GAMBLING TO BE BANNED IN RECENT ORDER

AUSTIN, Nov. 20.—Orders for State Rangers to raid all discovered gambling establishments, arresting both operators and patrons were issued today by Director L. G. Phares of the Department of Safety.

The order is an aftermath of a raid in Fort Worth which resulted in a "no-bill" of the operators by the Tarrant county grand jury.

Phares telegraphed District Attorney Will Parker asking an opportunity to present the grand jury testimony of an undercover man, who, Phares said, was in the raided establishment twice before the raid and saw gambling equipment.

Phares in his telegram said: "According to press notices operators of Top o' Hill Gambling house, no billed because of insufficient evidence. In addition to Rangers who made the raid, I have available an undercover investigator from my department who was in gambling house on two occasions immediately preceding raids and saw operation of gambling house. I wish to present witness to above facts. I respectfully insist that you institute condemnation proceedings on such gambling equipment and man requesting the attorney general's department to join with you in bringing such proceedings."

MASS MURDER PLOT FEARED IN CALIFORNIA

By United Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Chief of Police William Quinn today assigned two crack detectives to investigate possibility of a mass murder plot in the distribution of baking soda adulterated with arsenic, which has killed three persons and made 13 ill.

While authorities broadcast warnings to the 800 families who bought the poisoned soda at bargain prices Inspectors Allen McGinn and George Engler were detached from other duties and directed to solve the mystery.

"It is a matter of history that there have been such plots in American cities," Dr. J. C. Geiger, city health officer said.

"In Chicago some time ago an assistant chef at a dinner attended by more than 100 persons placed arsenic in the soup. Fortunately the soup was diluted with water before serving. The diners were seriously ill."

THE ANNUAL ROLL CALL OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

The American Red Cross is an institution in which our people in every walk of life and in every section of the nation can unite in a common tie of brotherhood. It represents them in their instinctive desire to be of service to suffering humanity. It knows no distinction of race, creed, or color. There are no boundary lines either state or national in its never-ending mission of mercy for those who are in distress.

During the last year 128 disasters occurred in 37 of our states. In each catastrophe the afflicted community turned with assurance to the Red Cross for the efficient relief which was so speedily given. During the same time this great organization has developed a country-wide program for safeguarding our homes and our highways from the mounting toll of accidental deaths.

Each year at this time the Red Cross appeals to our people for the support which will enable it to continue its service to humanity. Each American everywhere is given an opportunity to participate in Red Cross work, local and national, through individual membership.

It is of the utmost importance that we maintain the Red Cross as our great national relief agency. I earnestly urge all who can possibly do so, to respond generously and promptly to the Red Cross appeal.

Lusitania, Sad Symbol of Human Futility

They have found the submerged hulk of the Lusitania, at last, deep in the water off Kinsale Head, and divers have gone to the bottom and brought back rusty rivetheads for proof; and the whole triumphant exploit makes up one of the saddest commentaries imaginable on the state of human affairs today.

Consider the implications of this whole story of the Lusitania.

There was, first of all, the ship itself; a marvelous triumph of human intelligence, of human mastery of raw iron and brute force, a floating city, more comfortable and luxurious than any palace that Saesar or Pharaoh ever saw, capable of bridging the Atlantic in less than a week.

The mere fact that mankind had reached a point where it could conceive, design, and build such a ship spoke volumes about the development of human intelligence.

Next, there was the Lusitania's sinking. A submarine lay in wait in the waters, unseen by its victim, and a man peered through an arrangement of mirrors to draw a bead on a ship which, in actual fact, he could not really see at all—for he was 20 feet under water at the time.

A torpedo was released, it sped through the water some hundreds of yards as accurately as though Death himself perched on its nose as a helmsman, and the Lusitania went to the bottom.

There, again, was another marvel of our skill; for a submarine and its torpedo are, between them, supreme evidence of the fiendish cleverness with which we can manipulate inanimate materials.

And, lastly, a salvage boat has found the wreck, men have gone down some scores of fathoms to look at it, and in the course of time every compartment will be examined, valuable will be recovered, and Navy Jones' locker itself will be thoroughly and competently rifled.

And now think of this: we, the human race as a whole, had the brains, the imagination, and the power to do all these remarkable things; to design and build a marvel like the Lusitania, to strike her down with a weapon almost incredibly ingenious, and to come back two decades later and explore the sunken wreckage—but we have not at any time had the simple good sense and good will to use all this ingenuity and skill to our own advantage!

Able to build ships like the Lusitania, we are unable to protect them from our own destructiveness. We can make them, but we can't use them.

We devoted quite as much thought and effort to the submarine and its torpedo as to the Lusitania itself. We learned how to equip ourselves for a good life, and then wrecked our equipment; and today the best thing we can do is send divers to the bottom to have a peek at the wreckage.

This Lusitania story will tell future historians all they need to know about us; that we won mastery over everything but—ourselves.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Much of the New Deal's idealism, sincere enough in its time, is wearing off in the face of practical political realities. Anyone here can feel the federal machine bracing itself for the election campaign. Old-line civil service employes aren't so concerned, but those in the emergency agencies—many of whom never cared a whoop about politics before—are beginning to take active interest as a result of fear for their jobs, for an administration they admire, or both.

Federal employes will be asked, quietly enough, to dig down and contribute to campaign funds. With most wealthy men opposed to the New Deal, the Democratic party will have relatively few "fat cats" this year.

Someone must pay the bills. It's all right to talk about the work-relief billions as a "campaign fund," but you can't divert any of that money to operation of campaign machinery which will take several millions—and there's a heavy party deficit right now. How much coercion will be used to make jobholders kick in remains to be seen.

MANY officials with political background are spending most or much of their time and thought on politics, making occasional trips back home and keeping in constant touch through correspondence.

An increasing number of minor employes plan to join the Young Democrats and vote for the first time in their lives. The high command, meanwhile,

R. Lee Clark, 1935 Chevrolet sedan.

Color In Men's Suits Called Optimistic

CHICAGO.—The long-predicted vogue for color in men's apparel that finally has arrived this season revival, according to leading manufacturers of men's wear in the Merchandise Mart.

They say it is an axiom of the clothing business that the average man wears dark, conservative suits and accessories when conditions are bad, and bright, bold colors and patterns when he has more money to spend and the mental ease necessary to full indulgence of sartorial fancies.

laxatives, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why your laxative should be in liquid form. A liquid dose can be regulated to the drop.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit even with children. Syrup Pepsin is the nicest tasting, nicest acting laxative you ever tried.

Food was exchanged for the services of a trained nurse, and 300 cans of tomato juice and tomatoes have been sold for cash. Mrs. Bowker told Miss Mattie Wilroy, home demonstration agent. Fifty cans of broccoli and spinach were also sold.
HENDERSON—By taking advantage of every rain to do some planting and by keeping the soil loose so as to retain moisture, Christine Moore, Rusk county 4-H club girl, was able to keep fresh vegetables in the garden throughout the summer. Her family now has tomatoes, okra, beans and bell pepper to use, and a fall garden has been started. Care was taken to work spongy dried fertilizer into the soil to hasten growth and to prevent the soil from packing.
SINTON.—That three crops can be successfully grown in the same year has been demonstrated by J. T. Scott of the Hayden community in Van Zandt county, according to V. O. Teddlie, county agricultural agent.
Scott had three-fourths of an acre which he planted to Irish potatoes. He harvested 100 bushels of marketable potatoes which brought him $76. He then planted the ground to corn, and in 58 days he had roasting ears. From these he sold $10 worth in addition to the amount he used at home, and he then saved the stalks to be grounds for roughage.
Scott now has the plot growing Irish potatoes, turnip greens and beans.

CHAPTER XIII
They were sitting in the living room of Jean's little apartment. Jean, her father and Larry Glenn. Refreshed by 12 solid hours of sleep, Jean sat in an arm chair, glancing fondly back and forth from one man to the other.
"See, you see," Larry was saying, "the important thing is not to let all that has happened brighten your life. You've been foolish, as you say, but you've been no more foolish than any girl might have been under the same circumstances. The cards were pretty well stacked against you, after all."
He dropped his cigaret butt in an ashtray and leaned forward, his elbows on his knees.
"The chief trouble," he said, "was that you worked for a black crook and never suspected it until too late."
"You mean—Mr. Montague?" she asked.
"I mean Mr. Donald Montague," he said grimly. "He, by the way, is cooling his heels in jail right now, and before very long the legal profession will be rid of one of its worst shysters—and the population of Leavenworth prison will be increased by one."
"Donald Montague," he went on, after a moment, "represents the sort of thing that every decent lawyer wants to see stamped out. He was one of the links in the chain that makes large-scale crime possible in this country. Every lawyer has the right to defend a man accused of crime, of course. That's what lawyers are for. But Montague didn't stop there. He went on and became, to all intents and purposes, a member of the gang himself."
"HE helped the Jackson mob plan things in advance. He told them, beforehand, how to dodge the law. He helped frame crooked alibis for them, on occasion—as he did when the Dover police were on the verge of pinning a robbery charge on Sandy Harkins. He helped them dispose of their stolen bonds—as he did in the affair that almost got Bobby Wallace into a jam."

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Brilliant Social Note

Social affairs for the current week brought to the attention of a large number of guests, the golden wedding anniversary, celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Will Myers, at their home, Blackwell road, Monday afternoon from 2:30 until 5 o'clock.

Clusters of yellow chrysanthemums were featured in decorations and richly gave added color hues to the dining table's board laid with a beautiful cloth and centered with a cake embossed in white and gold.

Atop the confection was inscribed "Will and Temmie"—a miniature bride and groom served as an appropriate decoration.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers, together with Mrs. Aaron Estes, and daughter Dorothy, of Abilene, greeted guests. Mrs. Myers looked lovely in a black velvet dinner gown, trimmed with white, and wore a corsage of yellow blossoms.

Mrs. D. W. Nichol, Mrs. Leola Martin and Mrs. Carl Christian served a dainty plate of chicken salad sandwiches, cake, coffee and tea during the hour. Guests were presented golden toned chrysanthemums as favors, and all gift wrappings sounded the color in decorations.

Pola Says She'll Wed Rich Briton

Emphatically stating she'll wed "no more Mdivanis," Pola Negri reveals that before Christmas she will marry a famed British statesman, enormously wealthy, "10 years her elder and tremendously intellectual." The stormy Polish star of the silent films, shown here in her London apartment in a new picture, was divorced from Serge Mdivani in 1931. Note Pola's novel bracelet.

fern. Mrs. Stanley McAnelly poured House party personnel, Mrs. Rex Outlaw, Mrs. John Thurman, Mrs. Pete Jensen, Mrs. O. L. Phillips and Mrs. Saunders Gregg, acted as co-hostesses and graciously aided in receiving guests, who were ushered into the dining room where Miss Mary Edlo Davenport and Miss Kathryn Galloway, assisted.

The bride-elect's book, where guests listed their names was an artistic piece of handiwork done in gold and orchid, the colors chosen to be predominant in wedding appointments and gowns.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

DID anything ever smell better, I wonder, than the old-time Thanksgiving dinner cooking? Luscious fragrance of turkey roasting, savory dressing steaming, succulent turnips and onions boiling, spicy pies baking! I say "old-time," but I don't know why because the Thanksgiving aroma is about the same in the modern kitchen as it was in the old-fashioned one.

Of course for the small family, the roasting fowl may be chicken or duck or guinea hen instead of turkey, but the good smell is there anyway.

Here is a typical old-time dinner which, while simple, is interesting enough to give any cook ample opportunity to display her skill. Soup can be substituted for the fruit cup and such vegetables as turnips and parsnips may appeal to you more than brussels sprouts or broccoli.

For a modern touch to dinner, serve pumpkin pie Alaska. Bake a pie shell, fill it with pumpkin pie cream, cover with a heavy meringue flavored with ginger and sherry and bake in a very hot oven (500 degrees F.) just long enough to brown the meringue. Serve at once.

Pumpkin Ice Cream
Two cups coffee cream, 1 cup whipping cream, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 3 tablespoons cold milk, 2 cups light brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon salt, yolks 4 eggs, 2 tablespoons sherry, 2 teaspoons granulated sugar, 1 cup cooked pumpkin rubbed through a sieve.

Scald coffee cream and add sugar. Stir until dissolved and stir in cornstarch mixed to a smooth paste with cold milk. Add spices and salt and cook and stir until thick and smooth. Soften gelatin in four tablespoons cold water and add to pumpkin. Beat egg yolks until thick, beating in sherry. Add to cornstarch mixture and cook and stir just one minute, removing from heat before mixture reaches boiling point. Stir in pumpkin mixture and chill. When thoroughly chilled, turn into freezing tray and freeze until firm around the edges. Then fold in whipping cream whipped until firm. Freeze three to four hours in mechanical refrigerator or pack in six parts ice to one part ice cream salt and freeze four hours. This will fill a twelve-inch pie shell.

In making the pie shell, don't roll the pastry too thin because it must act as a non-conductor of heat. The meringue forms a thick non-conductor, so be sure the oven is hotter at the top and put the pie as near the top of the oven as possible. If you can't regulate your oven this way, put the pie on a thick board.

Y. W. A. Plans Party

The Y. W. A. of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday evening with their sponsor, Mrs. G. H. West. The coming social was discussed and it was decided to have an "old-fashioned candy pull" next Monday night at the church. All prospective and old members are invited. Each girl will have certain ingredients to provide for "ye of candy pull."

Those present were Eula Preslar, Maxine Guthrie, Pauline McGee, Erma Ball, Gertrude Carroll, Mrs. G. H. West, Margaret Fox, and Mildred Moorman, who was chosen as the pianist.

HE'S HERE AGAIN

James Dunn, who we remember for his perfect performance in "Bad Girl," returns in Vina Delmar's latest novel "Bad Boy," now playing at the Arcadia Theatre.

MUST WED INSIDE RANGER "I KNEW DIAMOND JIM"

(By George Rector)

James Buchanan Brady was a peculiar mixture of childlike naivete and super-sophistication. Outwardly, a bit of a braggart, who loved ostentation and exhibitionism, at heart, he remained simple and lovable. He was a nabob of night life, and a sultan of spendthrifts, yet the shrewdest capitalist of his period. He converted an innate sense of showmanship into a new technique for salesmanship.

The enormous Brady appetite is now proverbial. He would begin a meal with three dozen giant oysters followed by two full size lobsters and a dozen hard shelled crabs. Then came meat or poultry, vegetables, salad and desserts, topped off by a box of bonbons. It has been said that he fanned his soup with his hat. That is untrue as Brady never drank soup.

Diamond Jim was generous to a fault. One night I saw three people approach his table with hard luck stories and to each he gave a crisp new hundred dollar bill, saying, "Pay when you can—and if you can." I ventured to remark that people were taking advantage of him. "The point is, George," Brady replied, "it's fun to be a sucker if you can afford it—and if you know that you are one."

"Diamond Jim," which reveals his private life, starts Monday at the Arcadia.

English Traffic Is Peril to Pedestrians

LONDON.—Pedestrians are by far the most frequent victims in road accidents in England.

This fact is revealed in the Chief Constable's official report just issued. Other surprising disclosures are that only 4 per cent of those killed are drivers of vehicles and that in 33 per cent of fatalities the speed of the vehicles is under 20 miles an hour.

The report covers the results of injuries into 1,500 fatal cases. Of that total, vehicles killed pedestrians in 842, and 403 deaths were due to collisions.

There were 918 accidents on straight roads or open bends with a good sight line.

While the percentage of pedestrians killed was 55.9, and bicycle riders 20 per cent, the percentage of drivers was only 4.8.

Of the pedestrians killed, 30.2 per cent were under 15, and 49.9 per cent were 55 and over.

The people who cause the accidents, according to the Chief Constable, are: pedestrians, 49.1 per cent; drivers, 25.1 per cent, and pedal cyclists, 15.9 per cent.

Lumber Industry Sees Big Upturn

AUSTIN.—Reports from the Southern Pine Association to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research show a gain for October of 67.2 per cent over the corresponding month last year in average weekly production per unit; an increase of 45.5 per cent over a year ago in average weekly sales per unit; and average unfilled orders per unit on October 31 were 17.7 per cent above those of the like date last year. Moderate gains also were registered above the previous month in production, sales and unfilled orders.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go.
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mass bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else, 25c.

Perpetual Puzzles!

These puzzles we have married are disturbingly feminine. They sit across the table from us and smile riddles. They treat us like spoiled children, and yet like kings. They ferret out our secret poker games—and collect! They devastate our reasoned actions by a caprice... and we love it.

How do these wives of ours manage to keep so young, so attractive, so full of life? Well for one thing, they have learned that the advertising pages are their willing servants. Here they read of an appliance that turns mornings of drudgery into hours of leisure. There is a cosmetic blended to fit the skin like a glove. Or a new recipe to tempt your appetite.

Right now, your wife is busy with fall buying. And she lets the advertisements shoulder part of the task. They bring her good news about fall gowns and gloves, blankets, perhaps a fire screen, new slippers for you, a sweater for Junior.... She reads the advertisements carefully and they save her time, trouble, worry—and money.
