A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

STRENGTH AND WISDOM: With God is strength and wisdom: the deceived and the deceiver are his, —Job 12: 16.

AN END OF REMISSIONS

The legislature's purpose to start a drive against delinquent taxpayers able to pay, who are accused of having used penalty remission laws for profit, shows that Texas has had about the last law of the depression further to waive penalties and interest.

The penalty remission bills did benefit some who would not have been able to pay back taxes and the severe penalties and interest. It permitted small home-owners for instance to save their properties.

From now on, the small homes—$3000 assessed value of all homesteads—have been exempted from state taxes, and thus the burden has been somewhat lightened.

But it was found those property-owners best able to pay taxes were taking advantage of the generous attitude by waiting for laws to remit their penalties and interest. In some cases, the property-owners were using the money they owed the state, county, schools and city for speculation in real estate, or the building of rental property, all on the delinquent-tax rolls.

That was what has turned the state policy away from further remissions and waivers.

At the next regular session, the legislature may shift the tax load about somewhat. There is little prospect in the remaining three weeks of this session that anything of a substantial nature can or will be done about taxes, despite a pre-session campaign by a state group for a sales-tax substitute for part of the present load of ad valorem levies and for amortizing the bonds to be issued.

Neither of the bond proposals so far before the legislature had called for any new tax for funding purposes. Taxation has not been committed by the governor, even in connection with the bond-issue bill she sent up, but rather was avoided by her in the plan of setting aside part of present revenues for paying off the bonds.

AN INTERMEDIATE STEP

Much is being said, in the state rehabilitation program, about the proposed subsistence colonies, or small group farm-operations.

These subsistence farms, at best, are but a first step toward the rehabilitation goal, and a step twice-removed from its achievement.

The objective is to get industrial misfits back upon land where they can produce their own food from the soil. But, as swelling tenantry, and perpetuating the old system of huge plantations all in cotton or wheat, with low paid labor, or poverty-stricken share-croppers, that would be worse than futile.

The real objective must combine living on the farm with farm-ownership. It is predicted upon the independence of owning land and a farm home, of working for one's self, for growing food and feed, for creating a contented home life in which money is needed for only a few wants and a few luxuries.

France, with the highest acreage of any nation of land-owners, has over half its landowners in possession of less than 2 1/2 acres. In China, nearly 90 per cent of the families subsist on less than two acres of land each. In those countries it was shown that a family can live on an extremely small plot of ground, intensively cultivated.

The subsistence colonies, where community facilities are provided, will enable families to get a modest start on small tracts. But they can serve only to speed the transition, not only back to the farm, but back to ownership of their farms and their farm homes.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT the attempt on the part of many politicians to put certain lines of commercial business out of business and the government into commercial business in direct competition with its citizens is causing much concern to the business world, as it endangers all business.

It does not seem fair to those citizens who have invested their money to gain for themselves an occupation and a means of making a living and those millions of citizens who have invested their savings in stocks and bonds of private enterprises to be attacked in an unfair manner.

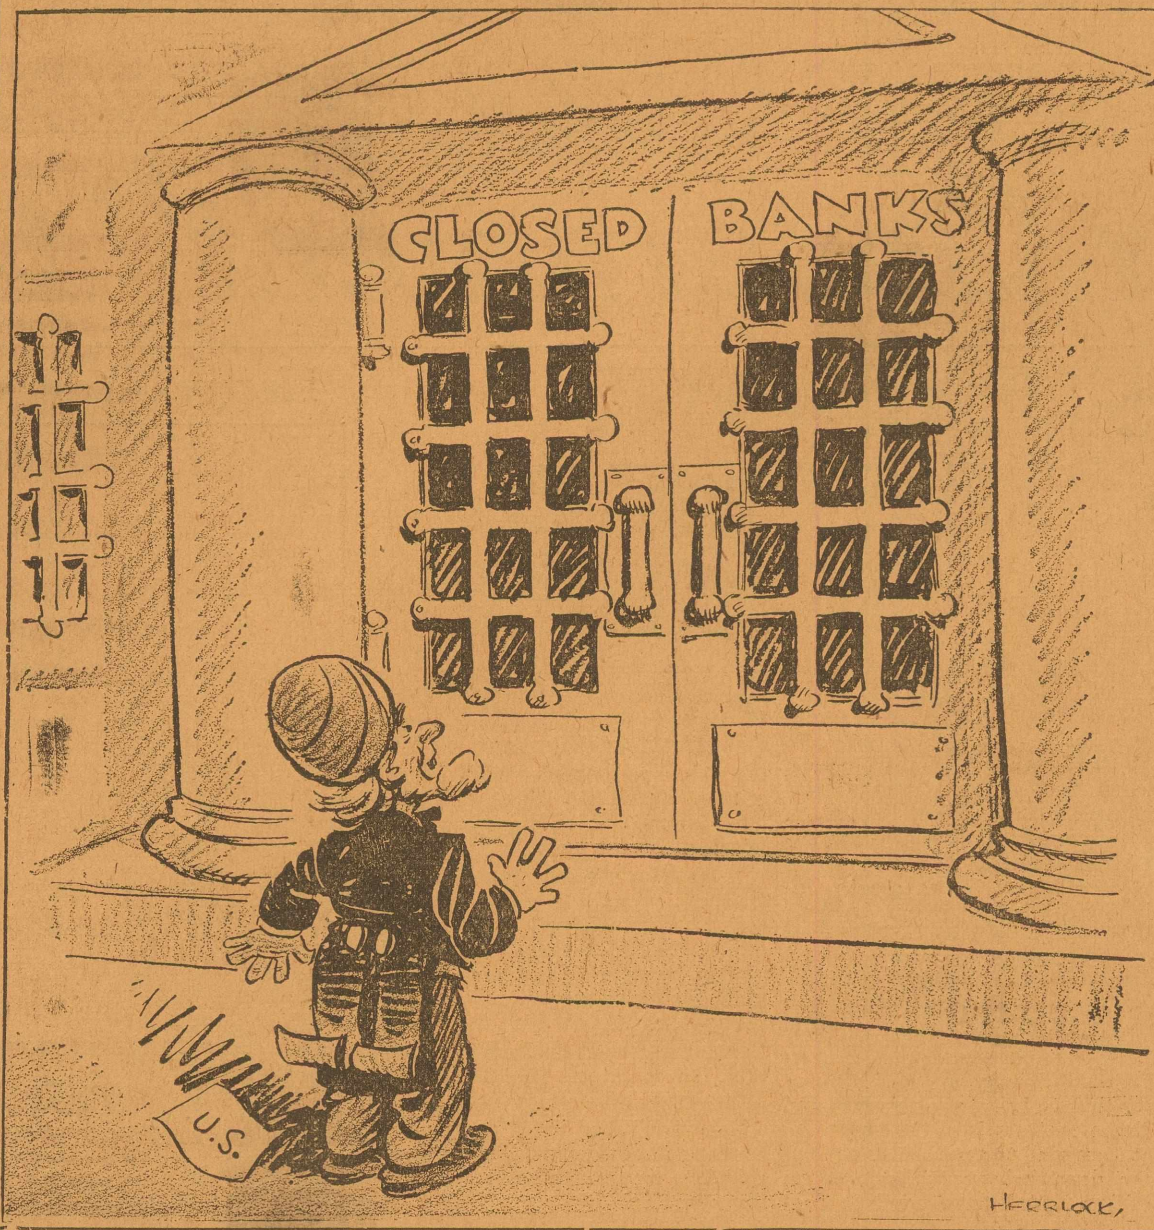

There is only one end to a private enterprise owned by citizens that must enter into direct competition with the government—the citizens lose.

A corporation is nothing more or less than a lot of people putting their money together to do what one person cannot do alone.

There seems to be nothing wrong with these different business concerns except that they are big and successful and, as yet in this country, it is not a crime to be successful.

Some politicians seem to think that abuse of private capital is a short route to applause and public office.

STOCK MARKETS TODAY

Ford Goes Back To 40-Hour Week

By United Press
DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 28.—Henry Ford is quietly putting his nation-wide industrial empire back on a five day, 40 hour week so his employees can make a living wage, the United Press learned today.

Ford had ordered a 32-hour week for a six week period, intending to go back to the 40-hour week later and thus average 35 hours weekly to conform to the automobile code which he has refused to sign.

He discovered, however, that thousands of workers were able to earn only $16 a week under the 32 hour schedule, in spite of recent wage increases.

The manufacturer intends to conform to the automobile code by closing his factories two or three days every four months. He is still determined to abide by the terms of the code.

DESDEMONA

DESDEMONA Sept. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Martin drove down to Cisco Saturday, to visit a few days.

Mrs. C. C. Evans of Cisco is visiting her daughter Mrs. W. H. Whitworth and family.

W. R. McNeill and family of Dublin were guests of Mrs. J. E. Derrick and family Sunday.

Mrs. W. R. McGowan entertained the Methodist Missionary Society very delightfully Monday afternoon at her home in Genoway Addition. Mrs. McGowan who is the new president of the society, presided. The devotionals were led by Mrs. Z. L. Howell after which the minutes were read by Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass, recording secretary, who was meeting with the society for the first time since her serious illness of the early summer. The last chapter of the book "Facing the Future in Indian Missions," was studied with Mrs. W. C. Bedford leader. Rev. Z. L. Howell presented plans for collection of the church benevolences. The hostess served delicious refreshments of sandwiches, tapioca pudding with whipped cream and ice tea, to the following: Rev. and Mrs. Howell, Miss Lois Howell; Meses. R. K. Glanton, W. E. Barron, C. M. Bratton, W. C. Bedford, Gifford Acree, S. E. Snodgrass, Arnold Anderson and daughter and Charles Lee.

V. V. McMurry of Cisco was here on business a few days last week.

Dick Cutting whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cutting, moved from Desdemona to Cuba, New York in June, left several days ago for A. & M. College where he is a senior, after a visit here with N. D. Gallagher and family.

Mrs. Robert Dawley and baby of Caddo, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Henslee, the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McEntire of Comanche were guests of their son Style McEntire and family at the home of Mrs. J. E. Derrick, Saturday and Sunday. They came especially to see their new grandson, baby of Mr. and Mrs. Style McEntire.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ashburn drove up to Cisco on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Acree spent Friday in Fort Worth on business. Miss Faye Cromer of Dallas was the guest of Mrs. S. T. Stover and family, Sunday and Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. Z. C. Chambliss spent Sunday at Breckenridge, where he preached at the Baptist church.

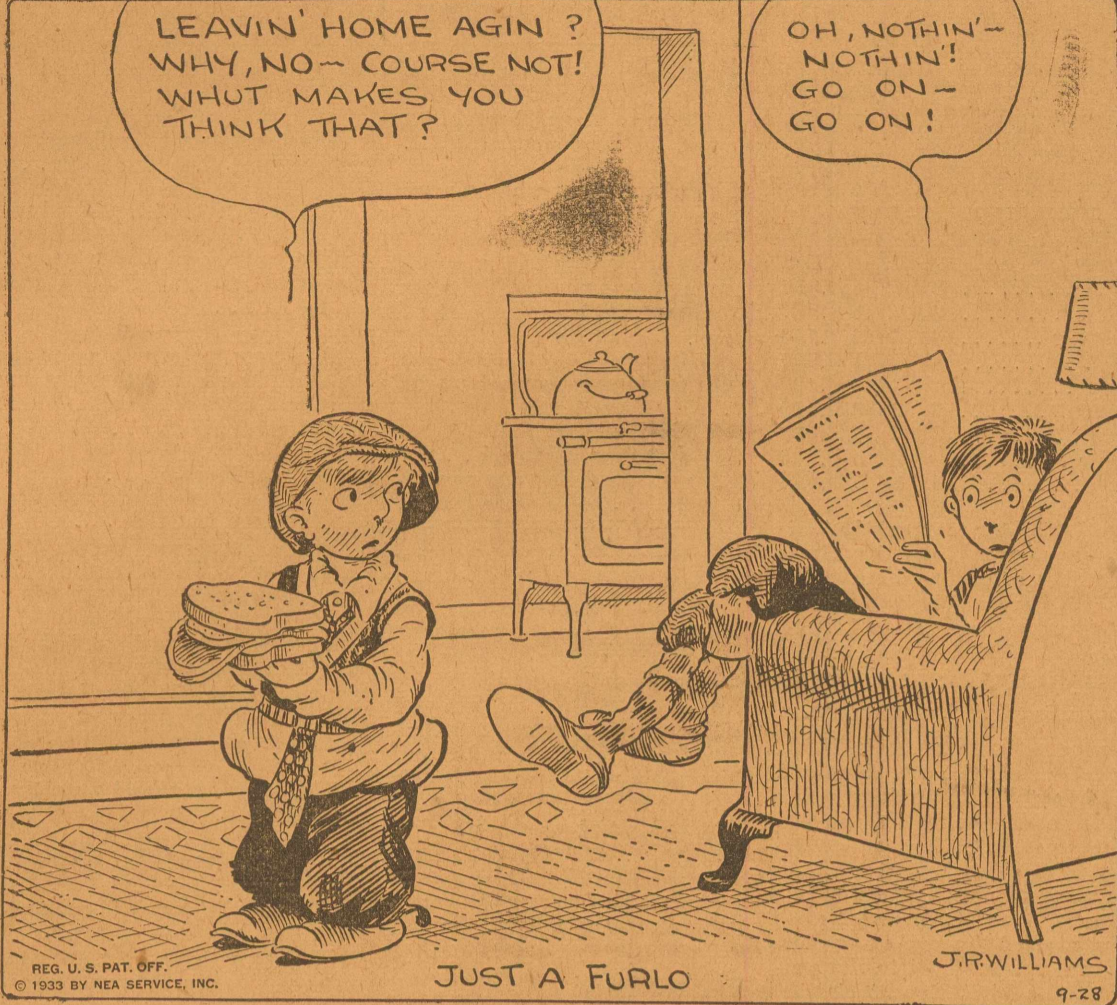

Mrs. S. E. Browning had with her on Wednesday, the following children who came to attend the funeral of their uncle, John Browning: Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Browning; Mrs. W. M. Ford and daughter, Oleta, of Mt. Vernon, and Mrs. Winnie Hoover and son, Earl, of Ranger.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Henslee drove down to Glen Rose Thursday and Mrs. Henslee took her weekly piano lesson from Madame Anna Majer Rapley of Dallas, who recently opened her studio in Glen Rose. Madame Rapley is quite a noted pianist, being a graduate of the school in Berlin, where Paderewski graduated. Mr. and Mrs. Henslee then drove to Dallas and spent the night and on Friday brought home a piano which had parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis, had bought for her.

Mrs. Gifford Acree spent the week-end at Ranger with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pritchett.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Ellison Springs family burying ground for John Browning, who passed away early Tuesday morning, Sept. 19, at his home near the Ellison Springs, where he had lived since early manhood. He was born at Quinlan, Hunt County, on Nov. 16, 1856, being 76 years, 10 months and 3 days old at the time of his death. He moved to East-

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bibby's department store, marries DICK HADER, a construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to go with him.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble at the office. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed.

Unknown to Dick, Eve has been playing the stock market, borrowing money from her mother and sister. She loses this, as well as all her own savings and $400 Dick left in the bank.

Following a misunderstanding at Christmas, weeks pass in which Eve does not hear from Dick. She is too stubborn to admit that she was in the wrong and apologize. Eve works harder at the office, trying to forget her troubles. Her mother comes to visit her and tries to persuade her to give up her job. Then Eve learns that Barnes, the advertising manager, is resigning and that she has been selected to take his place.

On a doctor's advice she takes her vacation early and decides to go to Pine Forest to see Dick. Eve feels they must arrive at some understanding about their future.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVI

DICK was not at the boarding house when Eve arrived there. A servant answered the bell and invited Eve into the living room to wait for him. A moment later Mrs. Williams entered. Her blue eyes looked kindly and she settled herself for a chat but Eve neither disclosed the purpose of her visit or asked questions about Dick.

Presently Mrs. Williams excused herself and returned to the kitchen. Eve grew nervous and restless. Then she saw Dick's yellow roadster coming around the bend of the road. She sat stock-still. Dick stopped the car before the door and his companion—an attractive girl—stepped out, entered the house and passed down the center hall.

Dick drove on but soon reappeared. A moment later he stood in the great arched doorway of the hall, staring at Eve.

"Why, Eve!" he cried. Plainly he was embarrassed and Eve immediately thought of the girl who had been with him.

"Well, this is a surprise!" Dick was saying.

Eve's composure left her. She began to cry and this only increased Dick's embarrassment.

"Not here," he said. "Come up to my room." He led the way to a large upstairs bedroom.

"You don't seem very pleased to see me," she said in a trembling voice.

"I'm surprised, that's all."

"Well, you may as well know I saw you with your girl friend," she said accusingly. "I'm sorry now that I came."

Dick laughed. "You needn't be," he said easily. "I was out at the job this morning and picked her up on the way back. She's one of the teachers who live here and she was walking home from church. It wouldn't have been very polite to pass her by, would it?"

"It looked odd to me."

"See here!" Dick said hotly. "I'll not be put on the defensive just for giving a person a lift." "Oh, Dick—we're quarrelling again and I didn't want to." He turned away from her and looked out the window.

"Dick," Eve began timidly. He half-turned. "Dick, I was so lonely!" she added wistfully. He turned and she was in his arms.

EVE found the little town of Pine Forest enchanting. It had been settled by enterprising sons and daughters of New England pioneers, hence its architecture was strictly colonial.

In the afternoon Dick took Eve for a drive into the woodland. The unpaved road wound in and out among the trees, downhill and up, until they came to a clearing high above a lake. Below them the water, blue-black from the dense shadows, resembled a huge mirror, banked by foliage. Eve stood entranced and Dick's arm gently slipped about her.

"Like it, sweetheart," he asked.

"It's heavenly," she answered softly.

That night she slept more soundly than she had slept for months and awakened refreshed and eager for the new day.

They took more trips into the woods in the days that followed. "To think," Eve said one evening, "that you have been enjoying all this while I've been cooped up in an office worrying about petty jealousies and having general grief!"

"You didn't have to, you know," Dick reminded her. "And you needn't go back."

"Oh, but I'm going!" she said, instantly regretting her outburst.

DICK had often spoken of his Aunt Sophronia and he had promised to take Eve to see her some day. Since Aunt Sophronia's home was not far distant they set out early Saturday morning and drove south through the mountains and foothills into the Cherry Valley.

They followed the turnpike over rolling farm country until they came to a little village nestled among the hills.

They drove into the yard before a small colonial cottage and Eve stepped out of the car. Then Dick pulled the old-fashioned bell and set its ring pealing through the house.

A tall, wiry woman dressed in tight-fitting black greeted them.

"We are Aunt Sophronia's niece and nephew," Dick announced.

From an inner room a commanding voice called, "Send 'em in, Hannah! Send 'em in!"

Sophonra Rader greeted her nephew affectionately, then turned to Eve who went forward and graciously extended her hand.

"This is Eve, my wife," said Dick.

Aunt Sophronia and Eve became friends immediately. Eve's heart warmed to the aged woman who had broken a hip at the age of 80 and lived to continue her cheerful philosophy.

Looking about the room Eve's eyes brightened and she cried out, "Dick, look at that lovely whatnot—with spool turnings, too!"

Aunt Sophronia glanced around. "Humph—that old thing!" she said. "Why I've had it for 60 years. Neighbor gave it to me for helping her when she was sick. If you like it you can have it."

"Why, you darling!" Eve said and kissed her.

"See you like attiques, eh?" Aunt Sophronia said. "Well, I'm tired of them. Lived with them all my life. I like newfangled things better. But I have something I want to show you and if you like it you can have it too. It's old but it's right pretty. Hannah!" she called.

FINALLY Hannah responded. "Go into my room and bring the upper drawer of the highboy to me." Sophronia said briskly. Hannah came back lugging the mahogany drawer. Dick rose to help and they set it on a chair before the aunt. The fragrance of violets rose from its depths as the white-haired lady tenderly lifted delicate linens and bits of lace.

"There!" she said triumphantly when she had found what she sought. "I made this when I was only 16. It's a bedspread with two pillow shams."

They laid the spider-web lace over a mahogany table and Eve cried aloud, "Oh, it's too beautiful and too delicate for a bedspread! It should be used for a table cover. It's just too beautiful! But are you sure you want me to have it?"

"Yes," said Aunt Sophronia. "I've been saving it for Dick. I wasn't quite sure, though, what kind of a wife he'd pick. You know some of these young folks only appreciate what comes from a department store."

"Oh, I love it!" Eve assured her. "Well, at last I'll see it in use," said Aunt Sophronia. "Now that you have come to settle in these parts maybe I'll get up there for a little visit."

"We'd love to have you," Dick interposed hastily, "but you see I live at a boarding house and Eve is just spending her vacation with me."

Eve blushed before the steady gaze of Aunt Sophronia.

Finally the old lady said quite candidly, "What's the matter? Ain't your husband earning enough?"

All the way home Eve was silent. Dick had announced so casually that she was there for only two weeks. She was going back of course but she wanted him to show concern about it. Was he tired of her already? Eve pondered thus as they rode along through the sweet-smelling spruce countryside. She was uncomfortable and ill at ease.

Mexican Fiesta Opens 1920 Club Year's Work Ranger's 1920 club opened this year's work this afternoon at 3:30 with a Mexican fiesta in the colonial room of the Gholson hotel.

This is the thirteenth formal opening of the organization, with past and future work centering around the civic and cultural progress and welfare of the city.

Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, who was the first president of the local club in 1920, is serving her third term in this capacity. Under her leadership, the organization is planning one of the most interesting and instructive programs in its history.

On Nov. 2, Dr. C. D. Judd of the department of government in the College of Industrial Arts, Denton, will lecture to the club on "International Relations." April 16 will bring Miss Mary Marshall, head of the department of fine arts, also of C. I. A., to Ranger to speak on "Art in Life."

This literary group has had an active part in the building and developing of our schools. The members have encouraged Ranger High school graduates to go still further in educational training by offering the students' loan fund, available only to graduates of the high school here.

ter members of the fund that money should be extended only to Ranger high school graduates.

The fund has increased year by year, following its introduction by a chauntauqua, until it now involves $1,000. This is the second largest fund of its kind in the six districts of Texas. It ranked first until last year, when San Angelo forged ahead. A very small interest of 4 per cent is attached to the loans and according to Mrs. Bob Hodges, treasurer, no money has been lost on these loans.

All notes must be well secured by home owners and business men of the city. The money is in constant circulation, only a very small amount remaining idle throughout the year. Fourteen students have seen college and university life through its help. Of these, all have pushed ahead toward a worthy goal. Dan Robinson is now teaching in Tennessee; Dennis Holland knows all about mechanics in California; Octavia Trantham is located in Fort Worth; Carl Pratt, having graduated in the study, is a pharmacist in San Antonio; Doris Mitchell, Jack Galloway, and Charlotte Ratliff are located in the public schools here, teaching your boy and girl; Jack Poe is making his home in Fort Worth; Clara Barker is a resident of Ranger; Betty Dunlap teaches youngsters and grown-ups to run scales in Borger; Jean Williams is located in San Marcos, Gladys Rich in Kyle, and Thurman Gholston in Amarillo; while Zada Walton has taken up the responsibility of a home in Ranger.

And so the 1920 club offers culture, literature, and civic improvement to Ranger. The membership is limited to 30, there being no vacancies this year. Thursday, Oct. 5, opens the regular club year with a business meeting and program.

Child Study Club Has Unique Program The Child Study Club No. 1 was entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joe Thompson, with a "School Days" party.

Mrs. D. W. Nichol explained "The Difference in Our Children" to the club, followed by a helpful hint on the "Selection of School Clothes," by Mrs. Edwin George Jr.

The social hour, with hostess in charge, transferred the members of the club back to gingham and calico days. Chewing gum, liberally distributed, aided in the process. At the ringing of the school bell, members present were divided into two groups in order to compete in school yell and songs, dialogues, contests, etc.

School lunches in paper sacks and punch from a community fountain were served Mmes. O. G. Lanier, D. W. Nichol, Leola Martin, John Hassen, Pleas Moore, J. S. Reynolds, E. R. Green, Edwin George Jr., Guy Barp, and the hostess.

P-T. A.'s to Have Outing The Parent-Teacher associations of the Merriman and Cooper schools will meet Friday evening at Merriman at 7 p. m. for their annual school opening wainer roast. Officers of the two organizations request that all patrons attend the affair.

Mmes. Murphy Entertain at Elks Bridge Social Mmes. George Murphy and Rupert Murphy were co-hostesses at the Elks bridge party Wednesday afternoon at the Elks club-rooms.

Mrs. Roy Jameson won high in contract, Mrs. E. E. Crow high in auction, and Mrs. H. A. Logsdon won cut for all.

The next social will be Wednesday, Oct. 25, with Mmes. Walter Murray and Herbert Stafford, co-hostesses.

The party personnel named Mmes. Hoyt Agnew, Ralph Arnold, J. L. McClister, Mickey Sloan, E. E. Crow, W. A. Leith, E. C. Swoceland, Roy Jameson, H. A. Logsdon, A. P. Shirey, Leslie Downtain, Wade Swift, L. R. Pearson, Jimmie Nottingham, Walter Murray, Herbert Stafford, J. B. Houghton, W.

The Lone Star team of the Twilight League won from the Times Wednesday afternoon in a game filled with errors on each team, the final score being 13 to 11.

The Lone Star got off to a big lead in the first inning when they of Ranger attended their R. N. A. annual convention at Eastland Wednesday. The morning session included addresses by officers and business people of Eastland. Officers were elected at the afternoon program, with Pearl Childs of Ranger, president, and Hester Bolen, also of Ranger, chancellor.

A banquet was held in the evening at the First Baptist church. At the late session, devoted to memorial work and drill teams, the banner was presented the Ranger team, having a grade of 99.

The convention next year will come to Ranger.

Y. W. A. Presents Program The Young Woman's Auxiliary of the Central Baptist church presented the program for the evening at the prayer service Wednesday, with Miss Velma Brown in charge.

The women of the church are observing their week of prayer, with the young women co-operating in the program. The devotional, Acts 1:8, was led by Miss Hazel Davis. Miss Louise Moore gave a talk on "Missions," followed by a revue of "Our Debtorship," by Miss Ruth Shirley. Other members on program were Misses Winnie Snyder, who described "Buckner Orphans Home;" Ruth Elmore, with a discussion of "Old Ministers," and Velma Brown with a summary of "Baptist Schools."

Members present at the program were: Misses Opadel Brown, Lola Sue McGee, Ruth Elmore, Velma Brown, Winnie Snyder, Hazel Davis, Ruth Shirley, Elizabeth Shirley, Louise Moore, Margaret Dennis, and Ora Mae McGee.

DERRICK SHADOWS By V. MARIE STEPHENS

Tear bombs, 12 year old girls, machine guns and dissatisfied wives seem to be an adequate summary of the newspapers to date.

There are times when we wonder why the gods and fates ever afflicted us with the presence of a man named Urchel and why, since his existence is a reality, should he have been endowed with money.

The ease began as most cases do . . . away from home.

Another man kidnaped . . . more figures with a dollar mark preceding them . . . more gangsters . . .

scored seven runs after the Times had made two in the first half of the inning. Both teams went scoreless in the second and third, and Lone Star made three and the Times one in the fourth. In the fifth Lone Star was scoreless while the Times ran in three runs, made one more in the sixth and four in the seventh, while Lone Star made three in the last of the sixth.

No record of errors was kept and, with a few exceptions, all errors were scored as hits for the batters, which boosted the batting averages of practically all the players.

and we destroyed the paper.

Our ears grew bigger and our eyes wider with the capture of Bailey . . .

His jail escape so near home brought us quivering to the breakfast table . . .

His lengthy trial has bored us . . .

The capture of Kelly made us wonder what the final decision would be . . .

And now we're ready for them to check him out of the way somehow, and give us something soothing to think about . . .

An earthquake . . .

Or a nice, friendly rain right here at home.

In fact, we're so tired of bullets and anonymous letters and death threats, we aren't even interested that it's all being traced as close home as Coleman.

We haven't received a quiver of apprehension.

Nor a shiver of fright,

Nor a chill bump of excitement.

The papers have worn away such a rut of news on the case, we can't see over either side . . .

We're up to our windshields in soggy crime . . . and caring little for it all.

Not that we don't like crime. Oh yes, we're just as sensational as you are, although we do realize it is very bad taste.

But this crime is growing stale. We yearn for something new . . . a banner on inflation or the market or the NRA.

Hmmm. Well, not exactly that.

but something a little newer than the Urchel-Bailey-Kelly dope.

Elks Again Change Night For Fights

Another change in the dates for the Elks Club fights has been announced, with Monday again chosen as the day on which the shows will be staged.

Next Monday night Frankie Karr, who made such an impressive showing here last Tuesday, will meet Davy Jones, who is expected to give Karr stiffer competition. The fight is scheduled to go eight rounds.

In the semi-finals in boxing Benny Greenfield and Bobbie Reed will be seen in action, while in the wrestling bout Speedy Franks and Sammy McLauren will match holds. An attempt to get Cyclone Fox and McEnnis for the semi-finals is being made.

Family Joyful—Dad's

RHEUMATISM Has Left Him

When a man so crippled with rheumatism cannot go to his daily work and suddenly finds a swift, powerful yet safe prescription that drives out pain and agony in 48 hours you can imagine the jubilant happiness of the whole family as Dad brings home his pay envelope regularly again.

The Paramont Pharmacy, telephone 1, and leading druggists everywhere call this grand prescription ALLENRU and think so much of its mighty power to drive excess uric acid from the system that they guarantee one 85 cent bottle to overcome rheumatic pain and consequent backache, sciatica, neuritis and lumbago just as this notice states or money back—a square deal to all sufferers.
