FERGUSON IS SURE REPEAL TO BE VOTED

WASHINGTON, July 11.—"Farmer Jim" Ferguson, former governor of Texas and husband of its present governor, is confident the Lone Star State will fall in line for prohibition repeal.

Ferguson, paying his first visit to Washington in six years, said he was summoned here to give Postmaster General Farley first-hand reports regarding the prospects for repeal when Texas voters on the issue Aug. 26.

"It will go across, all right," he said. "The only danger lies in the fact that a score or more of politicians are laying around Washington trying to gobble up all the patronage that is coming to Texas when they should be home helping the boys carry on the fight for repeal."

Ferguson's mention of patronage suggested that when he talks to Farley about repeal he will not be likely to pass up the opportunity to put in a few words in behalf of friends who are seeking federal appointments.

Merchants Pleased With Results of Fair Trip Contest

Continued optimism by the majority of the merchants participating in the World Fair contest indicated today that they were getting their share of the business in Ranger and at the same time were aiding two young ladies to get to the fair, with all expenses paid.

Almost without exception the merchants taking part in the contest state that business is better than they expected and the contest is responsible for this feeling of optimism to a large extent.

With each purchase made, or with each payment on an account, votes are given to the purchaser. The contestant who receives the largest number of votes will be declared the winner of the contest.

Those who are making purchases of almost any kind can help someone to win this trip by making purchases from the dealers who are entered in the contest, thereby receiving votes to give to the contestants. The race is still hot, according to all indications, and the one who works hardest for votes from now until the end of the contest will likely be the winner.

MORE CHARGES ARE FILED IN SLAYING CASE

FORT WORTH, July 11.—Federal and local police today began a second minute search of the O. D. Stevens farm near Handley as they sought the bodies of three men, believed slain, whose clothing was found in the Trinity river near here.

Discovery of two secret rooms in the Stevens home lead police to renew their search. A careful sounding of walls at the palatial residence is being made.

At the same time, other officers, aided by 150 volunteer hunters, swarmed over the Stevens farm. The searchers were armed with iron rods and were instructed to prod every inch of ground on the farm for soft spots in the earth, which might be the graves of the men.

Officers held strongly to their theory the men had been slain in a dispute over division of the loot in the $70,000 postal robbery here the night of Feb. 21.

Charges of possessing narcotics were brought today against Stevens, his wife and sister, Fay Stevens after officers found eight grains of morphine in a secret chamber in the Stevens home.

Four suspects, including Stevens, were held in jail on charges of murder and mail robbery. Two others were held on charges in connection with the mail robbery.

EACH COUNTY TO SHARE IN FEDERAL ROAD WORK

Police Accuse 8 in Massacre

Verne C. Miller, former North Dakota sheriff, and William Weissman were among the eight gunmen who killed four officers and an escaped convict in the recent Union Station massacre in Kansas City, according to police of that city. The officers were killed by machine gun fire when an attempt was made to liberate the convict.

Bi-Metalist Declares World Needs More Knowledge of Three 'C's'

Written for United Press by FRANK J. CANNON
DENVER, Colo.—We shall not be able to restore economic justice, nor even to approach any considerable measure of economic equilibrium, until we acquire and act upon a proper knowledge of "coin, credit and circulation."

As the first step, and only the first step, toward such action, we who are bi-metalists, urge the monetization of silver. We do not ask that something shall be done for silver, but that silver shall be permitted to do something for the world.

Why is this monetization necessary? Because the attempt of the world to do business on the single gold standard—with limited gold for the world's needs and with the substitution of dangerous and often fictitious credits based upon the meager gold holdings—has proved such a disastrous loss to all humanity that the world was but recently and is even yet threatened with the collapse of international and national finance; with commerce and industry, with credits and debts, going into the abyss.

Gold is stable only as related to itself, and that stability is founded solely in the fact that gold is accepted freely at the mint at a fixed price. In relation to all other things, except the debt written to be paid in gold of specified weight and fineness, it fluctuates in its buying power exactly in proportion to the fluctuation of Pratt Sailing Into Maine Politics?

Rear Admiral William Veazie Pratt, retired, above, was reported ready to hit the deck in politics by running for governor or congressman in Maine, his native state.

COMMISSION WILL ALLOT MONEY SOON

AUSTIN, July 11.—Each of the 254 counties in Texas may share in the $25,000,000 federal allotment of highway aid under the plan of road construction voted today by the state highway commission.

The commission will recommend that at least one project in each county be financed in part with the federal aid. Approval of the plan by R. E. McDonald at Washington, director of the bureau of roads, was asked.

It was the commission's solution of how to spread the relief fund in an equitable manner throughout the state. Only small amounts, however, will be allotted counties which have already completed major highways.

Delegates from 20 counties conferred with the commission yesterday. Closing of coal mines and brick plants make highway work an emergency relief need, Representatives of Erath, Palo Pinto and Young counties told the commission. They asked for construction of highway 108 from Stephenville to Strawn, 34 miles, and extension of highway 120 from Graham to Metcalfe Gap.

Commissioners promised the section a share of the federal relief fund, but no specific road work has yet been ordered.

Italy Reclaiming Fertile Lands

CATANIA, Sicily.—Only a few hundred meters from here, 40,000 hectares of land, representing one of the most fertile zones in Italy, until recently was an abandoned expanse dotted with muddy and stagnant waters.

Land reclamation works were inaugurated two years ago. These proceed today on a large scale. In 15 years the entire zone will be reclaimed and will produce about 1,600,000 quintals of wheat, it is expected.

Save for a first small attempt to reclaim the area in 1900, all subsequent projects belong to the fascist era. These were inaugurated in 1925 and 1929.

Civil engineers in charge of the zone have decided to divide the work into two parts; the first part involving the southern and northern sections of the Catania plains. Such progress already has been made and in less than five years about 15,000 hectares will be reclaimed, it is expected.

Letters Received In Ranger From Forestation Army

Several letters have been received by W. C. Hickey from Ranger boys who have joined the reforestation army and who are now in the various camps over the state.

One letter from Earl Ivy, who is located at Clifton at present, states that they are beginning construction of several small dams on the Bosque river and that the members of the camp have been having a good time so far and have been getting good food. There are 200 men in the company in which Ivy is stationed, which is reported to be the best company to go out of Camp Bullis, San Antonio, so far.

Another letter from Jesse Chancellor, who is located at Weches, states that while at Camp Bullis he worked from five to six hours a day building roads and working around a rock crusher. The company was then moved to Weches, in East Texas, where there is a fine camp on top of a hill, with the water supply for the company drawn from a deep well. Weches is a little community with one store and a post office, he states.

At present there are no lights in the camp. The company starts to work at 7:30 in the morning and works until 3:30 in the afternoon. The work is mostly cutting underbrush and small trees, leaving the pines standing. A company barber shop and store has been opened in the camp for the members of the company, which adds to the conveniences.

June Failures Are Lowest for Month Past Ten Years

Austin—Fewer commercial failures were reported during the month just past than in any other June on record since 1920. According to exclusive reports to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research from Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., only 27 commercial failures were reported during the month. As a matter of fact, there is only one other month—November, 1928, when only 24 failures were reported—since May, 1920, when fewer failures were reported than in the month just past.

The 27 failures reported had total liabilities of $456,000, a substantial decline as compared with the total liabilities of $1,044,000 reported by the 56 failures in May, and $1,550,000 reported by the 59 bankruptcies in June a year ago. Average liabilities per failure declined to $16,888 as against $18,640 in May and $26,271 in June last year. No failures with liabilities of $100,000 or more were reported.

On the basis of the book value of assets reported by the failing concerns, there was available for creditors an average of 41.4 cents on the dollar.

Four of the failures were groceries and meat markets, three each were women's wear shops, dry goods and apparel stores, and garages.

HEARING ON OIL FIELDS IS CALLED JULY 31

AUSTIN, July 11.—A hearing on all oil and gas field in Texas was called for July 27 by the Texas Railroad commission.

Testimony on the physical condition of all fields will be heard at Austin. Production regulation will be renewed or revised on the basis of testimony then submitted.

On July 31 the commission will hold a separate hearing to determine the amount of oil needed in storage and to prohibit storage from exceeding that figure.

Husband Of Slain Woman To Be Witness

DALLAS, July 11.—State attorneys today announced they would summon H. K. Buchanan, Oklahoma City film exchange official, to testify during the murder trial of R. T. Bennett, negro, accused of the murder of the Oklahoma woman's wife.

He was one of six persons named as witnesses today when the second day of the trial began. One juror remained to be selected before evidence taking started.

Bennett, a former convict, confessed to the slaying of Mrs. Leona Buchanan, after officers had arrested him in connection with the slaying of a police officer here less than two weeks ago.

His plea of not guilty yesterday surprised the state and resulted in the hasty summoning of witnesses.

CONFERENCE TO RECESS SOON UNTIL AUGUST

LONDON, July 11.—Plans for recess of the deadlocked world economic conference, were advanced further today when the monetary drafting commission reached a unanimous compromise agreement to sidetrack controversial problems.

It was understood the committee agreed to place comparatively non-controversial subjects not affected by fluctuation of currencies as the first topic of discussion.

The plan was that when these subjects were exhausted in about two weeks the conference would recess during August at least. Full resumption would be attempted when currency stabilization became possible.

FARM FOLK PLAN TRIP TO SHORT COURSE

Eastland county farm folk and others interested in agricultural pursuits in the county are making plans for the annual trip to the A. & M. short course at College Station July 24 to 30, inclusive.

The trip this year is to be made by bus and the entire cost, including transportation, room and meals, is to not exceed $8 per person. The bus will leave Eastland at about 7 a. m. on July 23 and will return on Saturday of the same week. It will accommodate 30. At least 10 farmers in addition to a number of farm boys, farm girls and farm women, are expected to make the trip, according to County Agent Patterson.

There will be more of doing and less of listening at the A. & M. College short course for farm and ranch folks the week of July 24 than at any of the previous "farmers' short courses held on the A. & M. campus. There will be more action and less sitting still, more demonstrations and fewer lectures, more initiation into the tricks of many rural trades and not so much of theory, however practical that theory has been in the past. It will be, in short, an extension short course.

That describes in brief what visitors may expect when they gather at A. & M. late in July.

Before plunging into those details a person should get in mind the general scheme. Chapel every morning from about 8 to 9 will pack into one hour the general inspirational and informational lectures that have previously occupied almost the entire forenoon. From 9:30 to 12 each morning are scheduled subject matter talks and discussions in a wide variety of rural fields, including home making, dairying, poultry raising, livestock production, farm crops, farm engineering and fruit and truck raising. These correspond to the afternoon programs of previous years, and are designed to aid visitors grasp the fundamentals of production and management, and to prepare them for the "doing" work of the afternoons. After lunch, and lasting until nearly supper time, visitors will engage in making things or in doing things of a practical nature such as home dairy manufacture, meat cutting and curing, tanning hides, grading cotton, making syrup, making grape juice picking and boning chickens, learning trench silo construction, controlling pests, making rugs, dyeing lamb skins, standardization of food products, grading fruit and truck products, installing garden sub-irrigation system—to mention only part.

In addition to this, more intensive work is offered those who wish to go into more detail in sewing. (Continued on page 4)

City Has New Way To Keep Out Tramps

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—Klamath Falls was shown a new way to get rid of its boho visitors—one of the "wobblers" himself discovered the effective method.

Attempting to make a flying trip to the railroad track from the hobo jungles, the man fell in a sticky morass of oil and mud. For nearly two hours he struggled frantically to keep his head above the surface of the quagmire.

Help finally came in a rowboat and pulled him out. He then spent several hours scrubbing his odorous clothes so they could be worn again. As soon as he was finished, he donned them and left town, leaving railroad men to disinfect their befouled shower room.

Accessory Men, Gasoline Dealers To Meet Tonight

All accessory dealers, gasoline and oil dealers parts men, garage men and mechanics and all others who are connected in any way with the automobile industry are urged to attend a meeting to be held tonight at the American Legion hall, at which time the National Industrial Recovery Act, as it pertains to this group will be discussed.

As other industries are doing, a code of ethics and fair competition is to be worked out at the meeting and phases of the work under the recovery act recommended. The findings of this meeting will be a basis on which the industry will work during the next few months in an effort to correct many faulty business practices and to eliminate unfair competition.

Carbon Club to Hold Quilt Show

The Carbon Home Demonstration club will hold a quilt show in the Carbon clubhouse Saturday, July 15. The purpose of the show is to raise funds with which to help pay the expenses of a representative of the club to the farmers short course at College Station July 24 to 30.

A small admission will be charged and cakes, pies, etc., will be sold.

Unfilled Orders at Pine Mills Now Highest of Year

AUSTIN.—Unfilled orders at southern pine mills, according to reports to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research from the Southern Pine association, rose to the highest point for the year so far, to an average per unit of 327,867 feet. This figure is almost twice that reported at the close of June a year ago, 427,176 feet.

Average weekly production per unit was 326,234 feet, the highest since May, 1931.

But the most encouraging figure of all in the lumber situation is the continued and substantial increase in shipments. During June, average weekly shipments per unit amounted to 310,593 feet, or 31 per cent more than the production. This means that old stocks are being drawn on. The continued increase in unfilled orders means that this demand will continue for some time yet. Last year in June, average weekly shipments per unit were only 182,716 feet.

Super-Cabinet To Battle Depression

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Creation of a temporary super-cabinet to co-ordinate the administration battle against depression was ordered today by President Roosevelt who summoned his enlarged council to meet late today.

The administration termed the new organization a "temporary council." It will include the President, all members of the cabinet and heads of emergency organizations, authorized to deal with depression problems.

Home Talent Play To Be Given By Flatwood Club

The Flatwoods Home Demonstration club will give a home talent play at the schoolhouse Friday night at 8:15 for which a small admission charge will be made. The purpose of the play is to help raise funds with which to pay the expenses of a representative of the club to the farmers' short course at College Station, July 24 to 30.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

Roy Spicer was taken into custody in Eastland Tuesday morning by Deputy Sheriff Steele Hill and is being held by the sheriff's department for the officers at Cross Plains. Spicer is charged with having stolen four automobile casings belonging to Ed Henderson of Cross Plains.

He offered two casings for sale at a filling station here, officers say, and when questioned about them said he took them off of his trailer, but told Deputy Sheriff Hill that he found them.

Miss Ramey Busy On Short Course Plans, July 23-30

Miss Ruth Ramey, Eastland county home demonstration agent, is in charge of the work of getting the representatives from Eastland county off to the farmers agricultural short course at College Station for the week of July 24 to 30.

Miss Ramey is anxious to have each boys and girls club, each woman's club and as many individuals as are interested make the trip.

The entire cost of the trip, including transportation, meals and room is not to exceed $8 per person and a large delegation is hoped for from Eastland county.

The Eastland Rotary club, at its meeting Monday pledged funds for the expenses of one Eastland county farmer on the trip. The Lions club was to take the matter up at their meeting today to determine if they would also pay the expenses of a farmer on the trip.

The Eastland county federation of women's clubs, Miss Ramey announced, is paying the expenses of one person on the trip.

A number of clubs throughout the county are raising funds in various ways to help pay the expenses of representatives for the trip.

Wheat Prices Go Up On Exchanges

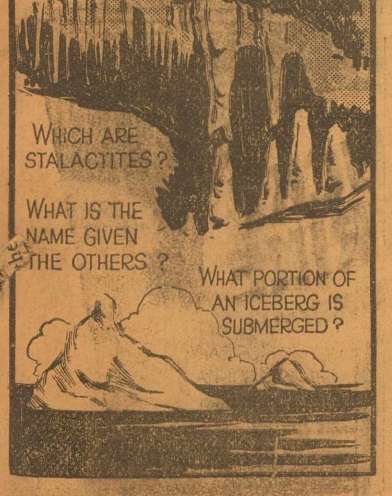

CHICAGO, July 11.—A 10-cent per bushel leap in the price of rye futures shot the grain market forward in tremendous trading today and at the close all cereals were near their peaks with number one hard wheat closing at $1.07 a bushel.

KANSAS CITY, July 11.—All four positions of future wheat prices on the local board of trade smashed through the $1.00 mark for the first time in several years.

Frenzied buying, brought on by the government bullish crop estimates, flooded the wheat pit with accumulated orders and prices closed 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 cents higher.

FORT WORTH, July 11.—Wheat prices shot up 3 1/2 cents a bushel on the Fort Worth market today. No. 1 cash hard wheat closing at $1.14 a bushel.

THREE GUESSES

LIKES AUSTIN

Deputy Sheriff E. L. Woods returned to Eastland from Austin Monday where he had gone to visit his daughter, Miss Jo, who has employment in the Department of Education there. He reported that his daughter liked her work and was doing well with it.

ON VACATION

Deputy Sheriff D. J. Jobe, accompanied by his wife, left Eastland Tuesday morning for Chama, N. M., where he will spend his vacation in hunting and fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Jobe will be away for about two weeks.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE GREATEST VICTORY: He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his own spirit than he that taketh a city.
 —Proverbs 16: 32.

RECORD PRICE FOR WOOL IN CONCHO RIVER SECTION

There is prosperity in the Concho River section where wool is the chief staple and mohair has a commanding place. According to a San Angelo news story the West Texas range wool market disclosed six weeks of strenuous activity during which a new high of 28½ cents a pound was set for 12 month clip and a record price of 26 cents a pound for eight month wool has also been set. Most of the free wool has been purchased at prices which ranged from 24½ to the top of 28½ cents with the average well above 25 cents, and about 450,000 pounds of mohair is a recent offering at fancy prices.

Speaker Henry T. Rainey is reminded that rainbows continue to appear in Lone Star skies. He is reminded that the Texas world is scoring a comeback. Speaking of mohair, Uvalde reports the sale of 180,000 pounds of mixed wool and 175,000 pounds of mohair, the largest remaining clips of these commodities in the county seat of the home section of the vice-president of the United States. Boston buyers were the principal bidders and the mohair and the wool of Texas will go to the storehouses of the city made famous by brown bread and beans. Someday there will be mohair mills in Texas; someday there will be woolen mills in Texas; someday there will be tanneries and shoe manufacturing plants in Texas. Hasten the day.

POPULATION HITS SIX MILLION MARK

Grand Old Texas is not standing still. There is no race suicide under the Lone Star flag.

A year ago the federal census bureau estimated Texas had 5,964,000 persons residing within its borders, while July 1, 1931, the estimated figure was 5,853,000. Now Texas has passed the six million mark, according to estimates computed to July 1 by the United States census bureau. On the morning of July 1, Texas had a total population of 6,023,000.

All of which is a reminder that when Washington announced the appointment of James Shaw to be the state director of the home owners' financial relief department of government, he received 500 letters of congratulations as well as applications for jobs the first day after the news was broadcast and before his departure for Washington on the last day of June more than 3,000 letters or telegrams had rolled in—all the writers clamoring for an opening at Uncle Sam's feed trough.

Are Texas democrats hungry for official pie? Ask Shaw. He is the goat.

FARLEY SIGNS NEW POSTAL ORDER

Postmaster General James A. Farley has signed an order restoring the 2 cent local rate on first class postage on July 1. Farley hopes the volume of business will be increased to a point where work will be provided for thousands of postal employes who otherwise might be furloughed without pay. Rate on letters mailed to outside cities or villages remains at 3 cents and the rate for cards remains at 1 cent. A frank confession that a general postage raise was a rank failure and resulted in decreased receipts for the post office department. That will happen to the petroleum industry someday and all on account of taxing the gasoline buyer a higher levy "than the traffic will bear."

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

PAUL F. JAEGER, editor of the Brainerd (Minn.) Dispatch, says:

THAT never in the history of merchandising cooperation and inter-dependence of consumer, seller and the medium by which these two do business—the newspaper—has been as apparent as at present. Economic factors have brought better planning of advertising campaigns, better selection of merchandise by the consumer and better service by the newspaper; all of which has resulted in mutual benefit and inter-dependence of this civilization.

The newspaper holds the key to this renaissance of merchandising. It offers a dual service; the consumer benefits by the merchant's selection of the newspaper as a medium through which he can acquaint his patrons of his wares. Through this united cooperation, a new merchandising system is developing. It has brought the newspaper more strongly to the fore than ever. In fact, the newspaper has become the buying "bible" eliminating the old and perennial custom of bargaining and bartering by professional bargain drivers.

And, likewise, the newspaper has become the accepted guarantee of quality and service in its presentation of the patrons' needs and the merchants' offerings.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS—IN SIX INSTALLMENTS

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY
 NEA Service Writer

Few home-makers realize that they use a comparatively small number of the food materials which are available to them. They also often fail to make use of the various cooking methods that are easily accomplished in the home. If food materials are limited it is even more important to study the possibilities of cooking the same foods in order to develop different flavors.

Deep-fat frying and broiling are two methods most slighted in the average home. Yet both these methods are simple and develop food flavors that are distinctive and popular.

Fry in Deep Fat
 The cook who does not use deep-fat frying misses much. Fritters, croquettes, French fried vegetables and such economical dishes as fish cutlets are appetizing for summer menus and are possible only with deep-fat frying. This method of cookery is a short-process, too.

Another important point to keep in mind as a means toward avoiding monotony in menus is the wise use of "favorite" dishes and out-of-the-ordinary dishes. Any meal can be made exceptionally pleasant if a "specialty" or "favorite" dish is included.

Don't hesitate to try new recipes and new food materials. All families are obliging and interested in something new. If the novelty doesn't prove popular you don't have to repeat it.

Variety Is Refreshing
 Use numerous food combinations and vary the shape of certain dishes. For example, a jellied vegetable salad served in a ring mold with the center filled with fresh tomatoes cut in quarters and garnished with mayonnaise seems quite different from the same jelly in individual molds on a slice of tomato.

Because menus serve either as patterns or to give ideas which can adapt to meals better suited to individual needs the accompanying plan is given in the hope that it will prove helpful to you. Contrast in cooking methods is stressed in the dinner menu.

Competition Code To Be Presented at Washington Meet

WASHINGTON.—Presentation of the final draft of a code of fair competition for general contractors, in conformity with the requirements of the National Recovery act is to be made to the entire construction industry at a special open meeting called for July 10, at the Willard hotel, in Washington, by the recently set up National industrial control committee for general contractors headed by A. C. Tozzer, of New York, president of the Associated member and non-member.

Basis principles of the code were approved at an open meeting of general contractors from all sections of the country, held under the sponsorship of the Associated General Contractors on June 26 and 27 at Chicago, at which the control committee was authorized to perfect the proposed code for presentation. It is expected that this will be accomplished at a meeting of the committee to be held July 7 at Washington.

Tozzer, in announcing the presentation meeting, urged that all subcontractors, material men and others having business relations with general contractors provide for representation at the gathering, so that they may be fully advised of the contents of the code before it is submitted to National Recovery Administration for approval.

"To a large extent," Tozzer said, "the general contractors' code, when approved by the president, will govern the $3,300,000,000 construction expenditures contemplated by the Recovery Act, as well as the billions of dollars in private construction which can be anticipated during the next two years. The entire construction industry, therefore, should be fully advised as to what we intend to submit to the administration," he said.

Tozzer announced that representatives from all of the constituent member organizations of the Construction League of the United States, composed of national associations of architects, engineers, sub-contractors, material producers and others are expected to be in attendance.

Reach for a Lucky

—for always Luckies Please!

With me... my cigarette is a personal, intimate thing

I suppose, men would call my reason for liking Luckies just a feminine whim. Maybe it is, but it's a whim that I love to indulge... for I am always conscious of the intimate relationship between my cigarette and my lips. And if there's anything I'm sensitive about, it's that feeling of feminine daintiness. Certainly, Luckies Please! I can well understand why men praise Luckies' fine tobacco character and mellow-mildness—but as for me—I value particularly the assurance of purity which "Toasting" brings—for, with me... my cigarette is a personal, intimate thing.

GUARDS WIN FROM LIONS BY 41 TO 6

The National Guards made a merry-go-round of the ball game with the Lions club Monday afternoon, winning by a score of 41 to 6.

Each inning at bat was a big inning for the Guards, who made from two to 12 scores each inning, making three in the first, 12 in the second, seven each in the third and fourth, two in the fifth and 10 in the sixth.

In the meantime the Lions were making three in the first to tie the score, two in the third and their last run in the seventh.

The Guards made 40 hits out of 63 times at bat for a percentage for the game of .635, while the Lions were making 10 hits in 30 times at bat for a team average of .333.

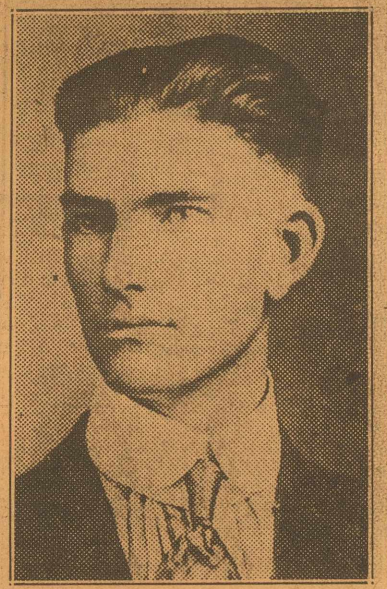

The box score:

B. E. GARNER

Local all-over-the-rot man for the Lions, in yesterday's game between the Lions and guards. Time had to be called in the fifth inning to release Garner, who became fastened under a nearby house while searching for a ball hit by Angus of the Guards.

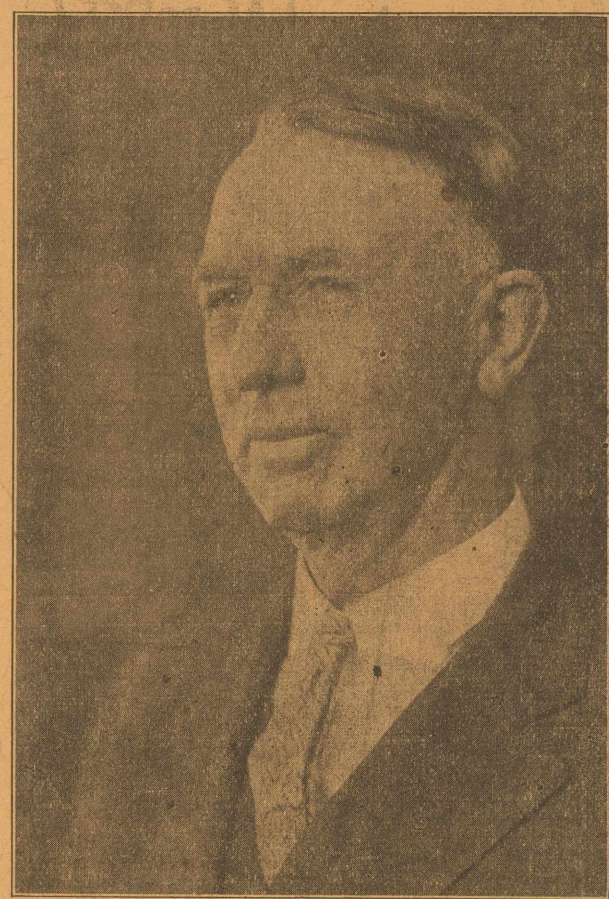

EDWIN GEORGE JR.

Who was painfully hurt some few days back in a game between the Rotarians and Lions, is able to be on the sidelines again.

COWBOY HARWELL

First baseman for the Rotarians, who has developed into a fast-stepping slugger, and says he is out to get two home runs Wednesday when the Times and Rotarians cross bats.

BOB HOLLOWAY

In training for the position of umpire. The boys say he would make a good one, but he forgets which is first and third base.

ROY GILBREATH

Better known as "Big Boy." All that kept Roy out of the big leagues were the managers. We think he played somewhere in right field.

AL LARSON

Hard-working catcher for the Lions. Al is a much better skater than catcher, according to some of the local gossip. One thing about him, he never gets mad.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Harry Mathe, 19-year-old New Orleans artist, plans to "draw" his way around the world soon. Mathe, who has gained considerable reputation in art circles here, plans to finance his tour with money earned by making rapid sketches of persons he meets on his tour.

Portrait Painter Invented Bicycle

By United Press
 PHILADELPHIA.—Charles Wilson Peale, famous Revolutionary portrait painter, invented the bicycle.

According to letters written to his son, which are now in possession of James Starr, the painter developed the bicycle as an aid in covering distances on his estate, Belfield. Starr now lives in the old colonial mansion in the Germantown section of Philadelphia. In the letter, yellowed with age, Peale had drawn sketches of the bicycle to his son, John.

Employment Agency Gets Freaks Jobs

Church Society Day Well Observed
The Women's Bible class of the Church of Christ is experiencing a splendid attendance at their home meetings, which were inaugurated about four weeks ago, and will obtain during the hot weather.

Mrs. W. E. Kellett was hostess to the class, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.
The opening service was led by Mrs. J. R. Boggs and concluded with the hymn "Near the Cross."

Mrs. W. W. Brewer opened the prayer chain, and the lesson, from Timothy, and Titus, was ably taught by Mrs. Loretta Herring.

It was announced that the lesson for next Monday afternoon will be on Philemon.
The interesting meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Guy Sherrill.

At this time a big box of cookies was packed to be sent to Tipton orphan's home, a gift that is duplicated by the class about once a month.

Members present, Mrs. J. B. Downtain, Harry Wood, John Young, Percy Harris, Loretta Herring, E. R. Chandler, J. R. Boggs, John Sue, M. C. Miller, W. T. W. Brewer, R. L. Lowe, W. T. Self, H. E. Everett, Guy Sherrill, Gerald Wingate, Elmer Hurley, J. R. Crossley, R. B. Reagan, W. H. Crowell, Lily Stepp, C. H. Davis, W. E. Kellett, B. E. Roberson, N. K. Prately, and Miss Marilyn Griffin.

Junior B. Y. P. U.
The Junior B. Y. P. U. held an interesting meeting at 7 o'clock Sunday night in the Baptist church with Charley Paul Williams presiding, and a song service held opening with the hymn, "The Nailed-Scarred Hands."

Billie Catherine McMillan, captain of Group 1, assumed charge.
The history of the "Treasures in the Southern Mountains" was given in its separate parts by the group captain, and Georgia Mae Bishop, Lillian Bishop, Travis Cook, Mary Martha Fuller, Tom Lovelace Jr., and Mary Shepherd.

There was a splendid attendance of members. Adjourned to next Sunday night at 7 p. m., in Baptist church.

W. M. S. Methodist Church
The Women's Missionary society of the Methodist church continues to register a big attendance at their meetings, in spite of the hot weather, and that of Monday afternoon was exceptionally good.

The society has a special schedule of meetings during the hot months, holding sessions on second and last Monday of each month, until further notice.

The next meeting for this month will be held in the homes of members when the circle sessions, three in number, will meet.

Monday afternoon the meeting was opened by Mrs. Ed Graham, connectional treasurer. A song service, and prayer by Mrs. Fred Davenport, prefaced the minutes, presented by Mrs. M. H. Kelly, secretary, and approved.

Mrs. M. B. Griffin, superintendent of the department of Christian social relations, gave a splendid talk on prohibition, and the attitude of the world toward same.

Negro animals were beautifully sung by four little colored girls, who gave "Jesus Got His Arms 'Round Me" and "Good News," in heartfelt and harmonious way.

A splendid devotional was led by Mrs. C. C. Robey.
In theme, "Blessed Is the Nation Whose God Is the Lord," was based on passages quoted from Psalms, and presented an educational view of prohibition and patriotism.

The hymn, "America," closed this period of the meeting, and prayer by Mrs. T. M. Johnson dismissed the session.

Announcement was made that the J. J. Mickle circle will meet the last Monday evening in this month, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Jones. Husbands of members are invited, and a covered dish picnic supper will be the feature.

Those present, Mrs. Ed Graham, Sam G. Thompson, C. C. Robey, L. A. Cook, P. W. Drago, J. J. Mickle, T. M. Johnson, Frank A. Jones, Milton Newman, Fred Davenport, M. B. Griffin, Guy Dunnam, P. L. Crossley, C. G. Stubblefield, Ed Willman, W. W. Kelly, W. C. Marlow, Harris, M. H. Kelly and Frank Crowell.

Junior Missionary Auxiliary
The Junior Missionary Auxiliary of the Baptist church opened their session Saturday morning with a stirring song service, including "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," "Jesus Loves the Little Children of the World," "Old-Time Religion," and "In That Sweet Bye and Bye."

The topic, "Exploring Africa," opened with the Great Commission, and the first African convert, Acts 8:26-39.
"White Livingstone Found" was told by Marzelle Wright and What Stanley Found, by Virginia Garrett.

What We Find, was told in a "golden chain of memory," a pretty act by eight children.
Exploring Africa for Jesus was told, followed by a reading, "Send Out the Light." Subject, "God Keep My Brothers Everywhere," was presented by a group of members.

Those present, Virginia Garrett, Ora Swindell, Audrey Shepherd, Marzelle Wright, Lillian Bishop, Vern Ella Allison, Mary Martha Fuller, Georgie Mae Bishop, A. W. Wright, Roland McFarland, Claud Williams, Robert McFarland, Charley Paul Williams, John Allison.

Sunbeams—Tiny Shepherd, Frances Laverne Darby, Franklin Swindell, James Wright, Peggy Nell Hood, Jennie McFarland, Anna Jeanne Darby, Myrtle Bishop, Joan McFarland, Doyle Bishop, Earl Day Box, James Hassen, Margie Box, Frances Hassen, Ida B. Hassen, Edith Allison, Betty Allison, Grady Ned Allison, Nelson Turner Allison, and Mrs. J. P. Truly, director of the group.

Epworth League
Interesting Meeting
The Junior Epworth League of the Methodist church held an inspirational meeting in the lower assemblyroom, Sunday night.

The program was presided over by Miss Florence Perkins, president of the league. Hymn, "In the Garden," prefaced the brief business session.

The chair appointed Miss Joan Johnson as reporter and Fred Davenport as assistant, to notify the reporters on the local papers, of meetings and programs.

A summary of the Epworth League meeting held in Ranger was presented.

The devotional, based on the theme, "What Is a Missionary," was led by Miss Margaret Frye, and the general characteristics of the work was given by Miss Betty Perkins.

The work in general was explained by Miss Joe Earl Uitz.
The meeting closed with the League benediction in unison.

About 35 members were in attendance.

Pythian Sisters
Name Committees
The Pythian Sisters Temple, held an important meeting Monday night conducted by their Most Excellent Chief, Mrs. Cora Frye. Reports on the sick members was made, showing that Mrs. Mike Andrus had been taken to the hospital for an operation.

The presiding officer appointed the following standing committees to be in effect for three months: Visiting: Mrs. T. M. Johnson, Mrs. Blanche Nicols, and Mrs. Artie Liles.

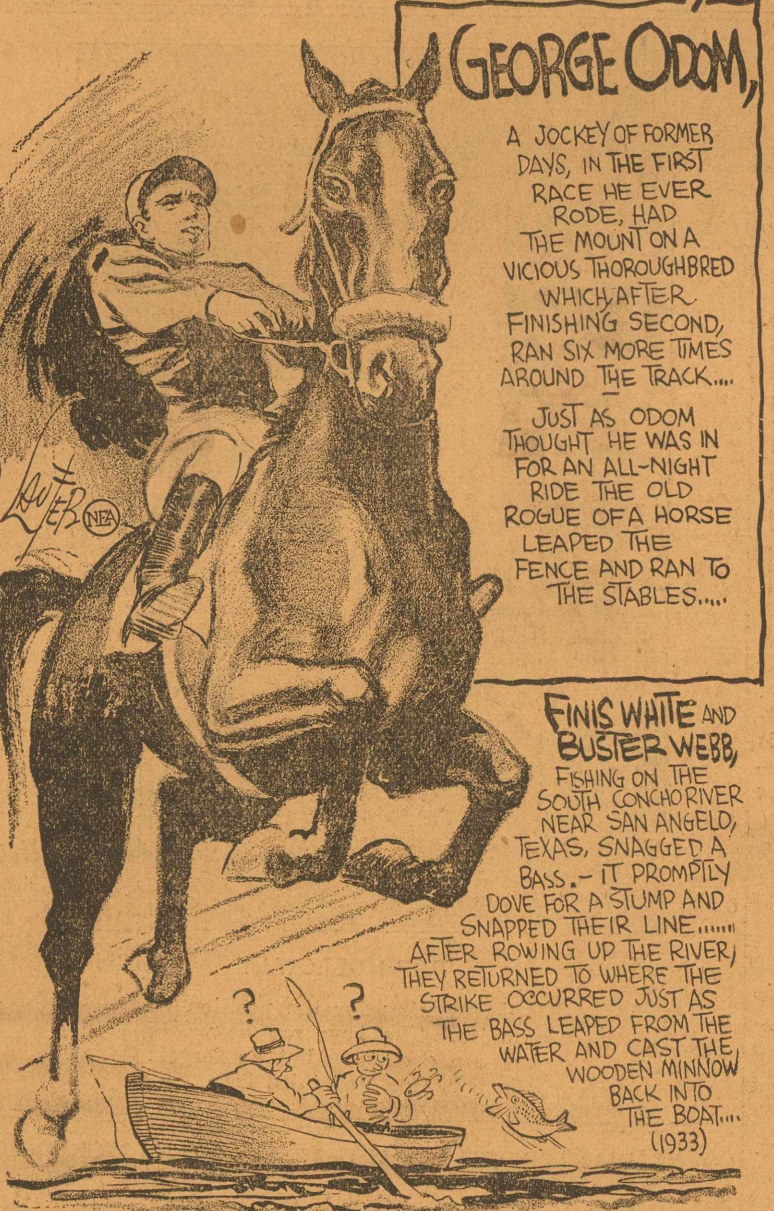

Refreshment: Mrs. Malaquet Taylor and Mrs. Milton Newman and James Watson.

Ways and Means: Mrs. O. B. Darby and Mrs. Richard Jones. Entertainment: Mrs. A. W. Hennessee and Mrs. J. A. Ross and Blanche Nicols.

Senate Leaders Balked in Deadlock

The deadlock between President Roosevelt and the Veterans' bloc of the Senate was the cause of these three administration leaders' visit to the White House. Shown after conferring with the President are, left to right, Senator James F. Byrnes, chairman of the Senate conference committee on the disputed proposal for increased veterans' payments; Senator Joseph T. Robinson, majority leader, and Vice-President John N. Garner.

Miracles Performed by Jesus?

In order to re-establish the usual order of meeting, the auxiliary will be entertained next Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Bond.

Mrs. James Horton, led a most interesting Bible study, on the history of the development of the Presbyterian church, giving both the temporal and spiritual background.

Sub-topics were discussed by Mrs. Arnold, in "Life of John Calvin"; Mrs. Ray Lerner in "Life of John Knox"; and Mrs. Hubert Jones in "Commands of Jesus."

Dainty refreshments of iced tea and cake, with daisies as plate souvenirs, were served by the hostess to Mrs. M. C. Hayes, Robert Pearson, Vern Hart, J. Whatley, Ray Lerner, Jack Meredith, Hubert Jones, James Horton, Hickman Hankins, J. Leroy Arnold, W. H. McDonald, and Miss Mabel Hart.

Informal Supper
Mrs. and Mrs. James Horton had as their guests for informal Sunday evening supper Judge and Mrs. J. E. Hickman and Mrs. W. P. Leslie.

The round table, centered with marigolds, had covers appointed for the guests and the members of the family, six in all, to whom a two-course menu was served.

W. M. S. Baptist Church
The Women's Missionary society of the Baptist church held an interesting meeting Monday afternoon, opened by Mrs. S. C. Walker, president, and with prayer by Mrs. J. F. McWilliams, prefacing the hymn, "Jesus Calls Us O'er the Tumult."

A splendid Bible lesson from the 19th chapter of St. Luke,

"Christ Teaching in the Temple," was presented by Mrs. O. B. Darby.
Prayer was offered by Mrs. L. J. Lambert, and the meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Walker.

Announcement was made that there will be mission study under the direction of Mrs. Marvin Hood at the session next Monday afternoon.

Those present, Mrs. S. C. Walker, W. D. R. Owen, Hannah Lindsey, O. A. Cook, Eugene Tucker, John Fulcher, V. E. Vessells, L. J. McWilliams, Rogers, L. J. Lambert, Carl Springer, Jess Seibert, Frank Lovett, O. B. Darby, Miss Sallie Morris, and sister, Mrs. Lou Rotan of Dallas.

Returned From Delightful Visit
Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Poe returned home Sunday night from a week's visit on the plantation of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Clark, near Fulton, Ark., and over which they are most enthusiastic.

The great grounds rolling to the brink of the lake, the enormous trees that arms cannot encircle, and the placid life and uneventful days of ease and comfort, were all in contrast to the hurry and push of Texas.

Countless hordes of negroes are employed by their friends on the plantation and at night they gather about their cabins, and fill the moonlit air with their negro melodies.

The stay will long be remembered by the visitors, as one of the most very pleasant experiences in life.

The average doctor knows 25,000 words, says a lexicographer. Two that we wish ours could forget are "Please remit."

Foul? Thereby Hangs a Tail!

Jo-Jo, boxing champ of the animal kingdom, was getting along in leaps and bounds in his bout at Atlantic City, N. J., with Primo Carnera, also a champ, when suddenly he braced himself on his tail and let the Man Mountain have two stiff legs to the midriff. Primo, watching his opponent's footwork, just knew there was a kick coming.

HOOKS and SLIDES BY BILL BRAUCHER

Here's a Comer
THE six-boom-bahs of midwest tussler patriots are all for Percy Perroni. They say you might just as well try to stop the flow of Niagara Falls standing on the banks and yelling, "Halt!" as attempt to keep the Italian youngster from Canton, O., off the top of the heavyweight pugilistic heap.

This Perroni kid whipped the old spoiler, rubbery-blubbery Johnny Risko, in Cleveland the other night. He out-boxed, out-smarted and out-slugged the veteran Risko. The bout was as one-sided as a painting. Today midwest promoters are showering Maxie Baer with juicy offers for a skirmish with the newest heavyweight sensation.

Where Others Failed
WHEN Perroni won decisively from Risko, he did something Mickey Walker, King Levinsky and Tuffy Griffiths failed to do within the last dozen months. He made Johnny back away. He made Max Baer couldn't do it back in 1931. Neither could Stanley Peredo, Tommy Loughran and others whose names are famous in books of doings in Fistiana.

Maxie Schmeling won on a technical knockout from the Risko two years ago. No other heavyweight, until along came the Perroni kid, could more than hold his own, if that well, with the old spoiler.

It's a great record the Italian ring fledgling boasts. The Risko victory was his 20th in a row, and Adolph Heuser, Tom Heeney, Larry Johnson, Eddie Simms, old Michael McGuire and Joe Sekyra are listed among Perroni victims in the 20-victory march. The record book shows Perroni lost only twice, to Emmett Rocco in 1930 and to George Courtney in 1931, and both were hair-line verdicts.

Better Watch Him
WHILE Perroni isn't a murderous puncher, his leather-encased mauls pack plenty of dynamite, as a one-round knockout of the veteran negro fighter, Larry Johnson, proves. He's a brilliant boxer, much smarter than the average heavyweight, and a gamesteer.

Yessiree, keep your eye on young Mr. Patsy Perroni. He's going somewhere in the nose-dipping sport, and going in a hurry.

and the boys will have a special boys' session followed by talks and demonstrations at Guion Hall by specialists. Afternoons for the boys will be devoted to tours of inspection of buildings and crops and livestock, and one afternoon to the soldering of cans and buckets, tool care and sharpening, and sawing and nailing lumber.

Contests for club boys, and in the case of poultry for club girls also, will all be held on Thursday. Only team members are eligible, and one boy is eligible for only one contest. Results of all contests will be made known Friday night in the stadium.

The Agricultural Writers' Conference will be held each morning from 9:30 to 12, and the usual meetings of beekeepers and county school superintendents are scheduled.

Rotarians Hear Talk By Anderson

EASTLAND, Texas, July 11.—The Rotary club swung into their regular meetings with the new president, F. V. Williams, in the chair.

The program was presented by Ben Hamner and Dr. W. E. Chaney, who introduced Rotarian H. C. Anderson, former district governor, who gave an account of his trip to and from Boston, where he attended the Rotary International meeting.

Quoted his stop in Chicago, the fourteen states visited, and appearance of towns enroute. President Williams announced his standing committees: Attendance: F. D. Roberson. Membership: Earl Bender and Sam Gamble. Program: Leslie Gray. Fellowship: J. E. Lewis and Carl Angstadt. Public Information: B. M. Collier.

Lonely German Seeks U. S. Wife

WASHINGTON.—Karl Fritz has come to the national capital looking for a "nice honest-to-goodness woman who has led a clean life." He wants to marry her.

Fritz is anxious to try matrimony although he is 41. He was educated in a monastery in Leipzig, Germany, has worked as a male nurse and believes that he has a good business head although now unemployed.

The only reason he came to Washington, he said, was because he believed that here he could find a wife, inasmuch as the government departments overflow with women employes, many spinsters. He figures that after he gets married he will then honeymoon here, visiting the Washington monument and such historic structures.

Karl says there is nothing lazy about himself and all he wants is a home. Age matters little in his requirements for a wife, but he doesn't "want a divorcee, or a widow."

"She must be of high moral character, conservative and want a home," Fritz said.

Note: Fritz is quiet, bashful and easy to get along with, has brown hair, blue eyes, and is of medium height, he informs applicants.

By MAJOR PAUL WAKEFIELD
Written for the United Press
MINERAL WELLS.—Staff and communication officers of the 56th Cavalry Brigade commanded by Brig. General Jacob F. Wolters, in annual encampment here spent Saturday in the thick brush of the Brazos River country near Camp Wolters getting familiar with the terrain over which the brigade will execute what regular army men declare to be "one of the most difficult problems a brigade of cavalry could be assigned to."

Over a terrain, broken with ravines and tickly covered by underbrush, the "Blue Army" will meet their enemy, the "Red Army" in the major problem during the camp maneuvers. The country over which the forces will fight was picked by the brigade commander particularly for the difficulties which it offers in the problem.

Although orders are secret and only General Wolters knows the zero hour for his Blue forces to "hop off," it is unofficially known that hopes of a contact with the enemy will be possible shortly after daylight on the morning of July 16. In the broken ravine country troopers will be forced to dismount and infiltrate in Indian fashion, according to military observers who are here to witness the development of the problem. Keeping contact, ammunition and supply problems and guarding against being captured or shot by the enemy will be among other difficulties faced by officers and men as they pick their way thru a country which early Texas pioneers nosed their long buffalo rifles in the last of the wars with the Red Men in Texas.

The training problem of the brigade is the work of General Wolters and his staff accomplished in their weekly officer and troop school under the direction of regular army instructors. Following the completion of the problem several weeks ago, General Wolters submitted it in pamphlet form to staff and line officers of high rank of the regular army for criticism. According to General Wolters the difficulties and the extraordinary fine training which the problem offers won favor with all of those who received it. Interest in seeing the problem worked out in actual field maneuvers will bring a number of army officer observers to Camp Wolters.

Saturday the 112th Cavalry regiment, under the command of Col. L. E. McGee and the 124th regiment, under Col. Lewis S. Davidson, detrained at Camp Wolters. Lieut. Col. Innis P. Swift, senior instructor for the brigade who was on the ground with General Wolters and members of his staff to see the units when they arrived expressed satisfaction with the condition of both the men and their mounts.

Steam-Engine Plane To Receive Test

AKRON, O.—Way has been cleared for test flights of Harold S. Johnson's airplane propelled by a steam engine. The department of commerce recently gave Johnson permission to make experimental tests.

The plane, believed to be the first to be propelled by steam, is under construction. It was inspected by department of commerce officials, who gave their official sanction to the motor flight tests.

The motor uses crude oil to generate steam.

Elks To Hold A Convention In Milwaukee July 16

By United Press
MILWAUKEE, July 11.—Complete approval of the program of entertainment and business for the 69th annual reunion of Elksdom here July 16 to 22 was given today by Grand Exalted Ruler Floyd E. Thompson of Chicago.
Thompson told Julius P. Heil, chairman of the Milwaukee convention board, stating that "the program is the most complete and comprehensive ever prepared for a national Elks reunion."
For the first time in history, the grand lodge sessions will be opened with public ceremonies which will permit other than delegated representatives of the 423 Elks lodges to attend. It is hoped that President Roosevelt, who is an Elk, will be present in Milwaukee to open the convention.
On the same opening program Grand Exalted Ruler Thompson will speak, as will Postmaster General James A. Farley, Governor Albert G. Schmedeman of Wisconsin, Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee, and Chauncey Yockey, exalted ruler of Milwaukee lodge.
The convention officially opens July 16. Past grand exalted rulers will occupy various Milwaukee pulpits.
On Monday the Elks national 54-hole golf tournament will begin.
On Tuesday marksmen will inaugurate the Elks ninth annual trap-shoot, and on that day also the championship national ritualistic team of Elksdom will be picked.
There also is to be a national band contest to decide which band outfit of all the Elks lodges in America merits the title of champion.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

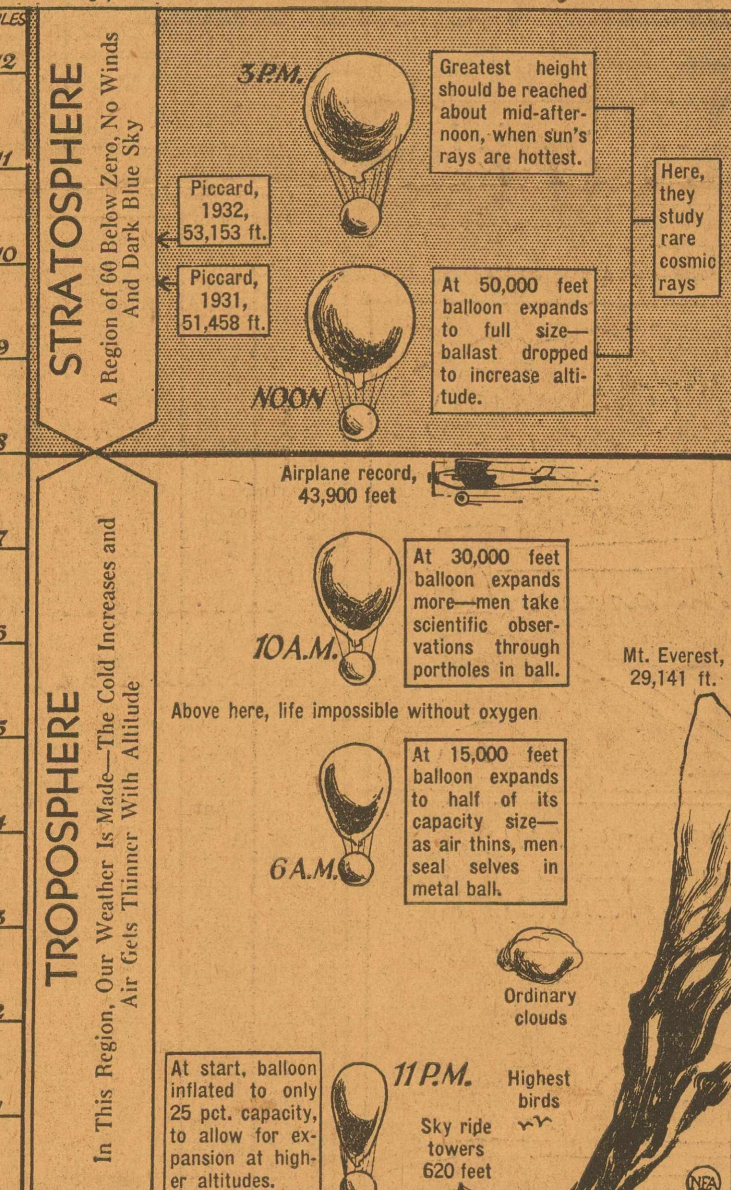

Just Before Balbo Gave "Go" Signal

The curtain was ready to rise on the greatest air show in Italian aviation history when General Italo Balbo, above, center, made a final inspection at Orbetello before leading his seaplane armada across the Atlantic to Chicago. In the closeup below you see him in the cockpit of his plane.

How Stratosphere Is Explored

ABOVE THE STRATOSPHERE, which extends to about 20 miles up, is the great void, never penetrated except by unmanned weather balloons carrying instruments to about 22-23 miles.
As altitude increases, temperature again goes up and at 25 miles it approximates that of ground level, while at 35 miles it is believed to reach 212 degrees, the boiling point of water.

This graphic sketch shows how Prof. Jean Picard and Lieut.-Com. T. G. W. Settle plan to make their balloon flight into the stratosphere from the Chicago World's Fair. Starting at 11 p. m., so as to take advantage of the cool night air, they will rise slowly until daylight and then go up rapidly as the gas in their partly-inflated balloon expands in the thinner upper atmosphere and under the heat of the sun's rays. The sketch also shows relative altitudes of clouds and the world's highest mountain peak, and the altitudes attained by Prof. Auguste Picard, brother of Jean Picard, in his two European ascensions into the stratosphere—a record that Jean Picard and Commander Settle hope to beat.

Mormons Broke a Smoking Rule For President Harding

By United Press
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—The injunction of "no smoking" is a fundamental part of the creed of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) Church, but once the rule was broken—by consent—in the office building of the church.
The person, who gained the distinction of being the only one to smoke in the church offices was Warren G. Harding, then President of the United States.
Distinguished visitors usually are escorted through the church office buildings, said to be the finest in the world, and President Harding was no exception. He visited here on the tour which ended in his sudden and tragic death in San Francisco a few weeks later.
While going through the building the President asked for permission to smoke. It was not forthcoming immediately as the "Word of Wisdom," a document of church faith, denounces the use of liquor, tobacco, tea and coffee.
As the tour progressed, the President seemingly became nervous. He again asked permission to smoke. There was a hurried conference among church leaders. The obvious nervousness and weariness of the President was taken into consideration after which permission was granted to smoke one cigarette.
The cigaret was smoked and President Harding thereby gained the distinction of having accomplished something theretofore considered virtually impossible.

BARGAIN BRIDE

By KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY
"ELINOR STAFFORD 20, falls in love with BARRETT COLVIN 25, who has returned to New York after years abroad. Barrett has made a name for himself as an archeologist. Elinor returns in affection but her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, breaks up the romance by convincing Barrett that Elinor is heartless first.
When Elinor's aunt MRS. ELLA SEXTON dies she leaves her entire fortune to Barrett. Elinor's father, BARRETT STAFFORD, who does not want the Sexton fortune, tells the girl that if she will marry him and live in Europe as a guest for a year, he will give the entire sum to her to divide among the relatives. Elinor agrees, knowing the money may save her father's life.
The marriage takes place next day. Barrett, still believing that Elinor has told him, finds himself falling in love with Elinor again."
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVI
BARRETT found Marcia as nervous as an undisciplined woman may be when she is forced to wait for the hour she dreads. She was lying, surrounded by many pillows, on an old French sofa upholstered in turquoise. Her face was very white and her eyes seemed bigger and darker than ever. Barrett, coming in from his walk in the brisk fresh air, was stifled by the heat of the room and the heavy odor of tuberoses, freesias and carnations.
Marcia drew his head down, kissed him and patted his cheek with one small hand. All the miserable morning—all her mornings were miserable now—she had tried to think only of his happiness and to forget her fears. But no matter how she tried she could not manage it. Marcia knew that, if Elinor should find out about Gerald, Barrett would explain. And if he explained, Elinor would be sure to tell her mother. Or some friend. What girl would not?
After that the whisper would travel and Dick would find out. And if Dick found out he would never, never forgive her. She was growing more certain of that fact every day. She had tested him only to whisper with his answers "Dick, don't you loath liars?" "Why consider them, sweet? They aren't worth it, are they? And we don't have to consider them, you know, dear."
No, they didn't have to. If Barrett never told anyone. But if he told anyone they might have to. She had lain wakeful the whole night, trying to be decent about it, to be happy for Barrett; but failing, knowing only fear.
Barrett said bluntly, "It's about 11.0 here, Marcia. It's no wonder you feel ill."
How well he remembered Marcia's mother's last days. The overheated room in which she preferred to gasp, the sickening odors of flowers.
"Marcia," he went on gently, "you should have some window open. Have you been out at all today?"
"I'm not well enough," she answered moodily. "You don't realize how ill I am, Barrett. No man could—or would if he could!" she ended bitterly.

HE sat down in a straight chair that was near her sofa. He hoped she was not going to act as she had in the old days. He had come there happily in spite of a twist that fate had given his life. He had come feeling that a tangled skein would straighten itself to give, at least, an assurance of peace to Elinor and himself.
He heard Marcia's voice again. He varied her refrain. "I am sorry, very ill, Barrett!" she stated. She studied her, frowning, sorry for her but nevertheless irritated. The world was full of women who felt as she did and who said nothing about it. But soft cushions and fine seams do not breed any sort of strength.
Marcia pushed the jet-black curling hair away from her moist forehead. "It is worry that is killing me!" she went on. "I ought not to be worried now—and Dick would never forgive it! I know he wouldn't! I know it!"
Barrett waited. She was leading up to something that she meant to ask. He knew her ways all too well.
"What particularly," he probed as gently as he could, "is worrying you, Marcia?"
She wiped the palms of her small hands on a handkerchief before she spoke. "The idea of your telling Elinor about—Gerald!" she stated.
He made no answer. Rather stupidly he fumbled for his cigaret case, brought it forth and lit a cigaret. Then he puffed deeply, staring absently at the small prick of heat from which the faint blue smoke rose lazily into the heavy air. He had had no intention of telling Gerald's story to Elinor, yet he did not want to promise Marcia that he would never tell her. A time might come when Elinor would ask questions and have every right to know the truth.
"She would—talk!" Marcia went on, her voice low and pining.
"No, Marcia. She wouldn't."

THE woman laughed acridly. "No?" she murmured with a lingering, upward inflection. "One day back. 'I hope I shall die!' she said. 'I think I can easily be not wanting to live. I do not want to live under this threat which you continue to hold over me!'"
"Is that quite fair?" he asked, knowing he was acting a fool in trying to reason with her.
Again she sat upright. "It is fair," she demanded bitterly, "for me to pay and pay and pay for the fact that I was a child—a trusting child—craving warmth and held down by an old man who knew nothing of the needs of my nature? And I believed you," she ended with a change of tone, "when you said you would help me!"
"Haven't I tried to help you?" Barrett asked.
"Go! Go now and tell her!"

Russians of Harbin Worried for Future

By United Press
HARBIN—"What will become of us?" is the question that 80,000 Russian inhabitants here are asking each other today.
Each train from Hsinking, capital of Manchuria, brings more and more Japanese to increase the 10,000 already calling Harbin their home. Russian shopkeepers are finding it more and more difficult to compete with the Japanese and many of them are going out of business. The majority are White Russians and cannot go back to the Soviet Union. They also have property here which they cannot liquidate.
The 15,000 Russian employees of the Chinese Eastern Railway are disturbed, for besides the rapid and ever-increasing influx of Japanese, the current trouble over the ownership of the railway has brought them problems. All of them, according to the regulations of the railway, are Soviet citizens, but many of them find their sympathies are not entirely akin to those of Russia. They are willing to work for the railway here, but they have no desire to return to Russia.
When and if Japan buys or takes the Chinese Eastern Railway, these 15,000 employes gradually will be discharged.
Many refugees from the Soviet Union who have reached Harbin after weeks and weeks of hardship in crossing the border are another problem. There is no employment for them and they become dependent upon charity. These people are living in camps which are no more than hovels.
In the meantime confident that the situation will be solved when the time comes, the large Russian population is going about its business and making the best of things. To the questions they ask themselves about what lies ahead they shrug their shoulders and say "Nitchew."

Juarez Lawyers Hold the World's Wedding Record

JUAREZ, Mexico. — Middle-aged lawyers are "married" every week here, while the real bride and bridegroom cuddle more than 8,000 miles away.
The long-distance marriages are made possible by Chihuahua state's proxy marriage law, an outgrowth of the easy divorces that have attracted customers from all over the world.
Proxy marriages for persons divorced in Juarez constitute a lucrative sideline for lawyers.
The divorce costs the client $200 and the proxy marriage $75. The attorney collects both ways.
Popularity of the Juarez proxy marriage is made possible by stringent divorce laws in other countries.
"In Argentina, for example, there is no complete divorce—only legal separation," explains Attorney Salvador Franco Urias. "Argentina couples who want a complete divorce so that they may marry again, cannot obtain one in Argentina. So they take advantage of the Chihuahua law, throw off the old mate, take on a new one, and everything is perfectly legal, since Mexican laws are recognized throughout Latin America. Brazil also sends customers to us."
Clients seldom come to Juarez in person from such distant countries. Both divorces and marriages are obtained by mail, often the same day.

Complimented on Birthday

In compliment to her sister, Miss Ollie Bryan, Miss Florene Bryan entertained with a prettily arranged surprise birthday party at their home recently, with an appropriate color note of red, white and blue featured in the decorations and refreshment course served.

The dining table was outstanding in attraction laid in white and finished with a triple color theme. From the chandeliers rippled streamers of ribbon adding another touch of the colors blending with those used on the unique cake, bearing small tapers. Gifts in token of the occasion were arranged about the table forming white balls tied with bits of ribbon.

After many delightful and entertaining games had been played an ice course with cake and confections were served. Party guests named Misses Lucile and Daisy Woods, Geneva Eaves, Bernice Reuwer, who pleasingly assisted the hostess in entertaining, and Marshall Coleman, Wendall Williams, Cecil Seale, Curtis Terrell, Benny Kate Woods, Joe Earl Utz, Wendall Siebert, and Billy Jones, all of Eastland, and John Thomas Scott, Bill Burch, and honoree and hostess, Miss Bryan.

Mrs. Tunnell Presents Interesting W. M. S. Program

Superintendent of publicity, Mrs. B. A. Tunnell, presented a most interesting program for the entertainment of 25 members of the Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist church Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The program proper opened with the ensemble singing of "Footprints of Jesus." Devotional was read by Mrs. C. E. May, which prefaced the solo sung by Miss Mary Elizabeth Campbell. Proceeding with the latter part of the program Mrs. Herbert J. Stafford offered an instructive selection taken from the World Outlook. Mrs. G. O. Strong, Mrs. Stanley McAnelly, and Mrs. A. J. Ratiff furnished topics taken from the May, June and July bulletins, a course of study which has proven highly valuable.

Mrs. Lewis Hostess to Wide Awake Circle, W. M. S.

Mrs. W. A. Lewis entertained the Wide Awake circle of the Women's Missionary society of the First Baptist church at her home, Hodges Oak Park addition, yesterday afternoon with the lesson opened with the reading of the first three chapters from the W. M. S. manual.

After the discussion of the study subject, an ice course was passed by the house hostess to members: Mmes. R. O. Bundick, J. B. Ferris, E. M. Matheny, Walter Reimund, C. B. Pruet, Glenn Curry, J. W. Tibbels, and Udell Duvall. During the same hour, Circle No. 2 known as the Friendship group, were holding an interesting meeting at the church auditorium, with Mrs. Bob Hodges giving the devotional.

It was decided at this period "Today's Supreme Challenge to America" would be entered into for the next study course.

A splendid attendance marked the meeting. Next Monday members of both circles will gather at the home of Mrs. G. W. Thomas, Walnut street, with the Friendship group offering a lesson in compliment to the Wide Awake circle. The lesson will be taken from the Royal Service bulletin. All members are asked to keep in mind this approaching session.

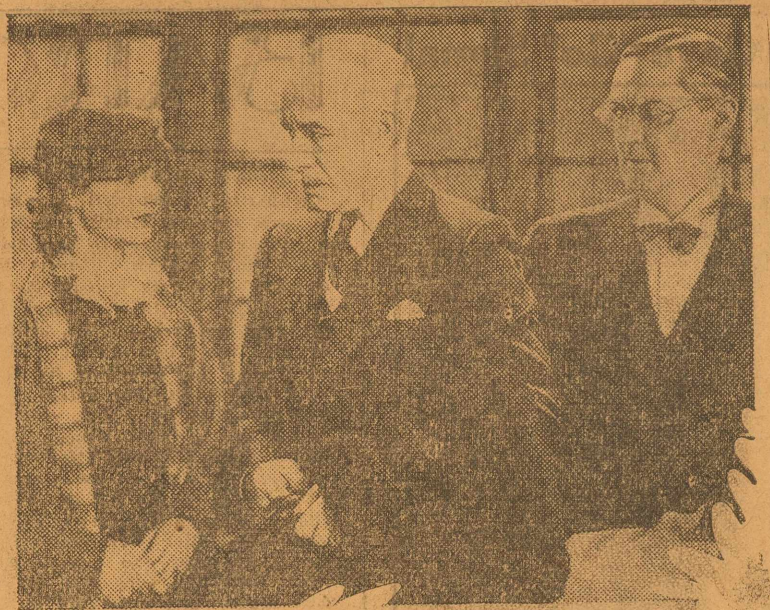

Carnival Brought To Helpless Boy

By United Press HORNELL, N. Y.—When 10-year-old Lawrence Horton couldn't attend the cowboy-carnival with his comrades the carnival was brought to him.

Lawrence had just returned to the Children's home, of which he is an inmate, after spending 16 months in a hospital bed and was too weak to make the trip with the other boys.

Fortunately, however, for Lawrence, the carnival management heard of his plight and moved what equipment they could to the home where they put on the show for the one-boy audience.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT United Press Staff Correspondent PARIS.—One of the most successful of the Worth mid-season evening gowns is "Eros."

It is of fine white organdie trimmed with tucks on the bias, both on the bodice and the upper part of the skirt, and with ruffles running from the hem to the knees, also on the bias. The square decollete in front strikes a new note, and the wide tucked shoulder straps continue down the back. It has a wide belt and long sash ends of plaid taffeta ribbon. The sleeves of the accompanying bolero are formed of ruffles, and are quite wide, while the bodice of the bolero is tucked to match the trimming of the gown.

From the mid-season collection of Schiaparelli comes the lovely water lily green evening gown, which has been bought by Madame Mazzuchi. There is an interesting treatment here, of the new elastic ribbons, which not only trim the gown, but also form the belt and shoulder straps, all in one piece.

Procedure For August Election Is All Worked Out

By United Press AUSTIN—Under the act providing a method of ratification or rejection of federal constitutional amendments, the wet and dry convention chairmen must file their lists of delegates and alternates with the secretary of state.

Then all will be in readiness for the campaign rallies, stump speeches and election advertisements.

Aug. 26, John Citizen will have his say.

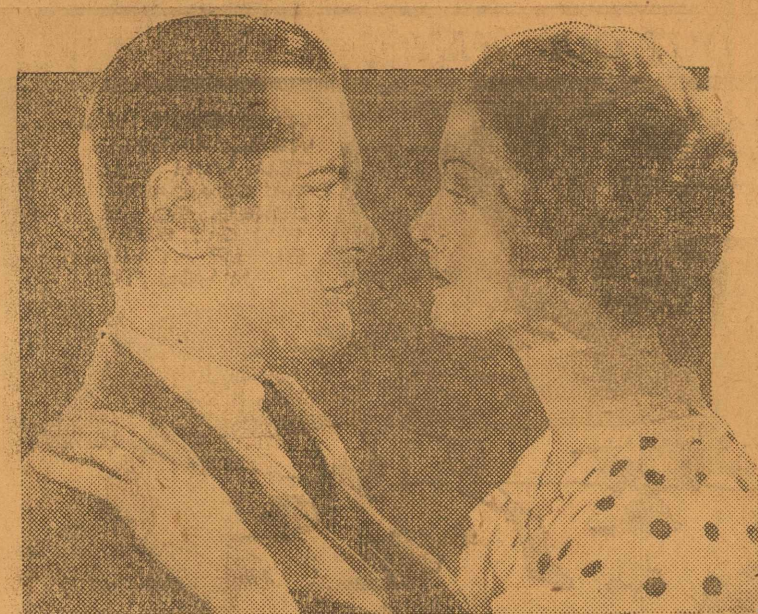

In the general election that day he will receive a ballot. The ballot will have two perpendicular columns of the same width. One will be headed, "For repeal of the 18th Amendment," and below it will be inserted the list of 31 delegates and 31 alternates pledged to vote that way.

The other column will be headed "August repeal of the 18th Amendment" and will have under it the rival list of delegates and alternates. The voter will scratch out the names of the candidates he opposes.

Thanks to the new unofficial election returns law the practical result of the vote likely will be known by the night of the election. Official returns will be canvassed 30 days later by Secretary of State W. W. Heath in the presence of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and Attorney General James V. Allred.

Sixty days later, Nov. 24, the delegates declared elected will meet in Austin and formally cast the vote of Texas for or against repeal. The secretary of this Nov. 24 convention will certify the action to Secretary of State Heath and the Secretary of State of the United States. Heath also will certify to the United States Secretary of State.

MARY LOU GOES SHOPPING

SHE is only eight, but, even at this tender age Mary Lou is a daily customer at the neighborhood stores. Perhaps it is a package of crackers, and a pound of coffee at the grocer's. Perhaps it is some tooth-paste or toilet soap at the drug store.

Of course Mary Lou doesn't decide on what she is going to buy. Her mother writes a list—this brand of crackers, this brand of coffee, this make of tooth-paste, this kind of soap. She knows the prices, and gives Mary Lou just enough money with an extra penny or two, perhaps, to spend for herself.

Buying is just as simple and easy as that because of just one thing—Advertising. Advertising has given all of us a lot to be thankful for.

Because of advertising, people in Texas know about and buy Michigan motor cars. People in New Hampshire buy oranges raised in Florida and California. Because of advertising, merchants and manufacturers are forced to improve their products. It has standardized quality. It has increased consumption and thereby lowered costs. It promotes competition and thereby keeps dealers and merchants wide awake to secure for you the most for your money.

But best of all it writes "Finis" on the business career of any merchant or manufacturer who attempts to fool the public or give them less than value received.
