ITALY TO USE ALL OIL FOR NEEDS OF WAR

By United Press
ROME, Nov. 9.—Conservation of motor oil supplies, restricted under League of Nations sanctions and precious to Italy's motorized caravans and airplanes in Ethiopia was ordered in two royal decrees issued tonight.

The first decree ended free trade in all mineral oils and authorized the government to requisition the national supply if necessary. It created a special office of liquid fuels in the ministry to handle the national fuel oil requirements, including that of the navy, the air force, the merchant marine and the railways.

HOUSTON, Nov. 9.—Chances of Italy to obtain 5,000,000 barrels of East Texas crude oil to use in the Ethiopian war appeared slight tonight. Reports of negotiations were heard.

Houston Oil men representing independent and major companies believed it would be impossible to supply that much crude because of state proration schedules.

On the northern front consolidation of Italian positions around Makale continues and two Italian columns drove toward Gondar, key city in the Lake Tana region, site of vast irrigation projects which water British agricultural regions.

One column has advanced beyond the Setit river and is moving south toward Gondar. The second column is moving toward Gondar from a region west of Aksum.

Ethiopians are reported massed around Gondar.

Italian capture of Gorrabei has been a severe blow to Ethiopian morale, but headquarters at Harar expressed determination to go on fighting. Heavy rains have slowed up Ethiopian retreat and made Italian pursuit difficult. Italian troops now are 660 miles inland from their base in Italian Somaliland.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Britain's financial and credit boycott against Italy becomes effective Nov. 13, the privy council decreed.

Bob King Stars In Game For Furman

Copies of the Greenville, S. C., News, containing accounts of the Furman-Citadel football game, played Nov. 2, give glowing accounts of the playing of Bob King, left end of the Furman team.

King accounted for two touchdowns, both made on end-around plays, one of which was for 32 yards, and kicked three goals from placement for points after touchdowns in Furman's 35 to 0 victory.

King gained a total of 40 yards during the game to lead the Furman ground gainers in total yardage gained.

University "Who's Who" Will Include Girl from Eastland

DENTON, Texas, Nov. 9.—Miss Anna Lou Estes of Eastland has been selected from the student body of Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.) for a place in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities."

This book, published annually by the University of Alabama, is a compilation of biographies of the outstanding standing students in America. Qualities of character, scholarship, leadership in a high standard of politics, athletics and other forms of extra-curricular activities, and possibilities of future usefulness to business and society are considered in making nominations for the book.

Baylor's Hopes For Conference Crown Dashed Saturday

WACO, Nov. 9.—Baylor University's hopes of winning the Southwest Conference championship were dashed today when the University of Texas Longhorns scalped the Bears 25 to 6.

Baylor fell victim principally to a faulty passing attack and lost three golden opportunities to inflict heavy damage on the Steers. Pitzer's 66-yard run for Texas in the first period was the Longhorn's long suit of the day.

A pass, Arnold to Collins, resulted in the first Texas touchdown in the opening period. Hadlock failed to convert.

Immediately afterwards Russell's punt was down to the Texas 34. Pitzer seized the ball and made his long gallop. Texas' try for point was blocked. After failing in a passing attack Baylor kicked in the second period. Hadlock received on the Texas 20. A penalty gave Texas a further setback. Russell recovered a fumble on the four-yard stripe and wriggled across for Baylor's only score. Germand's kick failed.

Russell's kick from the Baylor 23 in the third caught Texas unprepared and landed on the Texas 11. Gilbreath ran the ball back 21 yards, however and the Baylor threat failed. Again Germand intercepted a pass and advanced to the Texas 19, but Texas kicked out.

AVIATOR DIES IN CRACKUP NEAR DALLAS

FORT WORTH, Nov. 9.—Apparently attempting to return to the Dallas airport because of bad weather, W. C. Moss, 32, pilot, met death here today when his plane smashed into the ground at terrific speed.

Moss, enroute to Waco, was mangled beyond recognition as the high speed Lockheed plane nosed into the ground at a speed estimated at 200 miles an hour. The wreckage was scattered several hundred yards, the nose making a huge hole in the lot where it struck. The motor was broken into small parts, the pistons hanging out.

The Broken Promise of Armistice Day!

Editorial by Bruce Catton . . . Cartoon by Herb Block

It may sound strange to say that we do not think enough of the dead in the World War. They were fighting to make the world a better place to live in; they hoped, and were told so to hope by the men who sent them out to die, that through the sacrifice of their lives it was going to be possible to devise some sort of world order in which wars could hereafter be avoided.

No one needs to look around the world very long today to see how tragically that hope has been dashed.

In Africa the fighting is on. Black men and white men expose their bodies to the fiendishly ingenious devices which the modern world has invented for its sprees of mass murder.

The thunder of guns, the whine of approaching shells, the staccato rattle of machine guns—those noises that we hoped had been stilled forever, on Nov. 11, 1918—are something again, and the price of their sounding is the same as it was before.

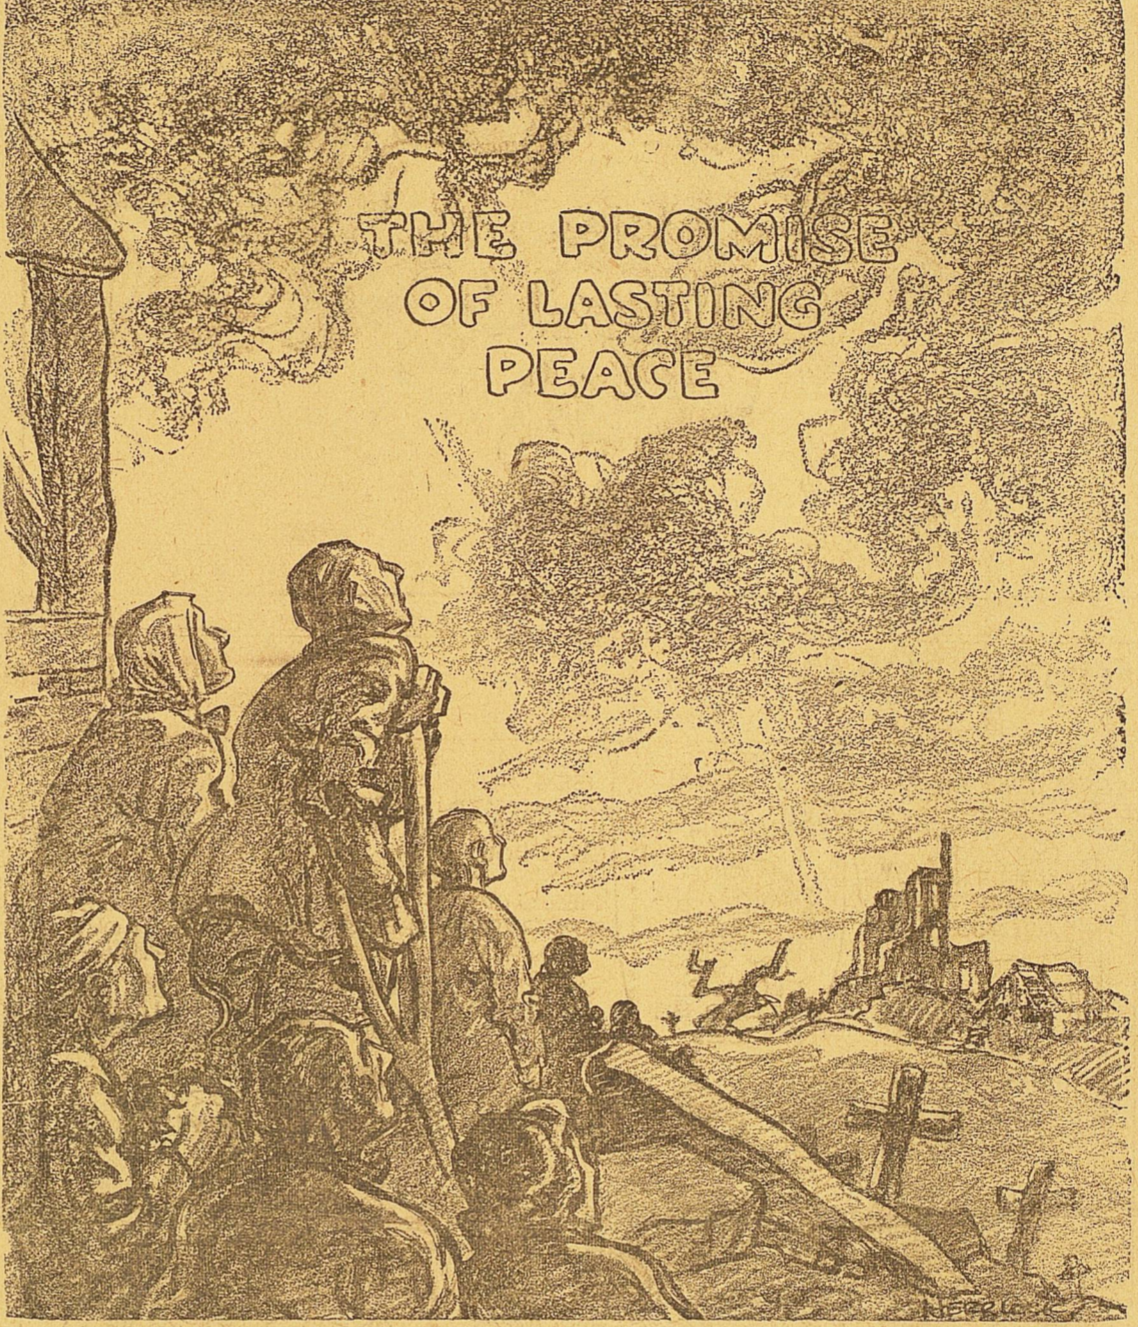

Elsewhere the fighting has not started—yet. But Japanese troops watch the marshes of Manchukuo, and Soviet troops drill in the wind-swept towns opposite them. Germany hums with busy factories, turning out planes, tanks, guns, warships and all the other paraphernalia of slaughter.

France keeps an army watchful behind the greatest chain of forts the world has ever seen. England's gray-walled sea dogs ride the Mediterranean, waiting for the fateful signal.

In a dozen other countries, men march and drill and prepare for the day; and our own country spends huge sums to get its fleet and its fighting planes ready.

That, one hardly needs to say, is not a picture of a world that expects to remain at peace. It is a sorry and tragic commentary on the high hopes that we held that first Armistice Day; and it is an unspeakably cruel betrayal of the phrases with which more than eight million men were led to die.

Perhaps if we could see all those eight million we would be so shocked, so profoundly moved in the very bottom of our hearts, that we would have the courage to redeem our forgotten pledge to them.

We would have to watch for a long, long time to see their ranks pass by; all the soldiers who have fought in all our wars would not equal them in number. There is no way of making our imaginations comprehend what a tremendous army the army of World War dead really is.

Not is there, either, any way of comprehending just how much unbelievable human suffering that war cost. The physical pain suffered by the fighting men, the heart-crushing anguish suffered by those they left behind, the long and pitiful misery visited upon Heaven knows how many millions of children whose homes were broken by the war, whose bodies were stunted by famine, whose lives were ruined, by war-born chaos—there simply is not any way of totalling all that agony.

But we need to think about it, on Armistice Day above all other days.

Until we actually do something in the way of making this a warless world, all that suffering and loss has gone for nothing—a mockery of every hope humanity ever had.

Until we find the courage to make that promise of a lasting peace and a better world something more than an empty phrase, we must be recorded as the ignominy of all the earth's generations—a generation condemned by eight and one-half million dead men!

QUANAH DOWNS MAVERICKS BY 20 TO 12 SCORE

Despite a showing of marked improvement in offense and defense, particularly in the latter, the Eastland Mavericks were downed, 20-12 by the Quanah Indians on Welch field Friday afternoon.

H. Taylor, stocky alternating end and backfield man, made both scores for Eastland. The first was on a 57-yard run in the second quarter and the second on a pass from Key in the fourth period.

Quanah scored in the first, second and fourth quarters. C. Edmondson went around right end for the Indians' first score and Tate's try for extra point was good.

H. Taylor sparkled when he surprised fans and Indians in the second quarter by skirting right (Continued on page 3)

Cases Against Five Dismissed by Court

Cases against five were dismissed in 88th district court Friday on motion of Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen, because there was not sufficient evidence to obtain convictions.

Cases dismissed and the former charges were as follows: Bill Moore, burglary; P. P. Reynolds, two case soft forgery; Jimmie Kidwell, theft over $50 and burglary; John Doe, two cases of forgery.

A murder case against Stanley Huddleston of Pioneer, who was convicted recently in 88th district court of driving while intoxicated and given a two-year suspended sentence, was also dismissed.

Northwestern Wins Over Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 9.—Ohio State couldn't do it. Pittsburgh couldn't do it. Neither could any of the other mighty outfits, but Notre Dame has met this today with the aid of a muddy field and the super-playing of Don Heap, blond halfback, who ran wild against what has been called the super-team of the year.

The Wildcats invaded Notre Dame stadium and scored the major upset of the 1935 football season when they vanquished the Irish 14 to 7 before a howling crowd of 35,000.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 9.—Postmaster General James A. Farley tonight opened a thumping anti-Republican offensive in an address believed to forecast preliminary Democratic tactics in the 1936 presidential race.

Farley, addressing a gathering of Connecticut Democrats, minced no words in challenging Republican critics of the New Deal on behalf of adozen issues.

EACH TEAM IS HOPEFUL OF A DISTRICT WIN

Loboes Seeking First Victory Over Bulldogs Since 1930.

Ranger's High School Bulldogs will go to Cisco Monday afternoon to enter into the annual conflict against the Cisco Loboes in a game that, according to advance information, should be as good as any played between the two teams, because both teams will be fighting desperately to keep from being shoved into the district cellar.

The rivalry that has existed between the two teams for many years has not abated a particle because of the fact that neither have shown to advantage during the present season, because both see a possibility of winning at least one district game.

The team which loses stands little chance of winning a game this season, as both have played all the weaker teams of the district, and have only the district leaders to play from here on out, the Bulldogs having only Brownwood and Breckenridge on their schedule and the Loboes having only Abilene to play before they finish their season.

The Loboes are more or less confident because of the fact that the Bulldogs have not won a game this year, and have scored but one touchdown while the Bulldogs realize that they are meeting a much weaker team than either Brownwood or Breckenridge, and it seems that it is either beat the (Continued on page 4)

Ex-Service Men to Have Celebration Of Armistice Day

Plans have been completed for the observance this year of Armistice Day.

According to Mack Dutton, general chairman of the Nov. 11 program, plans call for the opening of the festivities at the Legion clubrooms beginning at 9:30 on Monday morning. At 12 o'clock a barbecue dinner will be served to all ex-service men who have registered.

The hall will be open throughout the day for a general get-together and home-coming for the veterans. At 7:30 in the evening a dutch lunch will be served to those who have registered, to be followed by a smoker.

Dutton announces that the Armistice program has been arranged for men only, and that the registration fee for the entire program, including the noonday barbecue, the dutch feed in the evening, followed by the smoker, will be $1.

It is anticipated there will be a large gathering of war veterans for the occasion, since the post is leaving nothing undone that will contribute toward a very high class type of program in commemoration of the armistice.

According to Preston Burks, post adjutant, veterans of the Spanish-American War of the entire Oil Belt territory have been extended an invitation to the all-day affair of the local post.

GIVEN INVITATION
Invitation to members of the Carl Barnes Post of the American Legion and members of their families to be guests of the Arcadia Theatre Armistice Day was extended by B. E. Garner, manager, Saturday night.

Tax Society Fosters Warring Gangsters
Someone seems to have been turning the clock back on us. All this business from New York about gang murders, underworld syndicates, protection, and the like sounds as if it ought to have come out of Chicago in the pre-repeal era. It was the sort of thing that was going to fall apart of its own weight when prohibition was ended.

Here we have a struggle which, from the point of view of sheer size, is worthy of comparison with the Italo-Ethiopian War. The cash income at stake is larger than any return Mussolini can hope to milk out of the natural resources of Ethiopia.

All of this might have been foreseen. It should have been perfectly obvious that those well-organized, well-financed and utterly ruthless illegal organizations that waxed fat under the prohibition law were not simply going to lay away their guns and go back to honest toil when the prohibition law ended.

But to say that does not help much. The American people, who supposed that gangsterism was at last on the run, are shocked to learn that in New York, at least, it is as lawless and defiant as ever; and what they chiefly want to know is: What can be done about it?

The worst of it is that there is no simple, easy answer. In the last analysis, we have vicious gangs and gang wars because we have built up the kind of society in which such things can grow.

That is, we have tolerated corrupt politics, we have made "Does it pay?" the chief criterion of success, we have developed a fondness for the "open town" in which law-abiding citizens demand the right to buy the things which only the gangsters will sell to them, and we have let the doctrine that might makes right govern all too many of the activities of our economic life.

With such a background, big city gangs are inevitable. Until we change the background—until, in short, we reform our whole social setup—we can't hope to clean up our metropolitan underworlds.

Rep. Blanton Gives Advice to High School Boys of Abilene

Cong. Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene, in an address to the Abilene High school student body, declared the "United States learned its lesson in the World War and will not be drawn into the present maelstrom." Representative Blanton is not a pacifist although a strong advocate of peace. He is for war should war become necessary.

To that end—as described by the congressman from Abilene—the nation's military forces are being steadily strengthened with particular attention being paid to the outlying possessions of Hawaii and the Panama Canal, which Blanton has lately inspected as a member of the congressional sub-committee which prepared the annual supply bill of the war department carrying all appropriations for military purposes and national defenses.

French taxpayers are allowed to send free, every day, a 20-word telegram to the president. Still, one can't do much cursing in 20 words.

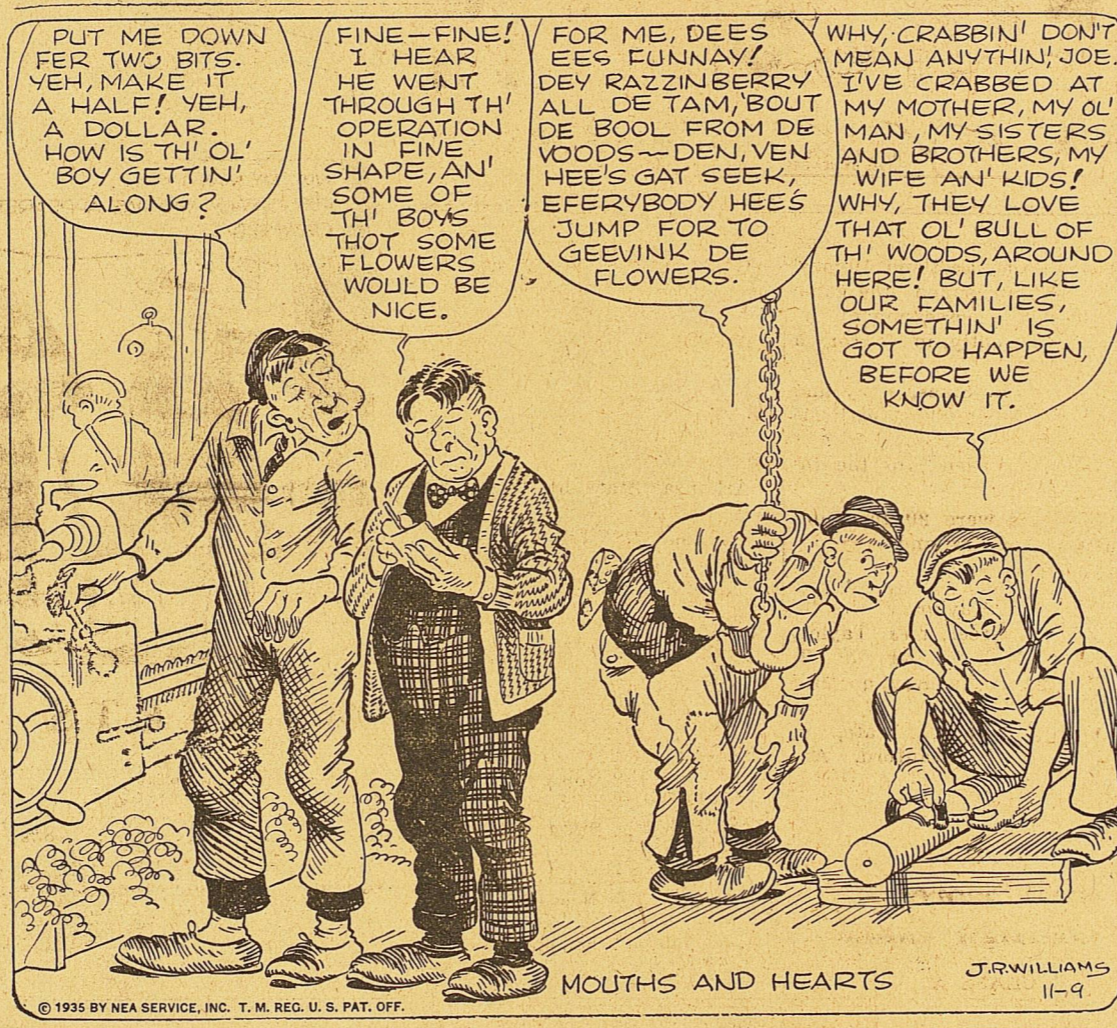

It's a shame. After New York went to all that trouble to plan a great World Fair for 1939-40, Sally Rand decides she'll wear clothes.

In his fight for neutrality legislation, we're all for Senator Homer T. Bone, if he's the one responsible for those splendid steak.

THE BIG ACT IN ENGLAND

"OUT OUR WAY" - - - - - By Williams

economic phases of power, such as roads and public ownership. Planners of the conference are so radical that they're even going to invite representatives of labor and the consumer to sit in on the show. What makes the utilities maddest is that they can't quite see how to avoid invitations to sit on committees and otherwise participate in what they fear will be a big parade of the fruits of the New Deal power policies. Distinguished foreign guests will have to be taken around to TVA and Boulder Dam, as well as to private plants. Plans call for free discussion and presentation of both sides of all issues, but key speeches will be made by government officials and most power magnates can't see how the conference can be anything less than a big boost for the New Deal and a headache for themselves.

ONE of the easiest things to do, if you have the time, is to find early historical parallels for almost any modern-day radical proposal that comes along. Take the export bounty for surplus farm crops, which some Republicans are considering as an alternative for the present AAA program. This country began that sort of thing at a tender age in 1789. The first tariff bill provided a duty of 6 cents a bushel on salt, to encourage a domestic industry. That was very tough on New England, which was doing a big business shipping salt fish. So what they did, by way of compensation, was to give the codfish industry an export bounty which amounted to from $100 to $250 a year for each fish boat. That sort of thing went on right up to the Civil War.

Olden High Loses A Heartbreaker to Moran Bulldogs

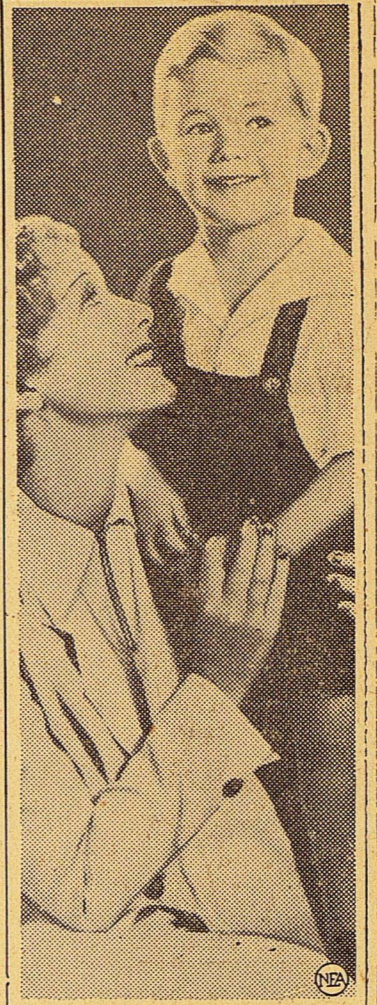

The Olden Hornets went down in defeat before the Moran Bulldogs Friday afternoon at Olden by a score of 13 to 7, in which Moran was completely outplayed but breaks, some of which were caused by the officials, in the opinion of the vast majority of Olden fans, accounted for the deciding touch-down.

The Hornets earned a decisive victory, but had to play not only the Bulldogs but at least one official, "was the way most of the fans expressed themselves after the game. The Hornets turned in by far the best game of the season and deserved a win, but breaks over which they had no control kept them from winning. The Hornets made twice as many first downs and twice as many penetrations of the 20-yard line and were outstanding on the defense, as was indicated by one goal line stand in which they held the heavier Moran team three times in succession without a gain before the Bulldogs put over the winning score.

Moran got a break early in the first quarter when they kicked off to Olden and Olden lost the ball deep in her own territory and Moran pushed over for the touch-down, but failed to make the extra point.

Olden's touchdown came in the second quarter when Jarrett went over to pay dirt and then converted for the extra point to give Olden a one-point lead. It was in the fourth quarter that the disputed play and decision were made. A Moran back went through the line for a gain,

CHRISTIAN SERVICE SERVICES

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 10.

The Golden Text is: "Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? who shall walk uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart?" (Psalms 15: 1, 2).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Wherefore take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand" (Ephesians 6: 13).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is true that a knowledge of evil would make man mortal. . . . Has evil the reality of good? Evil is unreal because it is a lie, false in every statement" (page 527).

being tackled by Anderson after Magill, at tackle, had partly checked him. Moran fumbled on the play and Olden recovered, but the officials ruled that undue roughness on the part of Anderson in making the tackle had caused the fumble and Moran was given the ball on the Olden one-yard line on first down.

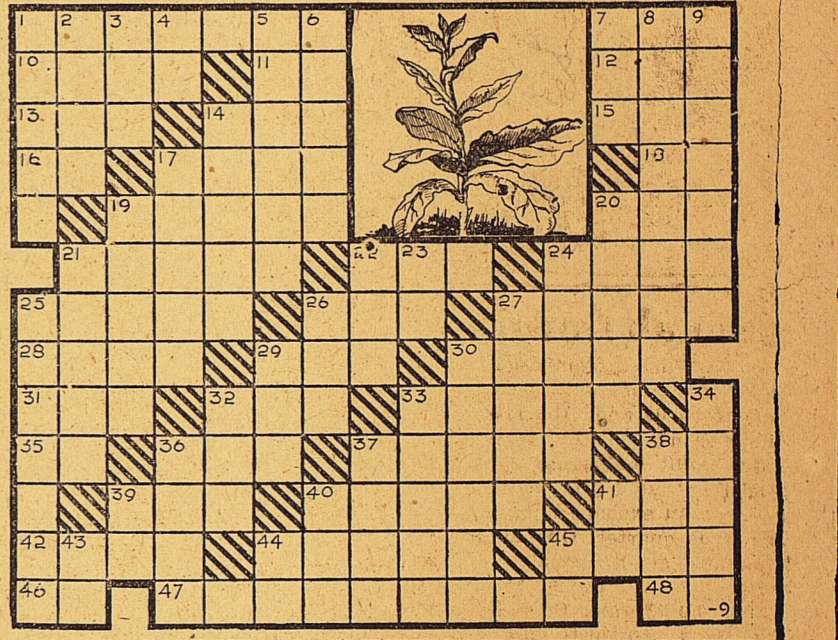

It was then the Hornets made their gallant stand that almost averted defeat when Moran tried three plays before plunging over on the fourth down for the final score.

Olden came back strong and threatened to score, but the muddy field, which slowed down the teams, prevented them from covering enough ground to reach pay dirt before the final whistle blew. The game left Olden in third place in the district standing, May being in first place, Moran second and Olden only half a game behind Moran.

The starting lineup for Olden was Holt and Young, ends; Magill and Norton, tackles; Howell and Howell, guards; Hyatt, center; Curry, quarter; Anderson and Butler, halves, and Jarrett, full.

Moral Test Shows That Youth Applies A Sliding Scale

EVANSTON, Ill. — Youngsters consider it a more serious offense to "swipe" flowers from a public park than to steal movie tickets from a cashier, according to a "morals" test made by Dr. John C. Eberhart of Northwestern University's psychology department. Dr. Eberhart discovered in the answers to a questionnaire that offenses against corporate property hurt the conscience of young boys worse than those of their older playmates. Results of the study showed that before the age of 6, boys start with a tendency to seize whatever catches their fancy. Dr. Eberhart said, Boys in grammar school decide between the seriousness of offenses more quickly than do high school pupils. Younger boys, he explained, are impulsive in judgment. Older boys make their "conscience" an intellectual task.

"It becomes less serious for the growing boy to ride on the street-car for half-fare when he should pay full; to steal candy and cigarettes from a box-car; and to sneak past the 'L' cashier without paying," Dr. Eberhart said. The gravity of offenses listed in the psychologist's 20 questions varied from "swiping your mother's wrist watch and pawing it" to "borrowing your brother's baseball bat without asking."

Young boys and delinquents give fear of punishment as the reason for not being bad but those further developed realize the evil of their acts and give varied reasons for their judgments, Dr. Eberhart said. In summary, the inquiry showed the seriousness of property offenses seems to be based on the value of the property involved, the nature of social obligations to the owner of the property, social disapproval for the type of offense, and danger of punishment.

McAllen Schools to Sue For Back Taxes

M'ALLEN, Texas.—McAllen Independent School District has ordered its attorneys to file suit for collection of delinquent taxes against nine property owners in the district who failed to answer the district's request for conferences concerning payment of the taxes past due. The board is in the midst of a campaign to partially finance a new $45,000 Latin-American elementary school building and has been attempting to obtain payment of delinquent taxes to provide the needed funds. One property-owner voluntarily agreed to pay $5,000 in delinquent taxes to assist in the new building project.

Early in the fourth, Eastland was in a hole and the situation proved serious when Sikes attempted to punt out, only to have the ball fumble and strike an Indian. It was Quannah's ball on their opponent's 20. Hall made two yards and C. Edmondson took it to the 10-yard section. A. Edmondson threw a pass which an alert Maverick batted down. A. Edmondson then passed from the Eastland 15 yard stripe to Franz, who lateraled to Hall for the touchdown. Tate's final try for extra point was off. With Key and H. Taylor alternating as passers, Mavericks went deep into the Indians' reservation. The passer-receiver Taylor received one of Key's forwards on the 25-yard line for the Mavericks final score. T. Taylor failed to convert. Eastland kicked and an Indian returned to his 37-yard line. C. Edmondson carried the ball on several tries to Eastland's 26 yard line. Quannah's threat to score became serious to the Mavericks when A.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS - By Blosser

The Newfangles (Mom 'n' Pop) By Cowen

The GOLDEN FEATHER by Robert Bruce

reached a stage in which the artless young woman would babble innocently of her employer's secrets to the attractive young salesman, just as if he had been a friend of many years' standing. The only trouble with all of this was that while she babbled freely she did not seem to know anything that would help Bobby. One evening, however, they went to an amusement park on the shore of a little lake in one of the eastern suburbs; and there, after they had eaten and danced, they sat on a bench by the water, idly watching people who swam in the lake beneath long strings of electric light bulbs. Mary Ann smiled, confidently close to him; and Bobby, more to head off what looked like an impatient peering party than in any hope of getting needed information, casually turned the conversation to the unromantic topic of the daily routine at the sales agency. Mary Ann, it developed, had had what she termed a hectic day. First of all, one of the other stenographers—a lanky young woman named Dorothea—had developed a headache and had been obliged to go home; this overburdening the two remaining girls. Then Mr. Hopkins had turned grouchy because his efforts to sell a dozen sedans to the city government for use as police radio cars had been foiled by a rival, who had the foresight to who hunte more heavily to the mayor's campaign fund than Mr. Hopkins had contributed. And, lastly, there had been a misplaced invoice.

"That was Dorothea's fault," said Mary Ann. "She got the invoice to go home, and it was supposed to go to Mr. MacFarlane to be initialed and then to Mr. Hopkins, but she stuck it somewhere and after she went home nobody could find it. Maybe you don't think that made Mr. Hopkins mad! And then—it's funny after Mr. Hopkins had gone home, and I was straightening up my desk to go, I found it there under a pile of papers in my own basket—you know, the one that's marked for incoming letters—and how she ever managed to put it there I don't know, but that's the way Dorothea is—"

"Whoa!" said Bobby suddenly. "What do you mean, half a dozen new chassis? You mean new ones that we got from the factory?" "Why, yes, of course," she said, looking at him in surprise. "Why?" "Whatever are we doing with new chassis?" asked Bobby. "Oh, we get 'em right along," said Mary Ann. "Every couple of months an invoice like that comes in." "But what happens to them?" asked Bobby, wrinkling his brows.

6:30 p. m. with Miss Mildred Matthews in charge. There will be a special service at the evening hour, for the Bulldogs and their friends. This has been an annual affair for several years with this church, and has never failed to be well attended. All the fathers and mothers of these boys, as well as all others who care to come, will be welcome. Come and help to show these boys that they are appreciated.
The subject for this occasion will be, "Don't let your past spoil your future." The pastor of this church has always been an ardent admirer of these boys and stands ready to defend them at all times. Come and hear this talk to them.
A special feature of today's services will be the song service led by Hal Hunter and the choir. There will be special music for the evening service. Come and worship with us.

Educational Meet Of Ranger Masons To Be Thursday

At the last regular monthly meeting of the Masonic Lodge of Ranger a committee was appointed to arrange for the educational meeting this month, in harmony with the instructions of the Grand Lodge of Texas. These meetings have been held monthly during the past year, with great profit to all who have attended.
The committee has been exceedingly fortunate in securing the services of Dr. J. Stewart Pearce, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Cisco, for the next educational session. This will be held in the lodge room on Thursday, Nov. 14, at 7:30 p. m. All Masons are urged to attend.
Dr. Pearce is well known in Ranger, having spoken here a number of times to various organizations. He has a record of nine years in army service, five of which were spent in the World War, overseas, as chaplain of his division. Having been in close touch with the horrors of war, and taking a man's part in various engagements, he is eminently fitted to discuss the topic for this month's educational session. He will speak on the relation of Masonry to the cause of peace.
The time is near enough to Armistice Day to express the spirit of the season when all rejoice over the cessation of hostilities, and hope of avoiding national conflicts in the future. All Masons should hold this date in reserve, and arrange to be present next Thursday, Nov. 14, at 7:30 p. m.
Neighboring lodges are cordially invited to attend, as well as all visiting Masons.

Lobos or go through the season without a win.
This hope on the part of both teams, coupled with the ancient rivalry, should be just what the doctor ordered.
The Lobos have been working out hard for the game, as they came out of the Eastland game without any serious injuries, and will meet at the church to make final preparation for the Cisco Baptist Workers Conference which will be held with this church tomorrow.
7:00 p. m. The Junior G. A. will meet with Mrs. L. L. Bruce in charge.
Tuesday, 10:00 a. m. Cisco Baptist Workers Conference in all-day session.
7:30 p. m. Y. W. A.'s will meet at the church, Mrs. Geo. Robinson sponsor.
Wednesday 7:00 p. m. Prayer service conducted by the pastor. Subject, "The Writings of Paul."

they are determined to avenge the series of defeats, dating back to 1930, which they have suffered at the hands of the Bulldogs.
Several changes will be seen in the starting lineup, it was intimated Saturday afternoon by Coach A. M. (Red) Moore, who was not certain just who he would start. However, he said that at that time it looked as though he would start Burnett and Sharp at ends, either Coalson, Goforth or Janes at tackles; Donowho and Mace at guards; Bray at center; Walsh at quarter, Hartin and Cox at halves, and Jacoby at full. He said that he expected to use Ainsworth and Kribbs a good part of the time in the backfield, and that others on the roster would be pressed into service from time to time as the need arose.
The roster of the Bulldogs, which has been changed considerably in the past two weeks, is now as follows:

Famous Magician Comes to Ranger Next Thursday

Much interest has been shown over the personal appearance of The Great Magician MEL-ROY in this city November 14 at the Recreation Hall for two performances since it was first announced last week, by the Library Committee of Ranger Schools.
The current tour is Mel-Roy's eighth annual one and he has in that length of time gathered together a most impressive program of mystifying illusions and manifestations of magic. His wonderful scope of experience as a magician and his own attractive personality make him one of the greatest and most pleasing entertainers the magic world has ever produced. His slogan is "Not the biggest but the best."
Tickets are being sold by a number of school children and all who do not get tickets from these may secure them at the box office the day of the performance.
One critic of the Denver Post says in part: "With the simple feat of pouring a miniature mountain of flower petals from an utterly blank piece of writing paper, the astounding Mel-Roy nonchalantly proceeds to wave a colored bit of cloth and cause objects to materialize literally out of thin air. And for once the skeptics who make the practice of whispering that 'he has something up his sleeve', at magical performances, will be forced to admit that even a magician could hardly carry a full sized gold fish bowl and a flant three feet high up his sleeve."
The following telegram was received here Friday, Nov. 8: "Midland, Texas, Nov. 7. 'W. T. Walton, Superintendent Schools, Ranger Texas. 'Mel-Roy the Great is sure to please your student body with mystery, comedy and a pleasing personality. He worked to a packed auditorium here. Signed: W. W. Lackey Superintendent Schools Midland Texas."

Different pupils are appointed by the president each Monday at the club meeting to serve on the health and clean-up committees.
Miss Moseley's room was effectively decorated with witches, cats, owls, jackolanterns and bats last Thursday afternoon when the following program was presented: Song, "Welcome All"; reading, "Hallowe'en," Hal Brown; "The Finest Pumpkin," Robert Ledbetter; song, "Nearing Hallowe'en All"; "A Hallowe'en Wish," Ruth Woodben; "Hallowe'en," Betty S. Greenely; song, "Jolly Hallowe'en All"; "Hallowe'en Characters," a playlet, Tom Richardson, Edwin Carrey, Joe Frambo, and Mildred Ashley; "Little Pumpkin's Hallowe'en," a story, Miss Moseley. Each child presented his mother with a bumpkin recipe booklet after which delicious jack-o-lantern cookies and apples were passed. The rest of the afternoon was spent in playing Hallowe'en games.

Good Turkeys More In Demand Than The Regular Scrubs

By United-Press
COLLEGE STATION. — With Thanksgiving and Christmas drawing near, the spotlight is again turned on turkeys.

this year to selection of breeding stock and finished dressing in order to produce birds of prime quality for the market," George P. McCarthy, Extension poultry husbandman, announced. He pointed out that, although the turkey crop would be shorter in numbers this year, it would nearly balance in tonnage. Last year, 1,800 carloads of dressed turkeys were shipped out of Texas. This year, trade estimates place the carload shipments between 1,300 and 1,400.

Indianan Has Geo. Washington Watch

By United Press
LAGRANGE, Ind. — A watch once owned by President George Washington, is possessed by Milo Tucker, farmer. President Washington gave the watch to Tucker's great-great-grandfather, the Rev. Edward Evens, at the close of the Revolutionary War in 1781, and it has been handed down to each succeeding generation. The timepiece is two inches in diameter and seven-eighths of an inch in thickness, with a one-half inch stem. It has two cases, both of a silver color. The outer case must be removed to wind the watch. The hours are marked in Roman numerals, with the minutes marked in figures above the numerals. The days of the month to 31 are inside the numerals. The name of the manufacturer, N. Haushurst, New York, is engraved on the back. The watch ran the last time it was wound, but the winding key has been misplaced.

"New, Speedy Auto Will Nudge 100." An improvement over the previous model which could hit only a handful of pedestrians.

Seventeen Years Ago

Whistles sounded and bells rang. There was jubilation over the major part of the word, rejoicing for those who lived, and, underneath, keen sorrow for those who helped make the celebration possible, yet could not join in it.

Time has mellowed our thoughts for them, but has brought forward their place in the observance, through them we have come to realize the futility of war . . . the necessity of peace. Their part has been played . . . ours is in remembering . . . and hope

McCarthy said that the Luling Foundation has one of the outstanding flocks this year, comprised of 1,800 birds from this year's hatch. Most of these birds will be sold as breeders. Another good flock is owned by Levi Churchill, turkey demonstrator in Bailey county. Last year, almost his entire flock was graded prime. He will have around 500 birds this year. "Breeding for quality pays," McCarthy said. He gave as an example the flock owned by the J. T. Owen family in Lynn county. Last year this family stressed quality in their turkeys. As a result of proper management, balanced rations, and good breeding stock, the family made a net profit of $153 on 85 birds sold. "Last year," McCarthy emphasized, "prime toms and hens brought from 7 to 8 cents more per pound than ordinary commercial turkeys. There is every indication that the same price condition will be true this year." As a result of turkey grading schools held the last two years, the first dressed turkey show in the southwest was opened last December at Plainview. This year the show will again be held during the first week in December at Plainview.

RECORD YEAR for DISASTERS

Red Cross Relief Given in 128 Catastrophes—Unusual and Varied Freaks of Nature and Other Calamities visit distress on Nation—People aided through Your Membership in Red Cross

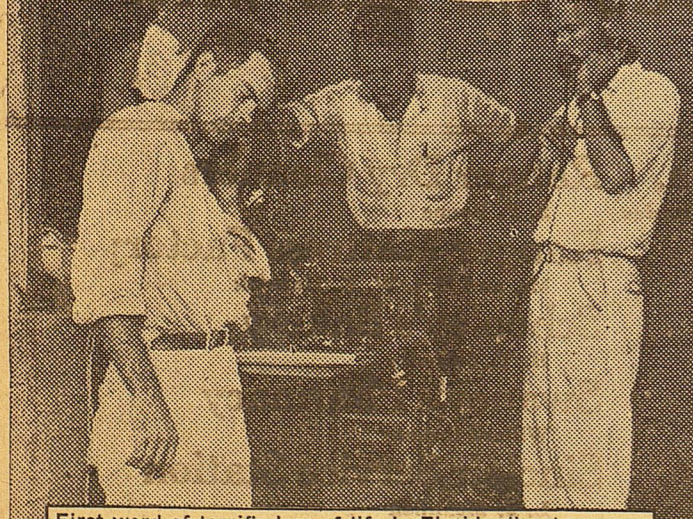

Red Cross is always quick to give in oculations against typhoid and other preventable diseases following disaster, in cooperation with state health authorities. This was scene following floods in New York.

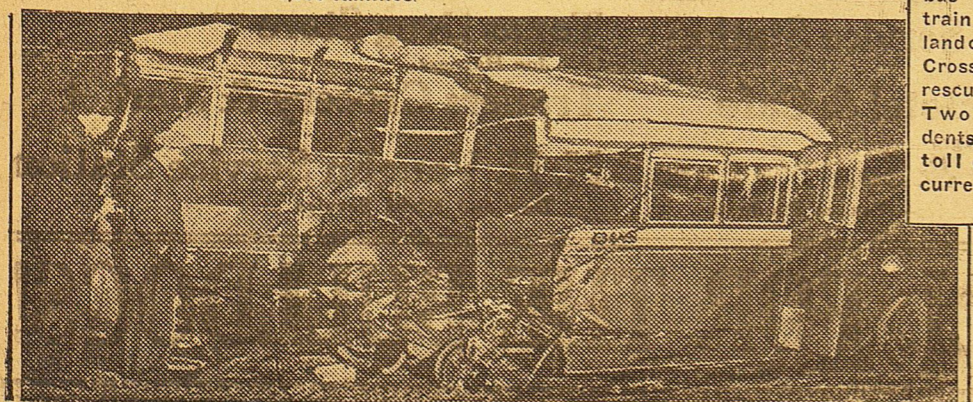

One of 5,000 families in southern New York helped by Red Cross following disastrous high waters. During the year 29 floods occurred in the nation.

First word of terrific loss of life in Florida disaster came through Red Cross short wave radio, put up on the stricken Keys by amateur operators. Here are shown the weary men after 48 hours continuous heroic work—Red Cross aided 1,000 families.

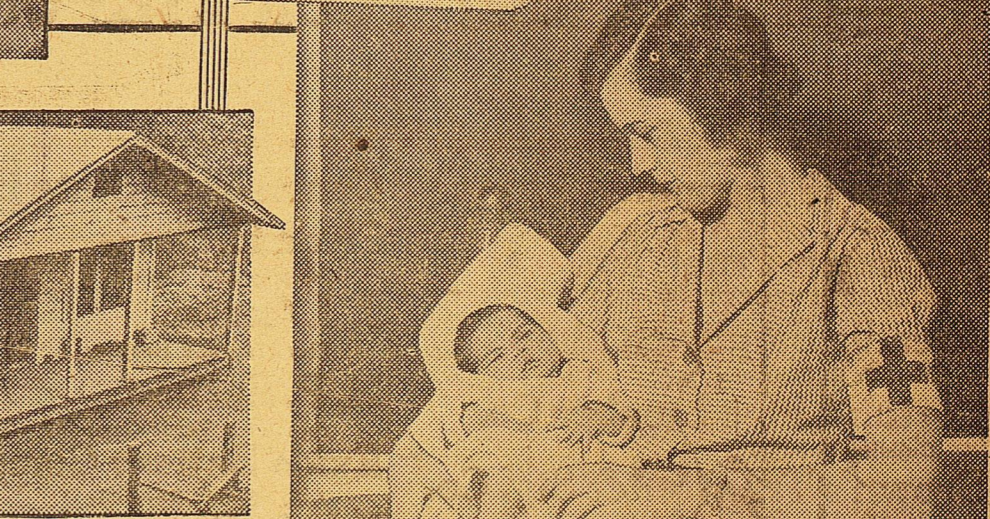

Fourteen children were killed when bus was hit by train at a Maryland crossing. Red Cross First Aiders rescued the living. Two such accidents with heavy toll of lives occurred during the year.

Epidemics of bronchial troubles followed devastating clouds of dust in midwest. Red Cross established hospitals for victims. Here are little patients and Red Cross nurses. Five other epidemics came under Red Cross care during the year.

Families marooned in Mississippi valley floods were taken from roofs by Red Cross rescuers. During the year the Red Cross gave disaster relief to 110,000 persons in 306 counties in 37 states.

This little girl arrived during the New York floods—Red Cross provided hospital care for mother and baby.

SAY, MA—HAVE YOU GOT ANY OLD RAGS YOU DONT WANT? US GUYS ARE COLLECTIN' 'EM TO SELL TO GET A LITTLE MONEY.

NOT MANY, NOW— WE USE SO MANY TO CLEAN THE CARS.

I'LL LOOK AROUND THO—WHAT'S THE MONEY FOR?

OH, WE WANT TO BUY A SECOND-HAND STOVE FER OUR SHANTY, DOWN BY THE CREEK, AND TH' HULL BUNCH IS COLLECTIN' STUFF WE CAN SELL.

YOU CAN HAVE THIS OLD SUIT OF PA'S—I HATE THE THING—SUCH A LOUD COLOR— AND IF IT'S GONE, HE CAN'T WEAR IT ANYMORE.

GOSH, WE CAN SELL THAT TO A SECOND-HAND STORE—THAT'S TOO GOOD TO SELL FER RAGS—THREE NEIGHBOR LADIES ARE GONNA GIVE ME A LOT OF RAGS TOO

SAY, ARE YOU GOING TO ALLOW HIM TO BE BRINGING HOME RAGS, IN THIS SNOOTY NEIGHBORHOOD? PEOPLE WILL THINK WE'RE LOWBROWS!

THAT'S RIGHT! WE CAN'T HAVE THAT!

HE CAN PUT THEM IN A BOX ON HIS BIKE, WITH A PAPER OVER THEM.

I DON'T CARE HOW HE DOES IT, JUST SO HE DOESN'T LET PEOPLE KNOW THEY'RE RAGS.

I'LL GIT 'EM HOME, ALL RIGHT, WITHOUT PEOPLE SEEIN' 'EM!

I DON'T KNOW WHY BOYS NEVER HAVE PRIDE ABOUT SUCH THINGS—GIRLS ARE SO DIFFERENT.

BUT IT'S GOOD FOR A BOY TO EARN HIS OWN MONEY—THAT'S WHAT MAKES GOOD BUSINESS MEN!

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
C.N.E.A. Service Staff Writer
NOW is the time to make your Thanksgiving mince-meat so it can ripen a few weeks before using and if you use apple brandy in the making you'll have a flavor that can't be imitated.

Charlotte E. Field, noted New York chef, also uses this fine seasoning aid in mince pudding, wine jellies, fruit cakes, braided peaches, sauces and mousses.

This is Miss Field's recipe for mince meat. She says it will make six pies.

Mince Meat
Two pounds lean beef, 5 pounds apples, 1 pound beef suet, 2 pounds raisins, 2 pounds currants, 1 pound Sultana raisins, 1-2 pound shredded citron, 1-3 pound canned orange peel, 2 tablespoons grated cinnamon, 1 tablespoon grated nutmeg, 1 tablespoon cloves, 1 tablespoon allspice, 1 tablespoon salt, 2-3 pounds brown sugar, 1 pint sherry, 1 quart apple brandy, graded rind and juice of oranges, grated rind and juice of lemons.

Boil beef until tender and chop fine. Pare and chop apples and weigh. Chop suet and remove strings. Mix all ingredients and cook until apples are clear. Seal in jars and let ripen for two weeks.

Don't think mince meat is good only in pies. It makes delicious cakes and puddings, too, and it's very easy to use.

Mince Meat Pudding
One cup mince meat, 2 eggs, 4 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup milk, 2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

Beat eggs until light. Soften butter and add with milk to eggs. Mix and sift flour, salt and soda several times and sift into first mixture. Add mince meat and mix thoroughly. Turn into a battered mold and steam two and one-half hours. Unmold and serve with hard sauce.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Halves of grape fruit, cereal, cream, creamed dried beef, popovers, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Baked squash, minced tongue sandwiches, vegetable salad, jelly roll cake, milk, tea.
DINNER: Cream of lima bean soup, toasted crackers, eggs and mushrooms, buttered cauliflower, pineapple and cream cheese salad, mince pie, milk, coffee.

where they attended the State Baptist Convention. Rev. Stephens will fill his pulpit at both hours today.

Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Downtain are visiting today at Strawn with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper. Tomorrow the Downtains will pay a visit to Breckenridge.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crossley and daughter, Marion, are spending today in Eastland, with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Fleweller are entertaining as holiday house guests Mr. and Mrs. Bob Erwin and son of Ballinger. Mrs. Erwin is the sister of Mrs. Fleweller.

Mrs. Walter L. Jackson, who has been ill at her home, 801 Cypress street, for the past week, is reported to be much improved, which will please her host of friends greatly.

Rev. D. W. Nichol visited his family over the week-end, after a week's visit to Stephenville, where he is conducting a revival meeting at the Church of Christ. He will return home the middle of the week from a second visit to Stephenville, since the meeting is scheduled to close Nov. 13.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Glazner are spending Sunday and Armistice Day with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Essary, in Denison.

DESERT PERILS FACE CAST FILING "LAST OUTPOST"
Location work in the production of a motion picture often involves many hazards. An example of the unusual difficulties encountered in the making of Paramount's "The Last Outpost," which comes Monday to the Arcadia Theatre with Cary Grant, Claude Rains and Gertrude Michael were

Caterpillar tractors were used to haul equipment from highway to location because the studio trucks were unable to negotiate the sand. For moving shots, wooden tracks were built across the dunes and a specially constructed wheeled platform carrying camera and mike-boom was pulled along the track by sheer manpower. When the track ascended a dune, as many as 30 or 40 men were sometimes used to drag the ton and half of equipment up the gradient. Snakes, scorpions and poisonous insects also added to the difficulties of the troupe, but fortunately no one was bitten.

"The Last Outpost" is a dramatic yarn of a couple of British officers who go through desert and jungle hells to avenge the memory of the girl they both love.
