

A PARTISAN RULING

The ruling of the commissioner of internal revenue that contributions to the Woodrow Wilson Foundation are not deductible in income tax calculations because the purpose is civic and not educational, is sharply contrasted with the ruling that contributions to the Roosevelt and McKinley memorials are deductible.

The impression had already been promoted by partisan critics of the ruling that the discrimination carries a political bias. Comparison of the two purposes of the three funds will puzzle the average mind to distinguish the precise difference upon which the different rulings are supposed to be based. If the effect is to give semblance to an appearance of partisanship, whether or not it be unfounded, the incident will be unfortunate far beyond any particular financial difference it would have made in the volume of income tax.

"ALL GONE SOUTH"

Come South! The American Wool and Cotton Reporter tells of an East-corn mill that a few years ago had 3,000 looms on tickings; now it has only 500—all gone South. Another had 5,000 looms on plain blue chambray—now 500—all gone South. The Reporter states this natural migration of cotton spindles as an argument in favor of increased hours in New England cotton mills. It neglects to see the advantages of manufacturing cotton in a section where the mill operators can look out of the windows of the mill and see his neighbor picking cotton.

It has neglected to consider the fact that higher freight rates on cotton give mills located adjacent to cotton fields a natural advantage. It has overlooked, too, the fact that the milder climate operates to aid in the success of mills in this part of the world.

The trend is toward shorter hours. It will come in the south and those mills that expect to succeed by long hours and low pay will find that a small and temporary benefit compared with the other advantages the South possesses for the manufacturer of cotton goods.—Raleigh News and Observer.

CARTER'S CREATOR PASSES

Frederick VanRensselaer Day, the creator of that perennially parentally pursued Nick Carter, has just died by his own hand. He hesitated to face old age, and unlike the remarkable creature of his pen, he lacked the courage to meet Old Father Time, so turned the white feather.

To men of middle age, or most of them, it is not necessary to describe Nick Carter or the thrilling life he led in rounding up bandits and always emerging triumphant. It was poor trash, if popular among juveniles, and parents were entirely justified in hunting down the parish-covered booklets which in some fashion their sons were almost always able to obtain.

Nick Carter as a memory may not vanish as quickly as his creator. With Diamond Dick, Frank Merriwell and the others he may live by other hands, but such scribbling is not likely to enrich the scribbler any more than it enriched Frederick VanRensselaer Day. It is unfortunate that Day's talent was expended in such a medium. It might have been turned into nobler channels, into real boys' literature instead of a stimulant to excessive daring and other like excesses.

RACIAL BARS REMOVED

Austin, Texas, May 4.—"The bars of racial prejudice against Mexican contestants in the Interscholastic League of the University of Texas have been overcome to a large extent," declared E. D. Shurer, state chairman of the League, in discussing the Mexican girl declaimer from the McAllen High School, district No. 32. Celestine Gonzales is the name of the contestant.

Dr. Shurer said that it was one of the hopeful signs of progress in the Interscholastic League, since previously it had been hard to get the schools of the Rio Grande Valley to recognize talent in Mexican students; and there had been some trouble in making the contests as equal as they should be.

Other Mexican contestants have been to Austin for the final meet in the last contest for junior boys in the last contest for junior boys from the state high schools. This year, according to the opinion of Dr. Shurer, will be the turning point in this phase of district competition in the League.

TICKLING THE FUNNYBONE

If there is money for somebody in the tariff which blocks a big share of trade between the United States and Canada, who foots the bill? Last year in congress certain interest were shouting that there was an emergency which only could be met by building a tariff wall to shut out imports from Canada. The "emergency tariff" was created, although authorities repeatedly pointed out that the bulk of the commodities taxed were subject to market price control in Europe because they were articles exported from this country in greater bulk than from Canada. But the principle of restriction upon Canadian imports has had its effect in a way which should be interesting to business interests of this country.

An acknowledged expert in economics, contributing an article to a Canadian financial weekly, says that the emergency tariff has had its "kick-back" on a terribly sore spot in the United States. The United States is glutted with manufactured goods. Canada used to take about $1,000,000,000 a year of United States goods. In eight months only this year—not the full year—she has cut her purchases from Uncle Sam from almost $600,000,000 in 1921, to $365,297,250—that is, in eight months she has cut her purchases in half, and the American manufacturers are rubbing their funnybone.

This comment goes well with the statistics recently published that Canada's sales to the United States have fallen from $417,490,572 in 1921 to $201,754,865 during the corresponding period of the present year, a loss which can find its expression only in increased cost of living for the people of the United States.

Maybe that tickles somebody's funnybone. But to the average citizen there seems nothing particularly funny about the whole business. And he finds little encouragement in the consideration that congress is still fussing with the tariff.

DOMINATING THE G. O. P.

Stalwart Republican newspapers are full of dispatches from Washington that President Harding has again his hand on the helm of the ship of state and is going to dominate his party.

It has not been so many years ago that these same newspapers were jumping all over President Wilson as "an autocrat," "an usurper" and various other tyrants for having done what appears to be perfectly proper now when the President is in a position since Lady Astor's speech to enjoy it. The joke is on the league.—Houston Post.

PETTY PARTISAN TACTICS

Secretary Mellon's withdrawal of the ridiculous ruling of Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair holding gifts to the McKinley and Roosevelt Memorial Associations exempt from income tax and similar gifts to the Woodrow Wilson Foundation as taxable comes too late to escape the public conviction that the Harding administration in many places is saturated with a partisan bitterness that has few equals.

All the circumstances of Commissioner Blair's decision indicate that if by that contemptible method the politicians at Washington could yet slash away at the former president, they were going to do it. Except for the public reaction from republican as well as other sources, who could say that even Secretary Mellon would have stepped into the limelight to undo if possible the bad impression created?

Every one of these undercuts at Woodrow Wilson but adds to his grandeur as a statesman and a man. Infinitely better for his critics to bow to the inevitable and let destiny play its part.

Of course, man is making some progress. He is talking more about "service"; business literature is full of it. Yet "service" is nothing more than thoughtfulness for the other fellow, trying to put yourself in his place and easing him along. The old theory of "caveat emptor"—let the buyer beware—in the modern phrase "sticking" the prospect—is being increasingly discarded as bad business. It's much more profitable to please a customer than just to "sell" him.

And coming to think of it, there is so much "service"—that is, kindly thoughtfulness—that does not cost a cent. But it promotes friendship and trade. Take the case of the restaurateur who whispered to the waitress, "give him one of them sharp knives with that steak."

How conversation would lag if everyone thought twice before he spoke.

FREE SPEECH AND PRESS

By formally deciding to resist determinedly all interference with the right of the press to free expression, the American Newspaper Publishers Association announced the continuation of a policy which commends itself to lovers of liberty everywhere. Despite the guarantee so plainly expressed in the first amendment to the constitution that congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, agitators have recently made efforts to secure the enactment of restrictive legislation. So far they have been unsuccessful, but they are aggressive and watchful and they are only awaiting a favorable opportunity to gain the end which they desire.

It will be an evil day for the United States when freedom of the press is abrogated or even curtailed. In other countries and other times despotism in one form or another has sought to make the press amenable to its bidding, and the long struggle by the newspapers for emancipation has been one of the most important and interesting events in history. The victory they ultimately achieved is one of the surest signs of the advance of the people in liberal ideas. It would be a reduction to the absurd if in this country, with its democratic institutions and its constitutional guarantees, any retrogression were permitted in the freedom of the press.

The score in the coal strike seems to be nothing—nothing, with everybody losing.

Adelle, Miss.—"Eight years ago I was in bad health, had the grip, and was childly, weak and nervous, also had night sweats. When I got able to get up I took a severe cough. I started taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in connection with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and began to improve right away. I took four bottles of each, and I was well. Since then when I feel run-down I take a bottle or two, always with excellent results. I have used Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, too, from time to time, and find them splendid."—Mrs. R. E. Griffing, Box 39.

Your neighborhood druggist can supply you with all Dr. Pierce's famous Family Remedies—tablets or liquid, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. of any of his remedies.

CONSCIENTIOUS CITIZENSHIP

Very fittingly the National League of Women Voters in its annual convention in Baltimore took as the theme of its discussions the education of citizens in the duties of citizenship. At the close of an address full of good advice and political wisdom, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president, proposed a pledge to be taken by all "conscientious citizens." This pledge comprised six commitments, the last of which declared: "I will do my best to regard my citizenship as a sacred trust."

It is not unfriendly criticism to remark that this obligation makes unnecessary the other specific articles of the pledge. He who regards his citizenship as a sacred trust must inform himself about public questions, the principles and policies of parties and the qualifications of candidates. He must vote according to conscience in every election. He will obey the law, even when not in sympathy with all its provisions. He will respect the rights of others to hold convictions differing from his own. These, in substance are the pledges which Mrs. Park would have every conscientious citizen take.

One of the most up-to-date school buildings in the county is that being erected at Eden for the colored school. It will contain a main recitation room or chapel, a manual training room, a domestic science room, a library room and cloak room. The colored people of the district are contributing their labor and the lumber and County Superintendent Lewis, who inspected it Thursday, pronounced the work excellently done. This school will receive $500 from the Rosenwald fund, which will be the only outside help available. The negroes of the Eden district are to be commended for their enterprise and the interest they display in educational matters.

More Harding logic is seen in the casting out of civil service by the administration to be followed by the staging of a "postal improvement week" in an attempt to bolster up a postal system run by political shoozles.

The World is Working for You

THE manufacturer who makes your shoes is working for you. So is the store that sells you shoes, your grocer, your clothier and every concern or person who makes or sells anything you buy.

Often these people have messages for you. They want to tell you about new goods, new styles, new prices or other new things they think you should know about.

They can't speak to you personally because they have so many customers to serve. So they put their messages in the newspaper in the form of advertisements.

It is to your interest to read the advertisements. They are published for your benefit. They keep you informed as to what these folks are doing for you. They help you buy the right goods at the right time and to make the most of your money.

Moreover, you'll find that business concerns that tell you frankly what they are doing are the most dependable. Stores that advertise are progressive stores that have something real to say to you. Manufacturers who advertise their products have confidence in them, because it does not pay to advertise anything that is not good.

Reading advertisements is both interesting and profitable

BOB-WHITE, BUG DESTROYER

Every shot fired this season at the bob-whites that are wintering in your fields is a shot at your pocketbook, says Farm and Ranch. Quits destroy millions of hibernating bugs that would otherwise awake next spring to fall hungrily upon the product of field and garden.

"While you fight the chinch-bug, redouble your efforts to increase bob-white quail," says A. C. Durill of the Missouri College of Agriculture. They are said to eat from 500 to 1,000 chinch-bugs at a meal and their stomachs crave another meal every two hours. At least this is the usual rate of digestion most insect-eating birds. Quails are the only wild birds that specialize on chinch-bugs in the winter season.

To protect the bob-white the most effective plan is for several farmers to co-operatively publish a notice in the county papers forbidding hunters to shoot quails on their premises. This has been done successfully in several Missouri communities. Many county papers run such notices properly drawn up by a lawyer and keep them standing in the paper throughout the hunting season. In such cases the publisher adds the name of any farmer in the county and keeps it there for, say 50 cents, for the season. Protect the quails; they will fight your bug battle for you, winter and summer.—Our Dumb Animals.

They call them links, probably, because they bind a man so closely to the game.

The impression grows that Mr. Bryan objects to the Darwinian theory on personal grounds.

WEEKLY SENTINEL

BOX HELPS SHUT GATES

"On June 3, 1921, the emergency immigration law, which is known as the Three Percent Law, went into effect, and for the first time in history the United States of America officially began to display a faint trace of common sense in the handling of the immigration problem. The Three Percent Law is operative from June 3, 1921, to June 30, 1922. Because of the restrictions of the law the number of European aliens who will enter the United States during these thirteen months will be held down to about 300,000.

If the United States were still in the wholesale immigration business with the same vigor and enthusiasm that characterized her immigration activities in 1907 and 1914 and the dear dead years of that period, the thirteen months between June 3, 1921, and June 30, 1922, would unquestionably see 1,500,000 immigrants spewed into our midst from every steamship that was capable of turning over her propeller without shaking out a packet of rivets at each revolution. By comparison with the number of immigrants that America might be getting, therefore, the number that she is actually getting under the temporary Three Percent Law looks like glad tidings of great cheer.

Generally speaking, this temporary Three Percent Law is a pretty good law. It is pretty good because it cuts down the number of immigrants. It is an unscientific law; but it cuts down the number, and therefore it is good."—Saturday Evening Post.

Representative Box of Texas, after urging the passage of a better law, worked and fought incessantly for the enactment of this law in 1921, and in 1922 to get it amended to stand for two years. He succeeded and had a leading part in writing and passing the law and reducing immigration from a probable 1,500,000 per year to less than 300,000, a reduction of four-fifths. The fight must be continued.

NEGRO SHOT

Sheriff Woodlan and Constable Walters on Monday night arrested a negro youth named Shepherd Hall in connection with the shooting of Jim Johnson, another negro, on the Burger place in the western suburbs of the city. Shepherd is in jail.

It is learned trouble occurred Sunday, when Johnson struck Hall on the breast with the flat of an axe, knocking him out for a while and causing him much suffering. On Monday night Hall went gunning for his enemy, arming himself with a shotgun loaded with No. 6 buckshot, and meeting his man, proceeded to open fire upon him as he climbed the landscape in an effort to get out of the way. Johnson was wounded in the left hand and thigh and ran to the rear of Sjencer's cafe, where he fell exhausted from his exertions and loss of blood. Here he was found by Deputy Hagan. His injuries are not serious.

DIED AT KELTYS

Mrs. Alice Hanks, aged 68 years, died at an early hour Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Smith, at Keltys, where she had resided a number of years, and the body was taken to Woodville, Texas, where she was born, for interment. The deceased was a lovable character, admired by all who knew her, and had been ill for quite a while.

She leaves five children to mourn her loss, as follows: Mrs. C. A. Smith, Keltys; Mrs. Thelma Beard, Keltys; Oscar Hanks, Noble, La.; C. L. Hanks, El Dorado, Ark.; C. D. Hanks, Peason, La.

The News joins all friends in extending condolence to the bereaved.—Lufkin News, 8th.

Hon. W. E. Donley of Jacksonville, candidate for prosecuting attorney of this judicial district, was in the city renewing acquaintance with the people whom he served in that capacity years ago. His presence brought vividly back to the Sentinel's editor the "days of auld lang syne" when they were schoolmates at Marshall. It was a pleasure to renew the acquaintance of fifty years ago.

TRADE TRIPPERS COMING

A party of Dallas business men, touring the state in the interest of closer relations between that city and the different sections of Texas, will reach here, about 500 strong, on a special train at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, the 12th inst., and will spend an hour in the city. They will be accorded a sitting greeting by the civic bodies and citizens generally, a definite program not being available at this time. The excursionists are accompanied by a Dallas cornet band, one of the best in the country, and a concert of an hour's duration will be given here.

Lack of consideration given pedestrians by automobile drivers makes no one madder than the man whose car is in the garage a few days for repairs.

STORE BURGLARIZED

Some time Saturday night an unknown party managed to spread the iron bars across a back window of the store of Mattar Brothers sufficiently to permit passage of his body and the cash drawer was rifled of about $65, checks being undisturbed. It is understood a colored boy is under suspicion, who has not been seen since the robbery.—Lufkin News, 8th.

WODEN VS. 'DOCHES

Woden won their third game Sunday by trimming Nacogdoches by a score of 8 to 4. Wickersheimer was knocked out between first and second, but was soon up and going. Of course anyone is likely to get floundered in a fast game like that. Nacogdoches has a fast team, and we think with a little more practice can flake it interesting for all comers. Our boys are not discouraged by the drubbing Woden gave them, and expect to put it over on the victors in great style as soon as they strike their stride. Continued.

Kill the Insect Bites

Do not let them poison your system with their stings and bites. A good hot bath with will stop all such bites and stings. It's good for the scalp.

Mrs. C. C. Ballard is reported quite sick at her home on Irion Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crawford left for their new home in Kaufman. Mr. Crawford has been there for the past several weeks.

"I would not take $1,000 for what that wonderful Taniac medicine has done for me," said Mrs. Mattie Lutes, of Lexington, Ky. Sold by Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

John Pleasant and Philmore Witherspoon, business men of Center, were here Tuesday.

Miss Dona Buford of Henderson is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hayter.

Although a powerful reconstructive tonic, Taniac contains no harmful ingredients, minerals or opiates, which are so often found in other medicines. It can therefore be taken by delicate children with splendid results. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitch Weatherly of Appleby was in the city Tuesday.

WATERMELON SEED
Have a few Georgia Sweet melon seed left. Get them at Slay Bros., or write me. Edwin Tillery, Rt. 4, Nacogdoches, Texas. 10-1dw2p

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hanks and little son stopped over for a few hours with the family of Mr. J. C. Wolseifer after attending the funeral of Mr. Hanks' mother at Woodville Tuesday.

At the present rate of Taniac sales, it is estimated the grand total will reach 24,000,000 bottles at the end of the present year. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Mrs. Wilton Blakey, who was taken to the Smith sanitarium last week for treatment, was able to be removed to her home Monday. She is, her friends will be pleased to learn, making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

CALOMEL MAY TURN ON YOU NEXT TIME

Next Dose You Take May Salivate And Start World of Trouble
Calomel is mercury; quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back to your druggist and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

YOUR VACATION AND WHAT WILL YOU BE DOING IN 1930

This depends on what you do with in the next few months. The ordinary young person is not rich in money, but is rich in time and opportunity. A day to the boy or girl from sixteen to twenty-one years of age is worth a month of time to the man or woman forty years of age. Time properly invested now will earn dividends the rest of your life. You will not waste your time waiting for something to turn up, you will turn up something worth while. Through a business education is the shortest cut to "Success" and NOW is the time to get it.

Business conditions are improving rapidly and within a few months the wheels of commerce will be humming everywhere. ## This Paint Doesn't Cost You a Cent

It isn't given away; still it doesn't cost you anything

LOWE Brothers High Standard Paint doesn't cost you anything because it saves you so much more than it costs.

Good paint preserves your buildings, just like your wife's canning preserves fruit.

In the old days, painting was done mostly for looks; but people know today that it makes buildings last longer.

High Standard brings more lastingness than any other paint we have ever seen. It looks better as long as it lasts, too.

It saves you money right at the start because it spreads further; therefore less paint is needed.

Come in and see the sample panels and ask for details.
