BLUE EAGLES USED UP; NEW SUPPLY ASKED

A hurried trip to Wayland, Tiffin and other smaller communities in this section brought in a few additional batches of posters, but these were quickly exhausted. A wire to Washington was to be sent off this afternoon for an additional supply to meet the demand.

BANDIT GANG IN A BATTLE WITH OFFICERS

By United Press
COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Aug. 2.—A desperate gang of Oklahoma bandits battled their way to temporary freedom today with officers and national guards pursuing them through the Arkansas river bottoms near here.

The battle started after the bandits, numbering six or seven, raided Weir, Kan., locking 22 persons in the city jail and escaping with the safe of the Citizens bank.

The safe was recovered before the bandits had a chance to open it. In their first skirmish officers shot the tires off a bandit automobile, but the lone occupant escaped. Machine gun bullets ripped through a police car, but none was injured.

Rev. Johnson Tells Of His 10 Years of Work In the City

Rev. H. B. Johnson had charge of the Rotary club meeting today and presented an interesting classification talk on ministerial work, summing up his 10 years of service in this field in Ranger.

The basis of his talk was that if a man wished to have friends he must be friendly, stating that to be successful in one's chosen field he must first be cordial and friendly to those with whom he comes in contact in his daily life and in his own work.

He pointed out many changes that have been made in the attitude of the ministers of one denomination toward those of another denomination in the past 10 years, stating that they were much more friendly now than they were when he came to Ranger 10 years ago.

Jack Fullbright of Thurber was the only visitor at the meeting. The club voted to enter a team in the Twilight League during the second half of the season, which is to begin next Monday.

Automotive Group Completes Its Code

The automotive group met in the Gholson hotel last night and after considerable discussion adopted a code for the dealers in automobiles, accessories, gasoline, and other automotive products.

The code, as adopted, is in keeping with the code adopted recently at Breckenridge. Cisco, Eastland Straun have yet to adopt a code, and when they do their codes must be compared with the ones voted in Ranger and Breckenridge and the five made to conform.

It was expected that the automotive men of the entire Oil Belt would have their codes ready to submit within a very short time if the other towns adopt a code similar to the ones adopted in Ranger and Breckenridge.

Twilight League Committee to Meet

A meeting of the rules committee, appointed at the last meeting of managers of the teams in the Twilight league, has been called for tonight at 8:30 at the Times office.

The committee, composed of Dr. Downtain, chairman; Floyd Killingsworth, and F. D. Hicks, is to meet to work out rules under which the league will operate during the last half of the split season, which is to begin next Monday evening.

Automobile Wheels And Tires Stolen

Burglars entered the garage at the home of E. L. Fontaine last night and took two rear wheels from his Ford coupe, according to reports made today by Mr. Fontaine.

The car had been placed in the garage for the night and when Mr. Fontaine went to get it this morning he found two wheels, tires and tubes were missing.

ED WILLMAN RETURNS
Ed Willman of the Eastland post office was sufficiently recovered from a recent operation to return home Sunday from a hospital in Fort Worth.

Though not yet well he has made a nice recovery, and will soon be himself again.

EASTUS TALKS POLITICS AND THE NRA CODE

By J. C. ALLISON
"The National Recovery Act is the greatest piece of legislation ever written by the hand of man," declared Clyde O. Eastus, federal attorney for the Northern District of Texas, Tuesday night as he spoke to a throng of people that packed the north courthouse lawn and the adjacent street. He predicted that within 90 days we would have conditions equal to the business boom following the war and that within 12 months we would forget about the depression.

The crowd, which came from Ranger, Cisco, Breckenridge, Rising Star, Gorman, Carbon, and possibly from other neighboring towns, gathered in response to an announcement that the federal district attorney would speak on the National Recovery Act. The meeting was opened by H. C. Davis, secretary of the Retail Merchants association of Eastland, with a short introduction of Mayor Donald Kinnaird, who, after a brief statement of the purpose of the meeting and a welcome to the visitors, called Joe Jones, who has recently been appointed assistant federal district attorney, to the microphone and he introduced the speaker.

Attorney Eastus began his address with remarks with reference to the appointment of Mr. Jones as his assistant, stating that he was one of his first assistants and would have charge of the Dallas office and handle the cases being tried in Judge Atwell's court.

Twilight League Committee to Meet

In launching into his discussion Mr. Eastus gave the Hoover administration the blame for the depression, mentioning especially the foreign policy and the high tariff laws. He gave the wealth of the nation in 1929 as $350,000,000,000, saying that it had diminished to $250,000,000,000 today and giving the policies of President Hoover, mismanagement, and monopolies as the cause.

Opening with the statement that last year the country elected a man as president who would do something for the common man, he gave a short sketch of the political history of President Roosevelt, saying that the country needed a Moses to bring us out of the depression and the president is the man, that we must know him to appreciate him and predicted that within 90 days we would realize that a super-mind was in control of affairs. He then reviewed the first few weeks of the present administration, calling attention especially to the closing of the banks with the re-opening in such a way as to save the depositors' money, saying that had not prompt and definite action been taken most of the 6,000 banks would have been closed within 90 days; whereas, only 150 of the smaller banks failed to open their doors and that some of these will open yet.

Citing history to show that nations, since 50 B. C., have always come out of depressions by inflation. (Continued on page 3)

ELECTION IN LOUISIANA IS BEFORE COURT

By United Press
NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 2.—The future of Huey P. Long's political empire was at stake today as a district judge, unmoved by a frenzied situation, induced by a declaration and revocation of martial law, began an open court investigation into the election last fall in which Long's henchmen were alleged to have resorted to fraud.

Criminal Court Judge O'Donnell ordered 15 election officials elected on charges of certifying to false returns, brought into court when it convened today. He granted permission to district attorney to examine ballot boxes, which Long's political enemies charge will reveal monumental fraud, in open court.

The governor revoked the order which he had declared New Orleans under martial law, early today.

By United Press
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 2.—An open court investigation of last November 8 general election in Louisiana, in which enemies of U. S. Senator Huey P. Long charged his henchmen resorted to fraud to win, today revealed wide discrepancies in vote tabulations.

The counting, done by 24 business men, revealed 1,545 votes cast for the amendment on purchasing a ferry and 214 against it. Election commissioners had officially reported the count on those same boxes as 1,919 votes for the amendment and 60 against it.

Building Trades To Work on Code

Conference Impetus Felt Over Canada

By United Press
MONTREAL, Canada's industrial growth, given an impetus by the imperial economic conference at Ottawa in 1932, still is increasing rapidly, according to the Montreal board of trade.

United States firms are establishing factories here, British companies are bringing mills to Canada, and Canadian mills are expanding, resulting in higher profits and a decrease in unemployment in the dominion, a report just issued indicates.

The incoming U. S. firms are attracted by the opportunity Canada affords them to operate within the shelter of the empire tariff.

BANKERS SIGN CODE

Dissension Arose In 'Order Turtles' Over Money In Treasury

By United Press
EL PASO, Tex.—A battle is brewing in the ranks of the Mystic and Mysterious Order of Turtles, officers admitted here, and the bone of contention is too much money.

Organized in 1932 for the purpose of holding Juarez beer parties, picnics, and keeping the treasury empty, the order sees dissension because money has accumulated in the treasury.

One faction, composed of new members, wants to go in for pomp and ritual and uniforms, Hard Shell Royal Martin revealed.

The other camp, including original members, wants to "blow the money on foolishness."

"Foolishness is the main object of the order," declared Hard Shell Martin.

Attempts to iron out differences will be made at a watermelon picnic soon.

MOLEY TO AID IN A WAR ON RACKETEERING

By United Press
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 2.—President Roosevelt today instructed Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley to study the kidnaping and racketeering situation for the Department of Justice.

The executive's instructions were contained in a letter to Assistant Secretary of State Phillips at Washington. He assigned Moley to the task after a request for assistance in carrying out the survey was received from Attorney General Cummings.

By United Press
TULSA, Ok., Aug. 2.—Ransom for the release of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, was reported today to have been $200,000, one of the largest extortion fees ever paid kidnapers in this country. This report, linked with a Tulsa politician and oil man believed to have acted as a go-between, lacked confirmation by the family.

By United Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Nat Bass, 35, sports figure and brother of Arthur Bass, sports promoter, was kidnaped Monday night and is held for $25,000 ransom. Yesterday Arthur Bass received a communication from the kidnapers demanding $25,000. He was warned against informing police.

Motorized Guard Unit Can Cover Lot More Ground

By United Press
AMARILLO, Tex.—Forty years ago when the caissons of Battery B, 151st Field Artillery, Texas National Guard, went "rolling along," they were drawn by horses who did well if they plodded 25 miles in a day.

Now the battery, given the highest rating at the federal inspection this year, uses motor trucks which if pushed could, in an hour, cover twice that distance. Cumbersome iron wheels on pieces and caissons have been replaced by strong, light steel wheels with pneumatic tires and puncture proof tires. The limber, or ammunition carrier, has been dispensed with altogether, and shells are carried in trucks with the men. The trucks are virtually "non-stickable." They have eight gears forward, so long as there is traction.

When completely motorized the unit will have ten trucks in addition of the five now in service.

The battery's history has been interesting. It was organized here in the '90s. In 1916 it was sent to the Mexican border for 11 months of duty. Later it was sent to Camp Bowie, Fort Worth, and there converted into Battery B, 132 Field Artillery, which it remained until it was disbanded after the war. It was reorganized in 1922 under its present name.

Charges Are Filed In Bond Thefts

By United Press
SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 2.—Five complaints were filed in justice court here today against Z. D. Bonner, president of the Commercial National Bank of San Antonio, and John H. Cunningham, prominent San Antonio attorney, in connection with the theft of $500,000 worth of government bonds from the Continental Bank & Trust Company of New York.

The men were charged with receiving and concealing property. They also were charged in a conspiracy charge. Names of four others against whom charges were filed were withheld pending arrests.

Inauguration of the Tennessee Valley authority's power distribution program was seen in the visit of David E. Lilienthal, TVA director, to the Wilson dam and Muscle Shoals nitrate plants. Lilienthal, who will have charge of the power program, is pictured here during his inspection trip.

Ranger Man Is 'Shot' While At Eastland Meeting

A very peculiar incident happened while Federal District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus was speaking on the north lawn of the courthouse Tuesday night. Fred Tibbles of Ranger, who was standing in the street just off the lawn, was struck on the arm by a bullet which inflicted a slight wound. He was taken to a drug store where he was given medical attention.

No one around him heard any report of a gun. The bullet after striking him fell to the pavement and was picked up by him. It showed to be for about a forty-five calibre pistol. Members of the sheriff's department said it had no marks of being shot from a gun and did show signs of having been extracted from the shell with pliers. It was their opinion that it had been shot from some nearby building with a "nigger shooter."

Tax Board May Revise State Rate

By United Press
AUSTIN, Aug. 2.—With an overdraft of $5,626,989 in the state general revenue fund and $3,630,420 in the confederate pension fund, the state automatic tax board is expected to meet during the week to set the new state tax rate.

The maximum rate of 77 cents on $100 valuation will be required, officials indicated.

Former Oil Man Dies In Fort Worth

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Aug. 2.—Funeral arrangements were pending today for L. E. Hirt, 52, of Glendale, Calif., former Texas Gasoline manufacturer and credited with building the first absorption gasoline plant in this state at Breckenridge in 1918.

He dropped dead here yesterday while talking over the telephone. He came here a week ago to ship belongings to California.

CHECK UP TO BE MADE ON ALL VIOLATORS

"Chizeling" Is Charged In Many Instances By Employers.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Aroused by evidence of "chizeling" on the voluntary re-employment agreement, officials of the NRA today determined to make a strict checkup of violations and evasion.

Hugh Johnson prepared for a survey to disclose not only actual violations of signed agreement, but methods by which employers are seeking to display the blue eagle without making any real contribution to re-employment and wage increases.

Reports from regional offices showed hundreds of thousands of signatures to the agreement. What the NRA officials are more anxious to know, however, is the number of men actually re-employed and the amount of money added to the nation's payrolls.

This information will be obtained through a questionnaire to all employers. More than a quarter of a million additional employees were brought under the re-employment agreement today when Johnson authorized modifications for five large industries, radio, electrical manufacturers, rayon weaving, bedding and rayon and synthetic yarn.

By United Press
Ernest Tutt, district manager of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce at Houston, advised that 19,641 Texas employers had signed the NRA pledge, affecting 99,894 employees.

ABOLITION OF STATE AD VALOREM TAX URGED

State Auditor Moore Lynn in a recent report made the sweeping declaration that since it completely fails to fulfill the constitutional requirement that all taxes shall be equal and uniform, the state ad valorem tax should be abolished without delay. He stated in his bulletin that one of the worst features of the tax was failure of the officials to obtain assessments on all property covered by the tax; that comparatively few of the counties have efficient plat book systems and that frequently property is placed on the rolls as "unknown" when such property does not exist in fact.

An investigation made by the state auditor's department indicated that for the tax year 1931 such property as was rendered for taxation was placed on the rolls at an average for the entire state at 50 per cent of its value; that in some counties the assessment was as low as 25 per cent of the actual value and in other counties it was claimed that property was rendered at 100 per cent. Figures are interesting. Auditor Lynn furnishes them.

For the tax year 1927, the net increase in delinquent state ad valorem taxes was $765,000, or 3 per cent of the current year's taxes assessed. Four years later, or in 1931, the net increase in such delinquencies amounted to $5,261,000 or 17 per cent of the current year's taxes assessed.

"When collections of back taxes are regularly far from sufficient to offset current year's delinquencies (reads the report) and the total amount collected falls below the amount of the current tax levy for several years in an increasingly large amount each year. A very serious situation is presented." There is a constitutional requirement that all taxes "shall be equal and uniform."

Well, the constitution was adopted in 1876 and the requirement has become one of the moss-covered jokes of Texas history.

Balbo who extolled Post for his incomparable courage and his incomparable achievements.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

My secretary came in this morning bubbling with enthusiasm over an amateur flower show that is to be held this fall. According to bits of conversation we picked up recently, Oklahoma will have its first fall amateur flower show.

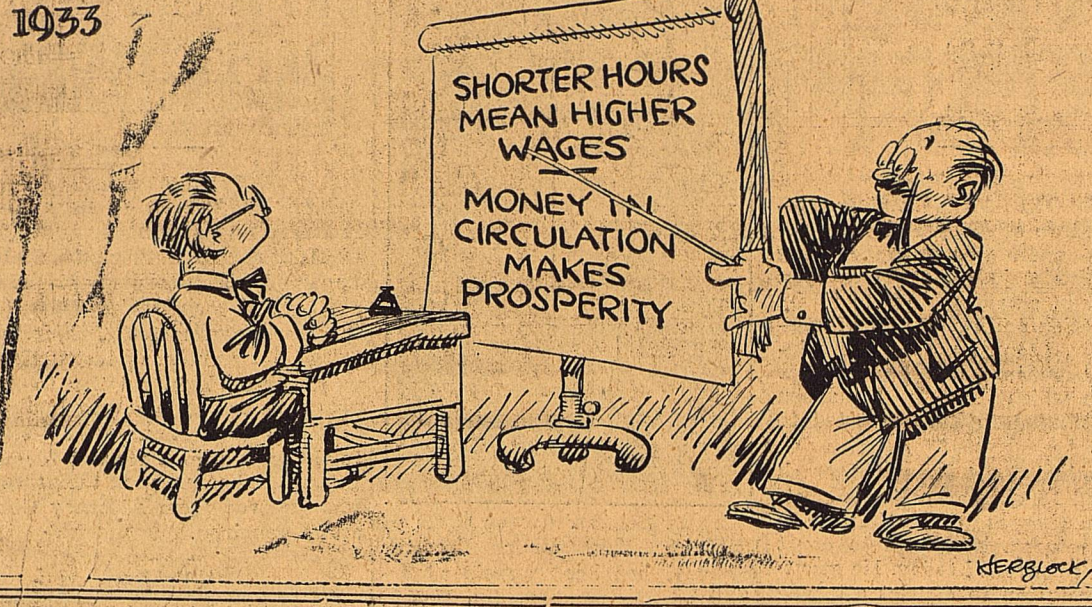

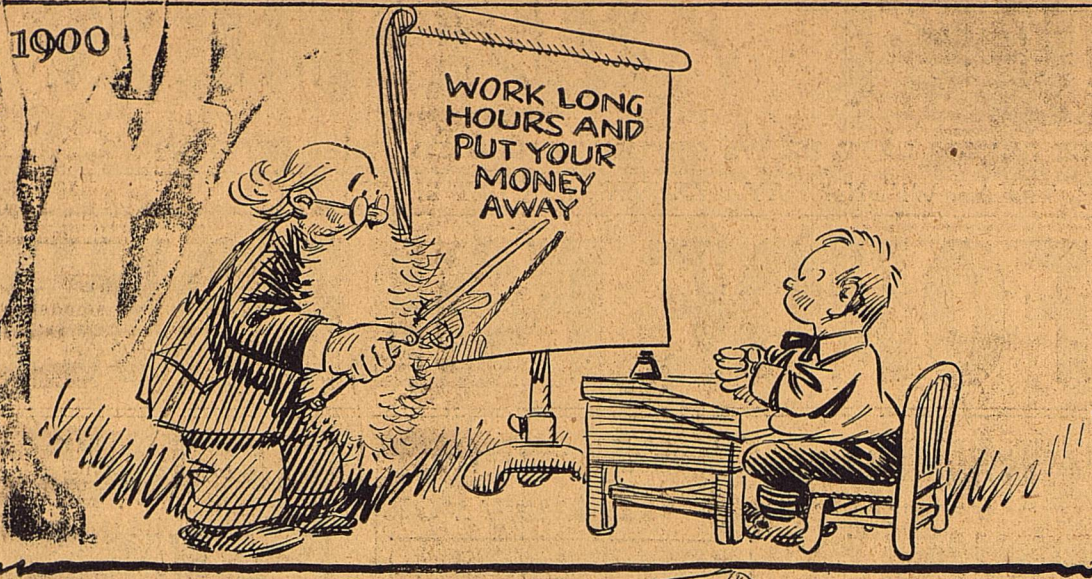

Flower shows are usually open to professionals only, but the one to be held this coming October will be open to all amateur growers in Oklahoma. There will be no entrance fee and no admission charged to see the blooms. Appropriate awards will be made the winners in the various classes.

While we are not a member of any flower clubs, we understand by keeping our ear to the ground there is a state organization known as the Garden Flower club. This is the parent organization. As units of this organization are groups known as the Red Rose unit, Wild Rose unit, Gladiolus unit, and many others. The first two mentioned are the groups sponsoring this fall amateur show. It will be held at the Fair grounds at Oklahoma City in the 4-H Club building for two nights.

California has her rose festival, likewise Washington. Arkansas has its apple blossom celebration and Georgia pays homage to the peach in peach blossom time; so now Oklahoma can bring forth through her amateur growers her prize blooms for the world to look at. Such things are cultural and add zest to the joy of growing things, particularly beautiful flowers. Many people throughout the country think of Oklahoma only as a place for Indians and oil wells and turbulent politics, but a peek at the thousands of beautiful rose and flower gardens in the state will bring a different picture. The long growing season adds much in favor of the knights and ladies of the shovel and spade.

We can almost picture the banks of fall roses, chrysanthemums and many other varieties that will be on display by Oklahoma's amateurs and, with a little more concentration, believe we can smell 'em. You might make arrangements to see the show if you love flowers—and who doesn't?

COLORADO MUSEUM GETS BRANDING IRON

By United Press
ALAMOSA, Colo.—About 40 years ago Strong and Sanford ran herds of cattle in the San Luis valley. A set of their old branding irons, found near Mt. Blanca by William Hansen, a cattleman, recently was presented by him to the Colorado Historical society. He also included a branding iron used by his father.

Bruised and cut, but not seriously injured, Amy Johnson Mollison, in the foreground, and her husband, Capt. James Mollison, are shown in the hospital at Bridgeport, Conn., after receiving emergency treatment following the crash of their plane. They had conquered the Atlantic and were within 60 miles of New York, their goal, when forced to land near Bridgeport by a shortage of fuel.

Eastus Talks

tion, he declared that there was no danger in inflation of currency, if it were not inflated too much. Then he gave the history of the national bank, showing that it began in Lincoln's administration when Secretary Chase originated the national bank to provide the nation with $450,000,000 needed at the time. Mr. Eastus then took up legislation of this administration which was intended to improve the depressed conditions, mentioning the home loan fund act, the agricultural bill, stressing especially the $42,000,000 coming into Texas and the $18,000,000 for the Fort Worth district to reimburse farmers for cotton plowed up, closing the statement that within 60 days we would think we are living in another generation. Going into a discussion of the National Recovery Act the speaker said the policy was to first get everybody to work and all able-bodied people off of charity, calling on everybody to look forward with confidence, for the government intends all, regardless of power or prestige, to be on the same basis. After declaring that labor had the right to organize without interference. Mr. Eastus said that the unions had been fighting child labor for 25 years and that now it had been eliminated with one stroke of the pen as no child under the age of 16 can work only three hours a day now. As an evidence of the benefit of the recovery act the speaker stated that 8,000 men in Dallas and 6,000 in Fort Worth went to work on the first of August and that 6,000, 000 of the 11,000,000 unemployed will be at work by Oct. 1. Touching on the oil industry he said that the price was 15 cents when the act went into effect and was now 75 cents per barrel. In commenting on codes, Attorney Eastus said that when those engaged in any branch of industry formulated a code, sent it in and it was accepted that code then became the law governing the industry, further stating that it would be a disgrace to violate the

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

I was talking to a school man yesterday, a down-hearted, disgruntled teacher who hadn't seen the morning paper.

Fifteen minutes later, after the thrilling shock of the $16 state apportionment, he was hailing his profession worth any man's time.

Our schools are overrun with an instructing corp, would-be professors, and college men who neither want nor need to train children... but accept duty and a salary with a wry face... and bluster on.

There are a few who delve into the subject of teaching with a native interest. They want to teach. It is their chosen profession... chosen, not adopted.

But a great many college students search their flighty little heads for a major preference and, failing to discover one, stumble into the education department... and emerge, scowling in search of a school.

They are living Rosie Robots. They push a button... and take on an attitude of patience with the little dears who must be taught.

Another current runs through them to produce mama-interest, and a smiling discussion of Jr.'s arithmetic problems with the fond parent who beams and scrapes upon "Teacher."

Something ought to be done about our mechanical instructors. I distinctly recall hectic months under souls of that caliber myself.

It is perfectly eligible for boys to be run out of a factory by men who would prefer to instal refrigerators...

Aspiring young lawyers who face starvation can't hurt the lemon business by peddling electrical squeezers from door to door...

Nor is the production of mouse traps hampered by laborers whose lofty minds wander in the fields of book-binding...

But... Those youngsters who leave home starved and scrubbed, and return beneath layers of chewing gum, indelible ink, and water-colors...

Are neither shirts, lemons, nor mouse traps.

They are speciality themselves... each one an individual problem in the profession of living.

Rebecca McCann would philosophize accordingly:
The sailor has no harder job
Who sails the stormy oceans
Than I who steer my little soul
Through strange and deep emotions.

It is for those youthful ones wading around in mental whirlpools that the state board of education has fixed the apportionment.

Nor for aspiring young capitalists teaching school until opportunity of another color knocks.

BARGAIN BRIDIE

BRIDIE STAFFORD TODAY ELINOR STAFFORD 29 fails to love with BARRITT COLVIN 33, but her jealous scheming mother LIDA STAFFORD breaks up the romance by convincing Barritt that Elinor is a heartless flirt. When Elinor's aunt wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON dies she leaves her fortune to Barritt. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD. Elinor's father, Barritt tells her that if she will marry him and live in his home as a guest for a year he will give her the entire Sexton fortune to divide among her relatives. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees. The marriage takes place. Barritt in spite of Lida's lies, finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. Barritt has a ward, nine-year-old GERALD MOORE, who is the son of his half-sister, Marcia Radnor. Barritt has promised Marcia never to reveal the boy's true story. Lida Stafford discovers the child's existence. Elinor's father dies. Barritt takes her to Cuba and the trip is a happy one. After their return Lida tells Elinor about Barritt's ward, inferring the boy is Barritt's son. Elinor asks about the child but because of his promise to Marcia, Barritt cannot explain. Misunderstandings between the two increase. Barritt decides to join an expedition to South America. Elinor finds a house in the country and plans to go there and now become a school teacher. Marcia's infant son dies. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLV ELINOR broke the silence. She said in a hesitating, uncertain tone, "Barritt—" He turned toward her. "Yes?" he answered. "Do you want—very much—to go on that expedition?" "No, but I thought perhaps you'd rather have me out of the way. That was the only reason I considered it." "I'd rather you didn't go," she said slowly. "Oh, Elinor!" he pleaded and his eyes fixed on hers. "I had risen and stood with eager, pleading eyes fixed on hers. "But she was not yet ready to bid him the truth—that she loved him and wanted his happiness more than her own, that she wanted him near when their child was born. "I think you ought to become better acquainted with your boy—with Gerald," she said, her voice hard again. "You mean that I should be with you in the country?" he questioned quickly. "Yes. Don't you think so?" "If I want to, you have to have me there," he said slowly. For a moment he had hoped for so much more than that. He added, still in that weary tone, "I love you more deeply than you'll ever know, Elinor. The one thing I want is your happiness." Then quickly he left the room. Elinor cried stormily, sitting huddled in the big chair which made her look so small. For the first time since her mother had told her about Barritt's ward, shame prompted some of those tears. She was small, she knew. Small! And she could not seem to help being so. If she stretched a hand toward Barritt she would see another misty band go out to him. If she dreamed of kissing him again she saw another woman held close in his arms. She groped her way upstairs later and for a time in her room stood by the closed door, wanting to open it. She wanted desper-

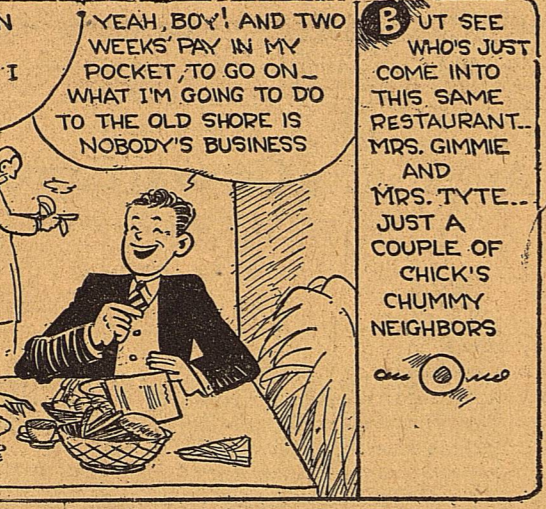

Dollar's Slump Hit Americans

BERLIN.—Americans in Germany are beginning to feel some alarm at the depreciation of the dollar. They are starting to feel the pinch and to grumble slightly. The hardest hit are the students. Ordinarily, there are from 200 to 250 students here alone, most of them dependent on a fixed remittance which is usually very modest, even expressed in par dollars. More than half of these have been forced to leave, or soon will be, unless their remittances cease to shrink. No official tourist figures are available, but it is estimated that a 50 to 60 per cent decline in American visitors to Germany this year would be conservative. Several applications have been made to the U. S. consulate for transportation home, but these can be traced chiefly to bank failures beginning in March. There has been no particular increase since the dollar started down. On the other side of the ledger, U. S. trade has gained comparatively little in Germany, due chiefly to the government's high protective tariff and contingent policies.

WOMAN RULES MOUNTAINS OF U. S. SILVER COINS

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN WASHINGTON.—Next to Madame Secretary of Labor Perkins, Nellie Tayloe Ross is the most important woman in President Roosevelt's administration. Mrs. Ross is director of the United States mint and so has charge of mountains of dimes and the hills of dollars which the nation's money factories grind out each year. She has a commodious office in the treasury building, with an excellent view of the White House grounds. There she directs the business of manufacturing hard cash in Philadelphia, San Francisco and Denver. There she supervises the work of the nation's seven assay offices, which buy all of Uncle Sam's gold and silver. And there Mrs. Ross evolves her own philosophy. A sample: "Wifehood and motherhood is the most satisfying and the highest career of a woman." Mrs. Ross is the mother of four children, two of whom are deceased. She was a devoted wife to William Bradford Ross, an attorney who became governor of Wyoming in 1923. Upon his death in 1924, she was named governor to fill his unexpired term. She thus was one of America's first feminine governors and so achieved international fame. Her regime was marked by governmental economy and reform in Wyoming. Mrs. Ross meantime evinced an exceptional ability in politics and soon entered the high councils of the Democratic party. She was one of the important dignitaries at the Democratic National convention in Chicago last year. Later she campaigned vigorously for President Roosevelt. Optimistic feminists frequently mentioned her as a vice-presidential possibility. When that did not come to pass, they urged that she be included in President Roosevelt's cabinet. Inasmuch as he already had Miss Perkins chosen as

Circulation Department Swim and Picnic Pleasant Entertainment

Informality has marked the activities of the Ranger social world during the past few weeks, with interest centering about visitors here and Rangerites on vacation trips. Those who have not departed for cooler climes hold occasional outings or maybe emerge only for a quiet evening on the lawn or impromptu entertainments planned without trouble to the hosts.

Last evening a pleasant outing in the form a swim and wiener roast compliments the circulation department of the Ranger Times with the circulation manager, Roy Ohlfest and wife acting as delightful hosts.

An invigorating swim was enjoyed at the Willows pool at 8 o'clock followed with a wiener roast at Butler Springs. The Springs, favored by many for such occasions, afforded a picturesque location for the outing enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crossley, Misses Elizabeth Jones of Waxahachie, niece of Mrs. Ohlfest, Macon Younce, Arritta Davenport, and Messrs. George Dryden, Garvin Chastain, Jr., Jimmie Hicks, Fred Hughes, Lawrence Hollowell, Walter Cox, Joe Thompson, and Mr. and Mrs. Ohlfest.

Mr. Harcrow states he is glad to

Mexico Becoming A Vacation Land

AUSTIN. — Northern Mexico with its cool mountain country and other attractions has come to be a popular summer resort for Texas officials and others who toil under the capitol dome.

Nearly every prominent state official has at some time or another been a visitor at Horsetail Falls on the huge ranch leased by Frank Gibler, former Houston newspaper man and political enthusiast.

Former Gov. Dan Moody, Attorney General James V. Allred and many others drop in on Gibler for hunting at intervals, and practically all the Austin correspondents have been there this summer.

Allred was there just before leaving for the Washington oil conferences. He was out for bear. Instead he got into poison ivy and hurried back to Austin. He will be grieved to learn he left just a few days too soon. There is now salt-drying on a large frame at Gibler's hacienda the very brown bear Allred was pursuing.

ARRESTED HUMAN LOLLYPOP

MILWAUKEE.—When police arrested Theodore Tieman, 23, in a bakery warehouse, they had to scrape him before they took him to headquarters. He had fallen into a barrel of molasses, tipped it over, and then rolled into the contents of a barrel of flour and a barrel of sugar. When finally captured, he was sitting in a tub of sugar water. Tieman, whom exasperated police dubbed "the human lollypop," was fined $5 on charges of drunkenness.

Despite the popular saying "The woman pays," bill collectors often can testify differently.
