COST OF PRODUCTION
OF COTTON IS 22c

Austin, Texas, Sept. 5.—Commissioner of Agriculture George B. Terrell has compiled the cost of producing the cotton crop from a large number of correspondents, who kept the items of cost, and the average cost is found to be 22c per pound.

Mr. Terrell says: "The report is compiled from correspondents representing sixty counties, who kept the cost items on blanks furnished by the department of agriculture. The cost of different farmers varies according to the cost of labor and other items of expense, and, according to the yield per acre, a good yield per acre lowering the cost per pound and a poor yield per acre raising the cost."

The lowest cost reported is 8 1/2 cents per pound and the highest 60c per pound, while a large majority report the cost between 15c and 30c per pound. Some have estimated their cost too high, while many have not included all cost items and make their cost too low.

"I am convinced that 22c, as shown to be the average cost, is too low rather than too high and that any price less than 25c, with the very short crop, will not give the farmers a profit."

NO WONDER
TEACHER SPANKED

Washington, Sept. 4.—Do you know how much is a billion dollars?

Representative Jas. T. Begg, of Ohio, frankly admits he doesn't know, although a billion dollars is talked about in congress nowadays with less concern than Mrs. Taborn asks the huckster in the alley the price of eggs. In a speech the other day Representative Begg said his idea of a billion dollars was very much like that of a little school boy in his town of Sandusky. The lad came home one evening in a mood which prompted his dad to ask what had happened to him at school.

"The teacher asked me how much is a billion dollars," he replied, "and when I told her she whipped me."

"That's strange," the father said, "how much did you tell her a billion dollars is?"

"I told her what you told me the other night when I asked you how much is a billion dollars," the boy went on. "You said it's a hell of a lot of money."

ANOTHER TRESTLE BURNED

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 5.—A trestle on the Houston & Texas Central nine miles south of here was burned last night. The structure was entirely consumed but a crew of bridge builders repaired it promptly and traffic was resumed. This is the third bridge burned near Fort Worth within the last ten days.

LONG AIRPLANE FLIGHT

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 5.—Lieutenant James H. Doolittle landed here at 7:10 this morning on a one-stop flight from coast to coast and hopped off again for San Diego at 8:23 after replenishing his gasoline and oil supply. He left Jacksonville, Fla. last night.

A PRIEST IS FLOGGED

Olin, Texas, Sept. 5.—Rev. Joseph Meiser, the Catholic parish priest here, was taken from the parish house by ten unmasked men Sunday night and flogged. He was accused of being un-American and opposed to public schools.

HEARING RESTORED
BY AIRPLANE FLIGHT

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Pronounced hopelessly deaf by physicians, Augustus H. Harris, 31, former soldier, had regained partial hearing here yesterday after an airplane flight at an altitude of 15,000 feet. He plans more flights in a still higher altitude in the hope his hearing will be permanently restored.

Harris said his first idea that his hearing was not permanently destroyed was some time ago, when he received a heavy blow on his arm. For a short time after the blow he could hear a little, he said. Strenuous exercise, in which he permits friends to maul him, has been added to his system of treatment, he said.

FIRES ON ORANGE SHERIFF;
PAYS WITH LIFE

Orange, Texas, Sept. 5.—Sheriff J. W. Helton shot and killed an unidentified negro at the county jail at 2 o'clock Monday morning when the negro attempted to brain him with handcuffs when one hand was released.

The negro and his companion were discovered by Sheriff Helton and a deputy at Mauriceville, 12 miles north of Orange, shooting craps on a truck at the Kansas City Southern depot. He was arrested and the cuffs were being placed on his hands he clinched with the sheriff, and a gun taken off of him a moment before shot the sheriff through the muscle part of the left arm. As he fled 200 yards away Sheriff Helton shot him through the leg and recaptured him.

After the 12-mile drive to the jail, the negro's last attempt to kill his captor resulted in sudden death.

Helton, although suffering severely from the wound, was on duty Monday morning.

PERSHING'S PICK FOR GREATEST WAR HERO AT NEW JOB

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 6.—Sergeant Samuel Woodfill, chosen by General Pershing as the greatest single hero of the World War, was at work today on the Ohio river government dam at Silver Grove, Ky., a short distance above Cincinnati.

"My husband went to work on the dam today because he finds it necessary to raise the money to meet the payment on our home that will fall due on January 1," Mrs. Woodfill said. "He could never do it on his sergeant's pay and the work at the dam opened a way for him."

Sergeant Woodfill was assigned to carpentering work at the dam. His pay will be $6 a day, which is just twice as much as he receives as a sergeant in the United States army. He expects to remain at this work during the three months' leave granted him by Lieutenant Colonel Turner, commanding officer at Fort Thomas, Ky., where Sergeant Woodfill is assigned as a duty sergeant.

FIRST OIL WELL WAS DRILLED 63 YEARS AGO

The first oil well in this country was brought in 63 years ago by Colonel Edwin L. Drake, near Titusville, Pa. It was only 69 feet deep, but it marked the beginning of an epoch, the importance of which has only begun to be realized.

The demand for oil created by the development of the internal combustion engine, has so stimulated the growth of the industry that there are today, according to estimates by the American Petroleum Institute, about 275,000 producing wells in this country.

Production has increased from the negligible quantity obtained in 1859 from Col. Drake's little well, to an output last year of 469,639,000 barrels in this country alone.

500 HOGS BURN TO DEATH

Kansas City, Sept. 6.—Fire Monday night partially destroyed the warehouse of the Royal Serum Company at Kansas City, Kas. Damage is estimated at $25,000 by Fire Chief Maehner. Nearly 500 hogs, kept for experimental purposes, were burned to death.

CONFESSES TO KILLING

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 6.—Police Tuesday made a public supplementary confession alleged to have been made by Seth W. Poston, one of the four men held in connection with the killing early Saturday morning of Charles H. Lanier, non-union Frisco shopman, in which he states that he participated in the killing of two negro shopmen at Hurlburt, Ark., on the night of August 10th. Poston is said to have implicated three more white men and two negroes.

ENGLISH MINE DISASTER

Whitehaven, England, Sept. 6.—Twenty-five bodies have been recovered from a coal pit in which 40 men were entombed by an explosion yesterday. Heavy rock and much gas are hampering rescue work.

An exchange speaks of the G. O. P. as up a tree on the tariff. But who ever imagined that it had found those rates on the ground?

RIGHTS OF STRIKERS
WILL BE PROTECTED

Washington, Sept. 6.—The injunction obtained by the government in Chicago against the striking shopmen will not be used to abridge personal liberty, Attorney General Daugherty declared to newspaper correspondents late today. Nor will freedom of speech or press be interfered with, he added, but "freedom of speech and freedom of press does not mean those mediums may be used to incite riots or murders."

There will be no objection by the department of justice to meeting of union men to perform any of their functions, "that do not interfere with interstate commerce or otherwise violate the law," the attorney general continued. "If any one undertakes to abridge personal liberty," Daugherty said, "I will be as vigorous in upholding the people's rights as I am vigorous in opposing violence."

President Harding is said to feel that the injunction sought will not in any way hamper or endanger constitutional rights of the men on strike or of other citizens and to consider the government's course entirely clear of complications which might justify any such a charge.

MAKES COAST TO COAST
TRIP WITHIN SOLAR DAY

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 6.—Breaking all records for coast-to-coast flying, Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, U. S. A., was banquetted in San Diego Tuesday afternoon after having dined at Jacksonville, Fla., Monday evening. The intrepid aviator hopped off from the Atlantic coast at 10:30 Monday night and arrived at Rockwell field, San Diego at 5:34 Tuesday afternoon, in considerably less than 24 hours, with but one stop en route.

The fastest previous trans-continental trip heretofore made was made in about 36 hours a year ago by Lieutenant Coney, who later was killed in North Louisiana, in an attempt to lower his own record.

The elapsed time for the 2,100 mile flight by Lieutenant Doolittle was 21 hours and 20 minutes. The big De Havilland plane landed at Kelley field, San Antonio, Tuesday morning for an hour of overhauling and re-fueling and then took the air direct to San Diego.

In addition to marking an epoch in transcontinental transportation the flight was remarkable in that it was entirely without mishap. Lieutenant Doolittle said.

The entire personnel of the aviation station turned out to greet the flyer when he alighted far ahead of his schedule. After receiving the congratulations of his fellows he was hustled off to a big celebration and spread.

While the average speed was about 100 miles an hour, it falls slightly below the elapsed time record of 19 hours and 10 minutes established in 1918 by Major Theodore MacCauley. Mut MacCauley's flight in its entirety covered a period of almost three weeks, while Doolittle did the same distance in less than a solar day.

HEIRESS IS MARRIED TO G. L. WAGGONER

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 5.—Miss Annie Burnett and Guy L. Waggoner were married in New York Monday, according to a telegram received here Monday afternoon.

The bride is sole heir to the estate of the late S. B. Burnett, valued at $20,000,000, and the groom the son of W. T. Waggoner of Fort Worth. She is 19 years old and is Waggoner's fifth wife.

Mr. Donald Flint is home from Rice Institute, his arrival having been delayed by his duties as a newspaper correspondent in Houston. In this connection it is pleasing to state that Donald has been doing some first-class newspaper work, his stories taking rank among the best we have seen published in the big dailies. Of course we have a "fellow-feeling" for Don, and hope and predict a bright future for him among the members of the fourth estate.

David James had a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Huston Monday afternoon on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor and was held to the grand jury in the sum of $500.

THINK BURIED MEN
ANSWER SIGNAL BLASTS

Jackson, Cal., Sept. 5.—The night crew of rescuers working in the Kennedy Mine in an attempt to reach 47 entombed men in the Argonaut gold mine, declared on coming to the surface Monday that when two signal blasts were fired on the 3,700-foot level they were positive that they were answered by five explosions coming from the Argonaut.

The miners declared that the sounds could not have been caused by falling rock. It would have been impossible to hear such sounds through the thick walls of stone that separate the two mines, they said.

All Jackson is rejoicing over the report, for a feeling of certainty that the men imprisoned for a week are still alive now exists.

LABOR'S GREAT PROGRESS

Moosheart, Ill., Sept. 5.—American labor has made great strides in the past year, Secretary Davis of the labor department declared yesterday in a Labor Day address. In spite of unemployment, he declared, it has fought off all attempts to decrease wage levels set up during the war and safely passed a war crisis.

"Despite the pressure of a tremendous mass of unemployed, despite the efforts of a few reactionary employers who selfishly sought to take advantage of the distress of labor and the nation, we have kept the general level of wages up," he declared. "I am safe in saying the average compensation of the man who toils today is within a few percent of what it was a year ago, and some have received an increase."

Continuation of high wage levels, Mr. Davis predicted, would bring prosperity in the United States because it would increase the nation's consuming power.

After condemning instances of violence in the rail and mine strikes, he continued:

"We must, and will, find a way to end this fratricidal strife in industry. We must, and will, find means to settle these industrial disputes without recourse to the futile arbitrament of force."

BISHOP FALLOWS DEAD

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Bishop Samuel Fallows, head of the Reformed Episcopal Church, died at 4:30 this morning.

LAFOLLETTE SWEEPS STATE

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—Indications today are that Senator LaFollette was overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary as the republican candidate for the senate. Returns from over 1,300 of the 2,500 precincts give La Follette over 181,000 and W. A. Canfield, his opponent, 74,000.

Half Million Total of Ford Company Assets.

Lansing, Mich.—Total assets of the Ford Motor Company are $409,820,132.92, according to the annual financial statement filed Saturday morning in the office of the secretary of state in connection with the corporation tax returns of the concern that paid the maximum fee of $10,000.

Of the holdings, those in the state are valued at $215,415,662.92. The statement is of June 30, 1922, and the company's surplus is shown as $289,935,296.40.

The assets include cash on hand land, improvements, buildings, fixtures and structures $81,626,015.03; machinery, tools and equipment $39,531,079.34, and good will $20,517,985.82.

The Ford interests also made returns on the Dearborn Publishing Company and the Lincoln Motors Company.

The assets of the former are listed at $124,961.55, while a single item of $250,000 cash is shown as the total assets of Lincoln Motors.

RAILROAD GUARD SHOT

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 6.—A Texas & Pacific railroad guard stationed at Mingo, 60 miles west of here, was shot by unidentified parties last night. He was brought here this morning badly wounded, but is expected to recover.

LAW FOR THE OTHER FELLOW

The chief of police of Kansas City is quoted as reaching the conclusion that the citizens of a large city will not support an officer who seeks to enforce all the laws. He finds that each individual is perfectly willing to have the laws enforced on others, but objects to such action against himself if he chooses to offend. Since strict enforcement is likely to touch a large number of persons, soon an officer who performs his duty has a majority against him to offer opposition to his efforts. Perhaps a majority would sustain an officer in prosecuting burglary, murder and such crimes, but there is not the same enthusiasm for prosecution when misdemeanors such as speeding, home brewing and the like are considered. When minor offenders so often threaten policemen who perform their duty with influence with "higher ups," and make good on the claim, it is not astonishing that officers should grow lax. Good citizens obey the laws whether approving them or otherwise, but the trouble lies in that too many good citizens are not good enough.

The situation is complicated by many laws. Ignorance of law excuses no one, but at the same time many slight offenses are committed through lack of knowledge. However, one who is thus brought to book for his ignorance should not lay it against the officer who happens to know more about what is law than the offender. Rather, it should inspire one with a desire to learn the law in order not to offend a second time. The person who has offended and been fined seeks to "get even" with the officer, though it is an unworthy course.

When the idea becomes general that law applies to each individual personally, and not to the other fellow alone, will a conscientious officer be backed in enforcing all laws, but that day appears to be in the future, though it should be present now.

COMMERCIALISM

It is announced that the Passion Play at Oberammergau is in its last rendition, probably. It has been capitalized to such an extent and the extortions practised are so great that this unique spectacle, for 300 years rendered decennially by Bavarian peasants, is likely to be forbidden. The profiteering is not charged to the promoters of the play, but to others who have taken advantage of the world-wide desire to witness that religious presentation. Visitors are regarded as fair plucking, the length to which it is carried being limited only by the apparent ability to pay. While the characters in the play may possess some of the spirit of the central figures and do unto others as they would have them do unto them, the spirit of greed is so general elsewhere that the effect of the presentation is lost in the sense and the impositions suffered, if the reports faithfully portray conditions.

It would be regrettable were the Passion Play to be abandoned, since it stands alone as a spectacle of that character. While the promise to present it may have nothing to do with staying the ravages of the smallpox, the thing that caused its inception, that it has kept up so long and that the actors partake in their persons much of the characters they represent should operate for its continuance.

Heretofore the play has been conducted without marked commercial features, but this year the profiteering has run riot, a situation certainly out of harmony with the spirit of the spectacle.

SCHOOL IS FUN

Oh, yes, this is the time that all the smart aleck newspapers make funny jokes about going back to school.

You ask your son, Mr. Head of a Family, whether he wants to keep on vacation for the rest of the fall and this winter.

He'll tell you, no siree! Schools aren't prisons any more, where little fresh-air loving boys and girls are cooped up and brain-ridden and body fagged.

We think that our public schools are about on a par with any in this state, and you know that's a pretty large statement.

Improved methods have taken the drudgery out of school for both pupils and teachers reading. Lessons! Why, they're just play nowadays, the youngsters all taking different parts, and acting out the scenes in their reading books.

Shades of McGuffey! How we used to dread the second half of that sixth reader, the part with all the long words in it. It's different now.

most sixth graders in our public schools are far ahead of the lesson, we'll venture to say.

But the schools aren't perfect, and we shall make a grave mistake if we devote too much of our energy to patting the teachers and principals on the back.

Arithmetic is a subject which every child must master, in order to make his way in the world.

Some way should be devised to make it more interesting to the youthful mind. Some steps have been taken, and our own teachers aren't behind the times. But that phase of teaching needs to be developed. Teachers, it's up to you.

DRIFTING—WITH AN AIM

Do you sometimes wish that you could get away from everything for a good, long time, and spend your hours and days, instead of in a hurry-scurry scramble for a living, just thinking things out, content to be alive, drifting for a while with the cosmic currents?

It is a pleasant thought that Roald Amundsen, the explorer, and his party contemplate seven years of just such existence. They will drift, but not aimlessly. For their sturdy little ship, locked in the ice-oceans of the Arctic, is intended to drift over the North Pole and onward to the approaches of civilization on the other side of the world.

The cold will be bitter and the hours will be long. What will they think about in that time? What will be in Amundsen's, the lea's, mind when he is not busy with scientific observations and calculations?

Doubtless quite often in those long seven years his thoughts will go back to that time, when, at 25, he made an arctic expedition that was a returned into the frozen places. They would have accepted the judgment of an apparent destiny. Bunt Amundsen refused to be a failure. He still is forcing the earth's secrets from her.

After all, it doesn't matter much whether a man is an explorer, a garage mechanic, a statesman or a section hand. If he refuses to be a failure in spite of fate and luck, he'll win to success before his life is done.

OUR TOWN

No, we are not dissatisfied with Nacogdoches. It's a mighty good town, and there has been great progress here in the past few years, but all this is no reason why progress should stop now when opportunities are greater than ever. A town is just what you make it, and there is hardly any limit to what you can accomplish in a town if the citizens or even a small number of the citizens will co-operate and work together.

So far as ability is concerned, there is no question as to the talent and ability to be found here, and when our men decide to do a thing they never fall down on the job.

Nacogdoches can be improved so far as looks are concerned. We don't keep our streets and alleys just as clean as we might, and sanitary conditions are neglected to a great extent. A few days ago we happened to overhear one of a party of tourists who had stopped their car in front of a filling station, remark:

"It would be a pretty nice town of they would clean up." A hint to the wise is sufficient. It wouldn't be a great big undertaking to inaugurate and carry out an extensive clean-up campaign that would put our town in a 100-percent condition so far as cleanliness is concerned. We have often heard people remark: "How can we advertise Nacogdoches?" Folks, this would be the biggest advertisement for Nacogdoches ever pulled off. It has never failed to work in other towns and it wouldn't fail to get the desired results here.

Competition is too keen today for anyone to go to a town simply because it's a town, either to live or enter business. There must be some inducements offered other than just a few business houses, banks, post-office and railroad station. The best time to remedy an ill is before it becomes chronic, and the best time to open the door is while opportunity is knocking. So, let's get together, good people, and give Nacogdoches a little brushing, pave a few streets and develop the resources that are in sight, so that when the stranger comes that we would like to have as a citizen we can show him as well as tell him.

Russians have taken to train robbery, which shows that modern civilization is getting a grip there.

The person who is equipped with the most excuses is the one who is not getting anywhere in particular.

"Veneer of our civilization is wearing very thin," says Governor Allen of Kansas. It seems to be cracked even in spots.

The Straight Line

WHEN a railroad is constructed from one town to another engineers strive to make the line as straight as possible. Because a straight route is shortest, quickest and least costly.

Business furnishes a parallel case—the line between the man who makes something and the man who wants something.

Advertising provides a short cut between the manufacturer and you. Advertisements make it possible to tell you in a few minutes all you want to know about the services or articles you need.

A glance through this paper enables you to sift out the things that interest you, and in a moment you know just where and when to go for what you want.

Figure how many steps, how much needless walking and talking the advertisements save you and your neighbors. Then you realize the great economy of advertising.

Advertising plays a necessary part in your life. Read it.

ARE YOU "TOO QUICK ON THE TRIGGER?"

Are your feelings easily hurt, and does it take ever so little to make you ready to fight?

Instead of arguing a point that another declares to be true, do you vehemently protest that anyone believing as that person does "must be foolish?"

It is only the self-conscious person who is offended at trifles.

Broad-minded folks are too big to be annoyed by little things.

The really big somebody never thinks of fighting to settle a score, as long as there is any other honorable way out of it.

The more learned and just a person the more he believes that every man has a right to his opinions, and the more he believes that he can not always be right and the other fellow is not always wrong.

How many times have you been angry with just cause?

Nine out of ten you know your anger was foolish.

How about it—don't you exhibit such foolishness every day of your life?—The Houston Chronicle.

TEXANS ARE SAVERS

Texas are not neglecting the saving habit. Saving in Texas has gained in popularity. This year, each offering of short-term Government notes has been oversubscribed in this state; savings accounts in commercial banks show a healthy and substantial increase; and, according to Dinsmore W. Hume, of Dallas, government savings director of this federal Reserve District, Texas have snugly salted away approximately $2,000,000 since the first of the year in the savings securities of the government known as Treasury Savings Certificates.

In popular investment in these securities, which the government guarantees to be loss-proof, Texas has now become one of the first ten leading states.

That a safe and sure investment may be within the reach of all, the government has now made these Treasury Savings securities readily obtainable at or through even the smallest wayside postoffice. Their denominations, ranging from $25 to $1,000, are graded to fit all purses, whether made from silk or sow's ear.

FORD'S LATEST

The first, and naturally assumed, reason advanced for the prospective shutdown of the Ford motor plants and the throwing of 75,000 persons out of employment was shortage of coal. Many, however, familiar with the "so-different" way in which the Detroit manufacturer does things looked for some special Ford reason in connection with this disturbing industrial curtailment. The many were right. Mr. Ford is shutting down, throwing scores of thousands of men out of work as a direct result of his action and imperiling the employment of thousands additional, just to "teach the country a lesson." He refuses to buy coal at the figure the operators demand.

It is the Ford theory that other manufacturers will follow his action and thus profiteering will get its everlasting quietus in the coal industry. But the trouble—or the fact—is that other business men will do nothing of the kind. If the business men of the nation were in the habit of following the Ford line of action he would lose all his originality and cease to attract any attention. The coal profiteer is about as little liked a being as tneis in the country today, but there are ways of reaching him—and he will be reached and properly treated—with out cutting of fone's nose to split one's face.

Lots of people refuse to take Mr. Ford seriously, but paradoxically, because he isn't taken seriously some of his activities and processes produce serious effects. One satisfying reflection in the present case is that whatever damage is caused by the throwing of thousands out of jobs, it might be worse for the masses. Mr. Ford might pay the coal profiteers their price and put up the price of his well-known product. Then again, would it not be the real irony of fate if the government were compelled to take over the Ford plants to insure the public its supply of flivvers?

BRAINS AND HONESTY NEEDED

Predicting prosperity but pointing out that it would take five or six years to repair the wreckage of the economic mistakes of 1919 and 1920, J. Harry Tregoe, secretary and treasurer of the National Association of Credit Men, made this statement a few days ago:

"Never before in the history of the nation were brain and honest effort needed more than now. We, as a nation, can live within our country, but we cannot and will not prosper until we can open the gates to the rest of the world."

Farsseeing intelligence and honest effort were needed in the period immediately after the war when America was offered the leadership of the world and the privilege of restoring peace and prosperity not only here but in the war and pestilence stricken countries of Europe. She still has the opportunity for this service and still is in need of those qualities.

AWAY WITH BUGS

Have you any bugs at your house that you want removed? Simply gather in a stock of Jerusalem weeds to be found growing wild in most any fence corner in the country, place it in the place where the bugs hold festival, and, presto, the bugs are gone.

This is not a recent discovery, but those who have tried it say that it never fails. If mites are bothering your chickens, put a few Jerusalem plants in the chicken house. If fleas are under the house or in the sand piles, get some Jerusalem. In fact, it is claimed this plant is death to insect life.

Jerusalem, this is a fine discovery.

INDICTED FOR HERRIN MURDER

Marion, Ind., Aug. 31.—The arrest of the first person indicted by the special grand jury investigating the Herrin massacre is expected some time today. The man is charged with the murder of C. K. McDowell, superintendent of the Lester strip mine, where the massacre occurred, and a copias for his arrest has been placed in the hands of special deputies. The speed with which the first indictment was returned, three days after the investigation started, increased the expectancy that a large number of indictments would follow.

FEDERAL TROOPS MAY BE USED IF NECESSARY

Washington, Sept. 4.—Any general strike by organized labor, bringing with it the almost certain accompaniment of violence, bloodshed and industrial chaos, will be met by the government troops.

This was the policy outlined in government quarters Saturday in response to the general strike talk advanced by labor leaders in retaliation for the Daugherty injunction.

The talk of a general strike of all labor unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, apparently did not jar government officials to any appreciable extent.

President Harding, it was said by his advisers, carefully considered beforehand the full effects of the far-reaching court action in Chicago, and is determined to "go through with it" to the end, and that transportation shall be maintained and disorder suppressed.

The war department has a complete set of plans pigeonholed that are calculated to meet any situation that may arise.

Writ Applies to Illinois Only
Omaha, Neb., Sept. 4.—Federal Judge Woodruff in a decision rendered Saturday night on the petition of railway shopmen, declared the Daugherty injunction could not apply to Nebraska strikers. "The injunction is operative only in Illinois," Judge Woodruff said. "The Illinois court has no jurisdiction to grant injunctions for other federal court districts."

One thousand striking shopmen in mass meeting here Saturday night voted unanimously to ignore the injunction.

ERADICATION MEETING AT SHREVEPORT FAIR

Shreveport, La., Sept. 4.—Monday, October 23, will be one of the banner days at the State Fair of Louisiana this year, because on that day the Louisiana Tick Eradication Commission will hold a meeting at the Fair Grounds in the interest of the state-wide anti-tick campaign now under way.

In addition to livestock breeders and other citizens of various parishes of Louisiana, those of the border and neighboring counties of Texas and Arkansas are invited. The meeting promises to be one of the largest tick eradication conferences ever held in the South. The fact that it will be held during the State Fair will prove helpful in attracting an unusually large attendance, it is believed, because of the many livestock owners, experts and specialists who will attend the State Fair anyway, besides the many visitors who will come to Shreveport especially for this important meeting.

A number of noted authorities on tick eradication work will address the meeting, including Dr. Paxton, federal director in charge of tick eradication supervision in Louisiana. These authorities will stress importance of freeing the country from the cattle tick and of the potential profits to be gained through co-operative tick eradication as cattle that are infested or exposed to the tick are not considered good financial investments.

As radio broadcasting is to be a daily feature of the State Fair, it is planned for reports on the anti-tick conference to be sent by wireless for the information of those back home.

IMPROVED POSTAL SERVICE

Austin, Texas, Sept. 4.—When the fall term of the University of Texas opens students and faculty members will find the postoffice facilities of the university station much enlarged and improved. New box equipment has been ordered which will double the present number of boxes. The handling of mail will also be changed and expedited it is said. The postal business of the university station has increased enormously during the last few years, due to the rapid growth of attendance of students at the university. In addition to the improved post-office facilities, a bank for the special benefit of student and faculty is being installed just across the street from the campus.

LABOR DAY AND STRIKES HOLD CENTER OF STAGE

Chicago, Sept. 4.—The dawn of labor day and the sixty-sixth day of the railway shopmen's strike found United States marshals mobilized to enforce the government's strike injunction and prepared to keep a close watch on labor demonstrations throughout the country. The arrival of the annual holiday brought new acts of violence and further expressions of bitter resentment against the federal injunction. Many leaders declared they had not been served with writs. Central labor bodies in various cities adopted resolutions dealing with the strike.

TEXAS FARMERS MAKE BIG SAVINGS, HE SAYS

Austin, Tex., Sept. 1.—Texas farmers have been saved approximately a million dollars during the past year through the reduction in insurance rates on stored grains, Charles E. Baughman, state market and warehouse commissioner, stated today at a conference of field workers of the markets department. The conference closed the work of the department for the fiscal year.

HENRY RESIGNS FROM THE KU KLUX KLAN

Waco, Texas, Sept. 2.—Robert L. Henry, former Texas congressman and defeated candidate for the nomination as United States senator at the July democratic primary, Friday announced his resignation as a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

He lauds the principles of the klan in his announcement, but said he declines to affiliate with the organization "on account of the conduct of the high officials of the order in power at Atlanta, Ga., and in Texas."

In the recent senatorial campaign the klan was generally understood to have supported Earle B. Mayfield who won the nomination. Henry was an avowed member of the klan. Mayfield's political opponents charged him with membership in the organization, but he did not commit himself.

During the campaign friends of Henry attested the klan membership was acting upon orders from "higher ups" in not supporting Henry.

LIVESTOCK, PERISHABLES MUST HAVE PRECEDENCE

Washington, Aug. 31.—Railroads west of the Mississippi river have been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to give preference and priority to the movement of foodstuffs, livestock, perishable products and fuel whenever their operating conditions become such as to cause a freight congestion or blockade. The order declared an emergency and prescribed rules for the conduct of Western lines identical with those which have been in effect on the railroads east of the Mississippi for several weeks.

CHAPMAN TAKES OVER JOB

Austin, Texas, Aug. 31.—Over 25 state banking commissioners held a conference today with Ed Hall, banking and insurance commissioner, and J. L. Chapman, who takes Hall's place tomorrow. The future work of the department was outlined and instructions from the new commissioner were given.

SPIRITUALISTS MEET

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 2.—Three hundred delegates attended the opening session here Friday of the Texas State Spiritualists Association. J. S. Maxwell of Houston, state president, presided.

THE DETAILED VOTE ON SOLDIER BONUS

Washington, Sept. 1.—The four billion dollar soldiers' bonus bill was passed Thursday by the senate and now goes to conference.

Twenty-seven republicans voted for the bill and 20 against it. The democrats split 15 for the bill and seven against it. Both Senators Culberson and Sheppard of Texas voted for the bill.

The vote was 47 to 22, with party lines wiped out.

The roll call follows:

For the bonus: Republicans—Brandege, Bursum, Cameron, Capper, Colt, Cummins, Curtis, Gooding, Hale, Jones of Washington, Kellogg, LaFollette, Lenroot, Lodge, McCormick, McCumber, McLean, McNarry, Nicholson, Odell, Rawson, Shortridge, Stanfield, Sutherland, Townsend, Watson of Indiana and Willis—27.

Democrats—Ashurst, Broussard, Culberson, Fletcher, Gerry, Hefflin, Hitchcock, Kenrick, Maxwell, Pittman, Pomerene, Randsell, Reed of Missouri, Robinson, Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, Trammell, Walsh of Massachusetts and Walsh of Montana—20.

Total 47.
Against the Bonus: Republicans—Ball, Borah, Calder, DeBingham, Edge, France, Frelinghuysen, Keyes Nelson, New, Phipps, Riel of Pennsylvania, Smoot, Sterling and Washworth—15.

Democrats—Eial, Glass, Myers, Shields, Swanson, Underwood and Williams—7.

Total, 22.

Ve's Predicted

Washington, Sept. 1.—A cabinet member who declined to be quoted stated Thursday that President Harding will veto the soldiers' bonus bill, which is expected to pass the senate late Thursday.

Such action by the president, it is understood, probably will be based on advice from the secretary of the treasury.

ROUNDING UP RADICALS

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Police and federal operatives launched a vigorous drive today against the radicals and terrorists believed to be behind railroad wrecks and bomb plots. The rounding-up began with the arrest of a man charged with bombing the homes of two workers in the Illinois Central shops at Burnside. Frank Hartman, one of the trio arrested yesterday in connection with the alleged plot to blow up the Western Express on the New York Central, still is in custody, although the other two were released. The activity of officers followed 24 hours of increased disorders, bridge burning and dynamiting railroad property throughout the country.

Deportation proceedings against aliens arrested in connection with the plots are probable, the authorities said.

GENERAL INJUNCTION FILED AGAINST RAILROAD STRIKERS

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Suit for an injunction against all striking employees of the railroads of the United States and their union officials was filed in federal district court today by Attorney General Daugherty. The plea for the injunction named the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor, the six striking shop crafts and 120 system federations. The suit seeks to restrain all strikers from interfering in any way with the operation of railroads. It was filed shortly after Daugherty's arrival here.

Strikers are Firm

Washington, Sept. 1.—The leaders of the striking shopmen will not abate their efforts to make the strike effective, whatever action may be taken by the Chicago court as a result of the injunction proceedings instituted by Daugherty, it was said today by W. H. Johnson, president of the International Association of Machinists, one of the largest of the striking groups. "The filing of this suit was just another blunder to be added to the large list which the administration has already made in dealing with the railroad situation," he said. "I am surprised that Daugherty is not trying to restrain the railroads instead of the men. The administration has done everything it could to help the railroad managements."

SUPREME COURT JUDGE RESIGNS

Washington, Sept. 4.—The resignation of Associate Justice Clarke has been received by Harding. The president will accept the resignation and intends to nominate former Senator George Sutherland of Utah to take Clarke's place on the supreme bench.

WILDCATting IS A FINE WINTER SPORT

Overton, Rusk County, Texas, Sept. 1.—With the summer past, the harvest ended and the hot weather having done its perfect work, there is nothing to it for East Texas but to turn to wildcatting. And that's what Rusk county is out to do. Several jobs are brewing, but two are certain of fulfillment, which gives to this section a showing at the most healthful kind of winter sport, wildcatting.

The George & Jones Drilling Company, headquarters at Shreveport, La., has been hustling in leases in the vicinity of Minden, Rusk county, and will soon begin to drill. These men are both Minden born and are out to bring in a well to home folks. They have been operating successfully at El Dorado, Ark., and have two good producers there, with another due in a few days in that proven field. This is one of the best prospects to come to Rusk county, for geologists speak well of the structure in that locality and they will bring in oil or gas broke in the attempt.

The Mac-Tex Production Company, St. Louis, is about to build a derrick 10 miles northwest of this city in the Browning neighborhood. They put down a well a year ago, about 2,000 feet deep, but it is said that some vandal dumped a lot of scrap iron in the casing, putting it out of commission. Now they propose to keep an eye on the bore, for others have suffered from acts of vandalism in that community. This company has capital enough and proposes to go down 4,000 feet if needed.

JULY OIL CONSUMPTION

Washington, Aug. 31.—The consumption of crude petroleum in July was the highest on record for any month, having increased over 51,000 barrels compared with June, while the daily average production decreased 15,633 barrels, the Geological Survey announced today.

WANTS INTELLIGIBLE LAWS

Much more foolish platforms have been announced by candidates than that of the woman lawyer of Kansas City, who says she wishes to become a member of the Missouri legislature to render the laws of her state more simple in language and stated in terms which may be understood by the majority of citizens.

She declares that the laws of Missouri—and the same might be said of those of other states—are ridiculously complex and needlessly puzzling, and many of them impossible of being understood except by experts and then admitting of more than one interpretation. She believes such a service as stating the laws in plain United States language would go far toward inspiring a greater respect for them.

Most laws seem to have been written in the belief that by making them a mystery a wholesome fear would be inculcated, and that by rendering them intelligible enough for familiarity would breed contempt.

Good progress is being made in the work of constructing the normal building. The lot has not yet been cleared of the natural growth, and the site cannot be seen from the street, but the workmen are as busy as bees and there is every promise that the buildings will be ready within the allotted time.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING

From the American Press.
There is a problem in fixing political advertising rates that cannot be escaped. The inclination of the publisher is to "soak the politician." The local politician uses his influence for free publicity whenever he can, and uses the newspaper in advertising only when he must. He appears at the newspaper office with his copy only when the campaign grows warm. The election decided, win or lose he becomes a dead issue immediately, and if the publisher has not been paid in advance he runs all sorts of risks of not getting his money. Committees dissolve into thin air, officers scatter and headquarters close up. Even victors sometimes fail to see that advertising bills are paid. While the fights on they make all sorts of bids for free publicity, and too often they get what they seek. So much for the situation locally. It is serious and the publisher's attitude is understandable. When we consider state or national political advertising, however, the situation assumes a different aspect. National political advertising is of great importance, and susceptible of great development, but it never can be developed for country newspapers until the publishers sell their space to political parties at the same price they sell it to all other national advertisers. There is really no reason why a politician should pay more for advertising than anyone else, and more than there is a reason for charging a politician more to ride on a train or in a street car than is charged to the domesticated citizen.

As the situation stands it is next to impossible to sell a political campaign for country newspapers. The rates are not known and are always uncertain. Therefore no fixed sum can be quoted, or set aside for a campaign, and no responsible person cares to enter into a contract without knowing where it is going to lead.

During the last national campaign some political advertising was placed with country newspapers, but not one hundredth of what could have been developed had it been possible to sell the space at the card rate. Partisanship of course plays an important part in this. There are some Democratic editors who feel that they are false to their convictions if they accept Republican advertising, and some Republicans who would not accept Democratic advertising on a bet. The principle is wrong, of course, but in the last analysis it is up to the publisher. There can be no doubt the advertising columns are open to anyone alike providing copy is clean and not libelous. The editor has his editorial columns to express his opinion. He has no moral right to close the open forum to the public.

The sooner publishers begin to consider political advertising just as they consider any other advertising the better off they will be. Some of them do, but unfortunately they are not in sufficient number to be an influence in swinging the big political parties into a full recognition of advertising.

Obviously the active market lies in the placing of advertising in newspapers of an opposite political faith. The old theory of handing out a little advertising pap to the faithful means little or nothing. It is the cheapest form of press prostitution. The real object of the publisher must be to serve the public. This means he should seek the best government that can be had at the hands of the people. Both parties should be permitted to explain their position to all the public in frankly signed advertising. Then deception and dodging will become impossible and out of the public dissection will come the best. The political advertising rate is an abomination and clearly unfair, and injurious in the highest degree to the publisher and to the American people.

It has always been the practice of the Sentinel to charge candidates the same rates as were exacted of other advertisers, and our columns have been open to other parties when the advertisements were couched in proper language. Only fakes and dead-beats are barred.

Mexico should treat our citizens with the same reverential respect as shown greasers on this side of the Rio Grande.

ANOTHER REASON FOR FIGHTING MOSQUITOS

From the Jacksonville Progress.
The press has recently carried several reports of the prevalence of dengue fever in several of the cities of the state. According to health authorities mosquitoes are responsible for the spread of this disease.

The State Board of Health holds that dengue fever preventive measures should be based upon the supposition that dengue is a mosquito-borne infection, and on account of the large number of cases reported in the community, and initial cases in several other cities, are requesting city officials, without delay, to inaugurate mosquito control work.

The fact that dengue fever is not carried by the same mosquito that is responsible for the spread of malaria, shows that it is important that the fight be carried on against all kinds of mosquitoes. It is possible to make a locality practically malaria-free by fighting the breeding places of the anopheles mosquito, and still not materially reduce the number of the pest mosquitoes. The reason for this is that the different varieties of mosquitoes prefer different kinds of breeding places. The anopheles or malaria mosquito is classed as semi-domestic and prefers waters and breeding places away from houses. The culex and stegomyia mosquitoes, both of which have been thought to be responsible for dengue, are classed as domestic and prefer to breed in barrels, cans, tubs, cisterns, etc., around the house. The importance of keeping the premises clean and free from any receptacles that might hold water and thus form a breeding place for these mosquitoes is clearly seen. In the cities where numerous cases of dengue are reported, the matter of destroying all possible home mosquito breeding places is receiving particular attention.

Help make your home town a healthy place in which to live.

PUTTING LAND TO WORK

Twelve million acres is a lot of land, four times the area of Connecticut, twice that of Massachusetts and one third that of Pennsylvania, but that much property is to be salvaged and put to work, according to plans formulated at a recent meeting of Texas engineers in Austin. Governor Pat M. Neff called the conference of engineers to consider means of reclaiming four million acres of overflowed river bottom land and eight million acres of swamp. An organization to bring about co-operative efforts of federal, state and local authorities was the result of the meeting.

The immediate need of Texas is railroads. Land is fairly cheap and its fertility is unexcelled. One crop can be planted as soon as another is harvested, but transportation facilities are so limited in certain sections that it is impossible to ship produce to a market.

Texas, however, are looking beyond the time when railroads will be provided, when idle property will be sought for cultivation. Then twelve million acres will feed a sister state and pay for the railroads.

Dress designers say skirts have been short long enough, so skirts will be long shortly.

If this country ever goes to the dogs there are a lot more comfortable routes than a general strike.

It looks as if a number of United States senators are going to find themselves up against article "ex."

Every day it seems more nearly certain that Germany will not collect a cent in reparations.

Some Republicans who thought Wilson should have mediated the whole world into settlement of everything at Paris now find that mediation is not the light job they thought.

Only nine persons were injured in automobile accidents at Dallas Saturday night and Sunday. Almost equals the number of accidents that occur on the Lufkin-Nacogdoches and Garrison and Nacogdoches highways.—Timpson Times, 5th.

Candidates are warned that the United States senate has decided to carefully scrutinize all expenditures in the present primaries "not later than January 1, next," and that if any are found to have been excessive a resolution deploring them may be passed.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

From the Houston Chronicle.
The League of Nations is by no means dead—on the contrary, it is functioning with gratifying efficiency.

There is maintained permanently at Geneva, Switzerland, a force of something like 300 secretaries and assistants, many nations being represented in the personnel of the secretarial force.

There is also maintained a permanent court of justice, composed of 11 judges, one of whom is an American, and all of whom are recognized experts in international law. All are elected for the term of 11 years, and are paid salaries ranging from $6,000 to $25,000 a year.

The court has already settled disputes between nations which threatened consequences of the gravest character.

As illustrative of the good it has already accomplished, several instances can be given.

In the summer of 1921 Jugo-Slavia, after protracted disagreement with Albania over boundary lines, resorted to the time-honored procedure of sending troops across the line and taking the territory she wanted.

The action was like striking a match to a powder mill. The war of 1914 started with less provocation.

Hon. Lloyd George immediately, by telegraph, invoked action by the league, and suggested an economic boycott against Jugo-Slavia. The effect of the telegram was electric.

Jugo-Slavia exchange tumbled in London and Paris, and negotiations for an international loan which Jugo-Slavia needed were immediately stopped. The result was, Jugo-Slavia backed down.

She at once withdrew her troops, though not a soldier had moved, nor a single gesture of force had been made. She yielded to the force of a new moral power that is a stir in the world—the power of international public opinion, backed by 50 nations and working through centralized machinery.

It has also settled the long-standing quarrel between Finland and Sweden over the possession of the Aland Islands lying in the Gulf of Bothnia, almost between the two nations. The decision was in favor of Finland and was freely accepted by both parties to the dispute.

The question of the boundary line between Poland and Germany in the district of upper Silesia, threatened the peace of Europe a year ago.

France backed Poland and England backed Germany and Korfanty was lighting the fires of insurrection in the territory in dispute.

The question was referred to the League, and because England and France were interested it was dealt with by four members from the smaller states—Belgium, Spain, Brazil and China.

They retained experts from neutral countries to advise them in finance, transportation and mining problems, with the result that a decision was made, which was ratified by a convention entered into between Germany and Poland.

In 1920 Poland and Lithuania were on the verge of war—indeed, both nations were moving troops.

The services of the league were invoked and while the dispute has not been fully settled, it is in progress of adjustment and the representatives of both nations have entered into a solemn engagement to abstain from any act of hostility.

If the League of Nations can do work of such wonderful value, when the greatest nation of the world is not a member, manifestly it could do much more if this nation, with its prestige and power, had representation in the tribunal.

Whatever it has done or may do has been, and will be, at once a tribute to Woodrow Wilson and a rebuke to those who thwarted his patriotic and statesmanlike plans.

A girl's chances of being given away by her father depend largely on how many times she is given away by her small brother.

That road back to normalcy may be double-tracked, but apparently one line is tied up with a strike and the other is blocked by a lack of competent operatives.

Candidates are warned that the United States senate has decided to carefully scrutinize all expenditures in the present primaries "not later than January 1, next," and that if any are found to have been excessive a resolution deploring them may be passed.

The Modern Pied Piper

In days of old the Pied Piper of Hamelin is said to have piped a lay so seductive as to have lured all the children out of the ancient village. This modern piper is sounding a clarion call of invitation to every school boy and girl in Texas to be present at the State Fair at Dallas, on Oct. 6—Children's Day—as guests of the Fair and the City of Dallas.

ANOTHER DAUGHERTY CALM

At rather lengthy intervals during the past 18 months the public has been informed that Attorney General Daugerty was about to start a prosecution of war grafters that would make history alike for its thoroughness and mercilessness. His party in congress has been investigating or promising in that direction for three years. The G. P. "surrendering committee" of the sixty-sixth congress conducted more than 50 investigations at a public expense of $2,000,000 in efforts to unearth war scandals but incidentally produced nothing to enable the attorney general of the succeeding administration to start right off the reel putting war grafters into the penitentiary.

In addition to the millions of the people's money he put into congressional investigations of war graft stories, a special appropriation of $500,000 was made to the department of justice for use in prosecuting war profiteers. There was talk of Mr. Daugerty's forming a special staff of the most eminent attorneys of the country to conduct the prosecution. Next it was announced that the attorney general would handle the prosecution by himself.

The public can scarcely be accused of impatience for expecting reports from the attorney general on the subject oftener than intervals of three months.

The tariff measure is facing its third redrafting. That is one thing a G. O. P. tariff measure cannot get too much of.

The administration may be familiar with a lot of bunkers, but it is evident that they are not of the variety that holds coal.

It is a crying shame that the same political maneuvers used to push through a tariff cannot be used to push through a train.

The coal operators and the miners never will be able to claim that the administration did not stand back and give them a fair chance.

As the world battles toward normal conditions, General Prosperity stays well in the rear, as usual.

SCHOOL CHILDREN OF TEXAS TO ATTEND FAIR

Oct. 6 Their "Day" at State Fair of Texas—Guests of City and Fair

As has been the custom for the last several years, school children of Texas by the thousands, will attend the State Fair at Dallas this year, as guests of the Fair Association and the City of Dallas.

Oct. 6—opening day—is Children's Day this year, and while every child knows or will know about the annual celebration, a more formal invitation will be issued in ample time.

It has been the custom of the mayor and the president of the Fair, to extend the invitation in the form of an open letter to the pupils of all Texas schools, sent them through their principals and teachers. Such a letter will be issued again this year, and it is the expressed hope of State Fair directors that embryo Texans will be present in the largest numbers ever known.

Plans for entertainment of the youngsters are already under way and there will be no dearth of fun, frolic and amusement for all of them. Each child will be admitted to the Fair grounds at the main gates, free, on Oct. 6, and also to the Coliseum and grandstand for the afternoon of that day.

Boy Scouts will also be present in number and will carry out an interesting program of exercises before the grand stand. These exercises will consist of Scout drills, singing, wall scaling and the like. First nailing by semaphore, bridge building, class Scouts will also aid in policing the grounds on Children's Day, and in taking care of the smaller youngsters.

THE PAVING PROJECT

Colecan, Texas, Aug. 21, 1922
Mr. H. L. McKnight, Secretary-Manager, Chamber of Commerce, Nacogdoches, Texas:

Dear Sir—I have made an examination of the sample of "Appleby" gravel which you sent me.

Unfortunately I have not used this class of gravel and do not know how it acts under traffic conditions. However, I have in my employ an engineer, Mr. J. W. Eaheart, who until a few months ago was employed on your work. He tells me that the material binds together into a very compact road and at the time he left Nacogdoches did not show an appreciable wear.

The great thing that an asphalt pavement needs is proper drainage and a protection from the moisture rising from the subgrade through your foundation or base course to the asphalt surface. I have laid asphalt topping on several gravel foundation and have had occasion to examine many miles of gravel foundation with asphalt topping. These pavements are giving entire satisfaction.

My opinion is that your gravel will make a satisfactory base for asphalt; but great care should be taken in laying it to see that the proper cross-section and the proper drainage is secured. After the gravel base is laid it should be opened to traffic for whatever length of time is necessary to thoroughly compact and settle it. All during this settling process it should be constantly maintained and kept to its true grade and cross-section. After it has thoroughly set and compacted and all depressions and irregularities removed it is ready for the asphalt surfacing.

You will understand that I have no way of making a test of the sample you have sent me and what I have said regarding this is based on what I am told this gravel does under traffic. Comparing it with other gravel, I should say it would make a very satisfactory base course for an asphalt pavement. However, my advice to you would be to send about a 25 or 30 pound sample to the University of Texas testing laboratories at Austin, tell them what you want to use it for and ask them to make a report as to its suitability for your work.

Very truly yours,
W. E. Dickerson,
County Engineer.

Temple, Texas, Aug. 22, 1922.
Mr. H. L. McKnight, Secretary Chamber of Commerce, Nacogdoches, Texas:

Dear Mr. McKnight—I have just received your letter regarding the Appleby gravel and will say that I think it would be feasible to use it on your streets provided you put at least two inches of rock asphalt or some wearing surface equally as good. I would not recommend the thin surface treatment for city streets, although some smaller cities have gotten very good streets by constantly maintaining them. I think the Appleby gravel will hold this thin treatment as good as any gravel, but I don't think it advisable to use the thin treatment.

In case you do use this kind of pavement I think that curb and gutter should be constructed to proper grade and gravel put from curb to curb. This same curb and gutter could be used later in a more permanent pavement provided care is taken in putting it to proper grade.

If I can be of any assistance to you in the future, write me.

Yours very truly,
Calvin E. Cook.

Livingston, Texas, Aug. 22, 1922
Chamber of Commerce, Nacogdoches, Texas:

Gentlemen—Concerning your inquiry of 14th, inst., as to use of iron ore gravel for your street work:

I believe that by using 10 inches of the iron ore thoroughly shaped and rolled so as to compact to about 6 1/2 or 7 inches and treating the surface with a light asphaltic oil (about 1-2 gallon to the square yard) to prevent dust, you will have a very good street.

Or, use 6 inches loose iron ore compacted to about 4 inches, then place on top of this 4 inches of good crushed stone (limestone much to be preferred to sandstone). Let traffic use this for about 5 months, then broom the surface thoroughly, cleaning off all dirt and apply from 1-2 to 6-10 of a gallon asphalt per square yard, cover this with pea gravel, making a mat between 1-4 and 3-8 inches thick or 1 cubic yard pea gravel cover 100 square yards.

I believe the 10 inches of iron ore rolled and oiled will make you a good receivable street.

Yours,
W. C. Young.

The revival at the Free Methodist church, South Fredonia street, will continue through Tuesday and Wednesday nights, and perhaps longer if the interest justifies it. Rev. Arthur Clemens, Pastor.

HUGE DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS TO BE FEATURE AT FAIR

"Mystic China," showing Oriental warfare, will be spectacularly reproduced

In the matter of fireworks, the offering made for the 1922 State Fair of Louisiana is fully up to standard, and appears to go a step farther than any of the pyrotechnical displays heretofore staged at the Fair Grounds in Shreveport. This year's program will feature the gigantic spectacle, "Mystic China," which will be put on every night in front of the grandstand.

To China, the inscrutable and mysterious, the world owes its fireworks. So ancient is the art of pyrotechny that the historian and the encyclopedist are unable to name its originator or fix its date, although all agree in giving the Chinese the credit. And now the fireworks artists, The Tharle-Duffield Company's experts, have joined in laying the fame and the glory at the feet of the Celestial Republic by celebrating the festival invention in their new pyrotechnical pageant, which is to be presented at the State Fair of Louisiana October 19 to 29, inclusive.

In producing "Mystic China," the fireworks people build an entire Chinese city, produce three Chinese festivals, enact a Chinese holiday, and close the spectacle with a battle in which the native Chinese fight off an attack on their city by a Manchu horde. Experts concede that the spectacle sets a new high mark that even a Roman emperor would never have been able to reach with all the wealth known at his command.

More than 200 persons, it is announced, help to put on the big production.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

Low railroad rates to the State Fair.

JUVENILE FARMERS TO SEEK PRIZES AT FAIR

In appreciation of the interest taken in the State Fair of Louisiana by the Boys' and girls' clubs, the management has budgeted approximately $7,500 as premium money for these enterprising youths. The premiums are offered for exhibits by members of the Pig, Corn, Poultry, Dairy, Calf, Potato, Egg, Cotton, Canning, Judging and other juvenile clubs. Every phase of the junior extension department's service looks to be exceedingly brisk.

A splendid impression of the progress that is being made among the youthful farmers of Louisiana will be obtained by those visiting the buildings in which the club exhibits are shown. Most of them will be in the agricultural hall, but the poultry house and livestock barns will also have their quotas.

Members of these clubs have been taught the most improved methods of breeding and raising fine livestock and poultry, and of selecting seed, planting and growing farm products. Many of them obtain better results than do adult farmers and livestock breeders, and in the general premium contests this year's State Fair the adult champions will be hard put by the champions in the juvenile club classes. This has been the record at previous fairs, and since then the club members have shown much more progress.

Practically every parish in the state will be represented in exhibits by members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs, and the judges are sure to find it a difficult task picking the winners of the records of the past are repeated. Undoubtedly the exhibits by the boys and girls will afford State Fair visitors much food for thought.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

Unusually low railroad rates.

ART EXHIBITS WILL BE FEATURE AT FAIR

For the purpose especially of encouraging greater effort by home talent the management has listed attractive premiums in the Art Department of the State Fair of Louisiana, which will open October 19 and run eleven days. Interest in painting and drawing and other art is increasing among those not counted professionals, and many of these will be represented among the exhibitors at this year's State Fair, judging by the interest being manifested.

As has been the case during the past several years, a wonderful collection of paintings by masters will be shown State Fair visitors. These will not be entered in the competition, but shown merely as a feature attraction to stimulate interest among art students.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, Secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

THE COLORED INSTITUTE

The colored teachers of Nacogdoches and Angelina counties assembled Monday, September 4th, at the colored school building in Nacogdoches for the purpose of holding their institute.

The session was called to order by P. E. Walton, chairman, who briefly outlined the work for the week.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. E. E. Burkhalter.

Organization was effected and the institute work began.

"The Rural School," a text-book, was next introduced into the institute by A. L. Hooper and several chapters were discussed by the teachers.

The feature of the afternoon session of Monday was the general discussion of "How We May Become More Useful Citizens."

The discussion developed these facts:

That the cardinal factor in making useful citizens were:

Obedience of the laws, purchase of homes, industry, punctuality, politeness, economy.

Chairman Walton advised the teachers to use every possible means to make this week "a revival of learning among the colored element of the city," and it was plainly shown that the negro race everywhere is taking an added interest in the cause of education.

Tuesday morning the institute again assembled and went through the usual routine of work.

Several visitors were introduced and musical selections were rendered.

A postal from Beaumont tells of accidents to two Nacogdoches county boys in the Orange oil fields. Grover Riley sustained a broken arm and Roe Blackburn is in a Beaumont hospital suffering from a badly fractured skull which necessitated an operation. Details of the mishap were not given.

Cecil Thomas arrived in the city Tuesday from Jacksonville, where he had for several months been connected with the Liberty Hotel, and has assumed the day clerkship of the Redland, a position he formerly had. Everybody is glad to have Cecil back on the old job, where he makes it pleasant for the traveling public and casual visitors to the hostelry.

A WORD TO COLORED CITIZENS

Individualism in the sense of isolated endeavor is becoming less and less prevalent in America. The early planation system, where each was an independent unit in itself and able to supply all its simple needs, has completely lost its place in the industrial economy of our country.

This was a type of individualism which finds its opposite at the present time in co-operative enterprises, co-operative disposals of crops, co-operative stock breeding, etc. Likewise, individualism in manufacture and commerce is giving way to co-operation. We now have the larger organizations minimizing expense, reaching out over larger territories, bringing together larger groups of people in the manufacture, distribution and consumption of the article. If a man desires to do large things today he secures the co-operation of the largest possible number of men in his project. We no longer spend our energy in isolated endeavor, but the best type of individualist is now the man who leads many other individuals in concerted action.

The basis of co-operation is like-mindedness, or kindredness of ideas and ideals. Two men do not and cannot work harmoniously together unless they are sufficiently like-minded to be moving in the same direction and toward the same goal. The thief and the honest man soon dissolve partnership. Not only so, but two honest men may find partnership incompatible. Deep down in their natures there may be that fundamental difference of feeling and conception which makes it impossible for the right kind of mutual confidence to spring up.

This at once leads one to consider what it is that will give to a whole race that co-operative action which will enable it to achieve worthily. The first essential is that the members of the race shall be like-minded, shall come to realize their consciousness of like desires and needs—in other words shall come into a realization of kind. This means the growth of race consciousness. It means that men shall come to see that they belong to a common race, have a common heritage and a common future. Nothing can take the place of this. This race consciousness growing into race pride becomes the most powerful factor in welding together, into co-operative and constructive action, all those who belong to the race. It at once raises efficiency and increases determination and these in turn tend to create a greater self respect and self confidence. E. E. Burkhalter, B. Th.

WHY GOLD IS USED AS A MONEY BASIS

The question of the value of gold as money lies in the fact of its being an international standard of measurement of value and not of its intrinsic worth commercially based upon uses not inherent to that purpose, though the varied uses made of gold outside of its function as a medium of exchange give it an intrinsic commercial value. If gold was demonetized and silver made the international standard of value measurement, gold would be just where silver is today. The difference between fiat paper money and paper money issued by government to be redeemed in gold is this: The fiat paper dollar may be proper management of government affairs pay expenses of government and meet the internal requirements of the trade among its citizens, but will not be used by other governments only insofar as to pay customs dues.

A gold certificate pledges the government to pay to the bearer so much money in gold on presentation at the treasury. Naturally, people like money that is good the world over if they have good financial common sense. The gold eagle of $10 United States money is good in any country and government whether our country and government be solvent or insolvent. The reason is that our government stamp insures there are so many grains of pure gold in one gold eagle. A paper fiat dollar possesses no such value or quality inherent in its own composition. The promise of an insolvent government upon a piece of paper to pay so much on demand is like an individual borrowing a hundred dollars from you and has not a cent's worth of anything and promises to pay you $100 on demand. Not a very sensible business-like investment of your money if you have an eye to safety and profit in the matter of investment. This writer would not get give one $20 gold piece United States money for a bushel measure full of Russian rubles, which is fiat paper money.—Quincy Davidson in Farm and Ranch.

Conventions would be the place for women to display their skill as politicians and their new clothes.

OLDEST GROCER, OLDEST COINS

A showcase at the grocery store of Mr. Pat Jenkins, on West Main street, contains some silver coins of ancient vintage. One bears the date of 1818, one 1821, and another 1827. These have been in Mr. Jenkins' possession for about 25 years. The oldest is of half-dollar denomination and the two others are quarters.

Mr. Jenkins is the oldest grocer in Nacogdoches in point of actual service. Thirty years ago he entered the business as a clerk, and five years later launched a business of his own. He has never "gone broke" or had to compromise with his creditors. Close attention to business has brought its reward, and he has no complaint to make of "hard times." He is the only man in the grocery business in Nacogdoches who was thus engaged when he made his first adventure on his "own hook."

Secretary H. L. McKnight is entitled to a niche in the Hall of Fame along with the boy that stood on the burning deck, Leonidas at the bridge, Mrs. Lydia Pinkham, Nick Carter, Mr. G. Washington, Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, Raol Amundsen, Captain Kidd and other notables. He went fishing Tuesday in the Angelina bottoms, spent hours in angling and failed to get a bite. He admits it. They usually catch the "biggest fish you ever saw, but the darn critter always gets away." It is the first time on record a fisherman has failed to near-catch a whale. Mack is in a class by himself. Washington has nothing on him. He's a hero.

Information from Center is to the effect that about seven hundred teachers were present Monday morning for the opening of the Teachers' Institute. Teachers from six counties are in attendance, and Prof. Birdwell, president of the Stephen F. Austin Normal, is presiding over the institute.—Timpson Times, 5th.

Mr. John Varner has secured a position with Elmo Bright, grocer, and he seems to have been made for the job, judging by the courteous and efficient manner in which he meets all requirements of his customers.

America is safe either way, whether the world decides for the Golden Rule or the rule of gold.

Was Very Weak

"After the birth of my baby I had a back-set," writes Mrs. Mattie Crosswhite, of Glade Spring, Va. "I was very ill; thought I was going to die. I was so weak I couldn't raise my head to get a drink of water. I took . . . medicine, yet I didn't get any better. I was constipated and very weak, getting worse and worse. I sent for Cardui."

TAKE

The Woman's Tonic

"I found after one bottle of Cardui I was improving," adds Mrs. Crosswhite. "Six bottles of Cardui and . . . I was cured, yes, I can say they were a God-send to me. I believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui." Cardui has been found beneficial in many thousands of other cases of womanly troubles. If you feel the need of a good, strengthening tonic, why not try Cardui? It may be just what you need.

DYNAMITE PLOT BARED

Chicago, Aug. 31.—With three men under arrest today, the Chicago police believe they have bared a plot to dynamite the Western Express on the New York Central between Gary, Ind., and Chicago. The wreck, officials say, was to have marked to new reign of terror on railroads throughout the country. The Western Express was a fast train running between New York and Chicago. The police said they would attempt to round up a number of radicals. They suspect a quantity of dynamite has been obtained by the plotters for the purpose of wrecking trains and damaging railroads, and a thorough search is being made for explosives.

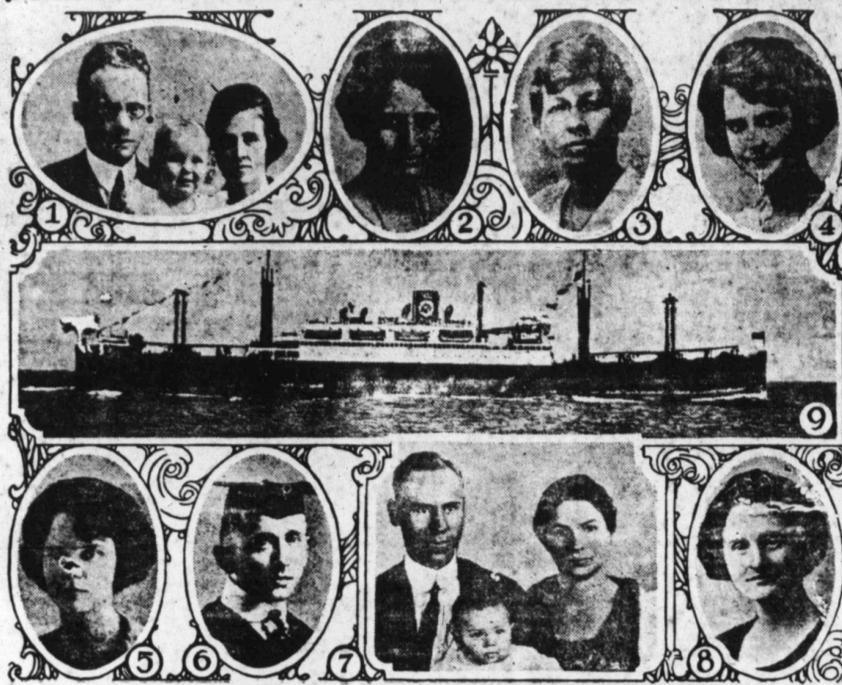

WAR ON MOSQUITO

Sherman, Texas, Sept. 2.—A house to house campaign against the mosquito started in Sherman Friday. Every residence and business house was expected to be inspected during the day.

Four arrests have been made on charges of harboring mosquitoes. Two cases of dengue fever, both of them negroes, have been reported.

Ten Young Texans Sail For Foreign Mission Service In Distant Lands

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Porter and young daughter (1) of Waco, who will do educational work at São Paulo, Brazil; Miss Josephine Ward (2), Austin, who will do educational work in Kaiteng, China; Miss Louise Willis (3), Waco, who will do educational work in Kaiteng, China; Miss Lois Howard (4), of Brownwood, who goes to North China; Miss Jennie L. Swearingen (5), Bellville, who will do educational work at Bellohorizonte, Brazil; Rev. J. R. Mashburn (6), DeKalb, who will do evangelistic work in China; Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Meredith and young daughter (7), of Pecos, who will do medical work at Ogbomoso, Nigeria, Africa; Miss Nell Hall (8), Hightower, who will teach home economics in Kaiteng, China.

WITH the sending out this season of fifty new missionaries by the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, 250 new workers have been sent to foreign fields during the 75 Million Campaign, or one-half the goal that was set in the number of workers to be provided during that movement. It is anticipated the remaining 250 will go out during the remainder of the Campaign period that will expire in December, 1924. The workers going out this season will enter the fields of China, Japan, Africa, Palestine, Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, Chile and Mexico.

Inasmuch as the largest missionary effort of the denomination is centered in the Orient, the larger portion of the workers sailed from Seattle Saturday, September 2, on the Admiral Liner President Jackson for stations in China and Japan. The missionaries for fields on other continents sail from New York on various lines and some of them will not depart until September 30.

Varied Types Workers Sent

Included in the list of missionaries are preachers and evangelists, teachers, doctors, nurses, one architect, one expert in domestic science, and special workers among women and children. William Earle Hines of Spartanburg, S. C., who goes to Shanghai to supervise the construction of all mission buildings in China, enjoys the distinction of being the first architect ever sent out by the Foreign Mission Board, and his appointment indicates the vast extent of the Southern Baptist work in that country. More than half of the total number of missionaries in the employ of this board are located in China, where the results of their labors are very gratifying to the officers of the Board.

Large interest centers, also, in the launching of an intensive missionary work in Palestine, to which country there go Rev. and Mrs. Fred Bunyan Pearson of Moulton, Ala., and Rev. and Mrs. J. Wash Watts, of Laurens, S. C. Some native missionaries are already at work in Palestine, and the outlook there is considered very encouraging, despite the present complicated political and racial controversies.

Campaign Brings Enlargement

In addition to the sending out of 250 new workers to foreign fields the 75 Million Campaign has made it possible to increase the number of native workers from 771 to 1172, to practically double the missionary equipment in the older fields of China, Japan, Africa, Italy, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Uruguay and Mexico, and to enter the new fields of Spain, Jugo-Slavia, Hungary, Roumania, Southern Russia, Palestine and Siberia. Southern Baptists now have a practically unbroken string of mission fields encircling the globe, and a possible mission audience of 900,000,000 people, or one-half the total population of the globe.

And the results on the field have kept pace with the larger investment in the work and number of workers. Since the outset of the Campaign the Foreign Mission Board reports the organization of 117 new churches, 21,773 baptisms, 211 new Sunday schools with a gain of 17,576 pupils, native contributions to Baptist work of $1,063,390.68, and 529,642 treatments administered by missionary physicians. Churches on the foreign fields, exclusive of the new territory in Europe and the Near East, now number 622 with 64,251 members. There are also 971 Sunday schools with 53,691 pupils, and 694 mission schools of all grades with 26,507 students.

Expense Rate Is Low

More than $6,250,000 net has gone from the Campaign into foreign mission work, and so economically have these funds been handled, the Board reports, that 96.24 cents out of every dollar has actually reached the foreign fields, only 3.74 cents out of each dollar being required to care for the total cost of administration. But with these larger receipts and economical administration the Board is unable to meet the demands upon it, and at its last annual meeting it was compelled to reduce the requests of the missionaries on the field for appropriations by more than $1,000,000.

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH RED CROSS FUNDS?

Dear Mr. Editor: This old world is making such rapid progress in science, and the upbuilding and betterment of everything, and especially has this spirit lately reached us that I wonder why we citizens are not doing something to rid the town of one of the greatest nuisances we have—the one which punctures our skin, that irritates and gives us great pain, bites our ankles causing them to swell until our limbs look like table legs turned upside down. I speak of the pesky mosquito, which at night, when my head is pillowed for pleasant thoughts and sweet dreams, I am whirling, tossing, using my two hands to swat the little insect until my brain is whirling and buzzing at the speed of a motor fan. This is kept up until the wee small hours, after a short time of nightmare rest. True to its nature and much like the early morning's greeting of the chanticleer, we are awakened by this humming serenade, who goes about his daily task of stinging more. I would like to know so much if there is a remedy for the extermination of these spider-legs which are said by our most eminent doctors to carry and deposit the malarial germ? Just yesterday I read where the dengue was raging in Galveston, Houston, Dallas and other towns, and that one cause of this fever was the mosquito. I understand we have left over of the Red Cross money about fifteen hundred or two thousand dollars given by the people of the city and county. Why not, Mr. Editor, have a meeting of the citizens and take some steps as to what is best to use this money for? I suggest use it for the riddance of flies and mosquitoes. What say you, Mr. Health Doctor? Mayor, Aldermen, Firemen, Citizens all, let's do something about this matter; let us not be found in the same old place next year and year after year. Let us get rid of these great germ-carriers. Yours for the betterment of everything that is for health and prosperity. J. P.

NEW LIGHT PLANT IS IN OPERATION

Timpon's new light plant is in operation, and the people of Timpon are using current from their own plant. The current was turned on the first time yesterday afternoon and given a thorough trial, the city being furnished lights from the new plant last night.

Some work is yet to be finished at the plant, as well as some outside equipment, but this will not interfere with the operation of the plant. The new white way will be erected soon.—Timpon Times, 1st.

JOHNSON'S MAJORITY BIG

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 31.—With complete returns from Tuesday's primary from five-sixths of California's precincts, Hiram Johnson is assured of again being the republican candidate for United States senator to succeed himself. He leads his opponent, C. C. Moore, by 65,000.

WILLIE LEE GARRISON AT TIMPSON FOR TREATMENT

Willie Lee Garrison, who was injured when he was struck by an automobile near Oil City last February, was brought to Timpon last week for treatment at Whiteside Sanitarium. Young Mr. Garrison has been in a hospital at Shreveport since the accident. Mr. Garrison was accompanied to Timpon by the family of his brother, Halcomb Garrison, who have been with him constantly since the accident that has caused him so much suffering.

The accident to Mr. Garrison was detailed in this paper shortly after it occurred. He was struck by an automobile while working on his car on a road leading into Oil City. Both of his legs were broken and his shoulder was also broken.

He will be given every attention and his many friends trust he will soon be able to be up.—Timpon Times, 1st.

SECTION MAN KILLED

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 31.—One maintenance-of-way worker was killed and two probably fatally injured when an Illinois Central motor-driven section car jumped the track near here. Officials are said to be investigating the possibility of a greased or loosened track.

AUTOMOBILE RACES TO BE RUN 4 DAYS AT LOUISIANA FAIR

Noted speed demons will whirl around mile circuit in competition for trophies

A record-breaking automobile race meet has been arranged for the seventeenth annual State Fair of Louisiana, which opens at Shreveport October 19 and continues eleven days. There will be four days of the meet, October 20, 22, 27 and 29. Arrangements will be made to accommodate the biggest crowds ever drawn to race track events at Shreveport.

Entries have been coming in for several weeks, and the management expects that there will be more than a dozen of the world's most famous drivers participating in this meet. Attractive purses have been offered, and terrific bursts of motor speeding are assured. Some remarkable time records have been scored at the Louisiana track in years gone by, and attempts will be made at this year's meet to smash those records.

The speeders filling entries for these contests know not the meaning of the word fear. They are not satisfied unless they are whizzing around the track in maniacal time. They are so accustomed to shooting thrills into their spectators, and the thousands who gather for the races at Shreveport on the above mentioned dates are certain to enjoy all the excitement desired.

Several feature events are being arranged, including a 25-mile free-for-all, and mile races against time, with and without running starts. Changing of tires during races will also be demonstrated.

Some of the most noted machines, built especially for dare-devil driving, will be seen in action, as well as some of the world's best known drivers. Something new in the building and operating of motor cars is being discovered every little while, and visitors to the State Fair of Louisiana this fall will have the privilege of seeing the very latest in auto-making as well as auto-speeding.

More than 200 persons, it is announced, help to put on the big production. For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

Low railroad rates to the State Fair.

CALF CLUBS TO STAGE DISPLAY AT THE FAIR

Among the new attractions at the State Fair of Louisiana this year, October 19 to 29, inclusive, will be an exhibit by the Boys' and Girls' Calf Club. This department of the Junior Extension service is of recent birth, and for that reason has not been represented at the State Fair heretofore.

Calf Clubs have been formed in a number of the parishes, and all of them are being urged to have exhibits in the State Fair contest. Special premiums have been offered the winners and lively competition is assured.

Members of the Calf Clubs, as the name indicates, give special attention to the raising of livestock. Both beef and dairy calves receive the benefit of their study and effort. Cattle raising, both from the standpoint of marketing and home service, is encouraged by those in charge of these clubs, and some excellent specimens in the calf class may be looked for at the State Fair.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

JERSEY CATTLE CLUB TO EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Visitors to the seventeenth annual State Fair of Louisiana, October 19 to 29, inclusive, will have the privilege of seeing an educational exhibit from the American Jersey Cattle Association. This exhibit, which is expected to increase interest in the breeding of Jersey Cattle, will be placed in the Coliseum, in which the First National Jersey Cattle Show was held two years ago.

The exhibit will include educational features comparing the value of milk as food with that of other food products. It will show that milk stands in the forefront as a food. It will also emphasize the fact that it is important to own milk cows, whether one lives in country or in town. In either place the milk cow helps to reduce the high cost of living as well as to improve one's health. Other facts that will be shown in this exhibit relate to the feeding and caring of the cows, giving schedule or rations, etc.

The story of the progress that has been made in recent years in raising Jersey cattle will be told in this feature exhibit.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

RADIO PROGRAMS

Through arrangements made with the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and the Cincinnati College of Music, the best musical entertainment available will be broadcast this fall and winter by the Crosley Manufacturing Company, operators of the radio station W L W, in Cincinnati.

These two musical schools are nationally known institutions, having in their faculty many of the best and most prominent musicians in the United States. Only the more advanced pupils will take part in the concerts, and these will play under the direct supervision of their instructors. Programs are already being prepared, but none will be carried out until the opening of the new broadcasting station being constructed by the Crosley company. This is to take place September 15.

Efforts are being made by those in charge of arranging programs for W L W to provide entertainment for all persons. In other words there will be classical music, rag time, popular selections, etc. It is planned to have either one or the other of the colleges to prepare a concert for every Friday night, thus assuring the best of classical music once a week. Thursday will be popular song night, the program to be made up of vocal and instrumental selections that appeal to those who like lighter music, and every Tuesday it is hoped to have an orchestra that will provide plenty of enjoyment for those who like jazz and rag time.

In addition to music there will be news reports every evening and efforts are being made to provide at least one speaker for each evening. These addresses will be limited to ten minutes and must be on subjects of general interest.

NACOGDOCHES PROPOSES TO CONNECT WITH HIGHWAY

Last week citizens of Nacogdoches county took steps toward securing a bond issue for the purpose of further extending their road building projects. In the plan is arrangement to take care of hard surfacing the road from there to the county line at Gridby, connecting up with the highway at that place. A further information states that the steel bridge at the county line will soon be built, even before the other plans are carried out. It is to be hoped that the plans will materialize, since to connect up that stretch of road would mean much to the traveling public in that as well as this section.—Center Champion.

CHIRENO

Business is picking up here in our little city and community. The new cotton crop is going on the market. Wagon-loads of cotton are standing at the gin day and night, while the old gin sings a sweet song of prosperity. Farmers and merchants are smiling in the old-time way. We are glad to see it. And we rejoice with them. God has truly remembered our land and blest them with a fine crop. Now, let us not forget Him. Think how He has blest us in the past eight months with health, sunshine and rain; and now the barns are being filled. In Prov. 3:19 we read: "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the firstfruits of all thine increase." 10th verse: "So shall thy barns be filled with plenty," etc. And in Mal. 3:10 God says "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse and prove me, now," etc. And when we meet the condition, or give God a chance He will verify His promise by pouring out blessings upon us. T. E. people who live close to God, and pray, have asked God for a good crop, and here it is; the answer has come. Do you believe it? It pays to be religious. Let us be grateful to Almighty God and pay our vows and dues promptly and cheerfully. We are behind now, but let every church resolve, "We will pay out in full."

I have written the above, hoping that it may encourage my friends and brethren. May peace and prosperity be ever yours, L. E. Green

CARD OF THANKS

I wish hereby to return my sincere thanks to those who so loyally supported my candidacy for sheriff in the late run-off primary. Though I was defeated, I shall always remember those who gave me their votes and influence. To those who opposed me I bear no ill-feeling whatever. They had a perfect right to their choice—the same as did those who voted for me. Mr. Vaughn is a good man, and I am sure he will make the county one of the best sheriffs it ever had. Let's help him in every way possible. 1-1dlw. W. O. Strode.

CONSTABLE'S SALE

By virtue of a certain order of sale issued by F. D. Huston, Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 1, Nacogdoches County, on the 24th day of August, 1922, in a certain cause wherein Sam B. Hayter and R. H. Hayter are plaintiffs and Joe M. Rodgers and J. J. Coker are defendants, in favor of the said plaintiffs, against Joe M. Rodgers only, in the sum of one hundred and fifty-two and 54-100 dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of 10 per centum per annum from date of judgment, together with all costs of suit, that being the amount of a judgment recovered by the said Sam B. Hayter and R. H. Hayter, plaintiffs, in the Justice Court, Precinct No. 1, Nacogdoches County, on the 26th day of June, 1922, and a lien foreclosed against J. J. Coker only, I have levied upon and will, on the second Friday in September, 1922, it being the 8th day of said month, at the courthouse door of Nacogdoches county, within legal hours, proceed to sell for cash to the highest bidder all the right, title and interest of Joe M. Rodgers and J. J. Coker in and to the following described personal property, levied upon as the property of Joe M. Rodgers and J. J. Coker, to-wit:

One light sorrel mare mule about 5 years old, bought of J. J. Coker by J. M. Rogers on or about February 22d, 1919, which mule is now about 9 years old, and is the same mule described in a note and mortgage dated February 22d, 1919, given by Joe M. Rodgers.

The above sale to be made by me to satisfy the above described judgment for one hundred and fifty-two and 54-100 dollars, in favor of Sam B. Hayter and R. H. Hayter, together with the costs of said suit, and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction thereof.

LEAGUE PARTY

On the night of the 31st of August, a delightful party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Cason by the Nacogdoches Epworth League. There were ninety guests present—seventy-five representatives from the Lufkin League and fifteen from the Timpon League. These, together with the Nacogdoches Leagues, made one hundred and fifty-five present. Bro. Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Price and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cason were the chaperones for the occasion.

Upon the arrival of the young people, programs for the evening's entertainment were passed out.

A get-together circle conversation was the means of getting acquainted. Lufkinites met 'Dochnans on perfectly friendly terms; Timponites, though few in number, were much in evidence.

The first number on the program was a vocal solo by Miss Virginia Baxter. Then followed a reading entitled "Deceitful Man" by Miss Golda Mullins.

Mrs. Armstrong, in the red and black picturesque costume of an Italian, read, "Da Letitia Boy," accompanied on the piano by Miss Ruth Fouts, who played softly "The Rosary."

Miss Pauline Buckner pleased everyone present with a beautiful saxophone solo.

A farce on a scene from Burn's "Cotter's Saturday Night" was acted by Mr. Wilbur Fouts and his sister, Miss Ruth Fouts. Their gorgeous costumes of Turkish towels were the cause of much amusement. At the conclusion of the program, delicious refreshments, consisting of angel food cake and devil's food cake and ice cream were served.

The participants of the delightful affair dispersed about 12 o'clock. Judging from words spoken and the laughter and smiles, everyone was happy.

The Nacogdoches Leaguers should be complimented upon their excellent idea of entertaining neighboring Leaguers. This is a good advertisement for 'Dochnans, and shows a splendid spirit among the young people of the church.

The Leaguers wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cason for their gracious hospitality in offering their beautiful home for the party; and they also want to thank the ladies of the Missionary Society, who furnished the cake for the refreshments.

At the request of Galveston county officials, who allege theft of a car, Frank Brown, colored, has been placed in jail by the sheriff's department, pending an investigation. It seems Brown left an auto near Cleveland, presumably damaged, shipping four casings and two cushions to Nacogdoches, he being named in the bill of lading as shipper and consignee. The stuff is in the express office here. Brown produced a bill of sale for the car, which he alleges he purchased of a negro in Houston for $150. He tells a pretty straight story and our officers are confident he can refute the charge against him. The papers he showed in connection with the trade have been sent to Houston and the matter is being investigated.

Judge and Mrs. Frank Huston have received a telegram from their daughter, Miss Alma, notifying them of her safe arrival at El Paso, where she will be engaged in teaching for the coming term of school. Miss Alma made the trip in her car and encountered very little trouble, a couple of punctured tires being the sum of her misfortune.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH

The Very Next Dose of this Treacherous Drug May Start Trouble

Do you know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated, all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel. It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

The body was laid to rest by the Masons at the Cushing cemetery, following services at the Methodist church at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, several cars of friends and relatives of this city attending the funeral.

Mr. Vawter was well known over this county. He was born and reared near Cushing and was in business with his father, W. J. Vawter, who died several years ago, in the early days of Cushing. He was a good business man, a strong Christian and a kind and devoted husband. He was a member of the Methodist church at that place and also a Mason.
