BIG REDUCTION IN EGYPT'S COTTON CROP

Washington, June 20.—A reduction of 26 percent of the acreage planted will cut the Egyptian cotton crop this year to approximately 500,000,000 pounds, according to consular advices today to the Department of Agriculture. The general instability of the market and government restrictions affecting planting were the chief influences in the reduction.

ENROLLMENT FOR NORMAL

Austin, Texas, June 21.—Enrollment of students for the normal and summer school session of the University of Texas will probably be 2,400, which is approximately 400 in excess of last summer's attendance. Registration at the end of the fourth day was over 2,000 as compared with 1,585 on the same day last year. The number will probably increase during the next week, as students are allowed to register all during the first ten days.

WANTS ADVICE ON FINANCIAL SITUATION

MEXICAN EXPORT TAX WORRYING OIL MEN

Washington, June 20.—Secretary Hughes was urged today by representatives of American oil companies in Mexico to take steps to protect those companies against taxation regarded by them as confiscatory. More than a dozen men, including President Doney of the Mexican Petroleum Company, General Consul Kellogg of the Association of Producers of Petroleum in Mexico, and Guy Stephens, director of the association, placed before the secretary a memorandum reviewing the history of Mexico's taxation of oil since its discovery in that country up to the recent decree of President Obregon increasing the tax 25 percent.

LEAGUE COUNCIL HOLDS FIRST OPEN SESSION

Geneva, June 20.—The first open session of the Council of the League of Nations was held today. Sweden and Finland debated questions relative to the status of the Aland Islands. The agenda for the week includes the Polish-Lithuanian dispute, the report of the commission appointed to pass on proposed amendments to the league covenant, and the conflicting claims to the boundary of Albania.

A Swedish engineer, after ten years' experimenting, has succeeded in inventing a "speaking film" which, it is claimed, insures a simultaneous production of picture and sound.

INSANITY INCREASE DUE TO WAR'S AFTERMATH

Washington, June 20.—Insanity is on the increase, due to the war's aftermath, Dr. J. M. Lee of Rochester, N. Y., today told the annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy. Dr. Lee said: "The general hustle and tendency to worry and brood make for throwing the mental machinery out of gear." The speaker declared that farmers were the most susceptible to insanity.

ANCESTRAL HOME OF WASHINGTONS REDEDICATED

Sulgrave, Northamptonshire, England, June 22.—Sulgrave Manor, ancestral home of the Washingtons, restored to its condition of three centuries ago, was rededicated here Tuesday with elaborate ceremonies.

In addition to dignitaries from London, the lord mayors of Birmingham, Northampton and Banbury and other towns were present, attired in their gorgeous robes of office.

The Marquis of Cambridge gave the principal address.

Tuesday's exercises were arranged by the Sulgrave Institution to Foster Friendship Between Great Britain and the United States.

The exercises began with a short service in the Sulgrave parish church, where lie buried Laurence Washington, forbear of George Washington; Mrs. Washington and their 11 children. The ceremonies proper were laid on the lawn of the manor house.

John A. Stewart, president of the American branch of the Sulgrave Institution, presented a bronze bust of Washington on behalf of American donors. Letters from Vice President Coolidge, United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and other Americans were read.

After the exercises there took place the ceremony in dedication of the Washington arms on the right spandrel of the main doorway. These consist of the three stars and two bars from which originated the American flag.

George Harvey, American ambassador, did not attend the exercises, sending instead a letter of regret in which he said his own official duties prevented his coming.

New York, June 22.—Admiral Sims returned home today to explain to Secretary Denby the remarks attributed to him in his recent London speech on Irish-Americans. Refusing to take a cutter, he came up the bay aboard the Olympic to meet the friends and foes who might be awaiting him at the pier. The trip from the pier to the Pennsylvania station, where he took a train for Washington was without important incident.

GIRL TAKES BLAME TO SHIELD MOTHER

St. Louis, June 22.—Mrs. Daniel E. Miller, 17 years old, until recently Ursula Broderick, confessed slayer of her father and step father, did not kill the former, it was announced in juvenile court Tuesday. The judge, in paroling her, said that the young woman told him she accepted the blame for the killing to shield her mother, who is under a ten year sentence for alleged participation in it.

GOOSE CREEK SUFFERS A LAWLESS OUTBREAK

Houston, Texas, June 21.—W. Stewart, a jitney driver of Goose Creek, was taken to the woods and given a whipping and a coat of tar and feathers and told to leave town before sunset today. This occurred at Goose Creek. The victim told officers he did not recognize any of the men, although about 14 participated.

Stewart advanced no reason for the treatment accorded him. The police have failed to apprehend any of his assailants.

BIG STORM RAGING ON GULF COAST TODAY

Galveston, Texas, June 22.—The barometer read 29.74 at 8:30 this morning, a drop of one point since 7. The wind shifted from east-northeast to southeast, blowing 35 miles an hour, with occasional spurts to 65 miles. The tide at 8 o'clock was 4.5 feet, a rise of four inches in the preceding half hour. The weather observer predicts that the crest of the storm will pass by tonight.

Little Damage Reported

Dallas, Texas, June 22.—Little damage and no loss of life were reported up to shortly before noon as a result of the hurricane which swept the Texas coast from Galveston to Point Isabel last night and continued today. The center of the disturbance apparently had not struck the coast up to 10 o'clock this morning. Latest advices indicated the storm was centered off the coast east of Corpus Christi, and was moving northward with increased intensity, the latest reports said. Residents of Point Isabel and Padre Brazos Island are reported to have left their homes and sought safety in Brownsville. The only reported damage to shipping came in a wireless S. O. S. from the oil tanker William S. Doheny, which was reported to have lost her propeller off Cape Cabello. The message, which urged that assistance be immediately sent, was picked up by the army radio station at Fort Brown and was broadcast. The wind at Galveston shifted from east-northeast to southeast, with occasional spurts from 35 to 60 miles and hour. Corpus Christi reported the highest velocity there at 66 miles. The interurban railroads out of Galveston report a slight increase in travel.

SHORT SKIRTS DECLARED A BOON TO WOMEN

Madison, Wis., June 22.—The short skirt is a blessing to emancipated women, who are beginning to enjoy fully the world, which continues to grow better, Bishop Samuel Fallows, only living graduate of the class of '62, first University of Wisconsin graduating class, told alumni gathered here for their reunion Tuesday. "Women are not growing less moral," he declared. "Their appearance in short skirts is not an indication of a lowering of standard; it is a blessing. The world is being a better place for all of us to live in."

NEWSIES KILL ALLIGATOR

Orange, Texas, June 22.—A quartet of newsboys won a decisive battle with a 5 foot alligator which appeared in their path along the Fourth street water front Monday morning. The alligator was discovered during the early morning hours in an apparent stupor. Slugs of iron, bricks and all manner of weapons were used by the husky newsboys, who in a few moments were master of the situation in spite of the fact that some of them had shin bruises as a result of the terrific slaps made by the saurian's tail.

WOMAN PRESIDES FOR FIRST TIME IN CONGRESS

Washington, June 21.—For the first time in the history of the American Congress a woman presided over the deliberations of one of the houses yesterday.

Mrs. Alice Robertson of Oklahoma, the only woman member of congress, wielded the gavel while the house of representatives at the request of President Harding, and Secretary of State Hughes, passed a bill authorizing the sending of a United States commission to Peru during the Centennial celebrations in that republic.

The members of the house rose and applauded when Speaker Gillett requested "Miss Alice" to ascend to the chair. When she announced the passage of the bill she was applauded again.

During her brief term as presiding officer she made the house behave for the only half hour of recent years.

GAINESVILLE HAS $9,000 FIRE AND CLOUDBURST

Gainesville, Texas, June 22.—Damage estimated at $9,000 was caused here late Tuesday by fire, which started in the Miller Cleaning company's quarters and spread to the warehouse of Cunningham Brother's drug store and O. T. Carr's plumbing shop. Fed by gasoline, the flames burned fiercely. Efficient work of firemen controlled the flames.

Shortly after the fire started a terrific rain began falling, which developed into a cloudburst and was continuing at 4 o'clock.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS NORMAL

San Marcos, Texas, June 22.—The enrollment for the summer session of the Southwest Texas State Normal College reached some 1,750 Saturday night—a 50 percent increase over the enrollment of last summer.

A great majority of these students are enrolling in the college courses leading to a degree. Many former students are returning to their alma mater to complete courses in the early days of this institution. The new certificate law has brought to college many experienced teachers in order to secure a new certificate.

In the section devoted to summer normal work almost 700 students are preparing for August examinations.

Although this is an unprecedented enrollment, the students have all secured boarding houses and there is room for more.

By the end of the first week classification had been completed and work begun in earnest.

LUFKIN SNAKES

Lufkin, Texas, June 22.—Consternation reigned at Harrell's filling station when Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson drove up in their Ford car, alighted and asked that the tank be filled. Upon raising the cushion, a five-foot snake was found to be coiled upon the tank and very indignant that his rest was broken.

FEEDING STARVING CHILDREN

Vienna, June 21.—The American Relief Administration, headed by Herbert Hoover, has provided since the spring of 1919, 128,359,667 meals to undernourished Austrian children. During the month of March, statistics for which have just been made public 8,721,338 meals were furnished, apportioned as follows: Vienna and Lower Austria, 5,769,146; Upper Austria, 708,413; Salzburg, 359,794; Tyrol, 339,077; Vorarlberg, 166,435; Syria, 1,007,057; Carinthia, 355,416.

The child feeding operations in Austria, as in Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and other sections of Central Europe and Eastern Europe, are supported by the $29,000,000 contributed by the American people during the European Relief Council drive.

President Hainisch of Austria, leading medical authorities, the press and the public generally credit American generosity and the efficiency of the Hoover organization with having not only saved tens of thousands of Austrian children from starvation, but with having to a large extent prevented the permanent deterioration in health of the growing generation.

SEAPLANE WRECKED AT HAMPTON ROADS

Newport News, Va., June 21.—A navy seaplane bomber, outward bound for bombing tests at sea, fell at exploding some bombs throught Hampton Roads today, apparently exploding some bombs the ship carried. AIR FIRCE SINKS A FORMER GERMAN SUB

Washington, June 21.—The former German submarine U-117 was sunk off Cape Charles today by the fire of a squadron of naval seaplanes which bombed it, according to reports received at the Navy Department. Like a swarm of mosquitoes from the nearby marshes bearing "death-dealing stings," scores of aircraft swept out to sea today to seek and destroy the submarine in the first of a series of tests to prove or disprove the claims of air service experts that development in military aircraft spelled the doom to surface warcraft.

WILL STUDY RACE ISSUE

New York, June 22.—President Harding, in a letter to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, made public today, said he planned to proceed as early as possible with the study of the race question with the view of ameliorating the treatment accorded negroes, as outlined in his message to congress.

BRICK WALL WRECKED BY ICE WAGON'S BUMP

About 5 o'clock Monday afternoon the delivery wagon of the Southern Ice & Utilities Company backed up to the rear door of McClains market, as usual, to deliver the customary supply of ice. The wagon struck the brick wall with crashing force and the wall collapsed, the entire end of the building falling outward, crushing in the top of the wagon and inflicting severe bruises and cuts on the head of the colored driver. The miracle is that the damage is not more serious. The people in the nearby buildings were startled by the noise caused by the wreck, and for a moment considerable excitement prevailed.

It was said at the market that it would require about $100 to repair the damage.

DOUGLASS TO THE FORE

Carrying out a determination to have good schools, the people of Douglass on Saturday voted in favor of the $1 tax for school purposes. The measure carried by 37 to 33—a narrow margin, but still a majority. We may now expect a first-class school at Douglass and that community is deserving of congratulation and commendation.

On Saturday the trustees of the Douglass district contracted with Prof. John D. Kountze as principal for the coming scholastic year.

Mr. W. M. Parker, superintendent of the Carolina Oil Company's refinery of this city, leaves Wednesday for Lewistown, Mont., where he goes to construct a new refinery. His son, Will Parker, Jr., will accompany him, although the family will remain in Nacogdoches. Mr. Parker has not severed his relations with the Nacogdoches refinery, but intends to return after his work is finished north. He says the local refinery is now running all the time, and that its business is good. Mr. Parker is one of the oldest oil men in Nacogdoches county, and he says things look mighty good to him here.

The American Legion suffers the chief deprivation but the country as a whole is a heavy loser through the sudden death of Col. Frederick Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the legion. From the sterling qualities which made Col. Galbraith a successful business man, that earned for him high recognition as a soldier and led to his leadership of the American Legion were being devoted to advancement of national interest, though his primary concern was for the American service men in the World War. He died in the service, for the deplorable accident at Indianapolis occurred while he was journeying on the business of the great organization which had entrusted him with responsibilities most important.

Colonel Galbraith's training precisely equipped him for the duties which fully engaged him since his elevation to the command last September. In early life he had been a railroad track walker, then a sailor, later a business man, and he had spent a number of years in the National Guard. Always his contacts had been such as to develop the love of men and to strengthen his advocacy of the square deal. He was a powerful factor in establishing the purposes of the Legion and in upholding Americanism. All his activities were undertaken in a spirit of patriotism that was an inspiration to observers.

Members of the American Legion will especially feel the loss of their commander at a time when he was engaged in promoting legislative and other measures to guard their welfare. The cause of the disabled soldier was particularly near his heart and he was tireless in working out plans of relief and in seeking government support for the nation's heroes. The movement for the consolidation of the various agencies of soldier relief at Washington was largely stimulated through his efforts.

The work which he was furthering will go on, of course, but it is a loss which his untimely death inflicts upon his family, his comrades and his

ABOUT SALARIES

One of the complaints of representatives of organized railway workers before the railroad labor board was that high salaried officials of the roads were receiving money which might be better used in the payment of wages to workers. How, then, are we to receive the announcement that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has voted a salary of $25,000 a year to Warren S. Stone, president of the organization? It is doubtful if many railroad executives receive a higher salary than that voted to President Stone.

The point at issue is not that President Stone or the heads of the railroads should be paid less money, but that they should be paid salaries in keeping with their services to the organizations they represent. Men of exceptional ability can render service which cannot be measured by dollars. But who will say that the directing of a great railway system is not worth more than the head of a labor

The payment of large salaries simply as a sinecure should not be condoned in any business, but men of exceptional ability should be able to do much more for the institution which they serve than is represented in the salary received. Certainly this is just as true of the executive of any big railroad as it is of President Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Industrial corporations are handicapped to some extent by the difficulty of getting men who are big enough in executive ability to earn the large salaries which would be paid to any person capable of successful management. There is no reason why railroads should deny themselves the service of men of ability by the payment of salaries out of proportion to the effort and ability required. The petty economies of a village grocer do not apply to the operation of a great

THE QUESTION OF APOLOGY

"I promise you," said President Harding, in accepting the republican nomination for the presidency, "formal and effective peace so quickly as a republican congress can pass its declaration for a republican executive to sign."

After the "best republican minds" in congress have been set to work for about a year and a half trying to frame this "simple declaration," however, they appear to have become hopelessly split on the subject. It seems that the house republicans now believe that the republicans in the senate in 1920 led them into adopting a resolution that amounted to nothing less than an apology to Germany for declaring war against her. So they construe the senate resolution repealing the state of war, President Harding, who, as a member of the senate, voted for that resolution, is declared now to agree with the house that the measure he and the other republicans in congress presented to President Wilson might give the impression of apologizing to the foe. In short, that its adoption was a case of leaping before looking.

Nevertheless, senate republicans stand pat on their resolution for repeal of the war declaration. House republicans are for a resolution that "simply" declares the war at an end. As pointed out, however, the situation is far from "simple." With each house having a simple resolution of its own and being simply determined to stand by it to the simple end, the resultant complexity is declared to have the administration deeply perplexed.

The seriousness of the republican action in placing before President Wilson a peace resolution adopted by both houses in the sixty-sixth congress and containing all the imperfections—and perhaps more—that are now complained of, speaks for itself.

WHAT IS HARDING'S PROGRAM

Every now and then Republican newspapers print squibs to the effect that while President Harding's English may not suit purists, no one is left in doubt as to what he means. It is significant that such expressions are always found in squibs. Elaborate articles on the subject might refer again to the confusion of some of the leading Republican minds over the Harding statements last fall. For instance, when one former republican secretary of state said Mr. Harding meant one thing about the League of Nations and another republican former secretary of state said he meant just the opposite. When 31 prominent republicans, including Mr. Hughes and Mr. Hoover, gave their word to the country that a vote for Mr. Harding would not be one against the League of Nations and Senator Johnson and Senator Borah declared that it would.

So the declaration that "no one is left in doubt as to what the Harding statements mean" is more of a reflection upon the intelligence or honor of the highest republican groups than upon the critics sought to be silenced.

Just to end the argument, let those who claim to understand precisely what is in the mind of the president when he is talking, give the world something definite on any program he may have shaped. From November 3 to March 4 Mr. Harding was holding special conferences with the "best minds" of his party. He has been president three months. Remembering that he and his partisans were supposed to have had a program long ago that would far surpass that of the democratic party, it is no wonder there is some impatience over the delay in presenting it. Seven months after the election that it was promised would mean a better policy have scarcely produced an inkling of a new program.

Let those who dwell upon the clarity of the Harding statements speak up.

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

Five amendments to the state constitution are to be voted on by the people of Texas on the fourth Saturday in July.

One amendment provides that the salary of the governor shall be raised from $4,000 per annum—the amount fixed 55 years ago when living expenses as well as the duties and responsibilities of the chief executive were far less than today—to $8,000. Salaries of other state officials are also increased, the attorney general to $7,500 and others to $5,000. The treasurer, comptroller and land commissioners now receive $2,500 per year. The chief objection to this amendment is that it still leaves the governor's salary inadequate. The sum of $10,000 at least should have been provided and even at that Texas would pay less than some of the states of far less importance and wealth. To allow the proposed increase in salaries would mean an increase in taxes of about half a cent on one thousand dollars.

Another amendment proposes to reduce the mileage allowance of legislators one half and increase their pay to $10 per day for session of 120 days and $5 per day thereafter. They now receive $5 per day for 60 day sessions and $2 per day thereafter. The change, it is estimated, could be made without increasing the tax rate. Its adoption is urged on the ground that it would eliminate the numerous called sessions and facilitate the transaction of legislative business.

A third amendment proposes to take the penitentiary management out of the hands of the three penitentiary commissioners and place the prison system under legislative control. Undoubtedly the prison management has been bad, worse or worst through the various administrations for forty years or more. There is very serious doubt about any improvement being effected by changing the management from the executive to the legislative department.

The fourth amendment proposes to increase the pensions for Confederate soldiers and their wives. Its adoption would mean an increase in taxes from 5 to 7 cents on the $100.

The fifth amendment provides that only American citizens be allowed to vote in Texas. Unquestionably it should be adopted. Many people perhaps do not know that at present thousands of voters in Texas elections are not American citizens. Persons who claim citizenship in other countries may and do vote in Texas by merely taking out first papers declaring their intention to become citizens. They may reside here the balance of their lives and participate in elections but still remain subjects of another country. Thousands of Mexicans and Germans are following this plan.

WHERE WOMEN CAN SERVE

Prosecuting Attorney Wright of Oklahoma City is so disgusted with the failure of juries to return verdicts of guilty against women offenders that he proposes a change in the jurymen's oath to read as follows, when a woman is to be tried:

"We swear to deliver a true verdict, according to the shape of the defendant's ankle, and the law and the evidence, if we should happen to hear any of it."

The attorney may be called ungallant, but as a matter of fact, he has called attention to a condition that ought not to exist and which the women themselves are going to correct in the near future.

The record of the trials of women, especially in the South, show that Mr. Wright's proposed oath would be much more appropriate than the traditional one that the jurymen repeat, apparently with so little concern. Nobody expects a jury to convict an attractive woman in this part of the country, even of a serious offense. The hangover of gallantry from other days serves to make the average trial of a woman offender a farce and the result a travesty on justice.

The long list of women swindlers, husband killers, and murderers of men from whom they have been estranged who have gone free in the last few years shows how nearly immune women are from the operation of the criminal laws.

And there is not much hope of improvement as long as the fate of such women is left in the hands of male juries. The remedy is in employing women jurors. Women are credited with having more sympathy than men. It is doubted if that is true under any circumstances. Their record as jurors does not indicate such to be the case. In the trial of feminine prisoners it is certain that they yield less readily to sympathetic appeals. A well trimmed ankle is not an extenuating circumstance for crime, in the eyes of a woman juror.

Women are now legally qualified to serve on juries and to act as court officers. Their brief record in these capacities proves they are sentimentally fitted for the service, and that in the case of women offenders, they are much surer to mete out justice than are men, who through the ages have been taught to shield women and to condone their shortcomings.

In a day when women are much more active outside the home and when crime among them is increased, it is manifest that the criminally inclined among them cannot be allowed to evade the responsibility to the laws on the ground of sex. That defense has already been overplayed. The good women of the country, acting as jurors, can find a field of service in the jury room in dispensing a brand of justice that will discourage crime among their sex.—Houston Post.

There is not much sympathy these days for the man who is idle because he cannot get wages high enough to suit him.

With all the simpleness in congress over how to get the dove of peace back on the perch again, how does it come that no one has proposed putting salt on its tail?

Co-operation with the United States is sought by President Zayas of Cuba, just as though we had not done all the co-operating every time a muss started over there.

It is noticeable that while republican newspapers have swallowed the election of John T. Adams, the Kaiser eulogist, as chairman of the republican national committee, few have a word of commendation on the subject.

STAY IN SCHOOL

No better advice could be given to the army of boys and girls who have recently finished, or are now finishing their school year than the short, simple plea, "Stay in School." That ought to be the motto of the entire school population of the United States from the kindergarten up to the senior class in college.

It is the way of material success. Statistics show that the grammar school graduate multiplies his chances by about five times if he goes on through high school, and that the high school graduate doubles his chances if he goes on through the college or technical school.

It is the way of spiritual success. Education opens the mind to the acquisition of riches that can not be taken away. It brings appreciation of the finest things of life. Its discipline, if it is the right kind of education, makes the mind a keen-edged sword that can cut through an error and make its own way in the realm of thought. It provides equipment for making the best and most serviceable citizens.

Many young people, perhaps most, leave school because that seems the easiest way. They find school work hard or monotonous. Mental work is hard.

It is harder than physical work, to the average person, though the handworker seldom recognizes that fact. Ask any high school student or college student who stands well in his studies. Ask any man who has forced his way to scholastic or literary or scientific success. He knows the strain of the long hours, day and night, year after year. But he knows that it pays and that when real values are considered, it is the easiest way after all, because it gives more for the effort than other work.

Stay in school. Finish the grammar school, at whatever cost. Go on to the high school, however hard the effort, and get the best it has to offer. Go to college, if possible, and once in, finish the course, however hard the studies and however difficult the financial problem.

Work for education, with brain and soul and hands. Get more of it than your parents or grandparents had. You will need it more than they did, for the standard has risen, and there is going to be keener competition than ever before.—Shreveport Journal.

LAUDABLE AMBITION

The Timpson baseball team has won so many games lately that we suggest a series of games to be matched with some of the salaried teams of East Texas. Our home boys play just as good baseball as the Henderson salaried team, and we haven't the least doubt in our minds that we have a ball team equal to Lufkin, Marshall and other East Texas towns. Let's try some of the "paid teams"—Timpson Times.

Now the government at Washington has proposed a treaty of "amity and commerce" with Mexico, indicating that Mr. Wilson made a pretty thorough job of cleaning up the mess he inherited from the Taft administration.

EVER BILIOUS?

Charleston, Miss.—Mrs. R. V. Heins, of this place, says: "I have never had to use very much medicine, because if I felt headache, dizziness, or colds, bad taste in the mouth, which comes from torpid liver, I would take a dose or more of Black-Draught, and it would straighten me out and make me feel as good as new. We have used in our family for years and it certainly is the best liver medicine I ever saw. It has not only saved me money, it has helped keep my system in shape, and has never weakened me as so many physics do. I recommend it to my friends and am glad to do so." Black-Draught is the old, reliable liver medicine which you have doubtless heard much about. When you feel badly all over, stomach not right, bad taste in your mouth, bilious, or have a headache, try Theford's Black-Draught. At all Druggists.

ONE GOOD DEALER WANTED IN EACH TOWN

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

(By J. E. Mayfield, M. D.)

The good old town of Liberty, in Liberty county, Texas, connects up with Nacogdoches traditions, in several ways. It is located on the old T. & N. O. railroad about half way between Houston and Beaumont, about forty miles from each, and about 130 miles south of Nacogdoches. It is on the east bank of the Trinity river, and when it was first laid off it was as big as the city of Washington, D. C., ten miles square, and it was started about the same time, as a rival thereof, having about as many swamps and other difficulties to contend with.

And like the town of Nacogdoches, Liberty had a prehistoric existence. Who first lived there or how, and what was done by them, besides building mounds, quiet sage, who knows.

Before either of these great towns got actually settled the kindred town of San Augustine was in a similar state of historical mystery as to a beginning. Back about the year 1770, El Capitan Gil Y'Barbo, was leader of a colony of people who were probably whites from Louisiana, and were domiciled in the southern border of the present boundaries of the town of San Augustine. This colony was then a part of Spain, while Louisiana, beyond the Sabine river, on the east was French territory. The Spanish authorities ordered these colonists to go west at once, to prevent them from smuggling across the river.

They went to an Indian village just above the present site of Liberty. As they had lived in the land of good things in the timbered hills of East Texas, they did not like the low lands on the Trinity river. So they went to San Antonio, but turned back eastward from there. They tarried on the Trinity river about where Robinson's ferry is, for a few years, and thence came to Nacogdoches. They came about 1777 or 1778, and have never left. Thus the three old East Texas towns are kindred in antiquity, and San Antonio is also akin, in this and other ways.

Following up this series of events, Nacogdoches, San Augustine, San Antonio and Liberty became connected, and had varied forms of intercourse, personal and social and also official and military associations, almost like near neighbors. The leading pioneers became friends. Some of them were intermarried. Frank Huston's mother was allured from there to Nacogdoches. The ancient and veteran editor of the Liberty Vindicator, T. J. Chalmers, went from San Augustine. Hugh Davis' father lived there, and had to be shot at four times, short range, before he left. Later he was shot at many times in the Confederate war, while he was a brave captain from Cherokee county. A. B. Ireson was in his company.

Yes, the old town of Liberty has lasted a long time, and while she has not grown greater in some respects and looks like she was finished a long time ago, she has held her own in good old-fashion, though she is not as broad as she started out to be, ten miles square. She has sent big lawyers to Houston, and she has more to spare. And in their technical lingo she rests here, though she first started out on the west side of the Trinity and moved from there to her present site.

MASONS ELECT OFFICERS

At a regular meeting of Milam Lodge, No. 2, A. F. & A. M., Saturday night the following officers were elected:

M. A. Dowdle, W. M.
Audley Harris, S. W.
Dr. T. J. Blackwell, J. D.

Dr. and Mrs. R. K. Simpson arrived in Nacogdoches Sunday, having come up here from Houston to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Simpson, Dr. R. K. Simpson's parents. Dr. and Mrs. Simpson have had a very interesting experience during the past two or three years, both being physicians. They gave their services to their country during the World War, going to France and attending to the wounded and sick, and then later giving their services after the armistice many months in Coblenz, Germany, attending to the sick there. Dr. Simpson is a Nacogdoches county boy, having been born and reared in this county. Mrs. Simpson was a Houston girl. They will stay in Nacogdoches county two or three weeks, after which time they will go to San Antonio, where they will be permanently located. During the war they were connected with the Army Medical Corps, aviation branch. Their many friends here extend a hearty welcome.

OIL NEWS

The Monroe Oil & Gas Company has bought the Hampton 500 acre lease on the Geo. H. Matthews tract, and have three wells completed of the 500 they are planning to put down, according to Frank Tucker of the Mann Oil Company, who is responsible for the oil news quoted in today's paper. This company has rigs on the way to Nacogdoches county with which they expect to drill their wells. Some of the main men of the company are also on their way to Nacogdoches to confer with the officials of the railroad company regarding putting down a switch at Dockville where oil may be loaded in the tank cars. One man connected with the company is now at Beaumont to negotiate with a large pipe company for pipe to lay a line from the scene of the drilling to Dockville.

A Mr. Clayton of Strum, Texas, is also in Nacogdoches and is very enthusiastic over the oil situation, declaring that he thinks Nacogdoches is going to be the leading oil town in East Texas. He will move his family here to grow up with the fields and to attend the Stephen F. Austin Normal.

According to Mr. Tucker, the Carroll well will resume drilling operations Sunday, operations having been suspended on account of bad machinery.

The Blount well will be opened up within a few days also, he said.

J. E. CRADDOCK

Our people were startled and grieved when the news was flashed to the city Friday forenoon that J. E. Craddock, one of the best known and most popular men in the county, had died suddenly in Houston earlier in the day.

Mrs. Craddock received a message conveying the intelligence that her husband was seriously ill and calling for her immediate presence at his bedside. She made ready to go and was at the station to take the noon train for Houston when another telegram came telling of his death. She continued her journey, and their son, Herbert, who was out in the country, was notified and took the T. & N. O. train for Beaumont en route Houston. Another son, Robert, is in South America and was notified by cable of his father's death. A daughter, Mrs. Peppicola, who resides in Boston, Mass., was also notified.

The remains will be taken to Detroit, Michigan, where interment will be made.

Mr. Craddock was manager of the Maytown Lumber Company of Maytown, a large establishment, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He was recognized as a man of unusual business acumen and sterling worth. The Sentinel joins in sympathy for the stricken family.

UNCLAIMED MONEY

Industrious and careful persons, who find it not always easy to adjust their expenditures so that they may run somewhat below their incomes and thus afford a basis for adding to the sum laid away for a rainy day, and who anxiously scan their bank balance after making out checks for the month's expenses, probably wondered to themselves when they read that more than $83,000,000 was lying in the United States treasury waiting for its owners to send and get it.

This money is not due as the result of successful suits against the government or for work or supplies furnished. It simply represents interest coupons on the new issues of the government bonds put out since the beginning of the late war, and is immediately available all that is necessary to obtain it being to present the coupons for payment.

It is not necessary even for the owners of these millions to make personal application. All they have to do is to deposit the coupons in any bank and the matter will be attended to with no further trouble on their part.

The money referred to is chiefly the interest due on Liberty bonds which have not been converted into permanent securities. The coupons on the temporary bonds being all cashed, the bonds themselves should be presented for exchange for new bonds, to which all unpaid coupons are attached. This can be done through any bank, without expense to the owners, and it ought to be done promptly.

The millions of dollars, the undeposited coupons represent should be converted into credit at the bank, through deposit, the same as cash or checks. The large sum would add to the circulating medium, and its place is in the banks where it will be available for business uses, and help in restoring commerce and industry to a basis of normal activity.

FARMERS ARE RUSHING TO SAVE THEIR WHEAT

Emporia, Kan., June 20.—Wheat has ripened so rapidly in this section because of the extremely hot weather that many farmers are cutting by moonlight. A slight shortage of harvest labor is reported. Mexicans laid off recently by the railroads are being used as harvest hands.

Laborers Flowing In

Kansas City, Mo., June 20.—The effects of the first general movement of harvest hands from outside to the Kansas wheat fields were felt here today with the steadily increasing number of applicants for work, according to a federal representative of the employment service here. With the increased labor supply came heavier demands from Kansas harvest centers for men.

BUSINESS MEN PROTEST MEXICAN MONEY DECREE

Brownsville, Texas, June 20.—Suspension for six months of President Obregon's recent decree forbidding the importation into Mexico and circulation of foreign money therein, except gold, was requested today in a telegram sent by the Matamoras Chamber of Commerce to the president. Matamoras business men assert the decree, which is to become effective July 1, will work a hardship on Mexican business interests along the border, since "there is virtually no Mexican money in circulation there."

THE FEAR OF COMETS

Comets were once supposed to be portents of dire disaster. The word "disaster" itself means "proceeding from the unlucky star." But the superstitious fear of comets has disappeared except among the inhabitants of Dahomey or the masses of China. The sole remaining dread—that or a collision between this earth and one of the heavenly speed burners—has been reduced to an inconsequential minimum through the conclusion of science that comets are exceedingly tenuous bodies, light and airy things without weight enough to penetrate our atmosphere harmfully.

It is probable that we pass thru dead comets frequently, since it is fairly certain that the November and other annual meteor showers are due to collision with the remains of a comets that have lost their power to glow. At times these showers are brilliant spectacles, their relative showiness depending upon whether the earth happens to strike a thicker or thinner portion of the corpse. There is no record that they ever did the slightest damage and most persons live and die without knowing anything about them. If the earth should pass through the tail of a live comet the result might be a brighter display of sparks. But that is all, according to the best calculations of the astronomers. Comets are frisky looking things, but they lack punch.—San Francisco Chronicle.

EXECUTIVE ENCROACHMENT

Another of those symptoms, which show a side of Warren G. Harding that he contrived to hide in the days of fawning for senatorial favor to reach the White House, appears in his walking into the office of the interstate commerce commission to see what that administrative body was going to do about adjustment of freight rates, which he and his cabinet had talked over and decided was the order of the day.

The interstate commerce commission exercises jurisdiction over transportation affairs in accordance with the authority conferred by congress, which established the commission. It is no division of the executive branch of the government. The unusual nature of his proceeding brought from President Harding the assumption that, as he communicates officially with congress, he could proceed similarly with a commission created by congress, and added that "he had come simply in the interest of co-operation and public welfare."

There may be slight significance attached to the incident, but for the fact that no one professed more aversion than Warren G. Harding regarding the national security because of alleged executive encroachment in the days of his predecessor. Well does the country remember the stress laid on this by Harding the candidate, from the Marion front porch to the farthest stump in his campaigning. Harding the president is out of place undertaking any part of the responsibilities resting with the commission. The right to review its decisions is vested with the judiciary. It is no more seeming in him to take part in its deliberations than to sit in judgment with the supreme court.

A vacation never seems so far away as two weeks before it starts.

Few persons will believe that congress has saved any money until it can be counted in the treasury.

Since man is now an equal suffragist, a man had better have a care about what he says about equal suffrage.

What America needs is a little less talk about "maintained independence" and a little more progress towards commonsensical normalcy.

If the price of wheat goes up G. O. P. mouth organs in congress will credit the tariff, but if it goes down where will the blame be placed?

Babe Ruth, "pinches" again for speeding, should begin to realize that hurrying around the bases and on city streets are different matters.

High tariff advocates in the senate should begin preparing an alibi for use when the emergency tariff fails to lift the country by the bootstraps.

Germany is rapidly getting back to normal. Brewers are now permitted to make 25 percent of their product with 12 percent alcoholic strength.

THE AMENDMENTS

Austin, Texas, June 20, 1921.
To the Voters of Nacogdoches County:

On July 23d there will be submitted to the voters of this state several amendments for their approval or rejection. Among these amendments is one providing for the increasing of the salaries of the governor and the heads of the various departments of the state government, namely, treasurer, comptroller, secretary of state, etc. Today the governor gets $4,000 per year and the heads of the other departments get $2,500, etc. To some these may seem to be extravagant salaries, but one has but to give the matter a moment of cool thinking to see that these salaries are entirely too low to be safe for a democratic state. The most inspiring principle of the national and state governments of America is that any citizen within the realm may rise to the highest honors of state. This is a principle that should be dear to the hearts of the proletariat of Texas. But how can this principle long exist, how can ability remain the test for those who shall steer the sovereign ship of state, when the state fails to give its servants a liberal existence?

Many people seem to have lost confidence in the agents of the state government. Why? But few men can keep the confidence of the people when their salaries are but half their expenses. Every citizen of this state should pride himself on the fact that we have the greatest set of state officials this state ever had. For governor we have a real, plain, simple, democrat, a man who is as honest as the days are long; a governor who is a plain, every-day citizen; a governor who can go to his noon lunch without being surrounded by all the feudal formalities of state.

Mr. John W. Baker, treasurer; Mr. Cureton, attorney general; Mr. Smith, comptroller, and the various other heads of the state departments are honest, worthy gentlemen of whom this state is proud. These men are men who are conscious of their duty to the people of the State of Texas.

Every voter should think of this amendment with much deliberation and see if it is not better to pay the heads of the state a decent salary and have honest men at the head of the state than it is to half pay them and to have the government degenerate into—? Do we want to let a man's ability be the test for his place in the state, or do we want to drift into that state where the man who has not massed or inherited a fortune cannot serve the state in its highest honors?

Yours truly,
C. Culberson Denman.

SINGERS' REUNION

The Nacogdoches County Singers' Reunion met in regular session at New Hope church Friday night before the third Sunday in June and closed at noon on Sunday following. The reunion was a success in every respect. Almost every section of the county was well represented by its best singers. Angelina county was ably represented by the following: W. M. Tarbutton, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Courtney and J. R. Hall, who rendered some very fine quartettes. A number of good duets, quartettes and solos were rendered by our various home talent.

New Hope royally entertained the reunion. Plenty of homes were provided for all the visitors and an excellent public dinner was served Saturday. The reunion extends their sincere thanks to the good people of New Hope for their courteous treatment.

After an interesting talk by Mr. R. A. Courtney of Lufkin on the district convention, our president, Mr. Sifton, appointed the following delegates to the district convention which meets at Zion Hill, in Jasper county, Friday night before the fourth Sunday in September: Will Haltom, Melrose; George B. Partin, Friendship; James D. Greer, Nacogdoches; Chas. Baker, Mahl; J. A. Sifton, Cushing; N. A. Daniels, Martinsville; Y. P. Blanton, Woden; and J. B. Battle of Swift.

As there was no petition asking for the reunion, a committee was appointed to look after that matter. The following were the committee: Henry Frederick, Geo. Partin, Cal Neil and D. A. Sifton.

We very much regret that the other adjoining counties were not represented.

Very Respectfully,
Mrs. Joe R. Day,
Secretary.

IN GOOD OLD DAYS

There were two men in Nacogdoches Tuesday recounting some of the things "that used to be in Nacogdoches." Naturally, the talk drifted to the days when there was plenty of rock-and-rye. "Do you remember," said one of the men, speaking to the other, "when you used to come to 'Daches, buy yourself a bottle of rye, put it in the back of your wagon, and swear that you were not going to take a drink until the bottle hit the front end gate upon your return home?" The other man looked thoughtful. "Yes," he replied, "I remember those days quite well; and I remember when I used to have to whip 'em up going down a hill to make the bottle hit the front end gate." Then followed an interesting story of how one of the party once went off on the Durst Lakes thoroughly equipped with drinking facilities, but with the understanding that not a drink would be taken until 10 fish had been caught. "Well, sir," said the man relating the circumstance, "at first we threw back all the small fish we caught, thinking we would not indulge until we had caught ten large ones. Well, I'll be blowed if we didn't fish all the blessed morning, before we caught any ten fish—and then we had to compromise on some small ones. And you know we fished hard!" The reporter didn't stay to hear the remainder of the story.

A NEAR-FIRE

A disastrous conflagration was narrowly averted early Wednesday morning by the prompt action of the fire department. At 12:20 a. m. an alarm brought the company to the Lone Star Bakery, where it was discovered that a pile of trash under the stairway in the Busy Bee Shoe Shop, next door to the bakery, had been ignited and was rapidly progressing toward the point of disaster. The cause of the fire is undetermined. Members of the fire company assert that when they arrived on the scene the pile of trash was blazing fiercely and a strong odor of coal oil pervaded the premises. They found the door of the shoe shop unlocked. Incendiarism is hinted, but who could have been mean enough to perpetrate such a crime cannot be guessed. Spontaneous combustion was also offered as a possible solution, but the Wright Brothers, who operate the shoe shop, declare that no greasy rags or other heat-generating material had been placed in the trashpile. We congratulate the occupants of the building upon their escape from the threatened disaster.

HONEST PEOPLE OFTEN GET THE WORST OF IT

An enterprising and resourceful fellow from Texas recently crossed into Louisiana at Logansport. Ostensibly he was selling cans of syrup, but the stuff was "white mule" liquor and as soon as the fact was whispered around he sold out quickly and went home. A few days afterwards the same wagon with a new driver crossed the river, likewise loaded with cans, and the load was disposed of in one deal to a country grocer at $4 per can; but, lo and behold! an investigation showed the stuff to be real syrup, worth 35 cents per can, and thus another Texan has imposed upon an innocent and unsophisticated Louisiana man, and thus it would seem that innocence has no protection.—Mansfield Enterprise.

ANOTHER SOLDIER BURIED

At the same hour yesterday afternoon that E. H. F. McMullen, one of the pioneer citizens and a hero of the Civil War was being laid to his resting place in Glendale cemetery, one of his comrades in arms during the early sixties, Simon Guinn, was being interred at the Old Homer cemetery, six miles away.

Simon Guinn resided near Zavalla, in the eastern portion of the county, was 74 years old at the time of his death, and bore the reputation of an upright and honorable citizen, he too being one of the pioneer settlers of the county. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. C. B. George, who paid a glowing tribute to the departed dead.—Lufkin News, 20th.

Mrs. R. B. Walthall and son, Master Garrison Walthall, arrived from Austin the latter part of last week for a few days visit to relatives and friends in town. Friends of the gentleman will regret to learn that Captain Walthall, who is serving as private secretary to the governor, will not be able to join his family on this visit, as was contemplated, by reason of accumulation of duties and responsibilities which are keeping him too busy.—Garrison News.

Now that college commencements are over, the thing is to apply the solutions to our problems that have been offered.

TAPS SOUNDED

Body of Soldier Boy Laid to Rest by Companions in Arms

In the presence of an audience which filled the house, funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church over the remains of our soldier hero, Baxter Duncan, Rev. George C. Moore, pastor of the church, conducting the solemn rites.

Following the religious services, a military funeral, under the direction of the American Legion, was accorded the honored dead. At Oak Grove cemetery a large assemblage, composed largely of women, gathered to pay the final tribute to the boy who surrendered his life that freedom might survive. A squad of eight ex-soldiers fired a salute of three volleys over the grave, a bugle sounded "taps", and the body was consigned to the resting place provided for its eternal sleep.

Baxter Duncan was the first of the soldier boys from this section to fall in battle in the World War. To fittingly perpetuate his memory and to commemorate his supreme sacrifice for us, his name was bestowed upon the local post of the American Legion, and in all the years to come this will serve as a monument of our grief and pride—grief that one so well known and loved should be called from us, and pride that his patriotism rose above self and prompted him to offer his life upon the altar of his country. It was a noble ending of a noble life, and we can but reverse the lofty motives which led him to the battle front and to death. He is worthy of every honor that love and gratitude can bestow.

May the "peace that passeth all understanding" be his forevermore.

NACOGDOCHES LOSES TO CUSHING—SCORE 2 TO 3

Nacogdoches baseball fans who were not at the game Thursday between Nacogdoches and Cushing missed a real treat. Although a defeat for Nacogdoches, the game was a well-deserved victory for Cushing. The grandstand was crowded with a roaring, enthusiastic crowd of Nacogdoches and Cushing people, who cheered alternately for their respective players. Luke Lucas of Cushing was one of the especially prominent boosters for Cushing, and he was the object of attack of the Nacogdoches rooters.

Up until the ninth inning the game was a tight one, the score being 1 to 0 in favor of Cushing. Then Cushing scored two runs in the ninth by a wild pitch. Nacogdoches came near making a tie in the ninth inning rally. Hall pitched for Nacogdoches, and pitched fine ball, only allowing four scattering hits. Bates of Cushing also pitched good ball.

Probably the most tense moment of the game was during the ninth inning, when, with bases full, and only one man down, Nacogdoches whanged a left fielder over the fence. It looked as if every man on bases would score, but the ball proved to be a foul by three feet. The cheering by the Nacogdoches fans was tremendous, but gradually died away.

The batteries were: Nacogdoches, Hall and Rulfs; Cushing, Bates and Irwin.

Come out to the games, they are fine. It is true that the home boys have lost so far, but just now they are not in practice. Later on they will be the lions of East Texas!

PUREBRED LIVESTOCK PICNIC AND FARM BARBECUE

On Friday, July 15, the Nacogdoches County Purebred Livestock Association will hold its second annual picnic and barbecue on Billie Wortham's stock farm six miles south of Garrison. Those who attended this affair last year will bear witness that it was a very pleasant and very profitable affair.

The association is planning even greater things for the forthcoming meeting. The plan is to have a basket picnic supplemented with choice barbecued meats. President Wortham very generously offers to furnish the barbecue and those who attend will be expected to bring well filled baskets, which will insure a good feed for all.

Speakers of note from other points will attend. There will be a splendid exhibition of livestock of all kinds for inspection and for demonstration.

The ladies are urgently requested to bring along their best specimens of poultry of all sorts, and to hear Mr. Kazmeir, a poultry specialist of state-wide reputation. Mr. Kazmeir will give practical lectures and demonstrations on feeding, breeding and selection of laying strains.

Please remember the date, Friday, July 15th, and watch this paper for further announcement.

Respectfully,
H. L. McKnight,
Sec-Treas., Livestock Association.

Why That Headache

When you know the cause of a disease a cure may often be effected. This is particularly true of headache. Headache often results from constipation or a disordered condition of the stomach which may be corrected by taking a dose or two of Chamberlain's Tablets. Try it. These tablets are easy to take and gentle and mild in effect. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Professor T. H. Hunt writes back to friends that he has arrived in Tennessee, and that he is now busy on the farm of his father, prior to his going to the University of Tennessee this fall to study law. Mr. Hunt on leaving Nacogdoches went to Knoxville, where he stayed a few days with his sister, and from there he went home. He says that everything in his native state is doing nicely, and that there are no mosquitoes up there. Any of his Nacogdoches friends can reach him by mail by addressing him at Jonesboro, Tenn.

NOTICE

Under date of April 15, our City Council saw fit to appoint me City Fire Marshal.

It is my desire to perform the duties of the office as they should be, but I cannot do so unless I get the co-operation of all of you good people, and that co-operation I solicit.

It is a physical impossibility for me to get over our entire city and see that all hazardous conditions are removed; hence I am taking this method of requesting you to survey your premises and if you find anything that would add fuel to the flames, I would appreciate you having it removed.

I also want to ask you to have all weeds and tall grass in your back lots and fields near any house cut immediately and disposed of in a safe way.

You will, no doubt, recall the fire department having been called to a grass fire on North street last year and it was a hard fight, too.

Please do not neglect to look after this matter at once for we do want to keep the good fire record we now hold.

Did you know that the trash that is dangerous from the standpoint of fire, is also a rendezvous for rats? Let us save our property from fire and at the same time fight the rats, and by doing so we may save the life of one of our dear ones.

L. I. Muller,
City Fire Marshal.

In connection with the above it might be well to call attention to a report by the New York health authorities to the effect that the rat population of that city is equal to the human. Many towns are similarly afflicted. It is very probable that Nacogdoches comes within this category. The menace is great. The only remedy is a concerted slaughter of the rodents. Kill every rat possible and destroy their breeding places. Everybody act!

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy

Every family should keep this preparation at hand ready for instant use when needed. Severe attacks of colic and cholera morbus often prove fatal before medicine can be procured or a physician summoned. The uniform success that has attended this remedy and the prompt cures which it has effected have made it a staple article of trade. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

KILLED AND INJURED IN RAILROAD WRECK

Omaha, Neb., June 16.—Four persons were killed and 14 injured, some seriously, with three or four missing as the result of the wreck of east bound train No. 606 on the Chicago Northwestern railroad near Crawford, Neb., late last night. The forward sleepers of the train plunged through a bridge over Big Cottonwood creek after the engine and mail car has passed safely, according to first reports. A relief train took the dead and injured to Chadron, a few miles east of the wreck, today and returned to the wreck to complete the search for missing passengers.

Cause of the Disaster

Chicago, June 16.—The sudden rising of the waters in Big Cottonwood creek three miles east of Whitney, Neb., due to a local storm, weakened the Chicago Northwestern bridge, causing a wreck, according to railroad reports received today. The tender, baggage car and mail car, the day coach and chair cars plunged into the creek. The engine passed safely, the sleeping cars remained on the tracks.

Five Known Dead

Omaha, Neb., June 16.—The number of known dead has reached five and injured 27.

GREECE IS IMPRESSING AMERICAN CITIZENS

Smyrna, June 17.—American citizens are being impressed into the Greek army by agents of the Athens government. George Horton, the United States consul general here, has protested to Governor General Steriades. For many months, Americans, many of whom served in the army of France, have been taken forcibly from their homes and from vessels arriving from the United States and compelled to join the Greek forces. There have been scores of such cases at Athens, Smyrna, Patras and Salonika. Only those who are able to escape and get in communication with American consular officials have obtained redress. Mr. Horton appealed to Washington to make a peremptory demand upon the Greek government to discontinue this breach of the agreement between the two countries.

MORE LAWLESSNESS BY ALLEGED KU KLUX KLAN

Belton, Texas, June 17.—A negro named Collins was seized by a small group of masked men here last night, spirited away in an automobile to a cedar brake near the city and given 50 lashes with a whip. Later Collins was returned to town and told to walk the streets until midnight and then leave town. He carried a placard on his back which read, "Whipped by Ku Klux Klan." The negro had been held in the county jail several days charged with insulting a white woman, but was released after the grand jury failed to indict him.

ENGLAND WILL NOT ACT AGAINST AMERICA

London, June 17.—Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the house of commons, today declared in the house in regard to the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty: "Although I do not in any way wish to prejudice the action of the imperial conference, it is right to say at once that we can be no party to any alliance directed against America or under which we can be called upon to act against America."

SHRINERS WILL CARE FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

TEXAS PRISON SYSTEM SHOULD BE CHANGED

(By George W. Dixon.)

Houston, Texas, June 16.—The best interests of our state demand that our present prison system shall be changed. For several years the Texas penitentiary has been so mismanaged as to constitute a shame upon our citizenship. Prisoners have been brutally beaten, hung up in chains until unconscious, shot down in the fields, confined in dark cells, driven sick and half clad to their daily tasks in the fields, then discharged from prison without money or clothing sufficient to enable them to face the world and earn an honest living.

Last December I called attention to these terrible abuses. The state legislature ordered an investigation of the penitentiary and the State prison farms and found that every charge I made was true. A number of old political fossils are now sneering at the result of their investigation, and explaining that these investigations have been going on for years and accomplishing nothing. He laughs best who laughs last! The ballot is our weapon—use it!

The governor of Texas recently made charges which in effect, substantiated everything I said against the prison system. The governor went further and told about the theft of state property by the hired employees of the state. Yet not a single prosecution has been made. With free land, free tools, free labor, the prison commission lost last year nearly $1,000,000. Yet the convicts worked from daylight till dark. I know one boy now hoeing cotton with a bullet in his lung. Guards with shotguns, pistols and bull whips, drive these prisoners from day to day, still the taxpayers of Texas must dig up a million dollars a year to meet the expense of operating the prison farms. This is a monstrous injustice to every farmer in Texas, who must pay taxes, support his family and educate his children. It is a wrong to every boy and girl. It is a wrong to every educational institution and every church and every school in the state. It is a wrong to the unknown mothers who must bear children to feed this prison monster in the future—for it must have its yearly toll of Texas boys! These boys must come from your homes, mothers of Texas! And they will pass through those prison gates and when they return to civil life they will be broken in spirit and in health, without faith in the justice of established laws that permit such terrible wrongs as are being committed against Texas prisoners. On Saturday, July 23, 1921, the people of Texas will vote to abolish the present Prison Commission and give the Texas legislature a chance to establish a new system that shall measure up to the ideals of a civilized people. Let every citizen act! Vote to abolish the Prison Commission!

PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT REPORTED BANKRUPT

Washington, June 17.—The Philippine government is facing bankruptcy, Major General Leonard Wood and former Governor General Forbes declare in a cablegram transmitted today to congress by Secretary Weeks, who asked immediate action on the bill authorizing the island government to increase the limit of its indebtedness from fifteen million to thirty million dollars. General Wood and Mr. Forbes, who are investigating conditions in the Philippines for President Harding, said the National Bank, with which the Philippine provinces and municipalities are required to deposit all funds, is "practically insolvent."

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION CALLED FOR JULY 18

Austin, Texas, June 17.—Governor Neff issued a proclamation late Friday calling the legislature to convene in extraordinary session at 9 a. m., Monday, July 18.

He gave seven reasons for calling the special session, the first of which was to make appropriations for the support and maintenance of the government and state institutions. The other purposes for calling the special session were to provide added revenue for the schools; to restrict the state into senatorial and representative districts; to consider and act upon such other matters of "vital importance" that he may present. The repeal of the suspended sentence law; the Dean prohibition law and the Johnson enforcement bill, giving the governor more power to remove officers in Texas, are other matters to be considered in the special session. Provision for consolidating overlapping departments and abolishing useless offices and positions for a more efficient and economical administration of the government is the final reason named by the governor. He had formerly announced that the session would be called July 11, but after a consultation Friday with various department heads, he announced the session for July 18.

A LEGISLATIVE ERROR

Austin, Texas, June 18.—Various department heads today expressed the opinion that an error in naming the article to be amended by house joint resolution No. 30, passed at the regular session of the legislature and which is to be voted on by the people on the fourth Saturday in July, may cause the intention of the resolution to be defeated. The amendment: house resolution proposing to abolish the board of prison commissioners and authorizing the legislature to enact laws to fix the administration of the prison system, introduced by Representative Satterwhite.

SLEEPING COUPLE MANGLED BY HOUSTON AXMAN

Houston, Texas, June 18.—An axman, believed to have been a negro, "Pink Shirt," about 2:45 this morning fractured the skulls of B. Wolf and his wife, Mrs. Rebecca Wolf, as they slept in their apartment above their grocery store at Sunset Heights, a suburb. At a local infirmary, where they were taken, it was stated that both were unconscious and would probably die. Except for excellent finger prints on the window through which the man entered, the intruder left no clues. A 3-year-old boy, the only child of the couple, was asleep in the same room, but was unharmed. According to an employee of the grocery, Wolf recently had a difficulty with the negro over the collection of a bill.

GENERAL STRIKE THREAT

London, June 18.—The executive committee of the miners' union, which met today to consider the coal strike situation, decided to ask all trades unions affected to meet the miners' representatives soon with the object of taking national action with the miners. It is said this implies a general strike if the other unions agree.

HOPE TO SIGN UP 60,000 BALES IN DAY

Dallas, Texas, June 17.—"We want to write sixty thousand bales of cotton in ten hours' time in our district and we are going to mobilize our forces to that end," said F. R. Shanks who is now at work in South Texas in signing up contracts for the Texas Farm Bureau million bale cotton pool.

Plans are being made for the teams of men to visit all the big cotton growers in the district the day before the drive and enlist their services and influence. On the appointed day there will be four hundred teams working, each having a quota of one hundred and fifty bales to sign up before the day is over.

DRASTIC ANTI-JAP RESOLUTION BY LABOR

Denver, Colo., June 17.—A demand that congress act to protect the nation's interest against "the growing menace of Japanese immigration and colonization" was made in a resolution submitted today at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. Leaders declared the resolution the most drastic measure on the Japanese question ever submitted by organized labor. It calls for "the absolute exclusion in future of all Japanese immigration, not only male but female, and skilled and unskilled laborers, and men of small trades and professions, as recommended by Theodore Roosevelt, with permission for temporary residence only for students, tourists, artists, commercial men, teachers and others."

Health turns the Clock Backward

Healthful Kidneys A Summer Comfort

(Thursday Health Talk No. 9.)
(By R. W. Zilar, D. C.)

Sufferers from any form of kidney trouble endure more misery in the heated season of the year than at any other time. When the kidneys are acting properly, the perspiration is normal and Nature keeps the body at an even heat, regardless of weather.

Healthy action of the kidneys depends upon a constant free supply of nervous impulses. The cause of kidney disease is disturbance of the alignment of spinal joints, causing pressure at "kidney place" upon spinal nerves to the kidneys. Usually kidney sufferers are conscious of pain or tenderness at this point. Chiropractic spinal adjustments restore the alignment, and remove the cause of the disease.

HAD BRIGHT'S DISEASE AND WAS GIVEN UP

"I was advised I had Bright's disease of the kidneys and was under the care of two physicians who said that I would die. On January 14, I began taking Chiropractic spinal adjustments. Under continuous adjustments in April 1, I was well. The dizziness, the pain in my head, the swelling over my body and the constant pain over my kidneys are all gone. I cannot say too much in praise for Chiropractic."—G. W. Maness, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1265-L.

DIPPING VAT PROPOSITION MOVING OFF SMOOTHLY

Wednesday the "commissioners" court met and took up its regular duty awaiting disposal shrditainshrditayties, attending to several matters awaiting disposal. The newspaper man in visiting the court was informed by Judge Marshall that he misunderstood the court Tuesday in an article which appeared in the Sentinel, saying that the court was having trouble over the dipping vat question. "It is evident that the writer of the article misunderstood the court's position and also to the reference to friction between the people," said Judge Marshall. "There is in fact little or no friction between the court and the people over the dipping vat question. With the exception of possibly one or two the people of Nacogdoches county are unanimously co-operating with the Commissioners' court in turning over their vats and building new vats, all of which shows that the people are interested in tick eradication. The court is now of the opinion that there will be no further trouble over making the county clear of ticks."

NACOGDOCHES ICE CREAM PLANT DOING NICELY

The reporter Thursday in his rounds over the city called upon the Marigold Creamery, which offered him a cordial welcome, giving him a taste of its splendid cream, and showing him the various varieties it is putting out. Mr. R. G. Muckleroy, owner of the plant, said that the plant was doing fine, and that just now the average number of gallons sold daily is 100, this bringing $1.50 a gallon. Mr. Muckleroy buys his milk from farmers having good cows. He is well equipped for the ice cream making business, judging from his mechanical installations. The head of the plant is Mr. P. E. Kennerly, formerly with A. & M., and this man is thoroughly conversant with the cream business. Mr. Kennerly is now in Houston, where he was married Thursday night to Miss Velma Brown. Mr. Arthur Summers, a friend, is also in Houston to be the best man. They will return to Nacogdoches, where they will make their home.

The ice cream plant is only another Nacogdoches proposition run by a Nacogdoches man, making good.

BRITAIN FREE FROM WOLFE

Country More Fortunate in That Respect Than Are Other Lands in Europe.

We in the British Isles appear to have got rid of the wolf plague. In England, in the early Fifteenth century, the beast ceased to be a danger that had to be reckoned with. It remained longer in Scotland, where the very last wolf ever heard of in the roaming state is said to have been slain by Sir Even Cameron of Lochiel during the reign of Charles II—an incident that appears to have been looked upon as distinctly worthy of notice.

The complete and final elimination of the bane is no doubt owing to the fact that, as lupus was steadily being hunted down in the land, our insular position precluded all possibility of fresh immigration. In France the case was different. There was nothing to prevent the migrating wolf from reaching the country from the wildernesses of Central Europe—even from Russia and still more distant Siberia, the classic home of the race.

Many are the legends, to some extent based on fact, of vast armies of wolves travelling—even as the invading Goths and Vandals—from their hungry deserts to the richer lands of the West, to be stopped only by the Atlantic. At any rate, to this day the black wolf crosses the Pyrenees, and the brown wolf the Alps, to reinforce fraternally the ranks of the much-harried gray wolf of France. And the day seems still far distant when the curse will be finally extinguished—Egerton Castle in the Youth's Companion.

"VERDICT BY JUDGE LYNCH"

Just Where That Famous Jurist First Held Court Has Long Been Matter of Dispute.

"Lynch law" is purely an Americanism. Its origin is somewhat in doubt. No such law is on the statute books, and the application of the expression today refers to outlaw or mob law which circumvents the written law, or inflicts a swift punishment before the legal authorities have had a chance to take action.

Figuratively speaking, such an act is called "a verdict by Judge Lynch." According to one authority, one Charles Lynch, a patriot of Virginia, conspired with Robert Adams and Thomas Callaway, to deal out relentlessly and unhesitatingly, punishment to all law breakers and Tories during the days of our Revolution.

However, this origin is disputed. Some say that there was a small body of water known as "Lynch creek" in North Carolina during the same period in our history, and that on its shores a court-martial was held over the lifeless body of a Tory who had been hanged to prevent his rescue. Naturally, the verdict was death by hanging, and the judge did not have to bother about the execution of the sentence.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Efficient Spending.

The measure of real necessity is surprisingly small. When one finds the medium ground between prodigality and stinginess he will realize that he can live there, even though his income may be moderate. Greater moderation in many things would leave us a healthier and happier race, to say nothing of what it would do for our bank accounts. Certainly, before buying a thing one should honestly ask himself whether he needs it. He should, likewise, give himself an honest answer.

The second principle of efficient spending is that when one has honestly decided that he needs a thing he should buy the best he can get. If one buys at all, it pays to search the market for an article of high quality. Moreover, he is very apt not to find an article of high grade unless he does search the market rather carefully.

Right View of Life.

It is time to get over the idea that we have to be comfortable because we were brought up that way, while others were predestined to misery and are so hardened to their condition that we needn't bother. One effect of travel—if the traveler is impressionable, and some travelers are not—is to show us that no country has a monopoly of certain homely virtues that take root and flourish in the bleakest, as in the richest soil. Nor is any other country particularly interested in our introspective studies of how good we are and our ingrowing imagination of our greatness. Boastfulness is a posture as unlovely for the millions as it is for one. Let us give credit to others for possessing some of the qualities we admire so much in ourselves.—Exchange.

Sartorial Eclipses.

"You say this embezzler was humiliated when forced to appear in court." "Yes." "That seems to indicate that he has a conscience." "Not at all. After having spent years building up a local reputation as a 'snappy dresser,' he had to appear in a suit that needed pressing."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

But It's the Fashion.

Wife—Aren't you positively ashamed that your wife and daughter are all out at the elbows? Hub—Nope. But I'm ashamed that they are all out at the knees.—American Legion Weekly.

THIS MAN DREADED TO SEE NIGHT COME

Was so Restless He Couldn't Sleep and Daylight was Always Welcome

"With the exception of a little milk toast, which comprised my diet for more than eight weeks, I could not eat anything," said Capt. Geo. W. Womble, residing at 105 Jennings St., Knoxville, Tenn., a highly respected citizen of that city.

"I am now able," continued Captain Womble, "after taking two bottles of Tanlac to eat practically anything. I had a bad form of stomach and intestinal trouble for a long time and for months my condition had been such that I suffered agony. I got so I could not eat even the simplest foods. I tried doctor after doctor and all kinds of medicine, but nothing did any good that was prescribed for me. I had a terrible pain in my breast just over my heart and for weeks and weeks I got no relief.

"I finally got so nervous I actually dreaded to see night come as I could not sleep and was always so restless I would rejoice to see daylight come. I was also constipated all the time. In fact, life seemed a burden and I was so miserable that I was almost on the verge of despair. Several of my neighbors told me about Tanlac and advised me to try it.

"I am personally acquainted with Mr. Dan M. Chambliss of the firm of Kuhlman & Chambliss, and when I told him of my condition and how I suffered he advised me to begin taking Tanlac without delay and that it had relieved hundreds of the best people in Knoxville. I have taken two bottles of Tanlac and am giving you this testimonial in the hope that it may induce others to take it. Since taking this medicine I actually feel like I had been made all over again with the youth, energy and ambition of a sixteen year old boy."

Tanlac is sold in Nacogdoches by Stripling, Haselwood & Company and Swift Bros. & Smith and in Garrison by the Dale Drug Company and all leading druggists.

GIRLS AND BOYS ARE YOU PROGRESSING IN THE WORLD OR MOVING BACKWARDS?

Are you chained to a small job and a small salary? Are you in a rut where you are just holding your own, where you are not improving yourself and have no future? Don't think you are standing still. You can't; you either move backward or forward. If you are not progressing you are losing ground. You have ambition, you want a good position and prospects for success in the future. Don't allow yourself to stay on a small job and a small income, without making any progress in life. Get your feet on the ladder of success. How are you going to do it?

There are several ways from here to there. You can travel the twenty-five thousand miles around the earth and arrive at the next street, or you can take a straight line across the block and approach your destination in two minutes. The world is full of people trying to cross the block by going around the world. The ones who get somewhere are the ones who know how to select a direct route.

THE DIRECT ROUTE TO A GOOD BUSINESS POSITION IS THRU THE TYLER COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.

If you don't believe this, go out some day and make a dozen applications for positions. Say to the employer, "I would like to have some kind of a position," and when you are asked what you can do, tell him you haven't any particular kind of training, but that you can do most anything. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred he will tell you he wants a bookkeeper, stenographer, typist, somebody who can do some one thing in a superior way.

There is a short cut to business success and there is a long route, and when you are young and have the opportunity to select the one or the other. Doubtless you can get some kind of a job in a business and work up, but don't underestimate the difficulty of the task of working up. Successful business men are too busy to teach school in their offices. Select the shorter, direct route, through the T. C. C. and you will reach your destination early enough to enjoy the fruits of the journey.

You do not have to be a sage to understand that these things are true but you will be a wise young man or woman if you realize their significance, realize that they apply to you and not some one else, and take advantage of the opportunities that the right sort of action will open up. Take a course with us and we will place you in a good paying position as soon as you finish. Fill in coupon below and mail it to us for a large free catalogue, descriptive of our courses of bookkeeping, shorthand, business administration and finance, telegraphy,

The little mountain island of Yap, which is a matter of arbitrary consequence between the United States and Japan, isn't worth standing room in the North Pacific ocean, except as a cable station connecting the Orient. Yap's people are yappy. They use stones for money, and never put them under a lock and key, but pile them in their front yards.—Ex.

"Well, Si," asked the justice of the peace of the lone constable, "what's this man charged with?" "Bigotry," answered Si. "He's got three wives."

"By gosh, Si," exclaimed his honor, "Where is your education? That ain't bigotry. That's trigonometry!"

A FIERCE STRUGGLE WITH BLACK MUD

Sunday several people from Nacogdoches motored down to the Durst Lakes to view the wonderful scenery and to incidentally visit the camp of some Nacogdoches boys and girls who are encamped there fishing. Among those going were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Mast, Miss Pearl Summers, Dr. R. W. Zilar, Will Watkins, and, of course, the newspaper man. The trip over the Nacogdoches-Douglass road was a pleasant one, and even down to Legg's store the journey was not so bad. But about one mile south of Legg's store in mudhole No. 1 the first trouble was encountered; and from the trouble encountered, mudholes Nos. 2 and 3 were never tackled.

Dr. Zilar was the first one to get stuck, but with the help of Mr. Mast, an experienced automobile man, he soon managed to get out of the slush. Then Mr. Mast decided to show the crowd how he could get enough momentum to carry him splashing thru the place. Accordingly he got busy, headed his car straight into the mud-hole, and let 'er slash. The big car plowed through the mud for several feet, and then decided to take a rest for its health, and no sort of coaxing from its driver could cause it to do anything but groan and spin its wheels. Then of course the usual pushing, grunting and sweating was indulged in by the bystanders, all to no avail. Teams, men and planks were employed, but still uselessly. Finally, at a late hour, Mr. Mast decided to send after his brother, Adlai Mast, requesting him to bring a block and tackle and a big Buick. It is presumed Adlai came to the rescue about midnight Sunday night, and the unfortunate car dealt with successfully. The one responsible for this article is none other than George Millard, who suggested to the reporter that the article written about the affair should be a long one, and that it should be entitled "A Struggle With Black Mud!" And there was mud.

As the result of this secret yesterday at Palestine in Lufkin's favor, the former team disbanded, our boys arriving at home today at noon. As a result of the breaking up of Palestine's team, the schedule of games with that nine has been abandoned and unless dates are secured with some good team out of Houston the four days, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, set aside for the Lufkin-Palestine series, will find our team idling on the bench. Calls are now in for the sporting editors of the Houston Chronicle and The Post, and the chances are good for the coming of a fast team from Houston for a three and maybe a four game series, commencing tomorrow.

Marshall comes to Lufkin for a four-game series commencing Monday, and, oh what a contest that is going to be. Lufkin has strengthened her pitching staff by the addition of two good twirlers, and with these two teams evenly matched a contest will be staged worth going miles to see. If a game is arranged for tomorrow it will be thoroughly advertised by circulars and otherwise.—Lufkin News, 16th.
