STORES WILL BE CLOSED ON ARMISTICE DAY

Mrs. Eva George, secretary of the Ranger Retail Merchants association, announced today that the merchants of the city have voted unanimously to follow the annual custom of closing all stores in the city on Armistice Day. Closing on Armistice Day has become such a tradition in Ranger that it is always almost a foregone conclusion, and the merchants have, for many years, kept their stores closed on that day. Those who do their shopping in Ranger have been urged to make purchases on Friday or Saturday to last them through the long week-end. No elaborate celebration of Armistice Day is planned, though the Carl Barnes Post plans a barbecue at noon and a smoker that night for all ex-service men, and former members of the army, navy and marine corps are cordially invited to attend either or both. The schools, too, will remain closed all day Monday, and the annual football game between the Cisco Lobos and the Ranger Bulldogs, to be played at Chesley Field, Cisco, Monday afternoon will be one of the chief attractions of the day for football fans of the two cities. Though both teams have been having an off season this year, the two teams appear to be so evenly matched that a good contest is anticipated, and a large crowd is expected to be on hand for the game.

Annual Football Sermon Planned For Sunday Night

Rev. H. B. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian Church of Ranger, who has preached an annual sermon especially for the Ranger football team each year for the past several years, has extended an invitation, again this year, for the team to attend the service next Sunday evening at 7:30. The team has eagerly accepted the invitation. The annual sermon for the members of the football squad has been preached each year on the Sunday before the Cisco-Ranger game, and each year since the custom was started by Rev. Johnson, the Lobos have failed to win from the Bulldogs. Rev. Johnson stated today, in announcing his sermon for Sunday evening, said that he hoped the service would prove an inspiration to the team this year and the team would end its long losing streak in the annual Oil Belt classic.

Miss Emilie Bendix Secures Position In Interior Dept.

Miss Emilie Bendix, who has been employed in the Ranger Chamber of Commerce office for the past few months, was notified Monday afternoon of her appointment to a position in the department of the interior at Austin. Miss Bendix, who is well known in Ranger and who graduated from the Ranger High school and the Ranger Junior college, will leave Wednesday for Austin, where she will take up her new duties.

O'Shea and McEuin Wrestling Winners

Eddie O'Shea beat "Wildcat" Hood last night at the Elks arena in one of the fastest matches of the season and one that was enjoyed by the fans. O'Shea always puts on a real show. "Tiger" Bill McEuin beat Owen Davis in two out of three falls, Davis not appearing for the last match. Bill Angus was referee. It was announced at the arena last evening that no card would be given next Monday night on account of Armistice but that a real show was in the making for the 18th. The Elks have signed up with the Kansas City circuit and wrestlers, such as Speedy Sparks, Young Sampson, Baruch, Sasek, McEuin, O'Shea and others will be seen under the new management. Every penny above actual expenses of the show will go to charity during the winter. The Elks always do much charity work and this is one of the methods used by the club to help finance this worthy cause.

Jr. College Team To Play In Terrell

W. W. Jarvis, registrar of the Ranger Junior college, announced today that the game scheduled for this Friday between T. M. C. and Ranger Junior college, which was to have been played at Lillard field, had been transferred to Terrell, and would be played Friday night. The game was transferred because of the fact that all junior college games played in Ranger this year have lost money and a better crowd was expected if the team played in Terrell.

VISITORS IN RANGER

E. G. Garrett and Roy C. Shurgart, of Route 1, Gorman, were business visitors in Ranger today and paid The Times office a very pleasant call. Garrett said that peanuts were suffering from the wet weather and lots of the nuts were sprouting in the shock. He also made the statement that some sunshine and wind would certainly be a Godsend to farmers in his community and specially to peanut growers.

France Will Develop Colonial Coal Mines

PARIS, Fr.—France has announced an important gold strike in its colonies. An official announcement issued in Paris states that gold-bearing deposits in French West Africa, especially in the Upper Niger basin, have proved so large and rich that there is no reason why they should not be exploited technically in the same way as the South African fields. They are in many cases up to and above the Rand level. M. Louis Rollin, Minister of Colonies, has sent the colonies of West Africa instructions to get on with the full and proper prospecting of the new gold fields.

"LEXINGTON OF TEXAS" HAS A CELEBRATION

GONZALES, Texas, Nov. 5.—The "Lexington of the Texas Revolution," Gonzales, was joined today by many cities in this territory to celebrate the firing of the first shot in the fight for independence a century ago. Chilly winds which bit down from the Panhandle failed to freeze the spirit of the thousands who gathered for the biggest carnival in the 110 years of Gonzales' history. The event was the first celebration of the Texas Centennial. It was here that 100 years ago a six-pound cannon boomed defiance to the Mexican general, Santa Ana. The small weapon rests on the Gonzales public square and was the object of patriotic reverence today.

West of the Pecos Country Plans a Big Celebration

By United Press
FORT STOCKTON, Texas.—Texas West of the Pecos has announced a section-wide Centennial celebration, each of the towns presenting its local program, with the central exposition to be at Fort Davis. Fort Stockton, under leadership of the Lions Club, is arranging a water carnival, an anomaly in the country that is known throughout the world as an arid area. In the midst of this section where water is valued more than gold, there is a series of springs producing water so clear, that in the swimming pool a newspaper can be read under seven feet of water. The spring that feeds the pool produces 35 million gallons daily, clearing the water out of the pool and re-supplying it every few minutes. In the entire United States, only one Florida spring produces more water than this Fort Stockton spring. Not only are the springs a natural attraction to Fort Stockton, but around this water supply much of the early history of West Texas centers. Indians, long before the white men heard of this continent, camped at this spring. It was known to all the wandering tribes to whom a water hole was a bonanza. Tradition goes that as early as 1536, only 44 years after Columbus discovered America, Cabeza De Vaca, with his two Spanish and one negro companions, in his seven-year tour across Texas to the west coast of Mexico, found the spring just in time to save the little band of men from death by thirst. More than 100 years later, another expedition, this time under the leadership of Juan Dominguez de Mendoza, pitched camp at the springs. Mendoza's expedition was the first to cross over what is later known as the Chihuahuah Trail, which passes through Fort Stockton.

NEW SERIES OF QUAKES ADDS TO STRICKEN HELENA'S DEVASTATION

Size of the reconstruction task facing Helena is indicated by this picture, a scene of ruin along one of the capital's main streets, damaged heavily by the recurrent quakes. An automobile parked near the stores is seen after an avalanche of bricks had plunged down on it from business structures in the latest series of shocks that made thousands flee the city.

RAINS SLOWING DOWN ITALIAN BIG ADVANCE

By United Press
News from the war front indicated today Italy's conquest of Ethiopia is going to be a long, tedious job, lasting many months. Webb Miller reported from the zone facing Makale the highly mechanized, efficient army was slowed up in its advance by unseasonal torrential rains which turned the dusty roads into a slippery morass in which mules floundered and fell. The advance was ordered held up while further road building is attempted. The vents illustrate the difficulty the Italians will encounter throughout the campaign in the broken wilderness. Their easiest task will be the capture of Addis Ababa after the present phase of the campaign ends. Twenty or 30 miles south of Makale begins a modern road, built by Haile Selassie, leading right to his capital. The general trend of the news was not exciting. Rome received a report an Ethiopian caravan had been bombed in the east, with the loss of 500 Ethiopians. However, no such story of high casualties has been borne out so far in the war.

High Prices Urged By Oil Operators

By United Press
DALLAS, Nov. 5.—A prediction the world will face an oil shortage in the next few years unless prices go up was pondered by delegates to the convention of the Independent Petroleum association of America. Only by drilling deeper tests, Mervin Lee of Wichita, Kas., secretary of the Kansas State Corporation commission, explained, can companies assure the world of a continued supply of oil and to justify this drilling they must get higher prices, he said.

Elections In Three States Are a Test For the President

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Elections in three states tested New Deal strength today, 12 months before President Roosevelt will hear whether his experiments with reform and recovery are holding their own before advertise criticism. Far-sighted observers may turn first to the liquor vote in Kentucky. The $100,000,000 distilling interests are alarmed. The state votes today on a proposal to amend the constitution by substituting local option for the prevailing bone dry prohibition now in the constitution. Dry leaders became confident this week they had a chance to win that fits with their program to attack the liquor problem this time through the states rather than the federal government. Politicians seeking straws in the wind look to the mayoralty contest in Philadelphia, the New York and Kentucky elections.

Death In Accident Frustrates Plans For a Wedding

By United Press
ARDMORE, Okla., Nov. 5.—Death resulting from a splintering, smashing car accident frustrated Marcella Dillard's plans to marry. The 18-year-old Dallas girl died of injuries suffered as she and Bernard Atkinson and two friends drove north toward Pauls Valley Sunday night with a marriage license in Atkinson's pocket. They intended to be married there. Curtis Nell Bruner, Dallas, fourth member of the party, was in a hospital in Sulphur with both legs and her jaw broken. Doctors said if she is moved before her recovery it will be to a Dallas hospital. Others injured were in a critical condition.

NORTHER WILL END QUICKLY OVER STATE

By United Press
The norther that hit Texas Monday probably will blow itself out Tuesday and the temperature will start rising Wednesday, the United States weather bureau announced Tuesday. The lowest temperature was at Amarillo, which shivered under a wind that sent the thermometer to 26. Dallas and Abilene reported 36. A new cold record for this early in the season was set in Williston, N. D., where the temperature dropped to 14 degrees below zero. The norther extended over Texas with a north wind blowing along the Gulf coast and Galveston and Corpus Christi reported a reading of 64. The thermometer dropped to 48 in Austin, 53 in San Antonio, 60 in Del Rio and 38 in El Paso, with a heavy frost.

CENTENNIAL MARKER SELECTION IS HARD JOB

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN.—Many hard jobs have fallen to the lot of the State Board of Control. Among them was supervision of relief. Now, the board face a task still more difficult. Its members must select sculptors and designers for Centennial memorials. Gutzon Borglum, Pompeo Coppini, Lorado Taft and Chas. Keck are among the internationally known artists who are in contact with the board about the proposed statues and memorials. Miss Waldine Tausch, Brady, a protegee of Mr. and Mrs. Coppini; Miss Alice Tennant, Dallas; Miss Dorothy memorials. Scattered sum of $200,000 of the federal fund is required. A list of memorials amounting to that has been prepared for submission to Federal Administrator Cullen F. Thomas. When the division is made and selections determined, the board will then have the job of seeing that the memorials are finished in time for the Centennial. Artists are notorious for inability to work under stress. They must have the "feel" to do their best. One can imagine the difficulty John Singleton, Centennial worker supervisor for the Board of Control, would have in telling Taft, Borglum or Coppini to "hurry up with David G. Burne's nose" or to "get Sidney Sherman's sword finished or leave it out." No Centennial artist will have to catch the spirit of Ewen Cameron and preserve it in stone or metal. The leader of early expeditions, for whom Cameron county was named, will have no recognition in a centennial monument. It was felt indicative to so honor the leader of expeditions against a neighboring country which is being invited to participate in the State's centennial celebration.

A Way Out Suggested in Raised Production

The Roosevelt administration has been trying to get us out of the depression by raising wages, prices, and profits. So far the program has not worked any too well; and now Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings Institution, suggests that we should do a great deal better if we tried the exact opposite.

By keeping prices up, he says, we arbitrarily limit our market. By pulling the plug and forcing them ever lower and lower, he believes, we could open the most tremendous new market capitalism ever dreamed of, and put ourselves in shape to use our enormous productive capacity to the full.

For three years the Brookings Institution has been studying the economic breakdown of American capitalism. Mr. Moulton summarizes its findings in the current issue of Fortune Magazine and offers a deeply interesting suggestion.

He points out, to begin with, that we have never run our productive plant at full speed. Even in the 1929 boom we could have made 20 per cent more things than we did make. The reason for this lag is obvious—we made all that we could sell, and then some. Today the lag is greater, for the same reason.

Everyone agrees that we need to get buying power into line with productive power. Mr. Moulton's idea is that the only foolproof way to do this is to start producing at top speed and let prices fall as far as they have a mind to.

The immediate objection to any such stunt as this, of course, is the question, What would happen to profits, the incentive of all business endeavor? Mr. Moulton calmly predicts that they would expand. For, he points out, the unit cost of any article shrinks as its producer approaches capacity operation.

Overhead per unit of goods is far lower at capacity operation than at 40 or 50 per cent operation. Maintain wage levels as they are, he urges, push the throttle down to the floor, let prices go down and down—and watch things hum.

Even in 1929, 70 per cent of our population had incomes below $2500 a year. If prices fell far enough to bring new goods within the range of the purses of this 70 per cent, our effective market would expand beyond the dreams of the most inspired sales managers.

The Brookings program may be one of those things that are more easily suggested than accomplished. But the idea is profoundly attractive, for this reason: it gets entirely away from the hateful notion of restricting productive capacity at a time when millions of people are going without things.

It does suggest a way to take advantage of our potential richness. It deserves the most serious study, by business leaders and national government alike.

"Automobiles Lead in Recovery." But not many of their victims.

By HARRY GRAYSON

NOTRE DAME and Navy alternate two squads as units, with one little less formidable than the other.

"That is the best method if you have ample reserves, because piecemeal substitutions disrupt team smoothness," says Ducky Pond, of Yale.

With all big game schedules, which most major arrays have to contend with these days, a coach really needs two varsity combinations.

"For example, the Yale regulars showed a fatigue reaction against Navy following that punishing scrap with Pennsylvania," explains Pond. "Tackling fast giants like Kurlish, Warwick, and Murray takes a lot out of smaller, lighter men. It must be a comfortable feeling to have two varsity combinations of about equal strength."

Any coach will tell you that the smart thing to do in the event that you have the material is to use backfields as units.

"The signal caller must know just what each of the backs with whom he is working can do," stresses Elmer Layden, the thin man of Notre Dame.

Backs With Natural Cross-Over Step Rare

DICK HARLOW declares that you'd be surprised to learn just how few backs know how to run properly.

"On any typical squad you find 'skaters'—kids who slide along without throwing their knees high, 'flopners,' boys who lack muscular co-ordination and flop their arms and legs all over the lot like a pelican; and 'spraddlers,' chaps who run with their knees straddled too wide," elucidates Harvard's head man.

"You can improve a boy's cross-stepping by placing automobile tires in a staggered formation on the ground and having him run at top speed, planting his foot in each hoop successively. But boys with a natural cross-over step, a nice sense of balance when cutting, and the ability to conceal their direction until the tackler commits himself are hard to find."

Carolina Teams as Good As Any in Country—Anderson

NOTRE DAME men and followers of Col. Heartley W. Anderson, the former Irish coach, will be pleased to hear that Hunk is extremely happy at North Carolina State.

Anderson raves about the climate of the ole North State. He asserts that it is a fine place to grow up, live and die in.

Anderson attributes the Wolfpack's 13-0 reverse at the hands of Georgia to the veteran Bulldogs catching his sophomore outfit a bit too early.

Anderson tells you that his team, his second at State, has shown improvement with each start, and one gathers that he expects to stir up plenty of trouble for North Carolina and Duke, the battles with which will make or break his season.

Football certainly is picking up in North Carolina. Anderson says that the clubs there are just about as capable as you will find anywhere.

City Completes $6,500,000 Hall

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — This city's new $6,500,000 municipal auditorium, in process of construction four years, has been completed.

The auditorium is the second largest in the country with a seating capacity of 15,000. It contains all modern apparatus and comforts. The main auditorium with its huge seating capacity is only a small part of the gigantic structure which occupies more than a city block.

In addition to the auditorium arena, there is a theater that will seat 3,000, a little theater capable of seating 1,500, an exhibition hall that covers three acres of floor space and 40 committee rooms.

Designed for Every Need
The structure has been so designed that a national political convention, a grand opera, a symphony concert or play, a dozen lectures in the individual rooms, and an exposition can all be doing at the same time without interruption and crowd interference.

The auditorium has been constructed with an ear to acoustics and an eye to floor level so the person occupying the lowest priced seat can enjoy whatever proceedings are in session just as well as the person in the "ringside" seat. A public speaking system, costing $50,000, has been installed.

In the lighting control rooms the switchboard is foolproof and if all the fuses blow out simultaneously an automatic device ensures continued lighting. The hall is air conditioned.

Hall Has "Smoke Skimmer"
There is even a "smoke skimmer" installed, a device built above the arena which will take the smoke from cigars and cigarettes sucking it upward and discharging it to the outside thus making wrestling and boxing matches more comfortable.

The arena floor is built of wood carved from yellow pine vertical grained blocks and set in asphalt. The grand foyer is a veritable forest of massive marble columns faintly reminiscent of the great temples built in ancient times. Drinking water fountains have been installed throughout the gigantic structure. There are dressing rooms and shower baths capable of caring for 600 athletes.

Business Meeting of W. M. S. Reveals Interesting Plans
All circles of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church heard a very interesting group of reports Monday afternoon when they met for the hour devoted to business under the leadership of the president, Mrs. W. A. Lewis.

Chairmen of all committees were asked to submit reports which were entirely satisfactory and decidedly encouraging. All workers are showing active interest and are carrying forward with renewed enthusiasm as the old year draws to a close. Perhaps the most outstanding report was given by Mrs. Addie Williams, personal service chairman, who reported much work had been done toward aiding needy families, and plans are to continue along that line. The Thanksgiving box, the annual gift to the orphans' home, is being worked on and the car this year will be at Cisco. Young people's chairman reported work carried forward and progress noted in each department. Royal Ambassador Week has been set aside for Nov. 10 to 16. A series of functions are being planned for the boys participating in the program. Prayer meeting service during that week will be presided over by the boys.

A good attendance was registered.

Fire Chief George A. Murphy will supervise the decorations, which promise to give much color to the headquarters. Members of the American Legion Auxiliary, under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Al Tume, will be busily engaged during the day selling poppies. Ranger has always heretofore made a splendid showing on this occasion and it is the hope of all that the success will again be repeated this year.

Canadian Rings Lose On Liquor

QUEBEC, Can.—American bootleggers are putting Canadian rum runners out of business in their own strongholds.

It is reported that while American bootleggers are making fortunes by buying up illicit liquor from St. Pierre and Miquelon, the headquarters of a once vast rum-running industry, and distributing it in Quebec or smuggling it into the United States in automobiles and trucks, the Quebec bootleggers are barely struggling along, busily engaged in attempting to store up as much liquor as possible for the long winter months, when the St. Lawrence River,

The American rum runners do not have to depend on the "local market" to sell their goods. They have a thriving market in the United States. Quebec bootleggers, on the other hand, have struck hard times because of the recent price cuts made by the Quebec Liquor Commission. The cuts ranged from 15 to 30 per cent, but the bootleggers have been forced to maintain their standard price of $8 a gallon, or lose money.

'Campaign Face' of Teddy, Jr.

Lashing the New Deal of his distant cousin as vehemently as his famed dad assailed the "trusts," Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was caught in this candid snapshot as he addressed Republican leaders in New York. In some quarters, the colonel is mentioned as a possible G. O. P. standard bearer.

OAK GROVE

Last week our farmers begun in earnest the harvest of the best peanut crop we have grown in years. A light shower Tuesday evening halted progress.

Cotton picking was a little late in this community this season but nearly every one had completed their crops for the first time and had quit until all the bolls were open. There will be a fairly good picking for the second time over in most crops.

G. D. Hall has made a trip thru the Plains in the Amarillo section and seen it in its best dress. He said the crops were fine and cattle and other livestock were looking good. Mr. Hall said as good as they look they hold no inducement to him to move as Eastland county was good enough yet.

Cruiser Is Named For Nashville

By United-Press
WASHINGTON.—The gunboat Nashville, sold out the navy 14 years ago, will be replaced by a light cruiser which is now more than a quarter completed, the navy department has announced.

The new Nashville, scheduled for launching on May 1, 1936, will be a 10,000-ton vessel with six-inch guns. It is being constructed by the New York Shipbuilding Corp., at Camden, N. J.

Cost for hull and machinery will be $11,677,000, whereas the older boat, with a displacement of 1,371 tons, cost $260,000.

The vessel now building will be sponsored by Ann and Mildred Stahlman, daughters of James G. Stahlman, president of the Nashville Banner, Nashville, Tenn.

The first navy boat to be called the Nashville was a sidewheel steamer built by the Confederacy. It was surrendered to the Federals on the Tombigbee River, Ala., May 10, 1865.

The second Nashville, which was taken out of commission in 1918 and sold in 1921, is accorded an honorable place in naval histories. It was launched in 1895 under the sponsorship of Maria Guild (Mrs. John D. Westbrook), daughter of Mayor Guild of Nashville. Commissioned in 1897, it was immediately used in the Spanish-American War in which it fired the first shot and captured the first prize vessel.

During the World War the Nashville served the Mediterranean, basing at Gibraltar, with the principal duty that of escorting convoys and protecting them from submarine attacks.
