Propaganda, Pressure and Persuasion

Are you on a committee? If you aren't, you're an unusual American these days. For there are so many committees operating in the United States at the moment that it seems as though every person in the country must be a member of one or more. Committees, that is, trying to persuade the American people to do this or that in regard to the country's policies toward other nations.

Most of them are putting out propaganda. Don't recoil. We got so gun shy of that word during the World war that it still has a disreputable odor to us.

Propaganda, the source and purpose of which is known and open, is not propaganda in the disreputable sense the word has acquired. The arguments by both the National Democratic and Republican Committees during the presidential campaign were propaganda in the literal sense of the word. But their source and purpose was known to everyone, and their regularly-issued material was not propaganda in the evil sense.

So with the deluge of material that is being issued on foreign policy. Much of it comes frankly from known groups who frankly advocate a certain course. It is propaganda in the sense that it aims at conviction leading to action, but it is not propaganda in the sinister sense.

Here are committees to aid the Chinese, the Japanese, the French, the Poles, Scandinavian, and the people of almost every nationality of stricken Europe. Nearly all these committees are organized and run by native American citizens. They constitute a problem quite different from that which was attacked in forcing agents of foreign governments to register.

Yet they exercise their influence (and some are now becoming large enough to be real pressure groups) on our relations with other countries.

Democratic policies ought to be determined after hearing all the arguments. These groups are advancing the arguments on the basis of which we will decide. But it is likely that never before has so great a galaxy of pressure groups, committees and groups clamored for the American ear.

That ear wants to be more delicately tuned than ever before.

Oakland farmer's claim covering eggs ruined by a National Guard shell was refused. Egg shell shock doesn't count.

Many of the world's problems were solved long ago. What we're seeking now is solutions for the solutions.

There's very little chance of anybody making a fool out of you without your help.

Worth Looking Into

I GIVE YOU TEXAS . . .

By Boyce House

As long as there remains anywhere a love of oratory, men will read Mark Anthony's speech and the "Cross of Gold" address of William Jennings Bryan. There is a thrill, even in cold type, to such declarations as these:

"We say to you that you have made the definition of a business man too limited in its application. The man who is employed for as his employer; the attorney in a country town is as much a business man as the corporation counsel in a great metropolis; the merchant at the crossroads store is as much a business man as the merchant of New York; the farmer who goes forth in the morning and toils all day who begins in spring and toils all summer and who by the application of brain and muscle to the natural resources of the country creates wealth, is as much a business man as the man who goes upon the Board of Trade and bets upon the price of grain; the miners who go down a thousand feet into the earth or climb two thousand feet upon the cliffs and bring forth from their hiding places the precious metals to be poured into the channels of trade are as much business men as the few financial magnates who, in a back room, corner the money of the world.

"There are two ideas of government. There are those who believe that, if you will only legislate to make the well-to-do prosperous, their prosperity will leak through on those below. The Democratic idea, however, has been that if you legislate to make the masses prosperous, their prosperity will find its way up through every class which rests upon them.

"Burn down your cities and leave our farms, and your cities will spring up again as if by magic; but destroy our farms and the grass will grow in the streets of every city in the country.

"Having behind us the producing masses of this nation and the world, supported by the commercial interests, the laboring interests and the toilers everywhere, we will answer their demand for a gold standard by saying to them: You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns; you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

MR. GAGE SAYS RELIEF ALMOST FROM THE START

The Relief Hoyt's Gave For Gas, Bloating, Headaches and Dizzy Spells Leaves Him Feeling Fit

MR. HARRY GAGE

Mr. Harry Gage, 555 E. 11th Ave., Denver, states: "Acid indigestion would come on me shortly after every meal; at night my stomach would fill with gas and cause such awful pains I could not get to sleep until midnight. It felt like a solid mass in my stomach and I would lie awake for hours. I had frequent headaches and dizzy spells. I had always had to take strong physics to get relief from constipation.

"After taking three bottles of Hoyt's Compound, I am pleased with the way it helped me from the start. I can eat about anything now without attack of gas and bloating. I now sleep well and do not have those headaches or dizzy spells. My bowels are regulated. I have more vitality and feel fit. I can heartily recommend Hoyt's Compound."

Hoyt's Compound is sold by the Texas Drug Store and all leading drug stores in this area.

No man—until the advent of the radio—was ever heard by as many people as was Bryan in the campaign of '96. He made as high as 30 speeches in a single day, including brief addresses from the back platform of his train; and millions came under the spell of his magnificent voice. Few candidates have stirred a greater enthusiasm and those whose hearts were broken when his colors trailed in the dust can understand these lines:

"Election night at midnight:
Boy Bryan's defeat.
Defeat of western silver.
Defeat of the wheat . . .
Defeat of the aspen groves of Colorado valleys,
The blue bells of the Rockies,
And blue bonnets of old Texas . . .
Defeat of alfalfa and the Mariposa lily,
Defeat of the Pacific and the long Mississippi . . .
Defeat of my boyhood, defeat of my dream."

(Quoted by permission of Macmillan Company from Vachel Lindsay's "Selected Poems")

Though thrice failing to reach the goal of the Presidency, Bryan saw many of his reforms made into law and, even greater than these tangible results, was the influence of his grand character.

Police Aid A Man In Leaving Home

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—It took a policeman to get J. L. Charlton out of his own home. Charlton started to leave home by the front door and was attacked by a strange dog which drove him back into the house. He tried to go out the back door. The dog raced around the house and met him there.

Charlton sat down to wait, thinking the dog would leave. Half an hour later he tried again. The dog met him at either door. He called police, who had to shoot the dog before Charlton could leave the house.

Penetration Rule For District 10-AA Has Been Voted

By United Press
HILLSBORO, Tex. — Executive committee of district 10-AA, Texas interscholastic league, have ruled that future football games cannot be won by fourth-down penetrations of the 20 yard line.

Waco High recently won on penetrations from Bryan. The team did not protest the decision but asked for a ruling for future use on fourth-down penetrations. On one series of downs, Waco was on Bryan's 22-yard line. Three plays failed to gain, and on fourth down a Waco back plunged to the Bryan 18, losing the ball on downs but scoring the winning penetration. The district executive committee ruled that in the future teams must follow this rule: "A team has penetrated its opponent's 20-yard line when the ball has been declared legally dead in its possession inside its opponent's 20-yard line; provided that on the succeeding play, the team remains in possession of the ball."

The committee also declared that any gain of ten yards or more in one series of downs shall constitute a first down, despite newspaper practice of disallowing first downs when touchdowns result, even if the distance covered is greater than ten yards. If interscholastic league teams play tie games, the winner is decided on 20-yard-line penetrations. If penetrations also are equal, the decision is based on the number of first downs made.

Small School Has Campus as Large As Some States

By United Press
ALPINE, Tex.—Little Sul Ross State Teachers College, with one of the smallest enrollments of any Texas school of higher learning, has a "campus" bigger than the area of some states. Sul Ross is situated in the heart of the picturesque Big Bend country and is surrounded by some of America's most beautiful scenery. On the edge of the campus is the "SR" hill, up which freshmen are forced to climb each fall. When they reach the summit, in accordance with tradition, they paint the college brand—"Bar-SR-Bar." After they are introduced to mountain-climbing early in the fall on the brand-painting expedition students begin to tackle higher and more difficult climbs. As a result, Sul Ross probably has more amateur peak-sealers than any American school. Ramrodding most of the mountain-climbing is the colorful Sul Ross Pioneer Club, membership to which is coveted by every student. Members don cowboy regalia for all special events, are adept at square dancing and most other western jigs and in general carry out the theme of the Old West. Members sponsor most of their

The student body has taken advantage of the school's location to the extent of claiming that its "campus" extends 200 miles north of Alpine through the rugged Davis Mountains to New Mexico's Carlsbad Caverns and 100 miles south to the proposed Big Bend National Park. Throughout this area the students rove during the year on academic and pleasure trips. In the summer Spanish students even go in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico. Students do not necessarily have to stray so far from the campus proper to see interesting sights, however. Not far from the college is Mt. Locke, atop of which is the world famous McDonald Observatory. Once a month students visit the scientific wonder and view the

Roosevelt Faces Third Term; Our Most Powerful President

Big Vote, Federal Funds, Old And New Laws Add to His Office

BY BRUCE CATTON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Heading triumphantly into his third term, President Roosevelt carries with him more actual, concrete power than any President in American history.

Lay aside the prestige that goes with his smashing of the third-term tradition and his victory at the polls, and consider only black-and-white laws.

These are in literal fact what some of them have often been called—blank checks signed and countersigned by the Congress, giving the President power to do practically anything he may wish with the foreign and domestic affairs of the nation.

Some of these powers were voted to him last summer. Others are holdovers from the early days of the New Deal. Still others come down from laws passed long before Mr. Roosevelt came to office. Probably it is fair to say that no one in Washington knows precisely how many of them there are and how far they go.

Along with the powers goes a vast amount of authority over a sphere Congress has always jealously considered its own—the public purse. In any survey of the vast powers held by the President, those affecting money must get first consideration.

MONEY—AND MORE MONEY

For example: The President has complete control over a stabilization fund of $2,000,000,000.

He can devalue the dollar at any time he chooses. He can print $3,000,000,000 in greenbacks.

He can fix the value of the silver dollar at any ratio he selects, and may lay down the rules under which gold can be acquired, held, imported or exported.

In addition, he has $250,000,000 in cash at his disposal. The army and navy appropriation bills of last June set up an emergency fund of $100,000,000 for the President to use as he saw fit to provide for emergencies affecting the national security and defense.

The President need make no accounting of this money before June 1942. So far, only a little more than $5,500,000 of this has been spent.

A supplemental defense appropriation bill passed in September gives the President another hundred million for defense housing. Slightly less than $40,000,000 of this has been advanced to the Federal Works Agency, but the President will get this money back from the War and Navy Departments.

Lastly, there is $50,000,000 which the President may spend on supplies of food, medicines and other necessities for refugees and war victims, to be distributed by the Red Cross. Only a few hundred thousands of this have been spent to date.

All this is only a starter. POWER GRANT HAS LAWYERS GUESSING

Last July Congress passed an act to expedite the national defense. This empowers the President through the secretary of war, to build and operate factories for the manufacture of military equipment, supplies and munitions. Under this the President could put the government into the munitions business—or the airplane manufacturing business, or indeed into practically any other business affecting national defense.

This same law then goes on to make an amazing grant of power which has the lawyers guessing but looks like authorization to do practically anything. It simply empowers the President "to provide for emergencies affecting the national security and defense and for each and every purpose connected therewith."

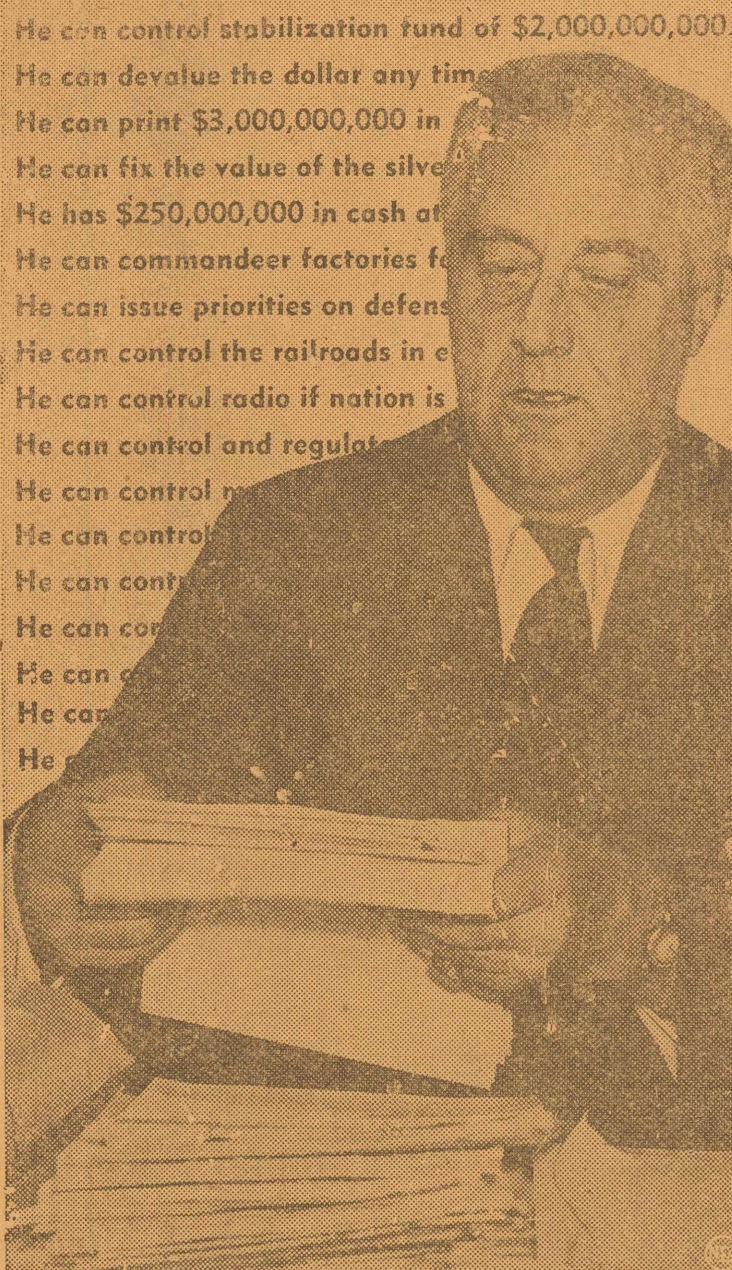

The draft act authorizes the President to commandeer any factory which refuses to accept a government order for defense material or to give such an order priority.

The President may also requisition any munitions or machine tools produced here for foreign governments or for private concerns.

He can control the nation's industrial life by issuing priorities for the production of defense materials.

Under a 1920 amendment to the Interstate Commerce Act he can control the railroads in time of emergency by laying down priorities for certain types of traffic—a power by which any industry in the country could be brought to heel.

Under the espionage act of 1917, the President may exercise complete control over all vessels, domestic or foreign, in U. S. territorial waters, even to the extent of seizing them and removing their crews by force.

He can control stabilization fund of $2,000,000,000.
He can devalue the dollar any time.
He can print $3,000,000,000 in greenbacks.
He can fix the value of the silver dollar.
He has $250,000,000 in cash at his disposal.
He can commandeer factories for national defense.
He can issue priorities on defense materials.
He can control the railroads in time of emergency.
He can control radio if national security requires.
He can control and regulate foreign exchange and transfers of credit.
He can control munitions and machine tools.
He can control the nation's industrial life.
He can control the railroads in time of emergency.
He can control the nation's industrial life.
He can control the nation's industrial life.

POWER OVER MEN

The President could control the electric utilities under an act of 1935 which gives him broad powers over distribution systems to provide current for war-essential industries.

He could control radio up to the hilt in time of war, in time of threat or peril to the country, or even "to preserve the neutrality of the United States," having authority to take over stations and networks to be run by the government.

During any emergency period proclaimed by the President, he can have complete power over the country's banking and financial system.

In wartime he could put all telephone and telegraph facilities under military control.

Nor are these powers all. The President can control foreign trade by embargoing the export of any commodities he deems necessary to the national defense.

He can control and regulate foreign exchange and transfers of credit.

Through the RFC and the Import-Export Bank he can grant loans to private industry or to foreign governments. He can authorize the sale of "surplus" war materials to foreign countries, subject to the approval of ranking army and navy chiefs.

Last but certainly not least, the draft act is so drawn as to give the President sweeping power over the nation's men. The act vests exceedingly broad powers in the local draft boards—which, in the last analysis, means that the power is vested in the President.

Conceivably, these powers could be used to regiment workers, farmers and indeed all other men between 21 and 36 to an almost unimaginable degree.

A. Clauson, Racine, Wis., man had a $100 bass drum until a thief spotted it and beat it! Administration of justice is the oldest function of counties in New York State.

SERIAL STORY

DUDE COLLEGE

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Ronnie hurried home, lands and reports her experience to her father. He advises her to call the sheriff. Ultimately, she talks to Inspector Sheridan...

Bailey both as protagonist in his little drama. He wasn't bad looking; not at all. He adjusted his tie, whistled a little softly, meditatively, and walked on. He reasoned next that he would have to set himself up in some dude ranch nearby to give outward excuse for his presence in and around Pueblo.

While he did see several others of obvious Latin heritage, he did not see that particular one. He wished he had heard her name distinctly, somehow, soon, it would be his move to approach her and make himself acquainted, but that would have to be handled with infinite tact, at least so far as public eyes were concerned.

ANDRE MAKES PLANS

CHAPTER V "WHE-E-UW!"

Andre Girardeau breathed that, then turned slowly down the arched corridor leading from the Pueblo U. administration building to the library. He went only a few feet before he halted, though; he felt that, for personal as well as professional reasons, he simply must have another and better look at the Mexican girl.

The bespectacled man was at her left, helping her to walk. With her right arm she handled her one crutch clumsily. Andre decided her act was none too convincing. But he also decided that any sort of act was important; what really impressed him was the appearance of this girl.

"M-M-m-m-m-m!" Andre gave murmured tribute again, already sensing the pleasure when he should meet this girl. He saw her perfection of teeth, lips almost too carmine. He noted the way her hair hung to her head in ringlets, swept low and backward.

He saw, too, that her initial touch of haughtiness had faded when the bespectacled man came to escort her from her car; patiently, then, this lady responded to masculine attention. Without being asked, at least more than casually, she slipped on down the archway and out of her sight.

He walked along the shaded avenue toward his hotel. An irrigation canal there made a rippling rivulet, beautiful in reflecting the trees as well as giving life. At a lovely rustic bridge he paused a moment to study his image in the quieter pool. He smiled at himself; he, Andre Girardeau, should be able to carry this assignment, with a beautiful senorita and with Ronica...

HEARTY young collegians seemed to be everywhere but he recognized none of them. Some of the co-eds were definitely interesting.

He asked a few if they knew where to find Ronica Bailey. They knew about her, but not where she was.

Times Ignored By An Apothecary In Old New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS. — Monsieur Albert, the apothecary, maintains that one still can manage a drug store adequately with just a mortar and pestle, funnels, scales and flasks.

Such apparatus as soda fountains, juice squeezers, electric mixers and promotional signs are entirely unnecessary to the old French apothecary whose small shop is nestled in the business district on busy Canal street.

lowered to veer so far from its course as to offer ice cream and cold drinks, Albert declares. His real interest is his drugs. He likes to describe his mixture which will drive away stomachache from green apples "like zeese—pouff!" And his toothache compound and his neuralgia balm.

From year to year, the drug and soda fountain supply salesmen and the general public continue to pass M. Albert's door without a second glance. But the little French apothecary plans to carry on.

M. Albert's store looks just as it did when he opened it more than 35 years ago. The floor is covered with sawdust. In the center of the room is a little iron stove, surrounded by three chairs for guests or customers. In the back is the workshop. The druggist has made some little concessions, it is true. He now carries a small stock of tablets and candy for the school children.

NEW DEAL'S GAINS IN HOUSE CREDITED LARGELY TO 'MIRACLE WORKER' LYNDON JOHNSON OF TEXAS

BY BRUCE CATTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—One of the big surprises of the campaign was the fact that the Democrats gained in strength in the House of Representatives instead of taking the heavy loss they were hoped to take.

Chief reason was that the party dug up a new miracle worker—youthful and energetic Congressman Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

About six weeks before election day, party chiefs awoke to the fact that their comfortable House majority was in danger of vanishing. F. D. R. wasn't campaigning the way congressmen wished—not enough speaking trips out into the country to give candidates a chance to climb on his coattails.

THE PAY OFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

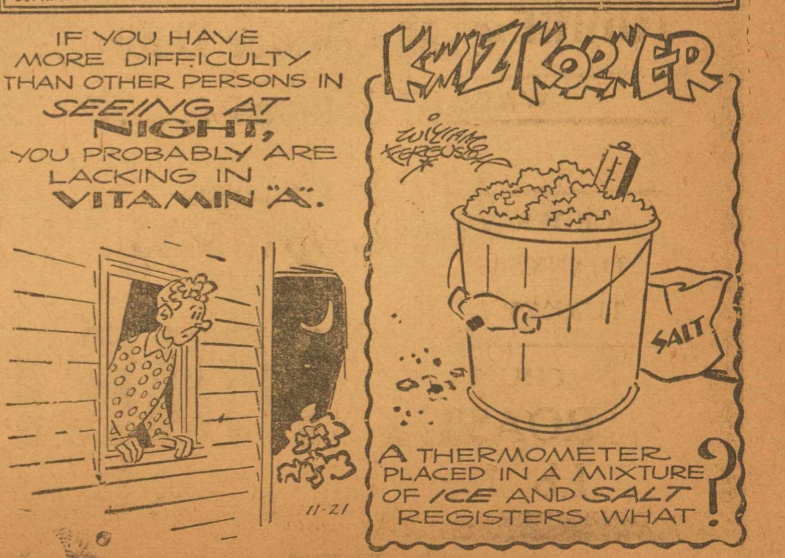

WHILE the oldest inhabitants can't recall such a brazen challenge by a team to the authority of its manager as the Cleveland Indians put on last summer, it wasn't the first case of mutiny in the majors.

The Detroit Tigers at 1912 not only refused to take the orders of their pilot, Hughie Jennings, but also defied Ban Johnson, president of the American League.

RESULTS of a raucous-voiced fan finally got on Ty Cobb's nerves in New York in 1912, and the Georgia Peach was ejected for climbing into the stand and assaulting his tormentor.

BULLDOGS AND TIGERS CLASH HERE TONIGHT

The game was scheduled to fill out the 10-game schedule limit for the Bulldogs, and is expected by many to be the best game the Bulldogs will play this season, as it will be the first time they have gone into a game, except against Eastland, without a big weight handicap.

Training has progressed well this week, with the team showing more pep than usual, and Coach Jennings believes that the Bulldogs will show more tonight than at any time during the past season, as they are now beginning to get a little of that much needed experience that has hampered them so badly all this year. Of course, Jennings points out, the team will not be as experienced as the Tigers, but with almost a full year of competition behind them they should make it an interesting game to watch, win or lose.

The game was scheduled for tonight because of several games in this immediate vicinity that have a bearing on the title standings of other teams. In fact the Strawn Greyhounds were playing a game that would determine the District 12-B. divisional championship and Brownwood and Stephenville were playing the game that will determine the chamions of the Oil Belt this year. Coach Jennings has not announced his starting lineup, but he has stated that he is going to start a team he believes will put up the best game, and to make only such substitutions as he deems necessary, in order to keep the full strength of the team on the field. Heretofore he has divided the squad into two teams, letting each play a good portion of the time in order to give as many boys as possible experience for next year.

Pretty Soft-Ball

Different, at least, was Katherine Rohrer's way of crashing the movies. Miss Rohrer did it by way of a Hollywood girls' softball team for which she cavorted at first base and hit at a merry clip for two years before an M-G-M scout spotted and signed her. Remarkable ability as diamond performers have led to girls obtaining positions in other lines, but Miss Rohrer is first to land a movie contract because of attractiveness in softball shorts. Above is proof that it was no trick at all to glamorize the free-swinging swatter.

Prices for Show By Magician Wrong

Prices for the entertainment to be staged Monday night at the high school auditorium by Dr. Gaffney, magician, under the auspices of the Ranger High School band, will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children, it was stated today.

mer and Dr. Wesley Jenkins were only attendants of the couple. Miss Lorimer wore a wine costume suit with a corsage of white roses.

For her wedding ensemble, the bride chose a blue wool costume suit with fox collar. Her accessories were black and she carried a white prayer book topped with gardenias and lilies of the valley. Her "something old" was a handkerchief which has been carried in weddings in her family for several generations.

After the ceremony, Miss Lorimer held a reception at her home, 2240 Winton Terrace, West. Miss Susan Hornberger of Dallas, sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl which was at one end of the refreshment table. A rectangular wedding cake topped with flowers and a miniature bridal couple was at the opposite end. For the centerpiece there was an arrangement of white snapdragons, candytuft and feverfew.

Above is the rifle team's Captain William F. Euright, Jr., '41 (left) presenting some of the guns contributed by Penn students and faculty to Charles C. G. Chaplin, Eton graduate now living in Havertown, Pa. The gift gains added significance from the fact that Penn, founded by Benjamin Franklin, is this year celebrating its 200th anniversary, while Eton, founded by Henry VI, is celebrating its 500th anniversary.

Continental Army Had Only $3,000,000

By United Press
WILMINGTON, Del. — With Congress appropriating billions of dollars for national defense and the upkeep of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, few recall that America's first Continental Army had a budget of only $3,000,000. When a group of Massachusetts farmers defied the British at Lexington, George Read, Continental Congress from Delaware, blue-printed a budget for an army of 27,000 men and the necessary officers.

His estimate of the army's expense amounted to $3,000,000 with $2,276,000 for salaries and maintenance of men and officers, and the remainder for war supplies. The Read plan was adopted by the Continental Congress in November, 1775.

Read drew his budget on both sides of a piece of paper measuring only 7 1/2 by 12 inches.
