

After Thorough Trial a Detroit, Mich., Man Endorses Pe-ru-na

The following letter written from Detroit, Michigan is no snap judgment expressed on the merits of Pe-ru-na, the well-known catarrh remedy, but rather a mature, sober opinion formed after a full year's trial. This is the way Mr. Michael Fako of 906 East Palmer Avenue, in the Michigan Metropolitan, writes: "After using PE-RU-NA for about one year will say I have found it a very good medicine for catarrh. It has helped me a great deal and I am very well satisfied. I have gained in weight, eat and sleep well, my bowels are regular and better color in my face."

"PE-RU-NA has done wonders and to me is worth its weight in gold. I shall continue to use PE-RU-NA as long as I live and recommend to my friends who are troubled with catarrh." "Nothing can be more convincing than an endorsement of this nature from an actual user. There are many people in every community whose experience in using Pe-ru-na, has been identical with Mr. Fako's. It is the standby for coughs, colds, catarrh, stomach and bowel disorders and all catarrhal conditions. Put up in both tablet and liquid form. SOLD EVERYWHERE."

Through the tangle of traffic you glide, and then over smooth boulevards to the outskirts of town. Soon the last suburbs are left behind and you've reached the open country.

Smoothly, silently you slip along, over frequent hills and into pleasant valleys. You pass through tiny villages and bustling towns, and back again to the open road.

What delight in motor touring! Thrilling bursts of speed with the wind whipping by and the landscape like a motion picture. Or lazy ambling progress. Green hills, blue sky, warm sunshine. And what delight in touring in a motor car that meets every test of the road without faltering, that is equipped with every comfort and convenience that one could desire—THE BOUR-DAVIS.

E. T. COAL & OIL CO. MAKES BIG CONTRACT

News that will be of much interest to the people of this community, insuring, as it does, some great industrial activity, is contained in the announcement coming from the Houston office to the effect that the East Texas Coal & Oil Company has closed contract with the Southern Pacific system for the delivery, f. o. b. Garrison, of 200,000 tons of coal, and that the railroad company agrees to lay the track and run trains out to the mine immediately. Material is already being placed on the ground for the laying of the track, and actual work will begin on it within the next few days—possibly before this report reaches its readers. As soon as the track is laid a sufficient force of miners will be put to work, and the work expedited as rapidly as possible in the production of the product.—Garrison News.

A Grateful Letter.

It is in trying conditions like that related below by Mrs. George L. North, of Naples, N. Y., that proves the worth of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. "Two years ago, last summer," she says "our little boy had dysentery. At that time we were living in the country eight miles from a doctor. Our son was taken ill suddenly and he was about the sickest child I ever saw. He was in terrible pain all the time and passed from one convulsion to another. I sent my husband after a doctor and after he was gone I thought of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the cupboard. I gave him some of it and he began to improve at once. By the time the doctor arrived he was out of danger." Sold by Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

The Farmers' Bureau meeting held at the courthouse Friday was a great success. Speeches were made by various ones present, all of them pointing to the necessity of better farm organization and co-operation. Approximately 170 farmers were present from over the county, and two speakers from other sections of the state delivered commendable talks. The Farm Bureau has some interesting things in view, and the county can well afford to give it all the attention it may demand.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

It seems like a pity to forget or destroy the rich memories of the past that performed functions of great importance in the local affairs of the present. It is almost humiliating to have a stranger to ask where the Old Stone Fort is. Suppose a leading teacher among the recent attendants at the big meeting had asked the question of an intellectual graduate of the high school, would it have been embarrassing?

And what if asked about the origin and career of the "Old Stone Fort," the whens and the whys? Why was it not sacredly preserved like the Alamo is? The Alamo has recently been carefully beautified, its grounds and walks restored and the chapel roof renewed.

The original site of the "Old Stone Fort" has always been the "center of the surrounding country." It served as a monumental starting point for a survey of the town plot in 1852 made by Capt. A. A. Nelson. He began at a point 4 feet 6 inches southeast of the southeast corner of the Old Stone Fort. The lines and boundaries were located by measuring from this point on the Stone Fort corner. Another such point was adopted at the north west corner of the block on the south side of the main plaza usually called the public square.

This was one of the central points back in the 30's. The old San Antonio road going west through the town passed this point, after passing the Stone Fort. It did not ascend the Iron Hill, nor descend the Orton Hill. These hills, now noted points on Main street, had, not then been built, or adopted and named. Travel had to pass up and down the hollows around them.

The original roadways east and west of town had not become roads. They meandered at will through the dense woods over rough lands; they forked just over the creeks and led off in divergent ways. One of these roads was known as the Marion road. Later it became the Woden road, by a fork, and in like manner also the Shawnee road. It ran out on the east through Aqua Vitae Park. Another road ran down the Lanana road on the west side, known as the Mecheli Ferry road, and later, the Goodwin's Ferry road, now called Spradley's Ferry from house to house in zigzag then rough neighborhood roads, leading from house to house, in zigzag or tortuous directions. They have since been circumvented or abandoned.

When Uncle Bill Skillern first settled in the wild woods 65 years ago where he now lives in a thick settlement, his road to town led up via Uncle Asa Moore's home, then known as the George Fenley place. The wild deer were the only folks to bid him the time of day as they gazed at him and fled from him, a stranger.

The old Spanish Bluff road first led out from town via Dr. Campbell's, then known as the Col. Forbes place. Traces of these old various pathways are yet to be seen.

The olden time names of well known points and places are still interesting, but many of them are almost forgotten. For instance, the old Bruton homestead, five miles west of town on the Douglass road, has long been known as the Tom Hill place. The Hayter White House at 8 miles west is yet generally so called. The Monroe Sanders place at 10 miles is seldom mentioned by that name, or by its later name as the Joe Bruton place. The P. M. Sanders place on the lower Douglass road eleven miles from town was its mate. The Watson place, one mile nearer town, was once the Bill Weaver home from which George Weaver was developed, and at which many events have transpired. One was the arrest of the noted outlaw, John Wesley Hardin, by Sheriff Dick Reagan, by shooting him in the leg. Another was the eccentric "Old Till Outson" selling out to "Old Steve Watson" who sent his only daughter to the Denton School, where she married a polished gentleman. This was before P. C. Richardson landed there stranded. She missed a chance at him—and he missed, also. Dode Sanders and Whig Rogers can verify some of these yarns. J.E.M.

Chronic Catarrh.

Our manner of living makes us very susceptible to colds and a succession of colds causes chronic catarrh, a loathsome disease with which it is estimated that ninety-five percent of the adult population are affected. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is highly recommended as a remedy for colds and can be depended upon. Sold by Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

AVOID FAKE "CURES."

Austin, Texas, Sept. 25.—From $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 each year is wasted by victims of consumption in the United States on worthless fake "cures" for tuberculosis according to an estimate by the National Tuberculosis Association. This is a statement issued by the Public Health Association.

The number of co-called "cures" that have been tried out and exploited for gain or otherwise during the last ten years in the United States is well over a thousand, records show. In Texas, the Public Health Association is co-operating with the Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, the American Medical Association, and the National Tuberculosis Association in waging war upon these frauds.

"People who have tuberculosis usually need all their money for real cures," said D. E. Breed, executive secretary of the Texas Public Health Association, "and cannot afford to pay for these fakes. These 'cures' may be remedies or devices such as liquids, pills, powders, plasters, inhalers, patented stoves and numerous other devices that are sold or rented at prices usually hundreds of times in excess of their actual value. They are not only worthless but invariably deprive their victims of an opportunity to get well because of delay in taking the proper measures. Some people who have a great belief in their own 'discoveries' recommend such things as dog's blood, onions, lemons, etc.

"Chemists of the American Medical Association made tests of a material in an 'inhaler', a device for which many people in Texas paid hundreds of thousands of dollars. It was found to be common Texas clay."

The Association states that there is only one known method of curing tuberculosis and that is by application of fresh air, good food, rest and proper medical attention.

ACTION OF RESERVE BOARD WILLFULLY MISCONSTRUED

Dallas, Texas, September 24, 1920
To the Editor:

The press reports of the recent conference between the American Cotton Association, and the Federal Reserve Bank Board have been so misleading and have placed so many erroneous constructions on what occurred there that I have decided to give a plain statement of the facts. I am doing this expressly to prevent the farmers of Texas from being made to believe that the Federal Reserve Board has made it impossible for them to secure bank loans, enabling them to hold their crops until fair prices can be obtained. No such action has been, or will, in my opinion, be taken by the board.

The press dispatches insinuate that our committee asked this board for millions of dollars of new agricultural credits and was flatly refused. No statement could be farther from the truth or more calculated to deceive farmers and scare them into dumping their products on the market without regard to price, and I firmly believe this is the motive behind these false reports.

Our committee presented a type-written statement which asked for nothing except a clear and definite statement of the board's policy concerning limitations of bank credits, and the suggestion that in my opinion such renewals by local banks, on agricultural loans, as should be found necessary to promote gradual and orderly marketing, would go far toward relieving the situation. These two points were all that were stated in our resolution filed with the board.

Mr. Harding, in reply, stated that some time ago the board held a meeting and adopted a policy of limiting NON ESSENTIAL CREDITS, and that this action has widely been misquoted and misconstrued. That the board has been denounced in the press as a financial dictator, limiting bank credits AND PRODUCING SUCH CONTRACTION AS TO SERIOUSLY HAMPER BUSINESS. As a proof of the falsity of such charges, Mr. Harding read official figures showing a STEADY EXPANSION OF BANK CREDITS OF THIRTY TO FORTY MILLION DOLLARS PER WEEK FOR THE LAST YEAR AND OF FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS PER WEEK SINCE SEPTEMBER 1.

Mr. Harding gave us the most explicit assurances of the sympathetic support of the reserve board for any legitimate measure necessary to the orderly marketing of the crops, stating more explicitly that no member of the board had any idea of causing any further contraction of bank credits, AND THAT SUCH A POLICY WOULD BE THE HEIGHT OF FOLLY, AT A TIME WHEN THE GREAT AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS WERE COMING IN ON THE MARKET.

After the hearing was concluded, Governor Harding himself prepared a statement for the Associated Press, that the reserve board was prepared FOR ANY NECESSARY EXPANSION INCIDENT TO THE MARKET ING OF THE CROPS.

The real source of these misleading reports seems to have been in the offices of the speculative interests in Washington, which had on their bulletin boards, at nine o'clock in the morning, the statement that our delegation had been refused a hearing. They continued to give out false statements concerning our delegation and its mission, throughout the entire day.

Mr. Harding did, however, utter one vigorous criticism, and it had the complete approval of our delegation. This criticism was leveled at the entire South and was substantially as follows: "The South has been very slow to take advantage of the opportunities actually within their reach. The Edge law makes it possible and the South is abundantly able to form export Cotton Corporations and to finance the marketing of her products. This she has not done. The South should not sit supinely by, with folded hands, expecting the Federal Government or other sections of the nation, to finance the marketing of her cotton."

This criticism by Governor Harding has been distorted by the dispatches and the public led to believe that it particularly applied to our delegation. In fact it was just a criticism of the entire South. Mr. Harding's denunciation of the campaign of criticism, misquotation and misrepresentation was evidently suppressed by the news agencies. I have not seen it printed in any paper. Evidently, the campaign to discredit the Federal Reserve Board and to still further depress the price of farm products, by scaring the farmers to dumping them on the market, is to be continued. The people should not be imposed on by such reports. Cotton and other products should be marketed gradually and fair prices demanded, just as has been done during the last three years.

The American Cotton Association has rendered another signal service to the public by exposing this campaign of misrepresentation, and its efforts should be supported by every patriotic public spirited citizen.

D. E. Lyday,
V. P. and General Manager, Texas Division American Cotton Association.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

Nacogdoches is the mother county of numerous others. She was probably the first organized county in Texas. Indeed, she was Texas itself, at the start. Up to about the year 1820 when Dr. Long of Natchez, Miss., came to Nacogdoches, with a bunch of adventurous fortune hunters, and later settled in Galveston people back "in the States" going to Texas meant Nacogdoches; and it was hard to say whether this was in French territory or Spanish or Mexican. When Texas independence was declared March 2, 1836, it was not certain as to which ruler of Mexico would be the objector. Santa Anna was a new potentate. When Stephen F. Austin had gone through Nacogdoches in 1821, and spent fifteen years trying to colonize Texas, under the Mexican government, he went to the City of Mexico in 1836 to make terms with the proper authorities, but he was suspected of disloyalty and held in prison many months by the Santa Anna regime. Meantime, Texas became an independent republic, and when Santa Anna, with his army, marched out to subdue the rebellious land, he met his end. Texas did not become one of the United States until 1845. A man born here before that date was not a citizen of the United States, but of the Republic of Texas, which itself was originated and emanated from Nacogdoches.

One of the first counties made or cut off from Nacogdoches was Rusk county (honored be the name). The new county seat was named Henderson—another justly honored name. The method of surveying the boundaries of Rusk county was somewhat unique. A line was run from the center of the public square of Nacogdoches due north exactly sixteen miles; thence a line was run due east to the Attoyacque river, thus a beginning corner was located. Thence due west to the Angelina river, passing the point where the sixteen miles stopped, which was somewhere near Bob Clifton's old home and John Carroll's. The other boundaries of Rusk county were extended up the said river on the east and on the west, and so on. This was about the year 1838. There had been previously a noted line called Trammel's Trace running due north from Nacogdoches to some point on the Red river, having the purpose of locating boundaries of vacant lands to be patented. The Trammel's Trace line is not certainly known now. Road for land lines were important marks in those pioneer days. The exact line of the "Old San Antonio Road" recently marked by monuments every five miles, was quite important. Disputes of land titles arose along these lines.

And in the course of time it became necessary to survey a pipe line from Nacogdoches to Oil Springs to bring the oil, then abundant, into a tank on Judge Middlebrook's homestead lot. D. C. Mast did the field work. He was assisted by surveyor A. A. Nelson, whose office contained detailed plats all along, showing the lines and courses and distances. So it was thus figured out to run the pipe line—on paper first. The estimated distance was fifteen miles and the course southeastward. Mast took his chain and compass and ran it through. It came out at Oil Springs almost exactly where they figured it, and the distance proved to be almost exactly fifteen miles.

The building of this pipe line and the flowing of oil into the tank were big events. But it all went to naught at last, and Josh Millard got the job of hauling the pipe line back to Nacogdoches.

The people along the pipeline were amazed at its activities in expanding on hot days and contracting on cool nights. It went straight over hills and hollows, and as it lengthened and shortened as it grew hot or cold, a man could step over it in a low hollow on the ground on a hot day, but at night he couldn't ride or step over it. It had to raise up or bend to one side as it changed its length.

FARM BUREAU MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Next Monday and Tuesday a membership campaign will be put on by the Nacogdoches County Farm Bureau. This campaign will cover the eastern half of the county, and will be under the direction of Mr. M. W. Blair, a Dallas county farmer, who is sent here to help in the work.

Mr. Blair has been active in organizing Dallas county where the bureau now has one thousand members and also in Bell county where the membership has passed the fifteen hundred mark and is still climbing.

Immediately following the membership drive in the eastern end of the county, a similar drive will be put on in the western part of the county. Later, other sections of the county will be covered by similar drives until we have given every farmer in the county an opportunity to join the county farm bureau.

We ask that you give the solicitors who call on you a courteous hearing. They are giving a part of their time free to the work. If they can do this, surely you can give them an attentive hearing.

The farm bureau movement is the most hopeful thing that has happened in the agricultural world in many years. It deserves your careful consideration.

Won't you give it this much? I

Yours truly,

On last Friday morning two hundred farmers met in the district court room at Nacogdoches and elected officers for the Nacogdoches County Farm Bureau, as follows:

Nat T. Sisco, Nacogdoches Rt. 3,
President; J. T. Anderson, Douglass,
Vice-President; T. J. Maroney, Nacogdoches, Rt. 2, Treasurer.

President John T. Orr of Dallas county and Director T. O. Walston of the A. & M. Extension Service, were present and made very helpful talks.

A constitution and by-laws were adopted under which the organization will operate for the following year. It was agreed that a membership drive will be put on, which will cover the county, right away.

In addition to the three officers elected for the county, eight precinct directors have been elected as follows:

Melrose, E. W. Matthews; Chireno, Tom Curl; Attoyac, L. T. Buckner; Martinsville, James Hanna; Appleby, John Weatherly; Douglass, J. T. Anderson; Linn Flat, J. W. Mitchell; Nat, R. R. Loy.

There will be sixteen additional directors elected as soon as meetings can be held in each of the sixteen remaining voting boxes.

The constitution provides for an executive committee of seven to be elected from the Board of Directors. Also the constitution provides for the employment of a secretary-manager when in the opinion of the directors, it is advisable to do so.

The farm bureau idea is rapidly gaining a hold on our farmers. It is not a society. It is a business organization whose chief object is to get better prices for farm products. The membership dues are $10 per year, $6 of which stays in the treasury of the county organization and $4 goes into the treasury of the state organization.

The treasurer of the county bureau will be placed under a $20,000 bond.

The farm bureau is in operation in thirty-three states, and is rapidly being set up in all the other states. In Texas there are four centers of organization actively, Dallas, Bell, Williamson and Nacogdoches county.

The prospect is that the Nacogdoches county organization will soon contain 1,000 members, and that is destined to become a tremendous factor in the life of our county.

HOLD YOUR COTTON AND SEED

Following is a statement of the price of cotton and cotton seed in the several cotton states as given by the monthly crop reporter of the government of September, 1920, and by the State Department of Agriculture, Austin, Texas, September 25, 1920.

Cotton
States	Cents
Virginia	35.
North Carolina	34.6
South Carolina	33.3
Georgia	32.6
Tennessee	32.4
Alabama	31.4
Mississippi	30.1
Louisiana	30.
Texas	28.3
Oklahoma	30.
Arkansas	29.9

Cotton Seed
States	Per Ton
North Carolina	$60.00
South Carolina	45.60
Georgia	43.60
Tennessee	47.00
Alabama	40.80
Mississippi	49.20
Louisiana	55.40
Texas	26.10
Oklahoma	51.00
Arkansas	54.00
Average price per ton	43.23

Compare the above prices of Texas cotton and cotton seed with those of other states and see what Texas farmers are doing to the market by selling as fast as harvested.

Oklahoma farmers are now offered 45 cents for Strict Middling, 1 1-8 inch staple; but demand 60 cents, here it is about 25 cents.

One farmer in Mississippi says the buyers are quoting "cheap cotton" in Texas, which is affecting the price in Mississippi and "probably other states."

Stand by your State Farmers' Institute. Refuse to sell cotton for less that 48 cents middling basis, and cotton seed for less than $50 per ton. Strong holding in other states. Stop selling and help to put the prices up. Do not sell another bale at the market or exchange price, which represents a loss of $75 to $125 per bale.

Yours Respectfully,
J. W. Neill,
Director Institutes

Mr. Ferguson is out in the interest of his candidacy for president, and according to the News, he received a warm welcome in Lufkin, a large brass band going to the station to meet him.

ROAD BUILDING PROGRAM TO LAST ANOTHER YEAR

The highway extending from Nacogdoches out to the Angelina river toward Alto is now almost completed, according to County Judge J. M. Marshall. About three more weeks of work needs to be done on the highway. Two or three bridges must be built and some vitrified clay culverts installed. The culverts, two or three cars of which arrived in the city last week, are of double strength and are expected to give good service.

The next road engaging the attention of the county is the Nacogdoches-Henderson road. This road is about 18 miles in length, and is being taken over by Moore Bros. of Lufkin.

Contracts have also been let for the Martinsville and the Cushing road. Work will commence on these in a short time. The contract for the Chireno road has not yet been let. Other roads in the county are let as they are mapped out in the general road-building campaign, according to Judge Marshall.

Judge Marshall said some trouble is being experienced by the contractors in getting the desired labor, but he thought this trouble could be overcome in a short while by getting the cotton crop out of the way. Many boys and men are at present picking cotton at fancy prices offered for the harvesting of the fleecy staple.

According to Judge Marshall about $775,000 of the $841,000 originally voted remains in the bank with which to finance the remainder of the roads to be built in the county.

The road building campaign will last, so Judge Marshall says, throughout next year. However, the worst part of the road building has been accomplished by the contractors getting the Nacogdoches-Douglass road out of the way. Especially fine work has been done in the Angelina river bottom, where the worst of conditions had to be met by the contractors. One can now go speeding through the river bottom in an automobile without any trouble, where once it took nearly an hour to get through it.

Nacogdoches in the year 1921 will easily lead all East Texas in the matter of good roads. Why not lead it in the matter of a normal?

HELP THE LEGION GROW

The Baxter Duncan Post, No. 86, American Legion, had a very important meeting Thursday night—not a large attendance, but those there were very much interested in the future of this Post and determined to do something worth while.

It was unanimously decided to put on a membership campaign and this to be done by the entire membership here as a body to visit each town Nacogdoches county, and at these various places make a few short speeches, musical program, etc., and secure the application to the American Legion of every soldier there.

Cushing was selected as the first place to visit. We will leave here next Friday afternoon, October 1st, at 4 p. m. sharp and drive over to Cushing, where we will have supper at the Wallace Hotel and immediately afterwards proceed with the above program.

Wives and lady friends of the members of the Legion are invited. We want not less than fifteen automobiles and not more than 1,000. Better get in on this trip, and if you do, we know that you'll be anxious to go on the others. Come, go with us on these trips next week and learn something of your county and at the same time be of some help to our legion.

Baxter Duncan Post, No. 86, will have one of the fastest football teams this year of any legion in Texas. We will take on the Nacogdoches High school team November 11th (Armistice Day) and perhaps have other games between now and then.

A little later on we expect to have club rooms fitted up for the pleasure of all the members in this county and especially for the pleasure of the members who do not live within the city.

Rest easy, the Baxter Duncan Post is going over the top, come go with us; the more we will have the easier it will be.

There are over nine hundred ex-soldiers in this county eligible for membership and only seventy-five members of the American Legion. This isn't right, fellows; and let's make Nacogdoches county go over the top.

Remember, next year a special Pullman will leave Nacogdoches for the state convention at El Paso via Juarez loaded with members of this post.

If you are not now a member, give your application to any member or to Guy Stripling, Post Adjutant, and do this today.

MUST HAVE SURPRISED CZAR

John Randolph Had His Own Ideas of What to Do When Presented at Russian Court.

When John Randolph, erratic Argentine statesman from Virginia, was in Russia he was about to be presented to the czar. Someone undertook to teach him the presentation etiquette of the Russian court. As minister he was to enter the room and bow; at the center of the room he was to pause and bow a second time, after which the czar would meet him and engage him in conversation. But Randolph was indignant at the thought that anyone could presume to teach him anything, and declared that he knew all about it without being shown.

The day of presentation arrived and Randolph entered the door of the audience chamber and bowed very low; he advanced to the center of the room and bowed again very deeply. Then he approached nearer to the czar, took off one gauntlet and threw it to the right of the czar, removed his other gauntlet and cast it to the left of the czar. Next he pitched off his hat in front, threw off his mantle, unbuckled his sword and discarded it upon the floor and then fell upon his knees at the feet of the czar. The court was speechless and the czar astonished. However, the czar was equal to the occasion, so he approached the prostrate Randolph, required him to rise and engaged him in conversation. But the reception did not meet Randolph's expectations, and within a month he left Russia in considerable of a huff at what he deemed mistreatment at the hands of the czar.

HAS FOUND CRADLE OF EEL

Scientist Tells the World All About the Habits of That Migratory Aquatic Creature.

The eel has been tracked to his cradle.

It has taken us 2,000 years to learn that eels, living in ponds and rivers climb out when full grown, crawl over the land, find a river running to the ocean, go out to sea, and lay eggs which produce offspring that come back in billions up the rivers from which their parents descended, says London Tit-Bits.

A scientist has now tracked down these elusive marvels to the spawning grounds. It is the Sargasso sea, that enormous sea garden through which Columbus first sailed to the terror of his crews, from September to October, 1492. Of course, that is not the only nursery.

Upon hatching, the eel larvae drift with the current, undergo a marvelous transformation, reach Europe, swarm up the river, climb the banks, cross dusty fields and parched meadows to inland ponds and ditches, and then settle there for the next seven or eight years, when they swim back to the Sargasso to lay their eggs and die.

Is not that a crowning marvel of the migratory instinct? Across the Atlantic in infancy, to fatten in a way-side English pond, and back again, grown up, across the wide ocean.

Names.

Most men of high destinies have high sounding names. Pym and Haklud may be pretty well, but they must not think to cope with the Cromwells and Isaiahs. And you could not find a better case in point than that of the English admirals, Drake and Rooke and Hawke are picked names for men of execution. Fishburn, Rodney, Boscawen, Foul-Wather, Jack Byron are all good to catch the eye in a page of a naval history. Closesley Shovel is a mouthful of quaint and sounding syllables. Benbow has a bulldog quality that suits the man's character, and it takes us back to those English archers who were his true comrades: pluckiness, tenacity and pluck. Raleigh is spirited and martial, and signifies an act of bold conduct in the field. "Virginibus Puerisque," by Louis Stevenson.

How Spiders Travel.

Spinning webs is second nature with spiders. After they are hatched from the eggs in a cocoon, they cling together for about a week. Then they separate, but their legs do not carry them very far. Facing the wind, and standing on the tips of their legs, the baby spiders raise their abdomens and emit a silken thread. The faintest current wafts the gossamer in the air, and when enough is let out to permit of aerial flight the insect drifts away. When it wishes to land it hauls in the thread. Wherever it lands it can spin webs without the slightest instructions from older spiders. Older male spiders seem to lose this gift. There are about 550 species of spiders in America, but only two, the house and garden spiders, are well known.

A Craven Sultor.

"I am convinced that I could never make you happy," wrote an abject lover to the lady who had won his heart. "You are of a different world from mine. You are to me as white marble to dull red clay. The devotion of my life would not recompense you for the sacrifice you would make in marrying me. I know I can never hope to make you happy, but if you think otherwise let me know by return." The woman who could accept so craven a lover as this can scarcely hope to be complimented on her judgment or on her capture.

TEDDY C. PIERCE LAID TO REST HERE WEDNESDAY

Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock the remains of Teddy C. Pierce, who died two years ago while in service in France, were laid to rest in the Oak Grove cemetery with military honors, the Nacogdoches boys formerly in service in charge.

The body arrived here Wednesday from Camp Pike, Ark., and was accompanied by Sergeant-Major W. E. McGahan of that camp. As soon as the body arrived it was taken in charge by the American Legion of this city and immediate arrangements were made to give the body a fitting burial. Another body, the remains of Sergeant Henry J. Hutson, also were brought in with the remains of Pierce. The funeral of Hutson will take place Thursday.

The funeral procession started from the establishment of Cason, Menk & Company, and was in the local cemetery by 5 o'clock. At the grave Rev. J. L. Massey of the Methodist church, of which denomination Teddy was a member, made a beautiful talk, paying a tribute to the boy whom he once knew and whose remains lay before him.

The regular funeral ceremonies were carried out, the salute fire and "taps" sounded. The firing squad were Herbert Shindler, B. Wickershiemer, Claude Barham, Max Sloan, Clarence Thompson, A. E. Meador, Herbert Stewart, and Frank Urey. The pall bearers were A. T. Mast, Elbert Reese, Jess Parmley, Paul Perkins, Mitchell and Jenkins.

Teddy Pierce was 18 at the time of his death. He died October 19, 1918, in Angres, France, of pneumonia. While over there he developed a severe case of influenza, and then turned in to pneumonia, which caused his death. He was the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Pierce of this city, and during his life he was one of Nacogdoches' most popular boys. When the local company, the old 7th C. A. C., was being organized here, Teddy joined. Later he was transferred to Battery F, 64th Field Artillery, in which organization he died.

The entire city bows in reverence to the memory of the heroic boy who deliberately gave up his life for his country.

THE SYNOD OF TEXAS

Plans for the meeting of the Synod of Texas of the Presbyterian church have progressed far enough for us to present some of the very interesting features of that great body. It is seldom that a town of the size of Nacogdoches has the honor of entertaining a religious body of that nature, but we feel sure the citizens will all do their part to open the doors, extend the hand of welcome and to help provide entertainment in the homes for our distinguished guests. The Synod itself will meet on Wednesday evening, October 6th, but some of the boards and committees will meet on Tuesday night before.

All of the evening popular services, to which all citizens are cordially invited, will be held at the Methodist church, the business meetings of the men during the day will be held in the Main Street Presbyterian church. The Women's Missionary meetings will be held in the First Presbyterian church, and the schools of instruction and boards will meet at other churches and fraternal halls to be announced later.

Among the interesting features of the Synod we may say that the opening sermon will be preached by Rev. J. C. Barr, D. D., the Moderator, who is pastor of the Lafayette church of New Orleans. Dr. William King, for many years the pastor of the First church of St. Louis, will bring the message of world wide missions in song, story and the most beautiful pictures obtainable, showing what the Church of Christ is doing to redeem and train the nations. Rev. Tom Preston, an old East Texas boy, for many years a great spiritual leader of China, will bring a message on Foreign Mission Evening. The committee on Men's Work will have a great banquet at which we are expecting such laymen of Judge William Ramsey of Dallas, J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls and others to make the principal addresses. The ladies of the city will give a reception to their visitors also.

Owing to the fact that this large body cannot find room in our hotels and boarding houses, which are already full, we must appeal to our friends all over the city to open their homes and hearts and help us entertain our guests. Mrs. J. R. McKinney and Mrs. John Teutsch are the committee looking after the entertainment of the Synod, and we bespeak a cordial and general response to them from all our people.

Chinese money has a hole in the middle of it, but the hole won't buy anything, any more than our money will.

IMPORTANT

The Houston Reunion Committee advises that they have been compelled to change the plan of housing the veterans for the Reunion, and that instead of housing them in tents, that they will be placed in school houses, as at the Tulsa Reunion.

A central mess hall has been established where meals will be furnished the veterans without cost, and every possible arrangement has been made for their comfort and convenience.

The Reunion committee regrets to announce that they were unable to committee to bring his own blankets from the government, and are therefore compelled to ask each veteran who desires to be entertained by the committee to bring his own blankets with him. Every effort has been made to purchase or rent these blankets without success, and the only plan left is for the veterans to bring the blankets with them. The committee has purchased at an extra expense of over $20,000 several thousand new mattresses for the veterans to sleep on, and it is believed that they will be much more comfortable under this plan than they would on cots in the encampment.

Stop-Over Privileges

The railroads have agreed to allow stop-overs both coming and going on the Reunion tickets, as has been the custom in the past.

All Department, Division, Brigade, Staff and Camp Officers are requested to give as much publicity as possible to the above facts, so that the visitors may be advised regarding same.

It is all right that liquors, cigars and luxuries should be taxed to pay the expenses of the government. If you do not like the tax all you have to do is to cut out the luxury. ### HE COULD HARDLY GET HIS BREATH

Johnson's Troubles all Disappear After He takes Tanlac

"The way Tanlac built me up proves to me that it is a great medicine," said Gust A. Johnson, of Virginia, Minn. Mr. Johnson has been employed by the Duluth & Iron Range railroad for thirty five years.

"I suffered from stomach-trouble in its worst stages," continued Mr. Johnson. "So much gas formed in my stomach after eating that I could hardly breathe. I also had the rheumatism in my knees had so sometimes that it was all I could do to hobble about, and I was so nervous that many a night I could not sleep at all, and by morning I was all tired out and weak as if I hadn't been in bed at all.

"I noticed in the papers about Tanlac and gave it a trial, and it's a fact, nothing can beat it, for I've taken only three bottles and feel like a new man. I eat anything I want now and am never troubled with gas any more; the rheumatism has left me and my nerves are as steady as a clock and I get up every morning feeling fit and ready for the day's work. Tanlac is the greatest medicine I've ever seen and I know what I am talking about, for I have tried nearly everything."

Tanlac is sold in Nacogdoches by Swift Bros. & Smith, Stripling, Haselwood & Co., and in Garrison by the Dale Drug Co.

Over fifty years ago a young physician practiced widely in a rural district and became famous for his uniform success in the curing of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who afterwards established himself in Buffalo, N. Y., and placed one of his prescriptions, which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," in the drug stores of the United States so that the public could easily obtain this very remarkable tonic, corrective and blood-maker. Dr. Pierce manufactured this "Discovery" from roots and barks—a corrective remedy, the ingredients of which nature had put in the fields and forests, for keeping us healthy. Few folks or families now living have not at sometime or other used this "Golden Medical Discovery" for the stomach, liver and heart. Over twenty-four million bottles of this tonic and blood remedy have been sold in this country.
