BALKAN REACTION TO ITALIAN INVASION IS SEEN IN JUGOSLAVIA

By J. W. T. MASON
United Press War Expert
First indication of Balkan reaction of the Italian invasion of Greece is contained in an announcement from Belgrade that the Yugoslav government has taken action against the pro-Fascist Zbor organization. This association is anti-Russian and advocates reliance on Italian protection for Balkan states against external aggression, hoping for extension of Italian influences southward.

Jugoslavia is in a delicate and somewhat dangerous situation at the present critical time in the Balkans and has been looking toward Germany for advice. It seems improbable that the Belgrade authorities would take into custody leaders of a well-known pro-Italian organization at this time if it were believed such action would offend Germany.

Nor would Belgrade be inclined to antagonize Italy by such a move if the Yugoslav general staff considered Mussolini's offensive in Greece were destined to attain Blitzkrieg force. Jugoslavia now is looking to preserving as much of her freedom as possible and every step being taken must be based on realistic judgments.

It has been known for some time that a large Italian army is concentrated near the northwestern Yugoslav frontier, which recently was visited by Mussolini. The Yugoslavs have interpreted this display of force as a potential threat against anti-Italian sentiment in Belgrade.

The weakness of the Italian drive into Greece now seems to have given Jugoslavia courage to face firmly Roman desires to extend Italian influence and authority across the Adriatic into Yugoslav territory. A firm intimation from Berlin that Belgrade should not give public expression to anti-Italian feelings undoubtedly would carry weight; but no such German action is apparent.

The bold stand of the Belgrade government in taking into custody 100 prominent members of the Zbor society must be very displeasing to Italy. Had similar action been taken against a distinguished group of pro-Nazis, German action would have been prompt and effective.

Whether the Italians will demand a threatening gesture must have been taken into consideration by the Yugoslav authorities, who apparently believe Mussolini is in no position to raise a new Balkan issue at this time. With Greek resistance showing surprising power, it is not likely that Italy would want to make an immediate test of the strength of the Yugoslav defenses.

Germany's attitude toward Italian ambitions in southeastern Europe is made the more perplexing by Berlin's seeming acquiescence in Belgrade's police move against the Zbor organization. Germany has not joined the Italian war against Greece and continues friendly diplomatic relations with Athens at the same time doing nothing openly to ally anti-Italian movements in Jugoslavia.

Both Hitler and Mussolini certainly realize the mutual danger of allowing their relations to become cool. Yet German and Italian interests in southeastern Europe do not naturally harmonize. Each is ambitious to have a dominant Balkan position after the war and each knows any attempt to create a Nazi-Fascist Danubian partnership could have only temporary validity.

Jugoslavia seems to understand this fact and to be basing her immediate policy on it. If Greek resistance continues to be successful the rest of the Balkans may ignore Italian influences as Jugoslavia seems to be doing. Perhaps that is what Germany wants, counting then on a firmer Nazi grip for the Balkans as a whole.

Investigation Of Ten Crashes Brings Three Good Rules

By United Press
WASHINGTON—Following investigations of ten air crashes during the summer, the Civil Aeronautics Board recommended three basic rules for the safety of the private aviator. They were:

1. Don't Stall.
2. Don't Stall.
3. Don't Stall.

The investigations disclosed in each of the ten crashes, the majority of them fatal, the pilot had allowed the plane to stall while executing gliding turns, climbing turns, steep climbs and turns, and while making landing approaches.

U. S. NAVY AND AIR FORCE WATCH ISLES

BY PETER C. RHODES
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 5.—United States Naval and air patrols are maintaining a constant watch over the French Islands in the Caribbean.

"There is scarcely anything that happens in the waters of the Antilles that we do not know about," one high naval officer said today.

Some concern apparently is felt over the possibility of the French aircraft carrier Bearn putting out to sea. I saw the Bearn in the roads of Fort De France Harbor, Martinique, yesterday, apparently loading fuel oil from a tanker.

Naval officials here are of the opinion that the Bearn, with its airplanes giving it a spotting radius of 200 miles, would have a good chance of utilizing darkness and stormy weather to change its course frequently and elude the fastest cruisers should it make a dash for the African coast.

Contrary to the general impression that has prevailed regarding lack of airplane bases, Fort De France has both land plane and sea plane bases, and I saw a number of the most modern naval pursuit planes, apparently ready for an immediate takeoff. It was reported that these planes constantly patrol the islands and check the movement of foreign planes and ships in the vicinity.

The French army transports in the harbor of Fort De France had no guns on their rear decks which was taken to indicate that they had no intention of fighting.

Two United States freighters entered the harbor of Fort De France last Friday laden with foodstuffs but after a brief parley between their masters and shore authorities departed without discharging cargo.

The United States destroyers seen yesterday from my airplane over the islands of Martinique and Guadeloupe undoubtedly were units of the patrol squadron. They were single-stack craft built on the most modern lines and not over-age destroyers.

Officer To Serve In Third Emergency

By United Press
AUSTIN, Tex.—Lt. Col. J. W. E. H. Beck of DeKalb, who has been designated as state medical officer for selective service, will be serving in the third national emergency.

He was a private in the Georgia Volunteers at the outbreak of the Spanish-American War and later enlisted in Co. I, 3rd Texas Infantry.

After World War No. 1, he continued his service in the National Guard of Texas and is now on detached service from the 11th Medical Regiment.

Dr. Beck was medical inspector of the 56th Cavalry Brigade during the period of martial law in the East Texas oil field and was coordinating officer between the State Health Department and the U. S. Army and Public Health Service in a sanitary survey of the area occupied by troops during the recent Third Army maneuvers.

His civil service included membership in the Texas Senate.

Will Evacuate the English Race Horses

By United Press
MONTREAL.—The plan to evacuate famous race horses to Canada to save them from the dangers of German air attacks has not been abandoned.

Tommy Gorman, leader of a group of Quebec sportsmen who have volunteered to arrange for care of the horses, said the first group of horses is expected to arrive in Canada next spring.

Gorman cabled the British Jockey Club several months ago offering to arrange for the care of several hundred horses.

"The British war-time regulations and other difficulties prevented any of the horses being shipped this year," Gorman said.

Health Service Enumerates Ten Rules for Home

- By United Press
WASHINGTON.—The United States Public Health Service lists the following ten essentials for a healthy home:
1. A pure and sufficient water supply.
 2. A safe milk and food supply.
 3. Sanitary refuse and sewage disposal.
 4. Sufficient ventilation, heat and light.
 5. Space sufficient for ordinary family demands.
 6. Absence of excessive dampness.
 7. Screening against flies and mosquitoes.
 8. Protection against other insects and rodents.
 9. Adequate play space and sunshine for children.
 10. Adequate play space and sunshine for children.

A healthful home environment is interpreted by the service to be one affording freedom from disease and the prevention of premature death and is "associated with comfort, decency, convenience, and even joy in the daily routine."

Light Bulb Burns Quarter of a Century

By United Press
ASHEVILLE, N. C.—An electric light bulb in the ceiling of the leach house of Han Rees Tannery has been burning day and night for nearly a quarter of a century, according to Tom Williams, foreman in the plant.

Williams said the bulb was burning when he was first employed by the company 22 years ago, and it has been burning ever since, except for short intervals when all power was cut off because of electrical storms.

He said the bulb probably had been there several years before he was employed.

Citizens Urged To Wear Poppies Saturday, Nov. 9

By United Press
When the citizens of Ranger put on their memorial poppies on Poppy Day, Nov. 9, to honor the World War dead, they will be helping children of dead and disabled veterans to a fair start in life, according to Mrs. Lee Dockery, child welfare chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Money contributed for the poppies will help maintain the Auxiliary's child welfare activities during the coming year, she explained. Much of it will go into emergency aid for families left dependent by the death or disability of a veteran, helping keep the home together until a permanent means of support can be found, keeping the children in school and preventing the father's patriotic sacrifices from handicapping their development.

In their joint child welfare program last year, the Legion and Auxiliary brought aid to 395,342 children of veterans. A total of $1,968,632.28 from Legion and Auxiliary resources was expended in this program. Much of this money was made up of the dimes, quarters and dollars placed in the contribution boxes on Poppy Day.

"Hardships and exposures of war service are striking down many of our veterans in the prime of life," said Mrs. Dockery. "Almost every veteran now dying or becoming disabled has dependent children. Unless he has established legally that he was disabled in the war, the government can do nothing for his family. The Auxiliary is determined that no children shall be left in need because their fathers served the country, and with the help of the patriotic citizens who wear poppies on Poppy Day, we are able to carry out this determination."

Mexican Is Buried In Ranger Cemetery

Funeral services for Carmen Bolanos Martinez, 33, who died in Ranger, Tuesday night at 10:30, were conducted from the Catholic Church in Ranger, Wednesday afternoon, with burial in Evergreen cemetery. Killingsworth's was in charge of arrangements.

The deceased is survived by her husband, Miguel Martinez, and one child.

Senate Won't Lose Military Members

By United Press
AUSTIN, Tex.—Likelihood was seen in Austin that the state senate will not lose attendance of two of its military members when the Texas National Guard goes into a year's training at Brownwood.

Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr., of Paris is a captain on the state staff corps of the National Guard but he was not called into active duty as were other officers of the state staff to arrange for selective service.

If that precedent is followed when the Texas National Guard units are sent to Brownwood and Fort Bliss, Capt. J. Franklin Spears, senator from San Antonio, also will be left available for the January session of the state legislature.

In a similar way Capt. James E. Taylor of Kerens and other members of the house of representatives who are officers in the guard could be omitted temporarily from the camp orders.

"Bullet Factory" Is Aid To Policemen

By United Press
ANDERSON, S. C.—For years, Anderson's police force had no target practice because the city officials said it was too expensive.

Now they have their own "bullet factory" and the cost of target practice is very small.

The council authorized the purchase of bullet-moulding and cartridge-loading equipment. The United States Department of Justice gave police the empty shells.

Lead for the bullets comes from the discarded lead pipe, which the police collect. The city buys black powder and caps.

After each target practice, discharged shells are picked up and used again.

OWNS 1860 CAMPAIGN
BUTTON
By United Press
WATERLOO, Ind.—Henry Link of Waterloo has a collection of campaign buttons of all the presidential elections since 1896. His prize is a Stephen A. Douglas gold-filled button from the 1860 election in which Abraham Lincoln was victorious.

Other large known deposits, now being explored by the bureau's mining division, are at Drum Mountain, Utah; Artillery Peak, Ariz.; Chamberlain, S. D., and at Valmy, Nev.

4TH PRODUCER EXPECTED IN CARBON POOL

Fox & Son of Dallas Preparing to Drill in Vaughn Test As North Extension of Pool.

The Carbon pool in Eastland county is expected to get its fourth producer from the Caddo lime within the next few days when J. O. Fox & Son of Dallas drill in their J. H. Vaughn No. 1, which topped the lime at 2,570 feet, drilled in four feet and set seven-inch casing. Operators will begin work of drilling into the new pay zone Friday. This location is north and east of C. L. Mahaney No. 1 A. S. Jackson, Key survey, which recently extended the pool west in aking a good well as an offset to the Dobb Oil Corporation's Thomson.

A new well to the south of the Carbon Pool is Gallagher & Lawson's No. 1 R. C. Morris on the P. S. Hardy Survey, which has spudded to a depth of 100 feet. Gallagher & Lawson are Cisco operators.

The Caddo lime is to get another test in the One well McElreath pool, five miles southwest of Cisco, where Dancier Oil & Refining Company is preparing to spud in their No. 1 Abbott 2,000 feet southeast of Jones & Stasney & Grover & Rose's No. 1 McElreath, the discovery well, which produces from 3,035 feet. Location for the Dancier test is in the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 103-3-Houston & Texas Central survey of Eastland county lands.

Manganese Ore Fields Are Tested By U. S. Bureau

By United Press
SALT LAKE CITY.—The United States Bureau of Mines is on the trail of new domestic sources and industrial and defense uses of manganese, the most abundant nonferrous heavy metal in the earth's crust, Dr. R. S. Dean, chief engineer of the metallurgical division, has revealed.

Dean said manganese someday may rank as one of the most important of metals.

Experiments have shown that manganese alone—not an alloy with steel as it now is mainly used—has many desirable—and peculiar—industrial qualities, the engineer disclosed.

"We have found that manganese, with a slight addition of copper and after a suitable heat treatment, has a unique vibration dampening capacity," Dean said.

"When struck, it produces less noise than steel or even lead," he added. "This is a valuable property in gears and many machines where vibration absorption is a factor."

Dean said all present uses of pure or nearly-pure manganese are "projected"—not definitely established. He believed that with development "uses will be found that will develop a market for electrolytic manganese, independent of its use by the still industry."

Most experiments are concerned with development of electrolytic manganese instead of the more common ferro-manganese, that is used in an impure form to harden steel.

Dean said the war has reduced the importation of manganese ore from Russia and India, formerly the two principal sources of supply, leaving only Brazilian and Cuban ore available for American needs.

"We hope to develop the domestic sources through the electrolytic process," Dean said, "and at the same time find new uses for the metal."

Manganese is nearly 10 times as plentiful as copper, lead and zinc combined, the mining engineer said, but the amount and purity produced "up to the present have been controlled entirely by the requirements of the steel industry."

To develop methods of producing electrolytic manganese, the Bureau of Mines is constructing a $300,000 experimental plant at Boulder City, Nev. It is near Boulder Dam and the "Las Vegas Wash," one of the largest known deposits of manganese in America.

LEADERS URGE UNITY AS ROOSEVELT VOTE CONTINUES TO GROW

REDS NEUTRAL AS GREEKS IN A BIG BATTLE

Russia today re-affirmed her neutrality in the Balkan crisis, while Rome reported that a great battle rages between the Fascists and Greeks, after enemy planes had bombed Italian ports opposite Albania.

The outcome of the battle was uncertain, but the Greeks in the north still were trying to take Koritza, an important Italian base in Albania, where 17,000 Fascist soldiers were surrounded.

President Kalinin said Russia's attitude toward war is unchanged and that Russia's economic situation is improving.

Regarding the American presidential election German papers were non-committal, Italian and Japanese papers expressed disappointment and British and Latin-Americans were well pleased over the outcome.

Island Air Corps Being Enlarged

By United Press
MANILA.—The small Philippine army air corps is at present being expanded with the approval and cooperation of the War Department in Washington and its personnel is undergoing training for war time operations.

A new Philippine Army air base has been established at Camp Lahug, near Cebu City, while another air base will soon be established, probably at Camp Parang, Cotabato province, on Mindanao.

Until recently the Army had only one air base, that at Zablan Field, outside Manila.

Although the high command pointed out the expansion was in accord with the Philippine defense program outlined in 1936 by General Douglas MacArthur, Commonwealth military adviser, observers consider it significant in view of the present explosive Far Eastern situation.

The sixth observation squadron was moved from Clark Field, a United States army base in Pampanga, to the new base at Camp Lehigh. The squadron has a complement of 12 planes and approximately 80 officers and enlisted men. The 7th observation squadron, formerly at Zablan Field, replaced the 6th squadron at Clark Field. The United States army commanding general at Fort Stotsenberg, near Clark Field, will have administrative supervision over the 7th squadron, but tactical training and control of the unit will remain under Major Charles Beckes, A. C., United States army chief of the Philippine army air corps.

The Philippine army air corps has a fleet of 41 airplanes, most of which are used for training purposes. The 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 5th squadrons of the air corps are all stationed at Zablan Field.

The air corps was organized on May 2, 1936. It started with three planes. Officers of the United States army contributed in a large measure to its development.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders urged national unity today, as additional returns showed that President Roosevelt had become the first president in the nation's history to be elected for a third term.

Late today Mr. Roosevelt was leading in 40 states, with 472 electoral votes, and Wendell Willkie was leading in eight states with 59 electoral votes.

The latest popular vote figures showed: Roosevelt 22,093,853. Willkie 18,408,829.

Returns indicated that the Republicans had gained one seat in the senate as the Democrats increased their house lead by 10 seats. The Republicans may add another senatorial seat from Indiana to give the senate 68 Democrats, 28 Republicans and two Independents. Unless the trend changes the Democratic house majority will be five to three.

The republicans gained one governorship, possibly two, to make the lineup 29 Democrats and 19 Republicans.

Willkie conceded Mr. Roosevelt's re-election at 10 a. m. today and urged his followers to "continue to work for unity, completion of our national defense and sending aid to Great Britain. The GOP candidate said he has no plans other than to take a vacation, starting in three or four days.

President Roosevelt indicated his first objective may be unification of organized labor, because CIO leader John L. Lewis promised to resign if the New Deal was elected. Mr. Roosevelt thanked Willkie for his congratulatory telegram and also asked for aid in unifying the nation.

Roosevelt And All Amendments Carry In County

Incomplete returns from Tuesday's election as reported by the county clerk at noon today show the following:

For President: Roosevelt, 4,521; Willkie, 871.
For State Commissioner of Agriculture: McDonald, 3,210; Cory, 1,946.
Amendments to State Constitution:
No. 1 For—953; Against 1,255.
No. 2 For—1,258; Against 1,059.
No. 3 For—1,037; Against 1,085.
No. 4 For—1,390; Against 758.
The above reports are for 21 boxes complete. Six boxes are unreported.

An Overwhelming Democratic Vote Is Cast in State

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—Texas voted overwhelmingly for President Roosevelt and elected a full democratic slate, including pro-Willkie Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald, but Republican Leader John Philp predicted this election signals the "beginning of a real opposition party in Texas."

Latest state results showed: Roosevelt 594,624. Willkie 186,326.
McDonald's margin over W. N. (Bill) Cory, write-in candidate, was 248,158 to 146,935. McDonald pledged support of the President and said he hopes the next four years will bring a solution of the farm problem.

Either Trenton Is Right for Pilots

By United Press
TRENTON, Ont.—A large number of United States planes roared over the field, then taxied to the landing apron.

The commanding officer was approached by a sentry. "Where are we?" asked the officer.

"Trenton," answered the sentry. "Trenton, New Jersey, of course."

"No, Trenton, Ontario, Canada," answered the sentry. "You don't say," said the pilot. "With a wink, he said to the other fliers: "We're all interned, fellows. We will leave the planes here." The United States planes were flown here to train Canadian airmen.

Mexico for Hemisphere Solidarity

One's devotion to a cause or a principle may be pretty accurately measured by what he is willing to sacrifice to it.

Weighted in that scale, Mexico's adherence to hemisphere defense and joint Pan American solidarity looks better today than ever before. In canceling a large oil concession to Japanese interests, and in rejecting a Japanese high bid for 20,000 tons of scrap iron, Mexico has made a real sacrifice of potential profit. It has plainly done this in an effort to improve relations with the United States.

At the time when the American nations at the Lima conference decided on a "united front" against foreign aggression and infiltration, Mexico was no better than lukewarm. Continued friction with the United States over the expropriation of oil properties left always some doubt whether the resulting coolness toward the United States might not offset the warmth of better inter-American relations. Since spring of this year, however, the Mexican government has been showing increasing revulsion against the Axis powers and a tendency to cleave closer to the Pan-American front and the United States.

It would be useless to claim that Mexico has suddenly been suffused with a great rush to the head of love for the United States, though unquestionably there is less "anti-Gringo" feeling than in the days when the oil conquista-dores ran Tampico and the Marines were in Vera Cruz.
 Americans as such are not unpopular today in Mexico, and increasing contacts during the past 10 years have gradually built good-will.

But the imperatives of the world situation are the driving force in this closer adherence by Mexico to its neighbors. Mexico is proud, and jealous of its independence. It realizes that the United States has no designs on that independence, whereas some trans-oceanic countries may have. As one high Mexican official put it: "We may not all love each other in the Americas as much as we might, but we are all in the same boat, and we'd better work together."

Some such spirit undoubtedly lies behind the latest Mexican action. It augurs well for better Mexican-American relations after the first of the year, when presidents of both countries will have been inaugurated, and both can turn from the excitement of political campaigning to the task of creating good-neighborliness and solidarity.

It's the old American spirit not to consider a draft capsule a bitter pill.

Sitting up till daylight would be more fun if it didn't take all night to do it.

Prior to this year's campaign speeches the greatest wind ever recorded was atop Whiteface Mountain, N. Y.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON

WASHINGTON.—The 4,000-odd Americans who are still marooned in the British Isles are going to have to stay there, except for the few who get space on trans-Atlantic planes. Efforts to get another American-flag steamer over to bring them home have been given up.

Several months ago the liners Roosevelt and Washington made "last chance" sailings, and shortly after that there was still another sailing. The air offensive had not yet developed, and a large number of Americans resident in London had got their families safely (as they supposed) quartered in remote villages and towns. Hence a good many stayed on.

Recently they've been calling frantically for transportation. (They can't come back on English steamships because the neutrality law forbids American citizens to travel through war zones on the ships of a belligerent.)

The State Department recently sent out a feeler to Berlin, asking if an American ship sent to England to get these people could be sure of getting through the submarine and airplane zone unharmed. Berlin replied that it couldn't. As a result there'll be no ship.

STRIKE HOLDS UP COAT PRODUCTION

OCT. 24 was the day when the army was supposed to get 7500 new overcoats. It won't get them until considerably later, because of a strike in the overcoat factory—much to the embarrassment of Defense Commissioner Sidney Hillman.

The reason you're reading so many stories these days about naval battles between the British and the Italians, experts here say, is because the British are trying hard to cut Marshal Graziani's supply line in Libya.

The Mediterranean is pretty narrow at its narrowest spot, and the Italians are said to have worked out a transport and supply system by which their boats need be at sea only two nights. (They can hole up, in Sicily or small Italian islands nearby, during the intervening day.) The British are believed to be making a furious effort to halt these night convoys, on the theory that if the supply line from Italy can be cut, Graziani won't be able to turn his advance into a major threat to Alexandria, Egypt and the Suez.

SWEET POTATOES AND APPLES

Two boiled sweet potatoes, 3 apples, ½ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup water, 3 tablespoons butter.

Peel and slice sweet potatoes. Pare and slice apples. Arrange alternately in two-quart baking dish. Make sirup of brown sugar and water; add butter and pour over sweet potatoes and apples. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 1 hour or until apples are soft. If desired, the potatoes may be baked occasionally.

MASHED SWEET POTATOES

Four medium-sized sweet potatoes, 3 medium-sized white potatoes, salt and pepper, scalded milk, 3 tablespoons butter.

Peel and boil potatoes and cook until tender. Put through ricer, add enough hot milk to give desired consistency, add butter and seasonings, and beat until fluffy.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Stewed dried fruit, mixed hot cereals, raisin toast, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed dried beef, half-bran muffins, canned peas, fruit cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Fried ham steak, mustard milk gravy, boiled potatoes, Brussels sprouts, lettuce-grapefruit salad, sweet potato and coconut pudding, coffee, milk.

Heap in greased pudding dish and brown in hot oven. The white potatoes help to make mixture light.

SWEET POTATO PUDDING

Eight medium sweet potatoes, 2 fresh coconuts, 2 tablespoons sugar, pinch of salt.

Skin and grate raw potatoes. Remove milk from coconuts and keep. Grate coconut meat. To grated meat, add 1 cup hot coconut milk and stand for ½ hour. Place in cheese cloth bag and squeeze until meat is dry. Add enough coconut milk to make 1 ¼ cups. Add sugar and salt and mix with the grated raw potatoes. Place in well-buttered baking dish and bake in slow oven (300° F.) for 1 hour.

Veterans Make Poppies

All poppies to be held on Poppy Day Saturday Nov. 9th were made by crippled World War veterans to aid them in purchasing the little luxuries that help to make their lot more bearable. Buying a poppy Saturday is a contribution to this cause.

Future career based upon a large number of specialized courses of training. After three years in any of these fields, men are equipped to get good jobs with good pay—either in civilian life or to remain in the Army where special grades at higher pay reward the soldier who qualifies.

And now, with the broad expansion of the Army, there is an even more attractive opportunity for promotion than ever before during times of peace.

YOUR ARMY

A Series Describing the Arms and Services of the Regular Army

UNUSUAL ARMY JOBS

Few people realize the scope of a modern Army. Scientific developments of the past generation have revolutionized the training for soldiers today.

The U. S. Army must train and equip men for more than 300 different kinds of jobs—touching a large percentage of specialized industries.

For example: A certain number of enlisted men are sent to Hollywood each year to learn motion picture techniques. The Army needs good camera work for observation and study of action and terrain.

Another group of men go into the famous Medical Center Laboratories in Washington for thorough study of X-Ray techniques—biological subjects and general health courses.

Many enlisted men must be trained in radio and telephony. The Army's "Walkie-Talkie" portable radio sets are one of the newest and most interesting of modern equipment. . . . communications for the Air Corps cover every phase of radio.

The Army trains men in many of the skilled trades of industry—tool-making, sheet-metal working, carpentering and construction.

All kinds of mechanical work, including aviation, trucks, automobiles, tanks, etc., are a necessary part of the modern mechanized Army of today.

There must be enlisted men to study chemistry in the Chemical Warfare Division; to learn engineering in the Engineer's Corps; to specialize in Finance, Ordnance and in the many highly developed Arms of the Service.

The U. S. Army always must be a pattern of modern civilized life. For generation after generation, it has pushed back the undeveloped frontiers of the world and opened them for today's civilization.

Right now, there are Army enlisted men with Admiral Byrd at the South Pole and an enthusiastic report only a few weeks ago told of a new and improved tank-tread developed there to meet conditions of snow and ice.

Army men supervised the building of the famous Washington Monument; the Panama Canal and the remarkable levees along the Mississippi River.

It may be said truly that a young man enlisting in the Regular Army today can choose his

Legion Post Will Meet On Thursday

Granville Jones post commander of the Carl Barnes post of the American Legion, today called attention to the meeting of the post, which will be held Thursday evening. This will be the last meeting of the post prior to the Armistice Day Celebration, which has been planned by the officers and members of the post.

It was stated today that all plans for the celebration had

Mexico Friendly Toward U. S. Now Because of Fear

Focusing its cameras once more on a topic of lively interest to all Americans, the March of Time brings to the screen in its latest issue, now showing at the Arcadia Theatre, an unusual story of Mexico today. Entitled "Mexico," this newest release in the popular film Uncle Sam's neighbor-nation to the South must play in the defense of the American Hemisphere, and the reasons behind Mexico's new friendship for the U. S. today.

Long famous as a land of Revolution, Mexico is now undergoing a new kind of revolutionary change which—perhaps in one or two generations—is destined to give her 20 million poverty-stricken people better economic security, the March of Time shows.

The film points out that Mexicans have long had occasion to regret the policies of the U. S., but at today, as their very existence is a free nation is threatened by world-wide aggression, Mexicans are becoming more friendly toward their Northern neighbors and are preparing to cooperate in the plans which the U. S. has formulated for the defense of the Americas.

Symbolic of Mexico's willingness to help in the Hemisphere defense program, the March of Time shows, is her promise to complete the strategically important international highway which will link the U. S. border with the Panama Canal. Moreover, Mexico's modern army of 50,000 well-trained men is being built up by new enlistments, and Mexican army officials are conferring with U. S. War Department chiefs on appropriate defense strategy.

"Mexico" was filmed by staff cameramen of The March of Time who were sent to that country four months ago when the editors of the screen series first foresaw that Mexico would become prominent in the news. After fully recording the national life and work of the Mexican people, March of Time's cameramen filmed the recent bitterly-fought presidential campaign, exciting scenes of election-day rioting, and many other noteworthy events affecting U. S.-Mexican relations.

"Mexico" is an outstanding film that should be seen by every

Texans Is Sixth As Duck Hunting Area

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas is the sixth leading duck hunting state, figures released by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service show. Texas sold a total of 63,460 migratory waterfowl stamps last year. Minnesota was the leading state with a total of 120,034 stamps being sold, according to word received by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission here.

Oyster Commission here. duck hunters are Michigan, 86,064 stamps; Wisconsin 84,075; California, 74,644; Illinois, 66,434; Washington, 50,796; Iowa, 39,143; Louisiana, 33,870, and New York, 32,304.

A total of 1,111,561 hunters purchased the $1 duck stamps which must be carried by all migratory waterfowl hunters over sixteen years of age. The stamp must be in the hunters' possession when they are in the field. Texans usually stick the stamp on the back of their state hunting license. It must be cancelled by the holder writing his name across the face of the stamp.

Church Receives a Fund for Cemetery

By United Press PHILADELPHIA — A $1,000 legacy for the perpetual care of the Revolutionary War General "Mad Anthony" Wayne's burial lot has been awarded by the court to Old St. David's Church in Radnor, Pa.

The money was bequeathed in the will of Mrs. Mary Atlee Wayne Wigram, a direct descendant of Gen. Wayne.

Rhode Island Group Receives Old Desk

By United Press BRISTOL, R. I.—A small table once used by Charles Dickens has been given the Bristol Historical Society by the late Col. Merton A. Chesman.

His will describes the table as "my small round Dickens table which my father purchased at a sale of the late Charles Dickens' effects at Gad's Hill, Hingham, Kent, England, and brought to this country by me. This table was from Dickens' library and stood on one side of Dickens' writing desk and on which was placed food when Dickens wrote."

SERIAL STORY

GOAL TO GO

By W. P. PEARS

Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY, Bill recalls the accident that injured his father, Buck Mentor hadn't hesitated when he saved the life of a workman, unknown to him, but it left the one-time All-American back an invalid. There was hope that an operation might restore his health, but there wasn't enough money. Sunday morning the West varsity, angry over their defeat and Landis' announcement that the wrong play had been called, visit Buck. They have a plan to oust Landis, get the job for Buck.

Illustrated by G. P. Whitford. Dot walked scarlet-tipped fingernails up Bill's sleeve. . . "I'll bet you're really not such a woman-hater, Bill."

CHAPTER III
BUCK MENTOR said, "Go ahead."
"We're going on a strike," Don fart blurted.
"We're through with Landis' dirty tricks," Calvert added. "He sent me into the game last night to run off that razzle-dazzle. Now he's ducking the blame. We won't stand for it!"
Buck Mentor, looking from one angry face to the other with grave gray eyes, said nothing.
"We've talked to our folks," Drowsy explained. "They haven't forgotten all the cold, rainy days we sent the squad home with sniffles and sore muscles. They're still pretty mad at Landis."

such a woman-hater, Bill."
He gulped. She was pretty, all right, with her auburn hair and green eyes, but he wished she'd let him alone. She pulled that line every time she came in. He forced a grin. "How about a hot fudge sundae?"

you want us to block and tackle. He can help you."
"No, wait, I haven't finished. It's impossible the way you've planned it."
"Why?" Hart demanded.
"You fellows are like soldiers in an army," Buck said slowly. "You can't just quit when something doesn't please you. Not even if you think the general's giving you a dirty deal. That's called desertion. You've got to stick out your jaws and ask for more."
Calvert scuffed his toe on the threadbare carpet. "But, gosh, Buck, we thought . . ."
Buck's voice was gentle. "Sure, fellow, I know what you thought. It's not easy for me to refuse. I'm just about bursting inside that you fellows want me. But if Landis is really a poor coach he won't last. In the meantime, give him all you've got. Then if he fails he won't have an alibi."
"Gee, Buck, do you really mean that?" Drowsy asked.
"I do, Drowsy."

Bill went into a huddle. He ran off several routine plays without much gain. The varsity squad was charging in hard and fast. The scrubs were determined but out-classed.

"Working out today, Mentor?"
"If it's okay, Coach."
"Makes no difference to me. You can scrimmage with the scrubs."

Bill took a threatening step toward Peskin, but Landis cut in sharply, "All right, all right, get going now!"

Still smoldering, Bill called his squad into a huddle. "Let's show Coach what we can do," he begged. "Here's one Buck taught me. It's no razzle-dazzle, but if we get it timed right it may fool 'em. Now listen . . ."

Bill took the pass from center, drove forward. Just before he reached the line he handed the ball to the wingback, who started a sweep around right end. Bill's heart pounded as he blocked out a defensive guard trailing the play. He wanted desperately to be able to tell Buck that his play had fooled the varsity. . . . Then he heard Landis' whistle shrill and saw the ball carrier sail into the clear. The play had worked!

Hands on his hips, Landis glared at Bill. "I suppose you think you're quite a coach, eh, Mentor?"
"No, sir."
"Well, get this straight. You can teach the scrubs all the Buck Mentor plays you want, but no varsity of mine will ever run them. In fact, Mentor, I'd welcome the chance to smear a few All-American plays!"

Bill turned to the scrubs with a grin. "If any of you fellows are interested in Coach's idea, drop around at the house. Buck'll give us a little skull practice. So long."

IT was nearly Bill's quitting time when Bullethead Peskin swaggered into the drug store. Dot Skelton clung to his arm. Bullethead led her to a booth and gestured imperiously for Bill.

"Gimme a hot chocolate, and Dot here wants—"

"Thank you," Dot snapped, "I'll do my own ordering." She curved her full red lips in a teasing smile. "How are you, Bill? Don't you think it'd be nice to say hello to me?"

"Hello," Bill said.
Dot pouted. "Must you always say it like a parrot?"

Bullethead was turning green about the mouth. "Say, Dot, what's the idea of talking to this soda jerk?"

"You hush up, Walton!" she flared. "I like Bill. He's a gentleman, which is more than I can say for some fellows. . . ." She walked scarlet-tipped nails up Bill's sleeve. "I'll bet you're really not

Cavalry Members Remember Time of Units Superiority

By United Press

EL PASO, Tex.—While the nation prepares to re-arm its military forces in the most modern fashion, veteran cavalrymen at Fort Bliss, largest cavalry post in the United States, are recalling days when the horse-mounted soldier boer the brunt of the offense.

From the early days of the opening of the West, the cavalry troopers played important parts in subduing Indians, scouting the countryside, keeping law and order in frontier towns, leading attacks when the nation was at war and performing numerous other chores.

The tradition and color of cavalry regiments, they pointed out, always has surpassed that of other parts of the army. Since the World War, however, cavalry has fallen somewhat into disrepute, although in recent months its officers have claimed that there still is a place in fighting for the horse.

The last big venture in which fighting was truly the cavalry's war was in 1916 when Gen. John J. Pershing led almost 15,000 men into Mexico in chase of Pancho Villa, the Mexican outlaw who had stormed the little town of Columbus, N. M., killing several soldiers and civilians and wounding others.

Villa and his several hundred followers had attacked Columbus on March 9, 1916. Immediately President Woodrow Wilson called for action against Villa. Gaining the approval of the Mexican president, Venustiano Carranza, the U. S. chief executive ordered American troops into the field against the powerful revolutionary leader.

Wilson placed Pershing, a brigadier general, in charge of the expedition. Pershing led his troops across the Mexican border at Columbus a week after the raid and the punitive campaign which followed proved to be the last in which American horse-mounted soldiers have carried the burden.

Pershing had four regiments of regular cavalry—the 7th, 10th, 11th, and 13th—at the beginning. The 5th went into Mexico also, but only as a reserve force. In addition, Pershing had as auxiliaries infantry and artillery.

For awhile the American soldiers plodded along on Villa's trail but soon they lost him completely. Scouts sent ahead failed to find any trace of the revolutionary, although it later was learned that Villa was badly wounded in one leg during a brief encounter between the Mexicans and U. S. troops and barely escaped in a buggy.

After that, though, the Pershing expedition never came close to Villa and only vague reports of his whereabouts filtered in to headquarters. The expedition moved down into the interior of Mexico, at one time reaching a point about 500 miles below the border.

About this time, trouble arose between the United States government and Mexican President Carranza. Carranza demanded that American troops be withdrawn from his country. He said he would handle the situation on his own.

Mineral Wells Has Dinner To Honor Men Who Got Camp

MINERAL WELLS Texas—An appreciation dinner was given at the Baker Hotel here in honor of Mayor John C. Miller Allen Guinn, president of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce and others who are instrumental in securing the new army camp for this city. A large group of local people attended and out-of-town guests came from many nearby cities and towns including Dallas, Fort Worth, Ranger, Breckenridge, Santo, Palo Pinto, Jacksboro, Millsap, Weatherford and Graham. The banquet was sponsored by the Mineral Wells Junior Chamber of Commerce with Orval Shore in charge of arrangements. Construction of the camp is due to begin this month and it will be ready for occupancy by next March. Mineral Wells is already experiencing a minor boom as activity increases at Camp Wolters. Engineering is now being done and all preparations made for actual building shortly.

Mainbocher, American-born designer who had a place of foremost importance in the French couture, showed this evening gown of flame taffeta at the opening of his New York salon. The dress is trimmed with bands of gold galloon braid. Mainbocher, who made clothes for the Duchess of Windsor and other prominent women in Paris, had at his New York opening such well known society leaders as Mrs. Harold Talbott, Doris Duke Cromwell, Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mrs. John Jacob Astor.

Since 1925, nine billion dollars per cent was for equipment and have been spent by the railroads 55 per cent for roadway and for improvements, of which 45 structures.

Guard Officers Are Named by Adjutant

Lee Dockery has received announcement of his appointment as first lieutenant of Company 201 of the Texas Defense Guard, which is being formed in Ranger, and Granville Jones has been notified of his appointment as second lieutenant.

Announcements of their appointments were forwarded to them by J. Watt Page, adjutant general of Texas.

The company will meet at the National Guard armory on Monday evening, Nov. 18, for manual of arms and drill.

City Offices Will Be Closed Monday

E. T. Eubank, city secretary, announced today that the city offices would be closed all day Monday, Nov. 11, in celebration of Armistice Day.

The Retail Merchants Association, in a meeting several weeks ago, voted unanimously to close all stores on that day, and at the same meeting selected Thursday, Nov. 28 as the day the stores would close for Thanksgiving Day.

Legionnaires To Go To District Meet

A delegation of Legionnaires from the Carl Barnes Post of the American Legion, headed by Granville Jones, post commander, will go to Stephenville tonight to attend the district meeting and to advise the Armistice Day celebration to be staged in Ranger.

Accompanying Jones will be Mack Dutton, Lee Dockery, R. H. Eansford and Amos Rice.
