DEDICATE MEMORIAL HOSPITAL ON JULY 4

To Celebrate Woodmen of the World Ceremonies at San Angelo

San Angelo, Texas, June 27.—More than 50,000 pounds of roast beef from 160 barbecued Texas steers will be served to visitors attending the dedication ceremonies on July 4 of the Woodmen of the World's memorial sanitarium erected at San Angelo for members of the order afflicted with tuberculosis.

The barbecue, according to W. A. Fraser, sovereign commander of the society, will be the biggest of its kind ever attempted. Items on the menu include 15,000 loaves of bread, 6,000 pounds of butter, 5,000 gallons of coffee, to say nothing of mountains of ice cream and thousands of pies, cakes and other toothsome morsels. Thirty thousand Woodmen delegates from every camp in the country will be present, and in addition there will be thousands of other visitors.

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas will be the orator of the day. Governor William Brandon of Alabama and W. A. Fraser will be among other speakers. The annual convention of the order will be held at the same time.

The hospital will be formally dedicated to all Woodmen who served in the World War and the names of all Woodmen who lost their lives in the struggle will be inscribed on a tablet erected in front of the main building. The hospital, according to Mr. Fraser, is the first of four tuberculosis sanitariums to be erected by the society in four different states.

VOLCANO BREAKS OUT IN RENEWED ACTIVITIES

London, June 27.—A new and violent eruption broke out this morning near the summit on the south side of Mt. Aetna which is plainly in view of the naked eye in Catania, says a Rome dispatch. It is feared the observatory was overwhelmed. Prof. Carrara reports a new flow of lava progressing at the rate of a kilometer an hour.

LEPROSY AMENABLE TO TREATMENT

Leprosy is in a measure amenable to treatment, says the U. S. Public Health Service. During the last ten years (1912-21) a considerable percentage of the lepers segregated at the Kalaupapa Hospital, near Honolulu, and on Molokai Island have been paroled; that is, they have been released as being "not a menace to the public health," but have been required to report for examination at certain intervals which vary with the individual case. Of those paroled about 13 percent have relapsed and have returned for segregation; but about one-fourth of these were later paroled for the second time. In all, 242 lepers were paroled, 31 relapsed and seven of these were later paroled. Ten were completely released from parole.

The chance of arresting the disease decreased with the length of time it had been allowed to go without treatment unless the period was seven years or more. Apparently patients who survive without treatment for seven years possess powers of resistance that slightly increase their chances for marked improvement under treatment.

Those who desire it are treated with chaulmoogra oil and its derivatives. The parole system was begun in 1912 and has worked admirably. Those paroled appear to have told their friends that the conditions existing at the hospital were good; and the mere fact that they had been released has shown that segregation might lead to cure and not to lifelong confinement, as it almost invariably did previous to 1912. As a consequence many lepers, instead of concealing the disease up to the last possible moment (and thereby spreading it through the community), are now surrendering of their own accord and taking treatment. This earlier surrender and earlier treatment hastens the degree of improvement that will secure parole and will later, perhaps, complete release. About 70 percent of these who have been paroled were in segregation for less than two years.

GOVERNMENT MAY ADOPT MORE DRASTIC MEASURES

Washington, June 27.—Seizure by the United States of foreign vessels bringing in liquor in violation of the Supreme Court decision and Treasury regulations is understood to have been considered at a series of conferences today between Treasury and prohibition officers. Thus far there has been no attempt to do more than confiscate the liquor itself, but some of the officials in the conferences are understood to have urged more drastic steps should be adopted if foreign shipping companies continue the policy of openly disregarding the Treasury ruling against bringing liquor stores into American jurisdiction. No decision was announced.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Oklmulgee, Okla., June 27.—Oklmulgee county, declared by Governor Walton to be in a state of lawlessness and disorder amounting to insurrection against the civil law, was under the military forces of Oklahoma today. Supreme command was vested in Brigadier General Alva Niles. Tulsa county was bewildered by the governor's sudden move yesterday. Answering charges against his office, Sheriff Russell declared the action grew out of the arrest of several men carrying special police commissions signed by the governor, challenging a number of other special officers of the governor who entered the county wearing arms.

Oklahoma City, June 27.—The operations of "lawless mobs who have been committing outrages in Oklahoma county for months" prompted Governor Walton to proclaim martial law in Oklahoma county, he told the Associated Press today. He said four other counties were threatened with the same alleged conditions.

Troops to Okmulgee
Okmulgee, Okla., June 27.—General Niles brought approximately 100 troops from Tulsa, Muskogee and Wewahatche.

INVESTIGATING ACCIDENT

New York, June 26.—An immediate grand jury investigation of the Fifth Avenue-Brooklyn Elevated Railway accident yesterday will be pushed, the district attorney announced today. Seven are dead and more than 80 were injured as the result of two coaches jumping the track and plunging into the street. The district attorney said the cause of the accident is still a mystery, and may remain one, but the rotten condition of the guardbeams laid to keep in check derailed trains gave proof of negligence in the upkeep of the road, he added.

STUDENTS ARISE EARLY

Austin, Texas, June 27.—"Early to bed, and early to rise" is the slogan being adopted by many students of the University of Texas this summer. The necessity for such habits is the plan of having 7 o'clock classes, which has been adopted because of the advantage of making use of the cooler hours of the day. The system of early hour classes is in effect in many other state universities, but this is the first year that it has been adopted by the University of Texas. Although some sleepy students object to the early hour, the majority of the summer session students seem to think that the early rising is an advantage during the warm weather.

STORM MAY BRING RELIEF

Chicago, June 26.—Relief from the heat wave of the past week is expected to be general through the Central states following a storm from the Canadian Northwest last night. Moderate temperatures now prevail in the Great Lakes and Upper Mississippi Valley sections. The temperatures here dropped from 96 to 63 degrees. Temperatures in the South probably will not be materially changed. Western New York experienced one of the worst wind and rain storms in its history and damage is expected to reach hundreds of thousands of dollars. Farm land was hit hard. Temperatures dropped from the nineties to the low seventies in a few minutes. No injuries of persons were reported. Other sections of the East are still sweltering, with relief promised.

Just possibly an opponent to Henry Ford here and there was one that he acquired before a starter was put on it.

IMPERIAL SHRINE ENDORSES DeMOLAY

Kansas City, June 27.—Official word has just reached the Grand Council officers of the Order of DeMolay for Boys that the Imperial Shrine Council, while in session at Washington, unanimously adopted the following resolution endorsing the Order:

Whereas, the Order of DeMolay for Boys, composed of Master Masons' sons, their chums and other young men between the ages of 16 and 21, which is organized for the purpose of the inculcation and practice of clean thinking, clean speaking, and clean living among its members.

And whereas, the members of the Order of DeMolay are consecrated to preservation of the threefold boon of citizenship—religious liberty, symbolized by the Holy Bible; civil liberty, symbolized by the Flag of our country and intellectual liberty, symbolized by the school books of the American boy and girl; and,

Whereas, we believe this work of the Order of DeMolay should be encouraged and supported; therefore be it

Resolved, that the Imperial Council Ancient and Accepted Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine does hereby endorse the principles of the Order of DeMolay; and be it further

Resolved, that the members of the Ancient and Accepted Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine are urged to lend their moral and personal support to Chapters of the Order of DeMolay now organized in their city or community, or that may hereafter be organized.

The Order of DeMolay was started four years ago as a boys' club of nine members, fostered by Frank S. Land in Kansas City, Missouri, and within a short space of time it has grown to nine hundred and eighty-one chapters with over one hundred thousand members.

DeMolay is now practically in every state in the Union, Canada, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico and chapters have recently been installed in Rome and Milan, Italy. Judge Alexander G. Cochrane, Grand Master Councilor of the Order, is now in Europe introducing the movement. The organization seeks to make better boys, better men and better citizens. It is rendering a real service in the community life by insisting on a practical application of the ideals exemplified in the degrees.

TEXTBOOK LITIGATION

Waco, Texas, June 26.—Hearing on the temporary restraining order granted by Federal Judge West at Austin on June 15th prohibiting State Superintendent Marrs from certifying geography textbooks other than those alleged to have been contracted for with the American Book Company last December was set by Judge West for July 23 at San Antonio. This followed the filing of a general demurrer by the attorney for the book company.

WANT MORE PAY

Cleveland, Ohio, June 26.—A meeting for consideration of the question of inaugurating a movement for increased compensation has been called by President DeLoach of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and President Sheppard of the Order of Railway Conductors to meet in Chicago July 9, the first for several years to be held by members of the Four Brotherhoods.

REGISTRATION AT U. OF T.

Austin, Texas, June 27.—Registration for the 1923-24 session of the University of Texas will begin on Friday, September 21, according to an announcement of E. J. Mathews, registrar. A new plan for registration will be put into effect this fall, which will considerably simplify the system, it is stated. Only two days will therefore be devoted to registration, whereas in the past it has been customary to spend from four to five days in enrolling the student body for the long session. There are now 2,544 students enrolled in the summer session of the University of Texas, including 483 students registered for courses in the summer normal. A large enrollment of students is expected for the fall session, and it is requested that all new students send in their entrance credits by mail, in order that the system may be still further facilitated.

LUMBERMEN ENJOYED MEETING IN LUFKIN

Lufkin News, 25th. Approximately 100 mill managers, together with the ladies, held their monthly meeting in Lufkin Saturday. Local lumbermen put on an interesting program, as well as some very interesting entertainment.

The morning was taken up with a regular business meeting, presided over by Watson Walker, president of the East Texas Mill Managers Association. Many problems of management were discussed and at this meeting several practical papers were given.

Roy Tipton of Conroe, discussed modern lubrication of the sawmill. C. B. Meyer of Wiergate, Texas, presented some ideas and kinks in log handling at their big plant at Wiergate. W. C. Trout read a paper on the "Standardization of Sawmill Managers," as suggested by Hoover.

At the 1 o'clock luncheon the Honorable H. L. McKnight of Nacogdoches gave an address on "Americanism to the Rural Communities through Visual Education." During the afternoon the lumbermen and their guests visited the various points of interest.

At 5 p. m. the Concatinated order of Hoo Hoo put on a parade with a goodly number of candidates. Leading the parade was a wagon drawn by six mules on which was a large log whereupon sat several candidates. Another item in the line of march was an interesting character on a burro or donkey. This was followed by a daisy wit htwo neophytes sitting on blocks of ice using fans. A car was driven by Hoo Hoos with a rope tied on the back. Candidates had hold of the rope and were given strict instructions not to turn loose. The car would make sudden lurches and the candidates would make heroic efforts to maintain their hold, much to the amusement of those on the sidelines. There was a Lufkin Foundry & Machine Company float in the parade besides other cars and marchers. The odd hats with the black cat pictured thereon was much in evidence during the afternoon and evening hours here Saturday.

Following the parade a bounteous repast was served near the waters of Jones Lake at City Park.

At 8 o'clock the initiation ceremonies into the mysteries of Hoo Hoo were given at the Elks Club, and later an entertainment and dance at the Hotel Angelia, which lasted until midnight. The lumbermen greatly enjoyed their meeting here and the people of Lufkin are always glad to entertain such a royal bunch as the mill managers of East Texas.

TO DISCUSS AMENDMENT

Nacogdoches, Texas, June 23, 1923. To the Public: You are invited to meet at the District Court Room, Nacogdoches, Saturday, June 30, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of discussing the pending constitutional amendment to be voted on July 28th.

This amendment, if it carries, will release our county from the necessity of keeping up the 72 miles of hard surfaced highways built out of our $800,000 county bond money. Under the constitution, so amended, the state highway department would take over these two roads and maintain them out of federal funds, leaving our county road and bridge money free to go to the building and upkeep of roads other than these two highways.

We invite every voter in the county to attend this meeting on Saturday, the 30th, to hear the proposition explained and discussed by those who have given it careful study.

Respectfully submitted,
T. M. Steward, Woden,
F. N. Lyles, Cushing,
R. B. Strickland, Garrison,
M. C. Muckleroy, Nacogdoches.

ROOM RENT CAUSES KILLING

San Antonio, Texas, June 26.—Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, 38, said to reside in Dallas, was shot and instantly killed in an apartment house here this morning, and G. C. Taylor, 35, proprietor of the apartment house, surrendered to the police shortly afterward. He claimed he shot in self-defense following a dispute over a bill for room rent.

SEASON'S FIRST BALE BRINGS BIG PRICE IN HOUSTON

Houston Chronicle, 25th. The first bale of American cotton for the season 1923-23 was sold to Anderson, Clayton & Co., on the floor of the Houston Cotton Exchange at 11 o'clock Monday morning, bringing $1275. Within a few days the bale will be on its way to Havre, France, where it will be sold on the exchange there and the proceeds donated to a French charity, according to W. L. Clayton of the purchasing firm.

Bidding for the first bale was not spirited, despite the big crowd that congregated on the floor of the exchange. When Secretary J. F. Burwell mounted the auctioneer's block and announced ready for bids there were three simultaneous bids of $1,000. The offerings then quickly jumped $25 and $50 at a jump to $1,125, and finally crept up to $1,275, where the bale was knocked down.

Those With the Bale
Just prior to the sale a photograph was made of the bale, showing beside it Ferris Watson of Welasco, breeder of the seed used; G. H. Price, conductor of the special Gulf Coast Line train that brought it to Houston; Secretary Burwell, Lester O'Neill, lower Rio Grande Valley representative of W. D. Cleveland & Sons, to whom the bale was consigned, and Ewing D. Clark of Welasco, ginner who turned out the bale.

A. J. Thomas of Welasco, who grew more than two-thirds of the cotton that entered into the bale, was not present when it was sold.

Before beginning the sale Secretary Burwell announced that it had been graded strict middling and weighed 431 pounds, and that the exchange held affidavits from the grower and ginner that the cotton was this year's crop.

The 1923 first bale made a dramatic entry into the world's markets. It was picked by about 40 Mexicans last Saturday morning, ginned in the afternoon and sent by truck from Welasco to Kingsville, and from there to Houston by special train, arriving at 11:55 Saturday night, consigned to W. D. Cleveland & Sons. A truck was at the station and the bale was hustled onto it and rushed to the Cotton Exchange, where it was carried onto the floor just as the city hall clock was striking the midnight hour. Thus it went on the market on June 23.

MURDERERS GO FREE
Little Rock, Ark., June 26.—Six negroes, twice sentenced by Arkansas courts to be electrocuted after being twice convicted for murder in connection with the Elaine insurrections in October, 1919, were at liberty today. A misunderstanding or contradiction of orders brought their release early today. The sheriff of Lee county brought them from jail at Marianna to the penitentiary on orders from the Lee County Circuit Court, it was said. The warden had no orders to receive them, it was said, and refused to admit them. An opinion of the Arkansas Supreme Court directed the dismissal of the case against them on the ground that two terms of court in Lee county, where the third trial was set, had passed without their having been brought to trial. Several white persons and an undetermined number of negroes were killed in the uprising from which the case resulted.

BEER GOES OVERBOARD

New York, June 26.—Between three and four thousand litres of beer will be dumped overboard from the French liner Paris, now in port, it was announced after a conference between the collector of the port, the chief of the public health service and the prohibition director.

An official of the French line decided that throwing the beer overboard would cause less trouble to his government.

JULIAN CALENDAR DISCARDED

Only the so-called Reformed church of Russia, recently set up, is left adhering to the Julian calendar as to ecclesiastical dates. The congress of the Orthodox churches in session at Constantinople has just adopted the Gregorian or civil calendar, and on October 1, thirteen days will be added, making the date October 14. Greece had been the latest country to depart from the anomaly of maintaining a system generally abandoned elsewhere in the Orient.

Though the agitation for the change has persisted for centuries this sluggishness only contrasts in degree with that evinced after Pope Gregory XIII proclaimed his correction of the Julian calendar, effective October 15, 1582. The Julian calendar made an erroneous assumption. It admitted it by intercalating Leap Year but still the error accumulated until by 1582 it amounted to 10 complete days. So the pope deducted these ten days, making October 5, 1582, to be October 15, and that this displacement might not recur, it was further ordained that every hundredth year (1800, 1900, 2000, etc.) should not be counted as a leap year, except every fourth hundredth year after 2000. In this way the difference between the civil and natural year will not amount to a day in 500 years. Continental Europe adopted the change promptly, but in England, it was not until September 2, 1752, that that date made September 14. In the American colonies, of course the new calendar was soon in force.

But this adoption of the Gregorian calendar by the Eastern Orthodox churches relates to fixed feasts and they do not conform in East and West. As to Easter, that long vexed question in date, the Constantinople congress did not change this movable feast in accordance with the Gregorian calendar. It recommended that some scientific calculation be made so that a fixed feast might be dated to be celebrated simultaneously everywhere. It is a curious reflection to indulge that thus the schismatic church of the East should cling to a Roman calendar long after the Last of the Caesars, which a church centered in their old Rome should have discarded it four centuries ago.

LOYALTY

Houston Chronicle.

"Loyalty is a great thing," said Judge Robinson, while speaking to four men who had refused to answer questions put to them by the grand jury, "but loyalty to your country is greater than loyalty to a man; loyalty to the state is greater than loyalty to a citizen. In being loyal to those violating the law, you are disloyal to your country, to your family and to yourself."

That definition cannot be improved. It is a classic. It fits the need precisely. It contains the essence of that thing we call patriotism.

We live in an atmosphere of divided loyalties, just as we live in an atmosphere of divided duties.

Government was instituted in order that those loyalties and duties might be interpreted with justice, but sincere government stands as the interpreter, and since without it there must be chaos, our first loyalty and our first duty is to serve it.

There are men who believe otherwise, who will lie for friends, who will perjure themselves to assist institutions, and who think it no crime to do so.

But what would become of them and their friends if the government were to fall, and how could other institutions survive?

They sneer at justice as rendered by courts, but where can they find a better brand? Where, indeed, if the courts were to disappear, can they find any brand?

They do not know it, but what these men are falling back on is tribal law, barbaric justice, the simple plan where he should take who hath the power and he should keep who can.

They do not know it, but they are invoking the rules and customs that prevailed when their ancestors wore untanned hides and fought each other for the possession of women.

Their loyalty, the kind that spits on constituted authority and grovels before a ritualistic altar, is the kind that Druids knew. It is the kind that antedates civilized government. It is the kind that red men understood.

But it is not the kind that will sustain organized society, permitting people of different creeds and opinions to live in peace and work together for the common good.

THE EFFECTS OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Texas Highway Bulletin.

On July 28th, 1923, the people of Texas will vote on an amendment to the constitution and maintenance of will authorize the State to take over the construction and maintenance of a State system of highways in co-operation with the Federal government. The adoption of the amendment will not give the Legislature any additional taxing power, though it will authorize the Legislature to levy excise tax for road building purposes, which authority they now have, according to the consensus of opinion.

There is a provision in the amendment that will be submitted to the people dealing with ad valorem taxes. This amendment, however, means nothing, as it says the Legislature is authorized to levy additional ad valorem tax for the purpose of retiring bonds provided in the following section. The bond provision was cut out by the senate and concurred in by the house, but during the last days of the regular session, and on account of the congestion, the clause relating to ad valorem tax for the purpose of retiring bonds was not stricken out, therefore the provision relating to ad valorem tax as adopted will mean nothing. The effect that the amendment will have will be to authorize the State to take over construction and maintain a State highway system under the direct control and supervision of the state. At the present time, the State does not have this authority, and until the State is authorized to take over our system of roads, we can never have a connected system.

We have at the present time over 5,000 miles of roads completed on the State system, and there is not a single stretch of one hundred miles without missing links, due to the fact that the counties through which these roads run have failed to raise the county's share to finance the construction of the part of the designated system passing through such counties.

The State system of roads carry seventy-five percent of the traffic of this state, and it is necessary that these roads be built under the supervision and direction of experienced road builders. Road building is no longer a community or county proposition. It is no longer a State proposition. It has reached the stage where it is of national importance. The Federal government realizes this and has accordingly allotted to Texas more Federal aid for road purposes than any other state in the Union, because Texas has more mileage than any other state in the Union. Under this system of allotment Texas receives back from the Federal government four dollars for every one paid in by this State for road building purposes, and it would be a grave mistake if we do not comply with the provision of Federal Aid Act in order to secure for Texas this financial aid in developing the highways of Texas.

One of the provisions of this act is that the State control, construct and maintain the designated system with State funds. They have found by experience that it will be impossible to protect the interests of the State or Federal government if the building and maintaining of these highways remains in the counties.

Many of the most progressive states have already amended their statutes and constitution so as to comply with this provision of the Federal Aid Act, and reports from these states show that the people are much better satisfied with the state system, and that they realize that their investments are being protected and that their roads are in very much more serviceable condition than when the construction and maintenance was in the hands of the counties.

The people of Texas are tired of voting bond issues for the purpose of building roads that would be gone long before the bonds are retired. They realize in most instances that they have not gotten anything like value received for their investments. The people of Texas will say by the adoption or rejection of this amendment whether or not they desire the Federal government to continue aiding this state in the development of their roads. If Texas does not accept the Federal aid, of course there will be more to be allotted to the other states who do comply with the provisions of the Federal Aid Act. Arkansas has already had all Federal aid cut off and Federal Engineers have been removed by reason of the fact that the legislature refused to make provision for complying with the provisions of the Federal Aid Act. States like Texas should not object to the Federal government assisting us in building our roads, as long as the tax is collected on a valuation basis, and the appropriation distributed on a mileage basis. According to this system the northern and eastern states will help build the roads in Texas, because they pay more taxes and have a smaller road mileage than Texas.

It is to be hoped that Texas will remove legal obstacles now preventing Texas from having a connected comprehensive system of highways, and that she will take her place among the other progressive states of the Union as she has always done.

TEXAS BIRD CITIES

Austin, Texas, June 22.—Bird cities of enormous size have just been discovered in an isolated and wild part of the Gulf Coast region of Texas by George Finlay Simmons, former instructor in zoology at the University of Texas. In them were found nesting thousands of birds of a species which were not heretofore known to make their rookeries in Texas. Some of them were not known to exist anywhere in the United States, except in limited numbers, perhaps in inaccessible parts of the Everglades of Florida, according to Simmons.

"In a remote locality near the mouth of the Guadalupe River, where the San Antonio River empties into it, I found a colony of the rare white ibis, with about two thousand nests," he stated. "Ornithologists have been looking for this bird for many years. It was thought to be almost extinct. It is known that there are a few of them in the mangrove swamp of Florida, but it is the first time they have been seen in this part of the country."

"Associated with the white ibis in this rookery are the roseate spoon bill, with nests to the number of two hundred or more. They are characterized by their beautiful plumage. The male at this season of the year is of striking beauty. Upon his shoulders are dark red streaks which give him the appearance of having had a dash of blood thrown upon him. It is the only breeding colony of this bird known, with the exception of about two dozen pairs that are found in Southwestern Louisiana and a few in the Everglades of Florida.

"In this same rookery I found nesting about one hundred wood ibis, which is known as the American stork. It is the only nesting place of these birds known in this part of the United States.

"Another remarkable rookery which I found on the trip was that of the whiteface glossy ibis, which is the American cousin of the famous sacred ibis of Egypt. This nesting place is about twenty-five miles from the coast, in a prairie lake, overgrown with tules. It is far removed from the nearest human habitation and it was with the utmost difficulty that I made my way through the chaparral to the spot. I counted 2,400 nests of these rare birds in the rookery. There were myriads of young and eggs in the rookery. The whiteface glossy ibis is about two feet tall and has a long curved bill. It has a beautiful glossy bronze plumage which was formerly much in demand and admired when used as turbans for women's hats. The birds and plumage are now protected by both federal and state laws. Each one of the female birds of this species lays three large blue eggs in a massive nest that is built of dead plants.

"In this same rookery I found a considerable number of water turkeys which have the reputation of being one of the low-downest of all birds."

Mr. Simmons made these discoveries while investigating the wild bird life of the Gulf Coast region for the State Department of Game, Fish and Catters.

CLOSE THE HOTEL, THE FISH IS BAD

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel only different. When a man goes to a hotel and finds something on the table that does not suit him, he does not raise hedges with the landlord. He just sets that dish aside and wades into the many dishes that do suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an occasional article that does not suit them exactly, and without stopping to think it may really please a hundred other readers, make a grand stand play and tell the editor how the paper should be run and what should be put into it. But such people are becoming fewer every year.—Ex.

JUST A WOMAN

She's an angel in truth, a demon in fiction, a woman's the greatest of all contradictions, she's afraid of a cockroach, she'll scream at a mouse, but she'll tackle a husband as big as a house. She'll take him for better; she'll take him for worse, she'll spit his head open and then be his nurse, and when he is well and can get out of bed she'll pick up a teaspoon and throw at his head. She's faithful, keen-sighted, and blind, she's cruel, she's kind; she'll lift a man up, she'll cast him down; she'll make him her clown; you fancy she's this; but you find she is that, for she'll play like a kitten and bite like a cat; in the morning she will, in the evening she won't, and you're always expecting she does but she don't.—Ex.

THE CODE OF THE FLAG

That a conference of patriotic organizations called by the American Legion has drafted a code for use of the flag is gratifying. Former comparative indifference to the etiquette or patriotism has been succeeded, since the war, by general desire of citizens to promote uniformity in salutation and expression of respect. And surely no arbiter can command more authority than the largest and most representative organization of service men.

Why should we have a code of flag etiquette? Simply because etiquette is based upon gallantry, and this in turn upon thoughtfulness. The flag, symbol of things we hold most dear should receive a courtesy fittingly expressive of constant thoughtfulness—thoughtfulness of what the flag stands for.

Etiquette again is merely good manners. And good manners are necessarily the manners employed in the best informed circles of society. Good manners are, or quickly become, natural, for any manner employed in the best informed society is employed because it is the manner natural to that circle.

Recently books defining good manners for every occasion have been heartily welcomed by men and women generally. Many persons, particularly those very sensitive, are suspected of rudeness when the worst sin they are guilty of is an awkwardness born of diffidence—a diffidence the more pronounced because self-conscious ignorance of the natural, the good form.

As a nation we were until the world war undoubtedly diffident and therefore awkward in our expressions of patriotism. Respect for our symbolic flag burned as deeply in our hearts as loyalty burned in the breasts of any people. But the rank and file of us did not know how to translate these sentiments into the good form of easy and natural expression. When the flag went by some of us might take off our hats and some of us might shuffle uneasily, fearful to bare our heads because we were certain that the act might make us conspicuous. And when the national anthem was played—instead of arising on masse as by common impulse, we arose by ones and twos and threes, if at all.

The recent war taught us how inspiring it is to stand a member of the multitude charged by common impulse and spontaneously expressing a common sentiment in a simple, inconspicuous act of natural courtesy and gallantry. We have nationally outgrown the awkwardness of the untrained callow adolescent who lifts his hat to a lady haltingly and uncertainly while a flush suffuses his neck and face.

That code drawn by the Legion's conference is not an arbitrary dictum. It is merely the formulation of gallant conduct prescribed by experience. And experience has taught that we need the code.

TWENTY YEARS

The twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Ford Motor Company finds Henry Ford easily the most interesting product of American industrial life. Were his limitations fewer and less pronounced he would be merely one with a dozen geniuses who have contributed their amazing energies to the nation's progress. But because he is a human paradox he moves before the eyes of the world a strange, attractive and not altogether explicable figure.

One thing, however, about Mr. Ford stands out clearly in the light of modern industrial history, and that is the rise of the mechanic of 20 years ago, with nothing but an idea, to probably the world's richest man, directing the destinies of ten of thousands of workers, affecting the daily lives of thousands multiplied by their families, with interests penetrating in a score of directions and into as many forms of activity. That is the picture that captures the imagination of the American people as being something, colossal though it is, within the limits of comprehension, peculiarly American and wholly in keeping with the opportunity expressed in the national purpose.

Events have moved swiftly with Henry Ford in those two decades. Almost it seems that his institution is one of the very few things on which the war left no visible impress. Essentially a man of peace, his industrial force and inventive capacity directed wholly to the production of constructive accessories to life, Ford is something of a symbol of the indestructible character which belongs to civilization when it works instead of wars.

And so, the next war will be fought up in the air. Well, that's reasonable enough. That's where the taxpayers are.

The return of the prodigal cook, these days, arouses more enthusiasm than the return of an assorted collection of prodigal sons.

HOW TO KNOW YOU ARE EDUCATED

When is one educated in the best sense of the word? A professor in the University of Chicago is said to have told his pupils that he should consider them truly educated when they could answer affirmatively these fourteen questions:

1. Has your education given sympathy with all good causes and made you espouse them?
2. Has it made you public-spirited?
3. Has it made you a brother to the weak?
4. Have you learned how to make friends and keep them?
5. Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?
6. Can you look an honest man or a pure woman straight in the eye?
7. Do you see anything to love in a little child?
8. Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?
9. Can you be high-minded and happy in the meaner drudgeries of life?
10. Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn just as compatible with high thinking as piano playing or golf?
11. Are you good for anything to yourself? Can you be happy alone?
12. Can you look out into the world and see anything but dollars and cents?
13. Can you look into a mud puddle by the wayside and see anything in the mud puddle but mud?
14. Can you look into the sky at night and see beyond the stars? Can your soul claim relationship with the Creator?

RUSSELL DENIED NEW TRIAL

The case of Rice Russell, convicted in Houston county on a charge of murder and given 50 years in the penitentiary was affirmed Wednesday by the Court of Criminal Appeals. Russell was convicted in connection with the killing of Douglass Crow in May, 1921, at Houston. On change of venue the case was transferred to Houston county. The case was appealed to the higher court for a new trial but was denied. The higher court says: "That the facts are sufficient to justify the verdict in the case. Various witnesses have shown that the appellant had made the threat against Crow's life that he would kill him if the case was lost, then pending in Houston, in which Russell was seeking to obtain the custody of his children. He lost and shot Crow before leaving the court house."

The Texas Press Association which met in Galveston a couple of weeks ago, and which is made up principally of country newspaper men, concluded that products of the print shop now cost 117 percent more than a few years ago. This fact is hard to get into the minds of our customers. It is not difficult to understand that we must pay double for iron goods, leather goods, meats and vegetables. Yet advertising space and printed products should remain at the old price—Sour Lake Signal.

BY APPOINTMENT ONLY

Shreveport Journal.

The busy executive in the business or industrial field sees strangers only by appointment. The housewife, who must be an executive, whether she does her own work or hires it done, is too often at the mercy of the telephone or door bell. She may plan her day's work according to a fine schedule, but she frequently fails in her efficient purpose because of the petty interruptions she endures.

One woman, who concluded that these interruptions did not have to be, decided to stop them. Thereafter when an agent or other time-taker appeared at her door asking for the lady of the house, she inquired sweetly, "Have you an appointment to see her?" Indignation and amazement were frequent, but the person without appointment was denied admittance and audience, and the house-executive soon found her interruptions lessening.

LET THIS BE YOUR RESOLVE

I will start anew this morning with a higher, fairer creed; I will cease to stand complaining of my ruthless neighbor's greed; I will cease to sit repining while my duty's call is clear; I will waste no moment whining, and my heart shall know no fear.

I will look sometimes about me for the things that merit praise; I will search for hidden beauties that elude the grumbler's gaze; I will try to find contentment in the paths that I must tread; I will cease to have resentment when another moves ahead.

I will not be swayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown; I will not deny his merit, but will try to prove my own; I will try to see the beauty spread before me, rain or shine; I will cease to preen your duty and be more concerned with mine.—British Weekly.

IODINE AND VACATIONS

About this time of year it wouldn't be a bad idea to put a good book of first aid instruction on the summer reading list and to read it pretty carefully before setting forth on the vacation jaunt. And when that little job is done, it is well to fit out the emergency kit. The important things for that box are:

One-half ounce or tincture of iodine, two sterilized gauze compresses in sealed envelopes, two two-inch gauze bandages, a two-ounce carton of absorbent cotton, a spool of zinc oxide adhesive plaster one inch wide, one-half ounce bottle of flexible colloidum, a collapsible tube of plain petrolatum or freshly made cold cream or zinc oxide or boric acid ointment, one ounce aromatic spirits of ammonia in a strong vial.

Wounds or abrasions, bleeding cuts, sunburn, ordinary burns, insect bites, blisters and the like all may be given first aid treatment from this equipment. An editorial cannot set forth all the uses of the contents of the kit, but it can point out their importance. The iodine and gauze might well go along on the simple picnic outing as well as on the longer camping trip.

GOOSE CREEK MEN WILL NOT INVOKE HABEAS

Houston, Texas, June 22.—No attempt will be made by habeas corpus proceedings to obtain the release of J. E. Harper, W. E. Viles and W. S. Bradley, Goose Creek residents, sent to jail for contempt in refusing to answer grand jury questions concerning floggings. This statement was made by an attorney, who claimed that their imprisonment would terminate with the expiration of the present grand jury on July 28th.

FREEZING AND SCORCHING

Chicago, June 22.—Some relief from the heat, which claimed scores of victims, is in sight for many sections, but there is no break in others, forecasters say. There was severe frost, which formed ice in watering troughs, in some sections of New Mexico yesterday, and the mercury dropped to 28 above zero on the Arizona desert. The temperature at Superior, Wis., was 40 degrees. More than 43 deaths were recorded in Eastern States, where the temperature reached 100 at some points. The total fatalities for the week in Chicago number 21, in Ohio 30, Michigan 3 and Baltimore 1.

PRESIDENT AT K. C.

Kansas City, Mo., June 22.—President and Mrs. Harding and members of their party, en route to the Pacific Coast and Alaska, arrived at Kansas City at 10 o'clock this morning for a visit to conclude with an address by the president tonight on the transportation problem. He came from St. Louis, where he spoke last night on the World Court. Mr. and Mrs. Harding were taken for a ride about the city, which was gaily decorated. Then followed a reception, a luncheon and a few rounds of golf, a rest program, which included presentation by the president of letters of commendation awarded by the National Court of Honor, Boy Scouts of America, to two Boy Scouts in recognition of their unusual bravery in saving human life, and a visit to the United States Veterans' Hospital.

Scores of New Yorkers paid no attention to the loud screams of a girl being kidnaped, thinking, perhaps, that her parents had just told her she could not have it bobbed.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freesone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without surgery or treatment.

ENGLISH VESSEL DEFIES PROHIBITORY REGULATIONS

New York, June 22.—While Treasury Department officials today were concentrating their attention on the Berengaria, the Baltic slipped into Quarantine with 6,182 bottles of liquor under British government seal for the next eastbound voyage, in defiance of American dry regulations. Secretary Mellon had ordered agents to board the Berengaria and seize the wet goods. He apparently did not know the Baltic also was defying the dry edict. No dry agents were at Quarantine to meet her. Except for this supply the Baltic arrived "bone dry," the few bottles for the westbound voyage not consumed having been dumped overboard at the three-mile limit. Customs officials visited the Baltic's manifest.

British Concede Authority
London, June 22.—In connection with the arrival of the Berengaria at New York, it was declared in well-informed quarters here that the British government in no way challenges the authority of American officials to break the British consular seals and confiscate the liquor.

All Liquor Seized
New York, June 22.—After a permit to enter liquor for medicinal purposes was issued, customs agents, under orders, seized all liquor in excess of medicinal requirements. The order applies to the Baltic and the Berengaria, both of which arrived today, and any other ships.

VOLCANO STILL ACTIVE

Catania, June 22.—Mount Aetna is still belching streams of lava and great rocks, threatening the complete destruction of nearby communities, but the violence is decreasing. No human victims have been claimed and physical injuries are rare. The damage is estimated at more than 100,000,000 lire, exclusive of injury to crops.

THOSE LIQUOR SEIZURES

New York, June 23.—United States customs agents today started to seize liquor on the steamship Baltic, halted a while and then resumed the raid on the lockers stocked and under British government seal, intended for use on the homeward trip. The captain of the Baltic lodged formal protest against breaking the seals and seizure of the liquor. The collector of the port explained the delay by saying the seizure was temporarily halted until Chief Sprague of the public health service had certified the amount to be left for medicinal purposes. Seizure of sealed liquor on the Berengaria would be made soon, he said. The French liner Paris arrived with almost enough liquor in her hold to float her.

"Modest" Request Denied

Washington, June 23.—The drastic regulations designed, it was said, to hasten the seizure of beverage liquors aboard incoming foreign liners, sent Assistant Secretary Moss of the Treasury to customs and prohibition officers at New York were made necessary, it was stated, by the action of Public Health Officer Sprague of New York granting the request of the medical officer of the Berengaria to retain the entire supply of liquors as medicinal, and the permit was ordered withdrawn. Moss notified the customs and prohibition agents that no such "unreasonable" grant of liquors could be allowed.

PRESIDENT IN KANSAS

Board Presidential Special, En Route to Hutchinson, Kas., June 23.—President Harding today traveled into the Kansas wheat belt to present to the farmers his views on agricultural problems. The principal address for today was arranged for this afternoon in Hutchinson after visiting the Reno county wheat district.

Harding Shocks Wheat

Hutchinson, Kas., June 23.—President Harding went into a 100-acre wheat field near here today, drove a binder and shocked up grain and obtained first-hand information of the problems of the wheat farmers in the Middle West.

CRUDE OIL PRICE DOWN

Dallas, Texas, June 23.—A reduction of from five to 25 cents per barrel in Texas crude oil was announced by the Magnolia Petroleum Company.

Miss Aileen Callaway, teacher in West End Institute during the past term, who has been visiting with friends in Rusk and nearby points, returned Sunday, leaving today for her home in Conroe, at which place she will spend her summer vacation. Miss Callaway made many friends during her stay in Nacogdoches and it is hoped that she will return at the opening of school next fall.

HALT CALLED ON SIMMONS AND KAMELIA

Atlanta, Ga., June 23.—Organization of the Knights of Kamelia by William Joseph Simmons has been temporarily halted by an injunction obtained by the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, which has filed a suit against Colonel Simmons, emperor of the clan, seeking to enforce the contract alleged to have been entered into between the factions headed by Emperor Simmons and H. W. Evans, imperial wizard, several months ago.

Judge Signs Order
Judge John D. Humphreys of the Fulton superior court, signed the temporary restraining order late Thursday but it did not become known until yesterday. It was made returnable today but Klan officials stated last night no action in the matter was expected for a week or more.

In addition to Emperor Simmons, the defendants named in the petition are the Rev. Caleb Ridley, former imperial kludd, or chaplain of the clan; J. O. Wood, editor of the Searchlight; Henry J. Norton, W. H. Lathrop, Jr., W. E. Thompson and E. J. Jones, all of Atlanta; Thomas H. Knight, C. W. Besom and N. H. Moore of Oklahoma and the Knights of Kamelia.

What Contract Provides
Under the contract alleged to have been made by Colonel Simmons, he is to receive $1,000 per month for the remainder of his life and thereafter his wife, if she should survive him, is to receive a like sum for the remainder of her life in consideration of all copyrights and authors rights he may have on all rituals, costumes, literature, and paraphernalia of the order.

The petition sets forth that the Knights of Kamelia is the second of the four degrees of the Ku Klux Klan, as provided for in the constitution of the order and is a part of the Ku Klux Klan, in no way separate, except in the individual philosophies, teachings and secret mysteries. It alleges that while Colonel Simmons as emperor is given the right to promulgate the secrets of Kamelia, it in no way authorizes him to set up the Kamelia as a separate and distinct order under his own control and direction.

Klan Defies Hylan

New York, June 23.—The Ku Klux Klan will parade in New York with complete regalia in defiance of Mayor Hylan's threat to break up any such demonstration with police. King Kleagle Johnson of New York state announced today.

"We have complied with the provisions of the membership corporation law and other laws and have a right there," he asserted. More than 1,000 candidates were reported to have been initiated at the Klan meeting at East Islip, L. I., last night, at which 25,000 members are estimated to have been present.

THE TORRID WAVE

Chicago, June 23.—The hot weather was unabated in the Middle West today, while most of the Eastern states were experiencing welcome relief from the death-dealing heat wave. Three were drowned and one death from prostration, and scores of faintings yesterday was the toll in Chicago, where the temperature was 90 degrees. Eight died in Ohio, the temperature there being 97. Michigan with the mercury at 98, reported three deaths and one died in St. Louis.

JUDGE ROBINSON'S THREAT

Houston, Texas, June 23.—District Judge Robinson today notified Sheriff Binford that if another demonstration in favor of the three Goose Creek men jailed for contempt occurs at the county jail, he would send the men miles away—so far it would be impossible for their misguided friends to see them. A crowd of several hundred Thursday night gathered in front of the jail and serenaded the men.

BURGLAR IS SHOT

Waxahachie, Texas, June 23.—A man giving his name as F. M. Green of Dallas was shot and seriously wounded early today when discovered in the merchandise store of Frank Owens at Forrester, ten miles south of here. He is in a local hospital. Owens told officers that a burglar alarm warned him and he went to the store armed with a shotgun, saw a man standing at the cash register and fired when the alleged burglar disregarded his call to surrender.

Ivan Prince came down Saturday night from Tyler, where he is taking a business course in a business college, arriving just in time to be caught as a witness in the Simpson case at Livingston. Others of our people subpoenaed for this trial were County Judge Russell, Mr. G. W. L. Woodlan, Dr. F. R. Tucker, Dr. M. W. P. Pool and Attorney Moss Adams.

The World Court is bringing many trials to the administration, and some tribulations.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE BARBECUE

The various committees in charge of the big Barbecue are making extensive preparations for caring for the crowd on the Fourth. Nothing is being left undone toward making everything pleasant for the many visitors expected here on that date.

Lacy Hunt and his committee having charge of the parade, report everything going along nicely. Several of the firms have agreed to enter floats and there are others who no doubt will do so which will add much to same and will help to make the parade one of the features of the day.

The donation of cakes by the ladies is meeting with good success, though they are not as liberal as they should be. We hope anyone who has not been called on will respond by phoning their name for one or more cakes. What this committee wants is cakes.

The financial strength of the city will also be well represented in the big parade, the three largest banking institutions in East Texas, being the Commercial Guaranty State Bank; The Stone Fort National Bank and The Guaranty Bank & Trust Company have each agreed to enter a float in same.

The donation of beef for the barbecue has been very liberal, though we hope others having some they would be willing to contribute will please let it be known to the committee. This will be a great assistance and very much appreciated.

The float of the Yuba Refining Company is another to look forward to seeing in the parade. The feature of this float will be that it is representing an all-round Nacogdoches city and county product, the finest lubricating oil to be had being produced and refined right here at home.

While everyone is working hard on the big Fourth of July Celebration, and receiving the hearty co-operation of practically the entire citizenship, there are still some, as in all cases, inclined to discourage those endeavoring to make a success of this big day by offering criticisms and appearing pessimistic over this celebration, and to all such we can only ask that they scrutinize the list of donations and see whether or not their name appears thereon.

Red Muller reports everything "jake" for a cracker-jack baseball game on the Fourth, having organized a 'Doches team and secured a game with Rusk for that date. This shows that it is no trouble to organize anything in Nacogdoches. The material is here, and all that is necessary is to call them together. This same thing applies to a brass band. On a few moments notice a fairly good band can be brought out in Nacogdoches equal to most any occasion. Before many months it is hoped to see a well organized, properly uniformed brass band with an efficient instructor in Nacogdoches.

No doubt some few of our citizens recall when 'Doches had what was known as the Carnival of Commerce, lasting for three days, in which was featured some of the most elaborate ly decorated floats, buggies and carriages to be seen. Many no doubt have photographs of some of these floats as yet. This too was before the day of many automobiles in Nacogdoches. Think how much more easily a float can be made or an automobile decorated today for the big parade on the Fourth, which will add much to the entertainment of the day.

One of the attractive features of the July Fourth Barbecue will be the liberal quantity of Pure Artesian Ice Water on the grounds free to all. Dean Burk and his committee have made proper pipe connections of our city water into the Aqua Vitae Park, the picnic grounds.

Editor Adams of the Texas Commercial News writes: "If it should be possible I shall slip over on the Fourth for a ham o' mutton and the fixings." We welcome you friend Adams. Come over and we will see that you get all you want.

Another float that will be one of beauty and which is to be looked forward to with pleasure will be that of the firm of Mayer & Schmidt, Inc. "The Leading Store," who have expressed their desire to assist in making this parade the main attraction of the day and have agreed to have their business represented in same.

Brill's Concert Band of Lufkin has been secured to furnish the music for the day on July Fourth. This is also another added feature to the program which will mean some real good music throughout the day on the picnic grounds.

REDUCTION IN FLOOD RELIEF FUND VETOED

Austin, Texas, June 25.—Governor Neff vetoed Saturday the Price house bill which sought to reduce the $600,000 flood control appropriation to $363,000. This was the first veto of measures passed during the third session. The action of the governor in vetoing the Price bill leaves the appropriation intact as passed during the regular session of the Thirty-eighth legislature and enables the state board of water engineers to carry out original plans for the creation of reservoir sites in various portions of the state.

In disapproving the Price bill the governor stated that he did not believe that any of the funds would be spent unless necessary. "The work of flood control is of such importance," said the governor, "that I do not wish to minimize it by cutting down the appropriation."

Governor Neff also vetoed the house concurrent resolution which provided that the secretary of state, in printing the laws passed by the Thirty-eighth legislature, shall include all dates, all endorsements and names of presiding officers of the house and senate. "This information printed is absolutely worthless, and could not be of any service in any way for any purpose," said the governor. Besides, he added, it would cost an additional $1,500 to the printing of the laws.

TEXAS KLANSMEN BREAK WITH ATLANTA HEADS

San Antonio, Texas, June 23.—The San Antonio Ku Klux Klan and scores of other Klan organizations in Texas have adopted resolutions breaking with the Atlanta headquarters, deciding to withhold all money, reports and other information from the Atlanta officers until some order is brought out of the chaos into which the national organization has been thrown by reason of the contests for control. This announcement today by George Keeling, kleagle for Texas, said an invitation had been sent imperial, state and province officers to come to San Antonio next Tuesday and show cause why the resolutions would not stand.

San Antonio, Texas, June 23.—The San Antonio Ku Klux Klan and scores of other Klan organizations in Texas have adopted resolutions breaking with the Atlanta headquarters, deciding to withhold all money, reports and other information from the Atlanta officers until some order is brought out of the chaos into which the national organization has been thrown by reason of the contests for control. ### GOVERNOR TO MAKE TRADE CRUISE TO CENTRAL AMERICA

Austin, Texas, June 25.—For the first time during the three years of his administration, Governor Neff has decided to absent himself from the state, having announced Saturday that he would accompany the trade excursion staged by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to visit, on a specially chartered ship, Cuba, Panama and other Central American nations.

The governor will leave New Orleans next Saturday with the trade excursionists and will not return to Austin until July 17.

During Neff's absence, Lieutenant Governor T. W. Davidson of Marshall will be acting governor of the state.

BELLEW RECEIVES PRISON SENTENCE

Center, Texas, June 25.—Jim Bellew, charged with slaying Tom Musselman on February 20, last, was convicted and given a sentence of 99 years in the penitentiary by a jury in district court here late Sunday.

During Bellew's trial, Mrs. Musselman, wife of the slain man, testified that Bellew told her he was going to kill Musselman. Mrs. Musselman is also under a charge of murder in connection with the death of Musselman. She is in the county jail, having failed to make $7,000 bond.

Mrs. Musselman's trial is to begin today.

Secretary H. L. McKnight was at Lufkin Saturday to attend a meeting of the East Texas Mill Managers Association, being on the program for an address. About 100 managers and families were present, and the meeting was a pronounced success. The luncheon at the Hotel Angelina is said to have been the most elaborate of any heretofore given at that popular hostelry. The East Texas Mill Managers Association is composed of the managers of practically all the large mills of this section of the state. It was a great body of keen business men.

August Mooney of Etoile and Henry Bohlisen and Lee Outlaw of Angelina county were arrested by the sheriff's department at Etoile Sunday and brought to the city on a charge of transporting liquor, officers stating they were caught with the goods. They gave bond in the sum of $500 each and were released.

TWO ARE HURT IN AN AUTO WRECK THURSDAY

Lufkin News, 22d.
A Dodge automobile, driven by Lee Largent and Louie Nesbert, turned over at about 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon going north on the Lufkin-Nacogdoches highway near the H. E. & W. T. oil tank, more or less seriously injuring the occupants. Various statements reaching The News indicate that the car was going at a rather rapid rate of speed and hit a chug hole, which caused the car to turn over.

Both Messrs. Largent and Nesbert who are barbers at the Nobles shop in Lufkin, were pinned under the car, says one account, and men nearby building a dipping vat went to the rescue and released the two victims. Mr. Nesbert was taken to his home, it not being known just how badly he was hurt. Mr. Largent was scratched up a bit. The automobile belonged to J. A. Warner, of Nacogdoches, who had just taken the car in on a deal with a local citizen, and Messrs. Largent and Nesbert had gone out to give the vehicle a try-out.

Mr. Warner told a Sentinel man Saturday that the above was erroneous only in regard to the ownership of the car. He had taken in the Dodge to sell for another party and had just closed a deal with Mr. Nesbert when the accident occurred. Mr. Warner had sold Mr. R. L. Cunningham, former owner of the wrecked car a Ford and neither of them was involved in the loss of the Dodge, which was declared to be about as completely wrecked as one could imagine.

KLAN KLONCLIAM EXONERATES EVANS

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—Resolutions expressing confidence in H. W. Evans as imperial wizard and his officers were adopted at the meeting of the Kloncliam here late yesterday, it was announced by officers of the Klan today. The resolution, it was stated, declared charges of extravagance and waste and maladministration signed by Dr. W. E. Thompson of Tulsa, Okla., were thoroughly investigated and held to be unfounded in fact.

Evidence to show that the charge that the imperial wizard had spent $50,000 in a Chicago political campaign was unfounded was introduced, officers stated, and it was shown that Klan officials had not spent any money in the Chicago campaign.

PLEASE HELP FIND THIS BOY FOR HIS DISTRACTED MOTHER

Paul Thomas, 16 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Thomas, near Carthage, ran away from home the 27th of May and his parents are almost crazed with grief and anxiety for their boy. Paul is 16 years old, 5 1/2 feet tall, fair complexion, light blue eyes, medium dark hair, cut short, has knot or lump on ball of left forefinger caused from wire cut, also three scars on left side of abdomen from wire cuts. He weighs about 120 pounds. Wore light cap, tan shoes and striped overalls over Sunday clothes when he left home, and he may have changed his name. He left home with Byron Reed, a neighbor boy, about 18 years old. Officers anywhere will be paid a liberal reward for the detention of Paul.

To newspapers everywhere—The Watchman asks its exchanges to please publish the above notice, and ask your exchanges to do likewise, thereby aiding a distracted mother to find her boy. Paul is a good boy, and surely cannot know the condition of his mother at this time.—Panola Watchman, Carthage.

FATAL ACCIDENT OCCURS IN PRESIDENTIAL PARTY

Denver, Colo., June 25.—Thomas F. Dawson, Colorado state historian and nationally known newspaper man, died early this morning in Denver, the third victim of an automobile accident in Bear Creek canyon yesterday in which Sumner Curtis, representative of the Republican National Committee, and Tommie French of the Denver Post, two newspaper men, were killed. Donald Craig, manager of the Washington bureau of the New York Herald, who was injured, is expected to recover. The automobile, which was part of a caravan taking newspaper men with President Harding's party on a sightseeing tour, plunged into the canyon.

THE STATES AND THE NATION

Houston Chronicle.

The various and often conflicting interests which are necessarily evolved out of the very complexity of our modern civilization and the delicate adjustment of the functions of the state and federal governments inevitably develop questions of profound gravity, upon the proper determination of which the continuance of harmonious relations between two sovereignties, each supreme in its sphere, is in large measure, if not altogether, dependent.

The people from the very foundation of the government, and even before, were very jealous of their sovereignty, as was evidenced when they made part of the constitution—the declaration that all powers not delegated to the general government were reserved to the states; that is to say, to the people, the states being in the last analysis the people.

At the present time we hear many protests against even the appearance of encroachment on the rights of the states, even when that apparent encroachment is the act of so exalted a tribunal as the Supreme Court of the United States.

If that court declares some act of congress or of some state legislature to be invalid and unenforceable, because it is in conflict with the constitution of the United States, we at once hear the cry go up that the "will of the people" were thwarted.

People who talk that way think superficially. They forget that while this government was established on the principle, theretofore unknown in government, that "all just government rests on the consent of the governed," yet the founders of this nation did not intend to and did not establish a pure, absolute and unrestrained democracy.

They were too profoundly learned in the science of government, and too familiar with the lessons of history, to endeavor even to frame that kind of government. They struck the happy medium between monarchical government, which was built on the theory that power flowed from the rulers above to the people below, and a government where the power of the people should be absolute and unrestrained.

They established a government of checks and balances. They gave the president the veto power of the acts of congress, and created the Supreme Court with power to interpret the constitution and test the validity of all laws, state and national, by its provisions.

There are those who assert that the Supreme Court has, in fact, no such power, but that court decided more than a hundred years ago that it did have that power and the holding has never been departed from—and the wisdom of that holding has been time and again triumphantly vindicated.

It is a fact worthy to be kept in mind that the South, the people of which have been most zealous of the encroachment of federal power, and most zealous of the assertion of the sovereignty of the state, and who now have much to say in criticism of the Supreme Court, are debtors to that court to an extent greater than are the people of any other part of this nation.

But for that court the ordeal of "reconstruction" from '65 to '75 would have been, if possible, tenfold more terrible. As has been truly said, the cases of ex parte Garland, ex parte Milligan, Texas vs. White, the great Slaughter House case, the civil rights cases, and, crowning them all, the great case of the United States vs. Lee, saved Southern civilization.

That great French author, De Tocqueville, said the Supreme Court of the United States was the greatest of human tribunals.

Some of the decisions of the Supreme Court rendered in recent years which met the most violent criticism were rendered by the late Chief Justice Edward Douglas White, in the sense that he wrote the opinions, yet neither he nor the court were spared by the critics.

To have heard some of the criticisms would have led a stranger to the life and character of Chief Justice White to believe that he was the arch enemy of states rights and utterly regardless of the rights of the people, whereas he was by birth and education and tradition a Southerner and was a soldier in the Confederate army. He was at the same time a profoundly learned judge and knew that "while this is a dual system of government with exquisitely adjusted powers, each supreme within its appointed domain, that nevertheless the United States is a nation with all the powers expressed and implied, which belong to any sovereign nation of the earth."

The anarchists and bolsheviks and all that ilk who are opposed to all government are expected to assail the Supreme Court, but as to every Southern man, at least, he should pause and think before he criticizes

BOY, PAGE DR. MAYFIELD!

The following correspondence is given publicity in the hope that it may bring to light any facts bearing on the one-time residence of General Joseph Lewis Hogg at Nacogdoches, if in fact General Hogg did live in this city:

Houston, Texas, June 7, 1923

Dear Mr. McKnight:

Would you be kind enough to see Judge Blount of some old citizen who might give a little information about General Joseph Lewis Hogg's residence in Nacogdoches.

When did he arrive? It must have been in 1839, and how long did he remain before going to Rusk?

Did he come direct from Mississippi or did he first stop at San Augustine?

Who were the leading members of the bar in Nacogdoches at the time?

Did Jim Hogg ever work in Nacogdoches as a printer?

If there seems to be a good deal of information on these points, I would probably better come up and see the folks in person. Kindly let me know.

Sincerely your friend,
George M. Bailey.

Nacogdoches, Texas, June 11, 1923.

Col. George M. Bailey,
Houston Post,
Houston, Texas.

Dear Col. Bailey:

Inquiry among all the charter members of the "oldest inhabitants club" of this city fails to reveal anyone having either personal knowledge or historical data showing that General Joseph Lewis Hogg or his illustrious son, James Stephen Hogg, ever lived at Nacogdoches.

As you doubtless know James Stephen Hogg was born at Rusk, Texas. Captain E. L. Gregg, dean of the living pioneers of that city, can most likely put you in touch with the best sources of dependable information about the Hogg family.

I do not, of course, know the extent of your inquiry into the Hogg family, but I've long felt that Thomas Hogg, the poet, was none the less great, in the true sense, than was his illustrious brother, the lawyer, statesman and executive.

I'm very glad to know that you are gathering data about this family. So far as I know, no one has ever written a comprehensive biography of Jim Hogg, "Texas Who Wore the Gray," by the late Captain Sid Johnson of Tyler, a copy of which I have before me, may be worth your reading in this connection. If you think it will be, I shall be glad to send it to you.

When are you coming to see us?

The latch string is out, and the perch are gobbins! Come up!

Yours very truly,
H. L. Beckwith.

Houston, Texas, June 13, 1923.

Dear Mr. McKnight:

In re, General Joseph Lewis Hogg. There is no doubt about his having lived in Nacogdoches. He represented Nacogdoches district in the congress of the Texas Republic, and did not move to Rusk until about 1849. He sat in the first constitutional convention in 1845, a member from Nacogdoches.

It occurred to me that some Nacogdoches historian had covered this period of General Hogg's life. I fancy there are none living who remembered him as a citizen of Nacogdoches.

I shall try for some of those perch as soon as I can find a little leisure.

What's the matter with your "oldest inhabitant" club that it does not recall a distinguished pioneer who lived in Nacogdoches for about ten years?

Faithfully yours,
George M. Bailey.

Nacogdoches, Texas, June 16, 1923.

Capt. E. L. Gregg,
Rusk, Texas.

Dear Captain Gregg:

Enclosed herewith you will find copy of letter I wrote Col. George M. Bailey of Houston in answer to an inquiry from him for data about General Hogg's residence in this city.

Col. Bailey writes me in reply to my answer as shown herein, that "There is no doubt about General Hogg having lived in Nacogdoches. He represented Nacogdoches district in the congress of the Texas Republic, and did not move to Rusk until 1849. He sat in the first constitutional convention in 1845 as a member from Nacogdoches."

"What is the matter with your 'oldest inhabitants' club that it does not recall a distinguished pioneer who lived in Nacogdoches for about ten years?"

Judge Blount, June Harris and others here suggest that the explanation doubtless lies in the fact that Nacogdoches county originally extended as far west as Dallas, and that at the time General Hogg represented Nacogdoches in the constitutional convention, 1845, he was living at Rusk, and not at Nacogdoches.

Col. Bailey would no doubt appreciate any information you may be able to give him about this matter.

Yours truly,
E. L. Beckwith.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The last triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity, purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price 35 cents for the large family size; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

THE NEGRO MIGRATION

We have heard much, for the last 30 years, of the migrations of peoples, and it has been the practice to compare the journeyings of Europeans to this side of the Atlantic to those tremendous movements of the North European tribes which wrought the ungoing of Rome and made Britain England and Gaul France. Perhaps because of this we have neglected a significant race movement here in our own land.

Since the Civil War the negro has been free to travel and reside wherever he chose, and there has been a steady drift northward. Yet half a century after Appomattox, when the black population had doubled, nine-tenths of the nation's negro population was still in the South. It was only during the World War and in the succeeding years that migration northward assumed large proportions. And it brought a change in work and manner of living no less than in general locality.

In the South the great majority of the blacks have always been farmers on farm hands. When they come north they seek the cities and stay there. In Michigan, for instance, the urban negro population has increased 825 percent since 1910, although the state's actual numerical gain is hardly 42,000. Reports from other states with highly industrialized sections show similar conditions, while even in Mississippi, which has lost 75,000 colored inhabitants within this period, the urban negroes have increased by 3.4 percent in spite of steady increases in cultivated acreage.

The North's demand for unskilled laborers is the easy explanation of the drift across Mason and Dixon's line; but the tendency toward urban life, even in the agricultural South, cannot be without its causes, economic or otherwise. While the nation is studying its immigration problems it can well afford to consider this migration phenomenon also.

EDWIN JENKINS DEAD

Edwin Jenkins, whose critical illness was noted several weeks ago, died Monday night in a Houston hospital after a hard fight for life. His home was at Bryan, but his marriage to Miss Ruth Lloyd of this county made him practically one of us, and on every hand are heard expressions of keen sorrow at his untimely passing. The family have the sympathy of all in their deep affliction, our hearts going out especially to the young wife, known to us all since her babyhood.

J. E. Connor, whose arrest in Lufkin and incarceration here at the request of Oklahoma officers on a charge of obtaining money under false pretense, was rearrested at Lufkin Wednesday and returned to jail here the same night. He was accompanied to Nacogdoches by his young wife, who has the sympathy of all in her tribulations. The sheriff of Tillman county, Oklahoma, was expected to arrive on the southbound T. & N. O. train to take charge of the prisoner and return him to the scene of his alleged offense.

Friendly nations are those officially acknowledge their debt to the United States.

Somebody says Henry Ford's plan is to bid for the presidency with fiat money. And it might work, seeing how Henry has succeeded with fiat motors.

NACOGDOCHES PEOPLE MAKE SPEECHES

Six cars of Nacogdoches Baptists attended the Cherokee and Nacogdoches Association Conference at Douglas yesterday. Those who made speeches were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Monk, Rev. and Mrs. Bonnie Grimes, and District Attorney F. P. Marshall. The Douglas people were cordial in their reception of the visitors.

MORE ABOUT CAKES

Those of the good ladies who have so generously responded in contributing cakes, as well as any others who might find it convenient to donate some cakes for the July Fourth celebration and barbecue, are requested to have these cakes sent to the store of Branch & Patton on Tuesday, July 3d.

This will be very little trouble to those contributing and we hope they will gladly respond to this request.

Committee.

figures in Scottish History.

"Black Douglas" was James Douglas, ninth and last earl of the branch of the Douglas family in Scotland. He was early in life engaged in schemes against James II, and then fled to England, where he had a pension from the crown, and was made Knight of the Garter. In 1494 he leagued himself with the exiled duke of Albany, and invaded Scotland, when he was taken prisoner at Lochmaben. On being brought before the court he turned his back upon the king. The compassionate King James III spared his life on condition of his taking the veil. He then entered the monastic seclusion at Lindores, where he died.

Microscope Invented Unknown.

Although the early history of the microscope is obscure, the first microscope is generally believed to have been made by Zacharias Jansen, a Dutchman, in 1590. The invention is also attributed to Galileo about 1610. Microscopes with double glasses appeared soon after the discovery of the law of the refraction of light, about 1624; but it was not until the invention of the acromatic lens and its application to the microscope by Lister and others that the instrument became of positive value in the cause of science. The binocular microscope was invented by Professor Kiddle in 1851.

Where Lake Erie Got Its Name.

Lake Erie took its name from a tribe of Indians, of Iroquois stock, but not belonging to the Erie, who lived in the western part of New York state on the south shore of the lake. Mr. Henry Gannett, an officer of the United States geological survey, and chairman of the United States geographic board, in his "Origin of Certain Place Names in the United States," gives the following: "Erie, one of the Great Lakes, from eris, eris, or eriga, meaning 'wild cat,' the name of an animal which was common to the region."

JONAH AS MOSLEM PROPHET

Followers of Mohammed Regard His Tomb as One of Their Most Holy Places.

Close to the mound in Mesopotamia that once was Nineveh, is another, known to the Arabs as Nebi-Yunus, atop of which is the tomb of Jonah. How the followers of Mohammed came to adopt this perfectly good Hebrew as one of their own prophets is not clear, but the fact remains that his tomb has been a Moslem shrine for upward of a thousand years, observes E. Alexander Powell in Harper's Magazine.

The sarcophagus itself, covered with priceless Persian shawls, the offerings of pilgrims, stands in the center of a square, vaulted chamber, the floor of which is considerably below the level of the ground, thereby giving the interior, which is lined with porcelain tiles of the "lost" shade of Persian blue, a most refreshing coolness after the sun glare outside.

Depending from the dome by a silver chain, so that they swing directly over the resting place of the intrepid Jewish seafarer, are several "swords" of the swordfish. When I asked the aged mullah who was in charge of the shrine what they were, he explained, in a tone which betrayed pity for my ignorance, that they were the teeth of the whale that swallowed Jonah!

NOVELIST PROVED HIS CASE

Critics of Dickens' "Spontaneous Combustion" Death Proved Wrong by Eminent Medical Man.

It may be recalled that Charles Dickens, the famous novelist, employed spontaneous combustion to give force to one of the episodes in his fascinating story known as "Bleak House."

One of the dark characters of the story is old Krook, proprietor of a rag and bone warehouse. He is a grasping drunkard, consuming great quantities of gin. One day two men, occupying an upper room in the old warehouse, smelt burning, and on going below to investigate, found a smouldering heap of something looking like charred oiled rags. At the inquest the coroner's jury held that old Krook came to his end by spontaneous combustion.

Some critics of Dickens challenged this as being impossible. The account of Krook's death was, therefore, bad art and a blemish on the whole story. Dickens replied by citing a similar case that had occurred in Paris, France, and was confirmed by a report of several eminent medical men who had thoroughly investigated the matter.

Goodness Increases Wisdom.

Sir Henry Taylor three generations ago wrote "The Statesman." It remains a classic of English literature. This paragraph is a fair example:

"The correspondence of wisdom and goodness are manifold; and that they will accompany each other is to be inferred, not only because men's wisdom makes them good, but also because their goodness makes them wise. Questions of right and wrong are a perpetual exercise of the faculties of those who are solicitous as to the right and the wrong of what they do and see; and a deep interest of the heart in these questions carries with it a deeper cultivation of the understanding than can be easily affected by any other increment to intellectual activity."

The Wise in Council.

The men who have method, and, as it were, a judicial intellect are most valuable counsellors. Without such men in a council, a great deal of cleverness goes for nothing; as there is nobody to see what has been stated and answered to what their deliberations tend, and what progress has been made. Such persons gather the sense of a mixed assembly, and suggest a line of action which may honestly meet the different views of the various members. They will bring back the subject matter when it has all but floated away, while the others have been looking for seaweed, or throwing stones at one another on the shore.—Sir Arthur Helps.

Birds Aid Cattle of Parasites.

The ox-pecker, a bird inhabiting the dark continent, is so called from its fondness for being around domestic and other cattle, which it rids of various parasites. It is said that it actually eats large holes in the fleshy parts of the backs of cattle, often one or two inches deep, and two or three inches in diameter, thus creating bad sores. It does this little by little, and day by day, attacking just that part of the back where the ox cannot swish it off with its tail or dislodge it with its horns. The bird is a pest to the hunter, of whose approach it warns the buffalo and rhinoceros by its loud, harsh note, which is perfectly understood by its huge friends.

Jack Frost's Doings.

An egg expands when it is frozen and breaks its shell. Apples contract so much that a full barrel will shrink until the top layer is a foot below the chine. When the frost is drawn out the apples assume their normal size and fill the barrel again.

Certain varieties are not appreciably injured by being frozen if the frost is drawn out gradually. Apples will carry safely in a refrigerating car while the mercury is registering fully 30 degrees below zero.

Potatoes, being so largely composed of water, are easily frozen. Once

"GREATEST HELP I EVER RECEIVED" SAYS MRS. BLOUNT

Another Waco Resident Gives Testimony to Stella Vitae for Wonderful Results in Restoring Her to Health.

"I have taken many different medicines trying to get over my troubles, but the only help I have ever received was from Stella Vitae," said Mrs. D. Blount, 517 Rusk Avenue, Waco, Texas, the other day.

"Every month about the time of my periods I would suffer agonies with my back and would get so nervous I couldn't keep still. My head would begin throbbing and I thought it would never stop. Dizzy spells would come on and I would turn blind as a bat and would then have to lie down for a spell. Menstruation was profuse and weakened me terribly and it seemed to be impossible for me to sleep to do any good.

"I experienced such wonderful relief after taking one bottle of Stella Vitae that I kept it up and now I am feeling just fine. Stella Vitae is the most wonderful tonic I have ever used and I just couldn't be without it for anything.

Note—Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and is sold upon the positive guarantee that the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief.

FALSE PRIDE

"Say, please," she entreated, but he would not—couldn't afford to humor her in any such foolish manner—set a bad precedent—might expect him to keep it up after they were married—if ever!

He was terribly glum for several days—couldn't sleep very well, appetite all gone; a let-down feeling generally.—Went to a big dance with another girl last night and she came out with another fellow—She wouldn't stay because he was there, and he was miserable all evening—Just could not enter into the spirit of the occasion!

"Why don't you call her up and tell her you were wrong, and ask her to forgive you?" he was asked. "But I wasn't wrong, and I can't afford to do that. She'd take advantage of the admission and conclude that I was weak and namby-pamby."

"You can't afford not to if you love the girl. She'll not think you're weak; she'll think you are strong and wonderful, and the chances are she'll rise to the emergency and say that you weren't wholly to blame—that it was all her fault!"

"I'm afraid not—I can't afford to slaughter my pride!"

What fools these mortals be!

A big deal is called off just because two men have a personal difference. It's a deal that would benefit both parties and would bless a whole community. A misunderstanding arises, and words are passed, Bingo! the thing's off like a jug handle, and each party goes away with a seething mind and a sore heart. Each feels that he couldn't afford to apologize—it would indicate weakness.

False pride is the cause of a large percent of the world's suffering. It makes mountains out of mole hills, and howitzers out of nigger-shooters.

Occasionally you see a man who is big enough to stand on his two good hind feet, and with right hand extended, say, "I'm sorry; it's all my fault," and the whole world applauds. It makes no difference whether he was to blame or not—frequently he isn't—but the very fact that he is big enough to take the blame in order to keep down strife, hatred and grief, brings a chorus of huzzahs from the throats of the multitudes—pigmies and giants alike.

Like the fly trying to go through a window pane, when there's no good reason why he should be on the other side, the average human being dashes himself to pieces over inconsequential matters, and leaves suffering and sadness in his wake.

My pride! My precious pride! Be the consequences what they may, I can't afford to sacrifice it.—Ex.

LURE OF HOLLYWOOD

Report has it that a girls' pilgrimage to Hollywood is on. Tall and short ones, plump and slim ones, blondes and brunettes are on the way to where the movie center lures. The fair pilgrims should make the most of their journey toward the goal of their desire, for disappointment awaits the great majority of them.

The successes that may be attained by a few will be but exceptions that prove the rule of failure. Now their hopes are high. The beauty and grace that they think are theirs promise fame and fortune and French poodles and limousines and sables and ermine, but often such promises are not fulfilled. Many of the girl pilgrims are destined to awaken sadder and, it is to be hoped, wiser.

The Southern Pacific Railroad boys (and girls) were here Saturday in force, being the occasion of the annual picnic of the employees on the Houston Division, extending from Houston to Shreveport.

The special trains bearing the picnic-tickers arrived about on schedule time, 133 coming from Shreveport and 250 coming from Houston. This includes, of course, the territory between those places and Nacogdoches.

They were met at the station by an amply supply of autos to convey them to Yaleta Lake, where the picnic was held. A delegation of 33 colored employees came in on the Shreveport train and were taken to Aqua Vitae Park, where luncheon was provided for them. Shortly after the arrival of the trains about 50 automobiles, bearing about 175 additional picnic-tickers, arrived and joined in the fun.

At Yaleta Lake an address of welcome was delivered by H. L. McKnight, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and Attorney Culberson. Denman also spoke a welcome in behalf of our people.

The program was considerably curtailed for lack of time, the following events being staged:

Fat Man's Race
R. R. Blankenship, section foreman, Houston, first prize.

M. W. Jennings, mechanical foreman, Shreveport, second prize.

B. Meyers, section foreman, Tena-ha, third prize.

C. Anderson, engineer, Lufkin, fourth prize.

H. Mathis, B&B Department, fifth prize.

Girls' Race
First prize—Addie Mae Herron, Shreveport.

Second prize—Regina Sprague, Houston.

Third prize—Elizabeth Price, Logansport.

Fourth prize—Irma Hardeaway, Houston.

Fifth prize—Ida Buckley, Houston.

Sixth prize—Lena Gillespin, Houston.

Tug of War
B&B Department—J. B. Musgrove, J. L. Green, J. W. Alexander, Claud Walker, E. E. Brashear, C. E. Medford, G. T. Gray, H. D. Hood, Ernest Ford and E. W. Boyle.

Section Foremen—J. H. Pruett, H. L. Pruett, A. A. Sullivan, J. St. Clair, B. Meyers, J. A. Phillips, C. A. Boggan, W. A. Jackson, Bob Peacock, George Randolph and R. R. Blankenship.

This contest was won by the section foremen.

Tug of War
Firemen—J. Markus, A. D. Davis, W. E. Moore, Fred Clingman and Dave Cochran.

Engineers—C. Matthews, C. F. Strange, C. A. Calvitt, O. E. Runnels and W. B. Moore.

The firemen were the victors.

Free for All, 50 Yard Ladies' Race
Mrs. A. D. Davis, first prize, $10.

Mrs. S. P. Carney, second prize, $5.

Miss Beulah Burnett, third prize, $5.

Miss Ada Blankenship, fourth prize, $2.50.

Miss Alice Baker, fifth prize, $2.50.

Free for All, 100 Yard Men's Race
H. L. Bell, first prize, $10.

Ralph Bell, second prize, $5.

E. Dowling, third prize, $2.50.

S. P. Carney, fourth prize, $2.50.

Baseball Game
Between the Louisiana Railway & Navigation Company team and the H. E. & W. T. Team.

L. R. & N. Players—Maurice Campbell, R. Beasley, E. Dowling, P. Hampton, S. Carney, H. Holland, L. Carney, R. Deal, L. Latspeich, E. Wolfe, R. Cupender and W. L. Sloan.

H. E. & W. T. Team—Holland, Hightower, Bell, Heitman, Clay, Bell, Hesterly, Smith and Tatum.

This was a hotly contested game of five innings and was won by the L. R. & N. boys by a score of 3 to 2.

This ended the athletic contests, which caused much merriment, especially the fat man's race, which provoked gales of laughter.

Little Miss Pauline Gossett gave a "flag song," and the tiny lady evoked much applause.

The luncheon, which the visitors provided, was all that the most exacting epicurian could ask, after disposing of which the crowd went in swimming in the lake, wandered over the grove and otherwise enjoyed country life.

Then they were driven back to and over the city, and this was followed by a dance at the Elks Hall, beginning at 8 and lasting until 8 when the trains left on the homeward trip.

The doors of the Palace Theater were thrown open to all who cared to attend, a complimentary courtesy from the managers, Messrs. Ambrose & Levy, and their kindness was appreciated by the visitors.

Our people did all they could to promote the enjoyment of the occasion, and this also was appreciated.

It is to be concluded from the way

nice things said by our guests. Nothing occurred to in the slightest degree mar the pleasures of the day—there was not a single accident or an unkind word so far as could be learned. In fact, it was a fine lot of people who came to visit us. And, say, boys; we want you here again next year.

So well pleased were the visitors that they formed a permanent picnic organization for the purpose of systematizing the work incident to these annual outings. And the community which entertains them will be lucky. They brought their own orchestra—a good one—which furnished music at the picnic grounds and at the dance at Elks Hall.

Letter of Appreciation
The following letter was received Monday morning by the Sentinel:

Houston, Texas, June 24, 1923.
Editor Nacogdoches Sentinel:

Dear Sir—We, the undersigned employees of the H. E. & W. T. Railway, take this method of extending through your valuable paper our sincere thanks and appreciation for the many courtesies shown the employees of the H. E. & W. T. Railway during and before the time of holding their first annual picnic in your beautiful city June 23d.

Especially are we indebted to the Booster Club and your Chamber of Commerce, which are so ably represented by Mr. H. L. McKnight, also Mr. J. E. Reese and for their untiring individual effort put forth by them personally.

The employees of the H. E. & W. T., in conclusion want to say that they enjoyed every moment of their stay from the time the trains arrived until they departed. Every one of the employees and their families are unanimous in voicing their appreciation for the kindness extended them by your citizenship and hope to be able to be with you again soon.

(Signed) Employees H. E. & W. T.

YOUNG PEOPLE WHO KNOW IT ALL SHOULD NOT READ THIS

Are you chained to a small job and a small salary? Are you in a rut where you are just holding your own, where you are not improving yourself and have no future? Don't think you are standing still. You can't. You either move forward or backward. If you are not progressing you are losing ground. You have ambition, you want a good position and prospects for success in the future. Don't allow yourself to stay on a small job and a small income, without making any progress in life. Get your feet on the ladder of success. How are you going to do it?

There are several ways from here to there. You can travel the twenty-five thousand miles around the earth and arrive in the next street, or you can take a straight line across the block and reach your destination in two minutes. The world is full of people trying to cross the block by going around the world. The ones who get somewhere are the ones who know how to select a direct route.

The Direct Route to a Good Business Position is Through the Tyler Commercial College

If you don't believe this, go out some day and make a dozen applications for positions. Approach the employer and say "I would like to have some kind of a position," and when you are asked what you can do, tell him you haven't any particular training, but that you can do most anything. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred he will tell you he wants a bookkeeper, stenographer, typist, somebody who can do some one thing in a superior way.

There is a short cut to business success and there is a long route and when you are young you have the opportunity to select the one or the other. Doubtless you can get some kind of a job in a business and work up. Successful business men are too busy to teach school in their offices. Don't underestimate the difficulty of the task of working up. Select the shorter, direct route, through the Tyler Commercial College, and you will reach your destination early enough to enjoy the fruits of the journey.

You do not have to be a sage to understand that these things are true but you will be a wise young man or woman if you realize their significance, realize that they apply to you and not to someone else, and take advantage of the opportunities that the right sort of a good paying position will open up. Take a course with us and we will place you in a good paying position as soon as you finish. Fill in coupon below and mail to us for free catalogue, descriptive of our courses of bookkeeping, shorthand, business administration and finance, telegraphy, cotton classing, etc., and of the largest commercial training institution in America.

CONCERNING THE USE OF MEDICATED SALT BRICKS

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station is receiving inquiries from ranchmen who desire information as to the value of the various medicated salt licks being offered on the market. They want to know if these preparations will cure diseases of the animals, or if they will prevent diseases. They also want to know if such preparations contain food value, or properties which might increase the effectiveness of the food the animals eat.

Dr. D. H. Bennett, Veterinarian for the Station at Substation No. 14, near Sonora, in reply to these inquiries has advised that it is not the policy of the station to make tests of proprietary articles for the purpose, either of recommending the use of or advising against the use of such products.

He observes that the proprietary medicated salt licks which have come under his observation, when effective, are at least more expensive than the preparations found by the Station to give good results; that none of them can take the place of food; that salt required by all animals in varying amounts, according to feed and weather conditions and other undetermined factors, can best be supplied in the form of pure, fine-granulated, unadulterated supplies when the range conditions are dry enough that losses will not be too great from melting; that lump and brick salt all contain more or less of other substances than salt and require much of an animal's time to get the required amount by licking.

Doctor Bennett also advises against the use of medicines among healthy animals, saying: "Animals, like man, should only receive medicinal treatment when some condition disturbs the digestive, respiratory, circulatory, or uro-genital systems and such treatment can, at most, only assist nature to recover a balance of the body. Results of such treatments are always more or less uncertain. Mineral deficiencies, indicated by pale mucous membranes due to lack of iron; by enlarged joints and other bone disturbances, usually due to mal-assimilation of lime salts, or by other less common symptoms, can be made up by supplying the needed element to the animal. Excess of minerals, however, will cause disturbance of digestion and elimination.

"Medicinal treatment can be administered to animals in some classes and ranchmen should prepare to prevent losses from stomach worms among their lambs and younger sheep. About weaning time the entire flock should be treated with the copper sulphate or blue stone treatment. One pound dissolved in two quarts of hot water, and afterwards diluted to make nine gallons of solution, is somewhat effective. Of this solution, lambs should receive two ounces and all sheep over one year old should receive four ounces. It is most effectively given by a two-ounce metal syringe, after twenty-four hours starvation from food and water, followed by a four to five hour fast after treatment. Too large numbers of animals should not be treated at one time. Three men can treat three hundred head each day, in such a manner that these animals can have water before dark. In this way the work need not be rushed at any time and both men and animals profit.

"In those flocks where a severe infestation is present two pounds of copper sulphate, or blue stone, and one and one half pounds of iron sulphate, or copperas, may be mixed with one hundred pounds of salt and fed to an advantage for a period not longer than necessary for the animals to regain condition. Three or four months should be ample. This will assist nature to replenish what has been lost by parasitic invasion, only when ample feed is provided."

WAR ON MOSQUITO

Austin, Texas, June 25.—Honorable J. P. Lane, representative from Cherokee county, and author of the Mosquito Control Bill, which was passed at the regular session of the Thirtieth Legislature, is most highly pleased with the results thus far obtained in the short period of time that this piece of constructive legislation has been in effect. It is only regrettable that the demands for this work can not all be met.

According to Dr. W. H. Beazley, State Health Officer, some of the communities that are now benefiting from this Act are as follows: Nacogdoches, Marshall, Henderson, Crockett, Jacksonville, Alto, Bullard, Hearne, Brenham, Somerville, La Grange, Taylor, Ennis, Groesbeck, Waxahachie, Livingston and Groveton.

Another feature is the aid that is being extended by the Federal government which was prompted on account of the initiative taken by Texas in conducting intensive warfare against the disease-carrying species of the mosquito. The activities of the Federal government are principally concentrated against stegomyia mosquitoes along the Mexican border and along the Gulf Coast, in some twenty-odd villages and towns. The cities and towns are paying for constructing work such as ditching, filling and levee and are expending

HELP WANTED

Everyone no doubt realizes that the work involved in looking after the immense crowd expected to visit us on the Fourth of July is something enormous and to have the proper service during the day it is necessary to have plenty of help, and feeling that the entire town is interested in this big celebration on the Fourth we desire to ask that every person from the ages of 8 to 80 who will volunteer his services to assist at the Picnic Grounds on the Fourth will please turn their name in to Mr. Robert Monk in order that the committee might know definitely just who to depend on helping us on that date.

The committee in charge of the big Fourth of July dance to be given in the W. O. W. This orchestra is widely known throughout all East Texas and are noted for the excellent dance music which they furnish, and this feature of the program for that day is one being looked forward to with the greatest of pleasure.

There is no indication that the Leviathan's engines wouldn't be as thoroughly "shaken down" as Mr. Lasker naively puts it, if passage on the Cuban joy-ride had cost $200 or $300 a throw.
It was the last request of a dying man that jazz be played at his funeral. It may be that he wanted it played for once when he couldn't hear it.
We feel sure there is none but what will be only too glad to offer his services for a few hours during that day and which will be very much needed and such assistance will be highly appreciated.

Nervous Break-Down

MRS. ANNIE LANGE, of R. F. D. 1, Burlington, Tex., writes as follows regarding her experience with Cardui: "Some time ago I had a nervous breakdown of some kind. . . I was very weak and so nervous. I had fainting spells and suffered a great deal, but more from the weak, trembly, no-account feeling than anything else. I knew I needed a tonic, and needed it badly. I began the use of Cardui to see if I couldn't get some strength, as I knew of other cases that had been helped by its use. I soon saw a great improvement, so I kept it up. I used seven bottles of Cardui, and can say the money was well spent, for I grew well and strong. Am now able to do all my housework and a great deal of work besides."

If you are weak, run-down, nervous and suffer from the ailments peculiar to women, it is very likely that Cardui will help you, in the way it helped Mrs. Lange and has helped thousands of others, during the past 40 years. Ask for, and insist on, Cardui.

It is a powerful and scientific combination of sulphur and other healing agents for the relief and cure of diseases of the skin. It is especially effective in the ITCHING VARIETIES; giving instant relief from the itching and smarting sensations and by its germ-destroying properties it exterminates the microbe which is the cause of the eruption, thus curing the disease completely.

Littell's Liquid Sulphur Compound is used in all cases of Eczema, Tetter, Barber's Itch, Psoriasis, Herpes, Rash, Oak and Ivy Poisoning, also for relieving the annoyance caused by chiggers and mosquito bites.

In the treatment of ECZEMA—the most painful and obstinate of all skin diseases—it is one of the most successful remedies known.

BOOSTER MEETING

The regular weekly luncheon of the Booster Club was held Monday night at the Lockett Tea Room with a 100 percent attendance.

Guest: Mr. Oliver of Houston. Reports from committees on various matters were read and all accepted.

Committee on Barbecue reported everything progressing nicely and proper preparations being made for a big day on the Fourth.

The next subject for discussion was the question having arisen as to whether or not the stores should open or close on Wednesday, July 4th, and in view of the fact that the merchants have an agreement by which they are to close for that date, the Booster Club naturally assumed when the July Fourth celebration was instigated by them, that the business houses would all close, though at a meeting of several of the business men on Monday afternoon some seem to think it would be an assistance in the entertainment of the visitors as well as a courtesy extended them to have their places of business open on that date, and the Booster Club was asked for an expression on the matter at their meeting on Monday night, and after a general discussion it was the unanimous vote of the club that this matter be left entirely up to the merchants of the town as to whether or not they should open or close their places of business on this holiday and either way they might decide in the matter will meet the approval of this club. Time was up.

The Boosters.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

I herewith enclose a clip from the San Antonio Express, date June 22, 1923. It reports the death of an old-timer from a Nacogdoches pioneer family of note. J. E. King grew up there. He was known by a nickname, Philmore. Everybody knew his brothers, El and Bill, but Phil left there in early life, and lived some years in Clarksville, where he ranked well as a business man.

His surviving widow is a distinguished lady. Her father's name is Clifton. He is distantly related to our former citizen, D. E. Clifton.

BIG JULY FOURTH DANCE

One of the most attractive features on the program for the big Fourth of July celebration which appeals to the young as well as many of the older ones, is the big dance to be held in the new Woodman Hall on that night.

Extensive preparations are being made by the committee in charge to make this dance the greatest event of the season and are arranging for some of the best music to be had for same. Quite a number of out of town people have expressed themselves as looking forward to this feature of the day with much pleasure and their intention to be here for same, besides many of our town people are anticipating a great time on the evening of this dance and it is the expectation of the committee in charge to make it a most pleasant affair for all who care to partake on that night.

ATTENTION, FARMERS, RANCHMEN, BANKERS AND OTHERS

At the second called session of the Thirty-eighth Legislature of Texas, there were passed certain rural credits bills, providing for the organization of associations, corporations, etc., through which money may be had from the intermediate credits banks on non-perishable agricultural products and on live stock.

To be enabled to secure these loans on agricultural products there must be outstanding for the products a negotiable receipt of a bonded, supervised and examined warehouse.

We will have for distribution, free, a limited number of booklets carrying all the laws passed by our legislature relating to these rural credits measures and our desire is to put same in the hands of parties who are interested to the extent that they will order the books and after having read same will pass them on to other interested parties.

Farmers and ranchmen throughout the state will find the bankers ready to join in a movement whereby agricultural and stock raising may be placed on higher plane and by which the crop mortgage may soon be done away with.

If interested write for copies of this booklet, and if you have no warehouse suitable for the storage of cotton, wool, rice, mohair, wheat or other non-perishable products and desire information with regards to the organization of same, a copy of the law relating to the organization of permanent and public warehouses will be sent you.

Simply address the Markets and Warehouse Department, Austin, Texas, Charles E. Baughman, Commissioner.

Miss Lum Shippe is assisting Miss Bernardine McKnight for a few days in completing the records and credit ratings of the Retail Merchants Association. More than 3,000 credit rating cards are now in the files of the association and information is at hand for completing probably 1,000 additional cards. When these cards are placed in the steel filing cases the records of this association will be as full and complete as any similar organization in the state.
