

Government Sets Price on Gold Purchases

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE
with BILL MAYES

Partly because we haven't much to write about and partly because it is a lot easier to let someone else do your work when you can, we are falling back, today, on our favorite custom of using the shears and paste pot to fill this column. From a couple of sources we have gleaned a little on what some sports writers think of Ranger's chances at Abilene Friday.

From the Abilene News we learn that the Eagles are not over-confident, but are mighty determined, which is a lot toward winning a victory. Over-confidence has probably licked more football teams than anything else, and since the Eagles are working toward this as their one big chance, they will be plenty hard to beat.

The News says:
"If Ranger wins in the crucial game of the Oil Belt season here Friday afternoon, the Bulldogs will need to stop the best drilled offense Abilene high school has yet presented this fall.

"For the second straight day the Eagle coaching staff went about the business of polishing the attack yesterday afternoon. Another and final effort to take off the rough edges will be made this afternoon, while Thursday will be devoted to defense. It's nothing to lighten the odds on the enemy, but the domestics have some tricks which look as if they might go.

"Tuesday's workout was conducted with two new players at tackle on the first team. Rice Lindley occupies the right side position, in place of Jack Black, who Monday was ruled ineligible. The left side position is being handled in practice by Ralph Robertson, against the possibility that J. C. McDearmon will be a definite addition to the lengthy list of Abilene ineligibles.

"Here's the lowdown on McDearmon: He is attending school here for his fourth semester. He was in Hamby high school two years and a few weeks in another. One of the seasons is conceded to have been a nine-month term, or two semesters, while the few weeks count as another semester. It is on the length of the other session that the player's eligibility hinges. The Hamby records show that it was a nine-month term; records in the county superintendent's office here show the teachers were paid only seven months, and that there was money left after the seventh month. If the term ran nine months, it's curtains for J. C.; if it ran seven, he goes against Ranger and everybody else this year. The local authorities will do some heavy checking up today."

And from way down in the Sheep Dip country Blundy Cross, who watches the Oil Belt closer than an Oil Belt coach watches the eligibility records of the Cisco Lobes, hazards a guess that Abilene will take Ranger and the district 3 title.

Blundy says:
"The big shot in the Oil Belt this week is the Abilene-Ranger game. Possibly it is sentiment, but there is a growing hint of a hunch away back in this department's hazy mind that Dewey Mayhew's battling but green crew will arise to the fighting heights and flail back the formidable favorites. Incidentally, if Abilene climbs the Ranger hill, you may expect Abilene to satchel the Oil Belt championship. The further along Mayhew goes, the tougher he gets."

Tickets for the Bulldog-Eagle game have gone on sale at all the Ranger drug stores and at the high school. C. C. Davie, registrar, has charge of the ticket sale and has a number of student tickets at the school. General admission and reserved seat tickets can be had at the local drug store, where choice seats on the Ranger side can be reserved.

After hearing Brownwood's protest on Norvell—it was Norvell instead of Moffett as Mr. Von Roeder reported, and Norvell instead of Orville, as the Abilene Reporter put it—Supt. R. N. Cluck went back to Cisco with a formal protest against Leonard Latch, big tackle and captain of the Lobes. (Continued on page 3)

FAMOUS BANK ROBBERY CASE IS DISMISSED

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Oct. 25.—The name of Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, twice tried as the Texas university co-ed bandit who held up the Buda, Texas, state bank in 1926, today was clear of all charges.

News that the charge was dismissed was revealed today. It came several days ago, the day before a daughter was born to her in a hospital here, her husband, Otis Rogers, said.

The dismissal was granted in the San Marcos district court on motions of the district attorney, Rogers said. Mrs. Rogers' name, then 19-year-old Rebecca Bradley, reverberated from coast to coast when arrested shortly after the Buda bank was held up by a lone girl who escaped with about $1,000. Miss Bradley, in addition to being a student at Texas university was a stenographer for Dan Moody, then attorney general and later governor of Texas.

Hints of Graft In Cuba Are Probed

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Hints of graft in Cuban public works contracts financed by the Chase National bank led to dispute in the stock market investigation of Cuban loans when Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, accused a witness of evading his question.

It was not suggested the bank had knowledge of any fraud, but the testimony showed there had been charges of graft in Cuba.

ECONOMIST'S VIEWS ON NEW MONEY PLANS

Editor: In the following dispatch Royal Meeker, noted economist, president of the Index Numbers Institute and former chief of the scientific division of the International Labor office of the League of Nations, presents his view of the president's new monetary policy.

By ROYAL MEEKER
Copyright, 1933, by United Press
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 25.—President Roosevelt has again declared emphatically that currency rehabilitation is an essential part of the national recovery program. His message should give courage to all advocates of sound money. He is neither an inflationist nor a deflationist. He pronounces for a stable currency set upon a sound basis.

His most significant words seem crystal clear and unambiguous but it is reported that certain bankers, financiers, orthodox economists and others are bewildered and much disturbed by them.

This can only be because they do not understand the essence of the gold standard and what constitutes a sound and stable monetary system. The president knows full well that the gold standard of itself is anything but a sound and stable standard.

The disastrous inflations of 1919-1920 and of 1927-29 occurred under the regime of the gold standard. The even more disastrous deflations of 1920-21 and of 1929-1933 were aggravated instead of being checked by the gold standard.

After the unjust debt burdens created by the unstable and appreciated dollar have been removed in part, then and only then is the president willing to stabilize the buying power of the dollar by tying it fast to a managed gold standard which will be managed so as to keep the commodity buying power of the dollar as nearly constant as possible.

Some have condemned the president's proposal to manage the currency because no such thing has ever been done before. This is an error. In fact the gold standard is and always has been a managed standard. The management has usually been bungling and ineffective because the managing was done sometimes by unintelligent governments intent on borrowing cheaply and sometimes by private bankers and financiers intent on their own profits and indifferent to the effects of their policies upon prices, business and employment.

Sweden has had a "managed standard" for more than two years. The price level has varied less than 1 per cent.

It will be much easier for the United States to maintain the level of domestic commodity prices than it is for Sweden to do so because our foreign trade is proportionately so much less important while our financial strength is so much greater.

The effect of the president's forceful and timely address should be very beneficial to business of all kinds.

Kelly Reward To Be Divided Soon

By United Press
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 25.—Little Geraldine Arnold and five others, all unnamed, waited today for Charles F. Colcord, Oklahoma City pioneer and millionaire, to determine who should share in the $15,000 reward he and others posted for capture of George (Machine Gun) and Kathryn Kelly.

Colcord said a decision as to whom the reward should be paid would be reached after a conference with Charles Urschel and federal officers. He said the money might be disbursed next week.

SPECIAL TO ABILENE IS POSSIBLE IF ENOUGH OF FANS PURCHASE TICKETS

A number of committees were out this morning selling railroad tickets to Abilene, to be used on the special train that is being worked up to take the fans to the Bulldog-Eagle game at Abilene Friday afternoon.

If enough tickets can be sold in time to order the train, the special will leave Ranger about 12:15 or 12:30, arriving in Abilene at 2 o'clock or 2:15 and will leave in time to reach Ranger by 8 or 8:30 that night.

The round trip fare, which has been placed at $1 by officials of the Texas & Pacific railway, is the lowest in history. A total of 250 passengers must be guaranteed before the train can be ordered for the trip.

Indications were this morning that it would be possible to run the train, though a large number of tickets remained to be sold. The committees were having fair success in the sales, with a number of promises to buy tickets either this afternoon or tomorrow, being received.

By leaving at 12:15 or 12:30, it was pointed out, most of the fans making the trip would have time to eat lunch at home before leaving for the game. Those who do not have time to eat before they leave can secure sandwiches from the members of the pep squad, who are expected to have sandwiches and drinks for sale.

On the return trip sandwiches and drinks can again be secured from the pep squad, so that the cost of the entire trip, including meals and tickets to the game, will be very reasonable.

No decision has been reached, as yet, as to whether the football squad will go along with the special, or whether they will go by bus earlier in the day. It was expected that they would go by bus Friday morning.

Should the team go by train a special car will be put on the rear of the train for the squad. This will be a chair car with reclining seats so the players can rest on the way to Abilene. Since the train will arrive at its destination only 45 minutes or an hour before game time it is likely that the team will go ahead and the pep squad and band go on the special.

PUBLIC WORKS ELECTION BILL VETOED TODAY

By United Press
AUSTIN, Oct. 25.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today vetoed senate bill 78, enacted by the state legislature in its recent special session, requiring public elections on proposed municipal projects financed by federal aid.

The bill, originally offered merely to add municipal hospitals to the projects that might be included for federal public works loans, was so changed in its passage through the legislature that the Texas League of Municipalities convinced the governor its effect would be to prevent any city having its projects approved in time to receive federal grants.

A hearing was held by the governor for both opponents and proponents of the bill last Monday.

Red Cross Drive For Ranger Will Start on Nov. 15

J. E. Spencer, county chairman for the Red Cross and R. H. Ziehm, national representative, met with C. E. May, J. E. Meroney, R. W. Hickey, A. J. Ratliff, W. C. Gilbreath, Walter Harwell, Mrs. W. D. Conway and Mrs. Pete Jensen Tuesday afternoon, at which time plans for the annual Red Cross roll call were discussed.

The national roll call drive is to begin November 11, but as this is to be a holiday and all stores in Ranger are to close, the drive will be started locally on Wednesday, Nov. 15.

Walter Harwell was named as general chairman; Roy Gilbreath, chairman of the business district; Mrs. Jensen, chairman of the residential district; A. J. Ratliff, in charge of placing window cards and seeing that the Red Cross flags were displayed and W. C. Hickey placed in charge of publicity.

It was pointed out by Mr. Ziehm that more than $100,000 in cash was sent to the Rio Grande valley during the recent tornado, which represented more than the entire state of Texas had contributed to the organization last year.

Eastland county has received a large supply of cloth, clothing and flour through the Red Cross. Mr. Ziehm pointed out, and the national headquarters is hopeful that the county will make a good showing in the drive this year.

GENEVA, Oct. 25.—The steering committee of the world arms conference today voted to recommend an adjournment of the general conference until Dec. 4.

RANGER MAY ORGANIZE A LOAN COMPANY

Steps have been started in Ranger to secure a mortgage loan company, through the Reconstruction Finance corporation, for the purpose of making business loans to worthy merchant of the city.

According to plans sponsored and financed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, a mortgage loan company can be organized in a town, preferably by a chamber of commerce or similar organization, for the purpose of handling these loans. The company must be a community enterprise, according to information received from the corporation, and must have a charter.

The plans call for organization of the company under the direction of an attorney in order that all incorporation papers may be made out in legal form. When the long questionnaire, which is to be sent out from the R. F. C. headquarters in Washington, has been properly filled out and returned, application for the money can be made immediately, before the charter has been actually granted by the secretary of state.

At a meeting held in the office of the Chamber of Commerce recently, it was decided to make application for the questionnaire and information needed to organize the company and W. C. Hickey was instructed to start negotiations in that direction. Letters have been written requesting the department to send the needed information and this is expected within a few days.

At the meeting it was estimated that Ranger could use approximately $200,000, which can be borrowed through the Reconstruction Finance corporation at 3 per cent interest and the loans made locally to bear 5 per cent interest. Worthy firms, meeting requirements of the R. F. C., can secure loans, which will be approved by officers or directors of the company, under the plan, and it was thought that a number of merchants in the city would be able to take advantage of this opportunity to place their business in a better financial condition.

Charges Expected In An Alleged Job Selling Case

By United Press
DALLAS, Oct. 25.—Formal charges were to be placed here today against William McGlothlin of Little Rock, Ark., jailed late yesterday on a complaint of state job selling, sworn to by Ranger H. Graves.

The formal charges were to specify that positions with the state orphan's home at Corsicana were promised to at least 12 Dallas county men or women who paid $100 to $250 each as evidence of good faith.

Rangers said they had records of a total of $1,950 having been extracted from job seekers.

Striking Farmers Dump Milk Supply

By United Press
DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 25.—Mid-western farmers dumped milk and turned back shipments of livestock today in an effort to enforce the strike called by the national farm holiday association.

Farm organizations in Iowa and Wisconsin notified dairymen and farmers of their intention to continue blockading highways to stop shipments to market by forceful means, if necessary.

At Milan, Wis., 10 farm strike pickets invaded a cheese plant and dumped 10,000 pounds of milk from vats. Trucks loaded with livestock were turned back near Sioux City, Iowa.

Prof. Einstein of Princeton Poses

Take a good look at Princeton's new faculty member, for it may not be soon that you will see his likeness again. After dodging cameramen on his arrival in New York and then again at Princeton, Professor Einstein consented to pose this once as he sat at his desk on his first day in his new Princeton offices. It's his first posed photo since arriving in the country.

Government economists believed general rises or declines in all commodity prices, including what the farmer receives for his wheat, could be figured by raising or lowering the figure at which the government would buy gold. A rise in gold, it was assumed, would cause a corresponding rise in prices. This view was disputed, however, by some economists.

Jones said more than $1,000,000 was available for the vast experiment. He indicated that if this amount was insufficient to bring about the desired results, the administration would call on congress for additional funds.

It was estimated the gold purchases would approximate $1,000,000 a week.

MURCHANDISE THEFT RING IS UNEARTHED

By United Press
DALLAS, Oct. 25.—A quiet investigation started in North Texas more than a month ago by five state rangers today appeared likely to result in grand jury indictments and the sensational exposure of a state-wide ring of merchandise hijackers from fences with political and official ramifications.

More than 25 men have been placed in widely separated North Texas jails, it was revealed, to prevent knowledge of the investigation leaking out to leaders of the ring, whose headquarters, rangers said, are in Dallas and Fort Worth.

The 25 persons arrested, among them gangsters and fences, are in jail at Dallas, Waxahachie, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Hillsboro, Austin and other cities.

Football Tickets For Abilene Game Placed on Sale

C. C. Davie, registrar of the Ranger high school, has announced that tickets for the Bulldog-Eagle game at Abilene Friday have been placed on sale at the Paramount pharmacy, Swaney's pharmacy and Oil City pharmacy.

Both general admission tickets and reserved seat tickets for the Ranger side of the field have been received and have been distributed among the drug stores and the high school in order that everyone might have an opportunity to get one before leaving for Abilene.

The tickets for the high school section will be sold at the school building by Mr. Davie, while the tickets for adults can be obtained at any one of the three drug stores.

Texas Rangers In A Night Practice

The decedent was a resident of Eastland county for 33 years. She is survived by her husband, J. M. White and a number of children, most of whom were present at the time of her death.

MAY CAUSE A PRICE RISE ON COMMODITIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The government today began its open market gold purchases at a rate of $31.36 an ounce in President Roosevelt's new price lifting and monetary program.

Jesse Jones, chairman of the board of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, made public the country's gold price after a conference today with the undersecretary of the treasury and farm credit administrator. Payment for the gold will be made by the R. F. C. in its new 90-day debentures.

Government economists believed general rises or declines in all commodity prices, including what the farmer receives for his wheat, could be figured by raising or lowering the figure at which the government would buy gold. A rise in gold, it was assumed, would cause a corresponding rise in prices. This view was disputed, however, by some economists.

MURDER CASE IS Affirmed by Court

By United Press
AUSTIN, Oct. 25.—The state court of criminal appeals today ruled John Allen must serve 40 years' murder sentence because bills of exception appeared to have been filed too late.

Allen was convicted in Gregg county of killing Roy King, his landlord, in 1932. The court formerly held a statement made by King after he was shot and before his death was improperly admitted at Allen's trial. The court today granted the state a rehearing and affirmed the sentence.

Ickes Says Control Of Oil Is Still An Experiment

By United Press
CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, oil administrator, in an address to the petroleum industry, today characterized the attempted control under the oil code as a "new economic and political adventure of the first magnitude."

He said, frankly, that if the industry proved itself incapable of preventing such waste as had been contained in the past, the government would be justified in taking steps to regulate and preserve the resource.

Drys Put Over State Beer Law

By United Press
AUSTIN, Oct. 25.—Texas wets are belatedly awakening to the discovery they sold a prospective wet birthright for a mess of 3.2 potage.

With the present swing to repeal, they might well have pressed for repeal of state-wide prohibition in its entirety, instead of limiting their efforts to obtaining the amendment that permits only beer and wine.

The inside story of how the submission of the beer amendment was successfully put over in the regular session of the legislature has now been told. The drys precipitated it.

During a noon recess there was a compromise. Dry leaders joined in the beer amendment movement. Rep. C. F. Sullivant of Gainesville was selected as the compromise leader because he was one of the drier of the dries. Sullivant, at first adamant, was convinced a compromise on beer, leaving Texas constitutionally dry on liquors for two years more at least, was a good trade. Sullivant and the prohibitionists then offered the beer amendment. The wets who had been clamoring for beer couldn't in good grace refuse to support it. Only six members of the entire house voted against the proposal.

Now with national prohibition repealed slated for a speedy discord, the Texas "prohibits" are chucking at the way they have kept Texas semi-dry.

STATE ANTI-TRUST LAWS AND THE NRA

In the oil suit cases Dist. Judge P. D. Moore ruled that the anti-trust laws had been superseded by the National Recovery Act now functioning in all the 48 American states. Before adjournment both houses of the Texas legislature voted to accept a compromise bill "broadening the provisions of the state anti-trust laws to permit industry to take full advantage of the NRA program outlined by the congress. A reminder that the relief measure enacted and the anti-trust law interpretation enacted by the lawmakers were the two main legislative objectives Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson asked of the lawmakers when she convened the legislature Sept. 14. Just the other day the supreme court of the United States handed down a most important ruling.

The Texas Electric Service company was denied a review by the supreme court of a circuit court of appeals decision holding void its contract with domestic consumers and industrial concerns to use of its service on the ground that contracts tended to establish a "monopoly in violation of Texas anti-trust statutes."

These are some of the facts: The Texas Electric Service company entered into contract with approximately 90 per cent of its consumers—domestic consumers and commercial plants—the domestic consumers' contracts running for two years and the industrial power contracts from two to 10 years. Fairbanks, Morse and company, entered into contracts with Texas municipalities to furnish machinery and set up municipal electric plants on deferred payments, usually covering a period of six years. It made the contracts when the municipality had signed up from approximately 65 to 75 per cent of all users of electrical energy within its limits.

The Texas Electric company sought to prevent Fairbanks, Morse and company from conducting business along that line, insisting that its plan had the affect of violating contracts it had with consumers in various municipalities.

Well, the trial court restrained the Fairbanks company from doing anything to induce the contract customers of the Texas Electric Service company "to breach their contracts, or making contracts with municipally owned plants until the contracts with the Texas company have terminated." An appeal was taken to the fifth circuit court of appeals. The court set aside the ruling of the trial court and ordered the case dismissed, taking the position that the contracts of the Texas company with its customers are void because CONSTITUTING A SYSTEM OF CONTRACT TENDING TO ESTABLISH A MONOPOLY AND BECAUSE THE CONTRACTS VIOLATED THE ANTI-TRUST STATUTES.

Another appeal was taken to the court of last resort by the electric service company and that court denied a review of the circuit court of appeals decision holding void its contract on the grounds, as has been stated, that its contracts tended to establish a monopoly and were in violation of Texas anti-trust statutes. Now the Texas lawmakers are on record as having enacted a bill "broadening the provisions of the state anti-trust laws to permit industry to take full advantage of the NRA program." This story is told in order that the records of court decisions and the broadening of anti-trust decisions and the broadening of anti-trust laws may be kept straight for the readers of this newspaper.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

R. W. FISHER, editor of the Walla Walla (Wash.) Union, says:

"Business concerns which start their advertising during times such as those through which the country has been passing will help attract business, which will come in every increasing volume when prosperity gets away from the corner.

"To many merchants who show eagerness to advertise during the so-called good times shy away from it during the poorer times, overlooking the fact that advertising is a stimulator of business.

"People 'take' a newspaper to get the news and the news is not alone in the columns devoted to general items. The most important news to many people is that they can get food, clothing and other needed articles at a reasonable price at 'so and so's' establishment.

"Merchants who go on the theory that everyone knows their location and what they have to sell are unduly optimistic. People forget in a hurry when an advertiser drops out of the papers because some alert chap, who knows his printer's ink, will take the place attract the customers, satisfy them, and the man who should, and could, have the business is left out in the cold."

HOOKS and SLIDES
 BY BILL BRAUCHER

Tilden Through? My, No!
 It was about this time last year that Bill Tilden's ballyhoo boys were declaring that he was about through, and that if you wanted a last glimpse of the greatest tennis star America ever produced, you'd better pay your dough and attend one of the pro matches of his tour.

But after his recent win over Cochet in Paris, Bill proves he's far from through; in fact, he proves he's just started—to popular professional tennis.

Bill recently returned to the United States from his foreign invasion to hear reports that Ellsworth Vines was listening attentively to professional offers, and that perhaps Fred Perry and a couple of other stars would take up their racquets for gold.

Tilden Ticked
 AND did that please him? Yowza! For if you'll recall, Bill was called all sorts of complimentary names when he left the ranks of the amateurs to join the pros. And here he comes back to the United States to find the cream of the unpaid considering joining the ranks.

The big fellow, now past 41, still is able to get around on the court. His masterful victory over Cochet in France proved that—and also proved the drawing power of big names in professional tennis.

Suzanne's Views
 "PROFESSIONAL tennis is making big progress. Look at Tilden. When he decided to take the step, his standing suffered at first. But already that has been forgotten. And Tilden has regained all the skill of earlier days.

"This is just a forerunner of what is to come—open tennis. Open tennis is the real law of sport. Players, whether amateur or professional, must oppose one another. It certainly has been working in golf for many years—why not on the courts, too?"

If, as Suzanne believes, open tennis is around the corner, it may be just the tonic the game needs.

Waco Church Has Anniversary Meet

By United Press
 WACO, Texas.—Members of the First Methodist church here recently commemorated the 82nd anniversary of the institution's establishment.

The present church was organized in 1878, and the grandfather of the present pastor, Dr. E. R. Stanford, was one of the first to occupy the pulpit.

At the commemoration service Dr. Stanford said: "The first pastor of the First Methodist church in Waco, so the records tell us, was awakened the first morning after arrival here by the howling of wolves, which then kept vigil on the very outskirts of the village."

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion.—(adv.)

CLEAN FOOTBALL by JOCK SUTHERLAND FAMOUS DIRT COACH

ONE of the most sportsmanlike stunts on the gridiron comes from the stone age of football. Despite the antiquity of this action, it is still practiced by some players.

The deed is performed with malice aforethought, and generally by a blocker, who has no thought for clean football. Running interference for a fellow back into the line, the player leaves his feet, does a body roll, and flings his feet into the face of some charging lineman.

This is unfair football of the worst sort. They don't make penalties stiff enough for this type of play. Many an old-time gridiron great carries scars inflicted by just such sort of action.

The sketch illustrates this example of poor sportsmanship.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

We've always envied play reviews and dramatic critics...

But last night we saw "Kindling."

"Kindling," gentle reader, is Charles Kenyon's chopped up idea of life in a New York tenement district.

"Kindling" is frankly a tear-jerker... and laugh provoker...

It whirls you from drama to comedy so fast you get all mixed up and breathless with emotion.

But we cleft backstage before the curtain call and brought back a little greasepaint for the gaping public.

We saw:

Jack Galloway in a striped shirt, patting everybody on the back and working up a good bravado for a thug role...

Moorman Wagner wielding a powder puff with professional grace, and primping primly in order to help the stage cupid ensnare the dark-eyed...

Maxine Henderson, who stood meekly in a corner, all covered up with greasepaint and declaring loudly she wasn't even trembling... explaining to us privately that she'd had the "jitters" for two days and was "used to them by now."

And there was Mrs. Mills Daventport, waving a monocle awkwardly about, and practicing an uppercrust affectation on the suffering cast...

Rose McEver was stifling a fresh cold and batting shadowed

He knew tragedy... and comedy... and love... and hatred.

And a representative group of Ranger's dramatic lovers knew it last night when the last curtain went down on the opening play of the

"Kindling" Is Proclaimed Dramatic Success By Good Crowd

The Ranger Little Theatre, working under the sponsorship of the local New Era club, made its public bow last night at the high school auditorium, with Charles Kenyon's play, "Kindling," a three act drama of New York tenement life. The opening night crowd was good.

The production was directed by Tom Knight, local dramatic interest, who has seen practical work on the legitimate stage in Kansas City.

The theme of the play centers in the fight of a girl of the New York slums for her goal in life, namely, motherhood. The struggle carries her from her bare flat into the limelight of the upper crust of society, even into conspiracy with a would-be crook. Fighting against her in her maternal desire are her husband, a group of social workers, and the general conditions of the section in which she makes her home.

Finally through three acts of tangled plot, Alice, a social worker with a purpose in her labors, takes the situation in hand, thwarts a detective, and sends the grateful young couple packing off to Wyoming, where there may be roses.

In Act 1, Mrs. Bates, Irish wash-woman, played by Winifred Dunle, captured the crowd with subtle wit, exceedingly well portrayed.

Just when she was beginning to steal the act, Maggie, the lead, with Rose McEver in the role, shuffled on the set, pale faced and heavy eyed, and caught the audience in a maze of combined discouragement and fierceness.

Jack Galloway, assuming the accent and apparel of a cheap crook, was proclaimed "good" from his shifty entrance two minutes after the curtain rose, until his hasty exit via fire escape in the second act.

Earl Francis vied with Miss McEver for first place in characterization. Carrying the role for men, as husband of the tenement heroine, he was a combination of stage composure and personality.

For sophistication and all-depicable traits of the glorified upper crust, Mrs. Mills Davenport climbed to the heights. Trailing in her wake, Hubert Capps was a competent yes and no man. He was beautifully inane.

Gaston Dixon as plainclothes detective caught the public with an array of sarcasm. His utter conceit and incompetence as a cop and his quick gibe snapped a somewhat minor role into the limelight.

Carrying the thread of romance, Maxine Henserson and Moorman Wagner, as social worker and aspiring young doctor, presented a number of difficult moments nicely. They furnished the bright spots of the evening.

Mrs. O. B. Denney, president of the New Era Club, addressed the audience preceding the last act. She declared the Little Theater a definite organization and predicted a second production soon, embracing a larger cast.

Rangers To Meet Weatherford Coyotes In Night Game

In preparation for the tussle against Weatherford Coyotes on Thursday night, the College Rangers have been holding regular practice, and additional night practice at the Cisco field.

Coach Ward was pleased with the showing made by the varsity, saying that it was much more impressive than the session of a week ago. The timing and finesse on the offense is greatly improved.

The backfield has improved much under careful training, while the line play looks encouraging.

The Rangers have some of the best guard material in the state. Taylor and Vaughn who played the entire Decatur game, will probably start the Weatherford game also.

The guards on the Ranger lineup will be either Williams, Steed, Townsend, Aishman or Kidwell. While Bray will probably handle the job at center.

Daniels, a back known chiefly for his punts heretofore, has developed a drive that will make him a most dependable ground gainer for the Rangers. Others who hold backfield positions are Roy Brown, quarter; Weaver, Elmer and Delmer Brown, Hodgkess, Faircloth and Lennis.

The tackles will probably go to Mabry, Wallace, Fulcher or Murray. The game will be called at 8 o'clock on the Weatherford College field Thursday night.
