One American Killed in Fighting at Havana

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

We just knew it. This morning we came down at least five minutes early to grab the San Angelo paper and read Blundy Cross' annual song entitled, "The Oil Belt Ain't What She Used to Be." Sure enough there it was right on the sports page. Blundy has been singing this tune each fall since the Oil Belt district was split up and the Sheep Dip district, as it has been dubbed by some, was organized.

Back in 1931 Blundy sang that tune long and loud. And the Oil Belt, represented by the Abilene Eagles slipped clear into the state championship, while the Sheep Dip district fell by the wayside in their first bi-district game. In 1932 he sang it again when Sweetwater defeated Abilene. This season he has had more reason to harp on the Oil Belt sinking into a deep hole more than ever before, because each team has lost a game. Abilene lost to Sweetwater; Ranger lost to Lubbock, Cisco and Brownwood lost to San Angelo and Breckenridge lost to Mineral Wells—all pre-season games. If the Oil Belt doesn't win the state championship Blundy thinks it has slipped. And maybe it has when it doesn't go as far as the finals, at least.

Sports writers are queer ducks, without exception. For instance Blundy saw Cisco intercept a pass in midfield and carry it for a 40-yard gain. Read Blundy's version: "Timmons of Cisco intercepted a pass in midfield, lumbered 40 yards and was topped 11 yards from the goal line."

"Mad it been a San Angelo play—the report probably would have been 'Bohunkus of San Angelo leaped high into the air and snatched down one of the Cisco passes in mid-field, zig-zagged back and forth across the gridiron, shaking off tackler after tackler to make a spectacular 40 yard run that brought the fans to their feet. Finally being down within the shadows of the goal on the 11 yard line.'"

We don't blame him though. He is trying to please the customers, which is part of a sports writer's job. He admits, modestly that Cisco's lone touchdown came as a "sort of donation as the result of an official's oversight." That eases his conscience, we suppose, for having to admit that Cisco scored. Maybe Cisco was plenty lucky, at that, to score on San Angelo. We failed to notice how Brownwood got its lone touchdown. It may have been a sort of donation, too.

Since Central High of Fort Worth is the next opponent of the Bulldogs, we looked up some statistics on the team and found that the school has a big, heavy line and a slightly lighter backfield than the Bulldogs.

The figures show that the Central line averages 172 pounds, with the backfield averaging 156. The line includes ends who weigh 161 and 141, tackles weighing 205 and 212; guards weighing 170 and 167 and a center who weighs 135 pounds, if that is not a misprint. It may be 185.

In the backfield is a quarterback weighing 170, halves weighing 142 and 145 and a fullback weighing 165. The Ranger line averages but 159 pounds, while the backfield is heavier than the line, weighing 166 pounds. The heaviest man in the Bulldog line is Jacoby, who weighs around 180, while the two tackles weigh 163 and 160, respectively. Most of the weight in the backfield is supplied by Rankin Britt and Aaron Anderson, who weigh around 180 each.

Airline Radio to Bring World Series To Times Office

Through the courtesy of Montgomery Ward & Company a 10-tube Airline radio is to be installed in the Times office and a play-by-play report of the world series baseball games, to be played between the Washington Senators and the New York Giants will be received.

The first game of the season will begin in New York Tuesday afternoon. Two games will be played in New York and two in Washington. If neither team has won four straight, the two teams will go back to New York for the second two-game series and return to Washington for the seventh game, if one is necessary.

YOUTH ADMITS SHOOTING GIRL AFTER A RIDE

MARLIN, Texas, Oct. 2.—A slaying as dramatic as the plot of Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy" was investigated by authorities here today.

Charges of murder in connection with the death of 13-year-old Dorothy Baugh were filed against Lee Francis, 19, said by officers to have been her escort on a Saturday night automobile ride. The girl, unconscious and near death, was found yesterday on a highway north of here. The child's grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Baugh, a nurse, with whom she had been living, said the girl died without regaining consciousness.

The youth, in whose garage were found shells corresponding to the one which killed Dorothy, told officers he had not intended to kill the girl.

"I only wanted to frighten the girl because she wanted to marry me," he was quoted as saying. Funeral arrangements were incomplete today. Mrs. Estes, her mother, left Mineral Wells yesterday on an automobile trip. Others surviving the girl include her grandfather, Mr. Bozell, a resident of Mineral Wells.

Unionization of Workers Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Complete unionization of America's workers and opposition to monetary inflation were demanded by William Green in a talk today at the opening session of the fifty-third annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

He pleaded for a militant labor outlook and declared success of the national recovery act depended upon adoption of a 30-hour week and higher wages throughout the nation.

Farm Moratorium Extension Asked

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—The house, by resolution today, requested Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson to submit the farm moratorium pact of the regular session for amendment so the time of the moratorium may be extended.

It will expire Oct. 27 for those who have not previously had an 180-day moratorium and filed application for extension.

CLERK TELLS OF DEPOSITS BY FERGUSON

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—W. R. Long Jr., American National bank bookkeeper here, testified today before the senate that deposits made by James E. Ferguson to the Forum and Bosque Creamery accounts this year were the same as for past years.

Long was returned to the witness stand in the senate relief investigation today.

Saturday he testified deposits totaling $22,774 were made to the Forum account and $43,896 to the Bosque Creamery account since Jan. 1.

Examined by administration leaders Long testified he did not mean, however, that either account had that much money to its credit at any one time. He also testified he did not know if any of the funds credited to the two Ferguson accounts had ever been transferred to the personal account of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Oil Code Director Once a Salesman For Insurance Co.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 2.—The regional NRA oil code director for Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas, deserted the insurance business in 1901 to enter the oil "game."

It was when word of an oil strike in 1916 in a marshy bayou at Beaumont, Texas, swept over the state that J. D. Collett abandoned his insurance and rushed for a lease in the Beaumont field.

"You see, I got my feet wet in oil early," he smiled from behind his neatly kept desk. Collett does not like big office buildings. For 12 years he has made his office in a quaint little triangular building tucked in behind the public library.

After the Beaumont incident, he returned for a short time to the insurance business, giving it up again in 1916 to become president of O'Keefe and Collett, corporation, an independent oil concern. He still holds that post.

When Secretary of Interior Ickes named Collett as director of the fourth region's oil code, Collett's friends here pointed to his many-sided life as indicative he was a good selection.

The regional oil chief is an expert surveyor and has practical knowledge of geology. He is president of the Midcontinent Oil and Gas association and a director in the American Petroleum Institute. His oil holdings are all in Texas, in Winkler, Crane, Ector, Maverick and Eastland counties, all acquired as an independent.

Collett's private life is as varied as his public life and his activities are many despite the fact he observed his 64th birthday Sept. 26.

He likes golf and is a veteran billiard player. His friends describe him as an "excellent" dancer. He is a lover of animals and frequently goes to a large ranch near Strawn, Texas, on which he holds mineral rights. His visits are more often to spend a day with the ranch horses than to look over his leases.

Collett is married and lives in an attractive residential district here. His son, Davis, is on the engineering staff of the Atlanta Oil Producing company at Longview, Texas.

Their plane, the Outdoor Girl, is being conditioned at Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y., for a take-off early in October. The present record of eight days and four hours is held by Frances Marsallis and Louise Thaden.

ROOSEVELT TELLS VETS THE THREE POINTS IN HIS DEALINGS WITH THEM NOW

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—The non-combatant war veterans must take their chances with other citizens in earning a living, President Roosevelt said today in a speech carrying his economy fight before 30,000 members of the American Legion.

Roosevelt spoke boldly in his crucial address before the Legion convention which had no pretensions of winning the veterans' wholehearted or arousing relief against the president's drastic compensation cuts.

He laid down three principles in dealing with the veterans and declared his policy of financial retrenchment imperative if the country is to thrive. His principles were:

1. Government responsibility for those who suffered injury or disease during the war.
2. No special class of beneficiaries, over and above all other citizens.
3. Federal aid for non-connected service disability cases but only when all other agencies fail.

Vernon Bankers Trial Again Ends In Hung Jury

SEYMOUR, Texas, Oct. 2.—A hung jury was recorded today in the second trial of R. E. Martin, former official in the Farmers State bank at Vernon. The jury reprinted late yesterday it was unable to reach a verdict on a technical point without taking up the charge of false entry in the bank accounts. A year ago last June another jury disagreed on the first of several charges of embezzlement in connection with an alleged shortage of $15,000.

AMARILLO, Tex.—Return of legal horse races here brought 3,000 fans to the first race of a six-day meet. In the feature race the first day a long shot, Hesitation, paid $48.50 for a $2 ticket. He came home a nose ahead of Jean Mac.

DRIVE TO SEND KELLY TO CHAIR STARTS TODAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—The government drive to send George (Machine Gun) Kelly and Albert Bates to the electric chair in the Urschel kidnaping started today.

State charges of armed robbery were drawn against them. County Attorney Lewis Morris prepared the charges, accusing Kelly and Bates of robbing Charles Urschel of $32 and Walter Jarrett of $52, the night Urschel was kidnaped in July. Armed robbery may be punished by execution in Oklahoma.

Kelly and his wife were brought here yesterday from Memphis by airplane.

LARGEST CIVIL SUIT STARTED IN COURT TODAY

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—District Judge J. D. Moore overruled special exceptions of the defendant oil concerns to the state's $17,850,000 penalty and ouster suit in 98th district court here today.

He set argument for this afternoon on whether the NRA act superseded the state anti-trust law under which defendant oil companies are being prosecuted.

The suit is based on the attorney general's contention the oil code of ethics entered into by oil companies in 1929 was used in an attempt to eliminate independent filling stations.

GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—The state's biggest civil law suit started today, in 98th district court here. In it Attorney General James V. Allred for the state asks penalties for alleged anti-trust law violations totaling $17,850,000.

Right of 15 major oil companies, the American Petroleum Institute and the Texas Petroleum Market-ers association to continue operating in Texas is attacked. Cancellation of permits and charter forfeitures are asked.

Political destinies, too, are at stake. If Allred wins, his progress to governor or to the United States senate seems assured. Already it has brought a clash with former Gov. James E. Ferguson, chief adviser of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

"The suit should be stopped. It is a blow to national recovery. It will throw thousands out of employment if oil company charters are forfeited," said Ferguson.

"We are not suing because of agreements to raise wages and spread employment," said Allred. "We are suing because we believe a code of ethics was used as a smoke screen to drive out independent filling stations and competition."

Ignoring Ferguson's denunciation of the litigation, Allred has gone ahead preparing for the trial. Sixty witnesses have been summoned from 17 counties.

They are expected to furnish new evidence for the trial. How the code was drafted, adopted, approved by a federal trade commission and put into effect is on record in preliminary testimony taken before a master.

Included as witnesses are: C. H. Roensing, G. E. Barker, Charlie Mays and Claude Oden all of McLennan county; Frank Esmond, Bates Robertson, C. A. Forster, R. (Continued on page 3)

Twenty Cubans Killed and 100 Believed Wounded In Skirmish Today.

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 2.—One American citizen and at least 20 Cuban soldiers were killed and estimates of wounded ranged to 100 today when the government troops opened fire on rebel officers entrenched behind the walls of the National hotel.

Casualties to the defending forces of officers barricaded in the hotel were not known, although for more than five hours they had been subjected to a galling fire from all sides.

Their demands intensified because of the unintentional killing of the American citizen, a committee of wives of the besieged officers visited the American ambassador and asked immediate landing of marines.

Red Cross Cloth And Clothing Is Being Distributed

The work of distributing Red Cross cloth and clothing to the unemployed of Ranger was begun this morning in the office of the chamber of commerce, with members of the Child Welfare Club in charge of the work.

Mrs. W. D. Conway and Mrs. G. E. Robinson were in charge of the desk, where the applicant was questioned and an order issued for the amount of cloth of the number of garments needed. The order was then taken to the distribution counter where the cloth was measured and issued and the proper sizes of garments were given out.

Those in charge of the distribution counter were Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall, Mrs. Pete Jensen, Mrs. Jim N'Neal and Mrs. Lola Martin. The work will be continued tomorrow in order that those who could not get orders filled today could be cared for.

In pistol shooting Roach, Latham and Perine tied with a score of 94 out of a possible 100, while Moore scored 93.

Roach was also high in the small bore division with a score of 97 out of a possible 100 with Perine second with 95 and Latham third with 93.

Shoots are being held each Sunday afternoon now and more interest is being shown in the large-bore shooting as many are getting in practice for the opening of the deer season.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A NATION'S GREATNESS: Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.—Proverbs 14: 34.
GOD KNOWS ALL: O God, thou knowest my foolishness; and my sins are not hid from thee.—Psalm 69: 5.
DELIVERANCE AT HAND: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him.—Psalm 91: 15.

LET US PREPARE FOR SOME CHANGE

One of the most perplexing things about living in 1933 is that the world's leading thinkers seem quite unable to make up their minds whether we are approaching a sunset or a dawn.
 If you nose through the books, magazine articles and interviews in which thoughtful men try to appraise the present situation you will find two schools of thought represented.

According to one school, the end of all things is at hand, and a great darkness is about to settle down over the waters. Capitalism is done for, western civilization is about to collapse and the world is about to enter a new dark age.

According to the other school, our present woes are just the birth pangs of a new order of life. We are going through a great change, and paying for it in misery and confusion, but when the change is finished things will be almost infinitely better than they were before. There will be more freedom and less poverty, more peace and less war, more happiness and less desperate uncertainty.

Each crew of prognosticators can assemble a multitude of facts and a whole string of clever arguments to prove its case. You can get damnation with your morning coffee and salvation with your after-dinner cigaret if you like, and each forecast will seem to be absolutely fool-proof.

Now all of this, however conflicting it may be, does seem to indicate one thing indisputably; that we have reached one of history's great turning points, and that no matter what the future brings us it is going to be something different than what we have had before. For better or for worse, we have come upon a time of change, and those of us who don't like change seem to be very much out of luck.

Yet it is also quite possible that the seers are mostly wrong. The disasters they foresee may not be quite as bad as they expect; the improvements may leave us only a little bit better off than we were. The important thing is that we accept the fact that some sort of change is coming and prepare our minds for it.

ECONOMICAL PARADOX

Uncle Sam's effort to help the farmer by plowing under cotton, limiting wheat acreage and killing several million hogs is economically unsound and morally wrong. That, at any rate, is the verdict reached in a resolution adopted by the Ohio Methodists' recent state conference.

It is a verdict that a whole lot of people will accept. No part of the recovery program seems more contradictory than this destruction of the raw materials for food and clothing at a time when millions of people have neither enough to eat nor enough to wear.

Yet it is a contradiction that is not peculiar to the farm program. It lies at the very heart of the capitalist system, and it involves the fundamental conflict between production for use and production for profit. The whole recovery program is simply an attempt to settle that conflict.

It does not take much thought to enable one to see that destroying cotton, wheat and pork when millions are in need of clothing and food is precisely similar to letting great factories lie idle when millions need the things that those factories can make. If it is absurd to reduce agricultural production, it is equally absurd to reduce industrial production.

The farmer is as much a capitalist as the factory owner. If the factory owner cannot be expected to produce more than people will buy at a price which yields a profit, neither can the farmer.

But stating the parallel in this way does not really get us anywhere. It simply shows how fundamental these objections to the farm program are; how far they reach into the very essence of the structure of capitalism.

For if the farmer ought to keep on raising wheat, and cotton and corn and pork even though he cannot do it profitably, so long as there are people who need these things, then by the same token the industrialist ought to keep his factory wheels humming so long as there are people who need the things he makes, whether they can pay his price for them or not. And about the time you begin admitting that, you find yourself wading in very deep waters.

The best thing about the whole farm program, perhaps, is that it makes this moral clear to us. It may work or it may not; while we are finding out we are going to get an education, and our future steps may well be taken in the light of the lessons we are learning right now.

I'M SICK AND TIRED OF YOUR ETERNAL QUESTIONS!

Jangled nerves can make life miserable for those about you

These are trying times. No wonder nerves give way under the strain. And a nervous man is frequently not responsible for the things he says. But responsible or not, his bitter, sharp words can cruelly wound those around him—and cause scars which will never entirely heal, no matter how sorry he may be afterward. Watch your nerves. Get your full amount of sleep every night. Eat regularly and sensibly. Find time for recreation. And smoke Camels—for Camel's costlier tobaccos never get on your nerves.

DALLAS, Sept. 2.—The lowest round trip rates in years have been announced by The Texas & Pacific Railway for travel to Dallas during the State Fair of Texas.

Attendance at the fair is expected to be materially increased from all previous years by the remarkable round trip rate of $2.00 for trains arriving in Dallas before 3:30 p. m. each Sunday during the Fair season, October 17-22, Frank Jensen, general passenger agent of the Texas and Pacific said.

Week-end rates of approximately one cent per mile, distance traveled, will be in effect throughout the Fair on Texas and Pacific trains arriving each Saturday and before 3:30 p. m. each Sunday. These tickets are limited to leave Dallas before midnight the following Monday.

Creosolium is powerful in the treatment of all colds and coughs, yet it is absolutely harmless and is pleasant and easy to take.

Defense attorneys had summoned B. F. Flynn and Bernard Martin of Wichita Falls. The suit was filed Nov. 12, 1931. Preliminary court skirmishes began Jan. 6, 1933. Trial was first set for May 23, 1932. A session of the legislature prevented it. Rep. T. H. McGregor of Austin, as an attorney for a defendant company exercised his constitutional right to postpone pending the session.

When District Judge J. D. Moore agreed to postpone the trial from midsummer to this October, Attorney McGregor agreed not to exercise that right this time.

In the preliminary testimony, Allred sought to establish that an agreement was made at Dallas Sept. 27, 1929, violating the state anti-trust law. Penalties are asked for 783 days of alleged violation beginning Nov. 20, 1929. Minimum daily penalty is $50 a day and the maximum is $1,500 daily.

Besides the American Petroleum Institute and the Texas Petroleum Marketers' association, the suit named as defendants Standard Oil company of New Jersey, Standard Oil company of California, Socony-Vacuum corporation, Shell Union Oil corporation, Humble Oil & Refining company, The Texas company, Sinclair Refining company, Magnolia Petroleum company, Simms Oil company, Shell Petroleum corporation, Cities Service Oil company, Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company, Gulf Refining company, Pasotex Petroleum company and Continental Oil company.

Forgotten Sweetheart

BY MARY RAYMOND

BEGIN HERE TODAY. JOAN WARRING, son of a millionaire and HENRY WARING a poor boy, are attracted to each other on the train en route to Memphis. Joan has left college before graduation to assist her father in a financial emergency. Henry is coming to Memphis in connection with construction of a southern branch of his father's mill.

Pat said, "What are you trying to tell me?" "I met him on the train. That is—I didn't really meet him. We just talked and I ran away from him when I saw you all coming. You see, he was so perfectly sure he had attached me. But he was really wonderful, Pat! Handsome and sort of rugged, like he had played football or planned big bridges and helped build them."

JOAN had driven downtown. She parked the battered old family car near Cossitt library and walked over to a business exchange. Just as well have several irons in the fire. Any kind of work would be preferable to going back home and reporting failure.

JOAN had understood what she meant when she stared down at the questions on the blank form: "State experience, comptometer machine, bookkeeping machine, adding machine. Have you ever been bonded?" They went on down the length of two pages. Joan had come to the tea room more expensive than some place she could have chosen, because she felt weary and discouraged. It helped to see smart, prosperous people. Made you forget for a moment that the world, as far as you personally were concerned, had turned topsy-turvy.

No, it couldn't be true. It was the audacious young man of the train. He was not five feet away, his back turned to her. Joan would have to pass him to reach the cashier's desk. Bob was digging down in his pocket. He drew out a blue print. "I'll show you just what we have in mind," he said. "Just a minute, Bob," Duke interrupted. "There's a darsen, pretty girl at a table back of you. I knew her once. I think she was in my class at grammar school. Funny, I can't remember her first name. Last name was Warring, I believe."

Skeletons of Early Indians Are Found

AUSTIN, Tex.—Skeletons of an early Indian race dug from graves in Bell county, are being examined by University of Texas anthropologists here in an effort to determine the culture and age of the first Texans. Flint artifacts, shell ornaments, and seed beads have been found in the graves with the skeletons. The investigation is incomplete, but evidence uncovered thus far indicate the race had a low cultural rating, but probably carried on trade relations with Indian tribes along the coast.

OUT OUR WAY

The Newfangles (Mom 'n' Pop) By Cowen

something's wrong with him? Etiquette's he's unbalanced... sadly so. Men don't yell at men any more... men don't yell at girls driving cars with polite horns, anyhow. Tell the man he's all wrong. The girl behind wasn't going to harm the man-in-front. And she didn't dream he'd recent her using the horn now and then... it was such a nice new horn. Besides, he was such a little man with such a big voice... it didn't fit somehow. And the bigger his voice, the smaller the man... our estimation of the man. Anhow, since we don't seem to be getting anywhere with all this, you tell the man he's missing a lot of fun in life if he can't take a little thing like... A horn on Main street. And we feel sorry for him, lest someday he yell at the wrong fellow at the wrong time.

Without paging an authority, we recognize some forms of etiquette. Saturday evening we saw and heard violations of the same... not a matter of aint's and isn't's... a subject of scowls and crude yells. We saw the man park on an interesting street, very, very close to Main. With the Saturday night rush whirling cars around the derrick and back up Main, we watched the automobiles line up behind above mentioned man. Patiently they waited for him to move on. Stolidly he sat... apparently waiting for friend wife to buy a last-minute something or other. Finally a horn raised its voice through the clang of the night. A nice, polite voice it was... kindly asking the man-in-front to move along and give other cars a chance. Thrusting his head out the window, he yelled back at them... "Why don't you go on? What's cha honking at? Get the thing on around!" We clapped horrified hands over equally horrified ears. People turned to stare at the disgruntled creature. The motors behind backed, turned, whipped around him... disgusted. Man has privileges... and the world has its likes and dislikes. Just then a little bit of the world was a mass of dislike for the man who scowled and growled and parked his car so near Main street at an intersection. Maybe he reads the papers... more than likely he doesn't. Perhaps he sees the stuff we write now and then... it's probably much better if he doesn't. But won't someone tell the man

Eight CCC Camps For Texas Named FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex. Eight new work locations for the Civilian Conservation Corps in the Texas District have been approved by the Director of Emergency Conservation Work at Washington, the Texas District Commander, General C. R. Howland, has been advised. The new locations are in the following Texas counties: Bell, Williamson, Bastrop, Nacogdoches, Trinity, Walker, Liberty and Jasper.

Before work camps can be located in these counties, it will be necessary for a reconnaissance of each proposed camp site to be made by an army officer familiar with the requirements of the C. C. C. camps. Such a reconnaissance was completed last week at Bastrop, and the remaining reconnoissances will be made as rapidly as possible.

It was also stated that the state park camps at Blanco, Lampasas, Hamilton, Stephenville, Mineral Wells, Karnack, and Palacios would not be continued. The Hamilton camp has already been abandoned, and Co. 882 which was formerly stationed there is now at Camp Bulles awaiting assignment to one of the new locations. How soon after October 1st, when the first enrollment period of the C. C. C. is concluded, the other six camps will be abandoned, was not stated. Seventeen of the original 24 camps in the Texas District will be maintained for the second six-months' period beginning October 1. These camps will be put in condition for winter by the erection of wooden barracks and the construction of a comfortable recreation hall, infirmary, and officers' quarters in each camp. In the new camps, essential construction will be completed before C. C. C. enrollees are moved to the camps.

Several C. C. C. companies that have operated in Colorado and Wyoming during the summer will be moved to Texas in October and November, and additional approved locations for these companies are expected to be announced soon.
