Are the Packers Profiteers?

Plain Facts About the Meat Business

The Federal Trade Commission in its recent report on war profits, stated that the five large meat packers have been profiteering and that they have a monopoly of the market.

These conclusions, if fair and just, are matters of serious concern no only to those engaged in the meat packing business but to every other citizen of our country.

The figures given on profits are misleading and the statement that the packers have a monopoly is unsupported by the facts.

The packers mentioned in the report stand ready to prove their profits reasonable and necessary.

The meat business is one of the largest American industries. Any citizen who would familiarize himself with its details must be prepared for large totals.

The report states that the aggregate profits of four large packers were $140,000,000 for the three war years.

This sum is compared with $19,000,000 as the average annual profit for the three years before the war, making it appear that the war profit was $121,000,000 greater than the pre-war profit-

This compares a three-year profit with a one-year pofit-a manifestly unfair method of comparison. It is not only misleading, but the Federal Trade Commission apparently has made a mistake in the figures

The aggregate three-year profit of $140,000,000 was earned on sales of over four and a half billion dollars. It means about three cents on each dollar of sales -or a mere fraction of a cent per pound of product. Packers' profits are a negligible factor in prices of live stock and meats. No other large business is conducted upon such small margins of profit.

Furthermore—and this is very important—only a small portion of this profit has been paid in dividends. The balance has been put back into the business. It had to be, as you realize when you consider the problems the packers have had to solve-and solve quickly-during these war years.

To conduct this business in war times, with higher costs and the necessity of paying two or three times the former prices for live stock, has required the use of two or three times the ordinary amount of working capital. The additional profit makes only a fair return on this, and as has been stated, the larger portion of the profits earned has been used to finance huge stocks of goods and t oprovide additions and improvements made necessary by the enormous demands of our army and navy and the Allies.

If you are a business man you will appreciate the significance of these facts. If you are unacquanited with business talk this matter over with some business acquaintance-with your banker, say-and ask him to compare profits of the packing industry with those of any oth er large industry at the present time.

No evidence is offered by the Federal Trade Commission in support of the statement that the large packers have a monopoly. The Commission's own report shows the large number and importance of other

The packers mentioned in the statement stand ready to prove to any fair minded person that they are in keen competition with each other, and that they have no powe to manipulate prices.

If this were not true they would not dare to make this positive state-

Furthermore, government figures show that the five large packers mentioned in the report account for only about one third of the meat business of the country.

They wish it were possible to interest you in the details of their busiiness. Of how, for instance, they can sell dressed beaf for less than the cost of the live animal, owing to utilization of by-products, and of the wonderful story of the methods of distribution throughout this broad land, as well as in other countries.

The five packers mentioned feel justified in co-operating with each oth er to the extent of together presenting this public statement

They have been able to do a big job for your government in its time of need; they have met all war time demands promptly and completely and they are willing to trust their case to the fairmindedness of the American people with the facts before them.

All kinds of food, especially wheat, meats, fats and sugar should be economically used. No food shall be hoarded. Hoarding is the holding, contracting or arranging for food by any person in excess of his reasonable requirements for use or consumption by himself and dependents for a reasonable time. This does not refer to stocks of home-grown vegetables and home-canned or preserved fruits.

All householders who can entirely eliminate the use of wheat until the next harvest, about September 1, should do so.

Householders who are obliged to use wheat should not use more than a total of 11/2 pounds of wheat flour or prepared wheat, in any form, per person per week, including the wheat flour in Victory bread, and including the wheat flour or prepared wheat in crackers, pastry, macaroni, breakfast and other

Victory bread is bread manufactured by bakers under the rules of the United States Food Administration. In estimating flour

Is fish a "brain food"?

No more so than other foods. Fish contains a high percentage of plosphorus, and when food values were first discussed this was credited food. Phosphorus is no more a brain builder than other sub stances of which the brain is composed. When is the best time to substitute fish for meat?

in the spring and summer, when many varieties of fish are plentiful. Is fish cheaper in warm weather?

Yes: particularly in localities near the source of supply Which are more plentiful, the ocean or inland fish? Ocean fish. The growth of large cities on inland rivers has brough into existence many mills and factories which pollute the waters and drive away the fish. Which variety of fish furnishes the greatest food value? The oily varieties, such as salmon and mackeret.

Where are these found in abundance? Salmon on the Pacific coast and mackerel on the Atlantic coast. Why should we have frozen fish?

Because that makes it possible to have good fish in inland towns and Is frozen fish good? Fish is frozen for market only when it is absolutely in good condition and people should not fear to use it. Should the fish be thawed out at the retailer's?

No: as soon as the fish is thawed out it deteriorates rapidly What should the housekeeper do!

She should insist on getting the fish frozen at the retailer's, and it frozen until she wishes to use it.

How is the best way to thaw it out? By placing it on ice in a pan in a cool

How long does this process take! Several hours. Is there a quicker way to thaw it out? Yes; by putting it is cold water; neves hot

Should the water it is thawed out in be used! By all moons use the water if the fish is boiled; Some of the value of the fish goes into the water

What are the advantages of cold-storage fish?

Meat Must Be Sold

Fresh meat is perishable. It must be sold within about two weeks for whatever it will bring.

A certain amount of beef is frozen for foreign shipment, but domestic markets demand fresh, chilled, unfrozen beef.

Swift & Company cannot increase prices by withholding meat, because it will not keep fresh and salable for more than a few days after it reaches the market.

Swift & Company cannot tell at the time of purchasing cattle, what price fresh meat will bring when put on sale. If between purchase and sale, market conditions change, the price of meat must also change.

The Food Administration limits our profit to 9 per cent on capital invested in the meat departments. This is about 2 cents per dollar of sales. No profit is guaranteed, and the risk of loss is not eliminated.

As a matter of fact, meat is often sold at a loss because of the need of selling it before it
