A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

DO GOOD TO ALL MEN: Let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith.—Galatians 6: 9, 10.

ATTY. GEN. JIMMIE ALLRED DEMANDS ACTION

Atty. Gen. James V. Allred is on the firing line in the city of Washington. He made a very emphatic request that a trade practice code for the oil industry "prohibits discrimination between fields for oil of equal quality."

He had his facts and his figures marshalled. He set forth the buyers of petroleum in West Texas had been paying 40 per cent less since 1926 for that oil than for oil of like quality and quantity from other pools.

All friends of the public schools and the university are interested. Allred intimated that oil owners had lost at least $14,000,000 in the last 10 years and that this did not take into account losses to independent producers.

Rep. T. H. McGregor, speaking for Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, pledged Texas co-operation to all the national administration proposals and promised not only full but hearty cooperation "to put over the national recovery plan and all other plans."

In the long ago E. L. Doheny of California was prospecting for oil in Mexico. He brought in a rich field. He made millions. He had a rocky road to travel all the time.

Hon. Harold Ickes, czar of the department of the interior and many other departments, has a tough nut to crack. Speaking for the public schools and University of Texas all the coin that is justly coming to their treasuries should be collected regardless of fear or favor.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

Live citizens are judged by their work. It is wise to test the usefulness of the chronic critics by the same standard. A generous and voluntary contribution of time, energy and money by every citizen is necessary in the building of a greater city.

IT LOOKS LIKE A FRANCO-GERMAN CRISIS

COUNTY-WIDE SCHOOL NEWS

By B. E. McGLAMERY

The regular monthly meeting of the Eastland county school board will be held on Monday, Aug. 7, 1933, at 2:30 p. m., in the office of County Supt. B. E. McGlamery.

Schools will not be classified by the Eastland county school board until after this meeting. We are also advised to hold all teachers' contracts for approval until after this date.

The State Board of Education has set the per capita apportionment for 1933-34 at $16. This is quite a bit above what was generally expected.

At a called session of the county school board on Saturday, July 29, 1933, at the request of citizens and trustees of the two districts, the Lone Star district No. 8 was consolidated with the Gorman independent district.

Validity of Hot Oil Order Quizzed

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The validity of an administration order against the movement in interstate commerce of oil produced in defiance of state conservation orders was questioned in court today.

Secretary of Interior Ickes was given until Aug. 15 to show cause why an injunction should not be issued against enforcement of the executive order to stop the flow of oil produced in violation of orders. The injunction was sought in district court by F. W. Fischer of Tyler who contended the order was unconstitutional.

HOLD EXAMINATIONS

Another examination to qualify collectors for cotton statistics is being held in the Commissioners' court rooms at the court house. Three men and one woman are taking the examination with P. L. Harris of the Eastland postoffice in charge.

Free Roping To Be Staged Sunday At the Rodeo Grounds

Everyone is invited to visit the roping contest who wishes to do so. No admission fee is to be charged for spectators, but an entrance fee will be made to all contestants with the purse divided among the three winners in each event.

Funeral Services Conducted at Anson By Ranger Pastor

Funeral services were conducted at Anson Thursday afternoon by Rev. K. C. Edmonds of Ranger for L. B. "Tip" Brown of Odessa, formerly of Anson, who was killed in an automobile accident near Odessa.

The decedent had visited in Ranger a number of times, where he was known by a number of residents. Several from Ranger attended the funeral services.

Unskilled Laborers Adopt Wage Scale

Unskilled laborers met at the Elks club arena Thursday night to form a code under the National Industrial Recovery Act. Approximately 200 were present at the meeting, which was presided over by J. B. Heister, temporary chairman of the building craftsmen.

Working conditions were thoroughly discussed and a minimum wage was adopted to go into effect Aug. 14. The wage agreed upon was 40 cents an hour for a 40-hour week with not over eight hours in any one day.

O. A. Gray was spokesman for laborers at the meeting.

Mystery of Lightship Is Believed Solved

NEW BEDFORD, Mass.—The mystery of what happened to the old Cross Rip lightship, which vanished in moving ice during the winter of 1918, is believed to have been solved.

Wreckage hauled up from the bottom of Vineyard Sound by the government dredger W. L. Marshall is believed to be the remains of the lightship.

After the vessel's disappearance 15 years ago, coast guards searched throughout this area, but no trace of either the ship or her six-man crew was found.

Why

Chesterfields are as good as Science and Money can make them

Every pound of Domestic tobacco used in Chesterfield cigarettes is aged for thirty months—2 1/2 years. Science knows there is no other way to make cigarette tobaccos mild and mellow.

Every process used in the manufacture of Chesterfield cigarettes is modern, scientific and clean—visitors are always impressed with the cleanliness of the Chesterfield factories.

Every ingredient, including the paper, is pure—nothing that you eat or drink is tested more carefully.

And Chesterfields are made right; the right length, the right diameter, and filled right—a detail perhaps, but if a cigarette is "to satisfy" it must be made right.

Everything about Chesterfield is as good as money can buy or Science knows about—you have our word for this.

And Chesterfields are milder and taste better—this much you can prove for yourself.

Chesterfield

the cigarette that's MILDER • the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

Former Students Hankins College To Meet Aug. 28

On Aug. 28 a home-coming will be held at Gorman for all former students of the Hankins Normal college. This decision was reached at a meeting that was held at Gorman last week and attended by several of the ex-students from this portion of the county.

Judge C. L. Garrett was elected chairman of the temporary organization. It is understood that the purpose is to make the organization permanent and the home-comings will be held annually in the future.

Committees have been appointed on arrangements, entertainment, publicity, which includes contacting as many of the former students as possible, and other activities necessary to insure the success of the home-coming. The program for the forenoon will be held at one of the churches of Gorman. At the noon hour the meeting will adjourn to Bass lake where a barbecue will have been arranged.

The program is to consist of some of the old songs and yells that were used when the college was in its heyday. Debating was the most important activity of the students, so a debate, in which four members of the former teams will take part, will be held as a part of the program. The relating of interesting and amusing incidents of the old school will be another important feature of the program.

Judge Garrett has been informed that Judges Cyrus B. Frost will have prominent places on the program. It is also expected that J. F. and J. H. Hankins, owners of and teachers in the school, now prominent business men of Lubbock, will be present. J. B. McIntyre, a former teacher, but now an attorney of Dallas, is also expected to attend.

This school was established by the Hankins brothers, who were twins, about 1904, and they continued to operate it as a normal college for about 10 years. It was a very popular school at the time and had a large attendance of students from this section of the state.

Some of the former students who now live in or near Eastland are: Mrs. B. E. McGlamery, Judge and Mrs. Ed S. Pritchard, Judge Elzo Been, Rufus Been, Mrs. Irene Hightower, Earl Bender, Judge Cyrus B. Frost, Mrs. D. J. Jobe, Ed Layton, R. E. Sikes, Mrs. A. C. Simmons, Ernest Jones, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Muston, Judge C. L. Garrett, Dr. and Mrs. Sam Poe, T. L. Cooper, A. A. Edmondson, Wiley Harbin, Herschel Harbin, O. H. Burkett, Mrs. L. Y. Morris, Luther Carter and W. W. Kelly.

Another interesting fact in regard to the ex-students of this school is the number who have been officials or deputy officials in the county. They are: Ed S. Pritchard, Elzo Been, Earl Bender, Cyrus B. Frost, Ed Layton, R. E. Sikes, Mrs. A. C. Simmons, Ernest Jones, C. L. Garrett, T. L. Cooper, A. A. Edmondson, Herschel Harbin, O. H. Burkett, Joe Burkett, and George Vaught. Mrs. B. E. McGlamery and Mrs. D. J. Jobe are wives of officials.

Special Election Ballots Will Be Headed 'For' and 'Against' Proposals

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN—Approximately 600,000 Texans are expected to participate in an interesting experiment in psychology on Aug. 26 at the same time they cast their ballots on proposals for changes in the national and state constitutions.

For the first time the ballots will be arranged in such a way that a person can cast a straight "for" vote or a straight "against" vote. Heretofore, ballots have been printed so that a separate marking was required on each proposition submitted. This time all the "for" proposals will be on the left of the ballot as it faces the voter and all the "against" sections on the voter's right.

The returns will give insight into the extent to which voters consider amendments separately and the extent to which they are content or dissatisfied generally.

It is pretty usually taken for granted that the vote on ratification of the proposed 21st amendment to the federal constitution and that on the 3.2 beer-wine amendment to the state constitution will be about the same. Some predict the vote for national repeal will run ahead of the vote for beer and wine, while others are confident that the demand for 3.2 beer will far outrun the vote for repeal of national prohibition.

Of the other state amendments to be voted on, chief interest attaches to the proposal to authorize relief bond issues not exceeding $20,000,000. In the larger counties, especially considerable interest is being displayed in a county home rule amendment. Many years ago the power was conferred upon cities to adopt charters containing such provisions as the people desired. The amendment to be voted upon Aug. 26 extends practically the same power to counties. It also holds out the possibility of a combination city-county government. It is the saving in operating costs by such combination that was argued as the chief benefit of the proposal before the legislature.

The other state amendment will probably be decided by people who have no interest in it. It is merely an amendment to the amendment adopted a year ago freeing $3,000 of the taxable value of resident homesteads from state taxation. The amendment as voted then provided the exemption should not affect homesteads in the counties or smaller political subdivisions which had been granted general state exemption. These exemptions had been granted in order to allow the issuance of improvement or protection bond issues. The amendment to be voted upon Aug. 26 merely varies the existing condition so that the homestead tax exemption can be claimed when the local governing body certifies that the general state tax remission no longer is required. The tax remissions have been granted chiefly along the gulf coast and in the lower Rio Grande valley for flood or storm protection works and the amendment affects only those sections.

The estimate that 600,000 persons will vote in the election is based on the poll tax payments. Reports show that nearly 646,000 voters paid poll taxes in time to be qualified this year. Of course, all of them will not vote, but the non-voters probably will be offset by the number of persons exempt from poll tax requirements because of youth or because of having passed 60 years.

An effort to open the vote to all who paid the poll tax before July 15 was made in the last legislature, but failed.

NO LIMIT DAYS

There never has been an August so important to you from the standpoint of savings... Never a time with such a clear-cut message of "BUY NOW!"

Everybody knows that prices on cotton, silk, rayon, wool, rubber and hides, as well as countless other raw materials are already up—and headed HIGHER!

Higher prices are a definite part of the Government's NATIONAL RECOVERY PROGRAM calling for higher wages and shorter working hours—and providing definitely for increased prices for farm products under the Agricultural Allotment Plan.

Prices must go up for the general good and we should all be encouraged that they are doing so, for higher prices mean, inevitably, a return of better times for all of us!

At the present moment, however, we own hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of brand new merchandise which was purchased at levels which now no longer exist. When we re-order this merchandise we will pay substantially more for it and you will too... so, if savings mean anything at all to you, you will stock up at Penney's during August before the further advances which are sure to become effective this fall.

Select Your Fall Purchases NOW!

PICTURES OF SILVER
By BEULAH K. HICKS
Ruth 1:6-10, 14-19

Ruth—a book of four short chapters. What an unfolding of beautiful pictures; pictures that shall live through the centuries of time, of love and humble devotion.

Three heart-broken widows, Naomi, wife of Elemelech; Orpah, wife of Chilion; Ruth, wife of Mahlon; made preparation for a journey back to Judah, Naomi's country; leaving behind the three graves, which Naomi left to be the result of living in a heathen land under a strange God, Chemosh. The wives of these sons, Ruth and Orpah, were heathen Moabites.

Naomi, Ruth and Orpah set out on the return journey. Naomi was troubled and insisted that the girls turn back to their mother's houses. Orpah turned back. Ruth, with a great love for her mother-in-law, visioned the hardships in a strange land, but caught a higher vision of Naomi's God and refused to turn back.

And Ruth said, "Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God." Ruth 1:16.

This pure, unselfish love with Naomi's God as her God, led Ruth through many wonderful experiences to a home of plenty where happiness and contentment dwelled with her as the wife of Boaz. A son, Obed, was born to them, who was the father of Jesse, who was the father of the great King David, who was the most famous earthly ancestor of our Lord Jesus Christ.

This same Jesus who taught many years later the truth exemplified in the life of Ruth, that whosoever should save his life must lose it. Ruth gave up her home, her God and her people to go with Naomi, whom she loved. This love brought her to Jehovah, Lord of Hosts, who blessed her, of heathen parents, to come in the line of blessed ancestry of His Son.

In the selection of friends today we more often count what they can do for us in a worldly way rather than how we can mutually grow higher in spiritual perception, catching new visions of love and service.

Boaz, who was in a hurry to claim this gentle maiden, Ruth, as his bride, was kind, courteous, and considerate of the law, giving the nearest kinsman choice as the law demanded.

Do we select friends today that influence us to higher planes or do they pull us into the common humdrum of the way of the world where "we heed not Jehovah's land."

No one really lives who does not have a great friendship. Truly we have many friends; are a friend to many people; are a friendship founded upon the principles exemplified in the life of Ruth and taught in the New Testament is rare and beautiful.

Jesus is the friend of friends and his words are ever a comfort and inspiration to those who draw nigh unto Him. He ever taught, "Let us love one another; for love is of God." 1 John 4:7.

FOR LESS THAN 5¢ A DAY YOU CAN USE ESSO

ESSO is a premium motor fuel of the highest quality. It is worth more than you are asked to pay for regular gasoline. But the added cost, since the reduction of the premium on ESSO from three to two cents, is negligible; for less than 5c a day more than you pay for regular gasoline, you can use ESSO regularly in your car. For less than 5c a day you can experience the satisfaction that comes from perfect performance. For ESSO is in a class by itself; it is more powerful than any gasoline. Advertising claims for ESSO are unnecessary. We make none. We urge you, however, to test ESSO in your car, particularly if you are not getting complete satisfaction from the gasoline you are now using. We believe that you will notice a distinct difference between ESSO and the gasoline you are now using, whether you use regular or premium gasoline. # BARGAIN BRIDIE

by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

ELINOR STAFFORD, 20, falls in love with Barrett Colvin, 35, but her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, breaks her off romance by convincing Barrett that Elinor is a heartless flirt.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARRETT inherits BENWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live in his home as a guest for a year, he will give her the entire Sexton fortune to divide among her relatives. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place. Barrett, in spite of the lies Lida told him, finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. He has a ward, nine-year-old GERALD MOORE, who is the son of his half-sister, MARCELA KADON. Barrett has promised Marceła never to reveal the boy's true story.

Elinor's father dies. Her mother discovers the existence of Barrett's ward and tells Elinor the boy is Barrett's son. When she asks him Barrett cannot explain because of his promise to Marceła. Misunderstandings between Barrett and Elinor increase. They take a house in the country and Gerald comes to live with them. Both Elinor and Barrett are miserable but seem powerless to straighten out the situation.

BOB TELFARE pays them a visit and Barrett discovers that his suspicions that Elinor has been flirting with Bob are entirely unfounded.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVII

THERE was a moon and after dinner Elinor led the way to the terrace. Barrett and Bob Telfare settled themselves beside her, watching the yellow disc rise in the sky. Higgins brought their coffee to them and presently Bessie and Jim Thropes and their boys arrived.

Sexton, who was the youngest and thus able to forget old times, was talking about a motor boat. The other boys spoke eagerly of college in the fall. Bessie listened happily. She knew that something she had said to Elinor that day had made a decided difference. Bessie had seen the changed light in the girl's eyes, a little trembling of her lips. Poor Elinor who was so young, with so much of life to learn!

"We must be going now," Bessie said when the clock indoors struck 10.

After the Thropes had gone, slipping on their way down the hill like ancient, traveling minstrels, Elinor went upstairs. For a long while she stood by the window of her darkened room looking over the moonlit world below.

That afternoon Bessie had nodded toward Gerald, playing on the beach with Sexton, and said, "Elinor, I feel that you're misinterpreting something and Jim's forbidden me to say more. He says Barrett would explain if he dated and I must not—if Barrett won't. But, dear, even if the situation were as it seems, you know a woman's job is to help a man make his future worth while. It isn't right to brood over the past. Everything Barrett can become is in your hands. What he was before you knew him—"

Elinor had begun to tremble. She had not wanted to talk about that even to Bessie. Nevertheless Bessie went on. "It's natural enough for you to be jealous about what has been but you don't presly love, my dear, until you want to help the person you love to cover old wounds and forget them. If Gerald is Barrett's son you'll never regret making Barrett as happy as he can be about it. And when you're as old as I am you'll realize that the only times you've been hurt were when you made others downcast by showing them that they hurt you. Barrett loves you. Anyone can see that!"

Elinor had begun to cry. "I do love him, Aunt Bessie," she whispered. "But—"

They had talked for an hour and Bessie was sure that in some way Elinor had begun to understand the things she longed to tell her and could not.

It was half past 10 when Barrett mounted the stairs. Bob Telfare had gone to his room half an hour earlier. There was a telegram for Elinor and Barrett, not wishing to disturb her, decided to poke it beneath her door. He had writing to do and he knew that he could not sleep. Long training had made it possible for him to concentrate and thereby gain a sort of relief. He worked but his mind was not really on his work. Again and again, as he sat writing, his pen would slow and the objects he was describing—objects he had unearthed after centuries of hiding in the earth—would fade to be replaced by Elinor's face.

Hard moments those; moments when it was all he could do to stay at his desk. Often they left him spent and shaking. It was the futility of the situation that troubled him, the fact that it was all so unnecessary and was making Elinor so miserable.

He tapped on her door and to his surprise heard her say, "Come in!"

"It's I—Barrett," he explained. "Come in," she repeated.

He opened the door. She was sitting up in bed, the light from a lamp beside her shining down on her hair.

"Have you a moment to spare?" she asked.

"Of course." He didn't understand this. "I brought up a telegram that came for you," he said.

Elinor took it and he sat down in a chair that was near her. She tore open the envelope with its small transparent window. Then, "Mother's married!" she gasped.

SHE gave him the message and he read it with a certain grim amusement. Lida had married a Chicago merchant whose reputation Barrett knew well—a Blue-beard Croesus with a string of discarded wives in his cupboard. He would, Barrett reflected, be a match even for Lida.

"Well!" he said, and could think of no more suitable comment.

"I expected that—or something like it," Elinor admitted. "but not quite so soon." She grew silent then. Barrett felt she was trying to say something more and that it was not easy for her to begin.

He had his own speech to make and he wanted to get it over. "Elinor," he said, and then hesitated.

"Yes?" Why was she looking at him in that way? It was dangerous for both of them.

"Elinor, I want to tell you that I respect you wholly and in every way. I haven't always. I had an idea—a rather fixed idea—that you were carrying on some sort of affair with Bob Telfare. I'm thoroughly ashamed of that now and I hope you can forgive me. I know how fine you are in every way and have always been. I—"

he paused, balked.

"But, Barrett! I couldn't do a thing like that!" she said quickly. "I couldn't! I've seen too much of it to be able to indulge in it myself. I've been square—that way, but not in others. I've been—small, Barrett; I know I have."

He saw that her lips were trembling. "I don't see that," he disagreed.

"Yes, you do! Or you could—if you would! I've made you so unhappy!"

"That wasn't your fault," he assured her. "I know I hurt you—desperately."

She shook her head violently. "I hurt myself," she confessed unsteadily, "by acting the way I have."

After a tug o' war with the Joneses, we sit us down and begin that eternal gazing across the highways . . . to other pastures.

Whereupon, we leave the canaries and gold fish and children for a day and betake ourselves to the "city."

It is merely a matter of wearing

We gain back those eight pounds we so gloriously lost through a dieting July:

Our feet hurt from an overdose of tramping:

Our noses shine determinedly and our lipsticks cake and our hair flies disgustingly.

As home we come . . . with a toy horse for Junior and a ragged bank account.

Hail the purchases: a nail file, some gala bows for last fall's pumps, a few remaining grains of pop-oom, and an empty sensation in the middle of us.

It is a psychological matter.

The craze is quieted, the desire satisfied.

We throw our confidential attitude about us and go a-calling:

"Why, my dear, I simply tramped the streets. You'll never find it in Petrograd. Well, I just came right home and picked up the very thing I wanted . . . yes sir, right here . . ."

Box coats, broad shoulders, lots of fur . . .

Burglars Enter Three Places In Eastland Wed.

Burglars were active in Eastland Wednesday night. The Beskow Jewelry Store on West Main, the Jarecki Manufacturing Company's place of business on East Main and the offices of the Gulf Production Company north of the Texas & Pacific tracks were entered sometime during the night and property taken from each place.

At Beskow's, a small hole was broken in the front show window and some rings, watches and other jewelry taken. This was done by fishing the articles from the window with wires. A wire clothes hanger and another wire that were used were found near the store.

The burglars entered the Jarecki building by cutting a hole in one of the rear window screens and unlatched the screen from the outside. Nothing was found to have been molested except the safe and clerks said about $300 was missing from that. They said, too, that only one cash drawer of the safe had been opened. The drawer was locked and it seemed that the one doing the burglary knew just what key to use. Those in charge of the store did not know whether or not the outer doors of the safe were locked at the close of business Wednesday afternoon.

At the Gulf Production offices nothing seems to have been th-

For greater safety, Riverside's Center Traction Tread gives both forward and sidewise skid protection! This is a patented Riverside feature that took over 3 years to perfect. We have not licensed any other manufacturer to use it. And you'll find Riverside's non-skid safety tread is wider! That means up to 40% more rubber on the road than in other famous makes. Riversides are safer—because you can stop quicker! Save with safety on Riversides!

LATEX

MAKES RIVERSIDE TIRES Blow-out Proof!

They're built to prevent cord separation—the cause of blowouts!

When you drive your car at high speed, the heat inside your tire is terrific! In many tires this heat causes cords to separate—makes blisters—weakens your tire. When you hit a bump or rock . . . BANG!—a blowout! Riverside's cords—the HEART of the tire—are made from extra strong, long staple, premium cotton. Every single cord of every ply is dipped in LATEX—expensive, 100% pure, liquid, virgin rubber. This cements Riverside's cords into a single strong unit. It gives Riverside the strongest tire carcass made—prevents separation, the cause of blowouts! Riverside tires are as blowout proof as science and money can make them!

Why We Guarantee To Save You Money

Of course Riversides are made in one of America's largest and best tire factories. BUT—they come direct to us—minus the manufacturer's selling and general overhead expense. That's a saving. The second saving comes from Ward's low cost method of distribution. These two reasons explain why we sell high quality tires for less. It's simple to figure out for yourself why Riversides are better in quality, mileage, and safety than any other tire at the same price.

Gives 8% to 36% Longer Wear

A secret process which mixes just-the-right percentage of "Carbon-black" with the finest rubber gives Riversides their granite-like strength and toughness. Tests prove that this formula, one of the most carefully guarded in the industry, gives Riversides from 8% to 36% longer wear.
