REBEL MARTIN GOES FREE.

The trial of Rebel Martin, the young express messenger on the Santa Fe who was charged with embezzlement of about $14,000 some time ago, came to an abrupt end last night in the district court down at Livingston, according to telephone messages from that place.

The case was called for trial last Monday, and able counsel was retained by both the State and defense, Hon. C. W. Howth leading for Martin and District Attorney Manry for the State. It was reported that during last night's session the State's attorney addressed the court and admitted that the evidence was insufficient to justify a verdict of guilty, that it was the State's judgment that an innocent man was being prosecuted, and as a result young Martin was allowed to go free, the verdict of the jury, it is supposed, being returned along the lines instructed by the court.

Mr. Martin has many friends in East Texas who will rejoice to hear of the outcome of the trial.

It is said that testimony not available at a former trial was given at this time which implicated another party altogether with the disappearance of the money of the express company.—Lufkin News.

FROM TIMPSON TIMES.

Misses Blanche Martin and Nannie Walker returned to Nacogdoches Saturday after a visit with Mrs. V. E. Wratten.

C. W. Gray of Henderson was in Timpson Saturday and Sunday. He, with several Timpson Masons, were in attendance at some special work of the Council at Nacogdoches Saturday night.

J. R. Nichols, George T. Branch, J. C. Black and Dr. V. E. Wratten went to Nacogdoches Saturday afternoon to attend some special work of the Council of Nacogdoches Masons. Dr. Wratten carried his family with him as far as Appleby to visit his father. They returned yesterday afternoon.

Night Watchman Biggs was called to Hearne a few days ago by the serious illness of his mother, and later news is to the effect that the lady died. Friends of Mr. Biggs in the city will deeply sympathize with him in his great bereavement.

A PRETTY LETTER FROM MR. CONVERSE

Chireno, Texas, June 6, 1916. Editor Sentinel:

I wish to thank you and your people, and the people of Chireno, for the high esteem in which you express the sentiment of the people of this community in your issue of June 3rd.

It is through their most hearty co-operation and untiring assistance that this company has been enabled to accomplish the most pleasing results it has obtained, in the recent completion, not only to community in general, but to its stockholders and officers.

We take a great deal of pride in many details connected with the oil well business, and we are always pleased to show the many visitors to our properties, the oil pipes and the gas boiling out of the creek beds as it does our wells. We will cheerfully answer all questions the public may ask except as to the depth of our wells and the formations encountered in the borings. In the way of explanations of this most natural question by the general public, these are business secrets just the same as any business has. Suppose you were in the mercantile business for instance, and some one came along that was not associated with the business and asked the manager how much credit his firm had, and what amount the firm had in the bank. Of course, no one interested is going to ask these questions. Our formation shown by borings is the amount of credit we have. Our depth is our bank account, but invariably the first question asked is: "How deep is it?" The usual answer is 500 feet if it is 1500 feet, and 1500 feet if it is 500 feet. This explanation is offered, in defense, in the enjoyment of the good reputation given the driller by your recent article. And you mustn't make a liar out of him now.

Come over and see us, Mr. Editor, and tell your friends to come. There are no other secrets.

Yours for Chireno prosperity and Nacogdoches happiness,

THOS. P. CONVERSE, G. E., Driller.

BRITISH WAR LORD AND STAFF LOST

Yesterday the Sentinel carried a brief report of the sinking of the cruiser, Hampshire, and the loss of the British war lord and his staff. The associated press confirms the report, which we reproduce for the further particulars it contains:

London, June 6.—Admiral Jellicoe, commander of the British grand fleet, has reported to the admiralty that the British cruiser, Hampshire with Earl Kitchener and his staff aboard, has been lost off the west Orkneys.

Four boats were seen to leave the Hampshire, but a heavy sea was running. Only a capsized boat and some bodies have been found.

Earl Kitchener was on his way to Russia. Admiral Jellicoe reported there is little hope that there were any survivors.

Sir William Robertson, chief of the imperial staff, is in London.

Accompanying Earl Kitchener as his staff were:

Hugh James O'Beirne, former counsellor of the British embassy at Petrograd, and former minister at Sofia; O. A. Fitzgerald, Earl Kitchener's private military secretary; Brig-General Eilershaw, and Sir Frederick Donaldson.

Admiral Jellicoe's report to the admiralty follows:

"I have to report with deep regret that His Majesty's ship, Hampshire, Captain Herbert J. Savill, R. N., with Lord Kitchener and his staff on board, was sunk last night about 8 p. m. to the west of the Orkneys, either by a mine or a torpedo.

"Four boats were seen by observers on shore to leave the ship. The wind was northwest and heavy seas were running. Patrol vessels and destroyers at once proceeded to the spot and a party was sent along the coast to search, but only some bodies and a capsized boat have been found up to the present. As the whole shore has been searched from the seaward, I greatly fear that there is little hope of there being any survivors.

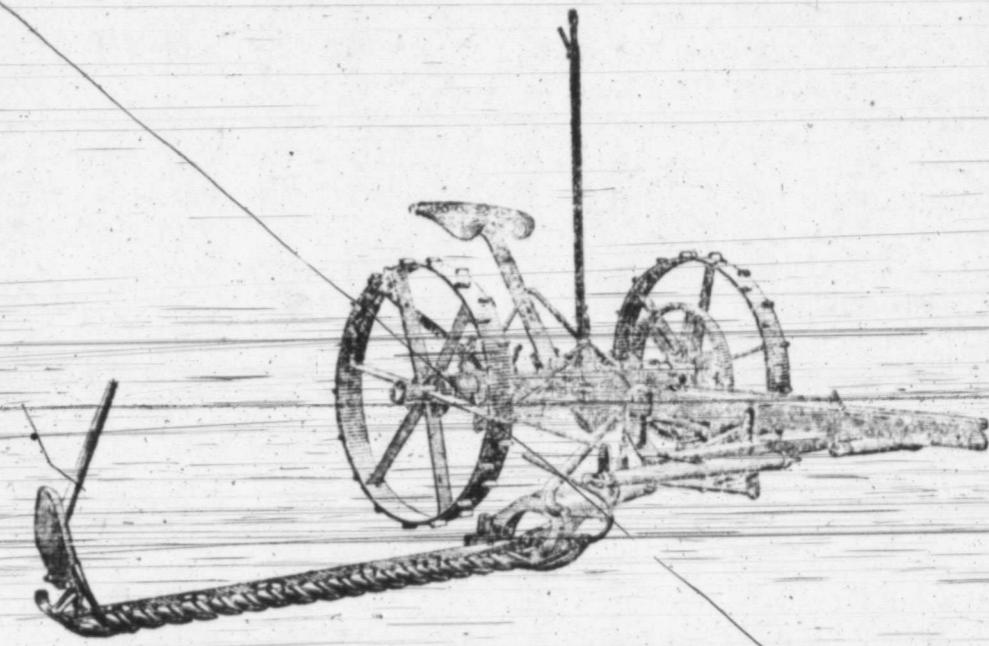

"No report yet has been received from the search party on shore.

"H. M. S. Hampshire was on her way to Russia."

The Orkney Islands, off which the Hampshire went down, are off the north coast of Scotland. The Hampshire was on her way to the Atlantic and around the northern end of the Scandinavian peninsula into the White sea. Earl Kitchener probably intended to debark at Archangel.

The Hampshire was one of the Devonshire class of six cruisers. She was built in 1903 and normally carried 655 men. She displaced 10,850 tons, was 450 feet long, 68½ feet beam and drew 25½ feet. She was armed with four 7.5-inch, six 6-inch two 1-pounders and twenty 3-pounder guns, and two torpedo tubes. She cost $4,250,000.

The Hampshire had been in use as a scout boat and for carrying officials on various missions, having ample accommodations for the latter purpose. She was too old to take a place on the fighting line. When the war started she was in the Far East and was reported to have been worsted in a fight with Ger-

THE DEERING

Known as the Long Life Light Draft Mower

To those who have used MOWERS there is no need for us to say anything—they will buy a DEERING because they are the men who know from experience.

To you who have never owned or operated a mower we want to say a few words. We want to explain the DEERING MOWER and DEERING REPAIR SERVICE to you. Come to our store and let us talk it over. It will not take long because a DEERING is so simple you just can't keep from understanding it and also seeing just why it is the best MOWER for you to own.

Come to see the DEERING and let us tell you about it. It's worth knowing about and we are glad to show the DEERING whether you buy or not.

BULLETIN, JUDICIAL REFORM IN TEXAS

The University of Texas has just issued a bulletin dealing with the much-discussed issue of judicial reform. It does not pretend to a solution, but does offer the following thoughtful articles as a contribution to the discussion: "Reforms in the Texas Judiciary," W. H. Kimbrough, Amarillo; "Procedural Reform in Texas," Rhodes S. Baker, Dallas; "Organization of the German Judiciary," Geo. C. Battle, Austin; and "A Proposed Constitutional Amendment." Since it is generally conceded that there will be presented to the next legislature a plan for the reorganization of the judiciary and the simplification of procedure, the matter contained in this bulletin will doubtless interest a large number of people in Texas. Tentative plans for this reform will be presented to the next meeting, June 12 and 13, of the University of Texas Law Association in Austin, Hon. Pat M. Neff of Waco, serving as chairman of the recommendatory committee. Members of the higher courts, whether members in the Association or not, as well as all citizens, are invited by President Kimbrough to take part in the meeting.

A free copy of the bulletin will be sent any inquirer, as long as they last.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Swift arrived home yesterday afternoon from a fortnight visit to Wichita Falls and other points, and report a pleasant visit.

JUSTICE BRANDEIS ASSUMES POSITION

Washington, June 5.—Louis D. Brandeis of Boston today took his seat as an associate justice of the supreme court, the sixty-second citizen to rise to that distinction.

The ceremonies were precisely those by which his predecessors of the last generation were elevated. Chief Justice White administered the oath of allegiance to the country. None but members of the court witnessed this part of the ceremony.

At noon, when the court marched on to the bench, the new justice took a seat beside the clerk of the court. When Mr. Brandeis' commission had been read, the clerk administered the judicial oath. Then he was escorted to his seat, on the extreme left of the bench.

The court room was crowded, and, contrary to custom, scores of people were permitted to stand in the aisles.

WILDCAT WELL TO BE DRILLED AT SHELBYVILLE

Center, Texas, May 2.—The operations on the Producers oil well to be drilled at Shelbyville are advancing rapidly. The derrick is completed and the machinery is being hauled and placed on the ground. They expect to commence drilling within the next few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lee of the Lee Variety Store, left yesterday for New Orleans where they will take boat and sail for New York. They will also visit Boston and Chicago and be away about four months, spending the dull summer months in points of interest where their friends hope they will have an enjoyable visit.

WILSON WORKING UPON DOCUMENT

Washington, June 6.—Plans for the Democratic national convention with special reference to the platform were discussed today by President Wilson with his advisors at the cabinet meeting and an informal White House meeting.

Senator Ollie James, who is to be permanent chairman of the convention, attended the conference.

The president, who is preparing a draft of the platform will not complete his work until after the Republican convention. While the main features already have been decided, the tone of the document will be influenced by the action of the Chicago convention.

Peace and prosperity will be the keynote of the platform and special reference will be made to the preparedness measures, both military and industrial, adopted and proposed by the administration. In the legislative achievements of the administration chief attention will be paid to the tariff, currency, the Alaskan railroad and the trade commission bills, and mention will be made of the pending tariff commission, Philippine, and rural credit bills.

Senator Stone, who is slated for chairman of the platform committee, is expected to confer with the president soon. Secretary Lansing will co-operate with them in the final drafting of the plank dealing with the foreign affairs of the government during the Democratic administration. Secretaries Daniels, Baker and Houston already have prepared to attend the St. Louis convention.

If there ever was a time when the whole people will rise up and demand active work on the part of the board of agriculture, it is right now. Word comes that plant disease is destroying the water melons. This is a blow at one of the country's greatest institutions, and a remedy must be found at once.—Austin American.

A country teacher writes us that when he recently tried to organize a boys' corn club in his district not a farmer would allow his son an acre of ground for the work. The boy who doesn't receive proper encouragement and appreciation from his parents will not only fail to develop character and enterprise, but will also fail to be a profitable and satisfactory worker on the farm. Short-sighted selfishness always defeats its own ends.—The Progressive Farmer.

There is possibly more nice residences being erected in Nacogdoches now than is enjoyed by any other town in East Texas. There were more built last year, and the years before, for all of which there is a reason. The people of this city take an interest in first having a beautiful home of their own, as a result of which we doubtless have more home-owners to the population than is usually found, which in turn gives us a more substantial citizenship.

General Carranza, the self-appointed president of the de facto republic of Mexico, has addressed another note to the government of the United States in which he asks for the removal of the American troops from his country. In the meantime he has placed about twenty thousand of his troops near the border, presumably to make his request more emphatic, but the condition is not worrying Uncle Sam's generals on the scene.

Elsewhere in today's paper we give space to a communication from the pen of Mr. Jno. P. Davidson, which is not in line with our thoughts on the matters he discusses, but as a matter of public concern we allow him to champion the cause of another side. We believe the city council acted wisely in opening up Main street from the congestion of automobile and vehicle blockade, but that it did not go far enough. The whole public square and all public thoroughfares should be cleared of this congestion. No town of any importance allows its public thoroughfares to be blockaded with anything. It is necessary to open these passages in the interest of traffic and public safety, and the farmers of the country are people of too much intelligence to believe that the measure was made as a discrimination against them. The proper thing to do is to provide a wagon yard for the farmers who have to remain for any length of time, and open up the back streets for the delivery of supplies. As to the postoffice matter, we think it has been put at the right place for the reason that it will be more centrally located to the town, and of easier access to all patrons. Nacogdoches is passing from the country village class, and in the process of evolution must make provisions for the new order of things, which often take away many of the old landmarks, valuable only in sentiment. We appropriate to Mr. Davidson, and others who may be of the same opinion, all sincerity, and gladly give him space for the frank expression of his views.

THRIFT.

Thrift in its national aspect tends to the elimination of the vast waste which now exists in our country; waste in resources, waste in production, waste in distribution, waste in expenditure, waste in unemployment, and just as thrift builds up the best, in the individual character, so it must build up the best in national character—but as national character must depend largely on individual thrift, it becomes our patriotic duty to be thrifty. If we love our flag and all that it stands for, in the decades that are to come we will be thrifty, for thrift is patriotism—the patient, plodding heroism that comes in the every day life of our citizens.

It was Robert Louis Stevenson who said: "Happiness consists in earning a little and spending a little less," but thrift, as we understand it in its broadest sense, must go further than the words of the poet. There must be thrift in every resource at our command. There must be thrift in health, thrift of time, thrift of energy, as well as thrift of money. President Wilson covered the ground well when he said: "If a man does not provide for all who are dependent upon him; and if he has not that vision of conditions to come, and that care for the days that have not yet dawned, which we sum up in the idea of thrift and savings; then he has not opened his eyes to any adequate conception of human life. We are in the world not to provide for ourselves alone, but for others, and that is thrift and economy, and everything which ministers to thrift and economy supply the foundations of national life."—S. W. Strauss.

RAILWAY FILES INJUNCTION.

Lufkin News.
The Houston, East & West Texas company filed an injunction Thursday in the Ninth Civil Court of Appeals, to restrain M. D. Cavanaugh of this city from collecting $7,500 which was awarded him by a jury in this county for injuries sustained on the night of the explosion which wrecked the company's depot at this place. Upon appeal to the court of appeals at Galveston, that tribunal sustained the judgment and the case was then carried on a writ of error to the supreme court, which found for the plaintiff, as did the lower court. Since action by the various courts, however, a party has been arrested who is charged with causing the explosion of the depot. As is known young Cavanaugh was an employee of the Wells Fargo Express company at the time, and at his place of business when he received his injury.

The railway company seeks to reopen the case upon the ground that it was in no way responsible for the accident to the plaintiff, and that the explosion was not the result of negligence upon its part, but was the act of a criminal over which it had no control. The injunction is sought to prevent Cavanaugh from collecting on his judgment pending the hearing of the case in the appellate court.

The young man, Frank Parsons, charged with the crime in the Shelby County jail, awaiting the trial in July.

Let it be said, once for all that it is better for both body and soul to be obliged to go hungry sometimes than to be full always; it is wholsomer to be weary frequently from hard work than to keep on a dead level of comfort, or to know weariness only from the spinning dance and the deadly pleasure; it is cleaner to be dis-ty and bathed in the blood and sweat of battle than to be so sheltered as not to know the meaning of hand-to-hand conflict with a real problem or fierce temptation; it is grander to break the break the shackles of exclusiveness and walk free in the dingy city of social uppopularity. Than to be the idol of men and women who do not count for, but rather against, the progress of the race.—Bishop Brent.

COMMUNITY INTEREST

From Lewisville comes an inquiry from a constant patron who asks why it is that the country papers so habitually "roast the farmers for buying goods from out-of-town concerns." The answer is, because the local newspapers are dedicated to local enterprises. They wish to see their communities thrive in business and the various elements of such communities grow in close bonds of friendliness and mutualized good will. This desirable condition can be brought about by personal associations in business and pleasure. The local town is usually the local market for the things the farmers sell, and in asking that their farmer friends buy their merchandise where their products is sold the country editors are logically assisting to make their respective communities better places in which to live—better for the farmers as well as for the merchants. A community of discordant elements, of narrow prejudices, of social or commercial feuds, is not a pleasant neighborhood. Of course no reasonable editor asks his readers to be loyal to their town at a real cost to themselves. When better goods for the same money may be bought away from the local store, it is but sensible to suppose that the buyer will consult his personal interest first. But even in that case he should take a broad view of the situation and reflect that in proportion as he advances the community, he advances his own prosperity. A farm in a good neighborhood is worth much more than an equally fertile farm in a sorry neighborhood; and good neighborhoods are invariably those where all the people are friendly and kind. Also our correspondent should not assume that an occasional lecture by the editor upon the subject of home patronage is a "roast," neither of the farmers nor any other single class. It is a fact unfortunate and remediable, that many farmers are dreadfully thin-skinned. Forever they are imagining slights, seeing invidious reflections where no reflections are intended. Of course that is bad. The farmer's occupation should make him the broadest and most tolerant of all classes, for his work is mostly in the wide and God-made out of doors. It should be left to the office man, the fussy sedentary, the circumscribed clerk, to be the most suspicious and petty, for the indoor men holds them between walls, compels them into grooves and reduces their contact with nature, which is man's best teacher.—"State Press," in Dallas News.

"HITCHING PLACE"
ARRANGED FOR
Mayor Matthews informs The Sentinel that the City Council has already made arrangements for two lots, close in, which are being put in good shape and will be supplied with free water for a hitching place for teams.
These lots will furnish more than twice the room that has been supplied with the use of the public square, and will be a far better arrangement, both in relieving congestion of traffic and in the interest of public safety, and we commend the City Council for its patriotism.

AN ECHO

The Nacogdoches Sentinel goes off like this:

The agricultural resources of Nacogdoches county would support a peanut oil mill, a big potato dry kiln, a wholesale produce house, a meat packery, and a canning factory, and some day we will have all these conveniences. Until that day we must suffer the burden of freight and waste on raw products, expense of middlemen, etc.

Such things for East Texas has been our dream ever since we have been old enough to dream. A fertile section where every choice farm product, including fruit and vegetables, grows in abundance, a land unequalled for variety and high quality, as well as banner yields of all the foodstuffs that makes both man and beast fat and healthy, a land where small investment combined with energy and intelligence, pays the greatest dividends, but we are short on industry and have to put in vacation talking politics and helping others cuss the country for the condition of which, good or bad, no one save ourselves is responsible. But face too much prosperity would interfere with our social affairs and fishing business, perhaps it is best to let well enough alone.—Center Optimist.

MR. DAVIDSON COMPLAINS.

Unwise, undemocratic ordinance and class legislation, that our city dads passed in favor of Main street merchants—the wealthy north-side of the public square, and thus said by their actions to the citizens on the East, West and Southsides, "You people who are poor and have but little, that little you have shall be taken away and given to them, the rich people on the North side, that they may have much." See and believe.

This ordinance, in my opinion, would stand the test of the courts of our country, and I believe the city dads made a mistake. I suggest that they make it apply to the whole square, or for a few blocks around.

The poor U. S. government was given $2000 worth of property for a site for a postoffice. There was no other lot that would suit, and thus drove the farmers off the square to hitch their stock and send their vehicles away. It looks like the merchants of Nacogdoches do not want the farmers and their families' trade. As I see it from my viewpoint it makes the farmers feel unfriendly to the whole town of Nacogdoches.

The man writing in The Sentinel about repairing and fixing the sidewalks is on the right track. In my opinion they should be fixed with dirt and gravel.

When all the vehicles and teams are moved from the public square then all the big newspapers in grand old Texas can advertise this grand old town as the vehicleless town.

Now, I did what I could in the interest of the town and farmers and their families to keep the postoffice building off the public square and to keep the court house at its old stand, yet the birth of the new nation, people born since the war between the states, think otherwise and rule.

I would like to hear from others, also the city dads.

Yours for the town,
JNO. P. DAVIDSON.

As we were about to despair of fruits in the sidewalk campaign, Judge Dial hands us this bouquet in the Cushing Enterprise, which gives us new inspiration:

"Much praise is due the Nacogdoches Sentinel for its tireless and intelligent efforts in obtaining better sidewalks in the city of Nacogdoches. Editor Gibbs has assailed the indifferent ones from under sea, from the air, from trench and masked artillery. Sometime, when that worthy cause has prevailed, and the daily rounds of the letter carriers are made, the Sentinel will come in for praise and gratitude of that excellent citizenship."

Come on, "fellows," and let this good dream come true.

LAND OWNERSHIP IN MEXICO.

In the United States the farmer is a humble person; in Mexico he is a king of millionaires. You look out across a level plain and you see a magnificent house of stone, cement and great timbers, covering, sometimes, as much as half an acre.

Surrounding it are other houses, hundreds of them, but all small, constructed of adobe, brush, or even of cane stalks.

You are not looking at a town, but at a ranch settlement. In the great houses—which cost many times more than all the little houses put together—live the hacendado and his family.

In the little houses live the peons. The typical farm of Mexico is not of 160 acres, but of a million. In the state of Morelos twenty-eight hacendados own all the agricultural lands; twelve own nine-tenths of it.

The territory of Quintana Roo, double the size of Massachusetts, is divided among eight companies. The greater portion of the state of Yucatan is held by thirty men, kings of sisal hemp.

A major fraction of the agricultural and grazing lands of Chihuahua is owned by one family. Lower California, equal in size to Alabama, is nearly all held by five great corporations.

The 1,000,000-acre farms lie mostly fallow. While naturally a rich, agricultural country Mexico does not even produce enough corn and beans, to feed her own population.

Modern machinery is needed, but modern machinery will never be used extensively so long as the peon is so cheap that primitive methods are cheaper than machine methods.—The World Outlook.

A PRETTY SENTIMENT.

No matter how rough, how ragged or how sin-stained a man may become, he was once a little child; his head nestled on the soft white bosom of a loving mother, and the holy sacrifice of pain she made when his life was ushered in cannot have been in vain.

There is always somewhere in the recesses of his heart, a spark of manhood left that can be fanned into a flame. Somewhat little miniature man all pure adn heart, recollections of dead mother still faintly linger; and the benediction of her prayers and her holy adoration for the The car loaded at Willy and pink and free from stain, has not been entirely forgotten, for it has kinship with Almighty God himself. If there were no worn and weary bodies, no souls depressed with sin and shame, this world would be complete and the story would be ended. They are all a part of the ultimate plan, and are not to be depressed; but they are needful, and we having something to spare which they have not, should let our sympathies have sway and by the exercise of a real, helpful interest, do our best to pass the mothers hope—her sweet dream as she crooned a lullaby over her dimpled darling, asleep, in her tender arms.—Selected.

OIL EXCITEMENT

HIGH AT CHIRENO

Mr. Joe Mast, a well known citizen of Chireno, was in the city this morning, and the first question put to him by every one he met was with reference to the reported oil find near his town, to which he made the general reply that it was believed that a good well, producing sixty to seventy-five barrels, had been found, and that excitement was running high.

The driller shut down the well yesterday morning, presumably to make arrangements for the care of the oil and get other leases. The people actively engaged with the well are not giving out any statements that have gained currency. Such could not be expected of them.

This well has been put down by a man named Converse who has been active in this field the past four years, and has associated with him in a financial way a lady named Mrs. Hardee. Mr. Converse was once a wealthy, prominent citizen of Houston, and by pleasant, honorable dealings with the people of that community has endeared himself to the citizenship of Chireno who speak in the highest terms of him, and all unite in the hope that he will be abundantly rewarded for the untiring work he has done to develop the Chireno field.

From Mr. Mast we learn that another oil rig was unloaded and put into operation in the Chireno field a few days ago. This new well is about a mile away. It is supposed to be promoted by a Houston oil company, and the work is in charge of a man named Thompson.

Many outside oil men are now visiting the field, and if the well in which so much interest is now centered proves a good producer, many other wells will doubtless be put down and much activity aroused in the new field. The town of Chireno will also get on the map by leaps and bounds and become a little city of no mean proportions in a very short while.

Judge R. W. Hall, now a member of the court of civil appeals of the Amarillo district, has announced as a candidate for associate justice of the supreme court of Texas. Judge Hall was reared in Rusk county, and after graduating from the law department of the State University in 1886 became a member of the Henderson bar, but in 1890 moved to Vernon, and has since been a resident of West Texas. He is well qualified for the position which he now seeks, and we would be glad to see him elected.

In addition to being an able lawyer and a good man, Judge Hall is a humorist of no mean ability, and there are thousands who will recall his famous speech at the Galveston convention when he placed John W. Robbins in nomination for State treasurer. That speech was a masterpiece and resulted in the nomination of his man over Hon. T. S. Garrison and Hon. Seth Mills, two formidable opponents.—Cherokee County Banner.

Judge Hall is the father of Mrs. (Dr.) Deal and brother to Mrs. J. J. Hayter and Dr. W. W. Hall of this city.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown. To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

ARBITRATE—LOVE MAKES PROPOSAL

Dallas, June 1.—Thomas B. Love, of Dallas, defeated candidate for democratic national committeeman from Texas, today made public a letter to Judge William Poindexter of Chisholm, successful candidate, in which Mr. Love claims the ballots were miscounted and offers to submit the controversy to an arbitration board which Judge Poindexter may assist in naming. The object of this move, he said, was to settle the dispute in advance of the St. Louis convention.

His offer to arbitrate, Mr. Love said, was in good faith, and he hoped Judge Poindexter would agree to that procedure.

MUCH OIL NEWS OVER AT CHIRENO

A report has reached this city that there is much oil excitement at Chireno just now.

A driller by the name of Converse has been drilling a well some two miles south-west from Chireno for some time, and it is reported that he has struck a good vein which would probably produce as much as seventy-five barrels per day, and if this proves true, it will insure the establishment of a great oil field at that place.

A peculiar characteristic of this field, however, is the fact that pockets of oil are often struck which soon exhaust themselves, and are very deceptive. This condition obtaining, it would be necessary to thoroughly test the find before allowing their enthusiasm to get too high. In the meantime, however, let us keep our ears to the ground, and be ready for the overflow of prosperity that would follow a good well.

JUDGE JNO. N. CONLEY

In the formal announcement in today's Sentinel of Hon. John M. Conley for election as Chief Justice of the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals for the Ninth Supreme Judicial District, there culminates an achievement which comes about only as the result of hard work and continuous and concentrated effort. No man on the bench of Texas has a more interesting career than has Judge Conley. He may be considered as really "self-made." He was born in Ross County, Ohio on Washington's birthday, 1874. His father was one of the old time locomotive engineers on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railroad, having run the Royal Blue Flyer between Cincinnati, Ohio and Parkersburg, West Virginia, for forty-five years. Recently he has been retired on a pension by the Company. Judge Conley is the oldest of six children, and after the death of his mother, he took up life's battles for himself at 15 years of age by securing employment as a telegraph operator on the same road where his father worked. Shortly after entering the service of the company he formed the purpose and laid out the plan to fit himself for a higher position in life; so at night and during his leisure hours he studied. Literature, latin, history and mathematics were taught him by private instructors, who were paid out of his meager wages. Between times he read law. Unbroken study and work constituted the next nine years of his life. Through this preparation he qualified himself to take examination for admittance to the University of Cincinnati Law School and having passed such examination he graduated from that institution in June, 1898 with the degree of Bachelor of Law and with the second highest average in a class of seventy-five. A week later he stood the bar. Ohio was one of the first states carved out of the Northwest territory, and Chillicothe, the County seat of Ross County, and his home town, was settled by people from the old Dominion of Virginia. Its resources were developed to their utmost, and as is the condition in all old centers of civilization, business of all kinds, as well as the practice of law, was centralized in the hands of a few and was handed down from generation to generation by father to son. Judge Conley was ambitious to get on—to succeed, and feeling the force and effect of this handicap, he determined to seek a new location, where there was an open field, and no favorites, and where a man was rated for his worth and merit. After studying different locations in the United States, he selected the great state of Texas as the one offering the best advantages, and therefore he moved to Beaumont in 1902. Before leaving Ohio, he was married to Miss Essie Lee May, a member of one of the old revolutionary families of Virginia, many of whose members fought in the war of 1776. Shortly after his arrival he was admitted to the bar in this state, and "hung out his shingle" in Beaumont.

With his life since nearly every Jefferson county citizen is familiar. In 1911 he was appointed by Governor Colquitt as Judge of the 60th District Court of Jefferson county and served the bench and bar in that capacity with much distinction until he was elevated to the office he now holds. When the 34th Legislature created the new Appellate Court for the Beaumont District, Governor Ferguson began looking about for a lawyer up to qualifications and requirements for Chief Justice. From some of his own personal friends, the Governor learned something about Judge Conley, and he then selected the Beaumonter to head the new tribunal. This was in June, 1915. He was 41 years old when he received the appointment and thus enjoys the distinction of being the youngest Chief Justice in Texas.

The new district originates more important litigation than any other district in the state. All of the great timbered interests of Southeast Texas lie within its confines, as do also the large oil fields, the oil refineries, the great saw mills, the vast rice industry, as well as the largest irrigation and drainage districts within the state. The law upon many of these subjects is in the making and it shall be the task of the new court to announce the principles of law affecting them.

Judge Conley in part received his early training in the law from such eminent men as Ex-President Taft and Ex-Governor Harmon of Ohio, both of whom were members of the faculty of the Cincinnati University Law Department, while he was a pupil there. He is a close student of economic questions, and a wide reader, and keeps up with the progress and developments in all lines of activity.

His usefulness has not stopped with his work on the bench. He is a leader in the industrial and civic organizations that make for the future growth and development of this section of the state. He is one of the active and leading members of the Chamber of Commerce of Beaumont, and has given his time and money gladly and willingly for the advancement of Southeast

Texas, while he also take a leading part in various other organizations having for their aim the betterment and uplift of the country. He has been connected with the Southeast Texas Fair Association since its inception and served as its President during the years of its formative period. He laid the foundation for nearly all of its departments, and has since assisted and aided in its growth and development.

Judge Conley's friends declare that one of the cardinal principles of Democracy is to "give a man a chance." The term of his office is six years, but he has only served eight months. They think that in all fairness it would not be right to call a man to the high office he occupies and then after the few months he has served to cast him out without some very good reason. His fitness is not questioned. He is making the race upon his record as a life-long Democrat and as a Judge since his elevation to the bench. In accordance with all the fair rules of the game, his friends and supporters think him entitled to be returned.

JACKSONVILLE TOMATOES.

The following report of the sale of the first tomatoes for this season in the Jacksonville country is taken from this week's issue of the Jacksonville Banner: "The first car of ripe tomatoes loaded in Texas this season was sold in Jacksonville Wednesday afternoon by the East Texas Fruit and Truck Growers Association, for $1.62 1/2 per crate. The sale was by auction there being several bidders represented by home buyers and also several bid. by wire. Brown & Peppers secured the car, and billed it to their order at St. Louis, its final destination being unknown but it will probably go to Chicago. "This car was loaded at Willis and Dodge, Texas. Several cars of green wrapped stock had been loaded previously, selling at prices ranging from 90c to $1.00. The car was loaded Tuesday and was stopped here Wednesday for inspection. "Care are now being loaded at Jacksonville and Alto, and at this writing it appears that a car will be finished here today, and the price will no doubt be around $1.50 to $1.60 per crate. It is thought that four or five cars will be finished before the week is out, and they will all no doubt bring good prices, as market conditions at this time are good. Quite a number of cars will be loaded during next week, but the movement will not be heavy until about two weeks now. "Growers are very hopeful of good prices this season, and we trust they will not be disappointed. There seems to be a good demand at present, and a number of buyers will no doubt arrive within the next few days."

Mr. R. C. Shindler of Dalhart, Texas, is in the city for a short visit.

He lived here many years previous to his removal to the West, and was a leading business man and most worthy and influential citizen, well known all over the county. Mrs. Frank Sharp and Mrs. Eugene Blount are his daughters. He is receiving a most cordial and general welcome by his old time friends.

HALTOM & GIBBS, Proprietors
G. M. HALTOM, Manager
O. M. GIBBS, Editor

The editor of the Lufkin News has been presented with a consignment of home-grown Alfalfa hay. Some people have a peculiar idea of suitable diet for an editor, but we shall watch this experiment with interest.

The republicans are very busy today trying to select a standard-bearer of the party upon whom all factions can unite—and if they fail to unite in this effort, it will be many years before the old party can overcome its embarrassment, if it ever does.

Col. R. M. Johnson of the Houston Post has announced for state senator from his district. If the newspaper men of Texas could dispose of the matter, they would elect him by acclamation, and they will unite in the hope that the people of his district will do the right thing. As newspaper man, citizen, Col. Johnson has been a great factor in the life of the democratic party in Texas, always coming to the rescue when the old party needed his services, for which he is entitled to any recognition or honor he might crave at the hands of the party.

The oil excitement at Chireno seems to be spreading, as Lufkin parties are making inquiries about the new well, wanting to know its capacity and who the promoters are. From the best information obtainable they have a well of about seventy-five barrels, with good prospects for more. Really, this oil proposition is some proposition here in East Texas as well as elsewhere, and that community which is not going after the product is laying down on the job.—Lufkin News.

Texas now has the longest electric railway line in the world. The Texas Electric railway, recently formed to take over the line of the Texas traction company between Dallas and Denison and the line of the Southern Traction company between Dallas and Corsicana and Dallas and Waco, has become the owner of 251 miles of track, about sixteen miles of which is devoted to local service in Denison, Sherman, McKinney, Waco, Waxahatchie, and Corsicana. The affairs of these properties have been largely financed and wholly conducted by men who are citizens of the towns obtaining service from them.—Beaumont Enterprise.

It is a reflection on the patriotism of the city that the National government has given us fifty-five thousand dollars for a new postoffice building and we can't have free mail delivery for the want of a few sidewalk connections. We have made every appeal we know how to make, and discussed it from every angle we could find, but so far all in vain. If the people will not rally to this important DUTY voluntarily—a duty that none will deny or dispute—it is the plain duty of the city council to force the issue, and members of that august body will hereby consider themselves "roasted" if they do not get busy. The council has given us many improvements, for which they are to be commended—but they lack one thing yet, one the most important that should have been forced with the other improvements long ago. If the progressive people believe we are right, we urge that you get petitions on the various streets for the improvement; if you fail, we must conclude that the improvement is not wanted. What will you do about it?

THE WATER SITUATION.

The best of enterprises and institutions will sometimes go wrong or get something the matter with them in spite of human skill and effort to avoid—and that is what happened to our water supply. We have enough water out at the big pond to drown East Texas which has heretofore given an abundant supply of good, pure water, but with the opening of farms above a condition has arisen which causes the water to be muddy. And in the muddy condition the water has become polluted, as the health officer has ascertained through an analysis, making it very unsafe for domestic use.

To safeguard the health of the town the superintendent has connected up with the artesian well at the ice plant and has been giving the town artesian water the past several days until some remedy can be worked out, which will doubtless be taken up at the meeting of the city council tonight.

Two plans are being discussed for remedy. One is for a filtration plant and the other is for a permanent connection with the artesian well. The Sentinel is not competent to intelligently discuss the matter, and can only report facts and conditions as they exist. It is estimated that the filtering plant would cost something in the neighborhood of ten thousand dollars; while suitable connection could be made with the artesian water for a thousand or fifteen hundred dollars. It is also reasoned that the filtering process, while it would clear the water of all mud, etc., it would harden the water and still not entirely free from disease germs. If this line of reasoning is true, it would be wise to adopt the artesian water, but the Sentinel is not able to affirm or deny.

We have confidence in the patriotism and integrity of the city council to intelligently work out the problem, and make these observations in the way of a report of a matter that is engaging much interest just now.

JUDGE RIDDLE SPOKE.

Judge Geo. W. Riddle of Dallas addressed a small crowd of voters at the court house yesterday afternoon in the interest of his candidacy for United States senator.

The speaker was introduced by Hon. Audley Harris in a few well chosen words.

In the course of his address, Judge Riddle paid tribute to the historical beauty of this community, endorsed the administration of President Wilson, and spoke lengthily in favor of a great scheme of National preparedness and a system of land banks.

In making personal reference to himself, Judge Riddle said that he was a native of Texas, born in DeWitt county fifty-four years ago, and had been a lifelong democrat.

SINGING CONVENTION.

THE TELEPHONE MATTER

The mayor made the following report to the city council in the telephone matter last night, which is self-explanatory:

Nacogdoches, Texas, June 6, 1916
Gentlemen of the Council:

Some time in March the Southwestern Telephone & Telegraph company gave notice of raise in telephone rates in the city, to take effect April 1st, which resulted in a mass meeting by the citizens, and a resolution passed by you requiring the telephone company to appear and show the reason for such contemplated raise in rates.

This meeting for this purpose was held by the council on April 25th. There was present at this meeting the officials of the telephone company, Blount & Strong, attorneys, and C. A. Hodges, city attorney, representing the patrons and the city. The matter was fully gone into with the parties, and was postponed by the council to its regular meeting in May for definite action. At this meeting letters were read from Blount & Strong and C. A. Hodges stating in effect that you were powerless to do anything under the law to prevent the raise in rates, and that a suit by the council for that purpose would be useless, and incur considerable expense that the city would have to bear. At this time I advised you that I believed I could go to Dallas, confer with the telephone officials, and get them to at least postpone the raise in rates until September 1st, which you instructed me to do. I made the trip to Dallas on May 15th, my conference with the telephone company resulting in an agreement, that no suit would be brought by the city under the resolution passed by you, and that the telephone company would make no attempt to raise the rates before November 1st, 1916, and in addition thereto pay the city sixty dollars per year, which is the amount the city is now paying the telephone company for phone service by the city.

The contemplated raise amounts to about $240,000 per month, the 7 months from April 1st to November 1st amounting to $1,680,000 saved the patrons and the $60,000 per year they pay the city for the unexpired portion of franchise, which is now eight years, amounting to $480,000 saved by the city. I hope my action in the matter will meet your approval and that same will be ratified by you. I have delivered my treasurer check for $60,000 for first year's payment as shown by my monthly report this day filed.

Respectfully,
GEO. H. MATTHEWS, Mayor.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

And there shall be wars and rumors of wars, and the end is not yet. This scriptural statement is apropos. It fits the day.

The horrors of the European war are bewildering, and the Mexican wars are only lesser in degree or extent.

These were next to us now, but old Nacogdoches has heard it before and felt it too, most terribly.

There are now no living witnesses of the Texas revolution, and few of the Mexican war of 1846, in which Texas was a leading factor—but there are yet a few survivors who have heard recitals of those eventful times from the lips of the veterans who fought with Ben Milam at San Antonio before the Alamo massacre, and with Sam Houston at San Jacinto, and Zachary Taylor at Monterey and Buena Vista.

And the day is near when there will be no living witnesses of the exciting days of the Confederacy, nay, more the day will soon come when no person can claim to have seen a Confederate veteran. These old veterans are rapidly answering the call of the Great Commander to ranks of the armies of another realm, where victory and rewards are awaiting them.

The excitement here and all over the South when the war occurred was wide spread and appalling. Activity, stir, and all kinds of fiery words and deeds prevailed. Companies were organized here and there, and soldiers were so eager to enlist that they crossed over into other counties to get into the war quicker. Frank Benton passed through this town, enlisting volunteers as he traveled, and followed by others who went to Hood's Brigade in Virginia, many of them never to return.

A bunch of daring young men left here and crossed over in Cherokee county and joined Aycock's company that went with the noted Baylor cavalry into Arizona.

Henry W. Raguet raised a large cavalry company here that went to Santa Fe, N. M. A most trying expedition in which the bloody battles of Val Verde and Glorietta were fought. Wm. Clark's company, Cundiff's company, Nobles' company, went from here, Mast's company from Melrose, Lewellin's company from Linn Flat, and so on.

Usually the day of departure of a company drew a large crowd to town to see the soldiers leave. Some form of function was usually gotten up as a send off. Flag presentations were made by popular young ladies with a patriotic speech which was responded to with great cheering and yelling by the boys, and by an inspiring speech by the captain or some gifted speaker.

Noble's company had a flag presented by Miss Kate Phillips, a favorite young lady of the town. She made a breakdown from being overwhelmed with the gravity of the scene and occasion.

The flag presentation to Raguet's company, was made by Miss Harrieh Muckleroy, a half sister to Mat Muckleroy. She was quite successful.

But the most important flag presentation was made at the old Simpson hotel, on the corner north of the present court house, by Miss Helena Rusk, the most lovely and accomplished daughter of Gen. Thos. J. Rusk, then deceased. Gen. Rusk was far from being a handsome man as may be seen from his pictures in the school books, but he was fine looking and intellectual. His sons were better looking. But his daughter was a model beauty, and she was equal to this occasion. The company was suitably lined up in front of a high porch, upon which the fair flag bearer gracefully appeared as she emerged with the beautiful banner over her. When the cheering subsided she slowly and solemnly made a short address, at the end of which she handed the precious flag to Capt. Clark. Every eye that beheld the scene was wet with tears. Capt. Clark was himself overcome with his feelings. He was of a temperament that stirred to the pinnacle. At first he seemed to hesitate, but after a moment of eloquent silence, he broke forth a flow of eloquent words of fire and inspiration. Such applause and such a show of responsive feelings from every one present as then occurred can not be described.

The memory of this divine young woman was never forgotten, and her inspiring patriotic fervor was an influence for deeds of valor by the heroes who were favored with her patriotic words of inspiration. She had the blood of her father, and the love of his admiring people. Honored be the name of Rusk, and sacred be the memory of the angelic daughter, Helena Rusk.

INJUNCTION GRANTED.

The injunction was granted Saturday in the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals at Beaumont prayed for by the H. E. & W. T. railway company to restrain M. D. Cavanaugh from collecting the sum of $7,500 awarded the plaintiff by an Angelina County jury, for injuries sustained at the time of the explosion of the depot in this city some time ago. This stops for the time being, at least, execution of the judgment which was set for tomorrow. The appeal bond furnished by the railway company was in sum of $19,000.—Lufkin News.

SPEAKER COMING.

The Sentinel is requested to give notice that Judge Wm. Pierson will speak at the court house next Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the interest of the candidacy of Mr. Morris for governor.

Judge Pierson is reputed to be a talented, interesting speaker who will interest those who hear him, and the general public is invited to come out.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following licenses to wed have been issued since last report:

John Arrington to Miss Grady Moore.

In the examining trial held before Esq. Frank Huston in this city Saturday, the participants in the recent shooting scrape at Alazan were released on bond in the amount of $3500 for Jim Castleberry, and $500 for Dock Durham.

Special bargains in Millinery and Dress goods at S. Mintz Preparedness Sale, which begins the 10th.

Is There An Opportunity?

There is an opportunity for young men who learn the cotton business. In the South, there is raised from twelve to fourteen million bales of cotton annually. Every bale has to be classed from one to four times, seldom by the same man twice. Until the last two years there has been no training schools along this line, consequently, the supply of men for this work is necessarily limited. The facts are we lose thousands of dollars each year for lack of trained men. Again, there are being erected in this country every warehouse requires from two to three men to grade cotton. The young man trained scientifically is certainly more desirable than the one who has learned by guess.

It is an undeniable fact, every young man of the South Land should know the classification, preservation and handling of cotton. It is our leading product and always will be. The world's production is about sixteen million bales annually. Texas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Georgia supply 85 percent of the total. More money is lost each year by the farmer on the marketing of this product than all other crops combined. The man raising it knows nothing about marketing it, and is therefore at the mercy of the man doing the buying. Some buyers will grade your cotton Strict Low Middling, and pay you accordingly, when in reality, the cotton offered for sale is middling, and you are entitled to the difference in price, which is no small amount. Can you see the necessity of knowing how to grade your own cotton? In four weeks' time, we can prepare you to save in one year more than double the cost of your learning, which is only $25.00.

The question has been asked: "How do you teach Cotton Classing so successfully?" This has but one answer, but one meaning. We believe the time has come when the South Land needs to know more about her leading product; when the farmer should know more about marketing the crop which he labors so earnestly to produce and which means meat, bread, and clothing to his family. To this end we have equipped our department that efficient teaching may be done. Our teachers understand classing, buying and selling from a practical standpoint, and are expert in the training of students. Our head teacher of this department is constantly in touch with the Agricultural Department at Washington, which lends much to his strength. We have a cotton exchange board, with telegraph instruments attached, giving Liverpool, New York and New Orleans markets. We purchase samples in quantities of three to four thousand, in addition to Government types. For full particulars, fill in and mail coupon.

CHINESE RULER DEAD.

Pekin, June 6.—Yuan Shia Kai, president of the Chinese republic, died today. Premier Tuan Chi-Jui immediately advised Li Yuan Hung, the vice president, of his succession to the presidency.

Yuan Shi Kai had been ill for several days with stomach trouble, which was followed by a nervous breakdown.

Quiet prevails today in the capital. The death of the president apparently solves the heated political crisis.

Li Yuan Hung's succession to the presidency meets the demands of the leaders in the southern provinces.

THE EASTERN STAR INSTALLED OFFICERS

From Wednesday's Daily.

One of the most brilliant events of the season was had by the Eastern Star last night when the new officers were installed and the members entertained visitors from the Masonic lodge with their wives.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Bro. Cunningham and the opening ode.

After the preliminary exercises of the opening were disposed of the address of welcome by the worthy matron, Mrs. I. R. Futch, who charmed those who listened to her with her eloquence and the splendid review of the beauties of the order, making all feel welcome and proud of the noble order with which they were associated on this occasion. Mrs. Futch also served as installing officer, and the splendid manner in which she handled this work won for her much admiration.

Other spicy and interesting features were recitations by Miss Anita Houston who talked about "Associate Matron's Blunder," Miss Augusta Burrows, who told about a man who was "Called," and Miss Valerie Weaver, who told about "When Pa and Ma Joined the Eastern Star." These recitations were all well delivered full of spice, and provoked much mirth and applause.

Following these features a bountiful supply of refreshments in the way of cream and cake was served, following which the retiring worthy matron, Mrs. Futch, was presented with a beautiful cut-glass bowl by the members of the Star as a token of esteem for the splendid administration she had given to them as the executive head of the order. The presentation speech was made by Rev. Atwell of the Christ church, and was beautiful talk, rich with the eloquence characteristic of the gentleman.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

From Wednesday's Daily.

The City Council had a prolonged meeting last night which kept the members in session until after midnight, and still didn't finish.

Most of the time was taken up with routine work, but a number of matters were discussed.

Among the items of new business it was elected that the council would purchase a new street sweeper which it is said will facilitate this work as well as be more economical.

The water proposition was postponed until after the visit of the chemist, who is due to be here today. Another meeting will be had after this gentleman's visit to take such action on the matter as may be deemed wise.

The mayor presented a communication to the council in the telephone matter, which will be found elsewhere in today's paper.

ESCAPED CONVICT CAUGHT SATURDAY

At an early hour last Saturday morning Deputy Sheriff Vaught Garrison caught Belton May, an escaped convict from the road gang in this county.

The capture was made in Louisiana, and Mr. Vaught brought the prisoner in and turned him over to Superintendent McMillan. May made his escape from the gang about eighteen months ago, since which time the officers have been on the alert for any clue that would lead to his recovery. Mr. Vaught got the clue—and also the man.

SYMPHONY CLUB MEETING

The Symphony Club in sending Mr. Josef Wynn at their Open Session Thursday evening gave great pleasure to a large number of friends.

The weather was ideal and Mr. Wynn again won his audience with his artistic and brilliant playing. The Symphony Club was indeed fortunate in securing this talented young artist again, this being his second visit to our city. The year of musical development and finish in Mr. Wynn's playing was noted with keen interest, as our competent musicians have predicted for him an enviable career in the music world.

The program for the evening was one of exceptional beauty, the beloved Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" being the opening number. It was difficult to discriminate in selecting the favorite number on the program as every one was so attractive and so delightfully given. Mr. Wynn was perhaps at his very best in the Chopin polonaise which he did Etude Op. 25 No. 13. Polonaise A. b May, Chopin; Air et Variet, Paderewski; Caprice Español, Moszowski; Wedding March, Wagnu-Liszt. Several beautiful encores were given and the guests were enthusiastic in their appreciation, both of Mr. Wynn's remarkable gift and the compliment received through the hospitality of the Symphony Club.

At the close of the musical program a refreshing iced fruit drink was served and a joyful social hour spent.

Mr. Wynn speaks in loving appreciation of Harold von Mickwitz under whose masterful teaching he is winning such musical success, and also wishes it known that he is pleased with Nacogdoches musically, socially and otherwise, and hopes he may continue to find it possible to visit our historic city.

CUSHING LOCALS.

From the Enterprise. Joe Johnson, who has been attending school at Nacogdoches, returned the first of the week.

Miss Alice Banks returned Wednesday from Nacogdoches, where she has been during the past week.

Orton and Paul Davis returned Tuesday from Nacogdoches. Orton has been in Nacogdoches attending school for the past several months.

DR. WAITE MUST DIE.

New York, June 1.—Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, whose sensational murder trial was recently concluded, has been sentenced to die by electrocution during the week beginning on July 10th.

The defendant accepts the sentence as a just one.

DIED YESTERDAY.

From Friday's Daily. Mr. M. S. Robertson died in this city yesterday afternoon, and his remains are being carried to Appleby for interment this afternoon.

Mr. Robertson was brought here for an operation, but his condition was too serious for surgery or medical skill to relieve. He is survived by his widow, parents and three brothers.

Mr. Robertson is the third grown son of his parents to die within the last few years, and the old people have the sympathy of many friends in their great bereavement.

Another fine rain is falling over East Texas, which came at exactly the right time, and falling in the right manner, and will be worth many thousands of dollars to the growing crops. Great is old East Texas where the seasons and rains never fail.

THE NORMAL.

The faculty and students of the Summer Normal have settled down to the routine work of the summer now. Classes begin each morning at 8:00 o'clock and continue until 5:00 in the afternoon with intermission in the forenoon for chapel and from 12:15 for the noon hour.

The students are enthusiastic over their work, and new ones are coming in daily.

Among the entries yesterday morning were Misses Harris, Murphey and Nelson of Nacogdoches, all of whom are additions to the first grade classes.

Mr. Lee O. Martin, one of the leading teachers of Shelby county, entered the first grade class this morning. Mr. Martin has been in the profession for a number of years and attributes his success to investigation and reading done during the vacation and at summer normals, as much as to any other one thing.

Mrs. L. E. Tindall came yesterday to join Mr. Tindall, who is a member of the normal faculty. They have rented the Gus Simpson home for the summer, where they will be domiciled after today.

Vocal music in chapel this morning was led by Mr. Clyde Wagstaff of Tenahr.

Principal E. J. Tindall of the Tenaha High School sends a message to the effect that he will join the permanent grade in a few days.

Chapel yesterday morning was a more than usually interesting period. The feature of the exercises was several Victrola numbers, for which the Normal is indebted to Superintendent Davis. Mr. Davis made a few introductory remarks to the point that public schools in Texas are now spreading out and coming to realize that music among other things should become an important feature of the curriculum.

We extend Superintendent Davis a standing invitation to repeat his performance.

Mr. H. H. Hall was a pleasant visitor at Chapel.

WODEN

As I never see any news from our little town, I thought I would write a few lines. We are having some fine weather now. The farmers are all busy with their crops. Most of them are gone chopping cotton. We have a fine prospect for a good crop this year.

The young people enjoyed a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McKinney Saturday night.

Miss George Carnes of Nacogdoches spent the week-end with Miss Effie Nichols.

Misses Mae Morton and Polena King made a business visit to Nacogdoches the first part of the week.

Ed. King, Sam Butler, George Carnes, Mae Morton and Effie May Nichols visited Miss Velda and Ada Butler Wednesday night.

Mr. A. T. Smith of Melrose was a business visitor in our little town Thursday.

J. P. Mangran passed through Woden Tuesday.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gill Chism, who has been so seriously ill is better at this writing.

Mr. E. W. Matthews, candidate for Superintendent, was in Woden, shaking hands with the voters this week.

There has been several oil men out here this week.

Mr. Frank Sublett, cashier of the Stone Fort National Bank, was out here Monday looking over the oil field. Come again Frank for I am sure there is plenty of oil here if you will go after it.

Best wishes to the Sentinel and its many readers.

ENJOYABLE MUSICALS.

The beautiful music room of Mrs. Lindsey, which we all know and appreciate so well, was the scene of one of the most enjoyable musical programs we have had in many years, Saturday morning at 10:30, when Mr. Josef Wynn, artist pupil of Harold von Mickwitz, favored us with several of his spiciest and most brilliant selections. His two opening numbers were the "Pierrette," by Chaminale, and "Espair," by Maskowski, both of which were heartily received and thoroughly appreciated. Mr. Wynn next played a group of Chopin studies, and everybody loves Chopin. This group consisted of the Harp etudes, Black-key etude, and lastly the Polonaise in B flat major. The latter was rendered so extremely well that the audience was quite unmerciful in applause, and Mr. Wynn was practically forced to return. His encore was the butterfly etude, which he played most charmingly and at quite an amazing tempo. After these he played the Rubinstein staccato etude and the Moszowski concert etude most wonderfully, followed by the Leschetizy-octave-intermezzo as an encore. Lastly, and by request, Mr. Wynn rendered the Hungarian march by Kowalski. The audience showed its appreciation of this in much applause, and was favored with Liszt's Liebstrawn, together with another enticing number.

These concluded an altogether charming program, and all who were present enjoyed a few minutes in pleasant conversation with Mr. Wynn before leaving such a restful atmosphere.

See circular for bargain prices—everything marked down in plain figures at S. Mintz.

W. B. Turner, a well known citizen of Swift, was in town today looking after some business interests. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Bobbitt of Nacogdoches are visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. Lambright.—Tyler Courier-Times.

Dain Mowers and Hay Rakes

Did you ever see one? If you have not, then you should by all means look one over if you are interested in hay machinery.

DAIN MOWERS are very high clutched, consequently run very fast and do not choke.

DAIN MOWERS have thirty-three clutches and the cycle begins cutting the moment your team make the first step. In this way it eliminates the constant back up to start.

DAIN MOWERS have the driving gears all very close together and in front of the axles or front, and are so constructed that the heavier the cutting the closer they mesh together.

DAIN MOWERS are built so that the heavier your cutting the closer the main-drive wheels cling to the ground, and never buckle and leave the ground, causing your machine to choke.

Now, all we ask of you is a chance to show you this machine. Come in at your earliest convenience and look it over.

Yours to please

AFTER THREE YEARS.

Nacogdoches Testimony Remains Unshaken.

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Nacogdoches story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

F. Peterson, truck farmer, S. Fredonia St., Nacogdoches, says: "I suffered severely from my kidney trouble for all of a year and nothing seemed to do me the least bit of good. Often the pain in my back was terrible and sharp twinges in my loins cramped me up to that I could scarcely move. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage, contained sediment like brick-dust and disturbed my rest at night. I used Doan's Kidney Pills for several weeks and was cured." (Statement given December 13, 1911).

A Later Endorsement.

On May 19th, 1915, Mr. Peterson said: "The benefit Doan's Kidney Pills gave me has been permanent." Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Peterson has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. M. V. Baugh, the old confederate veteran now 76 years old, and who has spent his entire life on the same old home premises, six miles west of town, was on the streets today. A good anecdote is told on him, like this: A socialist agitator asked him why he is a democrat. Uncle Mike, as he is called, replied that his ancestors were democrats all the way back, and so he inherited it. The Socialist retorted thusly: "If your ancestors had been donkeys, would you be a donkey?" To which Baugh answered, "No, I would have been a democrat."

THE NEWEST REMEDY FOR Backache, Rheumatism and Dropsy.

KIDNEY, BLADDER and URIC ACID troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and joints, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. Write Dr. Pierce at once. Send 10c. for large trial pkg., "Anuric." During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and even from some vegetables. The poor kidneys get tired and backache begins. This is a good time to take "Anuric," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for kidney trouble and backache. 50c. at druggists.

HOTEL AT CENTER IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Center, Texas, June 4.—The Polley hotel was destroyed by fire yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. The fire was not discovered until the flames had completely enveloped the building and as it was a frame building there was no chance to extinguish the fire. A number of guests barely escaped in their night clothes, while a few had time to dress, but all guests lost their personal effects. There was practically nothing saved. The piano and a few trunks were removed to the street, but the heat forced the people to leave them and they were destroyed in the street.

The Polley hotel has been the leading hotel in Center for the past twenty-five years and was well known to the traveling public.

The hotel was owned by O. H. Polley and was operated by Mr. and Mrs. L. Beatty.

The lively stable next to the hotel was saved by heroic fighting, but the feed store of J. E. Carraker was destroyed, which was one-half block from the fire. The origin of the fire is unknown, as there had been no fire in the hotel since the supper hour.

VETERAN ENGINEER KILLED BY AUTO

Lee Langston, engineer on the Houston, East and West Texas railroad for the past 30 years, died at the Southern Pacific hospital shortly after noon Thursday from injuries received when struck by an automobile at Houston and Washington avenues shortly before 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

The auto, driven by J. F. Moore, was going west on Washington avenue to the Regal garage, where the driver is employed as mechanical superintendent.

According to Mr. Moore's statement to George Andrew of the district attorney's office, he was going at a very slow speed and in approaching Houston avenue turned the car slightly to the right to avoid a passing wagon when he suddenly noticed a man come up against the auto. The impact, he said, caused the man to fall backward to the pavement.

HELP FOR WORKING WOMEN

Some Have to Keep on Until They Almost Drop. How Mrs. Conley Got Help.

Here is a letter from a woman who had to work, but was too weak and suffered too much to continue. How she regained health:

Frankfort, Ky.—"I suffered so much with female weakness that I could not do my own work, had to hire it done. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I tried it. I took three bottles and I found it to be all you claim. Now I feel as well as ever I did and am able to do all my own work again. I recommend it to any woman suffering from female weakness. You may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. JAMES CONLEY, 516 St. Clair St., Frankfort, Ky.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are prepared from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable and invigorator of the female organism.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it will be confidential.

SAPPS WILL TRY TO OBTAIN BAIL

Their Attorney, Hon. C. W. Howth, to Make Effort to Secure Bail.

The following concerning two prisoners confined in the Lufkin jail is taken from the Beaumont Enterprise, and will be read with interest:

"C. W. Howth, leading counsel for the Sapp brothers, who were recently convicted at Lufkin for the killing of Richard Watts, announced last night, that he would make another attempt to get his clients out on bond pending the action of the court of criminal appeals on the case. The appeal has not yet been made.

"Louis Sapp has only one other charge to face, that of killing Frank Harvard, whose body was found in the Big Thicket in Hardin County near the Watts body. His sentence in the Watts case was twenty years. In the Harvard case, Judge Llewellyn, who was sitting on the bench of the Ninth District Court for Judge L. B. Hightower, Louis was on May 21, 1915, granted bond in the sum of $1,000. Inasmuch as he had been denied bond in the Watts case, this bond was of no good to him. In this case E. E. Sapp, the older brother, was granted bond in the sum of $7,500. He had also been previously held without bond in the Watts case.

"Before E. E. Sapp could get out on bond he would have to go through a habeas corpus trial in Liberty County, for in that county he is charged with conspiracy to murder his wife, Mrs. Ellen Sapp, who was shot in a hunting camp near Romayor on November 7, 1915, by Dick Watts, who said his gun was discharged accidentally."

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU DEEPLY SICK

Stop using dangerous drug before it salivates you! It's horrible!

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

NACOGDOCHES TRAIL

The history of old land titles of Nacogdoches and this vicinity or territory is often interesting. There was an early period in which the town had been a mere camping place, or temporary abode of adventurous rovers from about 1690 to 1790, and when there was no regular ownership of real estate here and no legal documentary title to the lands.

The beginning of paper land titles here was after the town was entered and occupied by Gil Ybarbo and his small band of colonists in 1778. He said he found about twenty empty houses here, one of which would answer the purpose of a chapel—that he could fortify the place, that it was suitable for homes, for crops and for range, and for hunting, farming and so on. Nobody owned the houses or the land. His colonists became settled and petitioned the Spanish government for grants of land, just anywhere and any place, or size that they preferred.

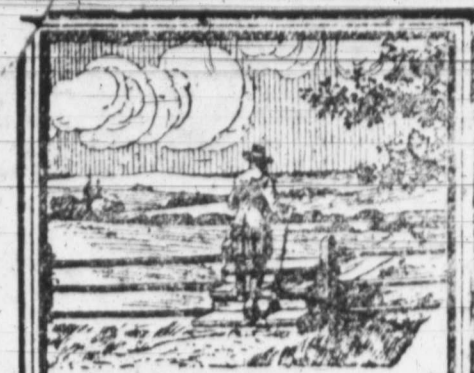

A noteworthy instance is that of a large Spanish grant of land lying about ten miles south of the town of Nacogdoches on both sides of the Angelina river, at what is now known as Spradley's ferry, or crossing. In 1790 this point was known as Don Joaquin crossing. Later on it was called Procella crossing, then Goodwin's ferry, and also called Owen's ferry.

A. J. Spradley purchased the ferry, and also his present ranch there, and now there is a public bridge there, for general use. This is on the old Michelli road which leads from Nacogdoches to Lufkin, and is the half-way point. It is understood that the original land owner, Vicenti Michelli, had his home on the high ground on the left or east bank of the Angelina river, and that this has always been the home of the old time owners of the ranch and ferry. Vicenti Michelli may have been a Louisiana Frenchman or Spaniard. He married the daughter of Pedro De Lara, who also resided in that vicinity. On the other, or west side of the river, some ten miles above this point there lived a tribe or band of Indians, headed by a chief called Left Hand, who claimed and occupied a vast acreage of wild land on both sides of the Angelina river, extending northward into Cherokee county about where the town of Wells now is, and covering the space on the east side of the river from the mouth of the Lanana creek a mile below the present crossing of the H. E. & W. T. railroad where the station called Angelina is, and extending northward until it joined the Bermea grant, miles away and miles across.

Pedro de Lara bought out the claim of Left Hand, paying the Indian "chips and whetstones," meaning trinkets and trifles. The list of articles comprising this valuable consideration, or price paid for this broad acreage included one rifle gun, 40 loads of ammunition, being molded bullets, powder and patching, 40 yards being one bolt of red calico, one hand of braid, or thread, one lot of beads, one dozen fish hooks, two plugs of tobacco. For all the valuables Mr. Left Hand left the land to el Senor Don Pedro De Lara, who took it over and lived on it with his neighbor son-in-law, Vicenti Michelli.

The rifle given was of flint and steel lock, a muzzle loader. It was loaded with one bullet enveloped in patching, being pressed down by a wooden ramrod upon a charge of loose gun powder, and then the powder pan of the lock was primed by some more loose powder. The gun was fired or touched off by a spark of fire produced by the gun flint which struck a steel facet as the hammer fell. From this kind of a gun, the only kind then known, arose the saying, "speaking of gun flints reminds me of shooting," and "a gun is dangerous without lock, stock or barrel." "You can be whipped to a frazzle with the ramrod," and "cocked and primed, ready to shoot." "Smell the patching," and "pull the trigger." Also "trust in God but keep your powder dry."

gun flint which struck a steel facet as the hammer fell.

The original road from Nacogdoches to Procella crossing runs now almost on the same line it did then. The old graveyard on this road about a mile this side of the river was begun in that day, and was the only habitation between the ferry and town, through the lonely ten miles in the soothing pine woods, where wild turkeys and deer were free and abundant, in large droves. Alas, those days are gone.

The News starts this week to Dr. R. L. Kurth, Philadelphia, Pa., in care of the Blockley Hospital. Dr. Kurth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kurth of Keltys, and has recently finished at the State Medical College at Galveston. What will be glad news to his many friends here, is that he won the highest honor in that institution, which accounts for his now being associated with the above-named hospital, which is one of the greatest of its kind in the United States, providing the wide experience in the medical profession which is of so much worth to the young practitioner starting out upon his chosen life's work. Another most agreeable circumstance which will be mentioned, is the fact that Dr. Kurth's room-mate and fellow-student at Galveston captured the second highest honor, and he too now holds an internship in Blockley Hospital in Philadelphia.—Lufkin News.

BRITISH AND GERMANS HAVE BIG SEA FIGHT

Most Important Naval Action of Entire War Pulled off on High Seas this Week.

German Account.

Berlin, June 2 (by Wireless to Sayville). The German admiralty announced today that the German high seas fleet on May 31 had encountered a British fighting fleet. The engagement which developed, the admiralty says, was favorable to the Germans. The battle continued all night.

The German admiralty announced that the large British battleship Warspite, the battle cruisers Queen Mary and Indefatigable and two armored cruisers were destroyed.

It is also reported that a small British cruiser, a number of torpedo-boat destroyers and torpedo boats were sunk.

The German admiralty statement adds that, by observation, it was established that a large number of British battleships suffered damage from the fire of the German big ships and the attacks of the torpedo-boat fleet.

The admiralty statement also declares that the British battleship Marlborough was hit by a torpedo, this being confirmed by the prisoners rescued. Several of the German ships rescued parts of the crews of the British ships which were sunk, they including, it is said, two men from the Indefatigable, the only survivors of the ship.

On the German side, the small cruiser Wiesbaden was sunk by gunfire and the Pommern was sent to the bottom by a torpedo. The fate of the Frauenlob is not known, and some torpedo boats did not return. The German high seas fleet, the statement adds, returned to port June 1.

British Account

London, June 2—The British admiralty announced today that a battle had occurred in the North Sea between the British and German fleets, in the course of which a number of German warships were sunk.

The British battle cruisers Queen Mary and Indefatigable, and the battleship Invincible were sunk.

The cruisers Defence and Black Prince also were sunk and the cruiser Warrior was disabled. The German losses are described as serious.

The announcement says two German battle cruisers were sunk and two German light cruisers were disabled and probably sunk.

The British destroyers Tipperary, Furber, Fortune, Sparrowhawk and Ardent were lost and six others have not yet been accounted for. The admiralty announcement says no British battleships or light cruisers were sunk.

The Warspite is a new battleship of 27,500 tons, armed with eight 15-inch and twelve 6-inch guns, and carrying about 1,000 men; the Queen Mary is a battle cruiser of 27,000 tons, armed with eight 13.5 inch, sixteen 4-inch and nine smaller guns, carrying 1,000 men in her crew; the Indefatigable is a battle cruiser of eight 12-inch, sixteen 4-inch and nine smaller guns, her crew was 790 men.

The Defence is an armored cruiser of 14,600 tons, armed with four 9.2-inch, ten 7.5-inch, sixteen 12-pounders, and five smaller guns; her complement is 850 men. The Black Prince is an armored cruiser of 13,550 tons, with six 9.2-inch, ten 6-inch and two smaller guns; her complement is 704 men. The Warrior is an armored cruiser of 13,550 tons, with six 9.2-inch, four 7-inch and twenty-six smaller guns; her complement is 704

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for la grippe, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without in my home." For constipation, indigestion, headache, dizziness, malaria, chills and fever, biliousness, and all similar ailments, Thedford's Black-Draught has proved itself a safe, reliable, gentle and valuable remedy.

If you suffer from any of these complaints, try Black-Draught. It is a medicine of known merit. Seventy-five years of splendid success proves its value. Good for young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25 cents.

MUSICAL RECITAL.

Miss Sallie T. Summers had a musical recital of her pupils at the home of her parents Saturday afternoon, at 4:00 o'clock, which proved quite an enjoyable event.

The well arranged program was carried out nicely, each one rendering her part well, exhibiting talent and careful training.

The parents and several friends of the pupils were present, and greatly enjoyed the occasion. At the conclusion of the program refreshments in the way of ice cream and cake were served.

Messrs. Lance Harris and Arch Locke are getting everything in readiness for the opening up of a tailor shop in the building formerly occupied by the Sanitary Market.

Mr. J. J. Greve, local superintendent of the Sunset Central system, in conversation with the reporter this morning said that business over his line is not up to the standard of what it has heretofore been at this time of year which he attributes to the fact that the people are raising more feedstuff at home and are thereby cutting out the middleman and freight hauls. While this condition is temporarily embarrassing to the road, he will not complain if it is made perpetual insofar as this particular kind of freight is concerned.
