$185,000 RECOMMENDED FOR STEPHEN F. AUSTIN NORMAL

Austin, Texas, July 13.—The house and senate appropriations committee voted today to recommend an initial appropriation of $185,000 for the Stephen F. Austin Normal at Nacogdoches.

The people of Nacogdoches and East Texas have reason to be gratified over the information contained in the above dispatch. Of course the proposed appropriation has yet to run the gauntlet of the legislature, but the fact that the committee reported favorably on the project is encouraging. Our people have worked hard for this much-needed school, and it is hoped their reward will be not much longer withheld.

BRAKEMAN ARRESTED CHARGED WITH MURDER

El Paso, Texas, July 13.—W. Earl Stirman, brakeman on the railroad freight train on which Engineer Bohlman was killed and Fireman Robinson injured near Alpine on July 8, will receive a preliminary hearing in Alpine today in connection with the killing of the engineer, according to railroad officials. Stirman was arrested yesterday upon complaints sworn to by Texas Rangers, officials said.

WACO WHITECAPPERS PLACED UNDER BONDS

Waco, Texas, July 13.—O. D. Reed, W. L. Edmond and Bowden Hayes, Jr., were held for the grand jury in $1,000 bonds each after the hearing of testimony charging them with whitecapping. George Jackson, the fourth man arrested, was discharged. The district court room was filled with citizens, and when Jackson was discharged there was a demonstration in his favor.

NO VOTE OF THANKS FOR U. S. SENATOR

Mexico City, July 13.—Resolutions expressing a vote of thanks by the Mexican senate to United States Senator LaFollette for his action opposing military operations against Mexico without the express authority of congress were voted down last night in the senate, which had met in secret session. According to El Universal, it was decided that the senator's utterances against military aggression were "not inspired by regard for Mexico, but by political motives."

HARDING'S PROPOSAL PLEASES THE FRENCH

Paris, July 12.—The French government will accept with pleasure and without reservation an invitation to a conference for the limitation of armaments. This was stated in a letter sent to the American embassy here by the government today for President Harding.

Premier Briand announced publicly in the chamber of deputies that the government would eagerly accept such invitation. The premier expressed thanks to President Harding for "his noble initiative," while the chamber broke into cheers. The premier added: "France replies eagerly to the suggestion for a conference from which we may hope will come the final peace of the world. (Prolonged applause.) I am sure I interpret the sentiment of this chamber when I thank the head of the state who has taken this noble initiative and who thought at once of associating our country with it. It is a homage rendered the pacific sentiments which France has always shown in the gravest circumstances."

MEXICO PREPARING TO PAY DAMAGES

Mexico City, July 13.—All countries whose nationals have suffered damages from Mexican revolutions have been invited by President Obregon to appoint delegates to meet Mexican representatives and form a permanent commission to pass upon claims. The invitation took the form of a presidential decree promulgated last night in accordance with a law passed in 1913 at the instance of President Carranza to give whatever official stamp was necessary to assure a permanent Mexican commission for dealing with indemnities.

IRISH LEADERS TO ATTEND PEACE TALK

Dublin, July 12.—The Irish republican leaders chosen to participate in the conference to be held with British government authorities Thursday in London left today for that place. They were Eamonn de Valera, Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein; Austin Stack and Robert G. Barton, both Sinn Fein members of the British parliament.

SOLDIERS KILLED WHEN CAR JUMPS SEA WALL

Galveston, Texas, July 13.—Corporal Thurlow Smith, 47, was killed and Sergeant James Hudson, 50, was injured late yesterday when their car plunged over the sea wall near Fort Crockett. Smith, who was learning to drive, expected to be discharged within a few weeks.

SUBJECT TO TAXATION

Austin, Texas, July 12.—The property sold to the state for the expansion of the Texas University campus, as provided by legislative enactment, is not exempt from taxes for 1921, the attorney general's department held today. Whether the legislature has power to exempt such property is yet to be determined, it was said.

GARRISON CITY MARSHAL CAPTURES MUCH BOOZE

Garrison, Texas, July 12.—City Marshal Vaught of this city proved the greatest "booze rustler" in the community yesterday, beginning the day early by taking a grip which contained a bottle of "shinney". From this the marshal got a trail back to the source of supply, where he found several gallons in jugs and bottles of various sizes and five barrels of sour mash, stored in an old house in the edge of town.

The whiskey and mash were confiscated and are being held. One arrest has been made, but as other parties are under complaint who have not yet been apprehended, names are not being given out.

FATAL AFFRAY IN NEGRO SETTLEMENT

A fatal shooting affray occurred at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning in a negro settlement known as "Nigger Center" 12 or 14 miles northeast of Nacogdoches. Particulars are lacking, but it was learned that a negro named John Martin was killed, Arlington Caldwell was badly wounded and his wife killed. Sheriff Woodlan was called to the scene and had not returned when the Sentinel went to press. All the parties involved were negroes.

HELD IN CONNECTION WITH ENGINEER'S DEATH

El Paso, Texas, July 11.—The preliminary hearing for Charles F. Robinson, fireman on the Southern Pacific, who is held in connection with the death of Engineer W. F. Bohlman Friday near Alpine, will be postponed until it is learned just where Bohlman was killed, railroad officials announced today.

POPE IS GRATIFIED BY HARDING'S MOVE

Rome, July 13.—The Observatore Romano, the Vatican organ, today prints a semi-official note warmly congratulating President Harding on the initial steps he has taken for a disarmament conference. The note says that the American president's action is identical with that taken by Pope Benedict in August, 1917, when His Holiness wrote to the powers with the object of ending the war. It adds that the pope will experience the liveliest pleasure at seeing his prayers realized under the powerful initiative of the United States.

SUPERINTENDENT CHOSEN

Austin, Texas, July 12.—E. B. McMordie of Gatesville has been appointed superintendent of the Home for Neglected and Dependent Children at Waco, the board of control announced today.

AN EPOCHAL EVENT IN WORLD'S HISTORY

London, July 12.—The world is on the eve of one of the most epochal events in history. This is the verdict of a newspaper's statement here following President Harding's offer and the British government's acceptance in connection with the proposed armament conference.

The scene in the house of commons yesterday when Lloyd George announced Great Britain's hearty acquiescence in the proposal was a memorable one. The premier spoke to a hushed, crowded chamber. When he announced the government's attitude on the question of a crash of appuaise, not equaled since the armistice, came from all quarters.

FIRST INTIMATION OF SUIT AGAINST STATE

Austin, Texas, July 11.—A Chattanooga dispatch in today's papers that Andrew L. George had obtained a promise from the Texas legislature that he would be allowed to sue the state for damages because he served six years in the penitentiary for an offense of which he was not guilty is the first intimation that legislators now here had heard of it.

PASTEUR TREATMENT FOR GAINESVILLE CITIZENS

Gainesville, Texas, July 11.—Mrs. J. M. Atkins and her three children and one child each of the families of O. G. Melton, G. W. Elmsey and O. L. Wood, all of Sanger, were given the Pasteur treatment here yesterday following bites by a pet dog eight days ago. The animal's head was found to show indications of rabies.

PRESIDENT OPPOSES THE SOLDIER BONUS

Washington, July 12.—The enactment at the present moment of adjusted compensation legislation for veterans of the World War would "greatly imperil the financial stability of the country," President Harding told the senate today in the second address he has made that body during his administration. He added: "Our obligation is to the disabled and their dependents. The executive branch owes it to the country to state frankly the difficulties we are daily called upon to meet and the added peril the measure would bring."

FAVORABLE RESPONSES FROM ALL-FUT ONE

Washington, July 12.—It is understood that favorable responses were received today from all but one of the powers invited to participate in the disarmament conference.

THE PLACE TO SHOP

IS THE PRESIDENCY INDICATIVE OF GREATNESS

Four years ago one of Senator Harding's colleagues suggested that the senator wanted to be president, to which the modest man replied:

"I should like it said, since this question has been raised, that I think too well of my country to wish one of such incapacity in so exalted a position."

If this were still Senator Harding's attitude it would raise a very profound, very perplexing, very complex question. If he thought too well of his country to think it would want him for president, his opinions must have been hopelessly dashed at Chicago last summer. On the other hand, his opinions, having been so dashed, he may have felt that his country has so deteriorated that he was no longer bound by his own sense of inferiority from essaying to "save" it. Conscientiously he could not have run for president in a country wise enough not to nominate him, but in a country at so low an ebb as to nominate him he doubtless had no trouble in convincing himself that he was the logical candidate.

And, in a way, he was the logical candidate—the candidate of everybody who wanted nothing done and done very well. Originally the chief executive of the United States was designed to execute. But the needs for 1921 and 1922 and perhaps for 1923 and 1924, as seen by the heads of the great G. O. P., was restraint of execution. They didn't want the labor question settled, nor high costs tacked below the belt. They didn't want any ideas imported from foreign parts or grown in the heads of the American masses, to creep into "politics". And now we have President Harding.

After all is said and done there is more hypocrisy in the square inch in modern presidential campaigns than almost anywhere else—hypocrisy in candidates, in platforms, in speeches, in propaganda. Organized bamboozling is what now seems to boost mediocrity into the national limelight.

NOT CELEBRATING

While the republican majority in each branch of congress finally agreed on a separate peace resolution which President Harding signed, it is remarked that there is utterly no spirit of celebration on the part of either. Each seems to recognize the action as a matter for apology rather than felicitation.

It is well that the republican leaders have started now to apologize for their pleasure peace resolution and their movement toward a separate and negotiated pact, after American valor and statesmanship had made possible dictated terms in company with the Allies of this country; for the republican party to the end of its existence will have to apologize for the action of its members in congress and elsewhere who stultified themselves in the campaign against the League of Nations for which they had called—which some of them helped to build. Since there are no instances in history where stultification was looked upon as a virtue, it is out of the question, when the American people realize how they were deceived by the foes of the world peace plan, that the republican stultifiers will hold big places in the history of their country.

Yes, it is well that the republicans responsible for the trifling peace plan have started promptly to apologize for it. Woe betide them when the American people wake up and find what has been done to them.

NACOGDOCHES COUNTY IN THE SAM HOUSTON NORMAL

The Sam Houston Normal Institute has the biggest attendance in its history and Nacogdoches county is well represented among the other counties of the state in the number of students enrolled in the several departments of the school. Following is a list of the students from this county registered in the normal for the summer session.

Lena Aiken, John Taylor Anderson, Lillian Anderson, Lola Belle Anderson, Lizzie Bass, Mabel Fay Bates, Edgar Ray Cotton, Irene Christie, Jewel Crow, Pearl Davis, Mrs. Ina Eddings, Etta Frederick, Vera Heflin, Luther Hilliard, Leta Lou Humphreys, Aleen Jopling, O. L. Lowery, Arthur Lowery, Mildred Moore, Grace Monzingo, Blanche Palmer, Era Parker, Clara Patterson, Homer D. Rawlison, Lester Self, Joseph J. Spurgeon, Etta Strickland, Lois Watkins, C. F. Wellbron, Kittie Whitaker, Elizabeth Williamson, Virgie Wisener.

The former students of the normal from this county will be interested to know that the Alumni Association of the Sam Houston Normal in the business meeting June 4th, was changed to the ex-Students' Association of the Sam Houston Normal with the following officers for the year 1921-22. R. L. Bunting, president, Huntsville; Mrs. Roxie Cochran, first vice president, Lufkin; J. A. Poston, second vice president, Wharton; F. H. Harrison, secretary-treasurer, Huntsville; O. C. Bullington, Wichita Falls; George L. Dickey, College Station; and A. D. Rawlison, Silsbee, members of the executive committee.

Every former student of the normal (whether a graduate or not, is eligible to membership in the new association, which maintains a paid secretary-treasurer to devote his whole time to the interests of the association in serving its membership, the school and the educational advancement of the state.

Every former student should send his or her name to Mr. F. H. Harrison, secretary-treasurer, Huntsville, in order that Mr. Harrison might place the name and address on the mailing list. The association will publish a regular monthly paper which all members of the association will receive whose addresses are known and appeals to every ex-student of the normal, from the class of 1880 down, to enroll as an active member.

PIRATE THEORY STRENGTHENED

Strength is added to the theory that pirates may have been responsible for the mystery surrounding the rate of ships and crews that have disappeared off the Atlantic coast in the last few months by the report of a skipper that his vessel had been approached by another craft, which later speeded away without answering signals. At least the government places sufficient credence in the story to cause it to send out wireless warnings to ships at sea to be on the watch for a craft that might approach in the darkness with lights veiled. That is the manner in which it came upon the Munson liner, 300 miles east of Philadelphia, according to the report of Captain Giles, who apprised the owners of the affair after he had brought his vessel to port.

Fully a score of ships have vanished in the vicinity of where Captain Giles encountered the vessel of mystery since the first of the year. The usual circumstances surrounding the disappearance of the ships resulted in varied possible explanations, among them being one that a sea marauder, either a pirate or a soviet cruiser, was responsible. These views later gave way to the opinion that the missing ships had been lost in storm. Still the situation remained puzzling because it seemed improbable that so large a number of vessels could be wrecked and leave no trace whatever of their fate. Now the other theory has some solid ground seemingly and, with that as a basis, it is likely that the possibility of the operations of an outlaw craft will be followed up until it is proved that no such vessel exists or until it is captured or destroyed.

A WAR CRIMINAL CONVICTED

The sentence of two years imprisonment imposed on a German major, charged by the French government with ordering troops under his command to take no prisoners and to kill the wounded adversaries who fell into their hands, and found guilty by the German supreme court sitting at Leipzig, is wretchedly inadequate. And it is plain the only reason for his being punished at all was the Germans feared that to let him go scot free, as the lieutenant general from whom he is alleged to have received his orders was permitted to do, would dangerously arouse French anger.

There may be those who say that it would have been better not to have held the trial than to allow it to become a farce. And yet, though the punishment falls so far short of what the crime calls for, a good purpose has been served. The major would not have been convicted, we may be sure, if the evidence against him had not been overwhelming. And if there have been any Germans who doubted the truth of the atrocity charges made against their troops by the Allies, they must be now convinced. And out of this may grow repentance for their country's misdeeds and a desire to make such amends as are possible.

The Lost Needle

THERE'S an old English play known as "Grammer Garton's Needle." Its plot is woven around the loss of the family needle—no trifling misfortune in the days of old.

Today, in this era of ours, life is so rich in comforts that we seldom wonder how folks got along in the ancient world. And we sometimes forget what an important role advertising has played in making life pleasant and altogether livable.

Advertising has one of the leading parts in the eternal drama of dollars. To it is directly due much of the multiplication of products and services which has come about during the last half century.

It has smoothed the mechanics of existence—made easier and more pleasant by bringing countless necessities—once considered luxuries—within our easy reach and into continuous use.

Think of this when you read these columns. You owe much to advertising.

And you miss much when you fail to read it!

NACOGDOCHES SCHOLASTICS

The scholastic population of Nacogdoches county, excluding the Nacogdoches Independent District, a report of which has not been handed in yet, numbers 7,335. Division into races and sexes gives the following figures: Whites—Males 2,275; females 2,588. Colored—Males 977; females 1,045. There are seven independent and 63 dependent districts in the county, two of which are exclusively colored—trustees, teachers and pupils. So soon as the missing report is in, the Sentinel hopes to publish a detailed statement of the various districts. County Superintendent Miss Exier Lewis is busy preparing her report to the State Educational Department.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard-White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin. Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

USE YOUR COUNTY AGENT

The average county agent is the most useful man in the county, or would be if given the opportunity. He is not a "know all" person, but he is in a position to get any farmer desired information from a reliable source in the quickest possible time. He is anxious to be of service and like the old time country doctor, responds to every call, no matter in what part of the county it takes him.

The county farm agents receive their compensation from the government. The federal and state governments contribute and every property owner pays his part. Therefore he is a public servant, but unlike many who draw their pay from the treasury he is always willing to earn what he gets and a great deal more. Being a public servant there is no reason why he should not be of service to every farmer in his jurisdiction, and if he is not, more than likely it is the farmer's fault and not the agent's.—Farm and Ranch.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

By J. E. Mayfield, M. D.

It has been nearly twelve years since I left Nacogdoches. I had lived there over sixty years. I have lived in Texas for 72 years. My health had at last become alarming. I could not do any business, and I made unfortunate efforts. So I went west in haste and sorrow, and I wandered around until I straggled in my present home four years ago, and I hope to stand hitched.

Among the many surprises and discoveries that I have stumbled on, is the fact that there are so many residents in San Antonio who have lived in Nacogdoches. I can count twenty-five distinct families, of more than two hundred people. I often think of individuals that have been well known residents of Nacogdoches in the past and have wholly disappeared. I was recently surprised to find the widow and family of Joe Richardson living here. Joe was killed by the fall of a dry kiln at Fitzee about twenty-five years ago. He left a widow and six children. The youngest son was killed in battle in France.

The I. O. O. F. are a most important fraternity here. They own the six story Crockett Hotel, which was built ten years ago, by J. M. Innis, of Dallas, the contractor who built the Nacogdoches High School. The Odd Fellows are going to construct a great additional lodge or annex to this hotel, which is located at the south end of Nacogdoches street on Crockett street. This is a corner next to the Alamo on the east. This will be one of the many big buildings of San Antonio.

During the twelve years since I landed here there have been a wonderful number of such buildings erected. To make room for these they tear down the big old houses. The famous old Maverick Hotel has just been removed. Building all over the city is wonderful.

San Antonio is a popular resort for many purposes. Big conventions are frequent, and often important. A big lawyers convention was held during the Independence Week, July 4th, attended by big guns from Mexico to Michigan, as well as from Tyler, Texas. Hampson Gary came from Tyler. Joe Bailey was expected. There is to be a big auditorium built by the city to accommodate big gatherings. Mexico is a close neighbor to San Antonio and a frequent visitor. The Spanish language is heard in all corners and places. Officials in all lines are using Spanish speaking assistants, male and female. There are numerous foreigners here from other distant countries and this as a cosmopolitan city, in religions and customs, as well as races.

In a preceding contribution I mentioned a few names of the survivors of Clark's company in the Confederate army. I did not intend to omit the name of John W. Lewis, who lost an arm in the battle of Jinkin's Ferry, Ark. His neighbor and comrade, John Coleson, was killed there. Dock Simpson was captain then, and he shouldered a gun and led his company. Col. Clark saw him, and shouted at him to slow up. A bullet passed through his whiskers but he did not flinch. Tille Hoya had a dozen holes shot through his shoulder blanket, by one ball. I was not in it. I had been previously transferred to Alexander's Cavalry Company. Voigt's, Mast's and other companies from Nacogdoches were there and helped drive General Steele's army out of Arkansas. While I was with Wharton driving General Banks out of Louisiana.

Work has begun in graveling the Nacogdoches-Garrison highway on this end of the line, and we understand it will be pushed to completion.

Gravel from the Wortham pit is being used to the Indian creek near town on to a connection with the same gravel that was used a mile this side of the Naconiche. For the remainder of the road we understand that Appleby gravel will be shipped in on the train.—Garrison News.

BUSINESS MEN INVEST

TIGATE OIL FIELDS

A group of business men under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce spent yesterday in the oil fields, about 15 miles east of the city. The party consisted of W. T. Orton, Capt. I. L. Sturdevant, J. M. Tucker, H. L. McKnight, Jesse Bates, J. P. Grimes, J. Fred Feazell, P. B. Lapham, Link Summers, Carl Monk, Douglass Patton, Holland Smith, Sam Stripling, T. E. Baker, H. F. Tucker, Frank Sharpe, Tommie Wilson Baker, J. H. Muller, J. J. Greve, Lee Gaston, Coker Reeves and Horace Wilson. The cars containing the four last named gentlemen developed trouble on the outbound trip at Woden. A call for another car was sent in, but unfortunately it did not arrive until after 12 o'clock and then was found to be unfit for the trip, so that this section of the party was obliged to return to the city without having visited the fields.

After a pleasant stop at Woden, the four other cars drove on to the first oil well, which is the property of Dr. Foster, and is located just to the left of the Etoile road, one mile this side of where the Nacogdoches-Etoile road crosses Moss creek. Dr. Foster reported a "good" well, but explained that a cave-in had occurred between the two oil sands, and that he was just then trying to bail out the well preparatory to setting the strainer. From Dr. Foster's well the party drove to the Fort Worth Company's well situated on the banks of the Moss creek immediately north of the bridge. These wells were all shut down owing to the lack of storage facilities.

The next field of operations visited was the Wells tract where we found Mr. Neal and Mr. Potter in charge of 17 producing wells, the last one of which had been drilled in 12 hours and 50 minutes "by the watch", as Mr. Neal explained. Here we found a genuine surprise in the way of an improvised refinery which will soon be in actual operation. It is Mr. Neal's plan to refine the oil in the field and ship it directly to some lumber mills with which he is connected in the east.

Leaving the Wells tract, we next visited the Olmstead lease, where we found much activity despite the lack of a ready market for his output. Mr. Olmstead invited us to witness a 12-barrel well on the pump. This well, according to the drillers, came in a 36-barrel producer, but has been reduced to 12 barrels, probably due to a cave-in. Mr. Olmstead is running short of storage capacity. This condition is common to the entire field.

From Olmstead's camp we drove past Mr. Elliott's "new camp" recently acquired from A. C. Smith. Mr. Elliott is one of the latest additions to the field, but is brimful of confidence with enthusiasm for the future of the field.

The next stop was at the Lindhall lease, right in the heart of Oil City. Here the party was met by Messrs. Lindhall and Elliott and treated to a generous supply of ice-cold lemonade. After cooling off a bit with lemonade and ice water, the party gathered under a great oak and spread lunch picnic fashion, and spent an hour with Mr. Lindhall and associates. Mr. Olmstead joined our party at his lease and spent the lunch hour with us.

From Oil City we came home via Melrose.

It was the unanimous verdict of our party that the oil fields of Nacogdoches county have wonderful possibilities for the immediate future, and that our people can do themselves and the whole county a needed service by boosting the Nacogdoches oil.

The Carolina Oil Company is the pioneer producer of this field. They now have 30 wells under the pump with more that can be harnessed up later.

From the best information at hand, there is now 102 producing wells in this field. This does not include some 25 or 30 wildcat wells scattered about over the county.

The Chamber of Commerce plans other trips to this field. Watch for an announcement and join the next one.

BASEBALL UNIFORMS ARRIVED

The uniforms for the Cushing baseball team arrived Monday and the boys are in a position to play "all comers." The uniforms are grey with black lettering, showing the name of the firm donating them on the back and Cushing on the front, and are made of fine material.

Cushing has played only two games this season, both with Nacogdoches, and have proved themselves to be in a higher class than that team, having won both games. Seems that the main difficulty is going to be in finding teams that can interest the Cushing team.—Cushing Journal.

A man has to make a name for himself and then, likely as not, some woman will take it.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarette aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

MILLIONS NOT IN SCHOOL

Dr. John W. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, in addressing the National Educational Association the other day declared that there are more than 7,000,000 children, of reasonable school age, in the United States who are not enrolled in any school. Presumably the commissioner, with the facts and figures available for his reference knows what he is talking about. That seems a large number of boys and girls out of school who ought to be in school—a prodigiously enormous proportion of American children receiving no training for future citizenship. The argument in favor of education of the coming citizens—and now the women as well as the men will be in full possession of the rights and liable for the same responsibilities as the men—need not be recounted and re-emphasized.

The pertinent suggestion is, "What can be done about this condition?" Communities, the states and the nation are at fault in a degree; they have taken upon themselves the duty of popular education; they have in many cases passed compulsory education laws; they have provided means of education in a way! The community and the state and the nation co-operating, can do more than they have hitherto done; they can provide better teachers and pay them more and thus build up a better, stronger force of teaching; they can do much in a systematic way to encourage the people to take full advantage of the opportunities offered; they can pass more stringent laws to compel school attendance and they can more thoroughly enforce those laws.

But the community, the state and the nation are not alone to blame for the 7,000,000 children out of school and growing up in ignorance. The real trouble is in the homes and with the parents. The parent who earnestly covets for his children an education always finds a way to get his child to school. Thousands of parents do sacrifice and make real denials that their children may have the opportunities of training.

The compulsory law well enforced will do much. But that will not inspire the best spirit of desire on the part of the parents to co-operate with the state in the education of their children, the state's future citizens. There is needed systematic education among the parents, education that will reveal and demonstrate and emphasize the absolute necessity for education as a part of the equipment of the boy and girl for life ahead.

A SENATORIAL GRAND LOTTERY

There will be a senatorial grand lottery in Texas next year if present indications can be relied upon. We call it grand, because of the unprecedented array of statesmen who are anxious to be senator, and we call it a lottery because of the double primary system which permits all the democratic aspirants to enter the grand march in the eliminating process of the first primary, and two candidates receiving the largest and next largest number of votes to contest for the nomination in the second primary.

Already announced, we are told in a political survey of the admirable Galveston News, are Cullen F. Thomas, Thomas B. Love, Earl B. Mayfield, W. E. Hawkins and Lucian W. Parrish.

And then a supplemental list of potential candidates is submitted which includes the names of former Governor Hobby, former Governor Colquitt, Dr. S. P. Brooks, John N. Garner, Hatton W. Summers, Thomas W. Blanton and Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs under the Wilson administration.

Just why the name of the sitting senator, Charles A. Culberson, is omitted, we do not know, for up to this time no announcement has come that Senator Culberson will not be a candidate for a fifth term. The omission of his name is indicative of an assumption upon the part of the News that the senior senator will not be a candidate, but the basis of such an assumption is not in evidence.

It will be agreed, of course, that of this roster the outstanding and most conspicuous figure is that of Senator Culberson—four years attorney general of Texas, four years governor, and, at the conclusion of his present term, 24 years United States senator. It is neither partisan, inaccurate nor out of place to say that he has served with distinction in each capacity. The element of doubt so far as his eligibility is concerned has to do with his health, of which little is known at the present time.

Next in order of official prominence are former Governor Colquitt and former Governor Hobby.

Prominent also officially are Representatives Garner, Blanton and Summers, former Associate Justice of the Texas Supreme Court W. E. Hawkins and Earl B. Mayfield, present railroad commissioner.

Less prominent officially is Lucian W. Parrish, a first-term congressman from the Wichita Falls district.

Still less prominent officially but exceedingly prominent politically, are Cullen F. Thomas and Thomas B. Love, who have served in the legislature, and also very prominent as citizens, but never a public official, is Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks, president of Baylor University, who was a strong candidate for the senate in the primary election of 1916, being edged out in the final primary by senator Culberson.

What the platforms of these aspirants and possible aspirants will be, time must develop. Mr. Thomas, a brilliant contender with a long record as an advocate of lofty ideals of public service rather than a candidate for political preferment, has in recent speeches stressed eloquently the cause of universal disarmament, an international issue of vital importance. Mr. Love in his announcement sounded a strong and historically democratic opposition to protection; Mr. Mayfield is stressing the rights of the states to control transportation within their borders; Mr. Hawkins is out for a strict enforcement of all the prohibition laws, state and national.

As for the others, they are to be heard from. In all probability, when the race opens some of these names will not be found in the list of runners, but that it will be a heavy field is certain. The outcome can not be predicted, at least until the eliminating primary shall have reduced the list to two. The first primary will be the lottery, the result of which no man can tell; the result of the second primary will not be so difficult to forecast.

At any rate, the senatorial campaign, already in progress, is going to develop to a high degree. And, besides there are rumors of an independent or coalition movement that may carry the battle to the November election.—Houston Post.

FARMERS NATIVE BORN

The return of foreign born residents to the places of their nativity in the last decade appears to have extended to farmers also, since the census returns show that the number of foreign born farmers decreased by 88,502 or 13.2 percent. It is stated that this is due mainly to the exodus during the war. However, the agricultural population as a whole is native stock, the native white farmers constituting 85 percent of the total numbering nearly 5,000,000, while the foreign born white farmers total only 581,000. However, there are nearly a million negro farmers who are native born and over 16,000 Indians. The only states having a considerable percentage of foreign born white farmers are North Dakota, Minnesota, Connecticut, Washington, California and Wisconsin, the percentage ranging from 46 in the first named to 28 in the last.

This explains in a measure why the farming population is the conservative class of this land. They are native stock in the mass and they are the proprietors in the main. Those who do not own their farms hope to do so. They are workers but they work for themselves and must rely on themselves mainly. They are individualists and for that reason organization has not appealed to them with the same force that it has appealed to others. However, there is more disposition in recent days to act in unison in furtherance of their mutual interests, though not on socialistic lines. While the rural population has lost its commanding position as the most numerous, the tillers of the soil still are the largest class devoted to one occupation and since they fill an indispensable niche in our economy it would be regrettable did the native stock, the real American, lose dominance. It might not be so dependable as it is now and has always been.

THE 1920 COTTON CROP

Washington, July 13.—The Bureau of the Census, of the Department of Commerce, will shortly distribute the annual pamphlet showing cotton ginned in the United States from the cotton crop of 1920. The publication will show the quantity of cotton ginned from that crop by states and by counties. The final figures of cotton ginned are 13,270,970 running bales, counting round as half bales, equivalent to 13,439,603 bales of 500 pounds each. This was the largest crop grown since 1914, being 1,958,519 equivalent 500-pound bales larger than the average for the crops of 1915 to 1919, inclusive.

Compared with the crop of 1919, there was an increase in cotton production in each state, with the exception of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Virginia. The largest increase was in Texas—1,246,315 bales of 500 pounds each. Oklahoma and Arkansas also showed large increases, the former making its record crop, with a total of 1,336,298 bales. The states west of the Mississippi River produced in 1920, 56.2 percent of the crop, and those east of the river 43.8 percent. The corresponding percentages for 1919 were 48.1 and 51.8, respectively.

Owing to the boll weevil infestation of the Sea Island districts, the production of this type of cotton has almost ceased, the total for the crop being only 1,868 running bales, whereas in 1916, the total was 117,599 bales. The production of American-Egyptian cotton in Arizona and California for the crop of 1920 was 92,561 bales.

During the ten-month period ending May 31, 1921, the production of linters amounted to 432,605 bales of 500 pounds each. The year's production of linters will likely be the smallest for any crop since 1910.

STARVE PONIES BEFORE RACE

In Mongolia, After Severe System of Training, Animals Cover Fifteen Miles at a Stretch.

Horse races are a popular amusement in Mongolia. During the preliminary training of the entries, according to a writer in the Geographic Magazine, each competing pony is tied to a rope picketed on the grass plain. This rope is shortened every day by a certain number of inches, thus reducing the circle in which the animal can graze. Yet, strange as it may seem, this method of gradual starvation—tested by centuries—appears to increase rather than diminish its endurance.

On the day of the race fetlocks are clipped and manes and tails tightly plaited with varcolored ribbons, so as to offer as little wind resistance as possible. The jockeys are children, and it is not unusual to see lads of nine or ten start on the exhausting stampede, which a Mongol race really is.

No saddles are allowed, but each rider is given a heavy whip and a handkerchief. With the latter he leans over and wipes the dust from the eyes and nostrils of his mount, as otherwise the dust of the steppe might injure wind of eyesight.

Enthusiastic owners or spectators, including bishops and archbishops of the Lamaist faith, gallop out to meet the contestants and assist in whipping them in. But sometimes two favorites arrive at the finish literally leaning against each other, shoulder to shoulder. Thus they support each other on the run, though both are so exhausted that if they were suddenly separated they would drop in their tracks.

Wonderful tales are told of the distances covered by famous Mongol racers at a stretch. Fifty, even 100 miles at full gallop, are claimed. This is doubtless exaggeration, but 15 and 20-mile races at great speed over a straight course, are well authenticated.

HARFLEUR ONCE GREAT PORT

Made So by English Invaders, Who Were Finally Driven Out of the Country.

After the conquest of England, Harfleur became the principal port of Normandy. The dukes and merchants worked together to make Harfleur a great maritime center. During the earlier period of the Hundred Years' war the sailors of Harfleur were the terror of the English. Naturally, says Herbert Adam Gibbons, in Harper's Magazine, when Henry V felt that the time had come to annex Normandy to England, he made a point of establishing his control of the Seine by seizing Harfleur, expelling 1,600 families, and installing a strong garrison there. For thirty years Harfleur was in the hands of the English. So sure were they of permanent occupancy that they built the tower of St. Martin's, one of the glories of Normandy. In the great revolt against the foreign occupation, that swept over Normandy in 1445, the bourgeois of Harfleur opened their gates to Grouchy de Montferrier, and drove out the English garrison. The English returned two years later. But it was a dying spurt. In 1450 the invader of a hundred years was compelled to give up his hold on the mouth of the Seine. The people of Harfleur still celebrate the uprising of 1445 on November 4.

Beautiful Petrified Woods.

The petrified woods are beautiful objects for study. When thin slices are carefully ground down to a thickness of 0.008 inch or less and placed under the microscope they show perfectly the original wood structure, all the cells being distinct, though now they are replaced by chalcidion. By studying the sections F. H. Knowlton, of the geological survey, has found that most of these araucarian trees were of the species Araucarioxylon arizonicum, a tree now extinct. It is known to have lived at the same geologic time also in the east-central part of the United States, where the remains of some of its associates have also been found. These included other cone-bearing trees, ferns, cycads, and gigantic horse-tails, which indicate that at that time the rainfall of the Southwest was abundant.

When Peter Cooper Made Shoes

Peter Cooper, designer and builder of the first locomotive, was an inventor from childhood. His first invention, according to The Saturday Evening Post, was a crude washing machine, or, in reality, an arrangement for pounding soiled linen on wash day. This he put together to help his hard-worked mother. But probably one of his greatest helps to his father, mother and eight brothers and sisters was the shoes he made for them. In his autobiography he tells how he made the shoes:

"I first obtained an old pair, and I took them apart to see the structure, and then after procuring leather, thread and needles and some suitable tools, without further instruction, I made the last, and a pair of shoes which compared very favorably with the country shoes then in vogue."

Armor Always in Use.

Men have used armor of some kind since the days of earliest record. Even more striking is the resemblance of modern armor to the armor of early design. Except in withstanding severe ballistic tests, neither our modern plate nor our padded armor seems to be much improved. MIRACULOUS RESTORATION

Denver, Colo., July 11.—Deaf, dumb, blind and paralyzed in every limb, so helpless that it was necessary to feed him by means of a tube through his nostrils, unable to feel, smell or taste of even to think, to all intents and purposes unconscious, Luther Dionne was carried into the county hospital here nearly eight years ago. Today he can hear, see, smell, taste, feel and, in a limited fashion, he can talk. His right side remains partially paralyzed.

Never was a man nearer to being dead though alive than Luther Dionne eight years ago, say the doctors at the hospital.

Dionne's brain was operated upon. Then, literally, he began to be born again. Slowly the power of life re-developed. Came the day when he could move one finger, then a whole hand, and, after weeks, he stirred his head upon its pillow. One day he spoke.

As yet, Dionne's speech is confined to a whispered "yes" or "no", but he can make himself understood. On a map he can point out the town of his birth, and with a pencil he can print, laboriously, the name of the village.

Washington, July 11.—The course of the United States was definitely set today toward two goals of international importance—the limitation of armaments and solution of problems involving the Pacific and Far East. Besides suggesting to the nations interested in disarmament, "the consideration of all matters bearing upon their solution with the view of reaching an understanding with respect to principles and policies of the Far East" was suggested by the American president.

Physiological Action of Tanlac Explained

WORLD'S LEADING AUTHORITIES SHOW JUST WHAT TANLAC IS AND EXPLAIN EFFECT OF EACH TEN INGREDIENTS ON THE HUMAN SYSTEM. POWER OF MEDICINE CONCLUSIVELY PROVEN.

A day never passes but what thousands of people ask the questions: What is Tanlac? Why its phenomenal success? Why do we hear so much about it? and Why has this preparation so far out-stripped all other medicines of its kind?

The answer to all these questions is easy and can be explained in just one word—merit. Tanlac is scientifically compounded and represents years of work, study, experimentation and research by some of the foremost chemists and pharmacologists of America.

The Tanlac formula is purely ethical and complies with all national and state pure food laws. It is purely vegetable and is made from the most beneficial roots, herbs and barks known to Materia Medica. The Tanlac laboratories are among the largest and most modernly equipped in this country.

Ten Ingredients in Tanlac
Altogether, there are ten ingredients in Tanlac, each of which is of recognized therapeutic value.

In referring to one of the more important ingredients in Tanlac, the Encyclopedia Britannica says:

"It has been the source of the most valuable tonic medicines that have ever been discovered.

In referring to other of the general tonic drugs contained in Tanlac, the 13th edition of Potter's Therapeutics, a standard medical text-book, states that "they impart general tone and strength to the entire system, including all organs and tissues."

The same well-known authority in describing the physiological action of still another of the ingredients of Tanlac, which is of value in treating what is commonly known as a "run-down condition," uses the following expression:

"It is highly esteemed in loss of appetite during convalescence from acute diseases."

There are certain other elements in Tanlac which, because of their influence upon the appetite, digestion, assimilation and elimination, improve the nutrition and vital activity of all the tissues and organs of the body and produce that state of general tenuity which is called health.

The United States Dispensary makes the following comment regarding another ingredient:

"It may be used in all cases of pure debility of the digestive organs or where a general tonic impression is required."

There are certain other ingredients described in the Dispensary, and in other standard medical text-books, as having a beneficial action upon the organs of secretion, whose proper functioning results in a purification of the blood streams passing through them. In this manner, objectionable and poisonous ingredients of the blood are removed and the entire system invigorated and vitalized.

Tonic and Body Builder

Tanlac was designed primarily for the correction of disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. At the same time, however, it is a powerful reconstructive tonic and body builder, for it naturally follows that any medicine that brings about proper assimilation of the food and the thorough elimination of the waste products must, therefore, have a far-reaching and most beneficial effect upon the entire system.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Nacogdoches County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. L. Kimbrell by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Nacogdoches county, to be held at the court house thereof, in Nacogdoches, on the 1st Monday in September, A. D. 1921, the same being the 5th day of September, A. D. 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 776, wherein Lorene Kimbrell is plaintiff and J. L. Kimbrell is defendant, and said petition alleging that the residence of defendant is to plaintiff unknown. And that she is an actual bona fide resident and inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in said state for more than twelve months and said county for more than six months preceding the filing of this petition.

Plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married to each other on or about the 19th day of January, A. D. 1915, and thereafter lived and cohabited together as husband and wife until on or about the 14th day of September, A. D. 1918, when the plaintiff was forced to and did leave the defendant because of the herein-after described acts; that at all times while married to the defendant plaintiff has conducted herself with propriety, doing her duty as a helpmate; that defendant disregarded the solemnity of his marriage vow, and about two years after their said marriage commenced a course of unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct which continued with slight intermissions until she finally separated from him.

During the marriage of said plaintiff and defendant there was born to them a boy whose name is Travis Kimbrell, who is about four years of age, and who is now living with plaintiff; that she is able to care for and educate said child and is willing to do so.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to appear and answer this petition, and that upon final hearing hereof plaintiff have judgment dissolving said bonds of matrimony now existing between them, for the care and custody of said minor child, for cost of suit and such other and further relief that she may show herself entitled to both in law and equity, as she will ever pray.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Nacogdoches on this the 11th day of July, A. D. 1921.

(Seal) I. R. Prince,
Clerk, District Court Nacogdoches County, Texas. 14-4w

FEAR LOSS OF ELK HERDS

Animals in Yellowstone Park Are Rapidly Disappearing, According to Official Reports.

Officials of the United States Department of Agriculture are alarmed over the threatened extermination of the Elk herd in Yellowstone park. On the ranges of the park, where ordinarily thousands of these animals could be seen, only a very few have been observed this winter. Several theories have been offered to account for the marked shrinkage in the herd. Among these is the probability that the majority died from natural causes or had been killed during the last year. Another is that the open fall and winter caused the elk to remain in hiding in some retreat deep in the mountains and in the higher and more inaccessible portions of the park. Open falls in the past, however, have not caused the elk to abandon their usual customs and habits.

That there has been an alarming shrinkage in the Yellowstone herd during the last five years is an established fact, according to figures supplied by the Department of Agriculture. In 1914 it was estimated at about 25,000; in 1917, 17,500 were counted, and, if the figures for the present year, estimated by those close in touch with the situation, are true, there remains much less than half this number. In 1919, 3,800 head were killed in the Yellowstone band, the supervisor of the Absaroka national forest reports.

The Department of Agriculture points out that no herd of wild animals can sustain an annual shrinkage in numbers for any length of time and not face complete extermination within a few years.

DENIES WOMAN IS MYSTERY

Man Is Puzzling Himself for Nothing, Is Assertion Made by Writer of Gentle Sex.

After declaring to the reporters who met him in New York that the women of today care for nothing but having a good time and have assumed an attitude of pagan enjoyment, the English essayist, Gilbert K. Chesterton, is reported as moving majestically along the pier shaking hands with the custom officers and leaving Mrs. Chesterton to see about the baggage.

"My wife understands these things; I don't," he said, with a sweep of his stick.

It is evident from the report that, although women may have changed much since before the war, as Mr. Chesterton says, some of the oldtime masculine attitude toward them remains. May Strathairn writes in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. In further proof of this, the Englishman goes on to speak in the same old prewar way about the psychology of women, using the familiar words, "I speak reverently as of a mystery, for a man never knows what a woman will do," and then he tells how she will act under certain circumstances.

The mystery about it is not in the psychology of woman, but in the fact that, having supposed that a woman would act in the way most natural to all humanity, he thinks it is mysterious because a woman does it. He describes a man as likely to act the same way under similar circumstances, but does not see any mystery in the masculine point of view.

Hear Heart Yards Away

An amplifying apparatus described as so delicate as to permit a physician in one city to make a stethoscopic study of the heart action of a patient hundreds of miles away, was demonstrated to a group of army and civilian medical men at the army signal corps laboratories at Washington. The principle involved is similar to that used in transmitting President Harding's inaugural address.

The demonstration was directed by Brig. Gen. George Squier, chief signal officer. The stethoscopic apparatus, with electrical connection, was placed over the heart of one of the laboratory assistants and the heart beat was amplified many thousands of times, emerging from a phonograph horn and heard distinctly and studied by the physicians in a room some distance from that in which the subject was located.

Making of a Language

That the slang and idioms of today will be correct English tomorrow is the opinion of Prof. H. Glickman of the English department, University of Wisconsin. "Our language is made up of what was once slang, idiom, colloquialism and jargon," he said lately, and warned that the only deplorable feature about slang was its tendency to produce mental slovenliness. Professor Glickman then referred to the word "mob" as slang of 200 years ago and as such denounced in the "Spectator" by Addison. "It is an abbreviation of the word 'mobile.' Even so the word 'pep' is vital and virile and will survive with the word 'snappy.' But to gain recognition slang must be free from vulgarity and cheapness," said Professor Glickman.

Lymph for Infectious Fevers

Dr. Artault de Vevey told the Societe de Therapeutique of Paris at a recent meeting that he had had great success in treating nearly a thousand cases of infectious diseases such as influenza and quercular fever by injecting the patient with his own lymph drawn from a blister. He had also succeeded with it in rheumatism, cholera, facial neuralgia, appendicitis and other such troubles.

'TIPPECANOE AND TYLER, TOO'

Election Rallying Cry That Figured in Election of William Henry Harrison as President.

"Tippecanoe and Tyler, too," was the rallying cry of the Whigs in the election of 1840. William Henry Harrison was the choice of the Whigs. The Whigs adopted no platform, and the only issue was whether or not the Jackson-Van Buren "machine" should remain in power. Even among the Democrats there was much discontent. To attract this discontented element, the Whigs nominated for vice president John Tyler of Virginia, who was a well-known anti-Jackson Democrat. The campaign was the most exciting the United States had seen up to that time. Harrison's election was attributed to his military record. The election is often called "the log cabin and hard cider campaign." One end of Harrison's house at North Bend was an old log cabin which had been covered with clapboards. A campaign biography said that Harrison's table, "instead of being covered with exciting wines, is well supplied with the best cider." At first this simplicity received jeering from the Democrats, but the Whigs seized the opportunity to make the democracy of their candidate a feature of the canvass. Miniature log cabins and barrels of hard cider generally were in appearance whenever a Whig orator spoke. Harrison received 234 electoral votes to 60 for Van Buren.

WHY BRICK CHIMNEYS LEAN

Reason Generally Ascribed Is Alternate Wetting and Drying to Which They Are Subjected.

Between the wagon builder, alternately wetting and drying a board to bend it to the desired shape, and the house chimney, grotesquely leaning toward the east, brick masons say there is a similarity. The leaning chimney is a subject on which even the doctors disagree, but the theory referred to seems the most plausible.

Chimneys lean toward the east. A little observation anywhere will prove this. Even the best-built affair of brick and mortar, acquiring age, often begins to lean. Various theories are advanced, but the explanation of alternate wetting and drying seems the best.

Chimney walls collect more or less moisture during the night, on all sides. Now, if the broad side of the chimney is toward the east, and if the sun strikes that part of the chimney first, that side dries out much quicker than the north or south side, or the western side. In time of rainfall, the east side ordinarily is dried the quickest. This general condition has the effect of pulling the chimney toward the east.

Explains Earth's Origin

Astronomy teaches some strange things, and none more strange than that the origin of the earth, is itself but a speck in a system that in turn is but a speck in the whole. It is believed, and there seems to be abundant scientific proof of the theory, that the origin of a system such as ours is a mist of comical dust that is born of a nebula, the latter being what happens when enough of the dust is joined in a vast whirling mass. The young star contracts so rapidly that it is soon white hot and of dazzling light such as Sirius. As it cools the vapors of calcium and iron appear, and it becomes yellow. Our sun is such a star, and another is Arcturus. Still later it turns red, such as Mira, and in time, billions of years, it will die altogether.

Surely Ample Security

A housewife hired a dinky to carry three tons of coal from the curb. A little later the housewife discovered that she had no money except a five-dollar bill. Calling the dinky, who was about half through with the job, she asked him if he could change the bill so that he could get his pay. "No'm," he replied, "I can't. But I c'n git it changed over at de grocery store." The woman hesitated, trying to decide whether to take a chance. "Don' you worry, missus," the dinky assured her. "I'll come back wid de change. An' just to show you it's all right, I'll go after it right now, and leave this other ton of coal I ain't carried in yet out in the street as s'curity."

High Price Paid for Violin

A very fine violin by Antonius Stradivari, known in the musical world as the "Muir Mackenzie Strad," was sold for £1,700 at Messrs Puttick and Simpson's. Dated 1694, the "Strad" is in excellent preservation. Purchased from Mr. Harrison about 1896 by Lady Muir Mackenzie, it was presented to Sir John Muir Mackenzie, and thus derived its modern title. This instrument was of the longer and earlier type, writes a Daily Chronicle representative, and Lord Harrington sold one for £950. The highest price paid for a "Strad" of the "grand pattern" was £3,000, in 1911.

Too Sensitive

A young bride, whose maid had failed to return after her day out, was questioning her guest, who had had the last conversation with Jane: "But, dear, are you sure that you said nothing to—er—hurt her feelings?" "Of course not," replied Mrs. Brown. "I merely said it was strange that she and my diamond brooch disappeared at the same time."

TIMPSON GIRL'S HAIR CLIPPED BY INTRUDER

Considerable excitement was caused in the neighborhood Saturday night when Miss Minnie Joe Harris was awakened from her sleep by someone attempting to clip her hair. If Miss Harris had not awoke when she did her hair would have been completely clipped off. As it was the intruder was frightened away, leaving the hair which he had clipped from the young lady's head. Upon retiring Miss Harris plaited her hair dividing into three braids, two of these were severed entirely, only a small portion of the third remaining uncut, and it is supposed the party thought that the entire plait had been cut, and upon an attempt to remove the hair, the uncut portion pulled and awakened Miss Harris.

Three other sisters of Miss Harris were sleeping in the same room and her parents in the room adjoining. of smoke escaping from a flue. Mr. Dean went around the house and found the entire lower part of the structure enveloped in flames, which prevented him from saving anything except the mattress and bed springs mentioned above.

When the fire company arrived they found it necessary to stretch the hose across several lots and were hampered by barbed wire fencing and other obstacles, though little could have been done, at best, as the fire had made too great headway to permit of a successful fight.

Mr. Kingham carried insurance on the building to the amount of $1,700 with the Sublett agency. Whether the contents were protected could not be learned.

The heavy rains of yesterday and the almost entire absence of wind at the time probably prevented a serious conflagration. As it was, a telephone pole and fencing across the streets were ignited, and pieces of charred shingles were found as far from the locality of the fire as Mound street in the downtown district. Mr. Dean's home was saved by the hardest kind of work by a bucket brigade.

RESIDENCE BURNED

A fire of undetermined origin about 11:30 Friday night destroyed the story-and-a-half residence of Mr. Ellis Kingham, just north of the Smith Sanitarium. When the department arrived the flames had progressed to a point where nothing could be done to save the building, which, with its contents, proved a total loss. Nothing was salvaged except a mattress and bed springs, which were on the sleeping porch.

The disaster was peculiarly unfortunate, in that Mr. Kingham had just completed considerable improvements about the house, the painting having been finished Friday.

On Friday Mr. Kingham and family went to Melrose, where he has a building contract, and the house was unoccupied at the time of the fire.

Mr. George Dean, who moved the family to Melrose and who lives next door, had barely reached home on the return trip when the fire was discovered. Mrs. Dean, who had gone into the yard when her husband arrived, called his attention to a heavy volume they rushed to her bedside in response to her screams, only to find that the intruder had escaped through the back door. The excitement occurred about 12:30 o'clock and officers were notified. Investigation revealed the tracks of a man and a woman leading to and from the back of the house, and these clues have led officers to believe that a woman may have entered the house.

Miss Harris is the youngest daughter is one of Timpson's most prominent families, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harris of this city.—Timpson Times.

SAFE WOULDN'T CRACK

Some unknown party or parties entered the office of the Nacogdoches Grocery Company Friday night and made an unsuccessful attempt to explore the contents of the big iron safe of that institution. From appearances, the visitors must have been amateurs and have much to learn before they can be classed as first-class yeggmen. The damage they did to the safe, however, is almost, if not beyond repair, as the combination was broken off, apparently with a heavy iron bar, while some of the mechanism not disclosed was even pounded into the safe door. Not only so, but the knob of the door was broken off. Just what was hoped to be accomplished by this letter feat of destruction is a mystery.

During the same night the offices of two oil companies in this city were entered and efforts were made to "tap" the safes, but without success. At none of the places visited could there be discovered that anything was missing—they were merely after the coin and nothing else. So far as known officers have no clue.—Lufkin News, 11th.

Why Suffer?

Cardui "Did Wonders for Me," Declares This Lady.

"I suffered for a long time with womanly weakness," says Mrs. J. R. Simpson, of 57 Spruce St., Asheville, N. C. "I finally got to the place where it was an effort for me to go. I would have bearing-down pains in my side and back — especially severe across my back, and down in my side there was a great deal of soreness. I was nervous and easily upset.

The Woman's Tonic

"I heard of Cardui and decided to use it," continues Mrs. Simpson. "I saw shortly it was benefiting me, so I kept it up and it did wonders for me. And since then I have been glad to praise Cardui. It is the best woman's tonic made. Weak women need a tonic. Thousands and thousands, like Mrs. Simpson, have found Cardui of benefit to them. Try Cardui for your troubles.

ALL DRUGGISTS

MEMBERS OF U. OF T. FACULTY ARE HONORED

Austin, Texas, July 7.—Names of six members of the faculty of the University of Texas are starred as deserving special mention in the third edition of "American Men of Science", which has just been published under the direction of Dr. J. W. Catell, editor of the magazine "Science", and professor of psychology in Columbia University. He was assisted in editing that book by Dr. D. R. Brimball, also a professor of that institution.

University of Texas men considered worthy of distinction are M. E. Porter, professor of mathematics; R. W. Harper, professor of chemistry; William H. Keiller, professor of anatomy, of the School of Medicine; A. A. Bennette, professor of mathematics; and R. L. Moore professor of mathematics; J. T. Patterson, professor of zoology.

The first edition of the book was published by Dr. Catell in 1906. Another edition appeared in 1910, and the recent edition is the only one that has appeared since then. There are 9,500 names mentioned of the scientific men of America, and of this number, 1,100, are starred as deserving special mention. All of the names of the Texas men are starred, and therefore belong to the best thousand scientific men in this country.

ROADS TO GET MONEY

Washington, July 7.—Secretary Mellon announced today that under the provisional refunding arrangement made with railroad executives, the carriers would receive approximately $500,000,000 in additional advances from the federal government within the next six months. Secretary Mellon said he believed the advances would be beneficial to the general financial situation. He said in many cases the advances would enable the railroads to pay their debts to industrial companies for supplies.

BRITAIN WOULD SETTLE WHOLE EASTERN QUESTION

London, July 8.—It is stated in reliable quarters here today that Great Britain is believed to have made overtures to the United States, Japan, and China on the possibility of a conference to discuss the whole Eastern situation.

REVOLUTION PROMISED IN PETROLEUM INDUSTRY

Austin, Texas, July 7.—During the past few months there has been in operation here a small model or experimental oil refinery which uses a new process for separating the various products from crude petroleum. According to statements of practical oil refiners and chemists who have witnessed and closely investigated the new method; it promises to bring a revolution in this branch of the industry. The process is the invention of Christian Paul, a mechanical engineer of wide celebrity. Dr. E. P. Schoch, head of the chemical division of the Bureau of Economic Geology of the University of Texas, has been assisting in the experiments for several months. He says that the new method gives a saving of about 15 cents a barrel in the cost of refining crude oil. In other words, instead of the average cost of 35 cents a barrel by the present process the cost is lowered to about 20 cents a barrel by the new invention. Not only is this true, but a higher grade of lubricating oil is obtained by the new method than by any of the other existing methods. The experimental plant has been visited by a number of men who are prominent in the refining industry of the country and they have expressed amazement at the results which are accomplished by it.

Several local bankers and business men have become interested in the invention. They have expended about $10,000 up to this time in experimental work. It is proposed to spend about $30,000 additional in further operations preparatory to the erection of a $500,000 refinery in which the new process will be used.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES, ENGINEER IS KILLED

Sanderson, Texas, July 8.—Engineer W. F. Bohlman was instantly killed and Fireman C. F. Robinson was injured near Piasa early today when their locomotive exploded. The accident occurred on the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio railroad.

Murder is Suspected

El Paso, Texas, July 8.—Engineer Bohlman of Sanderson was murdered and thrown from his train, and after four miles of uncontrolled speeding, the boiler of the engine of a freight train exploded, seriously injuring Fireman Robinson of Valentine, according to advices received at the local offices of the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio railroad today. The train was wrecked ten miles west of Alpine.

Ranger Sent to Scene

Austin, Texas, July 8.—A ranger was sent to Valentine today to investigate the explosion of the boiler of the locomotive last night, Adjutant General Barton announced today. The ranger was sent at the request of the Southern Pacific officials, who suspect foul play.

Austin, Texas, July 9.—The house and senate appropriations committee yesterday began work on appropriation bills to be presented to the special session, which convenes July 15.

PEACE IN IRELAND SEEMS NOW ASSURED

London, July 9.—Premier Lloyd George will accept Eamonn de Valera's proposal to meet the republican leader to discuss the basis for a formal conference, it was authoritatively announced today. The meeting will probably occur next week. The fact that a truce between the crown forces in Ireland and the Sinn Fein would become effective at noon Monday was taken as an indication in some quarters that the meeting would not be long delayed, the government subordinating all other problems to the question of Irish peace. At the Irish office it was stated today that de Valera had issued instructions to his supporters to cease attacks upon civilians and discontinue military maneuvers. Instructions also were given to prohibit the use of arms, abstain from interference with property and discontinue any action likely to cause a disturbance of the peace which might necessitate military action.

Belfast Disgruntled

Belfast, July 9.—The new development in Irish politics was received coldly in Belfast. The Belfast News Letter captioned its editorial on the subject "Truckling to Murder Gang." The News Letter said it believes universal opinion will consider such an argument the most dishonorable in British history.

Cease All Activities

London, July 9.—Both the government and Sinn Fein factions have ordered their supporters to cease all activities which might lead to further hostilities.

De Valera Issues Manifesto

Dublin, July 9.—Eamonn de Valera issued a manifesto today urging national unity during peace negotiations, with the "unbending determination to endure all that is still necessary." With this was coupled a warning against "undue confidence in the result."

ANONYMOUS COMMUNICATION IGNORED BY GOVERNOR

Austin, Texas, July 8.—Governor Neff received today a telegram from Fort Worth signed "A Committee of Good Democratic Friends" urging that he order an investigation of the operations of an alleged secret organization in that city. The telegram charged that a man was lynched in Fort Worth about three months ago and another was tarred and feathered recently by men acting under the guise of this secret society. The telegram continued: "This is a deplorable condition to have in a community. The newspapers are afraid to question their purpose. Good citizens decry such operations. We demand a secret investigation from your department immediately." Governor Neff said he had no comment to make on the communication, pointing out that it was anonymous.

Message Filed by Mail

Fort Worth, Texas, July 8.—The telegram received by Governor Neff today asking for investigation of an alleged secret organization in Fort Worth was received by the manager of the local telegraph office by mail yesterday.

BOLL WORM COMMITTEE HOLDS MEET AT DALLAS

Dallas, Texas, July 7.—Study of the boll worm's progress in Texas cotton fields, means to combat the insect, and legislation to comply with the federal government's demand for control of the pest, was taken up here Tuesday by a central pink boll worm committee recently appointed by the Texas Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was held at the Texas farm bureau where it was said so many organizations are co-operating now in efforts to eradicate the worm that the committee has ceased to be a mere adjunct to the chamber of commerce.

Committee members at the opening session of the conference declared 70,000 acres of Texas cotton is now infested with the pink boll worm compared with 10,000 acres in 1917. J. A. Smith is chairman of the committee.

LINEMAN ELECTROCUTED

Denison, Texas, July 9.—Will E. Burrage, 27, of Sherman, an employee of the Texas Power & Light Company, was electrocuted at the substation here today. Burrage and three companions were working on wires outside the station in the darkness, when by mistake he took hold of a 33,000 volt line.

Mr. John Dorsey of Nacogdoches came in Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Sam Dorsey.—Alto Herald 7th.

DEMOCRATIC MEMBERS SCROE PERMANENT TARIFF BILL

Washington, July 7.—The democratic members of the ways and means committee, in a minority report, filed today in the house, denounce the administration's tariff bill as "a conspiracy to benefit a few favorites at the expense of all humanity." The report continues: "Like every conspiracy, it has been hatched in secrecy. We record our solemn judgment that the measure is a plan to plunder the people of our country and oppress the people of every country for the benefit of a few men who have succeeded in usurping, for all practical purposes, the taxing power of the government and are using it primarily to enrich themselves and secondarily to finance the political party which tolerates, encourages and facilitates this usurpation." The report declares the tariff was not an issue of the last campaign.

Criticizing the republican majority for withholding the bill from them and from the house membership generally and permitting only a week for its study, the democratic members declare there has not been sufficient time to draft a substitute. Emphasis is laid upon the probable effect of the bill on American commerce and the world's industrial situation generally, and the substitution of American valuation as a basis for levying tariff duties. Pointing to the rapidly decreasing American trade, the report says: "We need no tariff to cut off the imports and exports of the United States. Canning has made it difficult if not impossible of comparison by printing it in the deadly parallel with a previous law. This conspiracy has required six months to hatch its monstrosity." The democrats say they have vainly sought to have the committee refer the bill to the Treasury Department with the view of obtaining information regarding the probable amount of revenue to be derived, as well as the economic effect upon the country. The republican majority fixed July 21 as the time for a final vote on the bill.

CONVICTS ARE BRAINY

Cleveland, Ohio, July 11.—Convicts in penitentiaries show a higher average of intelligence than the general population, Dr. Herman Adler, of the Cleveland Foundation's justice survey, told members of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine at a recent meeting.

Repeaters, men returned to the penitentiary time after time, show a higher average of intelligence than those who learn their lessons the first time, Dr. Adler said.

Criminals who are caught and convicted are not necessarily those least intelligent, but those with an antagonizing personality, Dr. Adler explained. An engaging personality is the most frequent cause of miscarriages of justice, he added.

Ten million people in the United States are classed as feeble minded, that is, they would be confined if brought into court or a mental clinic, he said.

These conclusions were derived from a tabulation of mental tests of 1,700,000 men in the draft army and 1,000 convicts in the Illinois state penitentiary. The tests in turn were confirmed by examination of selected groups picked according to military qualifications before the tests were made.

DUTCH TAX GATHERER WORRIES EX-KAISER

Berlin, July 11.—Wilhelm II, unwilling guest of the Dutch government, declines to pay taxes in Holland. The former emperor has filed a protest with the communal council at Doorn, where he is now living, protesting against the community taxes assessed against him.

Wilhelm argues in his protest that Germany's former kaiser is in Holland against his own free will, and held there against his wishes, and therefore cannot be called upon to pay taxes the same as the free citizens of the country.

The former kaiser is reported to be in serious financial straits, despite the simplicity with which he lives. Holland is one of the most expensive countries in Europe in which to live, which is making financial matters hard for the erstwhile Teuton monarch.

It is a fact that whatever money he gets comes from Germany, and he has to pay 25 German marks for one Dutch guilder.

WOULD REVIVE BLUE LAWS

Nashville, Tenn., July 11.—The enactment of "blue laws" prohibiting, among other things, the operation of Sunday trains and excluding Sunday newspapers from the mails will be urged by the Methodist Central Sabbath Crusade Committee in a petition to be presented to congress this week, Committee Chairman Noah W. Cooper announced today.

WILL DISCUSS SETTLEMENT

London, July 11.—Eamonn de Valera will come to London Thursday for a conference with Premier Lloyd George to discuss the basis for a settlement of the Irish problem, it was officially announced today.

Womanly Ailments Affect Beauty

(Thursday Health Talk, No. 12).
(By R. W. Zilar, D. C.)

Ailments peculiar to women affect their attractiveness. The fact is admitted. It is common to the experience of every woman. No woman willingly suffers a decline of her womanly qualities.

Many of these sufferers have been sent to the operating table as a last resort. But with the advent of the science of Chiropractic, a great change was brought about. Interference with the transmission of nerve impulses at the spine it has been found lowers the natural vigor of the organs. Chiropractic spinal adjustments, freeing nerve lines, give Nature a chance to act with vigor and health returns. Few such operations are necessary now.

HOPES OTHERS MAY NOT WAIT TOO LONG

"I was sore and swollen all the time after having fifteen small tumors and two vital organs removed. For five months after the operation I could not walk. As a last resort my husband urged Chiropractic. In less than three weeks I could walk and sleep. I wish every suffering woman would consult a Chiropractor first. I shall always regret I did not know of it before I surrendered myself to the surgeons."—Mrs. D. C. Gafford, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1267-L.

The Sentinel acknowledges receipt of two luscious cantaloupes from its old friend, Mr. J. W. Miller, who has our thanks for the kindly remembrance.

ELISHA ROBERTS

Mr. Elisha Roberts, aged a little more than 70 years, who lived alone in a bungalow on Fredonia Hill, died at 3 o'clock Saturday morning at the Smith sanitarium after an illness of a few hours.

As Mr. L. C. Walters, a nearby neighbor, was going home from work late Thursday afternoon we was hailed by Mr. Roberts, who was sitting on his porch, and when Mr. Walters reached him he was strangling and choking in an alarming manner. Mr. Walters called to his daughter, Lorena, to telephone for Dr. F. R. Tucker, who soon reached the sick man, placed him in his car and transferred him to the sanitarium, where he passed away at the hour named.

Deceased was an uncle of Dr. F. R. Tucker, who was a bachelor, and came to Nacogdoches from San Augustine several years ago. As he preferred to live quietly, Dr. Tucker provided him with a comfortable home on Fredonia Hill, where he passed the time with his garden and chickens.

He was familiarly known as "Uncle Elisha", and enjoyed the affectionate esteem of all.

The body was taken to San Augustine, his old home, where interment was to be made at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, several relatives and friends from Nacogdoches going down to join in the last tribute to the good man.

AFOWL OF THE LAW

Tommie Tindall of the Douglass community is prepared, speaking from experience, that violating the law is bad medicine, that when a fellow once gets tangled in its meshes it is hard to get loose.

On the night of December 17, last, Mr. Tindall and a man named Jim Johnson engaged in a rough-and-tumble fight as a private residence during the progress of the set-to, Tindall bit off the top of one of Johnson's ears. For this affray he was arrested and fined. Later, complaint was filed with County Attorney Audley Harris and Tindall was charged with aggravated assault. He was again arrested, and Wednesday afternoon pleaded guilty to the charge, and, at the request of Prosecutor Harris, the court assessed the minimum fine, $25, which, with the costs, ran the penalty up to $48.82.

It is inferred from Mr. Tindall's remarks that it will be his aim in future to steer clear of all such double-barreled legal entanglements.

LITTLE JEWEL WALKER Little Jewel Agnes Walker, aged 3 years, died at 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walker. Funeral services were held and interment made at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at North Church cemetery, where a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends gathered to say good-bye to little Jewel, who, though a tiny tot, had won the hearts of all who knew her.

A FRIEND.

GRAVEYARD WORKING There will be a graveyard working at North Church on Wednesday, July 20th. Let all who are interested come and bring dinner. Come with necessary tools and with a mind to work. Let those who cannot come send a money contribution to Jesse Millard and it will be used to secure labor. J. B. Millard, A. T. Garrard.

Attorney Moss Adams received a telegram Thursday from Mr. Arthur Seale, who is attending a meeting of the sovereign camp of the Woodmen of the World in New York, stating that the supreme body, by a vote of ten to one, has sustained him and others in the position they had taken in the controversy over increased rates at the state meeting in Houston last spring, when the camp split and two sets of delegates to the sovereign camp were elected. The delegates selected by Mr. Seale and friends were seated in the sovereign camp. This, it is hoped, will bring harmony within the order.

District Clerk Prince, County Clerk Perritte and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Long were among the Nacogdoches to attend the picnic at Gold Springs Friday. A rainstorm drove the picnickers to shelter just as the dinner was being spread at 12:30, and a threatening cloud at 3 o'clock caused the abandonment of the festivities, it is reported.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Nacogdoches County, Greeting— You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of ten days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Nacogdoches county, a copy of the following notice:

To all persons interested in the estate of Brit T. Burk, deceased, Know Ye: That G. E. Samuels has filed in the County Court of Nacogdoches County, an application for Letters of Administration upon the Estate of said Brit T. Burk, deceased, which will be heard at the next term of said court, commencing on the Third Monday in July, A. D. 1921, the same being the 18th day of July, A. D. 1921, at the court house thereof, in Nacogdoches, at which time all persons interested in the said estate may appear and contest said application, should they desire to do so.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court on the first day of the next term thereof this Writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Nacogdoches, this the 21st day of June, A. D. 1921.

J. F. Perritte, Clerk

Nacogdoches Dependent District—White males 2,007; females 1,918; colored males 740; females 701; total 5,366.

Nacogdoches Independent District—White males 517; females 588; colored males 388; females 521; total 2,014.

In the county there are 109 white and 19 colored Smiths, 42 white and 4 colored named Jones, 36 white and 94 colored Johnsons, while 52 give the name of Williams.

Some queer names figure among the colored registrants, among them being Sugardee Sweet, Cross Rhodes and Gentle Dove.

Miss Lewis requests us to state that after August 1 no transfers will be allowed, so those desiring transfers should attend to the matter before that date.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and tried everything I heard of but the only relief I ever got was only temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. Secretary-Manager.

Suffered Intense Pain

"A few years ago when visiting relatives in Michigan something I had eaten brought on an attack of cholera morbus," writes Mrs. Celesta McVicker, Macon, Mo. "I suffered intense pain and had to go to bed. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, and one dose relieved the pain wonderfully. I took only two or three doses but they did the work." Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

HOGS ON A JAG

County Attorney Harris was at Garrison Tuesday in connection with the illicit liquor supply unearthed by City Marshal Vaught. To test the quality of the stuff, some of the mash captured in the raid was fed to a lot of hogs, and the swine got hilariously drunk, making as big fools of themselves as humans do under like conditions.

A man named Bell was arrested in connection with the affair and was released on bond. It is thought the source of supply of the liquor which has been giving the officers of the Garrison community no end of trouble has at last been located and eliminated.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS VISIT NACOGDOCHES

The private cars Alamo and Yaleta, operated as a special train, arrived in the city about 3:30 Monday afternoon bearing a party of Southern Pacific officials on an inspection trip over the T. & N. O. division.

In the party were W. R. Scott, president of the Southern Pacific lines in Texas and Louisiana, with headquarters in Houston; G. S. Waid, vice president and general manager; H. M. Lull, chief engineer; H. J. Micksch, division superintendent of the T. & N. O.; J. H. Knowles, division engineer; F. C. Kendall, private secretary to President Scott; and J. E. Griffiths, private secretary to Engineer Lull.

A delegation of representative citizens, headed by Secretary H. L. McKnight of the chamber of commerce, met the party at the station and escorted the visitors to the Commercial Guaranty State Bank, where a reception was held and a large number of business and professional men took advantage of the opportunity to meet and greet them.

After the meeting at the bank the visitors were driven over the city, returning to their train about 5:30 and leaving for Jacksonville.

A banquet had been arranged for at the Redland Hotel at 8 o'clock, but imperative business forced the party to forego this feature of the entertainment prepared for them, and it was called off.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy

This remedy is certain to be needed in many homes before the summer is over. Buy it now and be prepared. It is recognized as a most reliable remedy for bowel complaints and may be obtained at any drug store. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Birdwell were in the city Monday for a visit with the family of the latter's uncle, Judge F. D. Huston. They will visit Mr. Birdwell's mother, Mrs. J. P. Birdwell, at Trawick, and then go to Tampico, Mexico, where Mr. Birdwell is in the employ of the Acme Oil Company. Mrs. Birdwell was formerly Miss Edwina Ridley of Beaumont, and the couple were married on June 29.

What to do When Bilious

Eat no meats and lightly of other foods. Take three of Chamberlain's Tablets to cleanse out your stomach and tone up your liver. Do this and within a day or two you should be feeling fine. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Sheriff Woodlan returned Tuesday afternoon from the scene of the killing, mentioned in yesterday's paper, in the negro settlement northeast of the city. He brought in Atlington Caldwell, who is alleged to have fired the fatal shots resulting in the death of his wife and a negro man named John Martin. The woman was first to fall with a hideous wound in the breast. Then the gun was turned on Martin, whose head was almost blown off, it was said. Martin fired at Caldwell just as the latter shot, and Caldwell's left arm was badly mangled. The shooting was done at close range. Jealousy was the cause of the trouble, it being alleged that Martin was too attentive to Caldwell's wife.

DIED IN JAIL

Lufkin News. Friday night Jack Miller, single son of Mrs. M. U. Miller of Lufkin, died in the San Augustine county jail. Particulars concerning his death are meagre so far as the News has learned, however, the following press dispatch from San Augustine sheds some light on the deplorable affair:

San Augustine, Texas, July 9.—Jack Miller, who was sentenced yesterday by a jury on a charge of theft of cattle, died in jail last night. The coroner has rendered no verdict, but a physician has rendered an opinion as to the cause of his death.

The young man resided in San Augustine county, and it is related that he remarked to some friends that if convicted on the charge above he would not go to the penitentiary. His mother formerly conducted a suburban store, located near the Church of Christ, between the city proper and the Lufkin Land mill, and during her many years' residence in this city has acquired many friends, all of whom sympathize with her in such a sorrow. The deceased was buried in San Augustine county.

SURE SHOT

Timber and Grass Killer

A Boon to the Farmer and Stockman

A boon to the farmers and stockmen. Kills trees, green stumps, sprouts, Bermuda grass and other obnoxious grasses that farmers are bothered with. Gives wonderful results as a money and labor saver. Can also be used as an insecticide, by diluting 20 parts of water to one part of the liquid. It is fine for spraying fowl houses, hog pens, fruit trees, or anything an insecticide is needed for. One man by this method can do the work of four the old way, and do it more satisfactorily. Timber killed by this process causes stumps to rot out in 18 to 24 months. It is endorsed by hundreds of farmers and business men in this and other states. It is guaranteed to do the work or money refunded, when used according to directions. For sale by
