RODEO BRINGS BIG CROWDS TO VISIT RANGER

Another large Second Monday crowd was on hand today to witness the monthly rodeo program or to take part in the various contests that were being staged at the rodeo grounds this afternoon.

Additional prizes, above those usually added to the entrance fees at the regular Second Monday rodeos, were given after two committees had solicited the merchants and had secured more money than was usually added to the purses.

Circulars, advertising the big three-day carnival and the free attractions to be staged, were distributed among the visitors and performers at the rodeo this afternoon and all were invited to come back during the three days beginning Oct. 19 and lasting through Saturday night, Oct. 21.

Thursday's feature will be races at the Haugland airport, when three special events, one for kids and their ponies, one for ladies and the other a free-for-all race, will be staged.

The American Legion Tickville band will present a program and a free band concert, free wrestling and boxing and other attractions have been provided for the entertainment of the visitors to the city.

Parades, football games, in fact almost everything that can be arranged for the entertainment of the visitors to the town, have been arranged and a big time is planned for all who attend.

The rodeo this afternoon was the forerunner of this big trade expansion program and even larger crowds are anticipated during the three days beginning Thursday, Oct. 19.

Mr. Williams in his statement quoted an alleged conversation on Dec. 1, 1932, with Dr. E. P. Jarrell, Tyler, now a member of the commission.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

GOD'S OPPORTUNITY: The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.—Psalm 51: 17.

WILL IT BE THE OLD OR THE NEW?

"Guns and death," says a newspaper headline, "halt tube mill strikes in Pittsburgh region."
Words like that are an old story in the turgid history of American industrial relations.

For the main point at issue is not so much a matter of wages. It is not so much a matter of hours. It has to do chiefly with union recognition.

And back of this fight over a principle can be seen a head-on collision between the old and the new conceptions of proper industrial practice.

Now this isn't something that can be settled with soft words or with frenzied gesturings in the direction of that benign bird, the Blue Eagle.

Men do not go on strike just for the fun of it after four years of hard times—especially when wages and working hours are not their principal objectives.

And since this is a fight which affects the whole country, we must make up our minds which side is to be upheld.

Are we going to go back to the old conception of industrial practice and countenance a finish fight to "break the union," in the old Frick-Carnegie manner?

Or are we going to swing into step with the New Deal, accept unionism without reservations and go on to tackle the real problems of life in the machine age?

DECISION ON THE NATIONAL RECOVERY ACT

All the codes of National Recovery Administration appear to be under fire. Away down here in Texas at Tyler the Panama Refining company attacked the federal regulation of oil under the NRA.

Yes, the code of the federal administration to force quick recovery of all industries and classes and conditions is under fire.

It is not a wise policy to leave one task unfinished to embark on another.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

"Every business man knows in this day and age that a Chamber of Commerce is organized for the purpose of looking after the affairs of a community.

"Individuals cannot do it—each individual has his own affairs to take care of.

"Experience has proved that an organization composed of all the business men to act on behalf and for the general interests of all brings results.

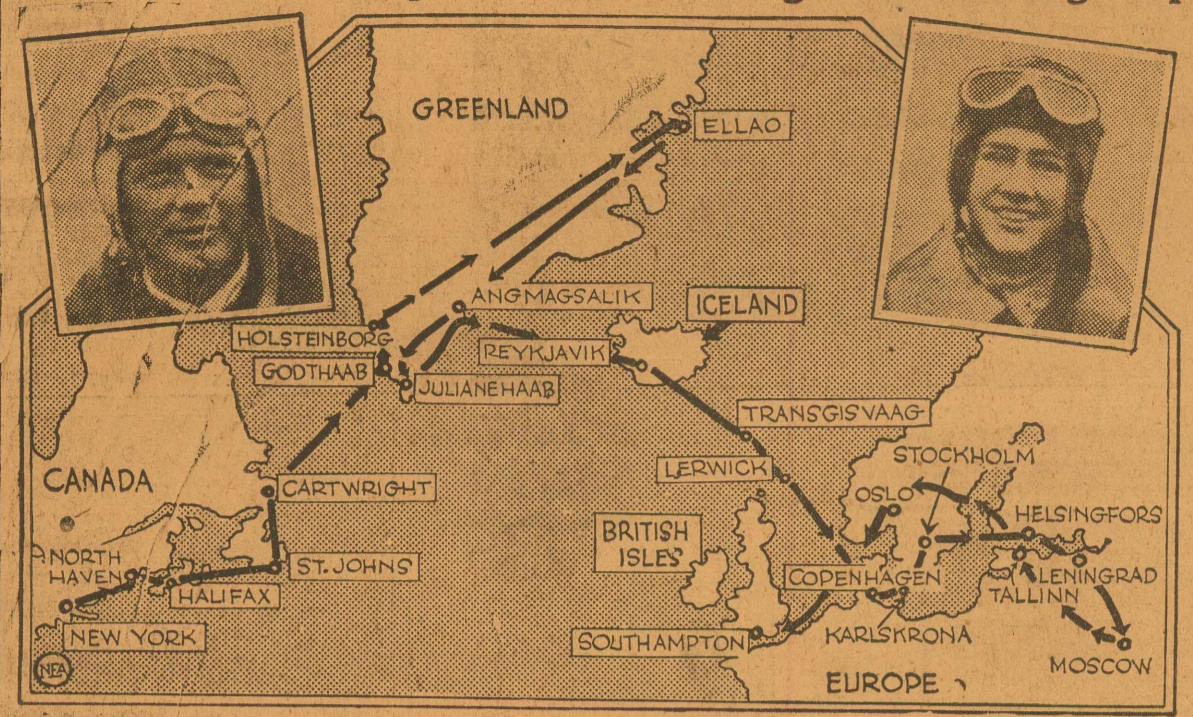

"Its membership should be as large as the intent and purpose of such a body is to add to the profit and prosperity of all.

"Chambers of Commerce are business bodies and they will, when properly conducted and supported, increase the gross business of a city.

In order to make a city greater and to increase the prosperity of a community, every citizen should support this organization in proportion to his means.

The business man who refuses to contribute his small mite of time and money to carry on this work which benefits him is indeed a sorry apology for a man.

Fighting, Wrestling On Elks Card For The Show Tonight

RANGER, Texas, October 9.—Monday night will be another big night of entertainment for the boxing and wrestling fans as the Elks have completed another one of their good cards and are assured to have a dandy show.

The eight-round fight is going to be a corker. Benny Greenfield and Pancho Gonzalos are anxious to get at each other and both are training hard for this fight and it is going to be a fight. The Elks are lucky in securing boys that are willing to mix it up and battle from start till one is beaten and the reason is the boys know that they will be treated right by the club, and when a boxer likes the man he is fighting for he always will get in and battle till it's all over.

The first match of the evening is for the best two falls, bringing another new face to Ranger, Jap Martin, one of the world's greatest wrestlers, who is after the featherweight champion, Doug Henderson. Jap is to meet Wildcat Hood, who may be a stumbling block for the Jap, but anyway it is going to be a real tough fight for both of them as they are about equally matched with Hood's 10 pounds weight advantage. This completes one of the best cards ever lined up and the Elks are expecting even a larger crowd than attended last Monday night. People are getting that Monday night habit as they know that they will always see a good show with the boys always in the arena on Monday nights.

"Proneness of Men To Doubt God," Subject For Talk By Rev. Johnson, First Christian Church Sunday
Rev. Johnson of the First Christian Church chose as his subject for his talk at the 11 o'clock hour Sunday, "Proneness of Men To Doubt God."

Rev. Johnson laid special stress on the following points:
Men never lost faith in God until they lose faith in themselves. No man ever went down, who had faith in God, who knew to go down meant to take God down with him.

When men lose faith in themselves and in God, they forget every act of mercy that God has done for them.

Their experience in Egypt, their experience in Red Sea, in desert, cloud by day and fire by night. Experience with the Manna, the quails.

Their experience with Moses. They were doubting God and complaining about having left Egypt. God tells Moses to send them into Canaan to spy it out.

They go and remain for 40 days. They come back with report. What it is. How it affected the people. They cried all night long.

Two faithful ones brought back majority report called the attention of the people to God's dealing with them through the past.

But the people would not give them any backing. Moses failed to encourage them. Why?

The comparison of grasshoppers. Most of us think grasshopper thoughts. God wants us to undertake big things for Him. We forget His dealings in the past. No matter what it is.

Nehemiah's experience in building again the city. They said you can't do it. But he did. God wants men of courage. Do we fill the measure?

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON The A. F. of L. convention here will ratify the decline of Vice President Matthew Wolf.

Wolf has dominated federation policies most of the time since the death of Sam Gompers. His name has been anathema to liberals and progressives in the labor movement. His power began to wane about the time that Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins failed to recommend him for the NRA labor advisory board.

Short, swarthy, marked by a great shock of black hair, Wolf became one of the most forceful, windiest, most persuasive, and reactionary speakers the labor movement ever produced. For years he was president of the Photo-Engravers' union.

He was Sam Gompers' right-hand man, the "crown prince," expected to succeed to the A. F. of L. presidency on Gompers' death. But at the 1921 convention he had field-marshaled for Gompers against the insurgent candidacy of President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers. When Gompers died, two or three years later, Lewis was strong enough on the executive council to block him and elect William Green, then the U. M. W. secretary-treasurer.

Wolf soon became the power behind Green and their names usually were bracketed. Then came NRA and a relatively aggressive group was named to the labor advisory board. Vigorous Lewis put on a membership drive which is alleged to have enrolled 300,000 new U. M. W. members.

The supreme court ruled in 1903 that the president's power of appointment and removal could not be taken away by "mere inference or implication," in the absence of plain language specifically taking it away.

HOOKS and SLIDES BY BILL BRAUCHER

Football played in the Big Ten is superior to that generally seen on the coast. "Southern California probably would have beaten any of the Big Ten champions during the last few years," he says, "and will continue to be a better football team than any Big Ten school can muster within the next few years, barring accidents. But the average strength of Big Ten teams is above that of the Pacific coast conference."

The Gamblers
PHELAN tells of gambling rings throughout Pacific coast territory, betting thousands of dollars on results of games and points scored.

"I try to find out how the betting is before our important games," he says. "Suppose they are backing us to win by two touchdowns. I make every effort to win by one."

Phelan's Washington team tied Oregon and Washington State last year, lost to Southern California by three points and dropped a rather hair-raising struggle to California by a point. How do you suppose the boys were betting on those games?

Dietrich's Role Uncovered as New Power For Acting

A new Marlene Dietrich, different than her millions of screen admirers have ever glimpsed in her previous pictures, will be seen in "The Song of Songs," her new Paramount picture, coming to the Arcadia theatre today.

Miss Dietrich, who hitherto has appeared as a sophisticated, worldly woman, is revealed in her new production as an innocent young country girl of rare beauty, who goes to Berlin, and, jilted by a handsome young sculptor, runs the gamut of tragic experience.

She marries a rich and elderly baron, whom she does not love, and, following their divorce, she becomes bitter and disillusioned, and a notorious woman in the gay Germany city's night life.

"The Song of Songs," adapted from the literary classic of Hermann Sudermann, was directed by Rouben Mamoulian. This is the first Dietrich film which has not been directed by her discoverer, Josef von Sternberg.

An outstanding cast of actors appears in support of the glamorous star who recently has commanded the attention of the world as the sponsor of the trousers for women style-vogue.

Brian Aherne, referred to by drama critics as the most romantic actor of the New York stage, following his work as Katherine Cornell's leading man in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," makes his screen debut as Miss Dietrich's leading man. Lionel Atwill, who has been a stage star for 16 years, appears as her husband. Allison Skipworth, Hardie Albright and Helen Freeman also have good roles.

In addition to the feature two outstanding short subject are on the Arcadia bill today. Laurel and Hardy appear in a new comedy, "Twice Two," and the screen's most popular star, Miekie Mouse, in "The Mad Doctor."
