to organize a "Fresh Beef Club" and enjoy good, fresh meat. The hide will almost bring as much as would your surplus yearling or cow.

We also handle wool at the highest market prices. Horse hides bring from $1.50 to $3.00 each, according to the size. We furnish shipping tags on request. A. Golenternek & Co., Tyler, Texas. 3-23tf

FOR CONSTABLE.

The Sentinel is authorized to announce W. Jackson Carnley as a candidate for Constable of Precinct No. 3, subject to the action of the Democratic Primaries.

Mr. Carnley lives at Swift, where he was born and reared. He is a farmer by occupation, but has had experience in this line of work, having served as deputy sheriff nearly two years. He is a good man and a good citizen, and if elected would doubtless make his precinct a good officer.

John Dorsey of Nacogdoches spent a portion of last week with his brother, Sam Dorsey.—Alto Herald.

NEWS FROM THE

ROBBER SUSPECT

Sheriff Spradley is in receipt of a letter from Timpson stating that the shoe fits the man with the wounded foot, and that he fails to give any satisfactory excuse for the wound, saying that it was inflicted by sticking a splinter in it while working for a carnival, but does not state at what place it happened. The writer says "we undoubtedly have the right man."

Another party was caught at San Augustine and is being detained pending a thorough investigation.

BUY FERTILIZERS

BY THE ANALYSIS.

Cotton Seed Meal contains plant food: Acid Phosphate about 2 per cent, Nitrogen 6 1/2 to 7 percent, Potash about 2 per cent. We have a good stock of both Meal and 16 per cent Acid Phosphate. These mixed together make the best, cheapest fertilizers you can use for this season. We also keep for those who want them two grades Mixed Commercial Fertilizers. One is guaranteed, Acid Phosphate 10 percent, Nitrogen 1.65 percent, Potash 1 percent. The other is guaranteed, Acid Phosphate 10 percent, Nitrogen 1.65 percent, Potash none. We can furnish you anything you want in fertilizers, but ask you to figure on the plant food in what you get as well as the price you pay. If you do this, you will buy Meal and Acid Phosphate. 21-3td-1w
